the housefly awakens and the annual war against this dangerous pest is begun.

The extent of the ravages of these waged messengers of death was not fully realized until recent years, but now that the real danger has been discovered health boards throughout the country are striving to exterminate them.

The following warning has been used with great success by fly fighters in a great many towns:

WARNING!
The transmission of the following diseases by means of flies has been conclusively proved: Typhoid fever, tuberculosis, cholera and summer diarrhea of children.

Typhoid fever and summer diarrhea of children may be transmitted through the

THE LARVAE OF THE FLY ARE TO BE FOUND IN PILES OF FILTH.

various foods that are eaten in an uncooked state if infected by flies, through cooked food infected by flies after the process of cooking, through drinking water which has been infected by flies and through milk which has been infected by flies. Flies are especially likely to be infected by the small fruit fly commonly found around markets and stands. Fish may be infected by flies and in consequence will undergo rapid decomposition.
In many cases of diarrhea and dysentery, what are commonly known as "spies" are the excreta of the fly and frequently contain virulent disease germs.
The fly in the house should be relentlessly pursued and destroyed. The house-which is carefully screened and protected from flies is infinitely safer than the one not so protected. In the spring of the year the fly begins to take on life. Eggs which are laid the previous fall begin to hatch. At first the fly is only a little worm wriggling in some pile of filth. The eggs are usually laid in a minute pile of a mass of excrement. The most effective way to prevent the fly nuisance is to destroy these breeding places. The importance of this may be seen when it is considered that one fly produces 125,000 of its kind in one season.

Stables—Manure is by far the commonest material in which the fly lays eggs.
All stables should be kept scrupulously clean. No manure should be allowed to accumulate where it will be exposed to flies for even a few minutes. Manure may be treated with considerable quantities of lime without interfering with its fertiliz-ing value, and in this way the development of the eggs can be practically prevented.

Garbage—As a medium for the development of flies garbage may be considered next in importance to manure. The eggs

HOUSEFLIES RESTING ON A CAKE IN THE KITCHEN AFFRICK LIVING IN THE FILTH OF THE STABLE YARD.

of the fly hatch in about twenty-four hours, and garbage that has been retained in the kitchen for that length of time must contain flies in the adult stage. To prevent this development all garbage should be covered, and pails should be emptied as soon as possible.

Foodstuffs—In order to prevent continuation of foodstuffs all foods that are eaten in the raw state and all foods that are exposed for sale after having been cooled should be carefully protected by screens or covers.

PRECAUTIONS TO BE OB- SERVED.

Keep the house free from flies.
Every fly should be considered a possible disease carrier and should be destroyed.
Protect milk and other foodstuffs from contact with flies.
Keep the vacant lots as free from rubbish as possible.
Keep the garbage outside of the house covered.
Abolish open drains near dwelling places.

Whitewash the trunks of the shade trees if this has not already been done. This will give the trunk a light and attractive appearance, showing the result of the work of the fly.

FIRE PREVENTION DON'TS.

Don't store gasoline above ground.
Don't use gasoline where there is an open fire.
Don't permit gasoline containers (full or empty) in the building.
Don't keep gasoline in a glass container, as it is subject to easy breakage.
Don't allow children to use or meddle with gasoline.
Don't drain gasoline containers into sewers or low places.
Don't expose gasoline at any time, under any conditions or for any purpose in a room where there is an open fire.

HOW NEW BEDFORD CARES FOR TWO THOUSAND ELMS.

A Splendid Spraying Apparatus That Combats Elm Beetle Successfully.

New Bedford, in common with many cities of Massachusetts, has always taken great pride in its shaded residential streets. It has now more than 2,000 elm trees on its sidewalks, which come under the care of the city. The majority of these trees are from 75 to 100 years old.

In the period when these trees were set out it was much easier to maintain them than at present, for there were comparatively few sewers built to drain off the ground water, and the streets were not paved with a waterproof surface. The greatest difficulty now in making trees grow in city streets is in furnishing them with a sufficient supply of water.

Until recent years there were no insect pests in that section of the country that troubled the elm trees to any great extent, and the spraying of shade trees was unknown because unnecessary. In 1900 the elm leaf beetle, which had been imported to this country at Baltimore about 1837, had obtained a strong footing in Massachusetts, having spread out from the Connecticut valley, where it first appeared about 1835. In 1901 this insect had become so plentiful in New Bedford that the city found it necessary to spray the elm tree foliage in the spring, and the work has been continued every year since.

For several years they used hand force pumps, which required a great deal of climbing to reach the upper part of the trees. In 1909 a high power sprayer, consisting of a large mixing tank, a powerful force pump and a gasoline engine, was purchased. Above the pump and engine is an upper deck or platform fourteen feet above the ground, upon which hose and fittings may be carried and upon which a man can stand when operating the spraying nozzle.

Arsenate of lead, mixing ten pounds to two gallons of water, is used. The mixture is constantly agitated when the tanks are in motion. With this machine there is no trouble in spraying the upper parts of the trees with poison. The water in the machine soon evaporates, leaving the arsenate poison as a white coating on the leaves. This does not readily wash off, so that one spraying is generally sufficient. As the caterpillars feed on the under side of the leaf the spray should be so directed as to coat the under side of the leaf as much as possible.

Other trees than the elm do not require spraying in New Bedford, for among the various pests it is only the elm beetle that cannot be more effectively cared for by other methods.

A Platitudes.
"Father," said the small boy, "what is a platitude?"

"A platitude," my son, is a statement whose truth you are compelled to admit uttered by some one whom you do not personally admire."—Washington Star

Go to Benj. Brown for Fly chaser.
It is guaranteed to give satisfaction.
$1.00 per gallon. 28th

Big Masonic Event.

Work on the Masonic temple is progressing rapidly a large force of men being employed. It is expected that the ceremony of laying the cornerstone will be one of the biggest Masonic events ever held in Northern Michigan. The Grand Lodge and all neighboring lodges will be in attendance. Full particulars will be announced later.

Trunk repairing, keys made and fitted at Benj. Brown's Harness and Bicycle shop. 28th

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday July 12, with Mrs. A. Edwards. After the business a program will be given. All wishing to go meet at the Ivy Drug Store or at Hooker's Livery barn, with provisions for supper. Be ready to start at 1:30 p. m. Round trip 25c. 28th

Annual Grange Picnic.

The annual grange picnic will be held at Ironton August 14. Hon. Patrick H. Kelley will be the speaker. Further announcements will be made later.

Atlas and Huron cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 502-r. 17th

Wool Wanted.

Will pay the highest market price for wool. H. Kaufman. 22th

..GUARANTEE..

YOU are entitled in buying Hart, Schaffner
& Marx clothes, to a most positive assurance of your satisfaction. Every dealer in our clothes is authorized to say this to you.

Every Garment made by, and bearing the label of Hart Schaffner & Marx, is guaranteed to be of all-wool or wool-and-silk fabrics, with no
"mercerized" or other cotton added; thoroughly shrunk before cutting; seam sewed with pure silk thread; tailored in clean, sanitary shops; free
from every defect of material or workmanship.
More than that: The dealer is authorized to say that if the clothes are not right, or not satisfactory, your money will be refunded.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

CAMPAIGN NOTES

Woman Suffrage Advocated by Men Prominent in All Walks of Life.

With regards to the recent election in Denver, Judge Lindsey says: "Here in Denver there is no question of doubt that the great victory—the greatest in the history of American politics—over corrupt politics, was due primarily to the women's vote."

Miss Sophie B. Wright, perhaps the best known and the best loved woman in Louisiana, died recently and the House of Representatives adjourned in honor of her memory and the State Legislature passed resolutions of respect. Her life was spent in seeking to aid the poor, the sick, and the uneducated of whatever race or condition, and she might well have been called the Jane Addams of the South.

The Chicago Tribune notes that the librarian of the Chicago Public Library mentions as two of the six most absorbing topics of general interest: Temperance versus high license, and the political rights of women.

On the Children's float in the recent Woman Suffrage parade at Baltimore was this inscription:
Mother needs my socks and shirts.
Mother needs my coat.
May she could mend some laws.
If she had the vote.

Vicar-General Joseph F. Mooney, in charge of the Archdiocese of New York in the absence of Cardinal Baileys, is quoted as declaring that the Catholic Church is not opposed to woman suffrage and that those who assert that the Church is opposed to it are doing the Church a grave injustice.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley in the commencement address to the graduating class of the Wesleyan University at Bloomington, Ill., declared that the time had come when government by the people meant the whole people. He said that half the people, and the better half, had always been ignored though in many matters their interests were vitaly concerned. He declared the judgment of women in questions of public health, children's welfare, etc., was much more to be trusted than that of men.

Colonel Roosevelt's public innuement of his belief in woman suffrage has given a tremendous impetus to the Votes for Women movement. The Women's Journal gives Judge Lindsey the credit for securing the endorsement of Colonel Roosevelt at a woman's suffrage plank and quotes one woman as saying, "I wish I could have seen Lyman Abbott's face when he heard of it."

Notice to the Taxpayers.

To the taxpayers of the city of Charlevoix. Notice is hereby given that the July tax roll of the city of Charlevoix has been delivered to me and that the taxes thereon levied are payable at my office in the Carriage building at any time on or before the 15th day of September, 1912 without charge for collection. Go all taxes remaining unpaid after the 15th day of September, 1912 after which time until October 20th, 1912 an additional one per cent will be added on all taxes remaining unpaid.
Office hours, 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. 12:30 p. m.
to 5 p. m. except Saturday, when the office will open from 9:30 a. m. to 12 m. and from 1:30 p. m. to 5 p. m.
JOHN COOK, City Treasurer.

Fly net, and fly sheets at Benj.
Brown's. 28th

COOK IN

COMFORT

By Using a

NEW PROCESS OIL STOVE

The most Perfect, Efficient and Economical Oil Cook
Stove on the Market

Glass Tank on this stove always shows amount of oil so user can keep wicks from burning dry

Simple Burner Easy to Re-wick
Smokeless Device Automatic Wick Stop

One Gallon of oil will run one burner, full flame, for 15 hours. Flame can be regulated to a high or low fire.

We will be glad to show the stoves in operation to anyone wishing to examine them

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Norfolk Middy Blouses

White with plain white, plain blue and white striped sailor collar and

Black Patent Leather Belt

Just the thing for Summer wear

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

FOR RENT

Four new six-room cottages, furnished, just completed. Bath and running water. Fine Bass Fishing within 20 rods. Bathing beach in front of cottages. Good boat dock. Big boat passes four times a day. Free Mail delivery and Telephone. Take your meals at Club House if you wish. No nicer location on Pine Lake.

RICE ONLY $250

FOR SALE

First-class level 80 acre farm—40 acres cleared. Some good timber. Good buildings. Two and one-half miles from Charlevoix. This place is worth $3,000.

MY RICE $2,400

Call at Office for particulars.

G. I. B. McLEAN

319 Bridge Street, Charlevoix

IN CHARLEVOIX OFFICE
Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday

IN BOYNE CITY OFFICE
Monday, Thursday, Friday

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Mrs. A. Butters has been ill the past few days.

E. N. Clink of East Jordan, is a caller here today.

L. C. Madison of East Jordan was in the city Monday.

Mrs. Ruth of Owosso is visiting relatives in the city.

Miss Amy Harsha visited friends at Traverse City the 4th.

Emery Nyman is on a three weeks trip in the western states.

John Kendall of Detroit, is making a short visit in the city.

Mose Cohen assisted the Petoskey band at Boyne City the 4th.

Tom Miller of Bay City was a business caller here Tuesday.

George Hatch of St. Ignace, was in the city the first of the week.

Joe Gules, route No. 2, has just completed a fine new residence.

Miss Comtesse Kelly is the new pianist at the Majestic Theatre.

Sheriff Ford P. Robbins made a business call to Beaver Island Tuesday.

George W. Kent and wife of Boyne City, were in the city Monday.

John M. Pride and family went to Bellare Monday on a business trip.

Miss Jesse Parish of St. Ignace, has arrived here to spend the summer.

Mrs. Will Scroggie, Jr., is making a visit with relatives at Cross Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Layton of Lindington, are guests at Baker's Inn this week.

Mrs. I. B. McLean spent last Thursday in the city with Mr. McLean.

Alexander Hilton of St. Louis, Missouri, is visiting relatives in the city.

Mrs. E. E. Pugh is taking treatment at the Saville Sanitarium, Petoskey.

Louis Parmelee and family are here to spend the summer with relatives.

Mrs. Gardner of Painesville, Ohio, is visiting at the home of B. P. Wilkinson.

Mrs. McKay and daughter of New berry, is visiting at the home of Will Smith.

Mr. Saville and daughter Leta of Petoskey, visited friends in the city Sunday.

Norm Smith visited friends and relatives at Petoskey the latter part of the week.

Harry D. Luke of Detroit, is making a short visit with Mrs. J. J. Kirkpatrick.

Miss Ella Rosenberg of Bay City, spent Tuesday with Henry Kaufman and family.

Roy Stafford returned to the Soo Monday after making a few days visit in the city.

Aaron R. Parker of Petoskey, visited at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Young, Sunday.

Emerald Emory of Detroit, spent Sunday in the city with his sisters Ruby and Opal.

Albert Smith returned home Monday after spending the past month in the northwest.

Mrs. Walter Pugh of North Manitowish Island, is visiting at the home of Capt. E. E. Pugh.

S. Orlovski & Son have sold a residence located on Lincoln street to David S. Fairchild.

Miss Elma Anderson of Petoskey was in the city Monday visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Tinkham and daughter Ruth of Petoskey visited friends here Sunday.

Miss May Cornell of Grand Rapids, is visiting at the home of Capt. and Mrs. O. E. Wilbur.

Chellis Monroe of Chicago, spent Tuesday in the city as the guest of his uncle, E. S. Stocks.

Mrs. Lauce Neil has returned home after a week's visit with her parents at Mancelona.

Prosecuting Attorney Eitch and wife were in the city yesterday en route to Beaver Island.

Harrison Wallace is making a short visit with his parents before returning to St. Ignace.

A. H. Butters and family of Peloton, spent the 4th in the city with Mr. and Mrs. A. Butters.

Miss Helen Fanning is making an extended visit at the home of Arthur Bergeon and family.

Mrs. R. S. Shapton returned home Tuesday after spending some time with relatives at Norwood.

Mrs. Myrtle Young & Son are now located in their new office recently built by George H. VanPelt.

C. S. Dodge is making a short visit with his family. He expects to leave for Ohio, Thursday.

Secretary Buell of Detroit, is attending the annual meeting of the Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Mrs. Adam Goldman and son Charles are visiting at the home of Mrs. Charles Danto and family.

Joe Powers who has been at St. Ignace for some time has been spending a few days in the city.

O. D. Hammond had the misfortune to break a rib when his horse jumped and the thrill struck him.

The Misses Mary and Esther Butters of Northport, are making a visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. Butters.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robinson and family of Georgia, are visiting with L. D. Bartholomew and wife.

The summer season of vandeille started Monday at the Majestic Theatre with three changes a week.

Miss Amy Towers of Mancelona, arrived in the city Tuesday, expecting to remain during the summer.

The dance given by the "Big Five"

last night was a complete success. Another one will be given July 18. The Misses Vera White, Kate and Helen Harris and June Harris of Boyne City, were in the city Monday.

The East Jordan Enterprise celebrated its thirty-second birthday last week by coming out with a new head.

Mrs. George Emery has arrived in the city to spend the summer with her mother, Mrs. Kate Galbraith.

Miss Pearl Emery of Detroit, is expected in the city today, to make a short visit with her sisters Ruby and Opal.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Boice and daughter, Miss Lela of Detroit are here to spend a month in their summer cottage.

Kathryn Lapeer returned home from Petoskey Sunday, where she was taking treatments at the Saville Sanitarium.

Miss Dorothy Iddings has returned home from Detroit where she completed the physical culture course at the Thomas normal.

Elmer Bradley and family and Miss Lulah Bradley of Harbor Springs, visited with Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Burdick, Sunday.

The jewelry store of Stanley Wilford has been greatly improved by the new street window and the addition of two new showcases.

Mrs. Wright and daughter Lucile, of Grand Rapids, who are now reporting at Petoskey, visited W. E. Hampton and family the 4th.

Miss Florence Kenyon returned to her home at Portland, Michigan, today, after making an extensive visit with E. J. Haller and family.

Mrs. M. C. O'Sullivan, who has been the guest of Miss Mayme Finck the last week, has returned to her home at San Marcial, New Mexico.

Judge E. H. Aldrich of Detroit, President of the Charlevoix Rock Product Co. is in the city this week attending the annual meeting of stockholders.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bentford, formerly Miss Lola Cross of this city, now of Mt. Pleasant, were in the city the latter part of the week en route to East Jordan.

Bentford and Gregory report the sale of what is known as the C. Denton farm on the Norwood Road, to Albert Louie of Sanilac county, who has taken possession.

The federal government closed its fiscal year June 30, with an estimated surplus of $2,000,000 on hand. Custom receipts during the fiscal year reached a total of $10,000,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newport and two daughters were in the city today, en route from Grayling to Charlevoix where they will open their summer cottage.—Boyne City Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert and two children of Chicago, have been guests at the Elston the past week. Mr. Lambert returned home Monday, while the others will remain for some time.

The Young Peoples' Bible class of the Baptist church will give a box and ice cream social Tuesday evening, July 16, upon the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beards, 501 Grant street. Everybody invited.

HOLDING ANNUAL MEETING

Stockholders of the Charlevoix Rock Product Company—Engineer Sloan Surprised.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Charlevoix Rock Products company is being held in this city today, about fifty being present from all over the country. It has been decided to double the capacity of the plant at once. The company has already contracted to supply over eleven thousand tons of sugar stone to factories this season and have several more factories to hear from. It is expected that the company will soon be shipping over thirty carloads daily. The new electric plant is finished and is the most complete plant north of Grand Rapids.

A pleasant feature of the meeting occurred last night, when at dinner at the Elston, Engineer Sloan who has charge of the plant here, was surprised by the gift of a gold watch and chain from the officers of the company, as a slight token of appreciation of his work here.

Coming July 15th.

Monday July 15th, is the date when J. Leally, the optometrist, will be at Baker's Inn. Hours from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Glasses guaranteed to fit, curing headache a specialty. 281

In Memory Roando Brown.

Our dear son, we miss him, he's gone from our sight, but just for a season, and we'll with him mite. If we but trust Jesus, and sin here no more, He will take us to him on that beautiful shore. 281

Subscribe for the Courier.

Improving Green Property.

The city has been busy the past week leveling off and otherwise improving the vacant Green property on Bridge street, so as to make a breathing place in the heart of the city for hundreds of visitors. While the temporary use of the property, for this purpose, is not what it would be if it was made a city park it is something and the experiment will demonstrate what a park there would mean to the city.

Help Wanted.

Women and girls wanted to work in canning factory. Season will begin about July 15th. Last about five months. Pleasant work and good pay to active workers. Call or write for particulars. 274 Central Lake Canning Co.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15¢ first insertion.

FOR SALE—Choice young pigs. J. B. Wilkinson. 281

FOR SALE—Roll top desk. Inquire Dr. A. M. Wilkinson. 281

Girls wanted at Fountain City House. Inquire at once. 281

FOR SALE—Piano. For further particulars inquire of E. J. Gallagher the drayman. 281

FOUND—Monday morning near the Elston, a gold bracelet. Owner call at Courier office, prove property, and pay charges. 281

FARM FOR SALE—Six acres 3 miles north of Charlevoix. 40 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. Naloney, P. O. box 125. 281

FOR SALE—One good family horse, harness, buggy and saddle. The horse is safe for children and is good for either driving or riding. Will sell cheap. Austin Taylor, 106 State street. Phone No. 124. 281

Saturday For Cash

Beef Roasts 12½ to 14c

“ Stews 8c to 11c

“ Sirloin st'k 17c

“ Round st'k 16c

Pork Roasts 15c - 16c

“ Chops - 16c

Chunk Pork - 13c

Veal R'ts 11, 12, 13 16c

Veal Stews 7c and 10c

Veal Chops - 16c

Lamb Roasts 15c - 18c

“ Chops 15c - 18c

Stews 8c - 12 1-2c

The Market on the Corner

Bert Van Aalsburg

Corner State and Antrim Streets

Phone 125

CRANE'S

Children's Slip-on Dresses

SPECIAL VALUE

Famous "Lorilei" Brand

NO BUTTONS

NO HOOKS and EYES

Materials of best Domestic Gingham in plain and Shepard checks

Tans Blues Browns

50 cents

Other grades Children's Dresses
25c to $2.50

Out Door Life

To enjoy it properly we can furnish you with

Porch Furniture, Rugs
Hammocks, Etc.

Remember we can furnish you with the best
REFRIGERATORS on the Market

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

WHAT'S THE USE?

Of Paying high prices for house furnishings until you have investigated.
We are sure we can save you money.

... New and Second Hand Goods of Every Description. ...

This Week we are offering

Rocking Chairs $1.50 to $5.00

High Chairs $2.00

Bedsteads $2.50 to $8.00

Kitchen Cabinets $4.75 to $8.50

Not only can we save you money on house furnishings but we have a store full of bargains in all kinds of new and second hand goods.

Dice & Stafford

"Just Around the Corner"

Mason Street

Robert O'Neill FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF

Sweet Peas

Telephone Orders to No.
283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Farm Dairying

I.—The Dairy Farm

Copyright, 1911, by
A. C. McClurg
& Co.

By LAURA ROSE,
Demonstrator and Lecturer in Dairying at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Canada.

The first farmer was the first man, and all historic nobility rests on possession and use of land.

In the selection of land for a dairy farm some essential points must be considered. If a choice of soil is to be had a rich clay loam, easily drained, is the most preferable. Rough, cheap land is often used to advantage for pasture purposes, but more and more is intensive farming becoming popular, even to the extent of having a cow to each acre of land.

There must be a plentiful supply of good water all the year, and it should be convenient.

Another necessary consideration is a good market near at hand or convenient transportation facilities. The importance of good roads is no small consideration.

To be a successful dairyman a man must first be a successful farmer. He must understand soil conditions and the growing of crops. In other words, he must have a good farm well farmed, as well as a good herd well cared for.

A HUMANE AND MUCH APPROVED OF COW TIE.

Roundup Farms Made Profitable.

Every crop grown on the farm has a value as a fertilizer and when sold permanently removes that amount of fertilizing matter from the farm. Very often an intelligent, industrious man makes a profitable investment by buying a rundown farm at a low figure and stocking it with dairy cattle. By returning the manure in good condition to the land he makes the exhausted soil become rich and raise good crops in a few years.

A study of the following table explains why poor, run-out farms are built up by dairying. The figures show the amount of money received for the products sold and the value of the fertilizing constituents removed from the farm, based on ultraphos being worth 12 cents per pound, phosphoric acid 4½ cents and potash 4½ cents.

	Manu- factured value.	Value of fertilizing constituents removed.
One ton mixed hay.....	$12.00	$5.50
One ton wheat at $1 per bushel.....	33.33	6.66
One ton live cattle at 5 cents per pound.....	120.00	7.50
One ton whole milk at $1.25 per 100 pounds.....	25.00	1.60
One ton butter at 30 cents per pound.....	60.00	.30

I heard an old Scotchman, who proved it true, say many times there were only two things for which a farmer should mortgage his farm—first, to drain the land properly so as to raise good crops, for prosperity cannot rise from wet, cold soil—the land must be drained; second, to build good barns in which to house the stock and crops. These two conditions, rightly managed, will erect a fine home and make a comfortable bank account.

"Let There Be Light"
I wish space permitted a lengthy discussion on the construction of the cow stable. It does seem to me that the health of the cows and the purity of the milk depend greatly on the stable. Four things are of prime importance—sunlight, pure air, light, dry floors and the comfort of the animals.

The first recorded utterance of God is, "Let there be light," and further it is stated, "God saw the light that it was good." The Creator of all things knew that light was good. We know it is good. Then why shut it out of our cow stables? Did you ever see a stable without a window? I have seen many.

Fifteen minutes of direct sunshine bring death to most of the disease germs. When we have such a powerful disinfectant free let us use it abundantly. Have plenty of windows in the stable. Let the sunlight get directly in on all sides if possible. Many have the windows hinged on the lower side and have them open inward from the top. This prevents a direct draft on the cows. Keep the windows free from cobwebs and wash them off occasionally.

It is easier to regulate the light than it is to ventilate properly. If we wish animals to remain healthy they must have pure air to breathe. This means that the foul air from the lungs and odors from food and excretions must escape and be replaced by fresh air. Thousands of animals are yearly becoming affected with tuberculosis, due to insubstantial conditions. Effective ventilation is of infinitely greater value than tuberculin. The first prevents the disease; the other only reveals its presence. There should be at least 500 cubic feet of air space for each cow.

Means of letting the air into the stable at or near the ceiling will usually prove best. The air taken in will, by reason of being cold, tend to fall to the floor and thus produce air movements which will keep the air within the stable stirred and uniform. The outlet flues or ventilators must extend to the top of the roof. Up to the present time the King system of ventilation or a modification of it is perhaps one of the best. Details of it may be had from any agricultural college.

It is probably not advisable to allow the temperature of the stable to fall much below 40° degrees in the coldest weather, but in no case should a high temperature be maintained at the expense of ventilation. If the air of the stable is dry cattle can stand quite a low temperature without discomfort. Too warm and badly ventilated quarters are largely responsible for the prevalence of tuberculosis. On the other hand, a low enough temperature to cause the cows to chill will quickly be shown in a decreased milk flow. Cows exposed to extreme cold require more grain food and give a smaller yield of milk.

Cement Floor the Best.

The best floor is made of cement. It is sanitary, durable and easily kept clean. If bedding is scarce and the floor very cold it is advisable to have a plank platform for the cows to lie on. Otherwise rheumatism may develop. This wooden floor must be taken up occasionally and the stalls well cleaned. Many a valuable cow is lost by allowing her to lie on a damp, cold floor with probably a draft on her hind quarters. Inflammation of the udder is the result.

There are many contrivances for fastening the cows in the stall. Do not be cruel enough to have the rigid stanchion. The swinging stanchion is being installed in many stables and is greatly liked. The upright iron bar with the sliding ring and chain is, in the opinion of many, the easiest and best kind of tie. A later form of chain tie which is an improvement on the old style calls for a bar on each side of the stall and a ring on each bar, with a chain on each ring. These two chains are joined in the center by a ring to which is attached the chain which goes around the cow's neck. The bars are short and should be placed with their lower end about eighteen inches from the floor. The side chains should be slack enough so that when not attached to the cow the center will hang eight or ten inches from the floor. This tie gives more liberty than the stanchion and does not interfere with the cow when rising. The basement stable is losing favor, as it is hard to build one and avoid dampness and darkness—two enemies to health.

MODEL BARN PLAN.

The Ideal Stable.

The ideal cow stable is one without storage loft or cellar and where no other animals are housed. Such a building is expensive and involves more labor in caring for the stock.

In building a new stable every convenience to save labor that can be afforded should be installed. Spend time and money in visiting new barns and studying plans. A wise plan means less hired help and more satisfaction in doing the work. Have doors and passages arranged to save steps. A convenient way of bringing the

PINE POINT

.....One Hundred of the Choicest Water Front and Suburban Lots.....

Pine Point, Owned by the North Charlevoix Company, is the wooded tract of land formerly known as "Boy City." From a beautiful water front on Pine Lake it extends back and the Charlevoix-Petoskey rock road runs through the north part of Pine Point.

Pine Point is a water front addition to Charlevoix on the north shore of Pine Lake. It is within easy walking distance of the city and directly across the Bay from the Charlevoix Inn. Lake Michigan gives Charlevoix its delightful temperature but its waters are too rough for pleasure crafts. Pine Lake has always been the play water of Charlevoix. Pine Point rises from a most delightful bathing beach in natural wooded terraces, to dense upper-woodland, along the Charlevoix-Petoskey rock road. From this road Central Avenue winds through this wooded forest down the terraces and terminates at the Lake Shore Drive at Pine Point pier. The lots were laid out by one of the best landscape gardeners in America, and each lot is a picturesque bungalow and home site. These lots are on the market at popular prices and during the auction will be sold to the highest bidder. The average tourist can own a lot and a bungalow for what he usually spends a season in Charlevoix. The value of these lots will advance more rapidly than any land in Charlevoix.

Title Perfect

Terms 20% Cash

Balance Easy Payments

$5,000

is being spent in improvement and development of Pine Point. Inspect Pine Point before the sale. Free Automobile and Boat Ride to the lots any day. Phone the Auctioneer

I could have Bought

To the sincere investor there is no phrase so disheartening as this—"I Could Have Bought." To see a lot which could have been bought last year for $250 rise in one year to $500 and again the next year doubled to $1,000 is very unsatisfactory, when you do not own the lot but could have. Proportionately this will be the experience of those who do not buy lots in Pine Point early in the season. A visit to Pine Point and looking over this addition will confirm the statement in your mind.

JOY RIDE---

Any time you wish to ride out to PINE POINT, phone the AUCTIONEER at the Elston Hotel. We have an Automobile and Motor Boat, FREE, just to Show the People PINE POINT. PHONE ANY TIME.

GEORGE W. FRYHOFFER, Real Estate Auctioneer

926 First National Bank Building, Chicago
OFFICE, HOTEL ELSTON, CHARLEVOIX

NORTH CHARLEVOIX COMPANY

J. L. CRANE, President
LISE SHANAHAN, Secretary
R. C. HAMMETT, Treasurer

White Cedar Terrace Tenting Resort

Situated on the south side of Pine Lake, between Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan

Come to the Most Ideal Summering Place in MICHIGAN

Tenting Privileges Reasonable

Address Communications to
WILLIAM HUNT
47th CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
Telephone, Farmers' Independent Line

water into the stable and watering the cows, a wide feed passage, a good gutter, runners easy to keep clean, modern litter carriers, manure shed with cement floor, silo, feed bin and root cellar handy are points to note.

A stable should be whitewashed inside at least every fall. The lime disinfects and sweetens and brightens every corner and adds to the self respect of the farmer. Whitewash well strained is quickly applied with a small force spray pump or may be put on with a broom.

Whitewash For Outside of Building.
Slake in boiling water half a bushel of lime. Strain so as to remove all sediment. Add two pounds of sulphate of zinc, a pound of common salt and half a pound of whitening thoroughly dissolved. Mix to proper consistency with skim milk and apply hot.

This is much cheaper than paint and gives the buildings and fences a very attractive appearance.

Disinfectants For Stalls, Gutters, Etc.

No. 1.—Four pounds powdered blue-stone (sulphate of copper), four pounds of fresh lime, forty gallons of water. Use as a spray.

No. 2.—Whitewash walls, ceilings, etc., with an ordinary lime wash to which has been added a quarter of a pound of chloride of lime to the gallon.

Malibran's Generosity.

Malibran, the celebrated mezzo soprano, who was born at Paris in 1808 and died at Manchester, England, in 1830, was beloved for her amiability, generosity and professional egotism. Her benefactions amounted to such considerable sums that her friends were frequently obliged to interfere for the purpose of regulating her finances.

Father Seemed Right.
The organist was not lacking in patriotism, yet he rebelled when requested to play "The Star Spangled Banner" at a wedding.

"It is not appropriate," he said. "Ain't it?" said the bride's father. "For this wedding it is the most appropriate thing you can play. Cut all the rest of the program if you like, but stick to that. I had the hardest kind of a fight to keep Belle's mother from marrying her off to a foreigner. Between Belle and me we won out for an American, and if this isn't the time for the 'Star Spangled Banner' I'd like to know what is."—New York Sun.

N. J. Gorham, Cashier Bank of Woodville, Woodville, Ga., had a very severe attack of kidney trouble and the pains in his kidneys and back were terrible. "I got a bottle of Foley Kidney Pills from our druggist and they entirely relieved me. I have more benefit from them than any other medicine." Dry Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Let the Courier come with Spring

LEGAL NOTICES

Official Public Notice.

ALL DOGS, Male or Female, not effectually muzzled, running at large on any street, alley or public grounds, or private premises, and the premises of the owner or keeper thereof, may be killed by any person and shall be the duty of every citizen, policeman or other Peace Officer of the said City of Charlevoix, to kill, and he is hereby ordered to kill any and all such dogs. This will be in force until September 30, 1912.
Charlevoix, Michigan, June 6, 1912.
By Order of the Mayor

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Part, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.

I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.

I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE PILES in 20 days to stay cured and to never return.

I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds of men and women. Those I cannot treat at home by seeing or my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given host of care. May work out free.

Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars. Write to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M.D.
Belding Sanitarium & Retreat, Belding, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Something New

Have you seen these beautiful goods in Ivory Finish?

Jewel Boxes Hair Receivers Powder Boxes Elegant for Gifts
Headquarters for Souvenir Spoons

C. R. BELLINGER
Pioneer Jeweler

EXTRA

Northwestern United Doctors

An Association of Prominent
Physicians Giving FREE
Medical Services to the sick,
and Medicines at Cost.

COMING TO Charlevoix, Friday, July
19, at Bakers' Inn.
One Day Only.

The Northwestern United Doctors, practicing in Minnesota, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, organized and licensed by the states for the purpose of treating diseases, deformities and all curable ailments without surgical operation. By their developed system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, kidney stone, tumors, goiter, piles or cancer. They were among the first in America to do away with the knife, blood and pain in the successful treatment and cure of these dangerous diseases.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidney and bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, leg ulcers, epilepsy, or fits, etc., all treated with gratifying success.

Selected cases of consumption, asthma, bronchitis and catarrhal diseases absolutely cured with combination of medicine, hygiene, diet, exercise and the important uses and advantages of clothes, occupation, etc.

Loss of sight, cataract, granulated lids and old weak, watery, sore eyes; catarrh, deafness, bronchitis, asthma, hay fever and long standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases of men and women, and slow growths and undeveloped children's diseases, a treatment that is absolutely reliable.

Eczema, salt rheum, eruptions, liver spots, goiter and chronic diseases of the skin guaranteed in every case accepted for treatment.

Patients with cancer, tumor and tubercular glands not larger than one to two inches usually cured with their hypodermic injection method, with one treatment, and thus without pain.

Patients with growths larger than two inches are not invited to call. No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others have told you, no matter what experience you have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see the Northwestern United Doctors Specialists. It costs you nothing except a small charge for medicine provided you need a doctor.

Even if your case is incurable they will give you such advice that will relieve you and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself, your friends, and your relatives, it may save your life. If you have kidney or bladder trouble, better bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for analysis.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

Hours, 9:30 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. 273

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page
& Co.

(Continued from page three)

tender for greens among the deep grasses, and I might just happen to see something myself. My eyes are pretty sharp."

Near the creek, following it toward the bridge, Mrs. Comstock found a large bed of tender dandelions and stopped to fill her pail.

Elnora remained within cutting distance and was having good success.
At last she crossed the creek, following it up to a bridge. There she began a careful examination of the under sides of the sleepers and flooring for cocoons. Mrs. Comstock could see her and the creek for several rods above.

Around the bend came a man. He was bareheaded, dressed in a white sweater and waders which reached to his waist. He kept on the bank, only entering the water when necessary.
He had a queer basket strapped on his

"Possibly I could get that for you," suggested the man.

hip, and with a small rod he sent a long line sailing before him down the creek, deftly manipulating with it a little floating object. He was moving Elnora than her mother, but Mrs.
Comstock's right possibly by her side,
she could remain unseen and yet watch the girl that a stranger was coming.

Elnora was under the bridge, one knee planted in the embankment and a foot placed to support her. Her hair was tossed by wind and bushes, her face flushed, and she lifted her arms above her head, working to loosen a cocoon she had found. The cat Mrs.
Comstock had intended to utter never found voice. "Possibly I could get that for you," suggested the man.

"Oh, I do hope you can," answered Elnora. "It's quite a find! It's one of these lovely pale red cocoons described in the books. I suspect it comes from having been in a dark place and screened from the weather."

"Is that so?" cried the man. "Wait a minute. Are you making a collection?"

He reeled in his line, laid his rod across a bush and climbed the embankment to Elnora's side, produced a knife and began the work of whittling a deep groove around the cocoon.

"Yes, I paid my way through the high school in Onabasha with them.
Now I am starting a collection which means college."

"Onabasha?" said the man. "That is where I am visiting." He paused to rest for the bridge flooring was hard lumber, and the task he had set himself not easy. "Possibly you know my people—Dr. Ammon's?" The doctor is my uncle. My home is in Chicago.
I've been having typhoid fever, something fierce. In the hospital six weeks.
Didn't gain strength right, so Uncle Doc sent for me. I am to live out of doors all summer, and exercise until I get in condition again. My name is Philip Ammon. Don't you want help?"
Elnora parried the question.

"Have you ever hunted moths, Mr.
Ammon?"
"Enough to know the ropes in taking them and to distinguish the commonest ones. I know enough to help you all right."

"Aren't you going north?"
"All depends on how this fever teases me. Uncle says the nights are too cold and the days too hot there for me.
He thinks I had better stay in an even temperature until I am strong again. I'll have this cut out in a minute. You better say 'yes,'" he persisted. "It would be a real kindness. It would keep me out doors all day and give an incentive to work. I'm good at it. I'll show you if I am not in a week or so. I can 'sugar,' manipulate lights and mirrors and am familiar with all the expert methods. I'll wager moths are thick in the old swamp over there."

"They are," said Elnora. "Most I have I took there. A few nights ago my mother caught a good many, but we don't dare go alone."

"All the more reason why you need me. Where do you live? I can't get an answer from you. I'll just go tell your mother who I am and ask her if I may help you."

The cocoon came loose. Philip Ammon stepped down the embankment, turning to offer his hand to Elnora.
They went to Mrs. Comstock.

"Mother, this is Mr. Philip Ammon of Chicago," said Elnora. "He has been ill, and he is staying with Dr.
Ammon in Onabasha. He came fishing down the creek and cut this cocoon from under the bridge for me. He feels that it would be better to hunt moths than to fish until he gets well.
What do you think about it?"

Philip Ammon extended his hand.
"I'm glad to know you," he said.

"You may take the handshaking for granted," replied Mrs. Comstock. "Dan-delions have a way of making the fingers sticky, and I like to know a man before I take his hand, anyway. That introduction seems mighty comprehensive on your part, but it still leaves me unclassified. My name is Comstock."

At last Mrs. Comstock finished the greens.

"You are three miles from the city and less than a mile from where we live," she said. "If you will tell me what you dare eat, I suspect you had best go home with us and rest until the cool of the day before you start back. Probably some one that you can ride in with will be passing before evening."

Philip Ammon was on his feet. Picking up the pail of greens and his fishing rod he stood waiting. Elnora led the way. Mrs. Comstock motioned Philip to follow and she walked in the rear.

Elnora proceeded slowly, chattering about everything along the trail. Philip was interested in all the objects she pointed out, noticing several things which escaped her. When Elnora turned toward the gate of her home Philip Ammon stopped, took a long look at the big beaved log cabin, the vines which clambered over it, the flower garden ablaze with beds of bright bloom interspersed with strawberries and tomatoes, the trees of the forest rising north and west like a green wall and exclaimed, "How beautiful!"

Philip Ammon was ravenous for the butter-milk, and when he stretched on the bench in the arbor the flickering patches of sunlight so tantalized his tired eyes, while the bees made such splendid music, he was soon sound asleep.

When Elnora and her mother came out with a table they stood a short time looking at him. It is probable Mrs. Comstock voiced a united thought when she said, "What a refined, decent looking young man!
How proud his mother must be of him! We must be careful what we let him eat."

They returned to the kitchen where Mrs. Comstock proceeded to be careful. She broiled ham of her own sugar curing, creamed potatoes, served asparagus on toast and made a dandelion salad and a delicious strawberry short-cake. When everything was ready she told Elnora's shoe.

"Just have something to eat, but before you get too hungry," she said.

"Please hurry," he begged, laughing.
As he had a plate heaved her to be sure. "It's a lovely kind of you to take me in. I hope I will be able to work in a few days to do something worth while in return."

They talked of moths, moths, time on flies, but in reality and at the natural wonders the swamp afforded straying from those subjects to books and school work. When they reached the table Ammon assisted, enjoying several tiny beads to the kitchen. He and Elnora mounted specimens, while Mrs. Comstock washed the dishes.
Then she came out with a rattle she was embroidering. At last Ammon said he must go or his friends would become anxious about him.

(Continued next week.)

An increasing number of people report regularly of the satisfactory results from taking Foley Kidney Pills and commend their healing and curative qualities. Foley Kidney Pills are a carefully prepared medicine, guaranteed to contain no harmful or habit forming drugs.
They can only have a beneficial effect when used for kidney and bladder troubles, for backache, rheumatism, weak back or lumbago. Fry Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

THE DAIRYMAN.

At least three weeks before cows are due to calve the heavy feed should be discontinued.

If from any cause a cow is very thin or weak she should receive special strengthening food before calving. Wheat bran and bluised meal make the best combination to give a freshening cow.

Keep the young calves warm if you are obliged to put up a special stall for them and put blankets on them.

The pails used for feeding the calves should be scalded regularly every time they are used.

Cold rains are much harder on cows than dry cold. Damp cold penetrates to the bones. Provide dry shelter.

Turn separator with a steady and uniform speed and dust down with skim milk or water at end of separation.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders Supply Co.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell,
Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

A BUSINESS MAN SAID

To a young enquirer about a Business Education: "Attend the School that gets RESULTS. Four of my family who attended the McLachlan Business University are holding choice positions, the fifth, my youngest son Harry, will enroll there in September."

LARGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOG FREE

SEVEN STATES represented last year. Over 700 students enrolled during last 12 months. Over 100 latest models of typewriters. 15000 square feet floor space. Fall Term begins Sept. 3d. Railway fare paid. Opportunities to work for board. Start with new Term.

McLachlan Business University
110-118 PEARL ST.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

ORGANIZATION CHANGES

Mr. A. Von Schlegel Becomes General Manager—
Headquarters at Detroit.

Effective July 1st, Mr. A. von Schlegel becomes a general manager of the Michigan State Telephone company and will be located at the general offices of that company in Detroit.

About a year ago the central group of the Bell Telephone companies operating in the States of Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, so arranged their organization, that the officials who were most experts in the various branches of the business were brought together in a central organization at Chicago. These men were to develop the best telephone methods and practices found in the various states in order to build up the most efficient organization possible, by standardizing methods, standardizing practices and enabling the companies to better care for the generous increase in business which the telephone industry has been enjoying for the past few years. Out of this central organization has developed this new plan, which goes into effect July 1st.

It was decided that greater efficiency in administration could be secured by an organization which places an executive in charge of a company having supervision over the various departments, rather than have its various department heads report direct to specialists in their departments at Chicago, as during the past year.

Necessity for direct supervision from Detroit as arranged for is further increased by the necessity for close contact with the commissions and other utility governing bodies within the state, and also on account of a very large increase, not only in the telephone connections directly with the system, but also by the large number of independent telephone companies which are entering into connecting arrangements with the Bell system.

This new form of organization makes no change in the personnel or present form of organization in the various exchanges operating in Michigan, and there will be no general switching of employees. It simply means that the organization is strengthened.

Mr. B. E. Shumy remains as President of the Company, and Alonzo Hart is Vice-president, in charge of operations, with Mr. von Schlegel as the general manager, as mentioned above.

How's This?

We offer one Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known P. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE, Toledo, O. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, blue lining see the Builders Supply Co., phone 5124.

OUR COUNTY FINANCES

As Reported by County Treasurer Lewis for the Month of May.

The report of the county treasurer for the month of June is as follows:

RECEIPTS
Balance on hand June 1st, 1912	$27,000.00
Received from delinquent taxes	288.17
Received from pair fund	220.53
Received from library fund	25.00
Received from mortgage tax	113.50
Received from county clerk costs in the case of the People vs. Annie Burgey	7.50
Received from county clerk costs in the case of the People vs. Clarence Perry	7.50
State of Michigan	250.00
Total	$28,352.20
DISBURSEMENTS
General fund	$1,020.07
Pair fund	1,075.81
Circuit court orders	25.00
Probate court orders	84.00
Library fund	61.00
Mortgage tax	90.50
Curtis & Wylie, Madison County	300.00
Indigents	100.75
State of Michigan, for 17 cooling March 1st	24,327.52
Balance on hand July 1st, 1912	23,227.52
Total	$28,352.20

Dated, Charlevoix, Mich., July 6, 1912.

RICHARD LEWIS, County Treasurer.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Sacrament."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30.
Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Topic, "How much should a Christian think of personal appearance?"
Evening service, 7:30.
Thursday evening, prayer meeting.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town hall.
"Strangers always welcome."
Fly chaser does the business. $1 per gallon at Benj. Brown's. 251

Farm and Garden

CABBAGE "YELLOWS."

Disease That Is Likely to Cause Great Loss to Vegetable Growers.

So far as known, cabbage is the only crop affected by the form of wilt known as "yellows" or "yellow sides," says a bulletin of the United States department of agriculture. The plants usually show the characteristic symptoms in about two to four weeks after they are set in the field, but often the disease appears early in their growth. In the seed bed. The outer and lower leaves are the first to show the signs of

Photograph by United States department of agriculture

CABBAGE PLANT SHOWING SYMPTOMS OF WILT OR YELLOWS.

The disease. The whole leaf may first turn yellow between the veins and around the margins, and then later brown, as it scorches, and finally drop off, or only one side of the leaf may dry up, while the other half remains normal. This latter symptom is the more usual and is a distinguishing characteristic of the disease. Little or no wilting of the plant is then apparent, and for that reason "yellows" is a better descriptive term than wilt. The lowest leaf is always the first to drop off, and this is followed by the next, above until only a bare stalk is left, supporting a small imperfect head or none at all, depending upon the age of the plant when it became diseased.

Subsequent to the dropping of the leaves short sprouts from one-half inch to one and one-half inches long sometimes grow out between the leaf scars. Browning of the woody portion of the stem is another characteristic of wilt. The soil should be disinfected with formaldehyde one-quarter pint to seven gallons of water, leaving the seed in the solution about fifteen minutes, then washing and drying. Wilt has been found to occur in many seed beds, and for that reason manure and soil known to be free from the disease should be used. Sterilization of the seed bed should be practiced whenever possible. It has been found that even though the seed bed has been sterilized and noninfected plants obtained they may become diseased later if planted out in infected soil.

The plants evidently become diseased when quite young, and many can be detected before planting. Such should be pulled out and destroyed. Do not allow stock to roam or walk over the fields. When water is used for setting it should be taken from wells instead of from drainage ditches.

Crop rotation should be practiced. The rotation should cover a period of four to eight years.

Keep Flies From Sheep.
The fly will make its appearance in midsummer. The fly aims to deposit its eggs within or close to the nostrils of the sheep. This is accompanied by no pain to the sheep. The eggs hatch in a few weeks, and the little worm ascends the nostrils, making the poor animals almost wild with nervous distress. The best remedy is a little pine tar smeared on the nose. It should be frequently applied by pouring a little tar in the feed troughs and sprinkling it over with fine salt and wheat bran the sheep will coat their own noses. There is a good way where the flock is large.

Turnips For Next Winter.
Turnips for winter storing may be sown in July and August. Two to three pounds of seed per acre are required. In field culture the rows are often thirty inches apart, to facilitate horse cultivation. The seed is sometimes sown broadcast from July 20 to Aug. 1, when the crop is grown for stock.

Cheap Silage.

Twenty-three acres of corn after rye, planted June 1, with cow peas drilled between rows at the first cultivation, produced at the New Jersey experiment station 214.5 tons of silage. The total cost was $3.51 per ton in the silo.

Father's Shortcoming.
"The trouble with father," said the glided youth, "is that he has no idea of the value of money."

"You don't mean to imply that he is a spendthrift?"

"Not at all. But he puts his money away and doesn't appear to have any appreciation of all the things he might buy with it."—Exchange.

Another shipment of Bicycles received direct from the factory.

A Bicycle Pays for itself in six months' riding and will get you home in half the time.—A mile in five minutes. Best fun there is; Splendid exercise; You own the road. Wouldn't you rather be the man on the Bicycle? I have them from

$22.50 to $40.00

with coaster brake, roller chain and mud guards and guarantee heavy road tire.

Bicycle Sundries

Bicycle Repairing

Benj. Brown

NEW STYLES

We have just put on exhibition our new lines of oxfords and high shoes. The new models are very attractive and you will appreciate the graceful lines and snappy effects.

Mayer

"Leading Lady" Shoes

are famous for wear and style all over the country. They are the most perfect ladies' shoes obtainable, and will give you many extra weeks of service. Made on full lasts, you get perfect fit and real foot comfort.

We want you to see these styles. Come in to-day.

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at the old Dent on Farm, nine miles south of Charlevoix, on the Norwood Road, on Saturday, July 13, 1912

Commencing at 1:00 o'clock sharp, the following described property:

W. E. BYERS, AUCTIONEER

• Work team, wgt 1200, each
• Cows, fresh last spring
• Cow, fresh coming November
• Yearling heifers
• Yearling steer
• Spring calf
• 2 spring pigs
• Set double harness
• Single harness
• Good lumber wagon
• Single wagon
• Good open buggy
• Riding cultivator, good as new
• Springtooth cultivator
• Two-horse hay rake
• Set bob sleighs
• Single bob sleigh

• March root cutter
• About 75 hens
• Blue Bell cream separator
• Garden drill and cultivator combined
• Heating stove
• Cook stove
• 3 iron beds and springs
• Couch
• 2 center tables
• Large full leaf table
• Kitchen table
• 2 rocking chairs
• White Lily washing machine
• And other articles too numerous to mention

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $5.00 or under cash; all sums over $5.00, nine months' time on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

JAMES A. WOOD, Proprietor

W. F. BYERS, Auctioneer

Why Pay Double Price For Groceries

We Have One Price to All

Come in and sample our fresh dairy butter

Fresh Vegetables

Prompt Delivery and Courteous Treatment

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE

Telephone 125

Antrim Street

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 29

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

WILL BE BIG MASONIC EVENT

Corner stone of New Masonic Temple Will Be Laid Next Saturday.

GRAND LODGE OF MICHIGAN

Will Be Present and Grand Master Will Have Charge of Ceremony.

Committee in Charge Invites All Having Relics to Opposit to Bring Them in at Once—Impressive Ceremony

The Masonic brethren are making great preparations for the laying of the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple, which will take place next Saturday afternoon, at four o'clock. The corner stone will be laid by the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Michigan, who will be present accompanied by the Grand Lodge.

The committee in charge of the arrangements W. H. Collins, Olin Nordrum and Rollie L. Lewis have sent invitations to all the surrounding lodges to be present and it undoubtedly will be the greatest day in the Masonic history of Charlevoix. The committee requests that anybody who has any mementos, etc., that they wish deposited in the stone to bring them to the law office of Rollie L. Lewis not later than Friday noon. The cavity for the reception of relics is small and of course nothing very large can be deposited, but coins, medals and papers are generally used on such occasions.

The Masonic ceremony of laying corner stones is very impressive and it is hoped that a large crowd will be in attendance as it is not always that an opportunity is given to see the ceremony performed.

WORKING IN OLD IRELAND

Secretary Gibson of Development Bureau Lectures in Old Country

North of Ireland is Splendid Field for Missionary Work for Settlers.

The illustrated lecture "Western Michigan, the Land of Fruit and Fortune," was given in Parochial Hall, Ballinade, County of Monaghan, Ireland, on Thursday evening, July 20, by John L. Gibson, secretary of the Western Michigan Development Bureau. The hall was filled with farmers, their wives and families, and a great interest in the resources of the Western Michigan country was evinced. Three hundred copies of the illustrated magazine, "Western Michigan, Fruit and Fortune," were distributed.

Mr. Gibson expresses himself as follows regarding the prospects for settlers from Ireland for the Western Michigan country: "The North of Ireland is a splendid field for missionary work. The farmers are leaving by the thousands for Canada and Australia. More or less of a prejudice exists against the United States and those in authority are doing all they can to turn the tide of emigration to the British Colonies. Notwithstanding this, a vigorous advertising campaign carried on here in behalf of Western Michigan would produce good results. Those who are migrating are the flower of the farming community and for the most part are possessed of money, for the North of Ireland is very prosperous at present. But as the farmers do not believe in race suicide there is not enough land to go around. One hundred pounds ($500) per acre is about the average price of the lands suited for agricultural purposes."

Sarah Bernhardt, the world's greatest actress, in moving pictures, Myriatic, Saturday afternoon and evening.

CAN'T FOOL UNCLE SAM

Candidates Must Not Put Literature in Rural Mail Boxes.

Local candidates for political offices, or their friends, have been using the rural mail boxes for the distribution of their campaign literature without first addressing the matter and affixing stamps. This is not only a violation of the postal laws but is a waste of time and money on the part of the candidates as all matter of this kind is brought in by the carriers and held for postage. It would be well for the offenders in this case to take heed. No advertising matter of any description, in fact nothing should be put in the rural boxes without postage being paid for same. Should the practice continue, an inspector will call on the violators to either pay a fine or explain why they persist in their efforts to evade paying postage.—Record-Eagle.

THE ASSEMBLY AT BAY VIEW

Opened This Week With Concert by Kellogg-Haines Company

Summer University Opened Last Monday—Next Four Weeks Will Be Busy Ones.

Although Bay View's fame is known far and wide, many people still have no idea that it is a camp of idle people, while in fact it is a beautiful summer city with all the city advantages, except political graft and high taxes. A recent census gives it 500 summer homes, several hotels and half a dozen modern university halls, while in the height of the season over 5000 people are there.

Already people are flocking for the opening of the Summer University which occurred this week. Last summer there were in attendance students from sixteen states, from Maine to Montana. The University is not a dry and "bookish" place where people study from morning till night. Far from it. In pleasant rooms, famous educators instruct by lectures and demonstrations, and thus in five weeks the students come into possession of the things that have made the teachers famous.

Some have thought that the University is just a resort for teachers, but mothers, business men and children are to be found there, for there are schools, from cooking to art and public reading, that appeal to all classes.

The popular conservatory of music draws its faculty almost entirely from the celebrated school at Oberlin College. Another attractive department is that of Arts and Crafts, where everything is taught, from beautiful metal work to artistic Danish weaving.

Today, the 24th Bay View Assembly opens with a grand concert by the Kellogg-Haines Company, and then for four weeks and nearly every hour the celebrities of the lecture and concert fields will be heard.

Many people ask, "What does it cost to visit Bay View?" The railroads sell reduced round trip tickets, furnished rooms cost from $3 to $5 per week, and good table-board is but $5.50 per week.

TAKING ON NEW AIR

Many Improvements Made on Van Pelt Place During Past Three Days.

This week has been an active one around The Courier building and Van Pelt place. The store room next to The Courier building has been finished up and the grounds cleaned up. Both buildings will be covered with Boston ivy and besides being one of the best lighted sales rooms in the city it will be one of the most attractive places in the city where real art in store room is desired. This room is 24 x 33, lighted on three sides and within one hundred feet of the postoffice, with a good cement walk in both directions, making it just the place for a tea room, dress-making or millinery parlors.

Come around and look at the improvements around our place of business.

CONGRESSMAN DODDS HAS MADE FINE RECORD AT WASHINGTON

Has Been a Hard Worker and Secured Much for This District—Mt. Pleasant Indian School Retained by His Efforts—Appropriations Secured for Several Cities in This District—Deserves Renomination.

Our congressman has made a record at Washington that should be satisfactory to every Republican in this district. He has worked there as he always worked at home, and his tireless efforts in the interests of his constituents have counted for something worth while.

On every measure that has come before congress his vote has squared with the interests of his constituents, and with his own conscientious convictions. Mr. Dodds opposed the Canadian reciprocity measure, believing it to be an agreement that would work injury to the Michigan farmer; he had a farmer in mind again when he strongly opposed the Democratic free sugar bill, which would spoil the beet sugar industry in this country and place us wholly in the hands of the sugar trust; should it become a law; on two different occasions he voted to amend the constitution so that we may have a valid income tax when one shall be necessary, but he did not vote for the recent income tax bill offered by the Democrats in connection with their free sugar bill, to raise revenue to take the place of the millions that would be lost by taking the duties off sugar—presented in the face of the supreme court decision under which the income tax law, passed during Cleveland's administration, was held unconstitutional; he voted for the popular election of U. S. senators when the house resolution was amended by the senate to suit him—but not as formulated by the house Democrats; and so on every question he has been both sensible and honest.

Pensions

He has secured favors for his district more than might reasonably be expected of its national representative—for instance, in the matter of pensions; he has been able to get through three times as many allowances for the soldier, through special bills, as is customary for a congressman to secure in the time Mr. Dodds has served his district.

The Indian School

He saved the Indian School for Mount Pleasant, after the commissioner of Indian affairs had recommended its suspension. And not only is he to be credited with the continuance of the school, but, in addition to the regular biennial appropriation of over $50,000, he got $3000 for an office building over there, $3000 for enlarging the hospital, $4000 for two additional lavatories, and $15,000 to build a boys' dormitory—so that room to take care of many more pupils is now provided. At the present session he succeeded in getting enough money to take care of 325 pupils instead of 280, its former capacity. These appropriations assure the continuance of the school for some time to come.

Other Appropriations

Mr. Dodds secured for his district $50,000 for an addition to the federal building at Traverse City, $70,000 for a federal building at Big Rapids, and $10,000 for a site at Boyne City. At this session he has introduced bills asking for $85,000 for a site and building at Greenville, and $80,000 for a postoffice building at Boyne City. These items, or at least some of them, will go through during this congress. Mr. Dodds assures us, if any public building bill is passed.

Important Legislation Favored by Him

Our Congressman worked zealously against strong opposition, but finally succeeded in passing his bill to reopen investigation into claims of the hands of Chippewa Indians of this section, and by the court of claims is authorized to impose judgment against the United States when the claims are established.

Probably the most important piece of legislation that he introduced—considering the country at large—was a bill to allow periodical publications issued by benevolent and fraternal organizations, trade-unions and other societies, to carry advertising and still be permitted the privileges of the mails at second class postage rates. He got this provision tacked on as an amendment to the regular post office appropriation bill, very recently, and now in all probability it will become a law. In this, too he met with determined opposition.

Why the People Will Want Him to Go Back He has made a large and valuable acquaintance among senators and congressmen, at Washington; and at the capitol, as well as at home he is considered thoroughly capable and absolutely reliable. He is a member of the great judiciary committee, one of the most important places in the way of committee appointments. With his acquaintance and experience he can accomplish even greater things for us in the future than in the past.

Honest and square, knowing how to do things and ever ready to do them, understanding the necessity and the effects of legislation—he surely is the kind of man that deserves to be sent to congress. Such men as he is should be kept there: the interests of their districts and the interests of the country at large demand it.

WILL STAY ON FARM

Speaker Baker Denies Report That He is Anxious to Hold Office.

The Petoskey News says: Dana H. Hinkley, state representative from this district, came down from Brims Saturday morning. He was at Cheboygan Saturday and while there had a talk with Herbert F. Baker, speaker of the house of representatives.

While the state press has set forth statements that Baker would not again be a candidate for speaker, rumors have been printed that he was in the field for election to the office of auditor general. Mr. Baker stated emphatically to Mr. Hinkley that he was not in the race for auditor general or any other office.

PINE POINT STILL BOOMING

Several Contracts for New Bungalows and Cottages Have Been Let Concrete Sidewalks Are Being Laid—Auction First Week in August.

Mrs. Noble, proprietor of the Elston Hotel, is building the first cottage on the shore front at Pine Point. Her lot is number eight just opposite the pier. Her plans are elaborate and show excellent taste, and her house is to be one of the ocean front type of bungalow which prevail at Atlantic City.

The water works system is rapidly being extended to lots where building is now going on or being contemplated to furnish the water supply during construction. The company now has a deep well of purest water and reservoir facilities for fifty families, the plant is so arranged that it can be enlarged to suit the growing needs.

The north part of Central avenue, known as the Shady Drive or the Leaf Tunnel has become one of the sights to be taken in by the tourists. This winding roadway completely roofed by the foliage of birch, elm and maple has all the wildness and charm of a mysterious path in the woods. A tourist from London said that the far famed woodlands of England had no spot more attractive than this embowered passage at Pine Point.

W. F. Bridge, county surveyor of Lake county, and of East Chicago and Hammond, Ind., is this week letting the contract for his bungalow on Birch Crest avenue. Mr. Bridge, who is a frequent visitor at Hubbard's Woods and Lake Forest, two delightful suburbs of Chicago on the north shore, has selected Pine Point as a place to build his summer home. Anyone familiar with Mr. Bridge's good taste will appreciate the compliment when he said, "Pine Point is naturally the most beautiful summer home location I have ever seen in my extensive travels."

The new flag pole at Pine Point is attracting a great deal of attention, and can be seen from the boat shortly after leaving East Jordan. The flag is the same size as those of the Chicago Club, and the fun, but being on the natural elevation of Pine Point and topping a magnificent pole makes it much more conspicuous than the others.

One hundred-twenty-five feet of concrete sidewalk has already been laid leading up to the concrete pillars which are to mark the entrance of Pine Point.

The next sale of lots by auction will take place Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 1, 2 and 3.

SMITH--PEYTON

Former Charlevoix Boy Married July Ninth to New York Lady.

Announcement of the marriage of Julius Avery Smith and Miss Elsie Lancaster Peyton has been received in the city. The happy event took place July ninth at St. Stephen's church, New York.

Mr. Smith is the son of F. A. Smith and a graduate of our public schools, and now occupies a responsible position in New York. His many friends unite in wishing him all happiness.

Courier rates no application.

GOVERNMENT IS AFTER US

Ruling of Post Office Department Will Now Be Strictly Enforced.

DELINQUENTS MUST PAY

Or We Will Be Compelled to Pay Full Postage on Paper.

Please Examine Your Address Label and See How Your Subscription Account Stands—Time Given Us is Short.

The postal department has reached Charlevoix. About two years ago, our readers will remember, we mentioned the fact that the department had ruled that weekly papers could not be sent at third class rates to subscribers more than one year in arrears. The department has been steadily reaching out over the country enforcing this ruling with country papers; and last week a notice was sent to this office to know if we were sending papers to anyone who owes us a year or more.

Owing to the busy season we have not been very diligent in collecting delinquent subscription accounts. This means, however, that we must now get busy and collect these accounts. We shall soon notify every person whose subscription has expired and we shall expect a prompt remittance. While we think the government will grant us a little time to make our collections, it will be short. Those who know they are in arrears need not wait for a notice.

Remember that the time has come when we must act. This ruling is now being enforced in Michigan and if we don't collect promptly we will be forced to either stop sending The Courier to all who are over one year in arrears or we must affix a one cent stamp every week which of course we can't afford to do. We therefore ask all our subscribers to get busy and bring up their subscription accounts to within a year so we may square ourselves with the government.

DOGS NEED CARE

Good Advice in Regard to Proper Care from Veterinary Expert.

Dr. Eldon Smith, city veterinarian and incidentally the municipal mad dog expert, issues this terse advice regarding the care of dogs during the hot weather.

"Give them plenty of water, give them a shady place in which to rest and above all do not torment the animals. Like humans they are especially irritable when the temperature is climbing around the 100 degree mark.

"The trouble is that a dog cannot jump crosswise or make a misstep without somebody shouting 'mad dog,'" continued the doctor. "Because a dog gets a little flighty or has a spasm is no sign he is afflicted with rabies. Of all the cases which I have been called upon to attend recently the trouble was distemper. Little puppies have fished too, which often causes a scare.

"One thing I would urge, however. Whenever a dog acts suspiciously and there is any reason to believe there is anything wrong, the board of health should be notified. A few cases of rabies have occurred in the state this year and we want to protect the children. And every dog owner should observe the three simple rules regarding water, shade and rest for the animals. Parents should warn children not to torment their pets, as an ordinarily kind and friendly dog may snap and bite when his disposition is being ruined by excessive heat."—Grand Rapids Press.

Must Take a Rest.

Word comes from Alpena that Senator Frank D. Scott, whose serious illness we mentioned a short time ago, had been ordered by his physicians to go to the Canadian woods, for a two month's rest.

Notice to Correspondents.

Please mail your correspondence, if possible, so it will reach us not later than Tuesday morning, and earlier if possible. If anything of importance occurs afterward write again or phone at our expense. We desire correspondents in Charlevoix and surrounding country. We furnish stamps and writing paper and envelopes to those who write for us, and place their names on our mailing list free. If the items of your community do not appear in our columns will you help us in obtaining a correspondent?

Correspondence

MAPLE GROVE

Miss Dulcie Howe spent Sunday at Maple Row.

Miss Lena Howe was a guest of Pioneer farm Sunday.

William Stinson has returned home much improved in health. Elliot Lewis spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents at Charlevoix.

Master Frank Cook of Charlevoix was a guest at Sunset farm last week.

Charles Howe had a valuable colt killed by a Pere-Marquette train last week.

Miss Bonnie Bowman of Grand Rapids is a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tunison.

Ice cream and cake were served to twenty guests at Mrs. Branton Wigham's Thursday evening.

Mrs. George Tyndall, Mrs. Green and daughter have returned to their home in Whiting, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kirby, Mrs. John Kane and Sidney Tunison were guests at Bloomingdale Sunday.

Summer colds are hard to get rid of, frequently lead to asthma, bronchitis, and hay fever. Do not let your cold get a hold on you, but use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for quick relief. W. H. Allen, Chelsea, Wis., says: "We prefer Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to other cough medicines because it quickly cures coughs and colds. It will ward off a cold if taken in time." Contains no opiates. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

MARION.

The Ladies Aid of Barnard met with Mrs. S. Chase Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cook visited Ed. Cook and family of Norwood.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Ironmont met with Mrs. Ben Nowland July 10.

Mrs. Anna Nowland has been visiting Mrs. Henry Black the past week.

Cland Ross and Robert Hunt from Detroit were the guests of Lloyd and Grace Gregory Wednesday.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. are still active, although they have not been in the paper for some time. We miss two of our most earnest, active members from our union—Mrs. McGee, who has been called to come up higher, and the other, Mrs. Putnam, who has gone to help

BLOCKADED

Every Household in Charlevoix Should Know How to Resist It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked.

Help the kidneys with their work.

The back will ache no more.

Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Charlevoix.

J. B. Lanchester, 203 May St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have proven a valuable remedy to me. I can recommend them strongly. I was annoyed for seven years by my kidneys and suffered greatly from lame back. My back ached at night and when I arose in the morning I was stiff and lame. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and I had to get up many times during the night. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got them from the Ivy Drug Store. They have done me a world of good. I can rest better at night and only have to get up once. My back is strong and the aches and pains are gone. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

to our cause and every other good cause in another city. We gave her a little reception in the Cong church parlor just before she went away. The words of appreciation of the help and inspiration she has been to us will, I am sure, be a sweet memory for her to have. And while we feel that it will be hard to find anyone to fill her place here, she will be the same help and inspiration wherever she may go.

One Friday not long ago about forty of our union took a drive to Sequenota, taking the inevitable "dinner pail" with us. The old girls seemed to enjoy the drive to that lovely resort, and the welcome. Then there came a short memorial service for our absent member, Mrs. McGee, who was a most devoted worker in the cause. After that a very interesting report from the convention held at Manistee. Our delegates, Mrs. Al and Mrs. Burdick, came home full of enthusiasm for the work, also new ideas, knowledge and energy to carry it on. Very few people not connected with the W. C. T. U. have any idea of the extent, the magnitude and the success of our work for the past forty years, nor the many branches that now extend around the globe and reach and benefit every class of humanity. We may say it has been a pioneer work in many ways of helping to make the world better. While the motive for starting the work was simply a love for humanity, the object was no less a one than to do away with intemperance and its legion of attendant evils in the United States. The little praying band who first started the work, believing in prayer and the omnipotence of God, are now a mighty host with fifty different branches of work for the lifting up and helping of humanity in every civilized Christian country. We may live to see the object attained and the end secured with all its resultant blessings to humanity.

George L. Higbie, Manistee, Mich., used Foley Kidney Pills for kidney and bladder trouble. He says: "I had for my case no other medicine equals Foley Kidney Pills for beneficial effect." They are a safe and reliable medicine for kidney trouble and rheumatism. Contains no harmful drugs. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

United States Commissioner of Education Clayton is advocating a system of agricultural training for all the public schools in this country. If it continues the distinction between town and country life will be obliterated, and all will be one and the same and Honorable Order of May seeds.

State departments of agriculture are beginning to lay stress on turkey culture and are sending out turkey lecturers to the farmer's institutes. Lecturers skilled in the art are few, and they find few turkey breeders to talk to. This is a real case of looking the other way for the turkey has eluded.

Salty cornmeal dough is the latest sparrow exterminator. Bait them in the winter when they are hungry, but fix the dose so poultry and useful birds can't get it.

City consumers do not get many fresh winter eggs because town poultry trade goes to the city. City people more and more, are making quiet conquests with egg farmers. In furnished their egg supplies and thus get a bon ton article the whole year around.

The poor fates of the past season have been used in the late, cold spring. But we notice breeders from the same healthy give different reports. We believe most of the infertility comes from forcing hens to lay too many high priced winter eggs. We notice in this vicinity that flocks which lay few eggs in winter lay strong, fertile eggs in the natural laying season.

A brood's egg seems especially fertile and yet how thin the brood is after a strenuous winter when he even gets so hungry as to invade the dooryard for scraps. This is a pointer from nature to keep your hens from wearing fat birds' bodies.

In five years the exportation of dressed poultry from this country to England had dropped from $243,750 to $88,177. This is not a sign that purchasers' appetites have increased, but that poultry has increased, and the American appetite are on the gain.

English poultry raisers are demanding that all foreign poultry be marked so that market buyers may know what they are getting. There is an immense amount of dressed poultry shipped into England, coming even from China, and dealers buy it much cheaper than the English article and by selling it for home stock make a big profit.

That the middleman is an unnecessary evil, a detriment to the farmer and a skinner of the consumer was recently proved to Mayor Gaynor of New York by a delegation of farmers who presented before him a co-operative scheme whereby the middleman should be done away with and farm products be handled direct from farmer to consumer. They showed New York consumers paid $60,000,000 for potatoes that netted the farmer but $8,500,000, $9,125,000 for cabbages that brought him but $1,500,000 and $49,000,000 for milk that netted him but $23,000,000. A big bunch of New York middlemen are now serving time for their light gentry methods of buying and selling poultry.

Trunk repairing, keys made and fitted at Benj. Brown's Harness and Bicycle shop. 28th

MICHIGAN STATE CROP REPORT

For July Just Issued by Secretary of State Martindale

Northern Counties Are in the Lead in All Crops—Prospects Are Bad For a Fruit Crop.

At present the indications are that the wheat crop will fall short of the 1901 returns, when the yield for the state was a trifle over 5,000,000 bushels. The average estimated yield in the state is eleven, and in northern counties thirteen bushels per acre.

The average estimated yield of rye in the state is twelve and in the northern counties thirteen bushels per acre.

The acreage of buckwheat sown or to be sown, as compared with last year is 87 in the state and 90 in the northern counties.

The acreage of beans planted or to be planted as compared with last year is 102 in the state, 97 in the southern counties, 103 in the central counties, 109 in the northern counties and 105 in the upper peninsula. The condition of beans, compared with an average is 86 in the state, 85 in the southern and central counties, 89 in the northern counties and 83 in the upper peninsula.

The condition of potatoes in the state and southern counties is 88, in the central counties 81, in the northern counties 89 and in the upper peninsula 104.

The following table of percentage gives the averages in regard to fruit in the state and the different sections:

Apples—Prospect for average crop, per cent in state 60, northern counties 75.

Peaches—Prospect for an average crop, per cent in state 11, northern counties 24.

Pears—Prospect for an average crop, per cent in state 37, northern counties 39.

Plums—Prospect for an average crop, per cent in state 46, northern counties 57.

Orchards—Per cent that are cultivated in state 11, northern counties 58.

Trees—Condition of last year's setting, per cent in state 76, northern counties 77.

Grapes—Prospect for an average crop, per cent in state 77, northern counties 75.

Black Raspberries—Prospect for an average crop, per cent in state 77, northern counties 84.

How's This?

We offer one Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Spring of Fall Calves.

The best time to have calves dropped was long ago when the market was low for their product. In the cheese making district or where the cream is sold for ice cream making it is more profitable to have the cows fresh in the spring. Where butter or cream is sold or where milk is sold for market purposes it is better to have the cows fresh in the fall. Fall dropped calves that are to be hand raised will usually make a better growth than calves born in the spring. During the fall and winter more time can be given to care for the calf properly, and when spring comes the calf is ready to make good use of the pasture and will not be any trouble to handle and care.

In the fall when they are housed in their winter quarters they are strong, and, being accustomed to subsisting on coarse food they will do well on dry feed.—Orange Judd Farmer

Protect the Cows From Rain.

Damp, cold weather is more severe than dry weather even at a lower temperature. This is a fact that may well be borne in mind during the cold spring rains. It is a splendid thing to keep the cows and other stock well protected at such times.

An increasing number of people report regularly of the satisfactory results from taking Foley Kidney Pills and commend their healing and curative qualities. Foley Kidney Pills are a carefully prepared medicine, guaranteed to contain no harmful or habit forming drugs. They can only have a beneficial effect when used for kidney and bladder troubles, for backache, rheumatism, weak back or lumbago. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

MY MOTHER-IN-LAW.
Who was it on our wedding day
Field back the tears and made us gay
And hugged us when we went away?
My mother-in-law.

Who was it taught my bride to bake
Sweet homemade bread and lovely cake
And how to broil that gilt edge steak?
My mother-in-law.

Who watched by baby's crib all night
When death our spirits did affright?
Who nursed our darling through all night?
My mother-in-law.

Who is it when the children cry
Just smiles and looks them in the eye
And they quick get as good as pie?
My mother-in-law.

Who shares with us when times are bad?
Who laughs with us when we are glad?
Who weeps with us when we are sad?
My mother-in-law.

Who'll have a mansion over there?
Who'll have a heavenly robe so fair?
Who'll have an angel's crown to wear?
My mother-in-law.

C. M. BARNITZ.

THE MASH MIXER.
Moist mash is a fine egg puller, but when it must be mixed by hand for a big flock that's tiresome work, and, besides, the ground grain is difficult to blend by hand. If you have ever tried to mix corn, oats, wheat and barley in a barrel with a shovel with all your exertion you found before the barrel was half empty that the grain was not half mixed. Chick feed ditto. Necessity was the mother of invention with the poultryman who got out the mixing machine. Its revolving paddles quickly blend grain or by products perfectly, and when run by engine the poultryman has a snap.

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

A. M. Nason, farming near Canaan, Me., was badly crippled with sciatic rheumatism due he says to uric acid in his blood. "Foley Kidney Pills entirely cured me and also removed numerous black specks that were continually before my eyes." Foley Kidney Pills are a uric acid solvent and are effective for the various forms of rheumatism. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

How to Make a New Jumper.

Blessed be the one who invented the jumper. It serves such a multitude of needs; it fits in with so many occasions. The newest one is quite smart and looks so different from the ones we have had that it could easily be passed off under a new name.

It is not round at the neck, nor does it have kimono sleeves; it is V shaped, back and front, and its two fronts cross over just above the waist and go to the back, where they flush in a flat bow.

It is worn over a blouse of dotted net or shadow lace, which is either belted or dropped, over a slip of flesh pink children cloth or child silk.

How to Remove a Splinter.

It is hard to take a splinter out of the flesh, especially if it goes straight in. Here is a way to remove a splinter: Fill a wide mouthed bottle with hot water to a point one inch from the top. Press the injured part gently into the mouth of the bottle and in a minute or two the splinter will be so loosened that it will come right out.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Under State Supervision

4% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

List of Shareholders

G. C. GEIKEN	JOHN BURNS
ALEX. CAMERON	H. R. FOWLER
MRS. H. L. IDINGS	H. S. HARSHA
MRS. B. W. MILLER	L. S. SEE
A. L. HART	GUY S. BROWN
O. E. WILBUR	A. T. SLAGHT
J. L. CRANE	SAMUEL F. HODGES
GEORGE LIVERTON	P. D. CAMPBELL
JOHN DOUGHERTY	R. P. FOLEY
W. J. RACHOW

— Board of Directors —

R. P. FOLEY, President	G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier	H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
J. L. CRANE	P. D. CAMPBELL
	JOHN BURNS

The patronage of good borrowers and conservative investors is cordially invited. Our New Building is absolutely fire-proof and we have excellent conveniences for our customers. Ask any of the above stockholders or officers about us. It will please us to serve you.

LEGAL NOTICES

Official Public Notice.

ALL the AGES, Male or Female, not effectually Muzzled, running at large on any street, alley or public grounds, or private premises, and the premises of the owner or keeper thereof, may be killed by any person, and it shall be the duty of every Constable, Police Officer or other Peace Officer of the said City of Charlevoix, to kill and have killed any such dog, and he is hereby ordered to kill any and all such dogs. This will be in force, until September 30, 1912.

Charlevoix, Michigan, June 8, 1912.
By Order of the Mayor.

SPECIAL ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given that a Special Election will be held in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on Tuesday, August 27, A. D. 1912. For the purpose of voting upon the following proposition, as per resolution of the Board of Supervisors of said County of Charlevoix, duly passed by said board, viz:

To raise by bonded and taxless means, the taxable property of the said County of Charlevoix, the sum of Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, to be used for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, and to be repaid by said County of the said sum of Three Hundred and Fifty thousand dollars is known.

Bills will be provided for and no tax levied.

For the issuing of County Bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, $350,000.00.

For the issuing of bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, $350,000.00.

Legal Notice is hereby given that a Special Election will be held in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on Tuesday, August 27, A. D. 1912. For the purpose of voting upon the following proposition, as per resolution of the Board of Supervisors of said County of Charlevoix, duly passed by said board, viz:

To raise by bonded and taxless means, the taxable property of the said County of Charlevoix, the sum of Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, to be used for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, and to be repaid by said County of the said sum of Three Hundred and Fifty thousand dollars is known.

Bills will be provided for and no tax levied.

For the issuing of County Bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, $350,000.00.

For the issuing of bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, $350,000.00.

Legal Notice is hereby given that a Special Election will be held in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on Tuesday, August 27, A. D. 1912. For the purpose of voting upon the following proposition, as per resolution of the Board of Supervisors of said County of Charlevoix, duly passed by said board, viz:

To raise by bonded and taxless means, the taxable property of the said County of Charlevoix, the sum of Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, to be used for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, and to be repaid by said County of the said sum of Three Hundred and Fifty thousand dollars is known.

Bills will be provided for and no tax levied.

For the issuing of County Bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, $350,000.00.

For the issuing of bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, $350,000.00.

Legal Notice is hereby given that a Special Election will be held in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on Tuesday, August 27, A. D. 1912. For the purpose of voting upon the following proposition, as per resolution of the Board of Supervisors of said County of Charlevoix, duly passed by said board, viz:

To raise by bonded and taxless means, the taxable property of the said County of Charlevoix, the sum of Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, to be used for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, and to be repaid by said County of the said sum of Three Hundred and Fifty thousand dollars is known.

Bills will be provided for and no tax levied.

For the issuing of County Bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, $350,000.00.

For the issuing of bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, $350,000.00.

White Cedar Terrace Tenting Resort

Situated on the south side of Pine Lake, between Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan

Come to the Most Ideal Summering Place in MICHIGAN

Tenting Privileges Reasonable

Address Communications to WILLIAM HUNT 112d CHARLEVOIX, MICH. Telephone, Farmers' Independent Line

GLASSES FITTED

Consolid J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday Each Week

NEW STYLES

We have just put on exhibition our new lines of oxfords and high shoes. The new models are very attractive and you will appreciate the graceful lines and snappy effects.

Mayer's

"Leading Lady" Shoes

are famous for wear and style all over the country. They are the most perfect ladies' shoes obtainable, and will give you many extra weeks of service. Made on full lasts, you get perfect fit and real foot comfort.

We want you to see these styles. Come in to-day.

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

A Great Convenience At A Trifling Cost

Save your own and your Postman's time by the use of a Private Mail Box, to which you hold the key.

This box is made of steel, heavy brass plated, and is built with a heavy back and two heavy level glass panels with frame clips for owners' cards and notices for placing, will be sent carrying charges prepaid on receipt of fee. Check or P. O. Order (do not send currency or stamps). INTERNATIONAL MAIL EQUIPMENT CO. 200 Fifth Avenue 2511 NEW YORK

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Stops and Starts on Short Notice
VANDELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Accounty at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. SHANAHAN
Accounty at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Opposite County Bank
Green's Office Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in Vandelt Building
Over Leysman's Store
Phone 130 Charlevoix, Mich.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66; residence 265.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. D. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Office over Thoms & Co's drug store, telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone 1400.

Let me do your
D R A Y I N G
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
$1,000.00 for loss of Limb or Eyesight
$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $6.00 per year. No other Dues or Assessments.
Only established Company with $100,000 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.
Men and Women between 18 and 65 accepted, according to occupation.
For further information address:
AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Company.

CHAPTER XVIII—Continued.

"My I come tomorrow afternoon and chase moths awhile?" he asked Mrs. Comstock as he arose. "I've got to get ready for school, and I'm quite sure I'd get well faster here than anywhere else. Please say I may come."

"I have no objections if Elnora really would like help," said Mrs. Comstock. In her heart she wished he would not. She wanted her newly found treasure all to herself for a time at least. But Elnora's were eager, shining eyes. She thought it would be splendid to have help and great fun to try book methods for taking moths, so it was arranged. As Ammon rode away Mrs. Comstock's eyes followed him. "What a nice young man!" she said.

"He seems fine," agreed Elnora. The next morning Mrs. Comstock called to Elnora. "The mail carrier stopped at our box."

Elnora ran down the walk and came back carrying an official looking letter, in which the position of lecturer on natural history was offered to Elnora, at a salary of $750 a year, with $200 for expenses.

"It is a new position. They never have had anything like it before. I suspect it arose from the help I've been giving the grade teachers in their nature work. Mother, dear, I am going to accept this, of course. The work will be a delight. I'd love it most of anything in teaching. You must help me. We must find nests, eggs, leaves, queer formations in plants and rare flowers. I must have flower boxes made for each of the rooms and filled with wild things. I should begin to gather specimens this very day."

Elnora was on her feet. Her face was flushed and her eyes bright. "Can I help you?" Mrs. Comstock's strong face was pathetic.

"Indeed, yes," cried Elnora. "I never can get through it alone."

Ammon came whistling down the walk between the chumpon, pinks, pansies and strawberries. He carried several packages, while his face flushed with more color than on the previous day.

"Only see what has happened to me!" cried Elnora, offering her letter. "I'll wager I know!" answered Ammon. "Isn't it great? Every one in Onabasha is talking about it."

He laughed as he sat, breathing shortly.

"It doesn't seem possible that a fellow could lose his strength like this. My knees are actually trembling, but I'll be right in a minute. Uncle Doc said I could come."

Then he began unwrapping packages and explaining to Mrs. Comstock how to cook the compound. He followed her into the kitchen, kindled the fire and stirred the preparation as he talked. While the mixture cooled he and Elnora walked through the vegetable garden behind the cabin and strayed from there into the woods.

CHAPTER XIX.
Wherein Philip Ammon is Shown Lumberlost Violets.

AMMON looked at the girl in wonder. In face and form she was as lovely as any one of her age and type he had ever seen. Her school work far surpassed that of most girls of her age he knew. She differed in other ways. This vast store of learning she had gathered from field and forest was a wealth of attraction no other girl possessed. Her frank matter of fact manner was an inheritance from her mother, but there was something more. Once as they talked he thought "sympathy" was the word to describe it and again "comprehension." She seemed to possess a large sense of brotherhood for all human and animal creatures. She might as well have been a boy, so lacking was she in any touch of femininity coquetry toward him. He studied her wonderingly.

As they went along the path they reached a large slime covered pool surrounded by decaying stumps and logs thickly covered with water hyacinths and blue flags. Ammon stopped.

"Is that the place?" he asked. Elnora assented. "The doctor told you?" "Yes. It was tragic. Is that pool really bottomless?"

"So far as we ever have been able to discover."

"And you were born here?" "He had not intended to voice that thought."

"Yes," she said looking into his eyes. "Just in time to prevent my mother from saving the life of my father. She came near never leaving me. A little farther along is my violet bed. I want you to see it."

She led him into a swampy half open space in the woods, stopped and stepped aside. Ammon uttered a cry of surprised delight. A few decaying logs were scattered around, the grass grew in tufts long and thin. Blue flags waved, clusters of cowslips nodded gold heads, but the whole earth was purple with a thick blanket of violets nodding from stems a foot in length. Elnora knelt and slipping her fingers through the leaves and grasses to the roots, gathered a few violets and gave them to Philip.

"Can your city greenhouses surpass them?" she asked. Ammon sat on a log to examine the plants.

"That is superb," he said. "I never saw so many of them or such rank ones. Where the flowers are the deepest blue the petals are colored exactly like the flowers of the violet I am going to name."

Elnora looked at several others to add to the collection.

"She must have wonderful eyes," she commented.

"No other blue eyes are quite so beautiful," he said. "In fact, she is altogether lovely."

"It is customary for a man to think the girl he is going to marry lovely. I wonder if I should find her so."

"You would," said Ammon. "No one ever falls in love with a girl so very slender, but perfectly rounded; you know about her eyes; her hair is black and wavy, while her complexion is clear and flushed with red."

Elnora knelt among the flowers as she looked at him.

"Why, she must be the most beautiful girl in the whole world," she cried. Ammon laughed.

"No, indeed," he said. "She is not a particle better looking in her way than you are in yours. She is a type of dark beauty, but you are just as perfect. She is unusual in her combination of black hair and violet eyes, although every one thinks them black at a little distance. You are quite as unusual with your fair face, black brows and brown hair. Indeed, I know many people who would prefer your bright blond to her dark one. It's all a question of taste and being engaged to the girl," he added.

"Edith has a birthday soon. If these last will you let me have a box of them to send her?"

"I will help gather and pack them for you, so they will carry nicely. Is she interested in nature?"

"What interests Edith Carr? Let me think. First, I believe she takes pride in being just a little handsomer and better dressed than any girl of her set. She is interested in having a beautiful home, the appointments about her, to being petted, praised and the acknowledged leader of society. She likes to find new things which amuse her and to always and in all circumstances have her own way about everything."

"Good gracious!" cried Elnora, staring at him. "But what does she do? How does she spend her time?" "Spend her time?" repeated Ammon. "Well, she would call that a joke. Her days are never long enough. There is endless shopping to find the pretty things, regular visits to the dressmakers, calls, parties, theaters, entertainments. She is always rushed. I never get to see half as much of her as I would like."

"But I mean work," persisted Elnora. "In what is she interested that is useful to the world?" "Me!" cried Ammon promptly. "I can understand that," laughed Elnora.

uora. "What I can't understand is how you can be in"— She stopped short in confusion, but she saw that he had finished the sentence as she had intended. "I beg your pardon," she cried. "I didn't mean to say that. But I cannot understand these people I hear about who live only for their own amusement. Perhaps it is very great. I'll never have a chance to know. To me it seems the only pleasure in this world worth having is the joy we get out of living for those we love and those we can help. I hope you are not angry with me."

Ammon sat silently looking far away, with deep thought in his eyes. "You are angry," faltered Elnora. His look came back to her as she knelt before him among the flowers and he gazed at her steadily.

"No doubt I should be," he said. "but the fact is I am not. I cannot understand a life purely for per am pleasure myself. But she is only a girl, and this is her phytine. When she is a woman in her own home, then she will be different, will she not?"

Elnora never resembled her mother so closely as when she answered that question.

"I would have to be well acquainted with her to know, but I should hope so. To make a real home for a first business man is a very different kind of work from that required to be a lender of society. It demands different talent and education. Of course, she means to change, or she would not have promised to make a home for you. I suspect our hope is not now. Let's go try for some butterflies."

"You should hear my sister Polly," said Ammon. "This was her last year in college. Lauches and sororities were all I heard her mention, until Tom Levering came on deck; now he is the leading subject."

"Is Edith Carr a college girl?" "No. She is the very selectest kind of a private boarding school girl."

As they went back along the path to gather Elnora talked of many things, but Ammon answered absently. Evidently he was thinking of something else. But the moth had recalled him, and he was ready for work as they made their way back to the woods. He wanted to try the Lumberlost, but Elnora was firm about keeping on home ground. She did not tell him that lights hung in the swamp would be a signal to call up a band of men whose presence she dreaded. So they set out, Ammon carrying the dope, Elnora the net, Billy and Mrs. Comstock following with cynnide boxes and lanterns.

First they tried for butterflies and captured several fine ones with little trouble. They also killed swarms of ants, beetles, bees and flies. When it grew dark Mrs. Comstock and Ammon went to prepare supper. Elnora and Billy remained until the butterflies went to bed. Then they lighted the lanterns, repainted the trees and followed the home trail.

Mrs. Comstock and Elnora were finishing breakfast the next morning when they heard a cheery whistle down the road. Elnora with surprised eyes looked at her mother.

It was just sunrise, but the mist-clan was Philip Ammon. He looked stronger than yesterday.

"I hope I am not too early," he said. "I am consumed with anxiety to learn if we have made a catch."

"We will have to wander along the roads and around the edge of the Lumberlost today," said Elnora. "Mother is making strawberry preserves, and she can't come until she finishes. Suppose we go down to the swamp, and I'll show you what is left of the flower room that Terrance O'More, the big lumberman of Great Rapids, made when he was a homeless boy here. He was called Freckles. Of course, you have heard the story?"

"Yes, and I've met the O'Mores, who are frequently in Chicago society."

They went down the road to the swamp, climbed the snake fence, followed the path to the old trail and then turned south along it. Elnora indicated to Ammon the trail with remnants of sagging barbed wire.

"It was ten years ago," she said. "I was just a little schoolgirl, but I wandered widely even then, and no one cared. I saw him often. He had been in a city institution all his life, when he took the job of keeping timber thieves out of this swamp. Before many trees had been cut, it was a strong man's work and he was a frail boy, but he grew harder as he lived out of doors, and he won."

"Some days his face was dreadfully sad, some days it was so determined a little child could see the force in it, and once it was radiant. That day the Swamp Angel was with him. I can't tell you what she was like. I never saw any one who resembled her. He stopped near here to show her a bird's nest. Then they went on to a sort of flower room he had made, and he sang for her. By the time he left I had got hold enough to come out on the trail, and I met the big Scotchman Freckles lived with. He saw me catching moths and butterflies, so he took me to the flower room and gave me everything there. I don't dare come alone often, and so I can't keep it up as he did, but you can see something of how it was."

Elnora led the way and Ammon followed. The outlines of the room were not distinct, because many of the trees were gone, but Elnora showed how it had been as nearly as she could.

"The swamp is almost ruined now," she said. "The tulips, walnuts and cherries are all gone. The talking trees are the only things left worth while."

"The talking trees?" I don't understand," commented Ammon.

"No wonder," laughed Elnora. "They are my discovery. You know all trees whisper and talk during the summer, but there are two that have so much to say they keep on the whole winter when the others are silent. The beeches and oaks so love to talk they cling to their dead, dry leaves. In the win-

IDLE MONEY

There is idle money in every community—money not in use, not even safely deposited in a reliable bank. It is hid away, carried on the person, liable to loss by fire, theft and many other causes. Idle money makes no one a cent. Its the money in circulation that stimulates business. The more money in circulation the higher the prices and the lower the rates of interest. Bring your money to this bank where it will be safe and always subject to your check. It will help you, it will help us, it will help the community. Idle money is as useless to business as an idle man.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nichols Harry Nichols A. Bonters A. E. Bridge Cot-Partners
Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

BLANCHARD HAS IT

What you want to make life enjoyable during the summer months

Refrigerators, Ice Cream Freezers
Oil and Gasoline Stoves

Base Ball Supplies - - Garden Tools

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever revealed. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handily illustrated 200-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

ter the winds are stillest and blow most, so those trees whisper, chatter, sob, laugh and at times roar until the sound is deafening. When the air is cold and clear, the world very white and the hrrp music swelling, then the talking trees tell the strengthening, up-lifting things."

"You wonderful girl!" cried Ammon. "What a woman you will be!"

"If I am a woman at all worth while it will be because I have had such wonderful opportunities," said Elnora. "Not every girl is driven to the forest to learn what God has to say there. Here are the remains of Freckles' room. The time the Angel came here he sang to her and I listened. I never heard music like that. No wonder she loved him. Everyone who knew him did, and they do yet. Try that log, it makes a fairly good seat. This old store box was his treasure house. Just as it's now mine. I will show you my dearest possession. I do not dare take it home because mother can't overcome her dislike for it. It was my father's, and in some ways I am like him. This is the strongest."

CHAPTER XX.
Wherein the Lumberlost Sings For Ammon.

Elnora lifted the violin and began to play. She wore a school dress of green kintulum, with the sleeves rolled to the elbows. She seemed a part of the setting all around her. Her head shone like a small dark sun, and her face never had seemed so rose flushed and fair. From the instant she drew the bow her lips parted and her eyes fastened on something far away in the swamp, and nev-

(Continued on page 7.)

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year, $1.50
One copy, six months, .75
One copy, three months, .40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where subscription is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Ordinary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 2 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy
for the Republican nomination for the office of Prosecuting Attorney, at the primary August 27, 1912.
27th-adv. Rollie L. Lewis.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.
27th-adv. Clarence C. Schaib.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy
for the Republican nomination for County Clerk on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27.
27th-adv. W. Alvah Davoll.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.
19th-adv. ROMEO A. ENKEY.

Notice to Electors.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket at the primary election August 27. Trusting that my conduct of the office has been such as to secure your approval, your support will be appreciated.
25th-adv. FORD P. ROHMINS.

Announcement.

The undersigned will be a candidate at the August primary for nomination to the office of Judge of Probate on the Republican ticket.
If you believe that I would—if nominated and elected—faithfully and efficiently discharge the duties of that office, I will be grateful for your support.
25th-adv. ELSA N. CRINK.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing
my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of County Clerk at the August primaries, and I nominated and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in past, and will appreciate your support at this time.
21st-adv. RICHARD LEWIS.

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.
19th-adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

Notice to the Republican Electors of the Charlevoix County.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for judge of probate of this county at the primary election appointed to be held on the last Tuesday in August, this year.
I am now serving my third term in this office. I like the work and the compensation that goes with it, therefore I am a candidate; and if a majority of the electors express themselves that I am their choice for another term, I will administer the office for another term in the best of my ability.
July 1, 1912. John M. Harris.
27th-adv.

Help Wanted.

Women and girls wanted to work in canning factory. Season will begin about July 15th. Last about five months. Pleasant work and good pay to active workers. Call or write for particulars.
27th-adv. Central Lake Canning Co.

For Sale.

Three small homes for sale, on south terrace, one block from Bridge street. Cash or easy terms.
Inquire of O. D. Hammond. 28th

Courier liners pay.

MET LAST WEEK IN CHARLEVOIX

Finance and Auditing Committee of Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias

Were in City Auditing the Books of G. K. R. & S.
Will E. Hampton

Chas. C. Neahr, of Grand Rapids, Grand Master of Exchequer of the Knights of Pythias, was in the city Thursday and Friday. He was here for the annual audit of the books of the Grand Lodge at the office of G.
K. R. & S. Hampton. The Finance committee were—Will M. Wetmore, Jonesville, Chairman; H. G. Hayes,
Hastings; and F. K. Kenyon, Mackinac Island. Messrs. Wetmore and Hayes are both bankers in their home towns.

The audit over, the party were taken on a lunch trip to Boyne City by Mr. Hampton, and had dinner at the new Wolverine. It may be of interest to the general public to know that about $20,000 passes through the office of the Grand Keeper of Records and Seal in this city each year.

Fly chaser does the business. $1 per gallon at Benj. Brown's. 28th

THEATRICAL

Manager Wildern of the Majestic announces the greatest feature in the history of motion pictures for one day only, Saturday afternoon and evening, when the world's greatest actress, Sarah Bernhardt, will be seen playing in Camille.
The complete production will be shown in three reels. Don't fail to see this great attraction. Next week Wednesday and Thursday the Buffalo Bill moving pictures will be shown.

"The Girl from U. S. A."

Messrs. Woods and Chalker present for the first time a comedy-drama of human interest from the pen of the well known author Eunice Fitch. "The Girl from U.
S. A." is a sensational comedy-drama depicting scenes in various lands. While the play has a melodramatic tinge it has a total absence of the blood and thunder features of melodrama. "The Girl from U. S. A." which comes to the Charlevoix Theatre on next Tuesday, July 23, ranks with all the best plays that have been presented in the last few years at our theatre.
The management have surrounded Miss Marion with a competent supporting cast to fill the ideal of the other roles. Special scenery is carried for each and every act, making a complete production worth witnessing.

"The Arrival of Kitty"

This evergreen comedy success, now in its seventh consecutive session of prosperity is the offering at the Charlevoix Theatre for Monday, July 23, and will be presented in this city with the same great and original cast, together with all the scenery, costumes and effects that have characterized its success.

"The Arrival of Kitty" contain-an abundance of wit and humor, that is irresistible and has more nearly laughs, funny situations, delightful surprises, pleasing specities, song hits and captivating music, as well as singing, acting and dancing company of stageland favorites than is usually found in one comedy offering.

The song hits include: "Wedding Bells," "I've Got 'Em Guessing," "Another Rag," "I Want a Little Love Sometimes," "All the World Loves a Lover," "Tum Tum Tiddle-de-De," "The Irish Love Song," and others.

John Lyon, "The Rustic Mail," when he moved to St. Louis, left the last made silver birch bark Indian teepee.

Call and see it at Breezy Point Belvedere cottage No. 517 or telephone 32. Price $24 set up on your grounds if in the city.

Notice to the Taxpayers.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX.
Notice is hereby given that the July tax on the city of Charlevoix has been delivered to me and that the taxes thereon are payable at my office in the Currie building at any time on or before the 15th day of September, 1912 without charge for collection. On all taxes remaining unpaid after the 15th day of September, 1912 a collection fee of four per cent will be paid until the first day of October, 1912, after which time until October 30th, 1912 an additional one per cent will be added on all taxes remaining unpaid.
Office hours, 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., 1:30 p. m. except Saturday, when the office will open from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 1:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.
JOHN COOK, City Treasurer.

Fly net, and fly sheets at Benj.
Brown's. 28th

The Stowaway

By FRED L. YOUNG

"A stowaway!"
I heard the words spoken by some one near me and, looking in the direction of other eyes, saw a lad being brought forward between two sailors.
He was in rags, and what clothing clung to him was begrimed. The officer of the deck was standing by me, and the boy was brought to him.
"I suppose you haven't any money to pay your fare?"
"No, sir."

"Well, before you get ashore you'll wish you hadn't shipped that way.
We work stowaways harder than any one else aboard this ship. We do that to keep others from doing the same thing." Then to the men who had him in charge, "Take him down into the engine room and set him to shoveling coal."

"You don't mean," I protested, "that you're going to put that delicate lad down in that frightful hole at such hard work?"

The man looked at me angrily. "It's against marine law for passengers to interfere with the officers of a ship.
You'd better keep your suggestions to yourself."

The boy was taken below, and I saw no more of him that day. But I knew what shoveling coal on an ocean liner meant, and I didn't believe he could stand the work. I lay awake in my berth thinking about him and the terrible fate in store for so many human beings deprived of protection while others are pampered with every luxury. There were bags and girls on the ship occupying luxurious staterooms under the care of maid servants, so delicately nurtured that it seemed as if a snow squall or a hot sun would wither them. And yet this poor boy, with the same kind of a body, the same immortal soul, must be put to work in an iron room for under water, where the temperature was over 100 degrees, and made to lift heavy scoops and throw the coal in them into the mouth of a fiery furnace.

The next day I found a party of passengers who were to go through the engine room, and, descending the succession of iron steps, we finally found ourselves in the ship's infernal regions.
I went down in the furnace, and there was the boy staggering with the rest from the coal heaps to the mouth of the furnace. He was the only one that engaged who wore any clothing, a pair of his waist. How he stood the heat I could not understand.

The sight was too much for me. I went up to the furnace's office and took a stowaway passage for the stowaway.
Then went down with an order permitting me to bring him on deck. I got him to a berth, and as soon as he entered he collapsed. Possibly it was the reaction at knowing he need not work any longer in Tartarus; possibly he would not have stood the strain much longer anyway. I got the ship's surgeon to bring him up, but he need of nothing save rest.

After he had come to himself again
I talked with him about his self, who he was and why he was trying to get to America. He told me that he was going over to join a brother who would help him in New York. The brother had promised to send him passage money, but had been thrown out of work during a strike, and the money of some sort must have been deferred had it not been for the boy's determination to cross as a stowaway.

The young man was very grateful to me for what I did for him. As we neared the American coast I noticed that something was troubling him. I asked him what it was, but did not get satisfaction. It was not fear of being deported, for he explained his brother to take care of that. But just how it was to be done he didn't tell me.
He said that the brother needed something to do, and he didn't know him in his own land. At any rate, he didn't wish to appear to him so shabbily dressed. I offered to try to get him something better, but he declined to permit me to do so. Then he asked me if I would ask a stewardess to come down and see him. "I couldn't understand what he wanted of a stewardess, but here his voice."

The day we reached port before going ashore I went down to see my protector and bid him goodbye. Then I met with the surprise of my life. Not saying him, I asked where he was.
My informant pointed to a girl slink-ing away from me.

"I mean the boy I have seen here several times—the stowaway."
"That's the one," was the reply.
I went up to the girl and recognized her as the youngster I had helped.
What she had wanted the stewardess for was to get her some girl's clothing. The stewardess had kept her secret from me, but had appended to some of the first class passengers, who had contributed a very nice wardrobe. Instead of the ragged, begrimed boy I saw a very pretty, tastefully dressed girl.

I proposed to see the matter out. I took her ashore at the island, and her "brother" was there to receive her.
The two were joined in each other's embrace for a long while before going ashore, and when they did the eyes of both were wet with tears.
The way her lover, I mean, he was saved; her from a life of slavery was marrying her.

To Rent—Three 10 ft. benches. Enquire at Roller rink. 28th

..GUARANTEE..

YOU are entitled in buying Hart, Schaffner
& Marx clothes, to a most positive assurance of your satisfaction. Every dealer in our clothes is authorized to say this to you.

Every Garment made by, and bearing the label of Hart Schaffner & Marx, is guaranteed to be of all-wool or wool-and-silk fabrics, with no
"mercerized" or other cotton added; thoroughly
shrunk before cutting; seam sewed with pure
silk thread; tailored in clean, sanitary shops; free
from every defect of material or workmanship.

More than that: The dealer is authorized to say that if the clothes are not right, or not satisfactory, your money will be refunded.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van-
Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a.
m.
Subject: "Life."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday
Thursday and Saturday from 2:00
to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services morning and evening.
Sunday, July 21.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30.
Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. U., 6:30 p. m.—Topic:
"Christian Common Sense." Leader, Miss Ruth Bowdish.
Evening service, 7:30.
Thursday evening, prayer meeting.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon
at Burgess school house.
"Strangers always welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH
Class meeting at 9:45
Morning Service 10:30.
Sunday School 12:00 Lesson, Mat
4, 26:32.
Epworth League 6:30 Subject:
The Advantage of a Religious Home.
Evening Service 7:30
Prayer meeting Thursday at 7:30.

Strangers are welcome.
Preaching at the monument school house Sunday at 3:00 p. m.

COURIER

BARGAIN

COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent,
Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this headline sent for first insertion half rate each week thereafter. No ad-less than 10¢ a insertion.

FOR SALE—Choice young pigs, J. B.
Wilkinson. 28th

FOR SALE—Roll top desk, double Dr.
A. M. Wilkinson. 28th

Girls wanted at Fountain City House tourist home. 28th

FOR SALE—Camo. For further particulars enquire of F. J. Gallagher the dry-man. 28th

FOR SALE—Some good second hand furniture, cheap. Inquire at Condit's restaurant at 12th & Clark. 28th

FOUND—Monday morning near the El-ston, a gold bracelet. Owner call at Courier office, prove property, and pay charges. 28th

FARM FOR SALE—Some 3 miles northwest of Charlevoix, 40 acres cleared, fully well improved. Call or write to
W. S. Johnson, P. O. box 133. 28th

FOR SALE—One good family horse, business, heavy and saddle. The horse is safe for children and is good for either driving or riding. Will sell cheap. Austin Taylor, 10 State street. Phone
No. 14. 28th

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN—One pair black horses, weight about 2000. One with heavy bayish tail, the other with mostly a spike tail. Reward will be paid for recovery of said team or any information to their whereabouts. Address
BOYNE CITY LUMBER CO. 28th

Sarah Bernhardt, the world's greatest actress, in moving pictures, Majestic, Saturday afternoon and evening.

COOK IN

COMFORT

By Using a

NEW PROCESS OIL STOVE

The most Perfect, Efficient and Economical Oil Cook
Stove on the Market

Glass Tank on this stove always shows amount
of oil so user can keep wicks from burning dry

Simple Burner Easy to Re-wick
Smokeless Device Automatic Wick Stop

One Gallon of oil will run one burner, full flame, for 15 hours. Flame can be regulated to a high or low fire.

We will be glad to show the stoves in operation
to anyone wishing to examine them

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Mid-Summer Clearance Sale

of Wash Goods

We have reduced the price of all of our Summer Dress Goods in plain and striped

Violes Cotton Foulards
Ponges Tissue Gingham

This Sale will last until we have disposed of our entire line of These Goods

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

HOW CAN I DO IT?

I OFFER to build you a swell little stone bungalow size 20x30 and throw in a nice big lot on shore of Pine Lake for $775, if I can get 10 buyers and build ten bungalows at the same time. These cottages will contain from 4 to 6 Rooms. The first story, foundations and porch piers will be built of stone, and the balance of good quality timber. The porches are each 10 feet wide and 30 feet long. The fire place a mammoth affair about 7 feet wide with fire box that will take 4 feet wood. Lots of birch and maple and pine shade trees on the lots with a swell sandy bathing beach in front. Passenger boats pass regularly 4 times a day. See plans and specifications to office.

G. I. B. McLEAN

319 Bridge Street, Charlevoix

IN CHARLEVOIX OFFICE
Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday

IN BOYNE CITY OFFICE
Monday, Thursday, Friday

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Will Campbell is the new clerk at L. S. See's grocery.

Baked goods sale W. C. T. U. July 27, particulars later.

The work of oiling Antrim street is proceeding slowly.

Norman Smith spent Sunday with relatives at Petoskey.

H. I. McMillan of East Jordan is a business caller today.

Miss Maud Cross of East Jordan was in the city yesterday.

W. J. Lomergan of Saginaw was a Sunday guest at the Ellston.

Miss Hilda Steadman of Boyne City is visiting friends here.

Max Weber of French Lick, Indiana, is a guest at the Bartlett.

Charles Levinson and wife of Petoskey motored here Sunday.

Hon. W. I. Pearson of Boyne Falls is in the city on business today.

Sheriff Robbins went to the Beaver Islands Tuesday on business.

A. B. Nicholas of East Jordan was in the city Saturday on business.

Miss Afton Holmes of Kalamazoo visited friends in the city Sunday.

The Bartlett has received a fine display of mission porch furniture.

Leon Miller of Petoskey, spent Friday in the city with his parents.

Lee Scroggie, of Saginaw, spent Sunday in the city with his parents.

Miss Mabel Newkirk formerly of this city, has returned from Detroit.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stafford, Tuesday morning, a baby girl.

Miss Lillian Kralik has returned home after several months absence.

E. A. Burnett of Harbor Springs was in the city the first of the week.

County Clerk Payton went to Boyne City Thursday on business.

Miss Hughson of Boyne City, spent Tuesday with friends in the city.

W. P. Graves of Toledo, Ohio, spent Sunday with friends in the city.

Miss Gertrude Heath of Chicago, is making a visit with friends in the city.

Miss Etta O'Neill visited friends at Petoskey the latter part of the week.

Dr. Ramsey of East Jordan was in the city the latter part of the week.

Frank P. Geiken of Petoskey, was a caller here the latter part of the week.

Edwin O. Wood of Flint will be the Democratic candidate for governor.

Mrs. Key of Canada is visiting her daughter, Mrs. David Alexander of Marion.

Miss Katharine Mudge of Gaylord is making a visit with friends in the city.

Miss Iva Donaldson of Empire, Michigan, is visiting with Miss Lila Shapton.

Mrs. C. H. Blount of East Jordan was in the city the latter part of the week.

Frank Kenyon, of Mackinac Island was a caller here the latter part of the week.

Derwin Ely of Petoskey, spent Sunday as the guest of R. A. Emery and family.

Mrs. M. E. Heston of East Jordan was a caller here Tuesday, enroute to Petoskey.

Ray Baker and Stewart Sedgwick of Petoskey, visited friends in the city Sunday.

Mrs. Bert Beaudoin and son Lise visited relatives at Bay View the first of the week.

Jason Lewis, wife and son of Boyne City are visiting at the home of Richard Lewis.

Jones McCrorey and wife of Grand Rapids, are making an extended visit with relatives.

A. Danto and family of East Jordan visited with Henry Kaufman and family Sunday.

Mrs. E. E. Pugh is taking treatments at the Saville Sanitarium, Petoskey, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hodge of Traverse City are visiting friends and relatives in the city.

John Cheney of Traverse City, spent Sunday in the city with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Miller.

Mrs. H. S. Harsha returned home Thursday from a visit in southern Michigan and Ohio.

Roy Kellogg and family of Petoskey, spent Sunday in the city with L. L. Price and family.

The Misses Charlotte and Tibbie Cohen visited friends at Mackinac Island last Thursday.

The Misses Nina Paige and Florence McLeod of Petoskey, visited friends here last week.

John Pich, wife and children, of Petoskey, spent Sunday with Richard Lewis and family.

Miss Peck of Traverse City has been visiting with Frank Campbell and wife the past week.

Miss Jeanette Feldman of Petoskey, is making a short visit with Miss Mildred Kaufman.

Hon. William Mears of Boyne Falls, was in the city the latter part of the week on business.

There will services at the Episcopal church next Sunday, conducted by the Petoskey minister.

Mrs. J. Peterson spent Sunday at Charlevoix with friends and relatives.—Boyne City Journal.

Mrs. A. B. Peterson of Plainfield, Iowa, is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles See.

William Green of the Fox Island Light House has been in the city on business the past two days.

Mrs. Fred Myers was taken to Petoskey Tuesday, where she will undergo medical treatment.

E. A. Rueggeger and family of Boyne City drove down here Sunday in their new Hupp machine.

Miss Lillian Randall left Monday for Bay View where she expects to remain during the summer.

Irene Harsha has returned home from Detroit, where she was a student at the Thomas Normal.

Miss Louise Winkler of Walloon Lake, is visiting at the home of Stanley Wildern and family.

Jay Bain and wife of Petoskey spent Sunday in the city as guests of John Ackert, Jr., and wife.

Miss Kathryn Laper has been taking treatments at the Saville Sanitarium, Petoskey, this week.

The vacant room in the Van Pelt Cement block, next to the Conner office is being plastered and ceiled.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Conter have returned from Ypsilanti where they made an extended visit with relatives.

Miss Carrier Bennett who spent some time visiting relatives here has returned to her home at Glen Haven.

Both the Charlevoix and Majestic theatres will be open Sunday evenings during the balance of the season.

Frederick C. Martindale was the first candidate for the Republican nomination for governor to file his petitions.

Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson and children returned home Saturday after resorting at Beaver Island the past two weeks.

M. J. Fox, of Iron Mountain, was in the city the last of the week. He came to attend the funeral of Mr. Stroud.

Mrs. Walter Pugh has returned to her home on North Manitou Island after a visit with Capt. Pugh and family.

John A. Newville of Boyne City, was in the city Friday on business connected with the farmers' institute society.

R. E. Sloan of the Rock Product company left Sunday night on a business trip to Grand Rapids and other points.

The City of Boyne brought about one hundred members of the Evangelical church down here on an excursion yesterday.

Mason Rose gave two diving exhibitions at Harbor Springs yesterday, for the benefit of those in attendance at the regatta.

The Misses Pearl and Ruby Emory left Monday for Detroit, where they were called by the illness of their brother Emerald.

Victor Peppler of Petoskey, and well known here, died Saturday after about a week's illness caused by an abscess above the eye.

Miss Eva Himebaugh has returned home after an absence of several months which she spent in the southern and eastern states.

E. J. Decker of Port Huron, is making an extended visit with his father, H. L. Decker. He is recuperating from a severe illness.

County clerk Payton will go to Traverse City Thursday where he will attend a meeting of the Western Michigan Development bureau.

Mrs. Emily Budgett, who has been at East Jordan for some time, returned here the first of the week expecting to remain all summer.

H. P. Parmelee and wife entertained twelve of their friends at a six o'clock dinner Monday, in honor of the former's birth anniversary.

Mrs. A. J. Holbrook of Huron, South Dakota, returned home Tuesday, after a few days' visit at the home of her brother, F. A. Butler.

Capt. Pugh, with his crew of the U. S. L. S. S. made a trip to Bay Shore Monday afternoon, called to a boat broken down out in the lake.

Mrs. Lena Cram of Waukegon, Wis. and Miss Ida Gibson and Harry McNamara of Petoskey were guests of Will Campbell and family Sunday.

Mr. Hunt of the White Cedar Terrace tenting resort informs that the resort will always be open to picnics. The dock is now nearly complete.

Mrs. Huntley and son of Ann Arbor returned to their home Sunday, after making a short visit at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Richard Lewis.

Chas. B. Dyke of Youngstown, Ohio, and Louie Dyke of Oakland, California, visited with their uncle, L. B. Bartlett and family the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Sarah Hopkins has arrived from Los Angeles, California, to spend the summer, accompanied by her niece Miss Agnes Grett from Cheney, Kansas.

Mackinac Island is to have the finest and most perfectly equipped life saving station on the whole chain of lakes or on the Atlantic or Pacific seaboard.

The state board of health has appointed state medical inspectors in every congressional district. Dr. G. W. Petty of St. Louis was appointed for this district.

Mrs. Magdalena DeWitt of Chicago, left here today for a short visit with friends at East Jordan. She has been making an extended visit with Miss Pearl Brown.

The Petoskey Motor Boat club will hold its annual regatta July 29 to August 4. There will be about fifty high class racing events during the week.

Servetus A. Correll of Melrose township was in the city the latter part of the week in the interests of his candidacy for the republican nomination for Probate Judge.

John T. Matthews of Ithaca, C. E.

Russell of Mt. Pleasant and J. E. Richardson of Ewart are spoken of as possible Democratic candidates for Congress from this district.

The Misses Helen and Dorothy Armstrong are now visiting relatives in Saginaw after their extensive visit in New York. They are expected home the latter part of the week.

Patrick H. Kelley has filed his petitions for the Republican nomination for Congressman-at-large. D. E. Alward of Clare who wants Congressman Dodds' place has also filed his petitions.

The annual camp meeting of the Church of God will be held on their camp grounds south of Charlevoix beginning July 26 and continuing ten days. Able ministers will be present. Further particulars will be given next week.

Engene Chalin of Arizona, and Aaron Watkins of Ohio, were named as the Prohibition candidates for president and vice president at the national convention held last week. This is the same ticket the Prohibitionists had in 1908.

O. P. Barber and Ira Briggs caught twenty bass and one pike in Central Lake, near the village of Central Lake, the first of the week. Seven of the bass weighed over three pounds apiece. The whole catch was made in less than four hours.

John Nyman of the Petoskey Crushed Stone company drove over in his auto Friday, accompanied by Mr. DuPont of the DuPont Powder company of Chicago. Arthur Nyman and F. W. Gardner to visit the plant of the Charlevoix Rock Product company.

Mrs. P. R. Bogart of Kingsley, Michigan, is visiting with her sons, William and James. The latter part of the week she underwent an operation for a cataract on the eye and is now doing nicely. The operation was performed by Drs. Wilkinson and Armstrong.

As the result of a fire from an unknown cause, which destroyed the residence of Robert Redpath, at Waukegon, Sunday night, Mrs. Ella Robbins of St. Louis, Missouri, is dead. Mrs. Robbins had suffered from heart disease, but not since coming to Waukegon and her death is attributed to fear alone.

IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Hon. William J. Pearson Declines to Make Another Run This Fall.

Hon. William J. Pearson was in the city today, and informs us that he will not be a candidate for re-nomination this fall, as he feels that he has received his full share of honors from the hands of his constituents. This will be unwelcome news to Mr. Pearson's numerous friends as his work in the legislature was the kind that counted and in the next session he was sure to be a leader.

We are sore however that the people of this county will not be content to let Bill remain in private life long.

Real Estate Booming.

As evidence of the way Charlevoix real estate is being sought after Dr. Crocker has sold thirty-six lots on his addition this season.

W. H. Coos, W. E. Bedwin, F. H. Thomas and others will build new houses this fall in that portion of the city.

CRANE'S

15c RIBBON 15c
SPECIAL

All Silk Taffeta Hair Ribbon
Size 150, Extra wide

A full line of colors

White Cream Black Brown Maize Pink Navy Blue Light Blue
Cardinal Copenhagen Blue

15c yard

Charlevoix Theatre

—FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY—

Monday, July 22

Notable Engagement

—OF THE—

Great Laughing Success

"The Arrival of Kitty"

BY NORMAN LEE SWARTOUT

Presented by the Original New York Cast

IT'S ALL FUN AND MUSIC

Prices: 75c, 50c, 35c, 25c

Out Door Life

To enjoy it properly we can furnish you with

Porch Furniture, Rugs
Hammocks, Etc.

Remember we can furnish you with the best
REFRIGERATORS on the Market

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

HORSE OWNERS ATTENTION

Try Crushed Oats

This Hot Weather

Come in and Let us Show you a Sample

Argo Milling Co.

Robert O'Neill

FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF

Sweet Peas

Telephone Orders to No.

283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

EXTRA

Northwestern United Doctors

An Association of Prominent
Physicians Giving FREE
Medical Services to the sick,
and Medicines at Cost.

COMING TO

Charlevoix, Friday, July
19, at Bakers' Inn,
One Day Only.

The Northwestern United Doctors, practicing in Minnesota, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, organized and licensed by the states for the purpose of treating diseases, deformities and all curable ailments without surgical operation. By their developed system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, kidney stone, tumors, goiter, piles or cancer. They were among the first in America to do away with the knife, blood and pain in the successful treatment and cure of these dangerous diseases.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidney and bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, leg ulcers, epilepsy, or fits etc., all treated with gratifying success.

Selected cases of consumption, asthma, bronchitis and catarrhal diseases absolutely cured with combination of medicine, hygiene, diet, exercise and the important uses and advantages of clothes, occupation, etc.

Loss of sight, cataract, granulated lids and old weak, watery, sore eyes; catarrh, deafness, bronchitis, asthma, hay fever and lung stand, iog, deep-seated, chronic diseases of men and women, and slow growths and undeveloped children's diseases, a treatment that is absolutely reliable.

Eczema, salt rheum, eruptions, liver spots, goiter and chronic diseases of the skin guaranteed in every case accepted for treatment.

Patients with cancer, tumor and tubercular glands not larger than one to two inches usually cured with their hypodermic injection method, with one treatment, and this without pain.

Patients with growth larger than two inches are not invited to call.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others have told you, no matter what experience you have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see the Northwestern United Doctors Specialists. It costs you nothing except a small charge for medicine provided you need a doctor.

Even if your case is incurable they will give you such advice that will relieve you and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself, your friends, and your relatives, it may save your life. If you have kidney or bladder trouble, better bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for analysis.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

Hours, 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. 273

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and
Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call

Lee Howland

PHONE 197

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER
Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page
& Co.

Continued from page three

er did she give more of that limp of feeling for her notes and repeating something and little only to her. Ammon was too near to get the best effect. He arose and stepped back several yards, leaning against a large tree, looking and listening with all his soul.

As he changed positions he saw that Mrs. Comstock had followed them and was standing on the trail, where she could not have helped hearing everything Elnora had said. So to Ammon before her and the mother watching on the trail Elnora played the song of the Limberlost. To the man it was a revelation. He stood so stunned he forgot Mrs. Comstock. He tried to realize what a great city audience would say to that music from such a player with a like background, and he could not imagine.

He was wondering what he dared say, how much he might express, when the last note fell and the girl laid the violin in the case, closed the door, locked it and hid the key in the rotting wood at the end of a log. Then she came to him. Ammon stood looking at her curiously.

"I wonder," he said, "what people would say to that?"

"I did it in public once," said Elnora. "I think they liked it fairly well. I had a note yesterday offering me the leadership of the high school orchestra in Omulshu. I would gladly play for nothing just to be able to express myself."

"Give up the college idea," said Ammon. "Your mind does not need that sort of development. It is far past it."

"Do you really mean that you would give up all idea of going to college, if you were me?"

"If you could only realize it, my girl, you are in college, and have been six ways. You are in the school of experience, and it has taught you to think, and given you a heart. God knows I envy the man who wins it. I wouldn't even advise you to read too many books on your lines. You get your stuff first hand. And you know that you are right. What you should do is to begin early to practice self-expression. Don't wait too long to tell us about the woods as you know them."

Not until then did he remember that Mrs. Comstock was somewhere very near.

"Should we go out to the trail and see if your mother is coming?" he asked.

"Here she is now," said Elnora. "Gracious, it's a mercy I got that violin put away in time! I didn't expect her."

Not until then did he remember that Mrs. Comstock was somewhere very near.

Even if your case is incurable they will give you such advice that will relieve you and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself, your friends, and your relatives, it may save your life. If you have kidney or bladder trouble, better bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for analysis.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

Hours, 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. 273

To the Man It Was a Revelation.

pect her so soon," whispered the girl, as she turned and went toward her mother. Mrs. Comstock's face was a study as she looked at Elnora.

"Have you found anything yet?" she asked.

"Nothing that I can show you," said Elnora. "I am not sure but I have found an idea that will revolutionize the whole course of my work, thought and ambitions."

"Ambitions?" My, what a hefty word!" laughed Mrs. Comstock. "I guess we better let ambitions lie. I've always heard it was safest asleep. If you ever get a bonafide attack, it will be time to attend it. Let's hunt specimens. It is June. Philip and I are in the grades. What is the miracle of June? What one thing epitomizes the whole month?"

"The birth of these big night moths," said Elnora promptly.

Ammon clapped his hands. The tears started to Mrs. Comstock's eyes. She took Elnora in her arms and kissed her forehead.

"You'll do!" she said. "Find the distinctive feature of each month, the one thing which marks it a time apart."

I can't name all of them. I think of one more right now. February belongs to our winter birds. You should hear those musicians of this swamp in February. Philip, on a mellow night. Oh, but they are in earnest! For twenty-one years I've listened by night to the great owls, all the smaller sizes, the foxes, coons and every resident left in these woods, and by day to the hawks, yellowhammers, sapsuckers, bluebirds, crows and all our winter birds. It's about the best music we have. I just wonder if you couldn't copy that alone and make a strong, original piece out of it for your violin, Elnora?"

There was one tense breath, then—"I could try," said Elnora simply.

Ammon rushed to the rescue. "We must go to work," he said, and began examining a walnut branch for Luna moth eggs. Elnora joined him while Mrs. Comstock drew her embroidery from her pocket and sat on a log. She said she was tired; they could come for her when they were ready to go. She could hear their voices all around her until she called them at supper time. When they came to her she stood waiting on the trail, the sewing in one hand, the violin in the other. Elnora became very white, but took the trail without a word. Ammon, unable to see a woman carry a heavier load than he, reached for the instrument. Mrs. Comstock shook her head. She carried the violin home, took it into her room and closed the door. Elnora turned to Ammon.

"If she destroys that I will die!" cried the girl.

"She won't," said Ammon. "You misunderstand her. She wouldn't have said what she did about the owls if she had meant it. She is your mother. No one loves you as she does. Trust her! Myself—I think she's simply great!"

Mrs. Comstock returned with serene face, and all of them helped with the supper. When it was over Ammon and Elnora sorted and classified the afternoon's specimens and made a trip to the woods to paint and light several trees for moths. When they came back Mrs. Comstock sat in the arbor, and they joined her. She went into the cabin, but she returned almost instantly, hying the violin and bow across Elnora's lap. "I wish you would give us a little music," she said.

The violin played on until Elnora was so tired she scarcely could lift the bow. Then Ammon went home. The women walked to the gate with him and stood watching him from sight.

"That's what I call one decent young man," said Mrs. Comstock. "To see him sit in with us, you'd think he'd been raised in a cabin, but it's likely he's always had the very cream of the pot."

"Yes, I think so," laughed Elnora. "but it hasn't hurt him. I've never seen anything I could criticize. He's teaching me so much unconsciously. You know he graduated from Harvard and has several degrees in law. He's coming in the morning."

Next morning Ammon came early, and he and Elnora went at once to the fields and woods. Mrs. Comstock had come to believe so implicitly in him that she now stayed at home to complete the work before she joined them, and when she did she often sat sewing, leaving them wandering hours at a time. It was noon before she finished, and then she packed a basket of lunch. She found Elnora and Philip near the violet patch, which was still in its prime. They tucked together. Then Mrs. Comstock carried the basket back to the cabin, and Ammon and Elnora sat on a log, resting for a few minutes.

"Do you remember your promise about those violets?" asked Ammon. "Tomorrow is Edith's birthday, and if I'd put them special delivery on the morning train she'd get them in the late afternoon. They ought to keep well that long. She leaves for the north next day."

"Of course you can have them," said Elnora. "We will quit long enough before supper to gather a great bunch. They can be packed so they will carry all right. They should be perfectly fresh, especially if we gather them this evening and let them drink all night."

Then they went back to hunt Cate-cubie. It was a long and a happy search. Ammon came to Elnora at dusk daintily holding one by the body. Its dark wings showing and its long, slender legs trying to clasp his fingers and creep from his hold.

Elnora studied the black wings intently. "I surely believe that's Sappho," she murmured. "The Bird Woman will be overjoyed."

"We must get the cyanide jar quickly," said Ammon. "I wouldn't lose her for $100. Such a chase as she led me!" Elnora got the jar and began gathering up parthenons.

"When you make a find like that," she said, "it's the right time to quit and feel glorious all the rest of that day. I tell you I'm proud. We will go now. We have barely time to carry out our plans before supper. Won't mother be pleased to see that we have a rare one?"

"I'd like to see anyone more pleased than I am!" said Philip Ammon. "I feel as if I'd earned my supper tonight. Let's go."

He took the greater part of the load and stepped aside for Elnora to precede him. She went down the path, broken by the grazing cattle, toward the cabin and nearest the violet patch she stopped, laid down her net, and the things she carried. Ammon passed her and hurried forward.

"Aren't you going to?" began Elnora.

"I'm going to get this moth home in a hurry," he said. "This cyanide has lost its strength, and it's not working well. We need some fresh in the jar."

(Continued next week.)

Subscribe for the Courier.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell,
Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Majestic Theater

Special Saturday Night

The Greatest Feature in the History of Motion Pictures

SARAH BERNHARDT
The World's Greatest Actress in Camille

Three Special Reels in Addition to our Regular Show, making an Evening's Entertainment

Admission 10c and 20c

SEVEN HOURS IN THE STORM

Chicago Boys Were Adrift in Motor Boat
Sunday Night

Were Rescued Monday Forenoon by the Charlevoix Life Saving Crew.

Passengers on the early morning train between Petoskey and Charlevoix, Monday had their attention called to a gasoline launch flying distress signals, off Bay Shore, and reported the fact to the life saving station immediately on arrival. Captain K. E. Pugh immediately called his crew of six men together and hastily rigging up the life saving boat, "The Ready," started for the scene.

Upon arriving at the scene at ten o'clock, they found two well known resorters, who have been making Charlevoix their headquarters for some days, in a handsome launch the "Baby Louise," at anchor, battling with the waves, which were running unusually high. The life saving crew at once got to work and safely towed the launch to the dock at Petoskey. The boat, which is the property of L. A. Greenfielder of Chicago, was being used by Messrs. Lawrence Smith and John Anderson. The lads had visited Petoskey Sunday and were endeavoring to get back here Monday morning, leaving Petoskey about three o'clock.

The "Baby Louise" had been unable to continue its journey in the storm on account of the engine refusing to work, but even if things had been in proper condition, it would have been a hard battle with the waves.

To Rent—Three boat houses, Enquire at Roller rink. 28-1-2

BOYNE FALLS BOY KILLED

Charles Bucher, a Patient at Traverse City State Hospital Strangled.

Charles Bucher, aged twelve of Boyne Falls was found dead from strangulation in his bed at the Traverse City state hospital early Wednesday morning by a night watch. He had been killed sometime between the hours of two and six o'clock by his roommate, George Langton, aged seventeen who has occupied the room with him some time for company. The Bucher boy was afflicted with infantile paralysis and had been in the institution since May 14. Langton was a mild patient and always showed great affection for his companion.

Missionary Society.

The Congregational Ladies Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. F. E. Frazier Friday, July 10, at 2:30 p. m.

Program follows:
Responses to roll call from James Topic.

The Shaulfer Training School and our work among the immigrants.

Immigration.
The Shaulfer Training School.
Our Neighbor, the Slav.
Our Slave Work.

A Pupil of the Shaulfer School
An Immigrant City (Shenandoah).

Go to Benj. Brown for Fly chaser, it is guaranteed to give satisfaction. $1.00 per gallon. 28-1-2

Grange Column

Wilson Grange

Met in regular session July 13 with an attendance of forty members and 4 visitors.

The various committees reported amounts cleared at Fourth of July entertainment as $14.40.

Resignation of Frank Smith from dance committee was accepted.

One member was suspended for non-payment of dues.

Lecturer announced a discussion on farm topics at next meeting. Men are to tell of their farming mistakes last year.

Lecturer's program was short and good.

At close of session an ice cream spread was given by the ladies.

"The Girl from U. S. A." at Charlevoix Theatre Tuesday night.

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session, Tuesday, July 9, Worthy Master E. H. Clark in the chair, and with thirty-two members and one visitor present.

Lecturer's hour was taken up with songs and readings. The debate was postponed until another meeting.

The grange picnic will be held August 14. Pat Kelley will be one of the state speakers. Everybody come and have a good time.

Next meeting will be held in two weeks.

INTERESTING MEETING

Of Men's Bible Class Held Last Sunday—Next Sunday's Program.

Interest in the Men's Bible Class is continuing to grow, the attendance last Sunday being seventy-five. Prof. C. B. Dyke, who has spent several years on the Hawaiian Islands, gave one of the best talks ever given before the class. In addition Madame Le Mar gave special music and Dean Scroggie gave a talk on the Y. M. C. A. camp on Torch Lake.

Next Sunday Ward Gennet and Clare Nowland will give talks on camp life at Hayo-Went-Ha.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, blue lining see the Builders' Supply Co., phone 86 2-r. 17-1-2

Will Meet at Detroit.

The Republican state central committee has called the fall convention for Detroit, Tuesday, September 24.

The county conventions to elect delegates to the state convention were set for September 10. The apportionment of delegates was set for one to every 50 votes cast for secretary of state in 1910. This means 1,467 delegates.

The convention will name a full state ticket with the exception of candidates for governor and lieutenant-governor, who are chosen in the state primary, and will adopt the platform of the party for the state campaign.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 17-1-2

Circus Coming August 9.

All arrangements have been perfected by the advance publicity promoters of the Sun Brothers, World Progressive Shows to appear here for two complete performances on Friday, August 9. This is the twentieth annual tour of this big aggregation touring the country.

See "The Arrival of Kitty" at Charlevoix Theatre next Monday night.

FORGOT HIS BRIDE.

Curious Matrimonial Romance of the Eighteenth Century.

Did every match based on worldly considerations turn out as charitably as the one told about in Lady Russell's book, "The Tenth Muse." English social history would be very pleasant reading. According to Lady Russell, Lady Sarah Cadogan was married to the second Duke of Richmond, in return for the payment of her father's gambling debts.

Lord March, as the duke then was, was eighteen; the bride was thirteen. Immediately after the wedding Lord March went with his tutor to the continent to make the "grand tour," and Lady Sarah went back to the nursery.

Three years elapsed. Lord March returned from his travels with so uninteresting a recollection of his bride that he was in no hurry to claim her. On the first evening of his return to London he went to the opera.

There he soon noticed that all eyes and longitudes were turned toward one of the boxes, in which, surrounded by many admirers, sat a most beautiful young girl. Turning to his neighbor in the stalls, Lord March asked who she was.

"You must be a stranger in London," the gentleman replied, "not to know the reigning beauty of the town, the beautiful Lady March."

Lord March lost no time in going to the box and introducing himself to his bride. Thereupon followed a belated courtship and so happy a married life that the devotion of the pair to each other was proverbial.

THE PROTECTION OF SHADE TREES

How to Fight the Insects That Destroy Them.

THREE DIFFERENT GROUPS.

Leaf Eaters, Suckers and Borers.
Gypsy Moth, Brown Tailed Moth, San Jose Scale and Leopard Moth Are the Most Noxious of the Pests.

The growing interest in municipal betterment throughout this country is nowhere better illustrated than in the increased planting of residential city streets with shade trees, the more scientific maintenance of such trees and the wonderful development of boulevard, park and playground systems, says A. T. Hastings, city forester of Jersey City, N. J., in the American City. From the cumulative mass of improvements the proper attention to shade trees on the city streets is a detail of special and personal interest to the average citizen, affecting himself, his family and his home directly and concretely, while at the same time affecting the city at large.

Proper attention to shade trees in any city presents several aspects, all important in themselves and each of a different and specific character. The choice of varieties to plant, the proper planting of the tree, fertilization, watering and caring for growth, pruning and trimming, the destruction and prevention of insect and disease pests and protection from mechanical injury and from public utilities—all these are necessary and important points to consider. Of prime importance is checking the ravages of insect pests.

The insects infesting shade trees may be classed under three groups: leaf eating insects, sucking insects and those that feed during a part of their lives inside the branches or trunks. Among the leaf eating insects that are especially noxious are the gypsy moth, brown tailed moth, elm leaf beetle, fall web worm, basket worm and the tussock moth. The sucking insects are the scale insects, such as the San Jose and oyster shell scales and the plant lice. Those that feed during a part of their lives within the wood of the trees are called borers. Notable among this group are the buprestid moth and the maple borer.

YOUNG SHADE TREE BROKEN IN HALF BY RAVAGES OF THE LEOPARD MOTHS.

In the spraying of trees, which is a very important part of the work of the city forester, the power machines are of great use. This machine is equipped with a spraying nozzle which can be directed at the trunk of the tree, thus reaching the insects that are hidden in the bark.

There are also methods for dealing with the light against leaf eating insects, however, and these should be overlooked. One of these is by the

FLY NETS FLY SHEETS

Why waste Time and Horse Flesh. It is worth money to you, when you can save both by using one of those fine nets

Fifty Cord, Fine Bar Body and Breast at the Small Cost of $1.75

Cord Nets $1.25 to $1.75

Fly Covers $1.00 to $1.50

See my most complete line ever shown in the city

Benj. Brown

It's Up To You

Whether you pay a fancy price for goods, or accept the money saving propositions we will make you every day in the week. You can buy goods for less money at our store than any place in Charlevoix county. Its money in your pocket every time you make a purchase of us. Why? Because we believe in quick sales and small profits, and you can have the choice of new goods some or that have been used but a short time, and are just as good as new. Think over these prices, then come in and see the goods:

Suit Cases $1.75 to $2.25 Ice Boxes $3 to $7 Trunks, all kinds $2 to $5

Gasoline Stoves, just two left, and they are going faster than we can get them here, $1.50 and $5.00

If you are looking for new or second hand household necessities, and want to have a little change in your purse after buying, see us at once.

Dice & Stafford

"Just around the Corner" Phone 104 Mason Street

Charlevoix Theatre Tuesday, July 23

WOODS & CHALKER. Present OLINA MARION

—IN—

THE GIRL FROM U. S. A.

A Play of Today by Eunice Fitch

Brilliant of Thrilling Climaxes. Presented by especially Strong Company of Dramatic Artists. Tremendous Scenic, Electrical and Mechanical Accessories. Dazzling Display of Costumes.

"A Tribute to Our Country"

The Girl From U. S. A.

A Winsome, Wistful, Chic and Coquettish Beauty, Who Wins All Hearts and Sends Subdues Away Delighted at the Startling and Amazing Features in This Bewildering Spectacle.

SEATS ON SALE AT CENTRAL DRUG STORE

The more your customers know your goods the easier to make sales

Best Goods at Lowest Prices

Come in and Let us Convince You

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE Telephone 125 Antrim Street

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 30

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

THIS FALL'S APPLE SHOWS

Was Principal Subject Discussed at Meeting Held Last Thursday.

OF DEVELOPMENT BUREAU

Fewer Varieties Will Be Placed on Exhibition This Year.

Campaign of Education Will Be Conducted in Favor of Standard Brand for Michigan.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Western Michigan Development Bureau was held in the offices at Traverse City last week and several matters pertaining to development work were gone over. The apple show which will be held in Grand Rapids in November was the chief topic of discussion and it was decided to begin the work at once in order to insure its success. All the work of collecting the fruit and selling space will be carried on by the bureau officials, but the plan of the show will be somewhat different than that of the exhibit last year.

Heretofore it has been the object of the bureau to secure all the varieties of apples possible for the exhibit in order to show the people how diversified the apple crop of western Michigan really is. This year a different plan will be followed and the exhibit made a commercial one and all the novelties cut out, except possibly as side issues. The main object of the show this year will be to advance the cause of commercial orchards, and in order to do this only about twenty standard varieties of apples will be collected for exhibition. It was decided at the meeting to secure 600 bushels of the choicest stock that is grown in the twenty counties and play up the fact that this is the greatest region in the world for producing the leading varieties that always find a ready sale in the markets of the world.

In the future it will be the aim of the bureau to impress upon the minds of those who are setting out young orchards the fact that there is more money in limiting the number of varieties to one, two or three kinds, as when this is done the product can be handled in carload lots and thereby obtain a better price. In reality there is a good market for but a limited number of varieties and all the others are almost a dead loss to the grower as they have to be used for evaporated or cider purposes. An orchard of Baldwins, Kings or some other recognized variety is a veritable gold mine to the owner as the apples are well known and always command the top price, while some of the less known varieties have to take their chance at finding a sale.

It was also decided at the meeting to add to the apple exhibit a complete line of grasses, grains and vegetables grown in the twenty counties comprised in the bureau, in order that the diversified resources of the country can be better brought to the attention of the visitors.

The apples will be collected this year in the same manner as last season, by the experienced men in the employ of the bureau, and the grade is expected to be better on account of the fine crop that is being grown in this part of the state. The collectors will be placed in the field as soon as the varieties begin to ripen and kept there until the season closes.

An effort will be made to make the Michigan apple better known in the great markets, but before this can be done and a reputation maintained it will be necessary to organize the growers and adopt a standard brand and method of grading and packing. The decline in the demand for western fruit gives an opportunity that should be taken advantage of by the growers. Future markets will demand a system of this kind and the sooner producers get into line the better it will be for them financially. The bureau workers recognize this fact and they are trying to get the growers in line in order that they can take advantage of the markets and receive the fancy prices for their product.

There was a good attendance at the meeting and all were very enthusiastic about pushing the campaign in the direction that they have outlined. The campaign for a uniform brand and honest pack will be started at once and carried out in a systematic manner.

NORWOOD BOYS WARNED

Carelessness in the Use of Firearms Must Cease in That Village.

Under Sheriff Noyak paid Norwood an official visit last week and incidentally called on the young boys in the village who have been firing their No. 22 rifles in all directions, many times coming very near hitting different people. Last summer one man was hit in the breast with a spent ball and the injury caused thereby was some time in healing. There is an old saying, "Boys will be boys", but indiscriminate firing in all directions without a thought of what or who may be in direct line of the bullet, cannot be classed as fun, but comes in the line of criminal carelessness. There is also danger of boys who are free with the use of guns not obeying the law, and they may be tempted to shoot birds, thereby laying themselves liable to a penalty for breaking the law.

STATE MAKING RAPID STRIDES

In the Direction of Agricultural Development and Education.

More Than a Dozen High Schools Teaching Agriculture and Horticulture.

During the past three years the Western Michigan Development Bureau has been doing its best to encourage agricultural education through the territory that it represents and it has met with more than ordinary success. In fact, the idea of agricultural education has advanced several hundred per cent. Today there are more than a dozen high schools in the state that give instruction in agriculture and horticulture or both. Furthermore a county agricultural school has been established at Menominee and is doing good work. In addition to the above the federal government is arranging to send thirteen agricultural experts into the state to give instructions in this important subject. Some of these experts have already arrived and are now going from farm to farm instructing the farmers upon such subjects as conditions demand.

Although Michigan is making rapid strides in the direction of agricultural development it has much to learn from the people of the old world. In Germany there are a large number of schools given over to the work of educating these people who expect to live upon the farms and produce the fruit, grains and vegetables. There are four special agricultural schools with an enrollment during the winter sessions of 2,000 and better. There are over 250 special schools and they have an enrollment of approximately 8,000. These schools give instruction in dairy farming, domestic economy and bee-keeping.

In addition there are the agricultural winter schools, and of these there are 184 in Prussia alone. Teachers to the number of 1,302 are employed and better than 7,000 pupils are enrolled. These schools receive over $88,000 from the Prussian government in addition to $160,000 from the local government and private organizations. There are also in Prussia seventeen farming schools with a teaching staff of 137 and an enrollment of 1011.

Ferris and Helme.

Woodbridge N. Ferris of Big Rapids and James W. Helme of Adrian have been selected as the Democratic candidates for governor and lieutenant governor. Both are among the best known men in the state and their selection is a credit to their party.

Far Rent—Three Boat houses, enquire at Roller Rink. 301f

See our range offer page four. 301f Charlevoix Hardware Co.

NATIONAL PROGRESSIVE PARTY PUTS STATE TICKET IN FIELD

Roosevelt Supporters Have Left the Republican Party—Senator L. Whitney Watkins Their Choice for Governor—W. D. Gordon His Running Mate—T. M. Joslin for United States Senator

The supporters of Roosevelt met in state convention at Jackson Saturday and absolutely divorced themselves from the Republican party by forming a new progressive party. Roosevelt's manager, Senator Dixon of Montana, was present and issued the orders from his chief that an entire new party must be formed and a full ticket named from president down to county tickets.

Senator L. Whitney Watkins was recommended for the nomination for governor, W. D. Gordon for lieutenant governor, Theodore M. Joslin for United States Senator and Nathan P. Hull for congressman at large.

Mr. Hull announced that he would not accept the nomination.

S. D. Eldred of Mt. Pleasant was chosen as the candidate for presidential elector from this district. T. F. B. Southam and J. F. Carson

HAYES BOY INJURED

Attempted to Catch Ride on Auto and Losing Hold Was Run Over.

Catching on the rear of a touring car Sunday, the eleven year old son of John Struthers of Hayes, missed his hold and fell to the ground, to be run over by a runabout following, the driver of the latter being unable to stop his machine in time to steer clear of the lad.

At first it appeared that the boy was seriously injured, but a Petoskey physician who went to the scene reports that he will be all right in a few days, though he was badly bruised.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Hon. William Mears of Boyne Falls Seeks Republican Nomination.

Hon. William Mears of Boyne Falls announces that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative in the State Legislature, from this district.

Mr. Mears is one of the best known men in Charlevoix county, being Master of the Pomona grange and President of the Farmers' Institute. He is also prominent in old soldier circles. He has had previous experience in legislative halls, having served as senator from this district.

MARKINGS MUST BE CORRECT

To Enable the Man Selling Hay to Secure Highest Price.

If All Co-operate It Will Be Advantageous to Everybody.

As, in previous years, the hay buyers in this city tell us they are being bothered by the action of the balers in marking the bales above weight, and farmers are urged to see that every bale is marked at its correct weight. If the practice continues it will be utterly impossible for the local buyers to handle hay and put it on the market. The consumer demands and insists, as he should, that he gets the amount of hay that he pays for.

If a baler seeks to convince you that the marking as made at the time of baling is correct and is used by all who handle it until it goes into the manger, we can assure you that he is mistaken, as got only once, but several times have our local buyers been held up on account of hay falling short beyond the natural shrinkage. If the farmer, baler and buyer will all co-operate together everybody will get what they are justly entitled to; the consumer will have no kick coming and the producer will be sure to get more for his product.

Notice I. O. F. Members.

All August dues must be paid before the first of month by order of Supreme Secretary. I will be at Central Drug Store Friday and Saturday, July 26-27 to receive dues. Please be prompt. H. W. Kirby, Fin. Sec.

WELL KNOWN SPEAKERS

Will Campaign Michigan in Favor of Woman Suffrage This Fall.

One of the most active campaigns ever put on in Michigan by any political organization has been decided upon by the executive board of Michigan Equal Suffrage association, which met in Kalamazoo to make plans for the coming campaign. The meeting was attended by representatives from all parts of Michigan and they seem confident that the state can be carried for suffrage this fall.

Headed organizing every county and putting local workers in the field, the board has decided to import into Michigan many well known speakers, pledges already having been secured from Senator W. A. Borah of Idaho, Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas, Gov. Johnson of California, Lieut. Gov. Morris of Wisconsin, Prof. C. E. Merriman of Chicago, Judge E. T. Dunne of Chicago and many other speakers. An effort will be made to get W. J. Bryan, Brand Whitlock, former Senator Beveridge and Gov. Hadley of Missouri to come to Michigan for campaign tours.

Campaign trips about the state were considered and speakers will soon begin their work. The work of raising $30,000 for the campaign was turned over to Mrs. O. H. Clark, president of the Kalamazoo County Suffrage association.

HAS BEEN BUSY AT THE CAPITOL

Our Congressman Dodds Does Not Neglect Duty to Constituents.

As Member of Judiciary Committee Had Very Important Work to Perform.

The stand taken by many of our strongest lawyers and most efficient legislators against the recall of judges, is receiving practical demonstration and approval by the public. This in a concrete form, is being brought about by two recent impeachment proceedings before the house of representatives.

The first was the case against Judge Archibald of the commerce court. This case was referred to the judiciary committee of the house which is made up of the leading lawyers of that body. A most careful and searching investigation was made covering weeks of testimony taking and legal study and consideration by the members. The result was that a unanimous report was brought in preferring articles of impeachment against the judge. The report was approved by the house with the exception of one vote, that being the congressman residing in Judge Archibald's home city.

It will now go to the senate to be there finally tried. If the judge is found guilty, he will be summarily removed from office. The other case is that of Judge Hauloni of Seattle, Washington, now being considered.

Congressman Dodds of this district is a member of the house judiciary committee. He is the youngest minority member in point of service. Devotion to his duty in this work, as well as other important measures, kept Congressman Dodds closely at Washington during the spring and summer months, while many others have been taking a vacation or have been at home repairing their political fences. There never was a time when the district, state and country have needed congressmen of industry and good judgement more than now; and this, our congressional district has been exceptionally favored.

Ran Sliver in Eye.

Harrison Wallace, son of W. H. Wallace of this city, met with a very painful accident Tuesday. Mr. Wallace, who was working in a mill at St. Ignace, ran a sliver in his eye. It was thought at first that it would result in blindness, but at last reports it is thought the sight can be saved.

He is resting easy and will be brought home as soon as able.

See our range offer page four. 301f Charlevoix Hardware Co.

WITH ALL THE ANCIENT RITES

Corner Stone of Charlevoix's New Masonic Temple is Laid.

GRAND MASTER THOMPSON

Grand Lodge of the State of Michigan Was Present at Ceremony.

New Temple Will Be a Credit to the City, the Craft and the Builders in Charge—One of City's Finest Buildings.

With all the rites and ceremonies of the craft, the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple was laid Saturday afternoon by Grand Master James H. Thompson, assisted by the Grand Lodge of the state of Michigan. On account of the lateness of the hour when it was possible for the Grand Lodge to be present and the day, Saturday, being a busy one the attendance was not as large as was hoped for, but all the surrounding lodges were represented over 300 members being present. The members of the chapter, under command of High Priest Lee Howland, turned out one hundred strong.

Upon the arrival of the Grand Lodge composed as follows: G. M.—James H. Thompson D. G. M.—F. B. Clark J. W.—George L. Lusk G. L.—Frank O. Gilbert G. Sec'y—Lou B. Winsor G. C.—W. H. Gallagher

The procession was formed and marched to the temple under command of the marshal of the day W. H. Collins, where after the proclamation the Grand Master was requested to lay the corner stone by Mayor Nordrum. The corner stone was laid in due ceremonial form by Grand Master Thompson and the who found that Architect Glassford and builder Holmes had performed their work well. Music was furnished by the Wilkinson brothers.

In accordance with custom several articles were deposited under the stone as records of this age when it has crumbled into dust.

After the completion of the ceremony, the Grand Lodge was shown the sights of "Charlevoix, the Beautiful," after which they were entertained by supper at the Belvedere, leaving on a late train for Harbor Springs where a new temple was dedicated Monday.

This was another epoch in the history of Charlevoix Masonry begun. The new temple, which will cost over $25,000, will be one of the finest buildings in the city, and although several years have elapsed since first commenced, the building committee headed by W. H. Miller, chairman, believed in being sure of their ground before going ahead.

The work is under charge of Frank M. Glassford and Albert Holmes of this city and this is an assurance that it will be completed from foundation unto the topmost part in as thorough a manner as the Grand Master found the corner stone.

DEATH OF MRS. BLOCK

Well Known Resident of Marion Passed Away Tuesday.

Mrs. Peter Block died at her home in Marion township Tuesday after an illness extending over several years.

Hannah Schutmaat was born in Allegan, Michigan, and, at the time of her death, was fifty-five years and eleven months old. She was married to Peter Block in 1878 and came to Charlevoix county twenty years ago. She leaves her husband and six children, five sons and one daughter, Henry, Martin, Milton, George and James Block, and Miss Gertrude Block all of whom reside in this locality.

The funeral will be held from the Barnard church Thursday at one o'clock, Rev. J. G. Blery officiating.

"The Arrival of Kitty," Charlevoix theater Friday night.

Fly net, and fly sheets at Benj. Brown's. 281f

A BUSINESS MAN SAID

To a young enquirer about a Business Education: "Attend the School that gets RESULTS. Four of my family who attended the McLachlan Business University are holding choice positions, the fifth, my youngest son Harry, will enroll there in September."

LARGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOG FREE

SEVEN STATES represented last year. Over 700 students enrolled during last 12 months. Over 100 latest models of typewriters. 15000 square feet floor space. Fall Term begins Sept. 3d. Railway fare paid. Opportunities to work for board. Start with new Term.

McLachlan Business University
110-118 PEARL ST.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

Correspondence

Notice to Correspondents.

Please mail your correspondence, if possible, so it will reach us not later than Tuesday morning, and earlier if possible. If anything of importance occurs afterward write again or phone at our expense. We desire correspondents in Charlevoix and surrounding country. We furnish stamps and writing paper and envelopes to those who write for us, and place their names on our mailing list free. If the items of your community do not appear in our columns will you help us in obtaining a correspondent?

MARION.

W. E. Dodd called on L. Greiner Sunday.
Miss Nellie Ingalls visited friends in Hays last week.
Marion and Bertha Smith visited Nellie Ingalls Thursday.
Nat Burns was over to Beaver Island Tuesday on business.
Hazel Burns is spending the week in Charlevoix visiting friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Kosla are enjoying a visit from their son from Europe.
Ethel and Lucie Wilson from Boyne City are visiting Mrs. Will Paquette.
L. Greiner had the misfortune of getting his leg broken by his horse kicking him.
Camp meeting begins Friday at the Tabernacle of the Saints and lasts ten days.
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dodd and family

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Out Door Life

To enjoy it properly we can furnish you with

Porch Furniture, Rugs
Hammocks, Etc.

Remember we can furnish you with the best
REFRIGERATORS on the Market

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

BARNARD.

Mrs. Wm. Baker of Hayes is the guest of Mrs. J. Cole.

Fred Gornell has moved in with his uncle, H. Gornell of Barnard.

Chris Hansen from Rexton visited his brother, Mr. Hansen of Barnard Wednesday.

Mrs. Albert Bulech of Phelps, who has been very ill, is somewhat better at this writing.

Thomas Cunningham was seriously injured Wednesday last from falling off a load of hay.

Alba Nowland visited her sister, Mrs. Henry McClanahan, and Myrtle Winkler one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clark from California are the guests of Mrs. Joanna Trimble and A. B. Clark of Barnard.

N. J. Gorham, Cashier Bank of Woodville, Woodville, Ga., had a very severe attack of kidney trouble and the pains in his kidneys and back were terrible. "I got a bottle of Foley Kidney Pills from our druggist and they entirely relieved me. I have more benefit from them than any other medicine." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

NORWOOD.

Miss Fannie spent a few days last week with Mrs. Garnsey.

Dorothy and Will Zylstra of Boyne City are visiting their aunt, Mrs. Yelma.

Walden Valentine and a friend from Walloon Lake took supper Sunday with Mrs. Biery.

Ed. Nelson has returned to Petoskey after spending two weeks with his niece, Mrs. Walter Mosher.

Will Crosby came Saturday to spend two weeks with his mother, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. and Vmoss Miller.

Rev. Biery was called to Eastport Sunday to preach the funeral sermon of George Waldrop, one of our well known Atwood boys. He was laid to rest at Antrim.

George L. Higbie, Manton, Mich., used Foley Kidney Pills for kidney and bladder trouble. He says: "I find for my case no other medicine equals Foley Kidney Pills for beneficial effect." They are a safe and reliable medicine for kidney trouble and rheumatism. Contain no harmful drugs. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

ROCK ELM.

Leon VanGorder returned recently from Port William, Ontario.

Mrs. Boyd Hipp and children visited at the Orvis home Sunday.

Miss Jessie Metz will teach in the Walker district the coming year.

Miss Jessie Metz is visiting her sister, Mrs. Carrie Cox, in Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crothers of Marlette are visiting at Daniel Kitson's.

Haying is about completed and the farmers are busy with the wheat harvest.

There will be a dance at Rock Elm grange hall Friday evening, July 26. Ice cream and cake will be served.

SOUTH CHARLEVOIX.

L. S. Webster expects his son Frank of Toledo, Ohio, next Sunday for a week's visit.

Mr. Narsene and family are spending their two week's vacation visiting relatives in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Hopkins, who has spent several years in California, was visiting at Mrs. S. Brown's over Sunday.

Mrs. Sweetland is occupying her residence on Ferry St. and entertaining her daughter who lives in Chicago.

R. Washburn is busy with teams and a gang of young men doing his haying on the corner of State St. and Stover Road and putting up a post barn in keep it in.

A. M. Nason, farming near Canaan, Me., was badly crippled with sciatic rheumatism due he says to uric acid in his blood. "Foley Kidney Pills entirely cured me and also removed numerous black specks that were continually before my eyes." Foley Kidney Pills are a uric acid solvent and are effective for the various forms of rheumatism. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

NORTH BAY.

John Prieb is having a drive well put down.

William Singer has just had a drive well put down 184 feet.

Jacob Kahler has been sick the past week with inflammatory rheumatism.

Miss Cook from near Grand Rapids is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Fred Van Amburg and family.

Lee North and family of Petoskey spent a few days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. North.

Atlas and Huron cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 802.

MAPLE GROVE.

Mrs. Emma Wooden leaves for southern Michigan Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howe spent Sunday with their son at Petoskey.

Albert Howe died very suddenly in the home of his brothers Sunday July 21. Interment took place at Lake View cemetery.

A. Wooden of Sunset Farm sold to Mr. Warner last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Lewis were guests at Sunset Farm Sunday.

Fly chaser does the business. $1 per gallon at Benj. Brown's. 2511

CURE FOR A COLD.

Heroic Remedy to Which the Red Man Pinned His Faith.

The Indian was not especially hardy in battle, except when he fought the pneumococcus, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The very fury of his attack so far disconcerted that terrible germ as to leave the red man in possession of the field very soon after the battle opened. Major Clara Newell, who was for many years an Indian agent among the Little Sioux, tells in his reminiscences how the Indians conducted themselves in action. He says: "If an Indian caught a bad cold his friends went with him to the bank of a stream, where they put up a little tepee large enough for one person to crawl into. Then they built a big fire and put stones on the fire. When these were hot the friends put them in the tepee with the sick man and poured water on them. In this way they soon filled the tepee with steam. They continued to do this until the sick man was warm and perspired freely. Then they took him to the creek and threw him into the cold water. After that they chased him with a whip up and down the bank of the stream until he perspired freely again. Then they wrapped him in a buffalo robe and allowed him to sleep. This always broke up the worst cold."

The trouble with us is our disposition to permit the pneumococcus to put us on the defensive. The Indian rushed him at the tip of the ball.

HEARD IN CHARLEVOIX

Bad Backs Made Strong—Kidney Pills Prevented.

All over Charlevoix you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work, curing weak kidneys, driving away backache, correcting urinary ills. Charlevoix people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and of color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Charlevoix citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Mrs. W. L. Cowan, 211 Clinton St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for I have derived very good results from their use. I was subject to severe backache and pains in my kidneys and also annoyed by kidney irregularities. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured in the Ivy Drug Store and they brought me great relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Nichols Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LEGAL NOTICES

Official Public Notice.

ALL DOGS, Male or Female, not officially licensed, running at large on any street, alley or public grounds, or private premises, and the premises of the owner or keeper thereof, may be killed by any person, and it shall be the duty of every constable, policeman or other peace officer of the said City of Charlevoix to kill and he is hereby ordered to kill any and all such dogs. This will be in force and effect September 30, 1912.

Charlevoix, Michigan, June 8, 1912.

By Order of the Mayor.

SPECIAL ELECTION.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Special Election will be held in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on Tuesday, August 27, A. D. 1912. For the purpose of voting upon the following proposition, as per resolution of the Board of Supervisors of said County of Charlevoix, duly passed by said board, viz:

To raise by bonded indebtedness against the taxable property of the said County of Charlevoix, the sum of Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand and no/100ths ($350,000.00) for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, and to issue bonds of said County for the said sum of Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand and no/100ths ($350,000.00).

Ballots will be provided reading as follows:

For the Issuing of County Bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads—[] YES.

For the Issuing of County Bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads—[] NO.

All legal votes found to contain a cross (x) in the square before the word YES will be counted for said proposition, and all legal votes found to contain a cross (x) in the square before the word NO will be counted against said proposition.

Women Electors.

Every woman who possesses the qualifications of an elector and who is properly assessed for taxes or owns property subject to taxation jointly with her husband, or with any other person, or who owns property on contract and pays taxes thereon, shall be entitled to vote upon said proposition, provided such person has had her name duly registered in accordance with the provisions of the statutes of the State of Michigan.

The Polls of said Election will be open at two o'clock a. m. and will remain open until five o'clock p. m. on said day of Election, dated this 14th day of July, A. D. 1912.

HAROLD S. FAYTON,

Clk. of Charlevoix County.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A State Bank

4% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

Under State Supervision

List of Shareholders

G. C. GEIKEN	JOHN BURNS
ALEX. CAMERON	H. R. FOWLER
MRS. H. L. IDDINGS	H. S. HARSHA
MRS. B. W. MILLER	L. S. SEE
A. L. HART	GUY S. BROWN
O. E. WILBUR	A. T. SLAGHT
J. L. CRANE	SAMUEL F. HODGES
GEORGE LIVERTON	R. D. CAMPBELL
JOHN DOUGHERTY	P. P. FOLEY
W. J. RACHOW

Board of Directors

R. P. FOLEY, President	G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier	H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
J. L. CRANE	P. D. CAMPBELL
	JOHN BURNS

The patronage of good borrowers and conservative investors is cordially invited. Our New Building is absolutely fire-proof and we have excellent conveniences for our customers. Ask any of the above stockholders or officers about us. It will please us to serve you.

WE NEED MONEY

And will Sell for Cash Only at the following prices:

Two 25c cans Warren's Salmon	45c
Two 20c cans Sledge Salmon	35c
13c can String or Wax Beans	10c
Three 10c cans String Beans	25c
Two 15c cans String Beans	25c
13c can Peas	10c
Two 15c cans Peas	25c
Three cans Coral Corn	25c
Two cans 15c Corn	25c
Three cans V. C. Hominy	25c
Extra large 18c can Tomatoes	15c
Three 10c cans Veribest Pork and Beans	25c
Three 10c cans Veribest Soup	25c
Three 10c bottles stuffed or plain Olives	25c
Three 10c bottles Pickles	25c
3 bottles Corn Relish	25c
Three 10c bottles Bluing	25c
Three 10c bottles Ammonia	25c
6 pounds Bulk Starch	25c
60 dozen Clothes Pins	60c
Two 15c Clothes Lines	25c
25c Broom	19c
6 bars white American Soap	25c
5 bars R. N. M. Soap and 1 Soap Powder	25c
5 bars Galvanic Soap and 1 Soap Powder	25c
6 bars Oak Leaf Soap and 1 Soap Powder	25c

All Children's, Boys', Women's and Men's Oxforas

— AT COST —

A. E. MASON—Cash Grocer and Shoeman

A Great Convenience At A Trifling Cost

Save your own and your Postman's time by the use of a Private Letter Box to which you hold the keys

This box is made of steel, heavily brass plated, with a heavy brass lock and two keys—each glass paneled with a name clip for owner's card and address for placing, will be sent carrying charges prepaid on receipt of $5.—Check or P. O. Order (do not send currency or stamps).

INTERNATIONAL MAIL EQUIPMENT CO.
200 Fifth Avenue, 2111 NEW YORK

White Cedar Terrace Tenting Resort

Situated on the south side of Pine Lake, between Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan

Come to the Most Ideal Summering Place in MICHIGAN

Tenting Privileges Reasonable

Address Communications to
WILLIAM HUNT
414d CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
Telephone, Farmers' Independent Line

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plans on Short Notice
VANPelt PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. E. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

LESLIE SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Opposite County Bank
Green's Office Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levison's Store
Phone 138 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66; residence 265.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store, Charlevoix, Mich.
Telephone No. 255.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bar & Block Charlevoix, Mich.

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Company.

CHAPTER XX—Continued.

He had forgotten the violets. Elora stood looking after him, a sad expression on her face. One-sided and so—then she picked up the note and followed. At the blue bordered pool she paused and half turned back, then she closed her lips firmly and went on. It was 9 o'clock when Ammon said goodnight and started to town. His gay whistle floated to them from the farthest corner of the Limberlost. Elora complained of being tired, so she went to her room and to bed. But sleep would not come. Thought was racing in her brain, and the longer she lay the wider awake she grew. At last she softly slipped from bed, lighted her lamp and began opening boxes. Then she went to work. Two hours later a beautiful birch bark basket, strongly and artistically made stood on her table. She set a tiny alarm clock at 3, returned to bed and fell asleep instantly.

She was on the floor with the first tinkle of the alarm, and hastily dressing, she picked up the basket and a box to fit it, crept down the stairs and out to the violet patch. When the basket was filled to overflowing, she set it in the stout pasteboard box, packed it solid with mosses, tied it firmly and slipped under the cord a note.

Then she took a short cut across the woods and walked swiftly to Onabasha. It was after 6 o'clock, but all of the city she wished to avoid were asleep. She had no trouble in finding a small boy out, and she stood at a distance waiting while he rang Dr. Ammon's bell and delivered the package for Philip to a maid, with the note which was to be given him at once.

On the way home through the woods passing some halved trees she collected the captive moths. She entered the kitchen with them so naturally that Mrs. Comstock made no comment. After breakfast Elora went to her room, cleared away all trace of the night's work and was out in the arbutus mounting moths when Ammon came down the road. "I am tired sitting," she said to her mother. "I think I will walk a few rods and meet him."

"Who's a tramp?" called Ammon from afar.

"Well, not you!" retorted Elora. "Confess that you forgot!" "Completely," said Ammon. "But, heckly it would not have been fatal. I wrote Polly last week to send Edith something appropriate and handsome today, with my card."

One warm August afternoon a blue-coated messenger entered the gate. "I have a message for Philip Ammon."

Mrs. Comstock stepped to the back door and changed the dinner bell sharply, paused a second and rang again. In a short time Ammon and Elora came.

"Are you ill, mother?" cried Elora. Mrs. Comstock indicated the boy. "There is an important message for Philip," she said.

Ammon muttered an excuse and tore open the telegram. His color faded slightly. "I have to take the first train," he said. "My father is ill and I am needed."

ed down the road she smiled softly. "I had an idea he would speak to me first," she thought. "But this may change things some. He hasn't time. Elora will come back a happy girl, and she has good reason. He is a model young man. Her lot will be mighty different from mine."

On the road Elora spoke first. "I do hope it is nothing serious," she said. "Is he usually strong?" "Quite strong," said Philip. "I am not alarmed, but I am very much ashamed. I have allowed him to overtax himself until he is down, and mother and Polly are north at our cottage. He's never been sick before, and it's probable I am to blame that he is now."

"You have had a fine time?" asked Elora.

"They had reached the fence. Ammon vaulted over to take a short cut across the fields. He turned and looked at her.

"The best, the sweetest, the most wholesome time any man ever had in this world," he said. "Elora, if I talked hours I couldn't make you understand what a girl I think you are. I never in all my life hated anything as I hate leaving you. It seems to me that I have not strength to do it."

"If you have got anything worth while from me," said Elora. "That should be it—just to have strength to go to your duty and to go quickly. Goodbye! You must hurry!"

Ammon gazed at her. He tried to drop her hand and only clung to it closer. Suddenly he drew her toward him. "Elora," he whispered, "will you kiss me goodbye?"

Elora drew back and stared at him with wide eyes. "I'll strike you sooner," she said. "Have I ever said or

"Elora," he whispered, "will you kiss me goodbye?"

date anything in your presence that made you feel free to ask that, Philip Ammon?" "No," panted Ammon. "No—I think so much of you I just wanted to touch your lips once before I left you. You know, Elora."

"Don't distress yourself," said Elora calmly. "I am broad enough to judge you sanely. I know what you mean. It would be no harm to you. It would not matter to me, but here we will think of some one else. Edith Carr would not want your lips tomorrow if she knew they had touched mine today. I was wise to say 'Go quickly!'"

Ammon still clung to her. "Will you write me?" he begged.

"No," said Elora. "There is nothing to say sure goodbye. We can do that now."

Ammon bent on. "Promise that you will write me only one letter," he urged. "I want just one message from you to lock in my desk and keep away. Promise you will write once, Elora."

Elora looked straight into his eyes and smiled serenely. "If the talking trees tell me this winter the secret of how a man may grow perfect I will write you what it is, Philip. In all the time I have known you I never have liked you so little. Goodbye."

Elora crossed the road, climbed the fence and sought the shelter of their own woods. She took a diagonal course and followed it until she came to the path leading past the violet patch. She went down this hurriedly. Her hands were clenched at her sides, her eyes dry and bright, her cheeks red flushed and her breath coming fast. When she reached the patch she turned into it and stood looking around her.

The mosses were dry, the flowers gone, weeds a foot high covered it. She turned away and went on down the path until she was almost in sight of the cabin.

Mrs. Comstock could not understand why the girl did not hurry to her with what she would have to tell. She went out and wandered around the garden. Then she stepped into the path and started back along the way leading to the woods, past the pool now framed in a thick setting of yellow lilies. Then she saw and stopped, gasping for breath. Her hands flew up, and her lined face grew ghastly. She stared at the sky and then at the prostrate girl figure. Over and over she tried to speak, but only a word came.

Elora uttered one wild little cry and fled into her mother's arms. "Oh mother!" she sobbed. "Will you ever forgive me?"

Mrs. Comstock's arms swept together in a tight grip around Elora. "There isn't a thing on God's footstool from a lizard I won't forgive you, my precious girl!" she said. "Tell mother what it is."

Elora lifted her wet face. "He told me," she panted, "just as soon as he decently could—that second day he told me. Almost all his life he's been engaged to a girl at home. He never cared anything about me. He was just interested in the moths and growing strong."

"Elora"—the mother's head bent until the white hair mingled with the brown—"Elora, why didn't you tell me at first?"

Elora caught her breath in a sharp snatch. "I know I should," she sobbed. "I will bear any punishment for not, but I didn't feel as if I possibly could. I was afraid."

"Afraid of what?" the shaking hand was on the hair again.

"Afraid you wouldn't let him come!" panted Elora. "And, oh, mother, I wanted him so!"

For the next week Mrs. Comstock and Elora worked so hard there was no time to talk, and they were compelled to sleep from physical exhaustion. Elora took all the dragon flies and butterflies she could, and when she went over the list for her collection, she found, to her amazement, that with Ammon's help she once more had it complete save a pair of yellow Erioporus. From every source at her command she tried to complete the series with these moths and could not find any for sale.

Then came a notification that Elora would be compelled to attend a week's session of the teachers' institute held at the county seat twenty miles north of Onabasha the following week. They went to Onabasha together and purchased a simple and appropriate fall suit and hat, goods for a dainty little colored frock and a dress skirt and several fancy waists. Margaret Sinton came down and the sewing began. When everything was finished and packed Elora kissed her mother goodbye at the depot and the train pulled out.

Mrs. Comstock went to the bank and inquired for the cashier. "I want to know just how I am fixed here," she said. The cashier looked at her. "Well, you haven't been in a hurry," he replied. "We have been ready for you any time these twenty years, but you didn't seem to pay much attention. Your account is rather flourishing."

Mrs. Comstock sank into a chair and waited while the cashier read a jumble of figures to her. It meant that her deposits had exceeded her expenses from $100 to $200 a year, according to the cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry, butter and eggs she had sold. The aggregate of these sums had been compounding interest throughout the years. Mrs. Comstock stared at the total with dazed and unbelieving eyes. Through her sick heart rushed the realization that if she merely had stood before that wicked and asked one question she would have known that all those bitter years of skimping for Elora and herself had been unnecessary. She arose and went back to the depot.

"I want to send a message," she said. She picked up the pencil and with rash extravagance wrote: "Found money at bank didn't know about. If you want to go to college come on first train and get ready." She hesitated a second, and then she said to herself grimly, "Yes, I'll pay for that too!" and recklessly added, "With love, Mother." Then she sat waiting for the answer. It came in less than an hour.

"Going to teach this winter. With dearest love, Elora."

Mrs. Comstock held the message a long time. When she arose she was ravenously hungry, but the pain in her heart was a little easier. She went to a restaurant and got some food, then to a dressmaker. At night she was so tired she scarcely could walk home, but she built a fire and cooked and ate a hearty meal.

Later she went out by the west fence and gathered an armful of tansy, which she boiled in a thick green tea. Then she stirred in oatmeal until it was a stiff paste. She spread a sheet over her bed and began tearing strips of old muslin. She landed each hand and arm with the mixture and plastered the soggy, evil smelling stuff in a

(Continued on page 7)

IDLE MONEY

There is idle money in every community—money not in use, not even safely deposited in a reliable bank. It is hid away, carried on the person, liable to loss by fire, theft and many other causes. Idle money makes no one a cent. Its the money in circulation that stimulates business. The more money in circulation the higher the prices and the lower the rates of interest. Bring your money to this bank where it will be safe and always subject to your check. It will help you, it will help us, it will help the community. Idle money is as useless to business as an idle man.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. K. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

BLANCHARD HAS IT

What you want to make life enjoyable during the summer months

Refrigerators, Ice Cream Freezers
Oil and Gasoline Stoves

Base Ball Supplies - - Garden Tools

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's
$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever revealed. Without previous experience you can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 200-page catalogue will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually. CINCINNATI, OHIO

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Father Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed.

I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.

I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing.

I CURE PILES—Bleeding, St. Vitus dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by seeing or my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given best of care. May work out fees.

Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life!

—to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you. WHITE TOWN.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.

Residing Sanitarium & Retreat, Belding, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

....Keep Track of the Minutes....

If in need of a new Watch or Clock we Will Sell it to You.

If They Need Repairing We Are Prepared to Do It

If in need of anything in the Jewelry Line WE HAVE IT

C. R. BELLINGER
Pioneer Jeweler

HOW CAN I DO IT?

I OFFER to build you a swell little stone-bungalow size 20x30 and throw in a nice big lot on shore of Pine Lake for $775, if I can get 10 buyers and build ten bungalows at the same time. These cottages will contain from 4 to 6 Rooms. The first story, foundations and porch piers will be built of stone, and the balance of good quality timber. The porches are each 10 feet wide and 30 feet long. The fire place a mammoth affair about 7 feet wide with fire box that will take 4 feet wood. Lots of birch and maple and pine shade trees on the lots with a swell sandy bathing beach in front. Passenger boats pass regularly 4 times a day. See plans and specifications in office.

C. I. B. McLEAN

319 Bridge Street, Charlevoix

IN CHARLEVOIX OFFICE
Tuesday, Wednesday, SaturdayIN BOYNE CITY OFFICE
Monday, Thursday, Friday

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Mose Cohen is playing with the Inn orchestra.

Born to Will Heise and wife Tuesday a boy.

Mrs. Ed. Brock is improving from her illness of last week.

Glen Beard of Petoskey is in the city on business today.

Miss Myrtle Long of West Branch is in the city for the summer.

Mrs. T. J. Wood of East Jordan is calling on friends here today.

Mrs. Myer Levinson is much improved after her recent illness.

J. M. Anderson of Gaylord is in the city on business this week.

C. C. Otis of Grand Rapids is a business caller here this week.

Mrs. Z. A. Young is seriously ill at her home on Hurlbut Avenue.

Leon Miller of Petoskey spent Sunday in the city with his parents.

Kay Butters of Pellston is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Butters.

Miss Ruby Emory returned Saturday from her brief visit to Detroit.

Miss Mary Kirehner of Saginaw is visiting at the home of H. C. Cooper.

Thomas Wilson of Wayland was the guest of Alden Chamberlin Sunday.

Bert Wilbur of Chicago made his parents a short visit the latter part of the week.

Fred Jones and wife of Mancelona are visiting at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Young.

Miss Lila Shapton has been assisting in the office of Myrtle Young & Son this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Crozier of Boyne City were guests of Charlevoix friends last week.

Miss Nina Mayne has returned from a week's visit with relatives at Mackinac Island.

Mrs. George W. Kent and daughter Dorothy of Boyne City were in the city Thursday.

Miss Marion Walker of St. Ignace, is visiting at the home of Judge Mayne and family.

Louis Hoffman of Salt Lake City, Utah, is the new clerk in The Palace Clothing Store.

Mrs. W. H. Arbnuckle and Mrs. Ray Ardis of Boyne City visited friends here Friday.

Miss Marguerite Mulavey of Grand Rapids is a guest at the home of R. C. Squires.

Mrs. McManus and daughter, Bertha, of Layayette, Indiana, are guests at the Bartlett.

A. T. Stewart of the Northville Fish Hatcheries has been in the city the past few days.

Mrs. Mary Nye of Minneapolis, Minn., is the guest of her sister and family, Mrs. Myer Cohen.

Helen Mary Meech of Ellsworth visited a few days with F. J. Meech and family the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Atkinson of Detroit were Charlevoix visitors the latter part of the week.

The annual camp meeting of the Church of God begins next Friday and will continue ten days.

A postal savings bank will be installed at Ellsworth to be open for business after August 1.

John Thackeray of Kalamazoo spent a few days with R. A. Emory and family the first of the week.

Mrs. Cook and Miss Bachelor of Petoskey spent Sunday in the city as guests of Mrs. Myrtle Young.

Mrs. G. C. Geiken and Mrs. J. B. Parsons were guests of R. P. Geiken and wife at Pellston over Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Quigley of Detroit, has been a guest at the home of Z. A. Young and family the past week.

Miss Margaret Zeitler visited at Norwood Sunday, with the families of Norman Wells and Edwin Cook.

Burt Phillips of Detroit, manager of the local fish-hatchery, made a call here the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Algie and Mrs. H. H. Bartlett leave Friday for their homes in California, after visiting at the Bartlett.

Hon. A. Butters, wife and the Misses Mary and Esther Butters spent Sunday with relatives at Bay View.

Frank Hull is entertaining his mother, Mrs. S. E. Hull of Vassar. She will make an extended visit here.

Rev. J. M. Gleason of Boyne City was in the city Thursday, enroute for a trip to Ohio, Kansas and Missouri.

Mrs. Lena Cram and niece, Miss Grace Jenkins, of Waukegon, spent Sunday in the city with friends.

The Misses Nina Warren and Hazel Potter of Petoskey were guests of Miss Lila Shapton last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Clark returned to their home at Detroit the first of the week after a short stay at the Bartlett.

Mrs. M. J. Sweetland was taken to the State Hospital at Traverse City Tuesday, after spending the past week here.

Mrs. Addie Terrell of Chicago is in the city attending to the business affairs of her mother, Mrs. M. J. Sweetland.

Capt. Vanderhoof, of Harbor Springs, well known here, was calling on friends in the city the first of the week.

Miss Blanche Lewis of Grand Rapids, formerly of this city, is making a short visit with friends and relatives.

Miss Opal Emory left this morning for Old Mission where she will visit a week before returning to Grand Rapids.

Miss Clara Berman of Minneapolis, Minn., is a guest of the Cohen sisters, having arrived the latter part of the week.

Mrs. I. C. Ellithorp has returned to her home at Millington after a short visit at the home of her brother, Frank Hull.

Clarence C. Schaub, the Boyne City candidate for County Treasurer, was in the city the latter part of the week.

W. J. Lewis of Boyne City has announced his candidacy for the nomination for representative on the Democratic ticket.

Misses Iva and Rose Donaldson returned to their home at Empire Saturday after a week's visit with Miss Lila Shapton.

Miss Bellant of Petoskey, is assisting with the books at the Booth Fisheries. While here she is stopping at the Bartlett.

Mrs. Nate Cater of Chicago arrived in the city the latter part of the week to make an extended visit with her father, "Doc" Brown.

Thomas Shapton of the Ottawa Sugar Company spent a few days with his family the first of the week, returning to Ottawa today.

John Zeitler left on the S. S. Manitou Thursday for Chicago. From there he will go to Joliet, Ill., for a two week's visit with his sister.

Mrs. Fred Myers, whose condition has been very critical, is reported today as being very much improved and hopes are now held for her recovery.

Dr. Ulton and wife of Chicago are in the city making a short visit with E. S. Stacks. While here they are looking up farm property as a summer location.

Mrs. Townsend and Miss Marion Wilson returned to their home at Osego Monday after a two week's visit at the home of E. R. VanLeuven and family.

Mrs. W. S. Atchison and daughter Elsie arrived Saturday evening from Chicago and will remain for a short time as guests of Pastor Atchison and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Warner of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilbert of Detroit, and Marshall D. Weaver of Charlevoix, were Boyne City guests yesterday.

Mr. McLean informs us that the work of plating Holy Island is nearly completed and he probably will commence putting lots on the market about August 1.

William Reitzel and Miss Florence McCallum from East Jordan were united in marriage at the Baptist parsonage Saturday afternoon, Rev. Atchison officiating.

Howard Francis of Mexico City, Mexico, is making a short visit with his parents, W. H. Francis and wife, his first visit here in seven years. He leaves Sunday for Buenos Ayres.

Rev. Bastian Smiths and family, of Jackson, have arrived for the summer, and are occupying their cottage, 137 Belvedere, when not occupying their fine sail-boat, the "Lady Anne."

Howard Kane, formerly of this city, now traveling for a paint company, has just won in a paint selling contest by $4,000. This is another Charlevoix boy who is a hustler.

J. A. Williams and family of Chicago arrived here Friday for a visit with Charles Zeitler and family. Mrs. Williams was formerly Miss Susie Shollin of Ironton and is well known here.

R. H. Taylor and party of motorists were in the city the first of the week from Alberta, Canada. The party came from Alberta to Chicago and shipped the machine from there to this city.

A fruit growers' meeting will be held with Mr. Harris of Ellsworth July 25. R. H. Ellsworth of Traverse City is expected to be present. The usual program and dinner will be held and a good crowd is expected.

Sixteen Charlevoix ladies went to Petoskey last Thursday and had a pot-luck supper at the home of Mrs. James Sweet. The supper was given in honor of Mrs. L. W. VanDusen of Lowell, who is visiting friends in the city.

E. N. Chuk of East Jordan, one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for Judge of Probate, was in the city Friday. Mr. Chuk informs us that everything is looking good and he is very hopeful of winning out at the primary.

Last Sunday Charlevoix won ball games. The first game with Bellaire by a score of 10-6 and the second from East Jordan by 20-10. Next Sunday's game will be with the Cross Village Indians, who have an unbeaten record this season.

September 1 we must either collect all subscription accounts that are back a year or more or discontinue the paper. That is the government's order and we must obey. Examine your address label and if you are behind a year or more come in and see us.

The bodies of Roy Armstrong and Hugh Vaughn, who were drowned in Torch Lake last Thursday, were found Tuesday floating in the lake. Both boys were graduates of the Mancelona high school and their loss will be keenly felt by all who knew them.

Miss Elizabeth McAllister of Jackson, Michigan, who formerly made her home in this city with J. A. Markham, was married last Thursday at Traverse City to Wm. Dixon of this city. At the present time they are located at Phelps. Their many friends unite in congratulations.

Manager Karslake of the skating rink is determined to please his numerous patrons. The first three nights of this week Adelaide D'Vorak, a fancy skater, delighted the large crowd with some very clever skating. Mr. Karslake has several other attractions in view in the future and will continue to keep up the high reputation of his place of amusement and recreation.

CRANE'S

Clearing Sale Summer Dresses

Clearing Sale Summer Wash Goods

We offer until sold

Our entire stock of Fancy Summer Dresses in Silk Mulls - Lawns - Gingham

Ladies' and Misses Sizes

All $7.50, $6.00, $5.50, $5.00, and $4.50 Dresses

$2.95

All $4.00, $3.50, $3.00, $2.50, $2.25 Dresses

$1.50

Children's $1.50 and $1.00 Dresses

78c

8 to 12 years

Children's Slip On 50c Dresses

29c

4 to 6 years

Summer Wash Goods

25c Fancy-Stripe and Plain Voiles in all the best shades

18c

15c Fancy Patterns in Linona Wash Goods, very fine goods and extra good pattern, per yard

9 1/2c

10c Fancy Lawns and Batistes, large line of patterns and colorings

7 1/2c

Lingerie Waists, latest effects, all sizes. $1.75 and $1.50 Waists until sold

98c

Oxfords at Cost

This means that our entire line of Ladies', Men's and Children's Oxfords will be sold at cost. It is not every year that the people of Charlevoix have had the opportunity of having Oxfords at this early date at Cost Price. The stock is new, and the quality of the Oxfords as good, if not better, than you can find in the city. Now is the time and this is your opportunity to save a few dollars on footwear. Bring in the whole family—it means a great saving to you.

Ladies' Footwear

White Nu-Buck Shoes

$3

Black Colonial Slippers

$2.25

Tan, strapless Pumps, with silk corded bow, sale price

$2

Black Suede Pumps

$2.25

Gun Metal

$2.25, $1.95

Patent Leather Pumps

$1.95

White Pumps with silk corded bow

$1.95

Ladies' Patent Leather, blucher Oxford, regular price

$1.98

Ladies' button gun metal Oxfords

$2.10

Ladies' tan or gun metal Oxfords,

$2.00

Tan Pumps with straps

90c

Boys' & Men's Footwear

Boys' Scent Shoes, regular price $2.00, sale price

$1.50

Tennis slippers, regular price

50c

Children's Tennis Slippers

40c

Men's tan Oxfords, lace or button, dark or light shades,

$2.98

Men's black Oxfords, regular price $3.75, sale

$3.25

Men's black Oxfords, regular price $3.50, sale

$2.75

Boys' black Oxfords, regular price $2.50, sale

$1.98

Children's Sandals, all sizes, regular price $1.15, guaranteed not to rip, sale price

90c

Men's Pants

$5.00 Pants

$2.75 and $3

$3.00 Pants

$1.75

Take a look in the window and see the great bargains on display. Drop in a minute and be convinced that it means a great saving to buy now.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

Next to Baker's Inn

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

COMING
LE COMTE & FLESHER'S
GORGEOUS MUSICAL FANTASY
A SPECTACULAR PRODUCTION
THE PRINCE OF TONIGHT
STARRING BY THE COMTE & FLESHER'S
THEATRE COMPANY

AUCTION PINE POINT

AUGUST 8, 9 & 10

3 O'CLOCK P. M. THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

PINE POINT is the land formerly occupied by Boy City. Its location is the best. Lots are elevated and covered with heavy woodland. It is as near to the Pere Marquette depot as much of the built up portions of Charlevoix. One third of the lots have already been sold. The owners of lots have already advanced the price to twice what they paid for them. An investment in Pine Point is the safest thing you can buy. It is the only chance to get close in property at a reasonable price.

20% CASH - Monthly Payments - TITLE PERFECT

Buy Before the Auction

Buy at private sale before the auction. A lot sold at $250.00 at private sale the day before the last auction. The following day at the auction the lot next to it sold at $325.00. A man who paid $50.00 for a lot saw the one next to it go at the auction for $125.00. Phone the auctioneer at the Elston Hotel and arrange to be taken out Free by launch or auto to see Pine Point. Or watch for the company's private launch YUMA at the foot of Clinton street, which makes frequent trips to Pine Point.

Free Handsome Silver Souvenirs Given Each Day of the Auction

Transportation to the Auction

passengers at corner of Clinton and Bridge street.

On the days of the sale, August 8, 9 and 10, the boats will begin making trips to Pine Point at 1 p. m. at the foot of Clinton street. The automobiles will take

Pine Point is the Best Summer Resort Property Ever Offered for Sale

GEORGE FRYHOFER, Auctioneer

926 First National Bank Building, Chicago

Office, Elston Hotel, Charlevoix, Mich.

NORTH CHARLEVOIX CO.

J. L. CRANE, President Lisle SHANAHAN, Secretary R. C. HAMMETT, Treasurer

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

(Continued from page three)

took ponies over her face and neck. She was so tired she had to sleep, and when she awoke she was half-skinned. She bathed her face and hands, did the work and went back to town, coming home at night to go through the same process.

By the third morning she was a raw, even red; the fourth she had faded to a brilliant pink under the soothing use of a cream recommended. One day came a letter from El-nora that she could not come "Mother!" she cried. "You my mother! I don't believe it!"

home until after school Monday night. That suited Mrs. Comstock, and she at once answered the letter saying so. The next day Mrs. Comstock was a pure pink and the following a delicate porcelain white. That day she went to a hairdresser and had the great rope of snowy hair which covered her scalp washed and dressed.

Then she went home, rested and worked by turns until Monday. When school closed on that evening and El-nora, so tired she almost trembled, came down the long walk after a late session of teachers' meeting a messenger boy stopped her.

"There's a lady wants to see you most important. I am to take you to the place," he said.

El-nora groined. She could not imagine who wanted her, but there was nothing to do but go and find out.

"This is the place," said the boy, and went his way, whistling. El-nora was three blocks from the high school, building on the same street. She was before a quaint old house, fresh with paint and covered with vines.

Inside she could see bare polished floors, walls freshly papered in low toned harmonious colors, straw rugs and madras curtains. It seemed to be a restful, homelike place to which she had come, and a second later down an open stairway came a tall, dark eyed woman with cheeks faintly pink and a crown of fluffy snow white hair.

El-nora stepped inside the door. "Mother!" she cried. "You my mother! I don't believe it! You are perfectly beautiful, and this house is a little paradise, but how will we ever pay for it? We can't afford it!"

"Hush! Have you forgotten I telegraphed you I'd found some money I didn't know about? All I've done is paid for and plenty more to settle for all I propose to do."

Mrs. Comstock glanced around with supreme satisfaction.

"I may get homesick as a pup before spring," she said, "but if I do I can go back. If I don't I'll sell some timber and put a few oil wells where they don't show much. I can have land enough cleared for a few fields and put a tenant on our farm, and we will buy this and settle here. It's for sale."

Mrs. Comstock invited El-nora's friends to visit her and proved herself a bright and interesting hostess. She discussed a subject before she spoke, and when she advanced a view her point was sure to be original and tersely expressed. Before three months people wanted to hear what she had to say.

El-nora never mentioned Philip An-noun, neither did Mrs. Comstock. Early in December came a note and a big box from him. It contained several books on nature subjects which would be a great help in school work, and a number of conveniences El-nora could not afford. Soon after El-nora wrote Ann-noun:

"Dear Friend—I am writing to thank you for the books and the box of conveniences sent me for my work. I can use everything with me results. Hope I am giving great satisfaction in my position. You will be interested to learn that when the summer's work was finished and planned I again had my complete collection save a yellow Emperor. I have tried everywhere I know. So has the Bird Woman. We can't find a pair for sale. Fate is against me, at least this season. I shall have to wait until next year and try again."

Thank you very much for helping me with my collection and for the books and things. Sincerely yours,

EL-NORA COMSTOCK.

Announ was disappointed over that note and instead of keeping it he tore it into bits and dropped them into the wastebasket.

Throughout the winter El-nora and her mother enjoyed the city thoroughly and the change of life it afforded, but soon of spring did wonderful things to the hearts of the country bred women. They decided to keep the city house, during the summer, but to go back to the farm to live just as soon as school closed.

(Continued next week.)

Summer colds are hard to get rid of, frequently lead to asthma, bronchitis, and hay fever. Do not let your cold get a hold on you, but use Foley's Honey-and-Tar Compound for quick relief. W. H. Allen, Chelsea, Wis., says: "We prefer Foley's Honey-and-Tar Compound to other cough medicines because it quickly cures coughs and colds. It will ward off a cold if taken in time." Contains no opiates. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

The Star of Brazil.

The most important cut stone of Brazil is that called the "Star of the South," which was found by a negro woman in 1873. It was appropriated by the white owner who gave her in return a pension for life. The stone was sold for $15,000, the new owner depositing it in the Bank of Rio Janeiro and receiving on this security a loan many times greater than the value paid for the stone. The diamond was at length sold for ten times the amount paid. It was finally acquired by a syndicate and cut in oval form at a cost of $23,000 by a firm in Amsterdam. An Indian rajah offered more than $50,000 for it, but was refused. A little later it was bought for the galleon of Baroda.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a valuable and welcome remedy. John Heath, Michigan Bar, Cal., had kidney and bladder trouble, was confined to his bed, unable to turn without help. "I commenced using Foley's Kidney Pills and can truly say I was relieved at once." His example is worth following. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co. 1711

Subscribe for the Courier.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

To Republican Electors.

As a representative in the legislature is to be elected in this county, I have decided to be a candidate for the position, subject to the approval of the Republicans of Charlevoix county at the August primary. If nominated and elected I will serve the county in that office to the best of my ability, and will appreciate the support of all Charlevoix county Republicans.

Herman I. McMillan

To the Democratic Voters.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of State Representative from the Charlevoix district on the Democratic ticket, at the primary election, August 27, 301-4-adv

William J. Lewis.

Notice.

I take this method of announcing that I will be a candidate for Republican nomination for representative in the State Legislature at the primary election to be held August 27, 301-adv

William Mears.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Prosecuting Attorney, at the primary August 27, 1912.

Rollie L. Lewis.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.

Clarence C. Schanb.

Notice to Electors.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket at the primary election August 27. Trusting that my conduct of the office has been such as to secure your approval, your support will be appreciated.

Ford P. Robbins.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Clerk on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27.

W. Alvah Davoll

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of County Clerk, at the August primaries, and if nominated and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in past, and will appreciate your support at this time.

RICHARD LEWIS.

To the Democratic Voters.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Register of Deeds on the Democratic ticket, subject to the primary election, August 27, 301-4-adv

Byron J. Quick

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.

1911 adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.

ROBERT A. EMBRY.

Announcement.

The undersigned will be a candidate in the August primary for nomination to the office of Judge of Probate on the Republican ticket. If you believe that I would—if nominated and elected—faithfully and efficiently discharge the duties of that office, I will be grateful for your support.

251-adv

ELISHA N. CLINK.

Notice to the Republican Electors of the Charlevoix County.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for judge of probate of this county at the primary election appointed to be held on the last Tuesday in August, this year.

I am now serving my third term in this office. I like the work and the compensation that goes with it, therefore I am a candidate; and if a majority of the electors express themselves that I am their choice for another term, I will administer the office for another term to the best of my ability.

July 1, 1912. John M. Harris.

271-adv

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address: Central Lake, Mich. Phone 10-10-10.

Let me do your

D R A Y I N G

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 353 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods a Specialty.

CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED

Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist

Expert on Eye Strain

Chronic Headache a Specialty

Petoskey, Michigan

Office Open Friday and Saturday

Each Week

Charlevoix Rock

Product Co.

Producers and

Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime

Chemical Lime

Bulk Building Lime

Barreled Building Lime

Hydrated Agricultural Lime

Crushed Stone

Pulverized Stone

Furnace Fluxing

Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland

PHONE 297

Grange Column

Rock Elm Grange No. 705.

Regular session of Rock Elm grange called to order by Worthy Master Fred VanGorder. Grange opened in form and minutes of last meeting read. It was moved and supported that the grange give a vote of thanks to the persons who washed the dishes. Carried. The lecture hour was observed with the following program: Song by the grange choir. Reading—Mrs. Hutton. Reading—Alma Brodie. Recitation—Viola Cigand. Song—Mrs. Fink and sons. Recitation—Mildred Hutton. Reading—Lew Fink. Recitation—Harry VanGorder. Instrumental Solo—Alma Brodie. Reading—Joe Whitfield. Recitation—Lew Fink. Vocal Solo—Margorie Cleland. The next meeting will be held August 3.

See our range offer page four. 300f Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Go to Benj. Brown for Fly chaser. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction 1.00 per gallon. 284f

INTEREST INCREASING

State Highway Commissioner Ely Tells About Good Roads Movement.

State Highway Commissioner Ely says the work of constructing good roads in Michigan has been going along finely this summer and that 580 miles have been built as compared with 400 miles last year. Application for state reward for 600 miles more are on file in the office, the situation being that by the end of this calendar year the entire appropriation will be exhausted.

Making comparisons to show how interest in good roads has increased the commissioner stated today that 644 miles were constructed the first four years the department was in existence, with 714 miles the last two years and 580 the last year.

Most of the good roads constructed are standing up well, Commissioner Ely states, and are giving satisfaction to the people who contributed the cost.

"The state reward, you know," he said, "is simply the state's bounty for the building of good roads."

The commissioner is particularly pleased with the gravel roads, many miles of which have been constructed. He says that that class of highway is standing the test well, and experience has shown that it is not only a stable road, but is readily repaired and kept in good condition.

The newer counties continue to lead in the construction of good roads as compared with the older counties, thereby securing the benefit of the aid of the less progressive bailiwicks, the taxpayers of which contribute to aid in this construction while not participating in the reward which the state pays.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, fine lining see the Builders' Supply Co., phone 802-r. 17tf

MANY FIRES PREVENTED

By the Work of the Forest Fire Protective Association.

At the meeting to be held August 1 at Detroit of the Michigan Hardwood Manufacturers' association, one of the items to be discussed will be the work of the Forest Fire Protective department now working in the interest of no forest fires in lower Michigan. The association members will be called upon to discuss at length all features of the work regarding the value of the department to its members as well as to the state.

Mr. J. C. Knox, secretary of the association, stated: "The Forest Fire Protective department we have inaugurated is to become a permanent feature. This is our first season to attempt a thorough elimination and suppression of forest fires, and we are convinced that our system has been the means of saving the association as well as the state a vast amount of money. Between June 15 and July 6, one hundred and fifty-three fires were discovered and put out by our men without the loss of property, to say nothing of lives. Between the dates mentioned we had a very dry spell and the department was taxed to the limit to cope with the situation. A year ago fires were allowed to run and much loss of property and lives was recorded."—Cadillac News-Express.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 17tf

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors, also the life saving crew at Charlevoix, for their kindness and sympathy and the beautiful flowers during our recent bereavement in the loss of our son, brother and nephew.

Frank D. Brown; Archie L. Brown; Leon R. Brown; Myron J. Brown; Frankie K. Brown; Myrna A. Whitlock.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 17tf

THEATRICAL

Manager Wildern of the Majestic has been giving his patrons a good show the past week and announces he has good offerings for the remainder of the week. Friday and Saturday nights O'Dell and Whiting will appear in real comedy. Sunday night six good reels of pictures will be shown.

One of the best laughing shows ever shown in Charlevoix was the verdict of those who witnessed "The Arrival of Kitty," at the Charlevoix Theatre, Monday night. It will be good news to Charlevoix theatregoers that manager Lookot has been able to secure this attraction for a return engagement Friday night. If you wish to enjoy yourself and believe in a good laugh, don't miss seeing "The Arrival of Kitty." Coming attractions to this popular playhouse are "Sunbonnet Sue," August 3, and "The Kitties Band," August 8.

A START WITH CHERRIES.

Location of the Orchard and Character of the Soil Points to Be Considered.

Two very important points in cherry growing should be studied closely before going into the business. The first is the location of the orchard. The cherry should be planted on high, rolling, well drained soil, for the trees will not thrive on wet, soggy land. A rich loam interspersed with sand is the ideal soil, as it warms up early and gives life and vigor to the tree.

The cherry is easily grown. It is attacked by few insects. Rabbits seldom molest cherry trees. In preparing the soil I advise heavy manuring, deep plowing, with thorough cultivation the year before planting. Use two-year old trees, well branched, and plant eighteen feet apart, giving thorough cultivation for three years.

After that seed to clover and when your orchard comes into bearing mow all grass and weeds a couple of times during the season. Leave the grass on the ground to form a mulch. It will have a tendency to hold moisture and also help to keep the ground loose. The less a cherry orchard is plowed after it comes into bearing the better, as the feeding roots are very near the surface. Roots broken off are not quickly replaced, as the cherry is one of the most backward of fruit trees in putting out new growth where old growth has been broken off.—Orange Judd Farmer.

FOR THE HOME VINEYARD.

Good Grape Trellis That May Be Too Expensive For Commercial Use.

A grapevine trellis described by the Rural New Yorker, from which this cut and this description are reproduced, has a middle wire which goes through holes in the posts. The middle slot sets down over the middle wire, while the two outside wires run through slots in the cross arm two inches from the ends. The cross arms are 1 by 4 inches for all but end cross arms, which are 2 by 4 inches. The cross arms are nailed to the posts and should also be braced by wire running from the ends of the cross arm and then down around the post eight or ten inches below the arm. The stem of the vine is brought to a height a little above the level of the middle wire and tied to it.

Two canes that develop near this level the present year are left next fall.

GRAPE TRELLIS

[From the Rural New Yorker.]

and next spring are tied to the right and left along this middle wire. Two short spurs are left near this location to furnish bearing wood for the year following and all else removed. The shoots developing from these grow out and over the outside wires, making a canopy; the fruit, hanging in a natural position beneath and protected from the sun. This trellis eliminates the position of the wild vine more nearly than any other. The growth is out of the way of cultivation, good air drainage is insured, and one can pass readily from row to row. This trellis is recommended for the home vineyard. The expense of construction makes it prohibitive commercially except for fancy table varieties.

For Sale.

Two driving mares three and four years old, broke, two cows, one thoroughbred Duroc boar, one Jersey bull four years old. 30 pd-t-2

Counters Bros.

Going to build this spring? The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 802-r. 17tf

FLY NETS FLY SHEETS

Why waste Time and Horse Flesh. It is worth money to you, when you can save both by using one of those fine nets

Fifty Cord, Fine Bar Body and Breast at the Small Cost of $1.75

Cord Nets $1.25 to $1.75

Fly Covers $1.00 to $1.50

See my most complete line ever shown in the city

Benj. Brown

EVERYTHING IS SO HIGH

is the cry that is heard from all when buying at other stores, but the cry is of a different character from those who visit this store. Here the remark is "How Cheap You Sell Your Furniture." It is the same with everything you buy here — the price is way down to the lowest notch; and the goods are up to the minute in every respect. We have

Dressers from $10 up

Commodore, good ones, for $5

Lawn Swings Now is the time for them $7

Porch Chairs Those Easy, Comfortable Kind 25c up

Brooms 30c to 40c

Just one visit to this store will convince you that there is no need to pay exorbitant prices nor use mail order house catalogues. Come and see.

Dice & Stafford

"Just around the Corner"

Phone 104

Mason Street

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, Van Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Truth."

Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.

Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Services morning and evening, Sunday, July 21.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.

Morning Service, 10:30.

Sunday School at 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Topic "South America—the land and its need." Leader, Miss Louise Narsen.

Evening service, 7:30.

Thursday evening, prayer meeting.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town Hall. Everybody welcome.

METHODIST CHURCH

Class meeting at 9:45.

Morning Service 10:30.

Sunday School 12:00. Lesson, Mat 4, 23-32.

Epworth League 6:30. Subject—The Advantage of a Religious Home.

Evening Service 8:30.

Prayer meeting Thursday at 7:30.

Strangers are welcome.

Preaching at the Epworth church Sunday at 3:00 p. m.

Enjoy a good laugh—see "The Arrival of Kitty," Charlevoix theatre Friday night.

Help Wanted.

Women and girls wanted to work in canning factory. Season will begin about July 15th. Last about five months. Pleasant work and good pay to active workers. Call or write for particulars. 274 Central Lake Canning Co.

For Sale.

Three small houses for sale, on south terrace, one block from Bridge street. Cash or easy terms. Inquire of O. D. Hammond. 28tf

Special

...RETURN ENGAGEMENT...

Of "One of the Best Laughing Shows that has Played Charlevoix in Years."—The Charlevoix Courier

"The Arrival of Kitty"

FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY

Friday, July 26

Charlevoix Theater

Seats Now on Sale

Central Drug Store

The more your customers know your goods the easier to make sales

Best Goods at Lowest Prices

Come in and Let us Convince You

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE
Telephone 125 Antrim Street

HORSE OWNERS ATTENTION

Try Crushed Oats

This Hot Weather

Come in and Let us Show you a Sample

Argo Milling Co.

Majestic Theater Added Attraction

Wednesday and Thursday
JULY 24th AND 25th

Buffalo Bill's and Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show

In Four Reels showing the entire performance exactly as it is. Don't miss this wonderful exhibition

Our Regular Vaudeville Attraction will be a Comedy Act by Three Talented People and is Heralded as a "Scream"

Admission for the full Show will be

Children 5c - Adults 10c

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 31

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

ENTRIES CLOSED LAST SATURDAY

In the Primary Race to Be Picked off
August 27.

THREE PARTIES REPRESENTED

Charlevoix Has Candidates for Every Office in the Contest.

No Entry for Circuit Court Commissioner—Prohibitionists and Progressives Not in the Race.

Saturday, at four o'clock in the afternoon, the entries closed in County Clerk Payton's office for the primary election to be held August 27. When they were all in it was found that only three parties, Republican, Democratic and Socialist would have county tickets in the field and that no candidate had filed for the office of Circuit Court Commissioner on any ticket. Another thing that is worthy of comment is the fact that Charlevoix has a candidate for every office. The list as filed is as follows:

Representative in the state legislature:

Republican—Herman I. McMillan, East Jordan; William Mears, Boyne Falls; William J. Pearson, Boyne Falls; Robert W. Paddock, Charlevoix.

Democratic—William J. Lewis, Boyne City.

Socialist—William W. Waaburn, Charlevoix.

Judge of Probate:
Republican—John M. Harris, Boyne City; Servetus A. Correll, Melrose; Elisha N. Clink, East Jordan.

Democratic—William Herschel Miller, Charlevoix.

Socialist—Elisha H. Shepherd, Boyne City.

Sheriff:
Republican—Ford P. Robbins, Boyne Falls.

Democratic—Thomas B. C. O. Charlevoix.

Socialist—William H. Cook, Charlevoix Township; Grant J. Snellen, Boyne City.

Clerk:
Republican—Richard Lewis, Wilson; W. Alvah Davoll, Boyne Falls.

Democratic—George Finnan, Charlevoix.

Socialist—Albert Holmes, Charlevoix.

Treasurer:
Republican—Daniel S. Payton, Eveline; Clarence C. Schaub, Boyne City; Roy L. Lorraine, East Jordan.

Democratic—John Burns, Charlevoix.

Socialist—Oliver T. Johnson, Boyne City.

Register of Deeds:
Republican—Romeo A. Emery, Charlevoix; William W. Boyle, St. James.

Democratic—Byron J. Quick, Boyne City.

Socialist—David H. Francis, Boyne City.

Prosecuting Attorney:
Republican—Dwight H. Fitch, East Jordan; Rollie L. Lewis, Charlevoix.

Surveyor:
Republican—Ernest A. Robinson, Boyne Valley.

Socialist—David C. Nettleton, Charlevoix.

Drain Commissioner:
Republican—William L. Cowan, Charlevoix.

Socialist—Joseph Howey, Boyne City.

Coroners:
Republican—Allen M. Wilkinson, Charlevoix.

All are good men and deserve the full support of their respective parties. Before the campaign closes The Courier hopes to be able to present the claims of all so that every voter may know why their votes are asked for. In the meantime the candidates are all hustling for votes and Charlevoix county is in for one of the prettiest political races ever pulled off in the county.

It is freely predicted that the race for several of the positions on the Republican ticket will be hotly contested.

For all places, men who have had previous experience are in the race and the new men are all busy seeking to convince the electors that it would be good policy to make a change.

DESERVES REELECTION

Senator Frank D. Scott Made a Good Record in Last Legislative Session.

The latter part of the week the friends of Senator Frank D. Scott were pleased to again see him on the streets. The senator looks a little peaked, after his recent illness, but assures us he is in prime condition and is still able to wage a good campaign in behalf of the Republican party.

During the regular and special sessions of the legislature Scott was always found on the right side as is evidenced by the fact that he has no opposition for re-nomination. As not over a half dozen of the old senators are candidates for re-nomination, Senator Scott will be in a position where he can render still greater service to his district the coming season, which will be one of the most important, in several particulars, than any held in years, and he deserves, and we believe will receive, as good a majority in this county, as he received two years ago when he was way up toward the top of the list.

COMPLETE AUG- UST PROGRAM

Arranged for the Meetings of the Charlevoix Men's Bible Class.

Hon. H. R. Pattengill, Prof. Masselink, Gov. Harmon and Dr. Windell the Speakers.

Interest in the Men's Bible class still continues to increase, a large number being in attendance each Sunday, at the meetings, which are held at the Carnegie library at noon.

The committee in charge of securing speakers have been very fortunate and are able to announce a program for the entire month of August. Sunday, August 1, Hon. Henry R. Pattengill of Lansing will speak. Mr. Pattengill needs no introduction to a Michigan audience, as there are few localities where he has not spoken, and a fare treat is promised the class next Sunday.

The Sunday following, August 11, Professor G. A. Masselink of the Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, will speak. Mr. Masselink spoke before the class last winter and all who were present pronounced it the best address ever delivered before the class.

August 13 Governor Harmon of Ohio has promised to be present. Governor Harmon is a national figure and the opportunity to hear him speak is one that every man in Charlevoix should take advantage of.

The last Sunday of the month, the Aug. 25, Dr. George Winchell of Iowa will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Sexual Hygiene." This is one of the most important subjects now before the people, and as Dr. Winchell is one of the foremost authorities on the subject, every man in the city should endeavor to be present.

Music has been arranged for all the meetings, by Mrs. Goetz, Mrs. Lawson and the Wilkinson brothers. The meetings take place at the noon hour, which is convenient for everybody, and we sincerely hope that the work of the committee in arranging such a splendid program will be rewarded by a large attendance.

Entertained Her Class.

Mrs. Richard Lewis entertained her Sunday school class at a lawn party at her home on Clinton street Thursday afternoon. About thirty-five children were present enjoying games, blowing soap bubbles, etc. Very dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. Lewis was assisted by Mrs. Herbert Hulme and Miss Fannie Simonow. Mrs. Lewis treats her class annually to a picnic and the children look forward to it each year.

Notice I. O. F. Members.

All August dues must be paid before the first of month by order of Supreme Secretary. I will be at Central Drug Store Friday and Saturday, July 20-27 to receive dues. Please be prompt.

30124 H. W. Kirby, Fin. Sec.

CHARLEVOIX SUMMER HOTELS HAVE NO COMPLAINT COMING

While Other Northern Michigan Summer Resorts Complain Over Small Patronage—Season Has Been Very Backward—Many New Cottages Are in Course of Erection and Building—Lots Are Being Sold Rapidly

While the cry is going up from other Michigan summer resorts that the season is bad and nothing much is doing, Charlevoix continues to welcome the large crowds who are coming on every boat and special train. Probably we haven't so large a summer population at this time as we had last year, but every hotel is well filled up and all indications point to a record breaking crowd next month.

This has been one of the most backward seasons in the history of our country, the weather having been cold and disagreeable during the entire summer with the exception of now and then a day, and when the people continue to come here in spite of these drawbacks, the growing popularity of Charlevoix as a summering place is firmly established.

Not only has the natural beauty and splendid opportunity for boating, which no other Northern Michigan resort has, been the magnet that has drawn our visitors here notwithstanding the weather, but several new cottages have been erected and property, for resort purposes, has advanced remarkably in value. New resorts have been opened up and sales are being made all the time. Dr. Croner has sold a large number of lots on his addition upon which cottages are now in the course of erection and all will be built up in a short time. In addition, several new bungalows have been built on the new Pine Point resort and the city has been hampered by the lack of labor all summer.

LIST OF JURORS

Drawn for the Next Term of Court Which Convenes August 19.

The following is a list of jurors drawn for the next term of circuit court which convenes Monday, August 19.

Fred Mitchell, Boyne City, 1st ward
John Goodman, 2d ward
John H. Lewis, 3d ward
Eber Ward, 4th ward
Richard Ryan, Chx., 1st ward
Silas Alcox, 2d ward
Adam Pfister, 3d ward
Cleveland Isaman, E. J., 1st ward
Josiah St. John, 2d ward
Freeman Walton, 3d ward

H. V. C. How, Boyne Valley
William Redfield, Chandler
Ele E. Phillips, Boyne City
James Barber, Charlevoix Twp.
Luther Griffin, Evandine
Wm. J. Meggison, Evandine
Allen E. Bowman, Hayes
H. A. Webster, Hudson
Ben Nowland, Marion
Howard E. Bradwell, Melrose
Henry Hilton, Norwood
Joseph A. O'Donnell, Peaine
Urie Winnie, St. James
Joseph Whitfield, South Arm
Daniel S. Payton, County Clerk

COUNTRY LIFE CONFERENCE

Will Be Held at Bay View Three Days,
August 10-11-12.

Rich Program Has Been Arranged—Open House
Will Be Kept.

"The best thing Bay View ever did was to start this Country Life Conference," declares a progressive Illinois farmer who is spending his summer here. It is the fourth in a series of great conferences that have been drawing audiences running into hundreds. The dates, August 10, 11 and 12, were chosen so as to come when the strenuous work on the farm will be nearly over and the farmer and his "best girl" and all the children can afford to take a well earned vacation just like other people. Bay View will keep open house on these days and receive Northern Michigan farmers with a liberal hand. Those within driving distance will have their teams cared for in a safe place and those who desire to join in a picnic will find special conveniences, while those who desire to stay through will be helped in finding rooms and table board at a dollar and a quarter a day. It may not be a common practice for our farmer readers to take such a vacation, but you owe yourself such a treat, and by all means go!

Here is the program:

Saturday, August 10.
10 a. m.—Welcome, J. M. Hall, Pres. of the Assembly, followed by Mr. C. M. Freeman, Secretary of the Ohio State Grange, in an address on "The Farmer's Position."

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Hon. Robert W. Paddock of Charlevoix Seeks Republican Nomination at Primaries.

Hon. Robert W. Paddock has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state representative to succeed Hon. W. J. Pearson, who has announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. If Mr. Pearson had wished a third term he would have had no opposition, but with Pearson out of the race several good men got into the game.

Mr. Paddock has already had experience in the legislature, having represented this county during the session of 1903-4, when he did good service. He made a specially hard fight for the primary laws, which are now conceded to be the only true way of giving the people the choice of their officials. He is aggressive and the people always know where to find him on any public question. If nominated, and elected, he will be in a position to serve his people with even more credit to himself and benefit to the public than accrued during his first term.

CHANGE MADE IN MANAGER

Assistant Manager Allan Campbell Now in Charge of Telephone Exchange.

Manager Berry Goes to Port Huron—Many Improvements Being Made.

Manager Berry of the Michigan State-Telephone company has been appointed manager at Port Huron and Assistant Manager Allan Campbell has been appointed manager of the Charlevoix office.

While it is with a feeling of regret that we part with Mr. Berry, who has made a host of friends during the short time he has been connected with the business life of our city, an appointment could not have been made which will be more pleasing to telephone patrons than that of Mr. Campbell.

Mr. Campbell has grown up in the service, having been connected with the local office for the past eight years, with the exception of the last three months under Dr. Croner, which means he is thoroughly fitted for the position of manager. He is a graduate of our schools and has spent his life in our city.

Mr. Campbell practically took charge Tuesday morning and will assume full charge August 1. $1,275 will be spent at once in office equipment, three new switchboards put in, the old ones remodeled and everything put in first-class shape.

COURIER IN ERROR

Hayes Township Boy Was Not Trying to Catch Ride on Automobile.

In our account last week of the injury received by the son of John Struthers of Hayes we stated he was attempting to catch a ride. We have since been informed that we were in error and he was walking along the road talking with the occupants of one of the machines when, in attempting to get out of the way of the rear machine, his foot slipped and he was run over, bruising him up quite badly.

Charlevoix Lady Wins.

The Portland Oregon Evening Telegram of July 21 contains an account of the picnic of the Michigan Society of Oregon, which was held July 21. Over two thousand Michigan people were in attendance, and among them several from Charlevoix.

Mrs. Daisy Hammond, formerly of this city, upheld the honor of Charlevoix in athletic contests by taking second prizes in the ladies' race.

500 pairs of Ladies' and Gents' Queen Quality, Walkover and Dangle $3.50 and $1.00 Oxfords will be sold for $2.00 per pair at Itedford's Shoe Store. 311f

Are you going to see "Sunbonnet Sue" at the Charlevoix Theatre Monday night. 311f

HUNDREDS OF PETITIONS FILED

With the Secretary of State the Latter Part of the Week.

FOR PLACES ON STATE TICKET

Musselman and Martindale Only Republican Candidates for Governor.

William Alden Smith and Patrick H. Kelly Without Opposition—Three Out for Congress.

Hundreds of petitions were filed in the office of the Secretary of State, the latter part of last week, for positions on the state ticket, and it will be the latter part of the week before the checking up will be completed so the official list can be given out.

It is known however that Senator William Alden Smith will have no opposition for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. The same is true of Patrick H. Kelly for congressman-at-large, and John Q. Ross for lieutenant-governor. Amos S. Musselman of Grand Rapids and Frederic C. Martindale will oppose each other for the Republican nomination for governor. Hon. Francis H. Dods will be opposed for the congressional nomination by Dennis E. Alward of Clare and Francis O. Lindquist of Greenville. Senator Scott has no opposition for state senator.

On the Democratic side George P. Hammer, an old time fifth district politician, and William H. McKnight of Grand Rapids will go after the nomination for United States senator. Edward Frensdorff, a well known Hudson business man will be their candidate against Kelly. W. N. Ferris of Big Rapids and J. W. Helme of Adrian will ask the democratic support for governor and lieutenant-governor. Archie McCall of Ithaca will probably be their candidate for congressman.

Theodore M. Joslin, a politician from Adrian who has been determined to keep himself in the public eye, will head the National Progressive party ticket for United States senator. Julius B. Kirby of Saginaw is the Progressive choice for congressman-at-large. L. Whitney Watkins of Manchester and W. D. Gordon of Midland are the new party's candidates for governor and lieutenant-governor. John W. Patchin of Traverse City will lead the new party in an effort to capture Mr. Dods's seat.

PINE POINT AUCTION

Second Big Sale of Lots the Last Three Days of Next Week.

Don't forget the date of the next big auction of lots at Pine Point Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. Lots are being sold fast and probably this will be the last opportunity to secure a lot at a low price.

Since the auction held in July a large number of improvements have been made on the grounds and it will be worth your time to go out and see what has been accomplished, even if you don't want to buy. Free transportation will be furnished all who wish to attend and, from present indications, a big crowd will be on hand. Go and have a good time with the rest of the crowd. See further particulars in the big advertisement on page six.

Tag Day Saturday.

Next Saturday the Michigan Children's Home Society will observe tag day in this city for the benefit of crippled children of Michigan. The proceeds will go toward the support of the Michigan Children's home at St. Joseph.

The headquarters will be at Mrs. Carr's millinery store. Mrs. O. E. Wilbur is president of the local organization and Mrs. Wilbur Cline secretary.

500 pair of Ladies' and Gents' Queen Quality, Walkover and Dangle $3.50 and $1.00 Oxfords will be sold for $2.00 per pair at Itedford's Shoe Store. 311f

AUCTION PINE POINT

AUGUST 8, 9 & 10

3 O'CLOCK P. M. THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

PINE POINT is the land formerly occupied by Boy City. Its location is the best. Lots are elevated and covered with heavy woodland. It is as near to the Pere Marquette depot as much of the built up portions of Charlevoix. One third of the lots have already been sold. The owners of lots have already advanced the price to twice what they paid for them. An investment in Pine Point is the safest thing you can buy. It is the only chance to get close in property at a reasonable price.

20% CASH - Monthly Payments - TITLE PERFECT

Buy Before the Auction

Buy at private sale before the auction. A lot sold at $250.00 at private sale the day before the last auction. The following day at the auction the lot next to it sold at $325.00. A man who paid $50.00 for a lot saw the one next to it go at the auction for $125.00. Phone the auctioneer at the Elston Hotel and arrange to be taken out Free by launch or auto to see Pine Point. Or watch for the company's private launch YUMA at the foot of Clinton street, which makes frequent trips to Pine Point.

Free Handsome Silver Souvenirs Given Each Day of the Auction

Transportation to the Auction

On the days of the sale, August 8, 9 and 10, the boats will begin making trips to Pine Point at 1 p. m. at the foot of Clinton street. The automobiles will take passengers at corner of Clinton and Bridge street.

Pine Point is the Best Summer Resort Property Ever Offered for Sale

GEORGE FRYHOFFER, Auctioneer

926 First National Bank Building, Chicago

Office, Elston Hotel, Charlevoix, Mich.

NORTH CHARLEVOIX CO.

J. L. CRANE, President Lisle SHANAHAN, Secretary R. C. HAMMETT, Treasurer

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

Continued from page three

and have her prepare something not as quickly as possible.

"Edith," he cried, "just a word. I have been thinking. It isn't too late yet. Take your ring and put it on. I will go find Phil at once and tell him you have, that you are expecting him, and he will come."

"Think what he said," she cried. "He accepted my decision as final in the presence of witnesses as if it were court. He can return to me if I ever wear it again."

"You think that now, but in a few days you will find that you feel very differently. Living a life of heartache is no joke and no job for a woman. Put on your ring and send me to tell him to come. I know Phil, and I know you went too far. Put on that ring and send him word you are sorry before it is too late."

"I will not! He shall come to me."

"Then God help you!" said Henderson. "For you are plunging into misery whose depth you cannot dream."

She swayed where she stood. Her maid opened the door and caught her. Henderson went down the hall and out to his car.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Wherein Edith Carr Experiences Regrets and Philip Returns to the Limberlost.

PHILIP AMMON walked from among his friends a humiliated and a wounded man. Dawn was near when he reached home, but the first floor was lighted. He staggered up the steps and was instantly admitted. The library door stood open, while his father sat with a book preoccupied to read. At Philip's entrance the father scarcely glanced up.

"Come out!" he called. "I have just told Books to bring me a cup of coffee before I turn in. Have one with me."

"Father," said Philip, "may I talk with you a little while?"

"Of course," answered Mr. Ammon. "I am not at all tired. I think I must have been waiting in the hope that you would come. I want no one's version of this but yours. Tell me the straight of the thing, Phil."

Philip told all he knew, while his father sat in deep thought. "The friend for whom you wanted the moth is a girl?" he asked.

"The girl of whom I wrote you last summer and told you about in the fall I helped her all the time I was away."

"Did Edith know of her?"

"I tried many times to tell her, to interest her, but she was so indifferent that it was insulting. She would not hear me."

"Who is this girl, just what is she doing and what is she like?"

"Philip gave a man's version of the previous summer."

"You are very sure as to her redemptive and education?" he asked.

"In almost two months' daily association could a man be mistaken? She can far and away beat Polly. Edith in any girl of our set on any common, high school or supplementary branch. She has the biggest, tenderest, most untamed heart I ever knew in a girl."

The book leaves slid rapidly through his fingers as the father drew out. "What sort of looking girl is she?"

"Tall as Edith, a little heavier, plump, even complexion, wide open blue gray eyes with heavy black brows and nose as long they touch her cheeks. She has a rope of yellow, shining hair that makes a real crown on her head, and it appears almost red in the light. She is as handsome as any fair woman I ever saw, but she doesn't know it."

"And you were so daily associator two months with a girl like that? How about it, Phil?"

"If you mean did I trifle with her," cried Philip hotly. "I told her the second time I met her all about Edith. I never met any girl so downright unable to hear and act on. I never hated anything as I hated leaving her for we were dear friends, like two wholly congenial men."

"Yet you left such a girl and came back whole-hearted to Edith Carr?"

"Surely! You know how it has been with me about Edith all my life. I am not a man to be trifled with. I am a man who when thinking what a man would require to be happy. I only thought whether I could make Edith happy. I have been an idiot. What I've done you'll never know. Tonight is only one of many failures like that, in varying and lesser degrees."

"Phil, I love you, even you say you have thought only of Edith. I happen to know that it is true. In some ways tonight would be a blessed release if you could take it; but you cannot. Go to bed now and get some rest. Tomorrow go back to her and fix it up."

"You heard what I said when I left her. I said it because something in my heart died a minute before that and I realized that it was my love for Edith Carr. She is true that I have thought only of her up to the present. Now, I will admit I am thinking about myself. Father, did you see her? Life is too short, and it can be too sweet to throw away in a battle with an untrusting woman. I am no fighter. Could you spare me a few days? I wonder if I could not hide at Uncle Ed's in Wisconsin for awhile."

"Phil, are you sure of what you just have said?"

"I accept your decision in the presence of these witnesses."

"Death cannot return to life, father. My love for Edith Carr is dead. I hope never to see her again. Let us not speak of it further."

"Then, Phil," the father leaned close and looked at the son tenderly. "Phil, why don't you go to the Limberlost?"

"Father?"

"Why not? No one can comfort a hurt heart like a tender woman; and Phil, have you ever stopped to think that you may have a duty in the Limberlost if you are free? She might urge to see you. You can soon tell."

A long time Philip Ammon sat in deep thought. At last he raised his head.

"Well, why not?" he said. "I could make me no surer than I am now, and life is short. Please ask Books to let me some coffee and toast and I will bathe and dress so I can take the early train."

"Go to your bath. I will attend to your packing and everything. And Phil, if I were you I would leave no addresses."

"Not an address?" said Ammon.

"Not even for Polly."

When the train pulled out the elder Ammon went home to find that Henderson was waiting.

"Where is Phil?" he demanded.

"He did not feel like facing his friends at present, and I am just back from driving him to the station. He said he might go to Siam or Patagonia. He would leave no address."

Henderson almost staggered. "He's not gone—and left no address?—You don't mean it! He'll never forgive her!"

"Never is a long time, Hart," said Mr. Ammon. "And it seems even longer to those of us who are well acquainted with Phil. Last night was not the last straw. It was the whole straw stack. It crushed Phil so far as she is concerned."

Twice Henderson opened his lips to speak of Edith Carr's despair. Twice he looked into the stern, inflexible face of Mr. Ammon and could not betray her. He held out the ring.

"I have no instructions as to that," said the elder Ammon, drawing back. "Possibly Miss Carr would have it as a keepsake."

"I am sure not," said Henderson curtly.

"Then suppose you return it to her."

(Continued next week.)

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

To the Republican Voters of Charlevoix County

Hon. William L. Pearson having given notice that he will not be a candidate for a third term as Representative in the State Legislature, I have decided to announce myself as a candidate as his successor. If the people of Charlevoix county feel that I served them faithfully during my first term—during the session of 1904, I shall endeavor in the future, as I have in the past, to serve as a true representative of the people under any and all circumstances. Very respectfully, 31-1-adv. Robert W. Paddock.

Notice to Republican Electors

As a representative in the legislature is to be elected in this county, I have decided to be a candidate for the position, subject to the approval of the Republicans of Charlevoix county at the August primary. If nominated and elected I will serve the county in that office to the best of my ability, and will appreciate the support of all Charlevoix county Republicans.
31-1-adv. Herman L. McMillan.

Notice

I take this method of announcing that I will be a candidate for Republican nomination for representative in the State Legislature at the primary election to be held August 27, 30-1-adv. William Mears.

To the Democratic Voters

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of State Representative from the Charlevoix district on the Democratic ticket, at the primary election, August 27, 30-1-adv. William J. Lewis.

Announcement

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Prosecuting Attorney, at the primary August 27, 1912, 27-1-adv. Rollie L. Lewis.

Announcement

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912, 27-1-adv. Clarence C. Schaaf.

Notice to Electors

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket at the primary election August 27. Trusting that my conduct of the office has been such as to secure your approval, your support will be appreciated.
27-1-adv. Ford P. Robbins.

Announcement

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Clerk on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 26-1-adv. W. Alvah Davoll.

To the Democratic Voters

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Register of Deeds on the Democratic ticket, subject to the primary election, August 27, 30-1-adv. Byron J. Quick.

To the Electors

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primary, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.
31-1-adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

Notice to Electors

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.
31-1-adv. ROBERT A. ENKEY.

Announcement

The undersigned will be a candidate at the August primary for nomination to the office of Judge of Probate on the Republican ticket. If you believe that I would—if nominated and elected—faithfully and efficiently discharge the duties of that office, I will be grateful for your support.
28-1-adv. ELSTON N. CLINE.

Notice to the Republican Electors of Charlevoix County

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for judge of probate of this county at the primary election appointed to be held on the last Tuesday in August, this year.

I am now serving my third term in this office. I like the work and the compensation that goes with it, therefore I am a candidate; and if a majority of the electors express themselves that I am their choice for another term, I will administer the office for another term to the best of my ability.
July 1, 1912. John M. Harris. 27-1-adv.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell
WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right Advertising that brings Results

A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland

PHONE 297

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge society and entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Ordinary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 2 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

REPORT ON WELLS

In Rural Sections Valuable Information Being Distributed Free.

The rural sections, long considered ideal so far as concerns the health of their inhabitants, have been dealt a blow by physician investigators who maintain that two-thirds of the cases of typhoid fever in the city owe their origin to in-

COMING TO PETOSKEY

United Doctors, Specialists
Will be at the

Cushman House, Thursday, August 1
ONE DAY ONLY Doors 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Remarkable Success of These Talented Physicians in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases

Offer Their Services FREE of Charge

The United Doctors, licensed by the state of Michigan for the treatment of deformities and all nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice free, making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of medicine. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys or bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed wetting, leg ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long standing, deep seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the local physician, should not fail to call.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, hernia, cancer or certain forms of cancer. They were among the first in America to earn the name of the "Bloodless Surgeons" by doing away with knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases.

If you have kidney or bladder troubles bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for chemical analysis and microscopic examination.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve or stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit this time
may help you.

Remember, this free offer is for
one day only.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

3012
(Copyright 1912 by The Goodman Co.)

Robert O'Neill

FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF

Sweet Peas

Telephone-Orders to No.
283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

sanitary conditions in the country and to polluted water supplies.

Farms, which are generally remote from towns, city, or other areas of congested population, would seem to be almost ideally situated for obtaining pure and wholesome water, but in reality polluted water is exceedingly common on them and typhoid fever rates are usually greater in country districts than in cities. Typhoid fever is now almost universally believed to be transmitted through drink or food taken into the stomach, and is especially liable to be communicated by polluted waters obtained from shallow wells near spots where the discharges of typhoid patients have been thrown upon the ground and subsequently carried down through the soil and to the wells, and it is doubtless principally this fact that accounts for the disease being so common in farming regions.

On a great many farms the well is located at a point that may be convenient to the dwelling, without any regard for the possibility of the pollution of the well water through seepage from barn or cesspool or through the circulation of water underground. Information relating to the underground movement of water is particularly valuable, and on this account the United States Geological Survey is distributing a report on the subject—Water-Supply Paper 255—"Underground Waters for Farm Use," by Myron L. Fuller. The demand for this publication has necessitated a third reprint. A copy of the report may be obtained by addressing the Director of the Survey, Washington, D. C.

HIGH COST OF LIVING REDUCED

FRANCIS O. LINQUIST WOULD APPLY BUSINESS METHODS TO OFFICE OF CONGRESSMAN.

WAS ONCE A WAGE EARNER
Has Been Battling for Five Years on Reduction of Cost of Living.

Francis O. Linquist, the Pure Garment and Leather Man, of national fame, is the logical progressive candidate for congress, to be voted for at the Republican primaries on August 17, to represent the people's interest.

It would be difficult to find a man who is better qualified to represent the people in passing laws for the benefit of the wage earner and farmer, and in all probability, Mr. Linquist's postman of the condition of the household people, and any other interests in our state.

His business energies have always been confined to that of reducing the cost to the consumer on the common necessities of life. He has voted his time at a great expense, in order that the burden of the people might be lessened by the adoption of proper government laws. He is never had political experience, never has he ever been connected in any way, shape or manner with any political machine organization, refused absolutely to enter this race, any other way than by defraying his own expenses, in order that he may carry on the fight single handed, at thus, if elected, act according to his own judgment.

Mr. Linquist has taken a strong opposition to the political machine, he advocates voting on postmaster direct, as a method of eliminating the congressman who are member of political organizations, from using the machine postmasters for the purpose of keeping the power in political organizations out of the hands of the people. This fight for the people's rights will undoubtedly attract national attention, for it is the first time in the history of our country where a man has made a single handed fight for congress, defraying his own expenses and conducting his campaign entirely by mail.

Mr. Linquist claims that some of the newspapers have been bought by the political machines and that the people are unable to read the truth in any other manner except by the adoption of the United States mail. The laboring people and the farmers throughout this district are wrought up by the manner in which the corporations and machine politicians have fought Mr. Linquist in this campaign, and in many cases farmers have left their work for the sole purpose of campaigning and bringing the truth of Mr. Linquist's platform to the ears of their neighbors.

"Santonnet Sue," pronounced by all dramatic critics to be the one best comedy drama of recent years, will pay a visit to the Charlevoix Theatre on Monday night, and there can be no doubt that it will be greeted by the large crowd it deserves.

Additional Local

(Continued from page 3.)

D. C. Nettleton is now surveying on Holy Island.

Mrs. Phil Beaudou is improving after a short illness.

Will Schuller, of Petoskey, visited friends in the city Sunday.

Hon. H. R. Pattengill, and wife, of Lansing were in the city Friday.

Mrs. Alice Smell of Grand Rapids, visited Mrs. Ella Tillotson Sunday.

George W. Kent of the Boyne
City Journal was in the city Monday.

Albert Bogren visited friends at Petoskey and Wexford, Sunday.

Miss Marion Saunders has returned from a short visit at Wolverine,
Michigan.

Douglas Nettleton is playing in the Grand Hotel orchestra at Muskegon Island.

George Taylor who has been ill for several months is reported as rapidly failing.

Another free open air concert will be given on the Beach hotel porch
Sunday evening.

E. A. Rucsegger and family were in the city Monday, having motored from Boyne City.

Mrs. A. J. Shockley was called to Aikins, Michigan, Monday by the death of an aunt.

Miss Genevieve Contin, of Chicago, is visiting at the home of Capt. and Mrs. O. E. Willott.

Miss Mabel Week who taught at Chelsea the past year is making a visit with her parents.

Mrs. Chris Bailey is making a visit at Kalamazoo, called by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Yost.

The Catholic ladies will give a social Tuesday, August 6, at the Catholic School House.

AMBERGRIS.

The Part It Plays in the Production of Costly Perfumes.

Ambergris is supposed to be a morbid secretion of the liver of the sperm whale, which floats on the surface of the sea.
It is a little lighter than water and might easily be taken for a piece of the bark of a tree. On examination, however, it is found to be of a waxy nature, streaked with gray, yellow and black and emitting a peculiar aromatic odor. It fuses at 110 to 150 degrees F. and at a higher temperature gives out a white smoke, which condenses into a crystalline fatty matter.

It is found in all sizes, from a pound up to twenty or thirty, but occasionally pieces weighing 100 or 200 pounds are found in whales.

Ambergris has been known from an early period, some pharmacopoeias prescribing it for fevers and nervous complaints. It is sometimes mingled with the incense burned in churches and is also put in certain kinds of wine to improve the "flavor."

But the great use of ambergris is in the manufacture of perfumery, not that its fragrance is with a very powerful or pleasing, but it possesses the peculiar property of causing other ingredients to throw out their odors making them more life and attractive.

In this respect it bears a resemblance to those of mediums in dyeing, without which the colors would fail to become permanent; hence all the best perfumes contain ambergris, and it is one of the most valuable of their ingredients, for perfume, smells only of alcohol.—Exchange.

The Bloodhound.

The bloodhound is sometimes called the "dog of the dead," and it is the largest variety which hunts the scent. The male weighs from 85 to 110 pounds, and the female from 75 to 100 pounds.
They vary in height from twenty-three to twenty-seven inches measured at the shoulder. The color of these dogs is black and tan, brown or liver colored and sometimes tan flecked with white or larger colored hairs. It is a popular impression that the bloodhound is ferocious and savage. He probably owes this reputation to his having been used to hunt men. A pure bloodhound when he has caught the man does not worry him to death, but presses up to him to be touched on the arm that is, stands and barks. This is the statement of an authority on the bloodhound.—New York Sun.

Progressive Courtship.

"No, Annabel Grace, I cannot marry
you. My rich bachelor uncle declares he will cut me off with a nickel if I wed without his approval." And the young man with the weak chin sighed forlornly.
"Very well," replied the determined girl; "I will go to your uncle. What is his address?"
"Don't go, Annabel!" cried the youth.
"It would only prejudice him still more against me."
"You mistake my meaning, Clarence Promis," said the girl. "If I can't marry you I will marry your uncle."
—Buffalo Express.

Why Certainly.

May—Girls, what do the papers mean when they talk about the seat of war?
Edna—I don't know, any more than I do what a standing army is for. Tell —How ignorant you are, dear! The seat of war is the standing army to sit on when it gets a little hot. Tell
—

LADIES' DRESSES

$5 and $6 Dresses

Either white or colored, on display, for a short time at

$ 3.95

M. A. LEVINSON & CO.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent,
Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head,
1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad-less than 15c first insertion.

COW FOR SALE—Inquire of H. Bedford.

FOR SALE—Choice young pigs, J. B.

Girls wanted at Fountain City House.

FOR SALE—Red raspberries for canning.

FOR SALE—Cow, six years old, weight 1000.

FOR SALE—Some good second hand furniture, cheap. Inquire at C. A. L.

FOR SALE—Modern room house, electric light and bath, 20 West Upright Ave.

FOR SALE—Five horses, three years old,
well broke single and double.

LOST—A bunch of keys, for auto with a Prest-O-Lite key, with P. A. L. on it.

FOR RENT—Monday morning, near the El-ston, a good bracket. Inquire call at Courier office, above property, and pay charges.

FOR RENT—Sundries, under northeast of Charlevoix, in area cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D.

W. Mahoney, P. O. box 441, 303 Ed.

Teachers' Examination.

The regular examination for April will be held in the high school building in the city of Charlevoix,
on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 2, 3 and 4, beginning at 8:30
standard time.

One half the questions in reading
will be based on Hudson's Introduction to the History of Literature.
Certificates for all grades will be issued from this examination.

Paper will be furnished for applicants.

Applicants who expect to have their papers forwarded to other commissioners will write with pen.
Others may use pen or pencil.

31-2 J. H. Millard, Commissioner.

The Majestic announces for tonight and tomorrow night, "The Millions" in a comedy, dramatic act. Friday and Saturday nights the offering will be "The Musical Companions" in comedy, music and dramatic acts. The best in moving pictures will also be shown.

For Sale.

Two driving mares, three and four years old, broke, two cows, one thoroughbred Durac, boar, one Jersey bull four years old.

30 pl 1-2 Coulter Bros.

Teaching Him a Lesson.

Mrs. Poorly—The grocer called here today with a bill nearly a year old. He was very impudent about it. Mr.
Poorly—Impudent, was he? I'll teach him a lesson. I'll make him wait awhile for his money.—Exchange

For Sale.

At private sale, some bedroom and dining-room furniture, during the next ten days, corner Dixon Avenue and Nettleton Street.

303-11 Mrs. J. B. Thorton

To Advertise

Robeson
Sure Edge Cutlery

Cleaver - 30c
General House Knife 25c
Paring Knife - 10c
Worth 65c

Special, per set, at 35c

Fully Warranted

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Special Sale on Muslin Underwear

We are going to have a Special Sale on Muslin Underwear commencing

Friday, August 2d, and Ending on Saturday, August 10

All reg. 25c Cor- set Covers.....	19c	All reg. $1.75 Skirts.....	$1.29
All reg. 50c Cor- set Covers.....	39c	All reg. $1.00 Pria- cess Slips.....	79c
All regular 50c Gowns.....	38c	All $1.50 Pria- cess Slips.....	$1.15
All regular $1.00 Gowns.....	79c	All $1.00 Combina- tion Suits.....	79c
All reg. $1.50 Gowns.....	$1.15	All regular 25c Drawers.....	19c
All reg. $1.50 Skirts.....	$1.15	All regular 50c Drawers.....	39c

Bergeon's
Dry Goods Store

HOLY ISLAND

The island in South Arm of beautiful Pine Lake made famous by King Strang and the Mormons over one-half century ago is now being platted into 50 big beautiful lots for resort purposes. Only 25 of these will be put on the market at the present time. Every lot is heavily wooded with several kinds of timber including pine, birch, maple, oak, hench, balsam, cedar, ash, elm, etc. Every lot has a wide water frontage and extends back to the new boulevard which runs through the center of the island from end to end. The new dock is completed and the steamer Hum takes passengers to and from the island 3 times a day.

I believe the natural beauty, the exclusiveness, and the accessibility of these island lots and the high-class improvements now assured will make these lots worth more than $1000 within three years. That is why I am reserving so many. At present the price is $300, subject to raise without notice. Terms 20 per cent cash, balance to suit purchaser.

C. I. B. McLEAN

319 Bridge Street, Charlevoix

IN CHARLEVOIX OFFICE
Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday

IN BOYNE CITY OFFICE
Monday, Thursday, Friday

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A. Dryer returned Saturday from Cincinnati.

Mrs. Joe Beaudoin has been quite ill the past week.

Chas. Jones, of Kalamazoo, spent Sunday in the city.

Miss Kathryn Lapeer visited relatives at Boyne City Sunday.

A. E. Blaine has returned after a week's visit at Traverse City.

G. B. Marsac of Phelps was in the city the latter part of the week.

J. W. Cadden and daughter of Clarion was in the city Monday.

I. Nurks and family of Boyne City visited friends here Sunday.

Miss Gladys Cennedy of Cadillac was a Charlevoix visitor Thursday.

Hon. Phillip B. Watchel of Petoskey was a business caller here Monday.

Mrs. E. L. Berry is making a few week's visit with friends at Ludington.

Mrs. Richard Shapton and family spent Sunday with relatives in Norwood.

Hon. Wm. Neers, of Boyne Falls, was in the city the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Herrington visited friends at Kalkaska last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Powers spent Sunday with their son Joe at St. Ignace.

W. C. Arnold underwent an operation at the Petoskey hospital, Saturday.

Miss Lila Bradley of Harbor Springs, visited relatives in the city Sunday.

John Cheney of the S. H. & A. Co. Traverse City, was a business caller Monday.

Mr. Nurko and family of Central Lake spent Sunday with friends in the city.

Frank Webster of Toledo, Ohio, was the guest of his brother Amos and wife.

Mrs. E. E. Pugh took treatments at the Saville Sanitarium, Petoskey, last week.

Mrs. J. B. Thiglen, of Asheville, N. C. is making a visit with friends in the city.

Ed Seaman of the Mineral Water company was a caller at Boyne City Friday.

S. A. Correll of Melrose township, was a business caller the latter part of the week.

Miss Ethel Kimball of Bay City, visited friends here the latter part of the week.

Miss Alma Kennedy visited Charlevoix friends Tuesday on her way to Boyne City.

Mrs. Morrison of Grand Rapids, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Daulton Sunday.

Andrew B. Dougherty of Elk Rapids was a business caller the latter part of the week.

Max Weiss, wife and children, of Harbor Springs spent Sunday with friends in the city.

Mrs. John P. M. Doney and family of Chicago, are visiting friends and relatives in the city.

Mrs. Wright Ripley took treatments at the Saville Sanitarium, Petoskey, last week.

Erred Bergman, wife and baby have returned from an extended visit at East Jordan.

Mrs. Wm. Finnean went to Mackinac Island Saturday, returning on the Macon Sunday.

"Doc" Provest has returned from Ottawa, Ohio, to make a two week's visit with his parents.

Mrs. F. C. Crasley of Lansing visited with Mr. and Mrs. Amos Webster the first of the week.

James McCrorey returned to Grand Rapids Monday, after a short visit with relatives in the city.

Mrs. Campbell of Lansing, visited at the home of Capt. and Mrs. E. E. Pugh the first of the week.

Emory Nymon is again at work in the Booth Fisheries after his vacation trip through Colorado.

Marsten A. Johnston, of Lansing, visited a few days with Donald Campbell the first of the week.

Richard Robinson, of Petoskey, was a guest at the home of Mayor Nordrum and family Sunday.

Miss June Hahiax of St. Clements is the guest of friends in Charlevoix, East Jordan and Waukon Lake.

Miss Myra Weikel of Charlevoix is a guest at the Clifton Cottage until September. Fenton Courier.

Miss Anita Moore and Master Reuben Lay Moore, of Kalamazoo, are visiting relatives in the city.

County clerk Payton went to Beaver Island this morning to attend the farmers' institute.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Edlestein, and daughter of Boyne City spent Sunday with friends in the city.

Leon W. Miller is in the field for prosecuting attorney in Emmet county on the Democratic ticket.

County Surveyor Robinson of Boyne Falls was in the city the latter part of the week on business.

Mrs. Will Scroggie, Jr. and son Valdean have returned home from their extended visit at Cross Village.

Mrs. John Mitchell returned home Sunday from an extended visit in various Michigan and Ohio points.

Mrs. Curtis, and son Frederick, of Detroit, are visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Bert Carey.

Mrs. Charles Ralier and children returned home the latter part of the week from an extended visit at the Soo.

Mrs. Calla Cline, of Chicago, is making a month's visit at the home of her parents, Capt. and Mrs. O. E. Wilbur.

Miss Marion Walker returned to her home at St. Ignace, Saturday, after a few days visit with Miss Nita Mayne.

Willard Wixon of Ann Arbor, who is spending the summer at Petoskey, spent Monday in the city with friends.

Mr. Miller and family of Bay City took possession of the Tillotson cottage Monday, for the summer months.

Born to Earl Johnston and wife, formerly of this city, now living at Boyne City, Wednesday, July 24, a baby girl.

Frank Taylor, wife and baby, of Wisconsin, are visiting at the home of the former's parents, George Taylor and wife.

Mrs. C. T. Jones, and daughter, Mildred, of Boyne City, visited at the home of Thomas Milner and family Sunday.

Howard Francis left Sunday for Buenos Ayres, after a short visit in the city with his parents, W. H. Francis and wife.

Miss Marion Parsons returned home on the S. S. Macon, Tuesday, after making an extended visit with relatives in Chicago.

Arthur Wright, of Detroit, who is making a two week's visit at Petoskey, was the guest of R. A. Emrey and family Tuesday.

Miss Frances Silverstein, of Boyne City, made a short visit with Miss Ida Levinson last Wednesday, en route from East Jordan.

Mrs. W. H. Wallace visited her son Wallace at St. Ignace the first of the week. He is very much improved after his recent accident.

Leo Zimmermann left the first of the week for Detroit, after being employed for sometime at Alonzo Powers' plumbing shop.

William J. Lewis of Boyne City, candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative, was in the city the latter of the week.

A petition has been sent to the necessary officials asking that a flag station be established near the Saints' church in Marion.

Misses Maud Cross, Flora Porter, and Norma Buchanan of East Jordan, were in the city Tuesday en route to Mackinac Island.

The Misses Helen and Dorothy Armstrong returned home last week from their five week's visit at White Plains, N. Y., and Saginaw.

Mrs. John Nordrum returned last week to her home at Gloucester, Mass., after an extended visit with Mayor Nordrum and family.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the M. E. church will hold a baked goods sale Saturday afternoon and evening at Block's grocery store.

Professor L. R. Taft of the M. A. C. was in the city today on his way to the farmers' institute which will be held on Beaver Island tomorrow.

Misses Gertrude Menden and Caroline Hoover, of Couperville, who are spending the summer here visited friends in Boyne City Saturday.

Hon. Ira T. Sayre, of Flushing, Michigan, was in the city Saturday on business connected with the Charlevoix Rock Product company.

Wm. Keitzel and Miss Florence McCalmont of East Jordan were united in marriage at the Baptist parsonage Saturday, by Rev. Atchison.

The Woman's Relief Corps will soon hold a baked goods sale and fair, at which fancy work and all useful articles will be for sale. Notice later.

Nerritt Miller made one of the finest catches of brook trout reported this season Monday, securing about twenty-five many weighing a half pound.

W. E. Hampton leaves Saturday for Denver, Colorado, to attend the National convention of the K. of P.'s and the National meeting of the G. K. R. & S.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Schneider returned to their home at Cross Village, Monday, after a few days visit with the former's sister, Mrs. Will Scroggie, Jr.

The City of Boyne brought an excursion down here Tuesday night, given by the Catholic ladies. About 125 including the Boyne City band were on board.

The Gregory and Bentno Read Estate agency report the sale of the Edward Spence farm in Eveline township to Arthur Bradford of Attica, Michigan.

All persons interested in Equal Suffrage are asked to meet in the court room Sunday evening August 2, 7:30 p. m., to outline plans for the coming campaign.

Nob Paul, an Indian broke his leg at the Rock Product company's plant on the morning of July 25. He is doing nicely under the care of Dr. Wilkinson.

Miss Ione Catton, who has been teaching at Charlevoix the past year, was a visitor with Kalkaska relatives several days last week.—Kalkaska Leader.

A new 8 horse power, gasoline hoisting engine was installed in the C. S. L. S. S. last week for the purpose of hauling boats out of the water into the boat rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bruun of Chicago, who are spending the summer with relatives at Harbor Springs spent Sunday in the city as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Birdick.

Will Peterson of Berkeley, Cal., well known here, came over from Petoskey Sunday to call upon old friends. He is making a two week's visit with his parents at Petoskey.

R. E. Sloan sustained a painful injury Tuesday while out at the Rock Product Co. He jumped from a platform to the ground and in doing so broke all the bones in his foot.

Mrs. Wright Ripley was taken ill suddenly Tuesday morning and it was thought at first she would not recover, but she is very much improved today and is now out of danger.

Mrs. MacLaughlin and son attended a family reunion of the Rex family held at Elk Rapids last week. This is the first time in five years all the children have been at home together.

Cards have been received here by the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. Laycock of Denver, Colorado, announcing the birth of a daughter. Mrs. Laycock was formerly Mrs. Caddie Jarvis of this city.

Mrs. C. S. Dodge entertained about sixteen of her lady friends at a post-lunch supper last Wednesday. The supper was given for Mrs. L. W. Van Dusen of Lowell, Michigan, who is visiting in the city.

E. L. Berry left Tuesday for Port Huron where he will take charge of the Michigan State Telephone Co. He expects to return in about a week to move his household goods and settle up his business affairs.

President William Neers of Boyne Falls and Secretary John A. Newville of Boyne City of the Farmers' Institute society, were in the city last night on their way to Beaver Island where an institute will be held tomorrow.

The Misses May and Irene Gallagher of Beaver Island daughters of "Bowers Hill" were operated on for appendicitis at the Petoskey hospital last week. At this writing small hopes are held for the recovery of Miss May. Later, Mrs. Gallagher underwent a second operation and is doing nicely.

Wednesday evening August 7 Mrs. DuPaul of Detroit will give a health lecture at the Baptist church to which the ladies of Charlevoix and community are cordially invited. Mrs. DuPaul is a pleasing and interesting speaker and comes highly recommended. Come and enjoy a profitable evening with us. Remember the date.

Prof. W. W. Payne and wife of Elgin, Ill., spent Monday at Breezy Point with the Parnale's. Prof. Payne has charge of the Astronomical works at Elgin and is one of the leading astronomers of the country. He is a college mate of Mrs. Parnale and he and his wife are old friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Parnale.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Blanchard will be pleased to learn that they have purchased a twenty eight room hotel, formerly known as the Monroe Hotel, which they have named Blanchard's Michigan Hotel. It is situated just opposite the live stock exposition building and they will be glad to welcome old friends visiting Chicago.

Mrs. Jacob Struble and sister, Mrs. Charles Pratt of Petoskey were badly bruised and Mr. Struble and the chauffeur escaped unhurt in an auto accident near Green Sky hill Tuesday morning. The party were coming to this city when one of the wheels gave away, turning the machine completely over throwing out all but Mrs. Struble who was caught under the machine. The auto was badly wrecked.

(Continued on page 4)

CRANE'S

CLEANING SALE WHITE DRESSES

The balance of our White Dresses will be offered until sold at the lowest price we have ever placed on this quality of Merchandise

All $10, $9.50, $9, $8.50 and $8 Dresses at $5.95

All $5, $6 and $7 Dresses at $3.65

Again All New

America's Favorite Amusement Enterprise. Newer Greater and Better Than Heretofore.

SUN BROTHER'S Worlds Progressive Shows

Coming Here with the Most Spectacular Collection of European and American Exotic Animals and Attractions

Hundred Great Artists and the Greatest Show Ever

2 Big Performances Daily. Afternoon and Night.

Exhibiting Everything in Fair and Rainy Weather

The Finest Tents Ever Erected. Commodious Seating Capacity. Biggest Bands of Music. Dazzling Wardrobe and Ornate Trappings.

SEE
The Sensational Wild Beast Marvels
The Royal Court Japanese Acrobatic Co.
The Renowned Cevenec Troupe, from France
Mexican Zamora Family, from City of Mexico
The Many Equestrian Kings and Queens
The Marvelous Trained Elephants
The Big College of Latter Day Clowns
The 494 Other Real Sights and Novelties

Be sure and witness the FREE EXHIBITIONS given daily at 12:30 p. m. on the Show Grounds directly in front of Main Entrance. DON'T MISS THEM.

Charlevoix, Friday, August 9 '12

HORSE OWNERS ATTENTION

Try Crushed Oats

This Hot Weather

Come in and Let us Show you a Sample

Argo Milling Co.

It's Up To You

Whether you come to this store and pay $2.98 for a pair of Gents' Oxfords or go to the other stores and pay from $3.50 to $4.00 for the same grade. We are trying to close out our stock, and at the same time, save you a little money on your footwear. If saving from 50c to a dollar is any object to you, this is the store and now is the time to buy your footwear.

Men's Tan Oxfords, regular price $3.50, at... $2.98
Boys' Oxford's, regular price $2.50, at... $1.98

Ladies' Patent Leather $2.75 Oxfords... $2.10
Ladies' White Pumps, reg'l'r price $3.00... $1.95

All ladies' and gents' oxfords, also children's sandals and tennis slippers in the store go at the same reduction. Get busy and save a dollar.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor

Next to Baker's Inn Charlevoix, Michigan

A Great Convenience At A Trifling Cost

Save your own and your Penman's time by the use of a Private Letter Box to which you hold the keys

This box 14" x 22" x 24", made of steel, heavy-duty brass plated, full brass lined with that heavy lock and two keys—level glass panel with name clip for owner's card and screws for placing will be sent carrying charges prepaid on receipt of $2.00—Check or P. O. Order (do not send currency or stamps).
INTERNATIONAL MAIL EQUIPMENT CO.
200 Fifth Avenue NEW YORK

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON

Complete Abstracts

of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Platons Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH

Attorney at Law

Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. E. SHANAHAN

Attorney at Law

Bank Block

Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS

Attorney at Law

Opposite County Bank
Green's Office Charlevoix, Mich.

J. R. A. AULD

Dentist

Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 129 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66; residence 263.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. R. ARMSTRONG, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office over Hines & Co's drug store,
Telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. G. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon

(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your

DRAYING

As order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have language to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.

CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED

Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday
Each Week

COURIER PRESS

COMMERCIAL PRINTERS

A Trial will Convince You

CHAPTER XXII

Wherein Philip Ammon is Scorned by Edith Carr, and Hart Henderson Appears on the Scene.

EDITH CARR stood in a vine enclosed side veranda of the Lake Shore clubhouse waiting while Philip Ammon gave some important orders. In a few days she would sail for Paris to select a wonderful trousseau she had planned for her marriage in October. Tonight Philip was giving a club dance in her honor. As she stood waiting she smiled softly. She was robed in a French creation suggested and designed by Philip. He had said to her, "I know a competent judge who says the distinctive feature of June is her exquisite big night moths. I want you to be the very essence of June that night, as you will be the embodiment of love. Be a moth. The most beautiful of them is either the pale green Luna or the yellow Imperial. Be my moon lady or my gold Empress."

Now she stood, tall, lithe, of grace incarnate, her dark waving hair high piled and crossed by gold bands studded with amethysts and at one side an emerald lavender orchid rimmed with diamonds, which flashed and sparkled. The soft yellow robe of lightest weight velvet fitted her form perfectly, while from each shoulder fell a great velvet wing lined with lavender and flecked with embroidery of that color in imitation of the moth. Philip had said that her gloves, fan and slippers must be lavender because the feet of the moth were that color. These accessories had been made to order and embroidered with gold. In her heart she thought of herself as "Imperial Empress," as the Yellow Empress. But in the fragmentary thought crossing her brain the one that never came was that of Philip Ammon as the emperor. Philip the king of her heart, and at least her equal in all things.

"Ah, my luck!" cried a voice behind her.

Edith Carr turned and smiled exquisitely.

"I thought you were on the ocean," she said.

"I only reached the dock," replied the man, "when I had a letter that recalled me by the first limited. Edith, you are the most superb woman in every respect that I have ever seen. One glimpse is worth the whole journey."

He half closed his eyes and smilingly stared straight at her. He was taller than she, a lean man, with close cropped light hair, steel gray eyes, a square chin and "man of the world" written all over him.

Edith Carr flushed. "I thought you realized when you went away that you were to stop that, Hart Henderson," she cried.

"I did, but this letter of which I tell you called me back to start it all over again. One of your most intimate chums wrote it. It contained the hazard that possibly I had fit of petulance you had broken your engagement with Ammon twice this winter, and he had come back because he knew you did not really mean it. I have come back to haunt you until the ceremony is over. Then I go, not before. I was insane."

The girl laughed merrily. "Not half so insane as you are now, Hart!" she cried gaily. "You know that Philip Ammon has been devoted to me all my life. Well, now I'll tell you something else, because this looks serious for you. I love him with all my heart. Not while he lives shall he know it, and I will laugh at him if he tells him, but the fact remains. I intend to marry him, but no doubt I shall tease him constantly. It's good for a man to be uncertain. If you could see Ammon's face at the quarterly return of his ring you would understand the fun of it. My little fits of temper don't count with Phil. He's been raised on them."

"Just the same I'll wait and see it an accomplished fact," said Henderson. "And, Edith, because I love you with the sort of love it is worth a woman's while to inspire I want your happiness before my own. Go careful from now on. Don't strain that patched engagement of yours any further.

"I've known Philip all my life. He loves you, yes! He is long suffering for you, yes! But men know he has a limit. When the limit is reached he will stand fast, and all the powers can't move him. You don't seem to think it, but you can go too far."

"Is that all?" laughed Edith Carr sarcastically.

"No, there is one thing more," said Henderson. "Here or hereafter, now and so long as I breathe, I am your slave. If you need me it is not necessary to speak; only give me the faintest sign. All your life I will be somewhere near you waiting for it."

At that instant Philip Ammon entered. He was in full evening dress and exceptionally handsome. "Everything is ready," he said. "They are waiting for us to lead the march. It is formed."

Edith Carr smiled entrancedly. "Do you think I am ready?"

Philip looked what he thought and offered his arm. Edith Carr nodded carelessly to Henderson and moved away.

The last half of the program was well under way. Never had girl been more complimented and petted in the same length of time than Edith Carr. A partners' dance was called and the floor was filled with couples waiting for the music. Ammon stood whispering delightful things to Edith facing him. From out of the night, in at the side front entrance to the pavilion there swept in slow, wavering flight a great yellow moth and fluttered toward the center cluster of glaring electric lights.

"Why, isn't that?" she began excitedly.

"It's a yellow Empress! This is the last one. The last one Elmore needs for her collection. I must have it! Excuse me!"

He ran toward the light. "Hats! Handkerchiefs! Fans! Anything!" he panted. "Every one hold up some thing and stop that!"

"He wants it for Edith!" ran in a murmur around the hall. The girl's face flushed, while she hit her lip in vexation. Instantly every one began holding up something to keep the moth from flying back into the night. One fan held straight before it served, and the moth gently settled on it.

"Hold steady!" cried Ammon. "Don't move for your life!" He rushed toward the moth, made a quick sweep and held it between his fingers. "All right!" he called. "Thanks, every one! Excuse me a minute."

He ran to the office.

"An ounce of gasoline, quick!" he ordered. "A cigar box, a cork and the glue bottle!"

He poured some glue into the bottom of the box, set the cork in it firmly, dashed the gasoline over the moth repeatedly, plunked it to the cork, poured the remainder of the liquid over it, closed the box and fastened it. Then he laid a bill on the counter.

"Pack that box with cork around it in one twice its size, the acutely and express to this address at once."

"Keep the change," called Ammon as he ran back to the pavilion.

Edith Carr stood where he left her, thinking rapidly. She heard the murmur that went up when Philip started to capture the exquisite golden creature she was impersonating. She saw the flash of surprise that went over unprepared faces when he ran from the room without even showing it to her.

He had spoken of a country girl he had met who played the violin wonderfully, and at times he had showed a disposition to exalt her as a standard of womanhood. Miss Carr had ignored what he said and talked of something else. It was that girl who was collecting moths! No doubt she was the competent judge who was responsible for the yellow costume Philip had designed. Had Edith Carr been in her room she would have torn off the dress at the thought.

Being in a circle of her best friends, which to her meant her keenest rivals and harshest critics, she grew rigid with anger. Her breath hurt her painful chest. No one thought to speak to the musicians; and seeing the floor filled, they began the waltz.

Edith Carr grew very white as she stood alone. The idolized only daughter of the Carr family hoped that she would drop dead from mortification, but nothing happened. She was too perverse to step aside laughingly and say that she was waiting for Philip. Then came Tom Levering daunting with Polly Ammon, living in the scenes with the Ammon family. Tom averted trouble from afar, so he whispered to Polly. "Edith is standing in the middle of the floor, and she's awful mad about something."

They hurried to Edith. "Come, dear," said Polly. "We are going to wait with you until Phil gets back. Let's go for a drink. I am so thirsty!"

"My betrothed left me here," Edith said. "Here I shall remain until he returns for me, and then—he will be my betrothed no longer!"

Polly grasped Edith's arm. "Don't make a scene here, and tonight. He can explain! It's only a breath sin—I saw him go out. I thought he had returned!"

"He has been gone just long enough to show every one of his guests that he will leave me standing alone, like a neglected fool, for any passing whim of his. Explain! His explanation would sound well! Do you know for whom he caught that moth? It is being sent to a girl he flirted with all last summer."

Speech unlocked the fountain. She stripped off her gloves to free her hands. At that instant the dancers parted to admit Philip. Instinctively they stopped as they approached and with wondering faces waited in Edith and Philip, Polly and Tom.

"Mighty good of you to wait!" cried Ammon, his face beaming with delight over his success in capturing the yellow Empress. "I thought when I heard the music you were going on!"

"How did you think I was going on?" demanded Edith Carr in frigid tones.

"I thought you would step aside and wait a few seconds for me or dance with Henderson. It was most important to have that moth. It just completes a valuable collection for a person who needs the money. Come!"

He held out his arms.

"I step aside for no one!" stormed Edith Carr. "I await no other girl's pleasure! You may complete the collection with that!"

She drew her engagement ring from her finger and reached to place it in one of Philip's outstretched hands. Ammon saw and drew back. Instantly Edith dropped the ring. As it fell, almost instinctively Philip caught it in his hand.

"Edith, for the love of mercy, wait until I can explain," he begged. "Put on your ring and let me tell you how it is."

"Never! Your conduct is infamous!" "Come to think of it," said Ammon deliberately. "It is infamous to cut a girl who has danced all her life out of a few measures of a waltz. As for asking forgiveness for so black a sin as picking up a moth and starting it to a friend who lives by collecting them I don't see how I could. I have not been gone three minutes by the clock, Edith. Put on your ring and finish the dance like a dear girl!"

He thrust the glittering ruby into her fingers and again held out his arms. She dropped the ring, and it rolled some distance from them. Henderson followed its shining course and caught it before it was lost.

"You really mean it?" demanded Ammon in a voice as cold as hers ever had been.

"You know I mean it!" cried Edith Carr.

"I accept your decision in the presence of these witnesses," said Philip Ammon.

"Where is my father?" he asked of those around them. The elder Ammon, with a distressed face, hurried to him. "Father, take my place," said Philip. "Excuse me to my guests. Ask all my friends to forgive me. I am going out for a time."

He turned and walked from the pavilion. As he went Hart Henderson rushed to Edith Carr and forced the ring into her fingers. "Edith, quick! Come, quick!" he implored. "There's just time to catch him. If you let him go that way he never will return in this world. Remember what I told you."

"Great prophet, aren't you, Hart?" she sneered. "Who wants him to return? If that ring is thrust upon me again I shall fling it into the lake. Sign the musicians to begin and take this dance with me."

Henderson put the ring into his pocket and began the dance. He could feel the muscular spasms of the girl in his arms, her face was cold and hard, but her breath burned with the scorch of fever. She flushed the dance and all others, taking Phil's numbers with Henderson, who had arrived too late to arrange a program. She left with the others, merely inclining her head as she passed Ammon's father taking his place, and entered the big touring car for which Henderson had telephoned.

She sank limply into a seat and moaned softly.

"Shall I drive awhile in the night air?" asked Henderson.

She nodded. Henderson instructed the chauffeur.

She raised her head in a few seconds. "Hart, I'm going to please," she said. "Won't you put your arm around me a little while?"

Henderson gathered her into his arms and her head fell on his shoulder. "Closer!" she cried.

Dawn was streaking the east when he spoke to her.

"Edith, it is growing light."

"Take me home," she said. Henderson helped her up the steps and rang the bell.

"Miss Carr is ill," he said to the footman. "Rouse her maid instantly." (Continued on page 5.)

IDLE MONEY

There is idle money in every community—money not in use, not even safely deposited in a reliable bank. It is hid away, carried on the person, liable to loss by fire, theft and many other causes. Idle money makes no one a cent. It's the money in circulation that stimulates business. The more money in circulation the higher the prices and the lower the rates of interest. Bring your money to this bank where it will be safe and always subject to your check. It will help you, it will help us, it will help the community. Idle money is as useless to business as an idle man.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. F. Bridge

Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

BLANCHARD HAS IT

What you want to make life enjoyable during the summer months

Refrigerators, Ice Cream Freezers

Oil and Gasoline Stoves

Base Ball Supplies

Garden Tools

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easily it is obtained. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clearest money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience you can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 30-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't you be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postcard.

Ask for Catalogue 167.

THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE. I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing. I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc. by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE PILES in 20 days to stay cured and in never return. I CURE CONSTIPATION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I OPERATE THE CURE to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home. Any unfortunate girl given best of care, may work out fees. Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life itself—to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.

Bedford Sanitarium & Retreat, Bedford, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

....Keep Track of the Minutes....

If in need of a new Watch or Clock we Will Sell it to You

If They Need Repairing We Are Prepared to Do It

If in need of anything in the Jewelry Line WE HAVE IT

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

COMING
LE COTTE & FLESHER'S
GORGEOUS MUSICAL FANTASY

THE PRINCE OF TONIGHT

SO PEOPLE SO BEAUTY COME ON TONIGHT

Grange Column

Bay Shore Grange.

Bay Shore grange met in regular session July 26, with an attendance of fifteen, and was called to order by Worthy Master Fred Worth. Six officers were present.

Mary Baker was elected to membership and Bert B. Jones of Maple Grove and Fred Gregory of Barnard granges were received by demit.

The following committees were appointed for the meeting of August 22: Reception: Brothers George Long, Fred Worth, A. G. Tillotson; Sisters Mary Worth and Mary Wallace.

Table: Brothers Clara Wallace, Otis Plank and Rollo Long. The lecturer having nothing prepared for the lecture hour, an impromptu program was given at the request of the master.

Recitation—"As His Mother Used to Do," Merle Brecheiser Music—Theo. Howman Recitation—"Boy Billie," J. C. Wallace

Next meeting will be held August 9, 1912.

Wilson Grange, No. 719.

Wilson grange met in regular session Saturday, July 27, with an attendance of eighteen members and two visitors.

During the business session the grange committee reported $18.43 receipts for the last quarter and a balance on hand of $24.57.

One application for membership was received. There was also a discussion regarding blinder twice contracts.

During the lecturer's program the brothers told the mistakes which they had made in farming the past year.

Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session July 23 with Worthy Master K. H. Clark in the chair.

Some applications for membership were received.

Six candidates were instructed in the mysteries of this order.

Lecturer's hour was taken up with songs, stories and readings.

There was a good attendance of members and twelve visitors were present from Marion Center grange.

Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

Women Will Meet.

There will be a meeting at the Court House Friday evening, August 2, at 7:30 p. m. We feel that the time has come for women to take a part in the great questions of the day. We meet to consider the best plan for helping our brother citizens solve these problems. We want every good man and woman to meet at the Court House Friday night.

We cannot work without the sympathy and aid of our brethren, so all come and help us help you.

By Order of Committee.

A Well Known School.

The Detroit Business University of Detroit, Mich., is well and favorably known in every corner of our state as a result of its successful history of sixty-five years in training young men and women for business pursuits. The school is located in new premises at 65 West Grand River Ave., and under wise, aggressive management is doing most effective work along modern lines for the large body of students in constant attendance at this worthy institution. The Fall Term opens this year on August 26, and the handsome new calendar recently received at this office is certainly an interesting production. 311

500 pairs of Ladies' and Gents' Queen Quality, Walkover and Douglas $3.50 and $4.00 Oxfords will be sold for $2.00 per pair at Bedford's Shoe Store. 311

HELP THE KIDNEYS

Charlevoix Readers Are Learning the Way.

It's the little kidney ills—The lame, weak or aching back—The unnoticed urinary disorders—That lead to dropsy and Bright's disease.

When the kidneys are weak. Help them with Doan's Kidney Pills.

A remedy especially for sick kidneys.

Doan's have been curing kidney troubles for 75 years.

Endorsed by 50,000 people—endorsed at home.

Proof in a Charlevoix citizen's statement.

H. Markwardt, Bridge St. Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney and bladder remedy. I have used them frequently when having lame back and trouble from my kidneys. I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills from the Ivy Drug Store and they have always benefited me, relieving my aches and correcting the kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THEATRICAL

"The Prince of Tonight," the attraction to be at the Charlevoix Theatre August 20, is by Adams, Hough and Howard, whose names are linked with such successes: "The Time, the Place and the Girl," "The Goddess of Liberty," "The Stubbhorn Cinderella," "The Honey Moon Trail," and "The Golden Girl." The book is exceptionally clever, dealing with the mysteries of a blooming century plant, and gives opportunities for some transformations, groupings and stage pictures which promise to be a revelation. These have been worked out by George Marlowe the well known stage producer.

The Coming of the Show.

Friday, Aug. 9 will be show day in Charlevoix, the day which makes the world young and kin. Every household will be alive early on account of it, and the country cousin, arrayed in his best, will come in on the highways and byways with refreshing glory and abundance.

The line big special train of Sun Brothers is due here before dawn on August 9, and the usual army of curious will no doubt be at the railroad yards to greet them. As tented showmen are known as hustlers, it won't take them long to unload the enormous equipment, horses, elephants and animals and assemble them at the show grounds. Performances will be given in the afternoon at two o'clock and at night at eight o'clock. There are no conventional numbers in the big imperial programme that will be offered. Because the hundred or more men, women and children performers are masters in their varied feats and accomplishments and bring refinement and diversion to their work. Besides the human superiority of this season's exhibition, there is a unique and wonderful trained animal display. The Sun Troupe of acting and musical elephants; educated monkeys and dogs; cleverly trained ponies; a coterie of blue ribboned cake-walking horses; these are all classy features of the huge programme.

In the wild beast and zoologic department are many cages and dens containing a rare and valuable collection of wild animals. Everything of worth in this field will be seen and exhibited.

All of the tents are of modern build and at night time they are brilliantly illuminated. The show comes highly recommended for its absolute cleanliness and entire freedom from fakirs, gamblers and ticket scalpers. In fact, the only way that you can spend your money around the show is through legitimate channels. From the looks of things Friday will be one of the biggest show days in the history of Charlevoix.

The Park Play company has given the public a good many fine productions of several high class plays but "Sunbonnet Sue," which comes to the Charlevoix Theatre on Monday night, August 5, is the real climax of all their efforts. If this play does not please every person in the audience then there is something radically wrong with that person for it contains an abundance of sparkling comedy, a clever and original plot and dozens of startling and unusual effects. A full scenic production is carried and a most capable company of artists portray the characters of the drama.

A. M. Nason, farming near Canaan, Me., was badly crippled with sciatic rheumatism due he says to uric acid in his blood. "Foley Kidney Pills entirely cured me and also removed numerous black specks that were continually before my eyes." Foley Kidney Pills are a uric acid solvent and are effective for the various forms of rheumatism. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Vm-Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Love."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services morning and evening, Sunday, July 21.

For Sale.

Three small homes for sale, on south terrace, one block from Bridge street. Cash or easy terms. Inquire of O. D. Hammond. 2511

500 pair of Ladies' and Gents' Queen Quality, Walkover and Douglas $3.50 and $4.00 Oxfords will be sold for $2.00 per pair at Bedford's Shoe Store. 311

See my line of Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases. I am carrying the largest and most complete line ever shown in the city. I buy direct from the manufacturers in large quantities and can sell at a very low price.

Trunks $3.50 to $18

Bags $1.75 to $10

Suit Cases $1.00 to $10

All Kinds of Repairing Done

Benj. Brown

It's the Little Savings That Count

The man or woman who buys at the store where the price is the lowest, are the ones who, at the end of the year, have a few dollars of their income left to lay away for a rainy day. These are the people we like to do business with. Usually they know what an article is worth, and snap at a bargain when it is offered them. And this is the store where money saving bargains are found. Below we quote a few that mean a saving to the party who needs the goods mentioned:

Saws, all kinds, 75c up Crowbars, good ones, 50c
Pitch Forks, a snap for the farmer, 35 and 40c
Shovels 40c Hoes and Rakes 30c each Potato Sprayers, you need them now, 30c
Refrigerators, all in stock 1-3 off Cupboards, a few to close out at $7.50

Dice & Stafford

"Just around the Corner" Phone 104 Mason Street
Pony "Paxel" to Rent. Inquire at Store.

KILLING A COBRA.

A Plucky Crow For Which the Big Snake Had No Terrors.

If the testimony offered by an English naturalist in Ceylon be given full credence, then the cobra is not so dangerous a snake as popular reputation makes it. In at least two instances, reports this naturalist, cobras were chased by large birds. In neither case did the snake seem to have any hypnotic power, such as is generally credited to snakes in general.

A crow was seen fighting an intruder into its nest situated at the very top of a tree. The crow was cowering at close quarters and pecking hard at the nest, cawing loudly all the time. The nest was some forty feet above ground.

Presently a snake came out of the nest and started to descend, with the crow in hot pursuit, pecking at the cobra continually. The snake took refuge about ten feet down in a clump of dead ferns, from which it was chased out by the crow. It came from branch to branch until it reached a large horizontal limb, which stretched out about twenty feet.

Here the snake was at a great disadvantage, inasmuch as it could not turn upon the crow. The latter seemed fully to appreciate the situation, and its tactics were excellent. It would peck hard at the spine close to the tail and then peck pieces of the snake's skin were torn out, whereupon the cobra would lie quite motionless. But just as soon as it exhibited signs of again attempting to escape the crow would recommence its attacks with extraordinary surety of aim. After fifteen minutes the cobra was dead. Harper's.

Making Up For Lost Time.
"You don't cook like Mary, my first wife, used to do. Allee," he said in tones of gentle exasperating reproach. "No; it seems to me you can't cook like she used to."

On another occasion he remarked: "You are not so smart at getting about as Mary was. You don't appear to catch on where she left off." About this time a fiery rolling pin came in contact with his head. "What do you mean by that, you?" he exclaimed in agony. "I am doing the work that Mary neglected," she replied. "There was more peace in that family afterward."

We do Fine Job Printing.
Courier rates on application.

Charlevoix Theater Monday, Aug. 5

Park Play Co. of Chicago and New York Present FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY

The American Play

"SUNBONNET SUE"

By Whitney Collins

4 Acts Without a Dull Moment

A Highly Interesting and Original Plot

Presented by a Metropolitan Company

SPECIAL PRICES FOR THIS OCCASION

Prices: 25c - 35c - 50c

The more your customers know your goods the easier to make sales

Best Goods at Lowest Prices

Come in and Let us Convince You

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE

Telephone 125 Antrim Street

ALWARD for CONGRESS

For Representative in Congress

X DENNIS E. ALWARD
The Republicans of Charlevoix county must support him. Such and endorsement from a man's own neighbors is a high tribute. They vote for him and ask you to vote for him. 311

Majestic Theater

Wednesday AND Thursday

"The Milmars"

Comedy Acrobatic Act

Friday and Saturday

"Musical Coopers"

Comedy Musical

and Marionette Act

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 32

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

CIRCUIT COURT NEXT MONDAY

Seventeen Criminal Cases Are Noted on the Calendar.

ONLY FIVE SEEK DIVORCE

Several Important Law Cases Noted for Trial This Term.

First Case Is Up for Trial Under the New Law Relative to Carrying Concealed Weapons--Other Matters.

Circuit court will convene in regular August session next Monday. The calendar, as arranged, is a long one but probably several cases will go over. The calendar follows:

Applications for Citizenship.

Petitions: Charles Tubby, Joseph Ward Empey, Hiram Potter, Andrew Gryre, Simon Pejka, Otto Frederick Seiler, Robert James Madill, George Laing, Evert Bruce Laing, Robert Bruce Comlynory, Caleb Forsyth Van Zant, Benjamin Brown, Hiram Rosenblatt, Stanley John Burdo.

Criminal.

People vs. Herman L. Swift, indecent liberties with a male person, three cases.
People vs. Arden Watson, violation of the liquor law.
People vs. Laura Joels, keeping disorderly house.
People vs. Edward Clark, assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.
People vs. Alex. McKowick, assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.
People vs. Glenn McCafferty, statutory rape.
People vs. H. Frankel, rape.
People vs. George King, violation of the liquor law.
People vs. Earl Cummings, homicide.
People vs. Andrew Mazur, violation of the liquor law, four cases.
People vs. Amber Nimia, carrying concealed weapons.
People vs. Walter Hunt, violation of the liquor law.

Issue of Fact and Law.

Axel Anderson vs. Boyne City Chemical Company, trespass.
Myron A. Hilliker vs. Boyne City Chemical Company, trespass.
Thomas Crooks vs. East Jordan Chemical Company, trespass.
Arden N. Howe vs. M. S. Plank, et al., appeal.
Nichols, Butters and Bridge vs. William Richardson, principal defendant and West Michigan Sugar Company, garnishee defendant, certiorari.
Peter Scoop vs. W. H. White Company, a corporation, trespass.
John I. Tweddle, assignee of Charles Alexander et al., vs. Peter Weishuo, principal defendant, and James Payne, garnishee defendant, garnishment.
Carrie Tucker vs. Reuben P. Foley, trespass, appeal.
Charles G. Hush vs. The Wisconsin Chair Company, principal defendant, and A. Folchman, defendant, trespass, incorporated.
Frederick Pichl vs. Marcus Miles, trespass on the case on promises.
Alexander Cameron vs. Owen M. Wood et al., trespass on the case on promises.
Matthew Duffy vs. John Charters, trespass on the case.
Chancery.
Sam Straw vs. Walter Black, and Charlevoix State Savings Bank, bill to quiet title.
J. L. Case Threshing Machine Company vs. Timothy A. Heaton, foreclosure.
Agnes L. Moon vs. Lewis A. Moon, divorce.
Stephen Lemons vs. Eva Lemons, divorce.
Frank Miller vs. Malvinn Miller, divorce.
Katharine L. Pitcher vs. Henry F. Pitcher, divorce.
Sadie Wiggins vs. Thomas Wiggins, divorce.

Wanted.

A responsible middle-aged lady to do general housework on a farm for family of two, commencing August 10. Good wages for right party. Apply: J. A. Janassen, 30-tl-pd R. F. D. 4 Charlevoix.

BROWER-ANDERSON

Courier Foreman United in Marriage at Petoskey Week Before Last.

Thursday evening, July 18, Miss Ruth A. Anderson and Leon F. Brower went over to Petoskey and were quietly married at the Catholic monastery in that city by Fr. Anastasius Knodt, priest of the Charlevoix parish.

Mrs. Brower came to Michigan from Erie, Pennsylvania with her parents when she was two years old and spent her early life in Cross Village, coming to Charlevoix three years ago where she has lived most of that time.

Mr. Brower came to this city from Mason in 1910 and has been employed at the Courier office since that time, now as foreman.

Mr. and Mrs. Brower admitted they were married last Friday and many of their friends were greatly surprised. They are now at home at the Hotel Bartlett. The Courier unites in hearty congratulations extended to both by their many friends.

DIED AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Former Charlevoix Business Man Called Away Last Thursday.

One of the Best Known Men in the City--Leaves Wife and Three Sons.

George Taylor, one of the best known residents of Charlevoix, died at his home on Antrim street Thursday night, of chronic inflammation of the heart, after an illness of the last nine months, the most of the time having been confined to his bed.

Mr. Taylor was born in Worcester, England in 1862. In 1883 he came to this country, locating at Manistee. While a resident of that city Mr. Taylor lost his left leg. Mr. Taylor was engaged in the confectionery business in that city, which he followed until 1894, when he moved to Empire. While a resident of Empire Mr. Taylor was elected to several official positions, serving as township clerk, village trustee and alderman. He moved from Empire to Boyne City. After a residence of fifteen months in that city he came to Charlevoix in 1904 and conducted a bakery and confectionery business until the spring of 1911.

He leaves, besides his wife, three sons, Frank of Neopit, Wisconsin, Walter and Albert of this city.

Mr. Taylor was a member of the Odd Fellows, Rebekah, Maccabee and Woodmen lodges. The funeral was held Friday, Rev. F. M. Taylor officiating. The body was taken to Manistee for burial.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Professor G. A. Masselink of Big Rapids Will Speak Next Sunday.

The attendance at the meeting of the Men's Bible class last Sunday was large and all who were present were given a treat in the address by Hon. H. R. Pattengill of Lansing.

Next Sunday an equally strong program has been arranged. Prof. G. A. Masselink of Big Rapids will deliver the address. Mr. Masselink is principal of the famous Ferris Institute and last spring spoke before the class, giving what was pronounced one of the best ever given before the class. In addition to the talk by Prof. Masselink a solo will be given by Mrs. Corynne Moore Lawson.

The class has now a membership of over 150 and if you have never attended the meetings, which are held at the Carnegie Library at noon each Sunday, make up your mind to be present next Sunday.

An Interesting Relic.

Morris J. Stockman is exhibiting a copy of the Vicksburg Mississippi Citizen printed during the siege of that city, on wall paper. While there have been several imitations of this paper printed, Mr. Stockman is showing the genuine article. He informs us he contemplates having it framed and hung in the library.

Don't miss seeing "Paid in Full" at Charlevoix theatre August 14.

DODDS STANDS ON THE RECORD HE HAS MADE

How He Has Voted on the Important Matters That Have Come Up During the Two Terms He Has Served the People of This District--Has Been a Faithful Servant of the People.

The people of this congressional district are familiar with the conscientious and effective manner in which Francis H. Dodds has served them at Washington, and they will hardly consider any other candidate to succeed him. They know that he has devoted his time and efforts to the work of representing his constituents, and has not allowed any other interest to take precedence of that business. Surely he has been a faithful servant.

He is a man qualified to take his place among the hard workers at Washington, and exert an influence there; and as a matter of fact he does so, and commands the respect of his associates in congress. They recognize his real ability, and they admire his sturdy principles of honor. They know he will not countenance one thing that he considers dishonest or dishonorable.

He is a member of the judiciary committee of the house, which particularly during the present session has had some very important questions to consider. In that position he diligently studied the cases to be considered, and with his possession of the facts, together with his profound legal learning, he proved himself to be one of the ablest members of that committee.

Mr. Dodds has secured much to the advantage of the people in this district, his votes and record will bear the closest scrutiny, he deserves to be re-elected, and the district will unquestionably profit by returning him to congress.

Here is the record of his votes on the important questions before congress during the two terms he has served us:

Mr. Dodds' Votes on Important Questions.
He voted in favor of the income tax on corporations.
He voted in favor of the constitutional amendment to permit the taxing of individual incomes.

He voted in favor of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation.

He voted to amend the Employers Liability Act so as to give the U. S. courts and state courts concurrent jurisdiction, and to extend the right of action.

He voted in favor of the Safety Appliance Act, to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads.

He voted in favor of the establishing of postal savings banks.
He voted in favor of the National Conservation Act--for the preservation of reservoir sites and water powers on government lands and navigable streams.

He voted for the Payne Tariff Act--being sure that it was as satisfactory a law as would then be passed, and a great improvement on the Dingley law then in force.

He voted for the constitutional amendment for the election of U. S. senators by the people.

He voted for the investigation of the sugar trust.

He voted for the Doremus amendment, allowing free canal tolls to American ships.

He has secured many more private pension bills than are usually secured by a congressman. He has been much interested in general pension legislation, and has always voted therefor.

He voted to place charges of express companies under government control.

He voted for the Anderson general parcels post bill, and in favor of the Bourne bill for a general parcels post--the zone system.

He voted against so-called Canadian reciprocity.

He voted against the destruction of the wool industry.

He voted against the destruction of the sugar beet industry.

WILL ORGANIZE IN CHARLEVOIX

Woman Suffrage Advocates Hold Meeting Friday Night at Court House.

Mrs. Ivey of Grayling and Mrs. Grosenbaugh of Petoskey Gave Talks.

The meeting at the court house Friday night was the beginning of the suffrage movement in Charlevoix. Our women are awake to the fact that they are behind in this work, and all who were at the court house Friday evening heard the convincing arguments from the women speakers are alive to the necessity for immediate action.

Mrs. Ivey from Grayling, a sweet, motherly woman, full of strong arguments and Christian charity, was the first speaker. She was followed by Mrs. Grosenbaugh of Petoskey, who is well known. She, too, is convincing and enthusiastic, and neither can be accused of the terrible crime of "strong minded," for any man would be proud of either as a mother or wife.

Some of the prominent ladies of the Belvedere resort are brilliant speakers and earnest workers in their respective home cities, and encouraged the Charlevoix women with their sympathy and financial help to carry on their work here.

A committee of prominent ladies of Charlevoix was appointed to organize and plan the work for the coming campaign, and they seem sure that every good intelligent man will give the movement his support when he understands the motives and principles that underlie it.

Another meeting will be held in the near future.

The "Kitties" Band will appear at the Charlevoix theatre Thursday afternoon and evening, August 8.

Talking motion pictures at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday.

AMOUNT OF PRIMARY MONEY

Received by the Different Townships of Charlevoix County This Month.

Over Forty-five Thousand Dollars--Nearly Six Thousand Pupils in County.

The following table shows the amount of primary school money distributed to the different townships of Charlevoix county. The amount per capita is $7.45. Charlevoix county has 5,904 children of school age and receives $44,419.55, $352.50 of this amount is to make up the deficiency of May and November, 1911, to District No. 8, Boyne Valley township.

The first column shows the number of school children in each township, and the second, the amount received.

Boyne Valley.....	147	$1,095 15
Chandler.....	327	2,436 15
Chandler.....	141	1,072 80
Chx. City.....	710	5,289 50
Evangeline.....	1,021	12,076 45
Eveline.....	281	2,115 80
Hayes.....	260	1,937 00
Hudson.....	169	1,236 70
Marion.....	192	1,430 40
Melrose.....	190	1,415 50
Norwood.....	136	1,005 75
Peaine.....	103	767 75
St. James.....	219	1,631 75
South Arm.....	1183	8,828 25
Wilson.....	226	1,683 45

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold its regular monthly meeting, Wednesday, August 14 at 2:30 p. m. in the Methodist church. Devotional and business meeting will be followed by "The Daughter's Day" program, music, recitations and drills by the young people. The answers to roll call will be flower quotations.

All members having flowers, will please bring them to be distributed to the sick. All are welcome.

GRANGE PICNICS

Ironton and Maple Grove Granges Announce Dates of Annual Picnics.

Ironton Grange will hold their annual picnic Wednesday, August 14. A good time is always had at Ironton. Hon. Patrick H. Kelley has been secured as speaker which in itself should draw a large crowd. Something will be going on all day and if you wish to enjoy yourself don't miss being at Ironton Wednesday.

Maple Grove grangers announce that their annual picnic will be held Saturday, August 24. The annual picnic at Maple Grove is always looked forward to, as they always have a good time at Maple Grove. A good program has been arranged, and a good speaker will be present. A hall game has been scheduled and athletic contests will take place, followed by a dance in the evening. Dinner and supper will be served and nobody wants to miss this feature.

BIG FIRE AT BOYNE CITY

White Lumber Company's Shingle Mill Totally Destroyed.

Loss Seventy-five Thousand Dollars--Partially Insured--Will Be Rebuilt.

Fire, caused by spontaneous combustion, destroyed the White Lumber Company's shingle mill at Boyne City Tuesday morning, with a total loss of seventy-five thousand dollars, partially covered by insurance. Only by hard work was the railroad machine shops and other buildings saved.

The fire broke out so suddenly that the employees were forced to leave the building without their coats or dinner pails. The fire fighting appliances were strained to the utmost to prevent the blaze from spreading and consuming all of the city. Two boats which were in the harbor aided considerably in the work of fire fighting.

It is expected the mill will be rebuilt at once.

TAG DAY A SUCCESS

$176.27 Collected Toward the Fund of the Michigan Children's Home Society.

Tag day Saturday netted $176.27 toward the fund for the Michigan Children's Home society. We have received the following letter of thanks from the state superintendent of the home.

Dear Friends:
We are in receipt of the draft for $176.27 which was the gift of the people of Charlevoix on children's home day toward the fund for blind and crippled children in our care. The management of the Michigan Children's Home society are indeed grateful to all who contributed to the fund and extend to you their sincere appreciation of your support and co-operation. To the flower day committee who worked so faithfully and strenuously we also wish to express our gratitude. Our expressions of appreciation are given in behalf of our dear little babies who we know if they could would say "thank you."

Yours very sincerely,
The Mich. Children's Home Society,
Mrs. Cora Lamping,
State Superintendent.

Baked Goods Sale.

The Women's Relief Corps will hold a baked goods and bazaar sale at Mrs. Atchison's millinery store three days, beginning August 15. Pies, beans and chicken pies will be sold in the forenoon. All kinds of fancy work and useful articles will be on sale. For special goods made to order phone Mrs. Bagleton 150, or Mrs. Bellinger, phone 113. 32tl

See the "Kitties" Band, Charlevoix theatre, afternoon and evening, August 8.

For Sale--Red Raspberries for canning. E. A. Rees, Phone 167-1-1-2-3. R. F. D. No. 1. 31tl

"Paid in Full" at Charlevoix theatre, August 11.

THREE ARE IN THE RACE

For the Position of State Representative from Charlevoix County.

MCMILLAN--PADDOCK--MEARS

Hon. William J. Pearson Orders Name Taken from the Ballot.

Petition Was Filed Without His Approval or Consent--Not in Race Under Any Circumstances--Claims of the Candidates.

Hon. William J. Pearson has notified County Clerk Payton to remove his name from the list of candidates for nomination to the office of state representative. This is just the action that Mr. Pearson's friends knew he would take, as the petition was filed without his approval or consent, after he had announced that he would not be a candidate for renomination. While there was no question that had Mr. Pearson consented to run he would have been nominated without any opposition, his friends respected his wishes and refused to sign a petition which would have a tendency to place him in a false position. With Mr. Pearson out of the race, a pretty three cornered contest is being waged. Hon. Robert W. Paddock, the Charlevoix candidate, has had previous experience as a member of the house, which would be of vast benefit to his constituents in what will undoubtedly be one of the most important sessions of the Michigan legislature. He stands squarely upon his record. He is active in farmer's organizations, and it nominated and elected, should be able to render good service to his constituents.

Much of the above can be said of the Boyne Falls candidate, Mr. Mears. He, too, has had previous experience in the legislature, having served one term in the state senate. He, also, is prominent in farmer's organizations, being master of Pomona grange, president of the institute society and a director of the agricultural society. He is well known to nearly every voter in the county and has a wide state acquaintance.

Mr. McMillan, the third candidate, comes from East Jordan, being one of the leading business men of that city. While he has not had the previous legislative experience of his opponents, his business experience would be of value in the position and we have no doubt he would represent Charlevoix county in a creditable manner.

The Democratic candidate, William J. Lewis of Boyne City, is a well known business man and an old resident of the county, and it by some miracle he should be chosen, would represent Charlevoix county in a creditable manner.

The above is also true of Mr. Washburn of Charlevoix, the candidate of the Socialists.

Second Auction To-morrow.

To-morrow and the rest of the week the second auction sale of lots will take place at Pine Point. Since the first auction several lots have been sold and a vast amount of improvements have been made on the property. Already values have wonderfully increased and probably this will be the last opportunity to secure a place for a summer home in this most beautiful spot at a price which is within the reach of everybody. The auction will start at three o'clock p. m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors and to the members of the I. O. O. F., Rebekah, Maccabee and M. W. A. lodges for the many acts of kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our beloved husband and father.

Mrs. George Taylor and family.

$3.50 and $1 Walk Over, Queen Quality and Douglas Oxforda at $2. A change of a life time to hny. Go to Bedford's and "shoe" up. 32tl

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Ships and Plots on Shore Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITZ
Accountant at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. K. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Opposite County Bank
Green's Office Charlevoix, Mich.

J. R. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanFelt Building
Over Levenson's Store
Phone 131 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Fees tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66; residence 265.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store, telephone No. 235. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your
DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 374 when you have luggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED
Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday Each Week

COURIER PRESS

COMMERCIAL PRINTERS

A Trial will Convince You

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday Page & Company

cock. I will phone him. He will give you the price of it, and you might add it to the children's fresh air fund."

"As you choose," said Henderson. "Good morning."

Then he went to his home, but he could not think of sleep. He ordered breakfast, but he could not eat. He paced the library for a time, but it was too small. Going out on the streets he walked until exhausted, then he called a hansom and was driven to his club. As he sauntered into the room an attendant hurried to him.

"You are wanted most urgently at the phone, Mr. Henderson," he said. "You have had three calls from Main 5770."

Henderson shivered as he picked down the receiver and gave the call. "Is that you, Hart?" came Edith's voice.

"Yes."

"Did you find Phil?"

"No; he has been home and gone again."

"Gone?"

"The cry tore Henderson's heart. 'Shall I come and tell you, Edith?'"

"No. Tell me now."

"When I got to the house Banks said Mr. Ammon and Phil were out in the motor, so I waited. Mr. Ammon came back soon. Edith, are you alone?"

"Yes. Go on."

"Call your maid. I can't tell you until some one is with you."

"Tell me instantly!"

"Edith, he said he had been to the station. He said Phil had started to St. Louis or Patagonia, he didn't know which, and left no address. He said—"

Distinctly Henderson heard her fall. He set the tinner ringing and in a few seconds heard voices, so he knew she had been found. Then he crept into a private den and shook with a hard, nervous chill.

The next day Edith Carr started on her trip to Europe. Henderson felt certain she hoped to meet Philip there. He was sure she would be disappointed, though he had no idea where Ammon could have gone. But after much thought he decided he would see Edith soonest by remaining at home, no he spent the summer in Chicago.

"Mrs. Comstock, I came here to ask Edith to marry me."

"Edith," said Mrs. Comstock, "there's some one coming down the road."

"Coming here, do you think?"

"Yes; coming here, I suspect."

Edith glanced quickly at her mother and then turned to the road as Philip Ammon reached the gate.

"Careful, mother," the girl instantly warned. "If you change your treatment of him a hair's breadth he will suspect. Come with me to meet him."

She dropped her work and ran up to

"Well, of all the delightful surprises!" she cried.

She was a trifle thinner than during the previous summer. On her face there was a more mature, patient look. He caught both hands where she offered but one.

"Edith," he cried, "if you were engaged to me and we were at a ball among hundreds where I attended you very much and didn't even know I had done anything and if I asked you to forgive me, to visit, would your face grow distorted and unfamiliar with anger? Would you drop my ring on the floor and insult me repeatedly? Oh, Edith, would you?"

Edith's big eyes seemed to leap, while her face grew very white. She wratched away her hands.

"Hush, Phil, hush!" she protested. "That fever has you again! You are dreadfully ill. You don't know what you are saying."

"I am sleepless and exhausted; I'm heart sick, but I am well as I ever was. Answer me, Edith, would you?"

"Answer nothing," cried Mrs. Comstock. "Hang your coat there on your hall, Phil, and come split some kindling. Edith, clean away that stuff and set the table. Can't you see the boy is starved and tired? He's come home to rest and get a decent meal. Come on, Phil!"

Mrs. Comstock marched away, and Ammon hung his coat in its old place and followed. Out of sight and hearing she turned on him.

"Do you call yourself a man or a hound?" she flared.

"Mrs. Comstock, I came here to ask Edith to marry me."

"The more fool you, then!" cried Mrs. Comstock. "This time yesterday you were engaged to another woman, no doubt. Now, for some little flaroup you come racing here to use Edith as a tool to spite the other girl. A week of sane living and you will be sorry and ready to go back to Chicago or, if you really are man enough to be sure of yourself, she will come to claim you. When you patch your affairs and go sailing away together, where does my girl come in?"

"I am a lawyer, Mrs. Comstock," said Ammon. "It appeals to me as beneath your ordinary sense of justice to decide a case without hearing the evidence. It is due me that you hear me first."

"Hear your side?" dashed Mrs. Comstock. "I'd a heap sight rather hear the girl!"

"I wish to my soul that you had heard and seen her last night, Mrs. Comstock," said Ammon. "Then my way would be clear."

He gave his version of the previous night.

"Do you believe me?" he finished.

"Yes," said Mrs. Comstock.

"May I stay?"

"Oh, it looks all right for you, but what about her?"

"Nothing so far as I am concerned. Her plans were all made to start to Europe today. I suspect she is on the way by this time. Edith is very sensible. Mrs. Comstock. Hadn't you better let her decide this?"

"The final decision rests with her, or course," admitted Mrs. Comstock. "But look you one thing! She's all I have so far as I know you've always been a man and you may stay. But if you bring tears and heartache to her don't have the assurance to think I'll bear it tamely. I'll get right up and fight like a catamount if things go wrong for Edith."

"I have no doubt but you will," replied Ammon. "And I don't blame you in the least if you do. I have the utmost devotion to offer Edith, a good home, fair social position, and my family will love her dearly. Think it over. I know it is sudden, but my father advised it."

They prepared and ate supper. Afterward they sat in the arbor and talked, or Edith played until time for Ammon to go.

"Will you walk to the gate with me?" he asked Edith as he rose.

"Not tonight," she answered lightly. "Come early in the morning if you like, and we will go over to St. Louis."

"I think not," replied Edith. "The fact is I don't care why you came. It is enough for me that we are your very good friends, and that in trouble you have found us a refuge. I fancy we had better live a week or two before we say anything. There is a possibility what you have to say may change in that length of time."

"It will not change one iota!" cried Ammon.

"Then it will have the grace of that much age to give it some small touch of favor," said the girl. "Come early in the morning."

She lifted the violin and began to play a dainty fairy dance.

"Well, bless my soul!" softly ejaculated the astonished Mrs. Comstock. "To think I was worrying for fear you couldn't take care of yourself!"

Edith laughed as she played.

The month which followed was a repetition of the previous June, with moth hunts, specimen gathering and perfect nights filled with music, save that Philip was now Edith's avowed suitor.

Edith Carr, sick at heart, sailed for Europe. At the end of a month Philip asked Edith to be his wife, but she pleaded for more time, saying she must be absolutely sure of herself and of him before she could say yes. But she consented to wear a beautiful emerald ring which he had had sent from Chicago.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Wherein Chicago Comes to the Lumber-lost.

Snake creek and hunt moths and gain or dandelions for dinner."

Ammon leaned toward her. "May I tell you tomorrow why I came?" he asked.

"I think not," replied Edith. "The fact is I don't care why you came. It is enough for me that we are your very good friends, and that in trouble you have found us a refuge. I fancy we had better live a week or two before we say anything. There is a possibility what you have to say may change in that length of time."

"It will not change one iota!" cried Ammon.

"Then it will have the grace of that much age to give it some small touch of favor," said the girl. "Come early in the morning."

She lifted the violin and began to play a dainty fairy dance.

"Well, bless my soul!" softly ejaculated the astonished Mrs. Comstock. "To think I was worrying for fear you couldn't take care of yourself!"

Edith laughed as she played.

The month which followed was a repetition of the previous June, with moth hunts, specimen gathering and perfect nights filled with music, save that Philip was now Edith's avowed suitor.

Edith Carr, sick at heart, sailed for Europe. At the end of a month Philip asked Edith to be his wife, but she pleaded for more time, saying she must be absolutely sure of herself and of him before she could say yes. But she consented to wear a beautiful emerald ring which he had had sent from Chicago.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Wherein Chicago Comes to the Lumber-lost.

HONK, honk, honk! Hart Henderson set the alarm of the big automobile going as it shot from behind the trees lining the Brushwood road. The picture of a vine-covered cabin, a great drooping tree, a green clad girl and a man heading over her very closely dashed into view. Edith Carr caught her breath with a snap. Polly Ammon gave Tom Levering a quick touch and wickedly winked at him.

Several days before Edith had returned from Europe suddenly. She and Henderson had called at the Ammon residence, saying that they were going to motor down to the Lumberlost to see Philip a few hours and urged that Polly and Tom accompany them. Mrs. Ammon thought it better to have Polly along to support Philip than to allow him to confront Edith unexpectedly and alone. Polly was full of spirit. She did not like Edith and did not relish the thought of her as a sister. Two days before her father had extracted a promise of secrecy, given her Philip's address and told her to send him the finest emerald ring she could select. Polly knew how that ring would be used. What she did not know was that the girl who accompanied her went back to the store afterward, made an excuse to the clerk that she had been sent to be absolutely sure that the address was right and so secured it for Edith Carr.

Two days later Edith had induced Hart Henderson to take her to Omaha. By the aid of maps they located the Comstock land and passed it merely to see the place. Henderson hated that trip and implored Edith not to take it, but she made no effort to conceal from him what she suffered, and it was more than he could endure.

The sunlight etched with distinctness the scene at the west end of the chain. Instinctively, to save Edith, Henderson set the whistle blowing. He had thought to go on to the city, but Polly Ammon stood, crying, "Phil, Phil!" Tom Levering was on his feet shouting and waving, while Edith in her most imperial manner ordered him to turn into the lane leading through the woods beside the cabin.

"Fix it some way that I get a minute alone with her," she commanded as he stopped the car.

"That is my sister Polly, her fiancé Tom Levering, a friend of mine named Henderson and"—began Ammon.

"Edith Carr," repeated Philip Ammon. "Edith, be brave for my sake. Their coming can make no difference in any way. I won't let them stay but a few minutes. Come with me!"

"Do I looked scared?" Inquired Edith serenely. "This is why you have not had your answer. I have been waiting just six weeks for that motor. You may bring them to me at the arbor."

She could see that Miss Carr was splendidly beautiful, while she moved with the hauteur and grace supposed to be the prerogatives of royalty. And she had instantly taken possession of Philip Ammon. But Ammon also had a brain which was working with rapidity. He knew Edith was watching so he swung around to the others.

"Give her up, Tom," he cried. "I didn't know I wanted to see the little nuisance so badly, but I do. How are father and mother? Polly, be good to Edith," he whispered.

"Um-huh," assented Polly. And aloud, "I never saw such a beauty. Thomas Aquinas Levering, you come straight here and take my hand!"

Edith's move to compel Ammon to approach Edith beside her had been easy to see; also its failure. Henderson stepped into Ammon's place as he turned to his sister. Instead of taking Polly's hand Levering ran to open the gate. Edith passed through first, but Polly dashed in front of her on the run, with Phil holding her arm, and swept up to Edith. Polly looked for the ring and saw it. That settled matters with her.

"You lovely, lovely, darling girl!" she cried, throwing her arms around Edith and kissing her. With her lips near Edith's ear, Polly whispered "Sister—dear, dear sister!"

(Continued on page 7.)

IDLE MONEY

There is idle money in every community—money not in use, not even safely deposited in a reliable bank. It is hid away, carried on the person, liable to loss by fire, theft and many other causes. Idle money makes no one a cent. Its the money in circulation that stimulates business. The more money in circulation the higher the prices and the lower the rates of interest. Bring your money to this bank where it will be safe and always subject to your check. It will help you, it will help us, it will help the community. Idle money is as useless to business as an idle man.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Warm Weather

Comforts and Necessity

Screen Doors

All sizes and kinds from the Cheapest that's good, to the best that's made.

Window Screens

The well-made, adjustable kind; fits any window; strong and durable.

Refrigerators

Best, most handsomely built from the strongest timber; also finished throughout in enamel; almost every size and price.

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clearest money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 200-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safely, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 167.

THE VICTOR

SAFE & LOCK CO.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.

I CURE NERVOUS THROBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.

I CURE EPILEPSY—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Tardivus, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE RHEUM in 34 days to stay cured and to never return.

I CURE CONSTIPATION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by sending me my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given best of care. May work out fees. Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life is yours. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WHITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.

Wellington Sanitarium & Retreat, Belding, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

....Keep Track of the Minutes....

If in need of a new Watch or Clock we Will Sell it to You.

If They Need Repairing We Are Prepared to Do It

If in need of anything in the Jewelry Line WE HAVE IT

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building VanDett Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one month, $1.50
One copy, six months, $7.50
One copy, three months, $4.50

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notice of closure or change of address entailed, where advertisement is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Ordinary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 2 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

Doctors Disagree

The Patient Settles
the Question

By CLARISSA MACKIE

However much or little a doctor knows, in the sickroom he is omnipotent. If we know he knows no more than we, we try to make ourselves think he does, for on him we propose to unload ourselves of a responsibility that breaks us down.

Dr. Bolster looked across the bed at his colleague. He tipped his heavy chin with a fat forefinger and pursed his lips.

"Liver," he said succinctly.
"Nerves," returned Dr. Pepper testily.
"Rigid," said Dr. Bolster in a peremptory tone.

"Feed him up," snapped Dr. Pepper.
"Exhausted nerves need plenty of food nourishing food—rare roast beef and—"
"And send for the undertaker," ended Dr. Bolster growlingly. "Not a bite to eat—nearly a cup of this gruel, made as per my directions, nurse, and administered three times a day. In one week he will be—"

"Ordering a marble slab for our friend," interjected Dr. Pepper, arising and buttoning his black coat about his scrawny neck.

The pretty nurse looked from one to the other of the two rival village doctors. They had been holding a consultation on the case of Bemis Blaine, a prominent townsman. Mr. Blaine had been ill for several weeks, and he declared when the doctors were not present that nothing but the skilled nursing of Miss Folk had saved his worthless life.

"Cluck the pills and potions out of the house," he commanded fiercely a dozen times a day, but pretty Miss Folk smiled and shook her head and continued to administer the doses impartially, so that neither doctor might feel aggrieved in the matter.

Now Dr. Bolster proceeded to write down elaborate directions for the nurse to follow until his next visit, and Dr. Pepper proceeded to do the same. By

Robert O'Neill FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF

Sweet Peas

Telephone Orders to No.
283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

a strange coincidence of fate each one of Dr. Pepper's orders daily contradicted those of his distinguished colleague, although he had not set eyes on the other's orders. Dr. Pepper was Bemis Blaine's family doctor, and he had in a moment of desperation, endeavored by Bemis Blaine's contradictory to respond to his treatment, called in Dr. Bolster in consultation upon the case. Dr. Bolster had remained ever since, and now it was a daily custom for the rival physicians to go to the sickroom in company and wrangle over the prostrate and pain-racked form of Bemis Blaine.

"If he is no better tomorrow we may operate," whispered Dr. Bolster to Miss Folk before he left.

"Operate?" Dr. Pepper fairly danced up and down. "I've always promised Bemis that so long as I lived I'd never stick a knife into him. He don't believe in operations."

"I shall perform the operation myself," returned Dr. Bolster, coolly pulling on his wooden gloves. His long chin whiskers wagged aggressively.

"Never! Bemis is my patient, and if anybody operates I shall!" Little Dr. Pepper drew himself up to his full height and glared at his bony opponent.

"Gentlemen," cried Miss Folk, thinking of the nurse's tone. "The fever?"

"Yes," snapped Dr. Pepper quickly.
"No," retorted Dr. Bolster.

Miss Folk looked appealingly from one to the other. "Fats gathered behind her thick lashes. 'Something must be done,'" she whispered, with a salt in her throat.

"Doctors confronted each other in a silent feud."

"I'll say," said Dr. Bolster obstinately.
"No, nurse. Feed him up," Dr. Pepper retorted in a peremptory tone.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

"I'll take care of that," ordered Dr. Bolster.

"No, nurse. No, please," the Adiron retorted.

patient, and—what is the matter?"

For answer Dr. Pepper beckoned his rival toward a dimly lighted window.

"Look!" he said weakly.
Bemis Blaine possessed a Chinese laundry, and part of this laundry was devoted to the savory preparation and serving of chop suey and other delectable Chinese dishes. The entire curtain was washed aside, and within the dimly lighted interior of the restaurant a large man was seated, eating almost ravenously of a large plate of chop suey. The man wore a red dressing gown, a golf cap, a pair of knitted bed slippers and sadly needed a shave.

Writing him enjoy this meal were several people.

The rival doctors pressed their noses against the fly-specked pane of glass. There were Bemis Blaine's mother and two sisters and the pretty nurse, the shoemaker from the corner and the village constable.

Just then Bemis Blaine pushed back his chair, paid his bill and rushed to ward the door in his knitted slippers.

"You're a sick man!" yelled Dr. Pepper, leaping at his late patient.

"Man, you've risked your life!" cried Dr. Bolster as he clutched Blaine's hand. He was whispering about his broken kneecap.

"Risked it and won it!" retorted Bemis Blaine coolly. "If he hangs in a tree and Nurse Folk here has promised to look out for me the rest of my days. Oh, yes, I'm quite well, thank you, doctors. If you hadn't disagreed and gone off I'd be doing still. As it is I feel fine as silk. I'll send you something extra shortly."

As the two doctors walked down the street toward their respective homes each one was thinking of a wrecked machine and of the big bill there would be to pay. 8 and 10 each one felt that Bemis Blaine had overreached himself and outwitted him in a mean way.

"Liver!" shouted Dr. Bolster savagely.

"Nerves!" retorted Dr. Pepper.

"Rigid!" their gravelly voices rang in unison and for the first time in their acquaintance they were agreed.

Talk about hurrying! Bolster's Oxford shoe had been left behind. Now it was time to hurry.

SPEED OF A TRAIN.

You Can Figure It Out From the Clicks

of the Railroad.

If any reader wishes, when on a long railway journey, to test the speed at which the train is traveling, he might per chance do worse than follow the method suggested by "Nothing to Do."

"We were coming down from London to Huddersfield," he says, "and the wheels flying over the rails beat out to my brain the rhythmic time 'Nothing to do, nothing to do as they went over the joints in the rails. I took out my watch and with the aid of the second hand counted the number of 'nothing to do's' which were beaten out during one-quarter of an hour. I found that twenty-two was the number. Twenty-two by four gave me eighty-eight for one minute. The rails of the L. and N. W. railway are sixty feet long; therefore, 88 by 60 gave me 5,280, which was, of course, the number of feet we were traveling in the minute. Thus I was able to tell my traveling companion, with some degree of accuracy, that at that time we were traveling at a mile a minute."

"Any reader can do this. All that is necessary is to find out beforehand the length of the rails and after that to watch your watch." London Answers.

She Rapped Bismarck.

Bismarck was no favorite with women, least of all with clever women who dared to think for themselves and imagine that they could fashion questions of state. He was never tired of smiling strong-minded ladies, putting them down and stamping on them.

One day he paid a visit to the Russian embassy at Berlin, where he behaved as usual, flouting even the mistress of the house, the Countess Scherzavall herself. He took his leave at length, to the relief of everybody, and presently the family mansion was heard hurrying at the great man as he passed through the courtyard. Immediately the countess ran to the open window, and Bismarck heard her voice, saying to him in a tone of gentle civility, "Oh, please, M. le Chancelier, don't bite my dog."

Take a look at the $1.50 table of shoes. The former price has been cut in two.

Select Trees With Care.

Trees for street and lawn should be studied and selected with the greatest care. They are for life, often for several generations, yet a dollar often decides the kind of tree. Much more thought and time are given to the selection of an easy chair. Many persons will willingly spend $50 or $100 for a chair who would not think of putting that amount into a tree.—Kansas Industrialist.

A Bad Outlook.

"No. I can't get up enough courage to ask old Patterson for his daughter."

"And why not?"

"Because I'm a builder of absolutely fireproof buildings and he is a fire insurance agent."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

She Knew.

Miss Gusher: Oh, please tell me! Do you think poets have to be born? The poet's wife: Yes, borne with—Harper's Bazar.

Men of most renowned virtue have sometimes been transgressing most truly kept the law.—John Milton

Subscribe for the Courier.

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

Special! Special! MISSES SAILOR DRESSES

Plain white or white with blue Trimming

Sizes 14, 16 and 18

Regular Price $5.00 now at $2.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

USED PLAIN LANGUAGE.

The Expression That Won the Judge an Artistic Thrashing.

Exclusive Shilley was one of the most unscrupulous characters that ever practiced law in Indiana. He had been laid up in the south, and, although a resident in the north for many years, still had a trace of the so-called "southern dialect" which made his characteristic and expressive utterances all the more striking. Having succeeded fairly well in his practice, he was the owner of a valuable farm or two. One day he had a handsome standing with one of his tenants, in the course of which the tenant gave him a sound thrashing. The same afternoon on the lawyer rode into M. A. Levinson's office, looking very much as if he had been thrashed.

"Hello!" said a friend, meeting him. "There must have been a runaway."

"No, sir," replied the judge grimly. "There was no runaway, sir, but there would have been if I could have got home, sir."

His tenant was arrested and tried for assault and battery. Of course Judge Shilley was the principal witness.

"What did you say to this man, Judge Shilley?" demanded the attorney who appeared for the tenant.

"Well, sir," returned the judge, "I said, 'You look like a runaway, sir.'"

"But what did you say?" insisted the lawyer.

At last, cornered and forced to answer directly, the old judge replied: "Well, your honor," turning from his questioner and addressing the court, "your honor, I may as well admit that I used the common American idiom—Yon'th's Compadre."

OUR COUNTY FINANCES

As Reported by County Treasurer Lewis for the Month of July.

The report of the county treasurer for the month of July is as follows:

RECEIPTS
Balance on hand July 1st, 1912, $2,207.32
Received from delinquent taxes, 25.00
Received from delinquent certificates, 25.00
Received from primary school, 11,214.00
Received from school, 14,400.00
Received from school, 14,400.00
Total, $28,911.32

DISBURSEMENTS
General fund, $1,200.00
Poor fund, 100.00
Circuit court orders, 10.00
Probate court orders, 10.00
Soldiers' relief fund, 2.00
City, township and village, 3,271.50
Primary school interest fund, 14,411.50
Mortgage tax, 25.00
Detroit House of Correction, 25.00
Balance on hand Aug. 1st, 1912, $15,000.00
Total, $28,911.32

Dated, Charlevoix, Mich., August 5, 1912.
R. H. V. LEWIS, County Treasurer.

Water Main Broken.

Wednesday night the water main across the river was broken, leaving the north side without water connections. As soon as possible water was furnished by hose and the work of repairing the broken water main was taken up. Diver Mason H. Rose is doing the work which is progressing rapidly.

At the Critical Stage.

"I understand that he was critically ill."

"He was as soon as he became convalescent."

"As soon as he became convalescent?"

"Yes. He was dangerously ill, and then as soon as he became convalescent he became so critical there was no pleasing him."—Pittsburgh Post.

Feminine Verdict.

"What was the verdict of that lady jury?"

"That the defendant was wearing a fright of a hat and that her gown didn't fit."—Pittsburgh Post.

Two of Them.

Reeder: Is it true that it takes a genius to live with a genius? De Ruyter: I'll ask my wife about it when I go home.—Puck

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

For Sale—15 cords of dry chunk wood. Inquire E. G. Wightman, phone 93, F. 12.

HORSE OWNERS ATTENTION

Try Crushed Oats

This Hot Weather

Come in and Let us Show you a Sample

Argo Milling Co.

...Clearance Sale...

To clean up stock we will sell for cash only

From August 1 to August 15

2 bars Hoefters white floating soap	5c
at
4 bars 10c Palm Olive soap	25c
at
4 bars 10c pure Olive soap	25c
at
6 bars Transparent Glycerine soap	25c
at 7 bars Puro 5c soap	25c
at
7 bars Lava 5c soap	25c
at
7 bars Santa Claus soap	25c
at 7 bars Leno soap	25c
at
1 box Santa Claus soap	$3.00
at
1 box Leno soap	$3.00
at
1 box Calumet soap	$2.15
at
1 box Rub No More soap	$3.95
at
1 box Sunny Monday soap	$4.00
at
1 box Oak Leaf soap	$3.15
at
1 box Rub No More Soap Powder	$3.95
at
1 box Swift's Pride soap	$3.00
at
1 box Galvanic soap	$4.00
at
1 box White American soap	$3.90
at
6 packages 5c Toilet Paper	25c
at
3 packages 10c Toilet Paper	25c
at
3 good 10c Clothes lines	25c
at
2 good 15c Clothes lines	25c
at
2 good 25c Clothes lines	45c
at 75c Willow Clothes basket	55c
at 85c Willow Clothes baskets	60c
at
Wash Tubs, Washboards and Wash Supplies very Cheap

All Children's, Boys', Women's and Men's Oxfords

—AT COST FOR CASH—

A. E. MASON

Cash Grocer
and Shoeman

HOLY ISLAND

The island in South Arm of beautiful Pine Lake made famous by King Strang and the Mormons over one-half century ago is now being platted into 50 big beautiful lots for resort purposes. Only 25 of these will be put on the market at the present time. Every lot is heavily wooded with several kinds of timber including pine, birch, maple, oak, beech, balsam, cedar, ash, elm, etc. Every lot has a wide water frontage and extends back to the new boulevard which runs through the center of the island from end to end. The new dock is completed and the steamer Hum takes passengers to and from the island 3 times a day.

I believe the natural beauty, the exclusiveness, and the accessibility of these island lots and the high-class improvements now assured will make these lots worth more than $1000 within three years. That is why I am reserving so many. At present the price is $300, subject to raise without notice. Terms 20 per cent cash, balance to suit purchaser.

C. I. B. McLEAN

319 Bridge Street, Charlevoix

IN CHARLEVOIX OFFICE IN BOYNE CITY OFFICE
Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday Monday, Thursday, Friday

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Friday is circus day.
Charles Emory is on the sick list this week.
Remember the Methodist bazaar Saturday.
A. E. Cross of East Jordan is in city today.
Mayor Nordrum was a Petoskey visitor Friday.
The Board of Poor Commissioners is in session today.
Born to Clarence Lapeer and wife Sunday, a baby girl.
W. A. Davoll of Boyne Falls is a business caller today.
R. O. Hisebe of East Jordan was a business caller Tuesday.
Mayor Nordrum spent Saturday and Sunday at Frankfort.
Mrs. P. R. Bogart is out again after her recent operation.
Will Finucan, Jr., left Sunday for a northern trip on the Mesinri.
"Josh" Jespersen and wife, of Petoskey, were in the city Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. John Bugher spent Sunday at their farm in Norwood.
Henry Waller spent Sunday at Ludington, Michigan, with friends.
Mrs. Jennie Morris, of Grand Rapids, is visiting relatives in the city.
Mrs. Joe Holcheck of Norwood visited Mrs. John Bugher last week.
Frank P. Geiken and wife, of Pellston, are visiting relatives in the city.
Mrs. H. F. Darling visited at Central Lake the latter part of the week.
Mrs. Annie of Mackinac Island is making a visit here with relatives.
Mrs. A. M. Burdick visited friends at East Jordan the first of the week.
E. N. Clark of East Jordan was a business caller in the city yesterday.
Misses Gertrude and Jessie Shapiro visited friends at Petoskey Sunday.
Mr. Willard Wixon, of Petoskey, spent Sunday with friends in the city.
Herbert McLain was an East Jordan visitor the latter part of the week.
Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hirschberg, of Bad Axe, are visiting at the Cohen home.
Mrs. M. E. Emory is making an extended visit with her daughter, Ruby.
Miss Cassie McKay of Newberry is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Will Smith.
Miss Kate Townsend of Otsego is visiting at the home of E. R. VanLeuvan.

Miss Anna Reuning of Saginaw is spending a few days with friends in the city.
Mr. and Mrs. Dan Burke, of Detroit, are visiting with G. W. Priest and wife.
Garret VanAlbburg in Hart, Michigan, visited relatives here the first of the week.
Robert O'Neil is seriously ill at his home, his hopes being held for his recovery.
A. J. Fisher spent Thursday and Friday at Boyne Falls, the guest of W. J. Pearson.
Mrs. Abe Hirschberg of Bay City, and nephew, are visiting at the home of the Cohens.
Vincent Langley of Canada, is making a visit with his sister, Mrs. W. J. Kachow.
Rev. H. A. Putnam now of Ludington, Mich., is greeting old friends in the city today.
Miss Anna Hagberg of Chicago, is making a two week's visit with Mrs. Kay Faulkner.
Mrs. E. Carter, of Iowa, is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jones Durand.
F. D. Ely and wife of Petoskey visited with "Old" Nordrum and family Sunday.
Hert A. Wilbur of Chicago, is making a short visit with his parents in the city.
Byron Cook of Helling, is making his parents, City Treasurer Cook and wife, a visit.
D. C. Loreday and family toured down in their machine from East Jordan, Tuesday.
Wilbur MacGregor, of Detroit, is making a few days' visit with Mrs. Dorothy Iddings.
Mrs. F. E. Lewis of Grand Rapids, is making a short visit with Judge Mayne and family.
Mrs. C. D. McLachlan has returned home after a short visit with relatives at Elk Rapids.
Mr. and Mrs. Leon F. Brower were in Petoskey last Friday, visiting relatives and friends.
Mrs. Nancy Morrison has been very ill the past week at her home on South Lake street.
J. H. Kendall left last week for Elk Rapids to fill a vacancy in the Progress printing office.
Mrs. John Ward and children of Traverse City, are visiting friends and relatives in the city.
Miss Mary Finucan left on the Manitow Saturday for a short visit with friends at St. Ignace.

George Wall and wife, formerly of this city, motored from Carson City the latter part of the week.
The Misses Arthur Nordrum, Blanche and Vera Nowland visited friends at Petoskey Sunday.
Mrs. Forsythe of Dallas, Texas, is spending the summer at the home of her father, J. A. Cameron.
H. I. McMillan, the East Jordan candidate for representative, was in the city the first of the week.
Leon Taylor, of Detroit, is making a short visit in the city with his parents, W. C. Taylor and wife.
Miss Esther Butlers returned to her home at Northport Saturday after a month's visit in the city.
Dr. Will Lewis, of Luther, Michigan, is making a two week's visit with his father, Dr. Levi Lewis.
Mrs. Kelly left Saturday for her home at Duluth after a short visit with her sister Mrs. M. E. Emory.
A. R. Struthers and wife of Hayes returned the latter part of the week after an extended visit in Oregon.
Mrs. Ida Robinson of Antigo, Wisconsin, is visiting at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Alton Wood.
Archie Carey has arrived in the city to make a two week's visit with his parents, Charles Carey and wife.
Archie Butters, of Pellston, joined his wife here Sunday, spending the day with his father Hon. A. Butters.
Mrs. A. Danto, son and daughter of Detroit, are visiting with the former's brother Charles Danto and wife.
Andrew Swinton and wife, of Ontonagon, Michigan, are visiting at the home of A. A. Swinton and family.
Mrs. A. E. VanLeuvan of Milford, Michigan, is making a visit with her son, E. R. VanLeuvan, and family.
Mrs. C. S. Dodge is making a four week's trip with Mr. Dodge. She is now making a short visit at Kalamazoo.
There is a smile all over the countenance of Jess Smith, for he has a young drayman at his house, born August 2.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilbert of the Sop spent Sunday in the city with the former's brother, Lee Gilbert, and wife.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cohen of Jackson are making a few weeks visit at the Levison cottage on Dixon avenue.
Mrs. Sarah Emory and Mrs. For sythe of Dallas, Texas, visited friends at Boyne Falls the latter part of the week.
Miss Maggie O'Neill, of Milwaukee, arrived in the city Saturday, called by the serious illness of her brother, Robert O'Neill.
Mrs. Harry Card of Grand Rapids arrived in the city yesterday to make a visit with her brother, Capt. E. E. Pugh and family.
D. N. Gregory last week exhibited a head of lettuce 4x16 inches, grown on the H. C. Wickersham farm, five miles south of Charlevoix.
Mrs. McKay and daughter returned to their home at Newberry Saturday, after a few weeks visit with her daughter, Mrs. Will Smith.
The Misses Grace and Ella McGee arrived here Friday from Mt. Pleasant where they have attended the state normal for the past year.
Ray Butters, of Pellston, who has been visiting the past week with Mr. and Mrs. A. Butters left Saturday for a short visit at Northport.
Miss Rena Holmes and son Robert, of Brooksville, Miss., have arrived in the city, called by the serious illness of her father, Robert O'Neill.
Mrs. E. S. Small and daughter, Pearl and Bessie, of Milwaukee, arrived in the city Monday to make a visit at the home of G. C. Geiken and family.
Mrs. D. H. Stacks of Myline, Ill., arrived in the city Tuesday to make a month's visit with her parents, Judge and Mrs. F. W. Mayne and family.
Mrs. Mabelle McGuirk, who is spending the summer at Boyne City with her mother Mrs. D. Francis, spent Sunday with friends in the city.
Misses Margaret Holden and Whittemore who are spending the summer at Ironton visited with Miss Janie Mitchell the latter part of the week.
Mrs. A. H. Shepherd and Mrs. O. A. Trombly left Saturday to spend the summer months at Petoskey. They then expect to leave for Ohio and the eastern states.
L. C. Carey, who has been spending the summer in southern Michigan, arrived here Saturday for a few days' visit with his parents Charles Carey and wife.
Lewis Challen and Miss Ida Stinson, both young people of Charlevoix were united in marriage last Sunday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage, Rev. Atchison officiating.
Miss Louie Lower left the first of the week for Mt. Pleasant where she will remain about a week and then go to California. From there she will go to Tucson, Arizona where she will teach the coming year.
Announcements have been received to the effect that Richard Drescher, formerly of this city, was married July 20th at Grawn, Michigan to Miss Helen Taylor of Saginaw. They will reside at Grawn.
The Methodist ladies will hold a bazaar and baked goods sale at Mrs. Carr's millinery store commencing at 9:30 Saturday morning, August 10. There will be a Chinese tea table where refreshments will be served.
Frank Taylor left Thursday for Nepon, Wisconsin, where he is employed by the U. S. government as lumber inspector. He was called here by the serious illness of his father three weeks ago. His wife and baby will remain for an extended visit with relatives.
Prof. G. A. Masselink of Big Rapids, Ferris Institute, will talk to the Men's Bible class next Sunday, on "Is Christianity worth while?" Every man who heard Prof. Masselink last winter will be there with his friends. Mrs. Corinne Moore Lawson of Cincinnati will sing.
W. T. Driggett met with quite a bad accident yesterday. In turning around his drag he turned around too short throwing him underneath and frightening the horses. Mr. Driggett was quite badly bruised but no bones were broken and he will out again in a few days.
Watch for the "Kitties" band tomorrow.
For Sale.
Three small homes for sale, on south terrace, one block from Bridge street. Cash or easy terms. Inquire of O. D. Hammond. 251

CRANE'S

Do Your Stamping at Home

You can stamp linens, wearthings, draperies and fancy work quickly and easily with a hot iron and

Ladies' Home Journal Transfer Patterns

There's no waiting on the whim of a stamping concern, no payment for fancy processes. You save time and money using these patterns at

10c and 15c

If you like to embroider or stencil, you'll enjoy

The Embroidery Book

a complete catalogue of Ladies' Home Journal Transfer Patterns showing hundreds of ideas in needlework for practical and decorative purposes for

10 cents

Get a Copy at our Pattern Counter

Special Sale on

Muslin Underwear

We are going to have a Special Sale on Muslin Underwear

Sale Lasts Until Saturday, August 10th

All reg. 25c Cor-set Covers.....	19c	All reg. $1.75 Skirts.....	$1.29
All reg. 50c Cor-set Covers.....	39c	All reg. $1.00 Princess Slips.....	79c
All regular 50c Gowns.....	38c	All $1.50 Princess Slips.....	$1.15
All regular $1.00 Gowns.....	79c	All $1.00 Continuation Suits.....	79c
All reg. $1.50 Gowns.....	$1.15	All regular 25c Drawers.....	19c
All reg. $1.50 Skirts.....	$1.15	All regular 50c Drawers.....	39c

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

EDUCATION PAYS

Look about you and see how many men and women are better educated than you. They are better educated, they are better paid, they are better off. They are better off because they are better educated. They are better off because they are better educated. They are better off because they are better educated.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15c first insertion.

COW FOR SALE—Inquire of H. Bedford. 251

FOR SALE—Choice young pigs. J. B. Wilkinson. 251

Girls wanted at Fountain City House. Inquire at once. 251

FOR SALE—Red raspberries for canning. E. A. Reed, phone 1571 long 24, R. F. D. No. 1. 251

FOR SALE—Grey mare, six years old, weight 1400, W. H. Mayne, R. F. D. No. 1. 251

FOR SALE—Some good second hand furniture, cheap. Inquire in Centre's restaurant at 12 or 6 o'clock. 251

FOR SALE—Modern room house, electric light and bath, 26 West Capital Ave. Terms, Robert G. Madill. 301nd

FOR SALE—Bay horse three years old, well broke single and double. E. W. Menden, Charlevoix, Mich. 303

FARM FOR SALE—5 acres 3 miles north-east of Charlevoix, 10 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call on Wm. D. W. Mahoney, P. O. box 133. 303nd

Monarch Malleable Range

There's genuine pleasure in using a range which does its full duty at all times and responds quickly and easily to every wish of the housewife. It is pleasant to have confidence in a Range and to feel sure that it will continue to give splendid, satisfactory service day in and day out for years and years. The will do all this and more. It will actually save you money—time—labor. Its many advantages and conveniences will appeal to you—its special features will surely interest you. We invite you to call and thoroughly acquaint yourself with the Monarch.

Monarch Malleable Range

Allow us to explain every detail of its construction and prove to you conclusively that the Monarch will justify all claims that we make for it.

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Charlevoix Theater

Wednesday, Aug. 14

2 Years in New York The Great American Play 7 Months in Chicago
Wagenhals & Kemper Co. Present

"Success"—New York Herald.
"Season's best find"—Abin Dale, American Journal.
"Held audience breathless"—Evening Journal.
"Exceptionally absorbing drama"—Times.
"His dramatic hit"—Acton Davis, Sun.
PAID IN FULL
By Eugene Walter

Brilliantly Cast and Staged Greatest Dramatic Success in 20 Years
Most Important Theatrical Event of the Season Seat Sale at Central Drug Store

"Absorbing"—Burns Mantle, Tribune.
"Laughing with rich comedy"—Amy Leslie, News.
"Strikes home"—A. L. Hall, Journal.
"Triumphed"—Percy Hammond, Post.
"Great"—Warren McInyre, American.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THOSE DELEGATES

Roosevelt Contests Instigated to Deceive the Public.

ALL BUT 74 WERE ABANDONED

An Examination of the Facts Shows That the Tribunals Which Decided These Contests in Favor of Mr. Taft Were Right in Every Instance—The Remaining 164 Contests Were Frivolous, and Their Prompt Abandonment Reflects Upon the Genuineness and Validity of the Remainder.

Washington, July 29.—Here are the facts in relation to the contested seats in the Republican national convention. It is a summary of a detailed statement going carefully into all of the cases, a statement so thorough that it takes up 150 pages of printed matter. This statement is signed by Mr. Victor Rosawater, chairman of the former Republican national committee; by Mr. J. H. Devine of Colorado, chairman of the committee on credentials of the Republican national convention, and by Mr. Charles D. Hillea, chairman of the present Republican national committee. The total number of delegates summoned to the convention under its call was 1,078, with 540 necessary to a choice. Mr. Taft had 561 votes on the first and only ballot and was declared the nominee. There were instituted against 238 of the delegates regularly elected for Taft contests on behalf of Roosevelt. These contests were avowedly instigated not for the purpose of really securing seats in the convention, not for the purpose of adding evidence which would lead any respectable court to entertain the contests, but for the purpose of deceiving the public into the belief that Mr. Roosevelt had more votes than he really had, as the conventions and primaries were in progress for the selection of delegates. This is not only a necessary inference from the character of the contests, but it was boldly avowed by the chief editor of the newspapers owned by Mr. Munsey, who has been Mr. Roosevelt's chief financial and newspaper supporter. The 238 contests were reduced by abandonment to seventy-four.

The very fact of these 164 frivolous contests itself reflects upon the genuineness and validity of the remainder. The seventy-four delegates include six at large from Arizona, four at large from Kentucky, four at large from Indiana, six at large from Michigan, eight at large from Texas and eight at large from Washington, and also two district delegates each from the Ninth Alabama, the Fifth Arkansas, the Thirteenth Illinois, the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Kentucky, the Third Oklahoma, the Second Tennessee and from each of nine districts, the First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Fourteenth of Texas.

CONTESTED DELEGATES AT LARGE.

In the Arizona convention there were ninety-three votes. All the delegates, six in number—were to be selected at large. The counties were entitled to select their delegates through their county committee or by primary. In one county, Maricopa, a majority of the committee decided to select its delegates and a minority to have a primary. In other counties there were some contests, and the state committee, following the usage of the national committee, gave a hearing to all contestants in order to make up the temporary roll. There was a clear majority of the Taft delegates among the uncontested delegates. The committee made up the temporary roll and then there was a bolt, sixty-four remaining in the hall and twenty-five withdrawing therefrom. The case of the Taft majority was so clear that it is difficult to understand why a contest was made.

In Indiana the four Taft delegates at large were elected in a state convention to which Marion county, in which Indianapolis is situated, was entitled to 128 votes. A primary was held in Indianapolis, at which Taft polled 6,000 and Roosevelt 1,400 votes. This gave Taft 106 delegates in the state convention from Marion county, and if they were properly seated the control of the convention by a large majority was conceded to Taft. Attempt was made to impeach the returns from Marion county by charges of fraud and repudiation. These charges were of a general character, without specification except as to one ward out of fifteen wards, and then the impeaching witness admitted he could not claim fraud enough to change the result in that ward. The national committee, upon which there were fifteen anti-Taft men, rejected the Roosevelt contestants and gave the Taft delegates their seats by a unanimous vote. Senator Borah and Mr. Frank B. Kellogg, both Roosevelt men, made speeches in explaining the votes in which they said that the case turned wholly on the Marion county primary, and as there was no evidence to impeach the result certified, the title of the Taft delegates was clear. This is the convention whose proceedings called forth such loud charges of theft and fraud from Mr. Roosevelt.

Kentucky. In Kentucky a contest was filed against only three of the four delegates at large. The fourth Taft delegate's seat was uncontested. The three contestants admitted they were not elected by the convention which sent the Taft delegates or by any other. They only contended that if the Roosevelt forces had had a majority they would have been elected. There were 2,356 delegates summoned to the convention by its call. There were 440 of these whose seats were contested. If all of these had been conceded to Roosevelt it would have made the Roosevelt vote 297 votes less than a majority. The appeal to the committee on credentials from the decision of the national committee was abandoned, as it ought to have been.

Michigan. In Michigan the state convention had in it about 1,200 delegates. There were only two counties in dispute or contest. One was Wayne county, in which Detroit is situated, and the other was Calhoun county. The evidence left no doubt that the Taft men carried by a very large majority Wayne county, but it was immaterial whether this was true or not, because, leaving out both Wayne county and Calhoun county, the only counties in contest, the Taft delegates outnumbered by several hundred the Roosevelt delegates, and they had a clear majority out of the total number of votes that should have been in the convention. The contest was so weak as to hardly merit recital.

Texas. In Texas there were 249 counties, of which four have no county government. The 245 counties under the call of the convention were allowed to have something over 1,000 delegates, representing them, who were given authority to cast 245 votes. Of the 245 counties there were ninety-nine counties in which the total Republican vote was but 2,000. In fourteen of which there were no Republican voters, in twenty-seven of which there were less than ten each and in none of which was there any Republican organization and in none of which had a primary or convention been held. It was shown that Colonel Cecil Lyon, to whom had been assigned as referee the disposition of the patronage of the national Republican administration for ten years in the state, had been in the habit of controlling the Republican state convention by securing from two federal of ficials in each of these ninety-nine counties a certificate granting a proxy to Colonel Lyon or a friend of his to represent the county as if regularly conferred by a Republican county organization. The national committee and the committee on credentials and the convention after the fullest investigation decided that these ninety-nine counties in which the Republican vote was so small and in which there was no Republican party, no convention, no primary, no organization, was not the proper source for a proxy to give a vote equal to that to be cast by the other 146 counties in which there was a Republican organization and in which primaries or conventions were held. The two committees therefore held such ninety-nine proxies to be illegal and not the basis of proper representation. The two tribunals who heard the case decided that they should deduct the ninety-nine votes from the total of 245 and give the representation to those who controlled the majority of the remainder. The remainder was 152 votes, and out of that the Taft men had carried eighty-nine counties, having ninety votes. This gave to the Taft men a clear majority in the state convention and with it eight delegates at large.

WASHINGTON. The contest in Washington turned on the question whether the Taft delegates appointed by the county committee in King county, in which Seattle is situated, were duly elected to the convention or whether a primary, which was subsequently held and at which Roosevelt delegates were elected, was properly called, so that its result was legal. Under the law the county committee had the power to decide whether it would select the delegates directly or should call a primary. In some counties of the state one course was pursued and in other counties the other. In King county the committee consisted of 250 men, the majority of whom were for Taft, and that majority, acting through its executive committee, selected the Taft delegates to the state convention. Meanwhile the city council of Seattle had redistricted the city. It before had 250 precincts. Now substantially the same territory was divided up into 381 precincts. The chairman of the county committee was a Roosevelt man. He had been given authority by general resolution to fill vacancies occurring in the committee. A general meeting of the committee had been held after the city council had directed the redistricting of the city, in which it was resolved, the chairman not dissenting, that representatives could not be selected to fill the 331 new precincts until an election was held in September, 1912. Thereafter and in spite of this conclusion the chairman assumed the right by his appointment to add to the existing committee 131 precinct committeemen, and with these voting in the committee it is claimed that a primary was ordered. There was so much confusion in the meeting that this is doubtful. However, the fact is that the Taft men protested against any action by a committee so constituted on the ground that the chairman had no authority to appoint the 131 new committeemen. They refused to take part in the primary, and so did the La Follette men. The newspapers reported the number of votes in the primary to be something over 2,000. The Roosevelt committee showed by affidavits the number to be a fraction of a usual total Republican vote of 7,000. The action of the chairman of the committee in attempting to add 131 precinct men to the old committee was, of course, beyond his power. The resolution authorizing him to fill vacancies, of course, applied only to those places which became vacant after they had been filled and clearly did not apply to 131 new precincts. It could not be nature of things apply to a change from the old system to a complete new system of precincts created by the city council, because if they were to be filled the entire number of 331 new precincts different from the old must be filled. One system could not be made into the other by a mere additional appointment of 131 committeemen. No lawyer will say that such action by the committee thus constituted was legal. Therefore the action which the lawful committee of 250 took in electing Taft delegates who made a majority in the state convention was the only one which could be recognized as valid.

CONTESTED DISTRICT DELEGATES.

ALABAMA. Ninth District. The Ninth Alabama contest turned on the question whether the chairman of a district committee had power to fill vacancies, whether a committee man who had sent his resignation to take effect only in case he was not present, being present, should be appointed as committee man, and, third, on the identity of another committeeman. The written resolution under which the right of the chairman to appoint to vacancies was claimed showed in its face that the specific authority was written in in different writing and different colored pencil between the lines. A number of affidavits were filed by committeemen who were present when the resolution was passed to show that the resolution contained no such authority. This gave rise to a question of fact upon which a very large majority of both the national committee and the committee on credentials held that the lead pencil insertion was a forgery, that the chairman did not have the authority therefore to appoint to the vacancies, and therefore the action of his committee was not valid. This made it necessary to reject the contestants. The committee decided the two other issues of fact before them in favor of the Taft contention, although the first decision was conclusive.

ARKANSAS. Fifth District. In the Fifth Arkansas the question was one of the identity of one faction or the other as the Republican party. This convention followed the example of the convention of 1908 in holding that what was known as the Redding faction was not the Republican party, that it was a distinct organization and had only acquired life at the end of each four years for the purpose of using it in the national convention. The contestants were therefore rejected. It was shown that the other or Taft had been in active existence on the Republican party, had nominated a local ticket and had run a congress man.

CALIFORNIA. Fourth District. The Fourth California presented this question: Under the state law the delegation two from each district, was elected on a general ticket, in a group of twenty-six. Each delegate might either express his presidential preference or agree to vote for the presidential candidate receiving the highest number in the state. In the Fourth district the two candidates from that district on the Taft ticket expressed a preference for Taft, but did not agree to vote for the candidates having the highest state vote. These Taft delegates, in the Fourth district, received a majority of 290 more than the Roosevelt delegates in that district. The national call forbade any law or the acceptance of any law which prevented the election of delegates by districts. In other words, the call of the national convention was at variance with the state law. The state law sought to enforce the state unit rule and required the whole twenty-six delegates to be voted for all over the state, assigning two to each district on the ticket to abide the state wide election, while the Republican national convention has insisted upon the unit of the district since 1880. That has been the party law. This convention reorganized the party law and held it to be more binding than that of the state law and allowed the two delegates who had received in the Fourth district a vote larger than their two opponents assigned to that district, to become delegates in the convention. This was clearly lawful, for a state has no power to limit or control the basis of representation of a voluntary national party in a national convention. The fact that President Taft by telegram approved the twenty-six delegates as representing him is said to be an example against his claiming the election of two of those delegates to the Fourth district. What is inconsistent in his approving the election of all his delegates and the election of two of them? They cannot be thus stopped to claim that part of the law was inoperative because of conflict with the call of the convention. (Continued next week)

AUCTION PINE POINT

Thursday, Friday Saturday AUGUST 8, 9, 10

Pine Point, formerly "Boy City," is the most desirable resort property in Northern Michigan. Already nearly one-half of the lots have been sold and the owners are asking twice what they paid for them. Today no better investment can be made than lots at Pine Point. This is the only chance to buy close in property at a reasonable price on easy terms.

20% Cash Monthly Payments
TITLE PERFECT

Free Handsome Silver Souvenirs Given Each Day of The Auction

Transportation to the Auction On the days of the sale, August 8, 9, 10, the boats will begin making trips in Pine Point at 1:00 p. m. at the foot of Clinton street. The automobiles will take passengers at the corner of Clinton and Bridge streets.

Pine Point is the best Summer Resort Property ever offered for Sale

GEORGE FRYHOFFER, Auctioneer

926 First National Bank Building, Chicago
Office, Elston Hotel, Charlevoix, Mich.

NORTH CHARLEVOIX COMPANY

J. L. Crane, Pres. Lisle Shanahan, Secy. R. C. Hammett, Treas.

GRANGE PICNIC

Maple Grove Grange Hall

Saturday, Aug. 24

A good speaker will be present and an interesting program has been arranged

Base Ball Game

Athletic Contests

Dance in the Evening

Dinner and Supper 25 cents

Refreshments Sold on Grounds

Candidates and Everybody Invited

Good Order - - Good Music

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page
& Co.

(Continued from page three)

Elnora awoke back, starting at Polly in confused amazement. She was a beautiful girl, dressed in some wonderful way. Her eyes were sparkling and dancing, and as she turned to make way for the others she kept one of Elnora's hands in hers. Edith towered low, muttered something and touched Elnora's fingers. In that instant only pity was in Elnora's breast for the flashing dark beauty.

"Come into the shade," she urged. "You must have found it warm on these country roads. Won't you lay aside your dust coats and have a cool drink? Philip, would you ask mother to come and bring that pitcher in the springhouse?"

They entered the arbor, exclaiming at the dim, green coolness. Mrs. Comstock came deliberately, talking to Ammon as she approached. Elnora gave her one searching look, but could discern only an extreme brightness of eye to denote any unusual feeling. Polly instantly went to her and held up her face to be kissed. Mrs. Comstock's eyes twinkled, and she made the greeting hearty.

Soon the pitcher was empty, and Elnora picked it up and went to refill it. While she was gone Henderson asked Philip about some trouble he was having with his car. They went to the woods and began a minute exultation to find a defect which did not exist. Polly and Elnora were having an animated conversation with Mrs. Comstock. Henderson saw Edith arise, follow the garden path next the woods, and stand waiting under the willow which Elnora would pass on her return.

It was for that meeting he had made the trip. He got down on the ground, tore up the car, worked, asked for help and kept Philip busy screwing bolts and applying the oil can. All the time Henderson kept an eye on Edith and Elnora under the willow. But he took pains to lay the work he asked Philip to do where that scene would be out of his sight. When Elnora came around the corner with the pitcher she found herself facing Edith Carr.

"I want a minute with you," said Miss Carr.

"Very well," replied Elnora, walking "over the pitcher on the bench there," commanded Edith Carr as if speaking to a servant.

"I prefer not to offer my guests a warm drink," said Elnora. "I'll come back if you really wish to speak with me."

"I came solely for that," said Edith Carr.

"It would be a pity to travel so far in this dust and heat for nothing. I'll only be gone a second."

Elnora set the pitcher before her mother. "Please serve this," she said. "Miss Carr wishes to speak with me."

The girl slowly and gravely walked back to the willow.

"Will you be seated?" she asked politely. Edith Carr glanced at the bench, while a sander shook her.

"No, I prefer to stand," she said. "Did Mr. Ammon give you the ring you are wearing, and do you consider yourself engaged to him?"

"By what right do you ask such personal questions as those?" inquired Elnora.

"By the right of a betrothed wife. I have been promised to Philip Ammon."

ever since I wore short skirts. All our lives we have expected to marry. An agreement of years cannot be broken in one insane moment. Always he has loved me devotedly. Give me ten minutes with him and he will be mine for all time."

"I seriously doubt that," said Elnora. "But I am perfectly willing that you should make the test. I will call him."

"Stop!" commanded Edith Carr. "I told you that it was you I came to see."

"I remember," said Elnora. "Mr. Ammon is my betrothed," continued Edith Carr. "I expect to take him back to Chicago with me."

"Then it is untrue that you twice rejected his ring, repeatedly insulted him and publicly renounced him?"

"That was through you," cried Edith Carr. "I realize the spell of this

"I want a minute with you," said Miss Carr.

place for a summer season. I can see just how you have worked to ensure him!"

"Men would call that lying," said Elnora calmly. "The second time I met Philip Ammon he told me of his engagement to you, and I respected it. When he left me I did not hope or expect to see him again. Elnora's voice fell soft and low. "And, behold, you sent him—and free!"

"You exult in that?" cried Edith Carr. "Let me tell you he is not free: it is married you before a month you would read heart hunger for me in his eyes. He could not love me as he has done and give me up for a little scene like that!"

"You killed his love everlastingly when you disgraced him in public," said Elnora. "Killed it so completely he does not even feel resentment to ward you."

Edith Carr stood truly regal and filled with sedition. "You are mistaken. Nothing on earth could kill that," she cried, and Elnora saw that the girl really believed what she said.

"You are very sure of yourself," said Elnora.

"I have reason to be sure," answered Edith Carr. "We have lived and loved too long. I have had years with him to match against your days. He is mine! His work, his ambitions, his friends, his place in society are with me. You may have a summer charm for a sick man in the country. It is tried placing you in society you would put him to shame in a week."

"I hardly think I should follow your example so far," said Elnora dryly. "I have a feeling for Philip that would prevent my hurting him purposely either in public or private. As for managing a social career for him he never mentioned that he desired such a thing. What he asked of me was that I should be his wife. I understood that to mean that he desired me to keep him a clean house, serve him digestible food, mother his children and give him loving sympathy and tenderness."

"Such vulgarity!" panted Edith Carr. "How can a man like Ammon endure it? You know perfectly that if your pony hold on him were broken, if he were back in his home among his friends and where he was meeting me, in one little week he would be mine again as he always has been."

"That will do," said Elnora. "I shall not net until I know there will be nothing to regret. I have decided on my course. You may return to your friends."

"What do you mean?" demanded Edith Carr.

"That is my affair," replied Elnora. "Only this: When your opportunity comes, seize it. Any time you are in Philip Ammon's presence, exert the charms of which you boast and take him. Take him to Onashaba and to Chicago with you. Use every art you possess. If the old charm can be revived I will be the first to wish both of you well. Now, I must return to my guests. Kindly excuse me."

Elnora turned and went back to the arbor. Edith Carr followed the fence and passed through the gate into the west woods where she asked Henderson if the car was ready. As she stood near him she whispered, "Take Phil back in Onashaba with us."

"I say, Ammon, can't you go to the city with us and help me find a shop where I can get this pinion fixed?" asked Henderson. "We want to touch and start back by 5. That will get us home by midnight."

(Continued next week.)

We do Fine Job Printing.

Courier rates on application.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

To the Republican Voters of Charlevoix County

Hon. William J. Pearson having given notice that he will not be a candidate for a third term as Representative in the State Legislature, I have decided to announce myself as a candidate as his successor. If the people of Charlevoix county feel that I served them faithfully during my first term during the session of 1911, I shall appreciate their support in the primaries, and if successful I shall endeavor in the future, as I have in the past, to serve as a true representative of the people under any and all circumstances. Very respectfully, 31-1-1-adv. Robert W. Faldock.

Notice to Republican Electors

As a representative in the legislature is to be elected in this county, I have decided to be a candidate for the position, subject to the approval of the Republicans of Charlevoix county at the August primary. If nominated and elected I will serve the county in that office to the best of my ability, and will appreciate the support of all Charlevoix county Republicans.
30-1-1-adv. Herman I. McMillan.

Notice

I take this method of announcing that I will be a candidate for Republican nomination for representative in the State Legislature at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.
30-1-1-adv. William Mears.

To the Democratic Voters

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of State Representative from the Charlevoix district on the Democratic ticket, at the primary election, August 27, 1912.
30-1-1-adv. William J. Lewis.

Announcement

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Prosecuting Attorney, at the primary August 27, 1912.
27-1-1-adv. Kollie L. Lewis.

Announcement

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.
27-1-1-adv. Clarence C. Schaub.

Notice to Electors

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket at the primary election August 27. Trusting that my conduct of the office has been such as to secure your approval, your support will be appreciated.
27-1-1-adv. Frank P. Rognieux.

Announcement

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Clerk on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.
27-1-1-adv. W. Alvin Dafoell.

To the Democratic Voters

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Register of Deeds on the Democratic ticket, subject to the primary election, August 27, 1912.
30-1-1-adv. Byron J. Quick.

To the Electors

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.
19-1-1-adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

Notice to Electors

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.
19-1-1-adv. ROMEA A. EMREY.

Announcement

The undersigned will be a candidate at the August primary for nomination to the office of Judge of Probate on the Republican ticket. If you believe that I would—if nominated and elected—faithfully and efficiently discharge the duties of that office, I will be grateful for your support.
28-1-1-adv. ELISHA N. CLINE.

Notice to the Republican Electors of Charlevoix County

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for judge of probate at this county at the primary election appointed to be held on the last Tuesday in August, this year.

I am now serving my third term in this office. I like the work and the compensation that goes with it, therefore I am a candidate; and if a majority of the electors express themselves that I am their choice for another term, I will administer the office for another term to the best of my ability.
July 1, 1912. John M. Harris. 27-1-1-adv.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right Advertising that brings Results

A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

CHARLEVOIX THEATER

Thursday, August 8

HOOT MON! "The Kilties"

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO

Canada's Greatest Concert Band

HEAR

That Band That Always Makes a Hit

See Their troupe of Scotch Highland
Dancers that always thrill

Feel Really Pleased with their unique entertainment ranging from bag-pipe playing to the rendition of the greatest works of MASTERS OF MUSIC

Prices

Matinee, 25c, 35c, 50c—
Night, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, $1

Grange Column

Maple Grove Grange.

Maple Grove grange met in regular session Tuesday evening July 31, with Worthy Master E. E. Stroud in the chair, with an attendance of twenty-eight members and one visitor.

One application for membership was received.

Three candidates were initiated in the third and fourth degrees.

A vote of thanks was voted to Brother O. Tillotson, for making a wardrobe.

The annual picnic will be held Saturday August 24. Everybody welcome.

At the close of the session a fine supper was served by the ladies.

A. S. Jones of the Lee Pharmacy,
Chico, Cal., who has handled Foley & Co.'s medicines for many years, says: "I consider that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has no equal, and is the one cough medicine I can recommend as containing no narcotics or other harmful properties." The genuine in a yellow package. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N.
Metcalfe, Prop.

Pomona Grange Meeting.

Charlevoix Pomona grange will meet with Bay Shore grange Thursday, August 22. Bay Shore is one

ALWARD for CONGRESS

For Representative in Congress
DENNIS E. ALWARD

The Republicans of Charlevoix county unanimously support him. Such and endorsement from a group's own neighbors is a high tribute. They vouch for him and ask you to vote for him.

Out Door Life

To enjoy it properly we can furnish you with

Porch Furniture, Rugs
Hammocks, Etc.

Remember we can furnish you with the best
REFRIGERATORS on the Market

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

of the newly organized granges and as this will be the first opportunity she has had to entertain Pomona it is hoped there will be a large attendance. The program will be announced later.

Robert W. Herter, Lawrenceville, Mo., who had been bothered with kidney trouble for two years, says:
"I tried three different kinds of kidney pills but with no relief. My neighbor told me to use Foley Kidney Pills. I took three bottles of them, and got a permanent cure.
I recommend them to everybody."
Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalfe, Prop.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van-
Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a.
m.

Subject: "Spirit."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday
Thursday and Saturday from 2:00
to 5:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH
Regular services at the Methodist church.

Good singing, gospel preaching,
warm welcome.

Morning service at 10:30 followed by Sunday school at noon.

Lesson, "A Troubled Sea and a Troubled Soul." Mark 4, 35-41 and 5, 1-20.

League meeting is at 6:30. It is largely attended.

Subject: "The Power of Mind."
Evening preaching by pastor 7:30.

Prayer meeting Thursday evening.

Epworth Church.

Sunday school 1:30.

Preaching 2:30.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Morning service 10:30. Subject,
"Is there a personal Devil?"

Sunday school 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Topic, "God's beautiful outlooks, what it teaches me." Leader, Frank May.

Evening service at 7:30.

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon
at Marion Town hall.

Beginning with next Sunday morning Pastor Atchison will preach upon this general theme:

"What the Bible teaches about Satan," the subject for next Sunday morning being, "Is there a personal Devil?"

Strangers always welcome. Seats
free.

A Well Known School.

The Detroit Business University of Detroit, Mich., is well and favorably known in every corner of our state as a result of its successful history of sixty-five years in training young men and women for business pursuits. The school is located in new premises at 65 West Grand River Ave., and under wise, aggressive management is doing most effective work along modern lines for the large body of students in constant attendance at this worthy institution. The Fall Term opens this year on August 26, and the handsome new calendar recently received at this office is certainly an interesting production. 311t

Teachers' Examination.

The regular examination for April will be held in the high school
building, in the city of Charlevoix,
on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 8, 9 and 10, beginning at 8:30
standard time.

One half the questions in reading
will be based on Hudson's Introduction to the History of Literature.
Certificates for all grades will be issued from this examination.

Paper will be furnished for applicants.

Applicants who expect to have their papers forwarded to other commissioners will write with pen.
Others may use pen or pencil.

31-1-2 J. H. Milford, Commissioner

THEATRICAL

Manager Wildern of the Majestic announces talking motion pictures for next Monday and Tuesday. Another special attraction for next week will be a trip from Norway to New York on one of the big Atlantic liners. This will be one of the most interesting trips ever shown in the city.

Don't get scared and think you are seeing things again if you notice a number of strange creatures on the streets tomorrow for they are harmless Scotch Canadians, members of the "Kilties" band.

They come in all sizes. One is a giant over seven feet tall, and another is but 35 pounds in weight and less than five feet in height.

Without question the globe-trotting
"Kilties" will be the queerest specimens of humanity seen in this city for years, and their performance as a concert band, with several special features, will be appreciated by all musically inclined people who are fortunate enough to hear them.

Many people will be amused at the mere sight of these men in short skirts and feather pointed bonnets, but the real side-splitting laughs will come to those who hear the band in some of their humor-esques and clever imitations.

The "Kilties" band will appear at the Charlevoix Theatre Thursday afternoon and evening, August 8.

Greatest Attraction of the Season.

With the elaborate looking and especially designed posters and lithographs of Sun Brothers' Big Shows, seen on the local billboards and dead walls, announcing their appearance here on Friday, August 9, there are many to revive the old contention that talented show harms a city in what it takes away from it.

This paper considers that the loss is more than answered in what the show brings to say nothing of the show dollars left behind in the nature of feed bills, license fees and other forms of paid claims, the volume of fun and delight bequeathed to the amusement-loving element of citizenship brings us in debt to the showman.

We despise the cynical growling that is provoked by the occasional invasion of folks who earn their living by exercising their talents of making the world happier.

The man who begrudges the patriotism is himself a very poor pattern of the virtue that he preaches. The Sun Brothers' Shows are making their twentieth annual tour, and they are bringing this season the greatest amusement effort of their long managerial career. There is a greater collection of wild beasts, trained animal novelties and many star European and American performers.

The show gives two complete and unabridged performances daily, in fair or rainy weather, at 2 and 8 p.
m. On the morning of show day and on the exhibition grounds, directly in front of the main entrance, will be presented upon a magnificent scale a series of "thriller" free exhibitions.

"Paid in Full."

When a play not only grips the heart-strings but plays an intermezzo on the tender chords, it bears the hall mark of a great success.
It is not surprising, therefore, that "Paid in Full" has made an appeal which has been heeded.

Eugene Walter actually lived the play. He breathes his very existence into it. It is almost unnecessary to say at the very beginning that the play is not a sweetmeat.
It is very strong food, and should only be taken by those who wish to harrow their very souls by a chapter from the lives of everyday people who are enacting the sordid tragedy of existence where sin is not so gilded that we are blinded by the glitter. It is the story of a sullen, vicious, resentful husband who has become so embittered in the daily grind that every spark of manhood and honor has been wiped out. He finally sacrifices his wife to smear over, if possible, with his employer's theft. The very goodness and innocence of the wife is her most effective shield.

With a powerful cast of players,
"Paid in Full" will be submitted for your approval at Charlevoix Theatre August 14, 1912.

A Chameleon's Tongue.

The tongue of the chameleon is wonderfully extensible and extensible. A naturalist says: "By the former word I mean the distance it can be thrown out of the mouth. By the latter word its own elongation is inferred, for I am sure there is not space sufficient in the lower part of the mouth to accommodate the eight inch tongue which can be thrown out unless it is greatly contracted again. We know that it lies "folded" in the mouth, but it folds into a very small space, and when I have held a chameleon's mouth wide open to try to get a sight of this remarkable member it lies so compactly in the loose lower lip that to see it is next to impossible."

See my line of Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases. I am carrying the largest and most complete line ever shown in the city. I buy direct from the manufacturers in large quantities and can sell at a very low price.

Trunks $3.50 to $18

Bags $1.75 to $10

Suit Cases $1.00 to $10

All Kinds of Repairing Done

Benj. Brown

Sew in Comfort

This is a statement easily made, but the question is, "What sewing machine shall I buy to sew in comfort?" The question is easily solved—just take a few minutes when down town and come in to our store and try a

White Sewing Machine

There are no better on the market. Easy to operate, simple in construction, and the more you use one, the more attached you become to it.

$45.00 Cash

$47.50 on Easy Payments

Keep in mind at all times that we have needles of all kinds—

This is the place to get them.

Rugs 50c to $5.00

Edison Phonographs and 20 Records, $18.00

PICTURE FRAMES AND FRAMING

Remember at all times that you can buy new and second-hand goods a lot cheaper at this store than any place in Charlevoix County—mail order houses included.

Dice & Stafford

"Just around the Corner"

Phone 104

Mason Street

Pony "Paxel" to Rent. Inquire at Store.

COMING

LE COMTE & FLEISHER'S
GORGEOUS MUSICAL FANTASY

Charlevoix Ranch.

E. N. Chapel and wife of the Charlevoix ranch were in the city Saturday. This ranch, so named in honor of the Michigan city that was the former home of the Chapels, was originally the old Savage donation claim, five miles above town, on the south side of Rogue river. Under its new ownership the farm is being greatly improved, Mr. Chapel having just installed an electric irrigation plant with which he proposes to water forty or more acres. He has a varied line of crops, such as onions, potatoes, etc. this season, all of which he reports as doing well.—Rogue River, Oregon, Corier.

Take a trip on an Atlantic liner
at the Majestic next week.

Notice.

Wolverine, Mich., Aug. 1st, 1912
Notice to The Citizens Mutual Fire Insurance Co. policy holders. As I have hoped we now have enough money to pay all debts of said Co.
and some besides. I am now instituting proceedings to have the re-ceivership reinstated and suits will be commenced against all policy holders who have not paid. Will you pay now or wait and pay with court fees attached?

Very truly yours,
J. L. Hartner.

Courier rates on application.

Majestic Theater

Talking Motion Pictures

..Monday and Tuesday..
August 12 and 13

Also a Steamer Trip From Norway to New York

On one of the Big Atlantic Liners

The more your customers know your goods
the easier to make sales

Best Goods at Lowest Prices

Come in and Let us Convince You

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE
Telephone 125 Antrim Street

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 33

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

QUESTION OF GOOD ROADS

Misunderstanding Exists in Regard to the Special Election.

TO BE HELD ON AUGUST 27

No Question in Regard to the Necessity of Building Good Roads.

Interesting Article From Boyne City Journal—Good Roads Will Reduce the Cost to Farmers of Marketing Products.

It is quite true that of all the matters to be considered in the present campaign no other should be so important to the common people as that of voting to bond the county for the purpose of building and maintaining good roads. Not a day passes but we have good and sufficient reason for wishing we had better thoroughfares, and here is the opportunity for getting them on a systematic basis.

It has come to the knowledge of the writer that in certain localities people are laboring under a misunderstanding about these bonds which it is proposed to vote at the time of the primary election. They have arrived at this misunderstanding from reports that were circulated, in the first place, by people who intended to be misleading. It has been told promiscuously that if the bonds are voted the interests on all of the same will begin immediately, requiring the outlay of an enormous sum of money, which might better be invested directly in the building of good roads. Even were this true there would be required a special election of bonds each year to appropriate the money for the improvements, but it is not true.

The real fact in the case is very simple—the interest on the bonds cannot commence until after they have been sold, and that should not be, and of course will not be done until the work under consideration is all planned out and the commissioners are ready to begin the same—then only enough of the bonds need be sold or offered for sale to complete the amount of work to be done at that time, hence there would be interest to pay only on the bonds sold and the money derived therefrom ready to be used in improving the highways of the several parts of the county.

There are so many evidences of the necessity for the proposed improvements that it will be in keeping to mention at least one at this time. Only this week a farmer came to Boyne City from a distance of twelve miles and purchased a large bill of goods, including material for the construction of a building on his farm. In conversation with the salesman who supplied him with his needs he remarked that he had not been here for several years, but that he and his neighbors always used to do their trading in Boyne City. When questioned he replied that it was on account of the condition of the roads over which they would have to draw their supplies if they came here now some of the time the highways being next to impossible. He continued by saying that in every other respect the farmers in his locality are in excellent condition, adding that they are all shouting for the good roads bonds in that part of the county.

This is but a sample of conditions that exist in nearly all sections of the county, all the cities suffering more or less through the inability of the people from the country to get in and out. But this loss is small in comparison with that of the farmers themselves, who find the cost of marketing the products of their farms is more than the same item of expense for others in their line of business, hence the profit from the farm is less than it should be.

Don't longer be misled by those who would retard the progress of the county through bettering its thoroughfares, but remember to vote for the issue of bonds.

The ladies of the Epworth Church will give an ice cream social Thursday, August 22. Price—10 cents a dish. 33-tt-pd

BUYING UP ISLAND

Making Mammoth Orchard of Lumber Company's Former Holdings.

A deal for all the holdings of the Beaver Island Lumber company on Beaver Island, was closed by Wilbur S. Burns of this city, C. A. Hammond of Traverse City and John W. Cruise of Honor. This gives the three men the ownership of several thousand acres on the island, which they will develop into fruit farms of from ten to forty acres each and sell. Some time ago they purchased 1,000 acres of the Beaver Island company, and the demand for the land was so great that they purchased the remainder of the lumber company's holdings. Messrs. Burns, Hammond and Cruise also have individual holdings on the island which they will still retain. Mr. Burns has planted between 5,000 and 6,000 fruit trees on his property. It is stated that a frost that would kill trees has never been known to visit the island. This is attributed to the fact that it is surrounded by water.—Grand Rapids Herald.

FOUR PRIZES WERE TAKEN

By Western Michigan Apples at the Shippers' Convention.

Quality Was Acknowledged by Apple Experts from All Over the World.

Four premiums were won by the Western Michigan Development Bureau with its display of apples at the exhibit at the Sherman House, Chicago, in connection with the eighteenth annual convention of the International Apple Shippers' association. Those honors were secured despite the fact that the bureau had but three days in which to gather the apples.

There was an attendance of almost 800 at the convention, there being apple men present from nearly all the states in the Union and from Great Britain and Germany.

Western Michigan received a vast amount of valuable advertising because of its displays. Many shippers who have been indifferent to Michigan apples in the past were compelled to note that this section is soon to be one of the most important apple producing regions of America.

It is believed that by beginning early next year, it will be possible to prepare an exhibit for the 19th annual convention that will win the silver cup.

The recent exhibit makes one fact very clear and that is, that the fruit growers of Michigan must begin to specialize on purely commercial varieties, rather than having a large collection made up of many different varieties. To the early future the Michigan apple growers will meet the keenest kind of competition from the Virginias, Missouris, New York, Pennsylvania and even Wisconsin and it is certain that Michigan must be prepared to supply the standard commercial varieties in large quantities and that the quality standards must be high.

WORK BEING PUSHED

Big Barbecue and Auction at Holy Island Tuesday, August 20.

A. L. Lowrey of Detroit, a member of the good roads commission and president of the Inter-State Motor club, was in the city the first of the week, on his way to Holy Island, where he will start building operations at once on the clubhouse at the north point of the island.

Plans are under way for a water works system and electric light current will be furnished by water power which will be developed in the vicinity of the island.

Next Tuesday a big auction of lots will be held at the island. Free excursions will be run from nearby cities and a big barbecue will be one of the attractions. The big ad in this issue gives full particulars.

Don't wait until the last minute—buy Oxford's now at Bedford's. Look at the window display. 33t

We do Fine Job Printing.

WILL BE MOST IMPORTANT ELECTION HELD THIS YEAR

Primary Election August 27 Will Be to Charlevoix County—Republican Victors in August Will Probably Win Again in November—Question of Bonding for Good Roads Will Be Voted Upon.

The time is fast drawing near when the people of Michigan will choose their officials for the next two years. At the primary, to be held August 27, direct choice will be made of the candidates of every party for United States senator, congressman-at-large, governor, lieutenant-governor, representative in congress, state senator, representative in the state legislature and all county officials.

In Charlevoix county the Republican, Democratic and Socialist parties have filed petitions and will nominate full tickets. Ballots will be prepared however for Prohibition, Socialist-Labor, Charlevoix County Labor and Progressive parties, as the law requires that ballots be prepared for all parties that received votes at the last state election, also for new parties. In this county also, there will be submitted to the electors a proposition to bond the county in the sum of $350,000 to be used in building good roads.

On the nomination of candidates only enrolled voters will have the right to cast their ballots. On the question of bonding for good roads every qualified elector will be entitled to vote and, in addition, every woman who pays taxes on land located anywhere in Charlevoix county will also have the right to vote if properly registered.

This will be the most important election of the year to the residents of this county as unless something unlooked for occurs the victors, in this election, on the Republican ticket will probably be chosen as our officials in November, and the importance of the good roads election is apparent to everybody.

been on the board of directors, serving as vice-president and chairman of the executive committee, and Charlevoix county has been constantly kept to the front. Formerly the share of Charlevoix county toward the support of the bureau was borne by the cities of East Jordan, Boyne City and Charlevoix, but the past year the amount asked for was appropriated by the board of supervisors.

The benefit which this county has received from the organization cannot be estimated, but is safe to say that the amount invested has been returned over ten fold.

One of the most beneficial features of the bureau's work has been the educational work. Information in the proper care of orchards has been sent out and practical demonstrations in their care have been conducted in all the counties in the region.

ZEITLER-HANEY

Charlevoix Girl Marries Lansing Gentleman—One of Our Successful Teachers.

Married, Tuesday morning, at St. Mary's church, by Fr. Anastasio, assisted by Fr. Bruno of Petoskey and Fr. Burchard of Boyne City, Miss Margaret Helena Zeitler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Zeitler of this city, and Joseph Haney of Lansing.

Promptly on time the bridal party, consisting of Rose Zeitler, sister of the bride, maid of honor; Jennie Joziek of East Jordan, bridesmaid; who were both dressed in pink silk and carried a bouquet of pink carnations, the groom and best man, Fabian J. Lalonde of East Jordan, and Frank Zeitler, brother of the bride, advanced to the altar.

Then the bride, who was gowned in white silk over white messaline, wearing a bridal veil gracefully draped with roses and smiling, carrying a bouquet of bride's roses, escorted on the arm of her father, who gave her away at the altar, which was decorated with sweet peas and cosmos. The ushers were Harry Zeitler of Kenosha, Wisconsin, and John Zeitler, brother-in-law of the bride. The wedding march was played by Emma Huns of Kenosha, Wisconsin, a cousin of the bride.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents to about fifty invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Haney left on the noon boat for East Jordan, where they were given a reception, Tuesday evening, at the home of the groom's parents. They will leave Friday for Lansing where they will make their home.

Mrs. Haney is a graduate of our high school and the county normal, and was known as one of the most successful school teachers in the county. Mr. Haney is a mechanical and holds a responsible position in one of the auto factories of the capital city.

The Courier unites with their many friends in extending congratulations.

Cottage for Sale.

Chapel Cottage on Michigan Avenue. Inquire Myrtle Young & Son.

BURGLAR FELL DEAD

While He Was Being Pursued by Posse of Petoskey Policemen.

It is believed that the famous Grand Rapids "chisel man" is dead, by the officers who pursued a burglar early Friday morning at Petoskey, coming upon his body with life extinct.

He was fully equipped with burglar's tools, including a chisel. Sunday morning of last week the residences of L. N. Overholt and J. E. Martin, in that city, were entered and $150 in cash and valuables taken which were found on the body of the dead man.

The peculiar phase of the affair is the manner in which the burglar came to his death. In the pursuit, seventeen shots were exchanged between him and the policemen, but there was not a mark on his body to indicate a wound which could have been responsible for his death. It is thought that he must have succumbed to an attack of heart disease when he saw that escape was impossible.

WAS PIONEER OF COUNTY

Robert O'Neill a Resident of This County Thirty-three Years.

Died Tuesday Morning after Long Illness—Leaves Wife and Two Children.

Robert O'Neill, one of Charlevoix's oldest residents, died at his home on State street Tuesday morning, after an illness of two years of cancer of the stomach.

Mr. O'Neill was born in Belfast, Ireland, January, 1856, and came to this country when eight years old. After a residence of about four years in New York, he lived in Wisconsin until coming here about thirty-three years ago.

Mr. O'Neill was a sailor, an occupation which he followed during his entire life. He was a member of the Masonic and Odd Fellow fraternities.

He leaves besides his wife, two children, Robert of this city, and Mrs. Irene Holmes of Brooksville, Mississippi; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Gilger of Green Bay, Wisconsin, and Margaret O'Neill of Milwaukee, and one brother John O'Neill of this city.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church Friday forenoon at nine o'clock.

GOVERNOR HARMON

Will Speak at the Meeting of the Men's Bible Class Next Sunday.

The attendance at the meeting of the Men's Bible class Sunday was the largest in the history of the class, over one hundred being present. The address by Professor G. A. Masselink of Big Rapids, on the subject, "Is Christianity Worth While," was a grand talk on what Christianity had accomplished and what yet remained for it to do, and how all world wide movements, for the betterment of mankind, had Christianity.

Special music was given by Mrs. Corinne Moore Lawson of Cincinnati.

Next Sunday Governor Harmon of Ohio will speak. The governor is a very plain, convincing speaker and will have something to say which will be helpful to every man who hears it. Special music has been arranged for.

Death of Aged Man.

Solomon L. Tuttle, father of Mrs. Robert M. A. Johnston, died of cancer Thursday night at the home of his daughter, where he had made his home for the past year and a half.

The funeral services were held at the house Saturday, Rev. F. M. Taylor officiating. The body was taken to his old home at White-water, Wisconsin, for burial.

Happy Hal Price and Florence Madiara Monday night, August 19, at the Majestic Theatre.

Whatever you do, don't fail to see "The Prince of Tonight" at the Charlevoix Theatre August 20.

HISTORY OF HOLY ISLAND

One of the Most Historical Points in the Charlevoix Region.

NAMED BY KING STRANG

Believed to Be the Place Where Mormon Treasure Was Buried.

Is Now Being Developed for Resort Purposes—The Only Island in Pine Lake, "Our Inland Sea."

One of the interesting reports of resort development in the Pine Lake region is the purchase and improvement of Holy Island, the only island in Pine Lake and the last heavily spotted still left in its original primeval grandeur.

Situated as it is, commanding the entrance to the South Arm of the lake within easy distance of Charlevoix and all the lake resorts, it seems to have been designed for the very purpose for which it is destined to become, "the resort par excellence."

The name was conferred upon it by King Strang, the famous Mormon leader of Beaver Island. His romantic career and tragic end is still fresh in the minds of the older inhabitants who lived in Charlevoix when this now famous resort center was only a trading post and Indian mission on the shores of Pine river, which at that time was a wide, shallow outlet to Pine Lake. Stories of the naming of Holy Island by King Strang and of his treasure buried there are often told by the first settlers, and as near as can be learned are as follows:

"After the Mormons were driven out of Nauvoo, Illinois, they, under the leadership of James (King) Strang, came up Lake Michigan in boats and settled on Big Beaver Island where the village of St. James now stands. Here they remained for years making a pretense at farming but being in reality pirates. They spent the greater part of their time in pillage and robbery along the shores of the northern part of Lake Michigan. Nets were lifted and fish stolen, boats and traps were appropriated, false lights put up and vessels wrecked and their crews never heard of again. Settlers' homes were also pillaged and stock removed to the island homes of the rovers.

"The government was notified and a war vessel was dispatched to St. James to investigate, but the crafty Strang was notified in some way of her coming and moved all of the valuable goods that could be identified up into Pine Lake and buried them on Holy Island. Vessels could not enter Pine Lake at that time for the dredging of the channel at Charlevoix did not take place until long afterward.

"Strang was exonerated by the government on account of the lack of evidence and he soon became bolder than before. It is said, he planned to pillage the villages of Charlevoix and Petoskey and if successful to abandon St. James and join Brigham Young at Salt Lake City, Utah. His last adventure was unsuccessful, as he was repulsed by the citizens of Charlevoix in what was called the battle of Pine River, and driven to his home at St. James. This did not save him for he was afterward assassinated. With the death of Strang his band scattered, going across the lake to Wisconsin and thence to Utah to join the other Mormons."

ANNUAL REGATTA

Of Charlevoix Yacht Club, Will Be Held August 16-24.

The annual regatta of the Charlevoix Yacht club will be held August 16 to August 24. Sailing races will be held each day with the exception of Sunday and Tuesday. The motor boat handicap race will be held August 21, at 2:00 p. m. The preliminary tryouts to determine the handicaps will be held August 20. Races are open only to boats of members.

Courier liners pay.

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

Thomas Cunningham is improving in health.

Clarence Withers is the purchaser of a new motorcycle.

Edith Adams visited Mrs. Will Withers one day last week.

Mrs. William Easton has returned to her home in Edworth.

Roy Beattie visited Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dodd last Sunday.

Cliff Blanchard and Ivan Fink left here for Montana last Thursday.

Mrs. Ida Nowland from Boyne City is the guest of Mrs. Ben Nowland.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Reed have moved upon their farm for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Santa of Norwood visited Mr. and Mrs. Pasco Friday evening.

Mrs. Kiv and Mrs. David Alexander visited Mackinac Island one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Fink and family of Ellsworth were visiting friends in Marion Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Winters of East Jordan visited Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Beattie last Thursday.

The Ladies' auxiliary of Marion Center grange met with Winnie Cunningham August 1.

Mrs. Pearl Friday of Cheboygan and Mr. and Mrs. A. Winters were callers of Mrs. E. Dodd last week.

Roy Beattie, from Northwest Canada, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Arthur Beattie and family, for the summer, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Beattie and son Wesley, Mrs. Arthur Beattie and children, Dorothy and Forest, visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beattie of Barnard Sunday.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube, restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, and the result of this is a permanent condition of the mucous lining.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent for free.

J. C. Hall & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, or Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CLARION.

(Too late for last week.)

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Clark on Tuesday.

Miss Ruth Golden returned Tuesday from Cedar Springs.

Mrs. G. W. Ruffe returned Saturday from Petoskey hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Lucas spent Sunday with Clarion friends.

Wiss Webster of Boyne City, is visiting her uncle, K. D. Webster.

Mrs. Brill of Cheboygan is visiting her son G. E. Brill of Walloon.

Mrs. Nelson, daughter of Perry Nichols, of Westchester, was buried at Clarion on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Darrach and grand daughter Jean Golden were in Harbor Springs on Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Herrington and child, died, have returned to their home at Cheboygan after a short visit with relatives here.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cement
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

BURGESS.

M. K. Chew and family visited at Mr. Muir's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kane visited at Frank Kane's Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Kane visited her mother, Mrs. W. C. Granly, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kane went to Petoskey last week on business.

Bert Whightman had the misfortune to lose another horse last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hamlin visited their daughter, Mrs. Charles Radde, Sunday.

John Lask will be in here this week with his threshing machine. Everybody get ready.

There will be an ice cream social at the Burgess school house Saturday night for the benefit of the Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Struthers, who have been in Oregon for a few years, are home again and are visiting among friends.

Willard S. Chew and wife of Kalamazoo visited with his brothers, A. B. and M. K. Chew, and his sister, Mrs. Platt Webster, last week.

Mrs. Frank H. Bar and son Edwin have returned to their home at Niles after a two week's visit with her brother, H. H. Fowler, and niece, Mrs. Archie B. Chew.

D. C. Bybee, training contractor, living at 620 Kalamazoo Court, Canton, Ill., is now well and of a severe and annoying case of kidney trouble. His back pained and he was bothered with headaches and dizzy spells. "I took Foley Kidney Pills just as directed and in a few days I felt much better. My life and strength seemed to come back, and I sleep well. I am now all over my trouble and glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Try them. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

NORWOOD.

Ed Nelson spent Monday with his niece.

Rev. Biery was called to Alma Monday by a funeral.

Mr. Wilson is quite sick. A doctor from Alwood is in attendance.

A number of our townspeople took in the snow at Charlevoix Friday.

Rev. Winn, our old pastor, will speak Monday night at the Norwood M. E. church.

Mr. and Mrs. Curley from the south part of the state spent a few days with Rev. and Mrs. Biery last week.

Mrs. Dan Stafford and Miss Kathleen Hughes spent Friday night with Mrs. W. M. Lucia. They are now visiting other friends in town.

Henry Brown and wife, Sam Brown and wife and Mrs. Delina of Ellsworth, took dinner with Mrs. A. Richardson one day last week. The Brown boys were placing a monument over the grave of their parents.

The "Progressive" Party is the individual, man or woman, who uses Foley Kidney Pills for backache, rheumatism, weak back, and other kidney and bladder irregularities. Foley Kidney Pills are healing, strengthening, tonic, and quick to produce beneficial results. Contains no harmful drugs. Never sold in bulk. Put up in two sizes in sealed bottles. The genuine in a yellow package. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

WILSON.

Plenty of rain.

Mrs. Pearl Zoubek spent Sunday visiting at Peter Zoubek's.

Mrs. Emma Todd is spending a few days visiting at Fred Holland's.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shepard were callers at J. M. Warden's Sunday.

Road Commissioner Elmer Hayner is busy repairing the roads since the heavy rains.

Mr. and Mrs. George Davis are the proud parents of a baby girl who arrived August 1.

Miss Ethel Brimhall stopped with Mrs. William Nowland of Charlevoix a few days last week.

Mrs. Charles Hindkins visited with her mother, Mrs. Hayner of East Jordan on Sunday last.

Mrs. William Nowland and children of Charlevoix are visiting Mrs. Nowland's sister, Mrs. S. R. Nowland of this place.

Mrs. David Shepard is caring for her granddaughter, who came to live with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Stanek of Jordan township, last Saturday.

Hay fever and asthma make August a month of intense suffering to many people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives prompt relief and is soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes. Wm. M. Meredith, N. Sarsport, Me., says: "A few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound relieved me of a severe attack of asthma and less than a bottle caused a complete cure." Refuse substitutes. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

BACK GIVES OUT

Plenty of Charlevoix Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them—
They can't keep up the continual strain.
The back gives out—it aches and pains.
Urinary troubles set in.
Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.
Residents of this vicinity endorse them.

Can Charlevoix people doubt the fact, wing evidence?
G. E. Bristol, 511 N. East St., Boyne City, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, obtained at Watson's Drug Store, and have found them to be a remedy of merit. I have been annoyed for some time by a persistent ache and pain in the small of my back. My kidneys did not act as they should. I obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. I recommend them for I am feeling so much better in every way since I used them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and use no other.

CLARION.

George Brown was in Boyne City on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harner of Petoskey were in town Sunday.

Mrs. Jesse Worden of Boyne City was in town last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy returned Sunday from Bay View.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dodson Wednesday.

Miss Hazel Johnson of Pellston spent Sunday with Clarion friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Raska left for their home near Grand Rapids on Saturday.

Miss Ruby Carpenter and friends of Pellston visited at Walloon last week.

Mrs. Brill of Cheboygan and Mrs. G. E. Brill of Walloon Lake called on Clarion friends on Thursday.

Mrs. A. C. Beeding of Alma, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Beeding of Walloon, returned home last week.

William Gallup, for many years a resident of Charlevoix and Emmet counties, died at his home near Clarion, on Tuesday night, after a long illness. The funeral was held from the house with interment at Greenwood Cemetery, Petoskey.

Dr. C. H. Ellsworth, Dentist, 15 Baldwin St., Rochester, N. Y., says: "Foley Kidney Pills gave him immediate relief and strengthened him wonderfully. I have been bothered with weak kidneys and bladder trouble and suffered much pain. Foley Kidney Pills gave me immediate relief and strengthened me wonderfully. I am pleased to recommend their use. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop."

MAPLE GROVE.

Lots of rain.

Barker Kirby lost a valuable horse last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Curry were guests at Bloomington last week.

Miss Helen Howe of Charlevoix spent Sunday with relatives at Maple Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson entertained company Sunday.

Maple Grove grange will hold their annual picnic August 21. Every body welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and George Straggie and Miss Lena Howe were guests of Pioneer Land Sunday.

EVELINE.

Mrs. Chris Nelson was in the sick bed last week.

Nels Lyngklip is working in Walloon on Monday.

John I. Brown lost a young and valuable horse Friday.

William Hunter of Marion visited.

his daughter, Mrs. Kunder, Sunday.

Robert Kunder is down from East Jordan working on his farm a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kowalsky and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whitfield of South Arm were fishing at Nowland's Lake Thursday.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

Every woman and every fair minded man should protest against the unjust and illogical conclusion of the investigation concerning the recent accident on the C. B. and Q. railroad at Western Springs, Ill. The immediate blame was laid on three persons, a woman and two men. The woman is charged with misunderstanding an order and with a mistake in judgment. One of the men is charged with failure to do his full duty, and the other with outright violation of a rule regarding rate of speed. All who are not infallible may misunderstand orders or may make mistakes in judgment. Failures to carry out orders and violation of orders in railroad service as in military service are human frailties. Yet, most logically, the heaviest blame is laid on the woman and laid on her alone, but on all accounts, for the report of the committee: "We recommend the employment of men only as tower operators." Truly, the case of Adam still holds as the latest example of their failure.

Persons asking for the submission of an equal suffrage amendment to the state constitution are being harassed by Illinois. On young men reports that out on a farm a dozen men he asked to sign the petition at least half of them said they were not registered. Then man said he had not voted for years, politics were too corrupt for him. Would it not be equally logical for a woman to say she never attempted to clean her house; it was too dirty.

The first convention of women bankers ever held in the United States met in San Antonio, Texas, a few days ago. It was voted to make the convention an annual affair.

According to the editor of the Delator, the argument that a woman has all the rights she wants and all the protection she needs without an equal suffrage amendment is a purely selfish one. She may be educated and protected but thousands of her sisters are not thus safeguarded. They need the ballot, and the happy woman in the home should do all in her power to aid the struggling sister in her struggle for self and humanity conditions while she works and a wage law that will save the working woman from the wage-slaver.

The Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America has recently sent a report of suffrage.

W. S. Jones of the Lee Pharmacy, Chicago, Ill., who has handled Foley & Co's medicines for many years, says: "I consider that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has no equal, and is the one remedy medicine I can recommend as containing no narcotics or other harmful properties." The medicine is a yellow package, and is sold by Dr. Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

W. S. Jones of the Lee Pharmacy, Chicago, Ill., who has handled Foley & Co's medicines for many years, says: "I consider that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has no equal, and is the one remedy medicine I can recommend as containing no narcotics or other harmful properties." The medicine is a yellow package, and is sold by Dr. Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

ALWARD for CONGRESS

For Representative in Congress
X. DENNIS E. ALWARD

The Republican Party of this county nominates X. Dennis E. Alward, Esq., and endorses him as a man of high character and high ability, and as a man who will faithfully represent the people of this county.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Resources $250,000.00

For safe investment there is nothing better than our 4 per cent Certificate of Deposit. For small savings let us issue you a Savings Book in our Savings Department. Interest 4 per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually.

R. P. FOLLY, President G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

GRANGE PICNIC

Maple Grove Grange Hall

Saturday, Aug. 24

A good speaker will be present and an interesting program has been arranged.

Base Ball Game

Athletic Contests

Dance in the Evening

Dinner and Supper 25 cents

Refreshments Sold on Grounds

Good times and Everybody Invited

Good Order - - Good Music

The Chorus in "THE PRINCE OF TONIGHT" at Charlevoix Theater, Tuesday, August 20

AUGUST
20

FREE EXCURSION

AUGUST
20

Steamers City of Boyne and the Hum to

HOLY ISLAND

GRAND

FREE BARBECUE

Roasted on the Old Oven of King Strang

Where King Strang did it, we will do it

King Strang's Biggest Barbecue will Look Like a Bean Sandwich compared with this One

Prepared by the Official Chef of the Rough Riders While in Service in Cuba

$500 Lot
Given Away
FREE AT NOON

Every Visitor Gets a Ticket
On the Free Lot with 100 feet Lake Frontage

$500 Lot
Given Away
FREE AT NOON

You May be the Lucky One

AUG. 20

EVERY LOT Not Previously Sold Will Be

SOLD AT AUCTION

AUG. 20

.....Avail Yourself of the Opportunity to Visit "HOLY ISLAND, THE PEARL OF PINE LAKE".....

Plenty of Good Music all Day — Enough to Eat Coffee to Drink Free Entertainment

Come before 10 a. m. and Stay until 3 p. m.

Conveniences on Island for Everybody---Preparations will be made for 2000

Steamboat Schedule

City of Boyne	Steamer Hum
Lvs. Boyne City 7:00 a m	Lvs. East Jordan 7:00 a m
Ars. Holy Island 8:15 a m	Ars. Holy Island 7:40 a m
Lvs. Charlevoix 10:00 a m	Lvs. Charlevoix 9:45 a m
Ars. Holy Island 10:45 a m	Ars. Holy Island 10:30 a m

Holy Island

is the only Island in Pine Lake, Charlevoix County and the last beauty spot left in its primeval grandeur near Charlevoix.

Visit Our Headquarters

in Charlevoix and get a beautiful illustrated history of KING STRANG and the Buried Treasure FREE.

FREE TICKETS will be furnished parties desiring to visit the Island between now and the 20th of August.

The Colonel from Missouri will be Auctioneer

C I. B. MCLEAN, PROP.

Offices
319 Bridge Street, Charlevoix
106 1-2 S. Lake St., Boyne City

The Charlevoix Courier

Published every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors

A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge societies and entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary notices, regular rates.
Court of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

Republican County Convention.

To the Republican electors of Charlevoix county:

Notice is hereby given that a Republican County Convention will be held at the Court House in the city of Charlevoix on Tuesday, the 10th day of September, 1912, at 10:30 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing nine delegates to represent said county in the Republican State Convention, called to meet in the Light Guard Armory in the city of Detroit on Tuesday, September 21, 1912, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The several townships and wards will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Bay.....2	Wilson.....3
By's Valley 4	City of Chx.....2
Chandler.....2	1st ward.....2
Charlevoix 1	2nd ward.....1
Evangeline 1	3rd ward.....4
Evangeline 3	Boyle City.....3
Hayes.....3	1st ward.....3
Hudson.....2	2nd ward.....5
Marion.....1	3rd ward.....8
McIntosh.....3	4th ward.....5
Norwood.....1	East Jordan.....2
Peaine.....2	1st ward.....2
St. James.....2	2nd ward.....2
South Arm.....3	3rd ward.....4

David August 5, 1912.

H. L. McMillan, Sec'y

Republican County Com.

Wm. J. Pearson, Chairman

Republican County Committee.

Monday night, August 19—Majestic Theatre—find out.

Cheaper Flour

WE HANDLE

Occident
Superlative
Minnesota Best
Argo Producer
Iron Duke
White Rose

Call and See Us

ARGO MILLING CO.

Robert O'Neill

FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF

Sweet Peas

Telephone Orders to No.

283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

SMALLEST IN THIRTY-SIX YEARS

This Year's Yield of Wheat, in State of Michigan.

According to the State Crop Report for the Month of July.

Wheat. Early in the spring a large percentage of the crop correspondents predicted that the wheat crop throughout the State would be very light and the reports for July show that they were not mistaken.
Owing to excessive rains considerable of the crop has sprouted in the stock, in some localities the grain is badly shrunken and it is safe to say that the yield of wheat for 1912 is, with one exception, the smallest in thirty-six years.

The average estimated yield per acre in the State is 14, in the southern counties 9, in the central counties 10, in the northern counties 14 and in the Upper Peninsula 21 bushels. The per cent. of plowing done for wheat in the State and northern counties is 13, in the southern counties 12, in the central counties 13 and in the Upper Peninsula 10.

Rye. The average estimated yield per acre in the State is 13, in the southern and central counties 12, in the northern counties 11 and in the Upper Peninsula 21 bushels.

Corn. The condition of corn as compared with an average, in the State and northern counties is 75, in the central counties 62 and in the Upper Peninsula 72. The condition one year ago was in the State 85, in the southern counties 79, in the central and northern counties 92 in the Upper Peninsula.

Oats. The estimated average yield in the State and Upper Peninsula is 31, in the southern counties 32, in the central counties 31 and in the northern counties 29 bushels per acre.

Potatoes. The condition as compared with an average in the State and Upper Peninsula is 85, in the southern counties 88, in the central counties 79 and in the northern counties 86. The condition one year ago was 63 in the State, 59 in the southern counties, 62 in the central counties, 65 in the northern counties
and 61 in the Upper Peninsula.

Beans. The condition of beans compared with an average per cent.
in the State is 82, in the southern counties 33, in the central counties 71, in the northern counties 81 and in the Upper Peninsula 78. The condition one year ago was 81 in the State and southern counties, 80 in the central counties, 82 in the northern counties and 81 in the Upper Peninsula.

Sugar Beets. The condition of sugar beets as compared with an average, in the State and southern counties is 82, in the central counties 79, in the northern counties 86 and in the Upper Peninsula 91. The condition one year ago was 87 in the State and central counties, 84 in the southern counties, 88 in the northern counties and 95 in the Upper Peninsula.

Hay and Forage. The yield per acre of hay in tons is 1.28 in the State, 1.22 in the southern counties, 1.31 in the central counties, 1.27 in the northern counties and 1.65 in the Upper Peninsula.

Apples. Fruit correspondents very generally report prospects good for winter varieties of apples in orchards that have been sprayed and otherwise properly cared for.
The outlook for the early varieties is not so promising. The U. S.
Census of 1910 gives 228,343 acres of bearing apple orchards in Michigan, figuring 31 trees to an acre, about 11,940 acres more than was given in the State Census of 1904.
The prospect for an average crop in the State and Upper Peninsula is 64, in the southern and central counties 62 and in the northern counties 75. One year ago the prospect was 41 in the State, 42 in the southern counties, 28 in the central counties, 49 in the northern counties
and 71 in the Upper Peninsula. The winter varieties that promise best, are in their order: Baldwin, Northern Spy, Ben Davis, Wagner, Green-ings, Tolman Sweet, Russet and Tompkins King. Of the early sorts the most promising are Dutchess, Wealthy, Fameuse, Yellow Transparent, Yellow Astrachan, Fall Pippin, Early Harvest and Maiden Blush.

Peaches. The prospect for an average crop of peaches in the Michigan Fruit Belt is 18 per cent. and in the State 11. One year ago the prospect was 84 and 75 respectively.
From the above statistics it can easily be conjectured that Michigan peaches will be a luxury this year.
The varieties that promise best are:
Gold Drop, Elberta, Hill's Chief, Crawfords, Kalamazoo, New Profic, Engle Mammoth and Barnard.

Circus Pleased Crowds.

Notwithstanding the stormy weather a good crowd was in attendance on Sun Brothers' circus Friday, and the performances given were all that was expected.

For several years Sun Brothers have been on the road and their coming, every other year, has come to be a looked forward to event as they never disappoint and are constantly securing new features to entertain and instruct their thousands of friends.

Notice.

Ice cream and cake at the Burgess school house Saturday evening, August 17. Everybody come.
331-t-pd

Pleased Large Audience.

Seldom have the amusement lovers of this city received such a treat as was given by the performance of the Kithes Band which appeared at the Charlevoix Theatre Thursday evening. Every feature of the entertainment was of the highest order and they richly deserved the large crowd which was present.

The place for bargain hunters —Bedford's Oxford sale. They are real bargains. 334

BUTTERMILK.

It is Rich in Protein, the Most Costly of Food Ingredients.

An ordinary glass of buttermilk contains about as much nutriment as two ounces of bread, a good sized potato or a half pint of oysters, says a bulletin of the United States department of agriculture. It thus contains about the same food constituents as skimmilk, but it has an added hygienic value because the protein is more easily digested than the protein in skimmilk and therefore is often prescribed by physicians for children and invalids, especially those suffering from intestinal troubles.

Protein, being the most costly of food ingredients, is the one most likely to be lacking in inexpensive meats, and this is the nutrient which both skim-milk and buttermilk supply in a cheap and useful form, and when taken with bread or used in cooking they form a very nutritious addition to the diet.
Two and one-half quarts of skimmilk or buttermilk contain about the same amount of protein as one pound of round steak and cost about one-quarter as much. Two quarts of milk have a greater nutrient value than one quart of oysters. The nutriment in the form of oysters would cost 30 to 50 cents, while the skimmilk or buttermilk would have a value on the farm of from 2 to 4 cents.

Take a look at the $1.50 table of prices. The former price has been cut in two. Bedford. 334

Economy in Use of Bull.

The bull question is important to the dairy farmer. If he has only six or seven cows it does not pay him to keep a bull, provided he is within convenient reach of such as he would use on his herd. If he is within reach of a scrub bull only it will not pay to keep a scrub bull. If, however, a good bull—one that will improve his dairy herd—is not within reach, then it will pay him to own a good one. The bull eats as much as a cow, is usually troublesome, and it is greater economy to keep a cow in his place and use a neighbor's bull if such is as good as one you would keep. If you must keep a bull for a small number of cows keep a better one than your neighbors have.

A good bull can often be bought at a reasonable figure from an owner who can no longer use the animal. A four or five year old bull is no disad-vantage. In fact it is an advantage to you to know just what kind of cows he gets. Kansas Farmer.

Points of a Dairy Cow.

The cow is a machine to convert feed into milk. Thus she must have a large middle and a strong constitution to insure fast results. She must also have a large udder, large milk veins, large udder and milk veins and good size teats. Her head should be lean and regular in appearance, with the eyes standing out prominently. The neck should be rather long and lean in appearance, the shoulders pointed and the backbone rather prominent. The skin should be loose and soft to the touch.

Spring Grazing an Evil.

The stockman damage the pastures while the ground is soft and the grass just starting. Heavy spring grazing is about the worst thing that can be done to a pasture and should not be practiced if the dry feed will hold out.

Cornell-Price Players all next week at the Majestic. Some shows See it.

Many Manias.

At a recent congress of neurology a paper was read in which the movement by which the growing lad enters the first stage of his upper lip was labeled monostichostrophomania;
the habit of twirling the cane seen in old drum majors, streptohaladomania; that of putting the little finger into the ear, otodactylomania. Then we have "stomatocytomania," who put the finger into the mouth; "onychophagamanias," who bite their nails; "har-monomanias," who drum with their fingers on windowpanes or tables, and "tropocytomanias," who nervously move their legs. British Medical Journal.

Order your Teddy Bear Bread
direct. Phone 275. 332

Special! Special! MISSES SAILOR DRESSES

Plain white or white with blue Trimming

Sizes 14, 16 and 18

Regular Price $5.00 now at $2.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

..Majestic All Next Week..

CORNELL
PRICE PLAYERS

will begin a week's engagement at the Majestic

Monday August 19

by presenting a play of southern extraction entitled
....."A True Kentuckian".....

The Cornell Price Players come to the Majestic with very flattering Press reports from previous engagements so they are bound to make good here. The company is headed by Happy Hal Price, and Miss Florence Madieta, two exceedingly versatile artists, Mr. Price being a combination of unusual ability, while Miss Madieta is a close second as a performer.

A number of good plays are scheduled for the week, some of them being:

THE MAN AND THE MINISTER THE WIDOWHOOD
WHEN REUBEN COMES TO TOWN
MY DIXIE GIRL
LENA RIVERS
JUST PLAIN MOLLY

HAPPY HAL PRICE

and Others which space will not permit
mentioned.

The Specialties between acts are a most important feature of the Cornell-Price show, they presenting as high as six a night in addition to the regular performance.

The Prices for Monday Night will be 10 cents and 20 cents

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

H. P. Parmelee is on a business visit to Grand Rapids.

Henning Johnson of Mancelona was in the city last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dean of Detroit, are visiting in the city.

Miss Norma Bachman, of East Jordan, was in the city Tuesday.

D. C. and W. A. Loveday of East Jordan were in the city Tuesday.

Miss Janie Mitchell left Monday for a few week's visit in New Jersey.

John E. Wilson, of Kalamazoo arrived in the city the first of the week.

Robert Comlognoy, of Petoskey, spent Sunday with friends in the city.

Byron Cook returned to Belding Friday after a short visit in the city.

Mrs. M. B. Babcock visited friends in Bay Shore the latter part of the week.

Miss Saloma McCabe, of Chicago, is visiting friends and relatives in the city.

Miss Elma Anderson of Petoskey, spent Thursday with relatives in this city.

Judge Willis Brown, formerly manager of Boy City, has joined his family here.

Work commenced again Monday morning on the Hooker building on Antrim street.

Mrs. William Scroggie Sr. has been visiting relatives at Bay Shore the past week.

Miss Margaret Holden of Big Rapids arrived here Friday to remain about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hilak, of East Jordan, attended the Hancey-Zeitler wedding Tuesday.

The Misses Brazell, of Cheboygan, were guests at the Orlowski home the first of the week.

Harry N. McLean, of Greenville, is the socialist candidate for Congress in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Judson and Miss Eva, of Traverse City, are visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. Nicolas Britz, of Joliet, Illinois, is visiting with her parents, Charles Zeitler and wife.

L. C. Carey returned to Arcadia, the latter part of the week after a few day's visit in the city.

Miss Bessie Martindale returned last week from Ypsilanti where she attended the summer school.

Miss Bessie Hanchew left Monday for New York where she will visit at different points in that state.

Forrest Bartholomew, of Chicago, has joined his wife and family who have been here for some time.

Rev. Taggart and family, formerly of Reed City, are now located in the new parsonage on state street.

Dr. J. Percival Hugel, of Detroit, will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday morning.

Mrs. Bessie Danils and son Robert of Sebawa, Michigan, is visiting at home of her nephew, E. J. Miller.

Mrs. H. P. Parmelee left the latter part of the week for a visit at her old home in Woodstock, Ontario.

Joseph Stetzing and wife of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, attended the Hancey-Zeitler wedding yesterday.

Mrs. Forsythe has returned to her home in Texas after an extended visit with her father, J. A. Cameron.

Miss Ella Green, now of Chicago, arrived here Tuesday to make a three weeks visit with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldin Chamberlin attended the spiritualist camp meeting at Snowflake the latter part of last week.

Walter Masters, wife and daughter, Mildred, of Wilton Lake visited with Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mercier last Thursday.

Mrs. Eddy, wife of Gage Warden Eddy, and Mrs. Chapman, both of the Soo, are the guests of the Mrs. S. M. Rose today.

Miss E. Doris Kane, now of Grand Rapids, arrived in the city Monday to make a visit with her parents, R. W. Kane and wife.

Hon. Patrick H. Kelley of Lansing was in the city today on his way to Ironton where he will speak at the Grange picnic.

Miss Barbara Miller of Lake Odessa, arrived here the latter part of the week to make a visit at the home of E. J. Miller.

The Women's Relief Corps will hold a baked goods sale at Mrs. Atchison's millinery store the latter part of the week.

Mrs. David Lindley and Mrs.

James Graham of New York state are visiting at the home of their sister, Mrs. John Hull.

W. A. Carey and wife returned to their home at Detroit this morning after a few week's visit with friends and relatives in the city.

Harrison Wallace, who has been at St. Ignace for some time, is making a short visit with his parents W. H. Wallace and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Arctine Butters returned to their home at Pellston Sunday, after a short visit with Hon. A. Butters and wife.

Mayor Nordrum and family are now located in the Albert Holmes house on Clinton street, having moved the first of the week.

Miss Gladys Hopkins returned Tuesday to her home at East Jordan after a short visit at the home of County Treasurer Lewis.

C. H. Marshall left Tuesday for the Thousand Islands, where he will attend a convention of the Equitable Life Insurance company.

Mrs. Gidell returned to her home at St. Paul, Tuesday, after a two-months visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. A. Levinson.

Miss Bertina Thom, who makes her home with R. V. Clark on the Belvedere resort, fell at the skating rink Friday, fracturing her arm.

Mrs. John Thelin returned the first of the week to Asheville, N. C., after having spent a short time here packing their household furniture.

The socialists have named H. S. McMaster for U. S. senator, James Hoogerhyde for governor and Ed. Wm. R. Cornish for lieutenant governor.

The Indian camp meeting will be held at Greensky hill from August 20 to September 2. Further announcement will be made next week.

William A. Taylor is the prohibition candidate for United States senator, J. D. Leland for governor and F. C. Demorest for lieutenant governor.

Hannah McCafferty, cousin of Peter McCafferty arrived in the city Tuesday from Donegal, Ireland. She will make her future home with Mr. Cufferty.

Mrs. David Keister and children returned the first of the week to their home at Grand Rapids after a visit at the home of C. D. McLaughlin and family.

Mrs. E. L. Calkins, state president of the W. C. T. U., will be in Charlevoix to give an address on "Votes for Women" on Wednesday Aug. 21. Particulars later.

The question of the direct nomination of candidates for city officers will be submitted to the enrolled voters of this city at the August primary.

Fred Hancey and wife, Frank Zanek, Mr. and Mrs. James Vornaba and Miss Clara Davis, of East Jordan, attended the Hancey-Zeitler wedding Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fox, of Hampton, Iowa, arrived in the city Tuesday evening to make a visit at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Mose Bowditch.

At the council meeting Monday night the proper committee was instructed to prepare plans and estimates of cost of erecting a fire hall on Belvedere avenue.

Harry Betz from Colorado and Miss Lillian Kralik of the city were united in marriage last Thursday evening at the Baptist parsonage. Rev. H. Atchison officiating.

Henry Stephan of Ellsworth and Miss Matilda Dennis of this city, were united in marriage at the Baptist parsonage, last Wednesday afternoon, Rev. H. Atchison officiating.

John Kelly, engineer of the tug Taylor, met with quite a painful accident Sunday while cleaning the boilers of the tug. The manhole blew out scalding him quite badly about the face.

Mrs. S. L. Tuttle, of Grand Rapids, arrived in the city to make an extended visit with Mrs. R. M. A. Johnston. While here she is conducting a sale of fancy work in R. M. A. Johnston's store.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Harris, Friday, August 16 at 2:30 p. m. The topic is micronesia missions. Roll call; psalms.

Rev. Frank Sheets, of Chicago will preach in the Methodist church Sunday morning. He so delighted the people last Sunday that, by a rising vote, they invited him to return for next Sunday.

Miss Anna Kenning has purchased the millinery stock of Miss Ruby Emory and has taken possession. Miss Kenning is from Saginaw but is well known here, having trimmed two seasons in the Emory store.

At the Hotel Elston, Charlevoix, six members of the Tau Beta Chi fraternity of Petoskey enjoyed a banquet Sunday evening. They were, Arthur Eldridge, Philip Braun, Earl VanNess, Cecil Boss, Edward Schebrat and R. Roy Baker. —Petoskey Daily Resorter.

A number of the members of the United Order of True Sisters, who are summering here held a meeting at the Beach hotel last Saturday. Today they are having a social tea at the Inn. Members were present from Chicago, New York Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Don't fail to see the musical fantasy "The Prince of Tonight" at the Charlevoix Theatre Tuesday night.

A QUEER PRESENT.

The Memento Henry Irving Once Presented to Helen Keller.

In J. Henry Hager's book "The House of Harper" he tells a story of Helen Keller and a Henry Irving. They met at Laurence Hutton's home, and the blind girl seemed to be so conversant with "Hamlet" that Irving invited her to "witness" his performance, and she readily accepted. "After the scene had been sent word to her that he should like to have her come on the stage if she was so inclined, and when she arrived he showed her around and explained the stage setting. She ran her hands gently over his costume and seemed to be much pleased with his makeup.

"As she was leaving to return to her box Irving thought that he ought to give her some little memento of the occasion. He realized that in his costume as Hamlet there was nothing he could readily spare, but as it was his custom to put on his eyeglasses as soon as the curtain went down he took them — and handed them to her.

"In the middle of the next act he suddenly recalled the fact that Miss Keller was blind, and he told me that it almost broke him up when he thought of the fancy job he had made."

"Under Arizona Skies" will be presented by a competent company at the Charlevoix Theatre Saturday night of this week.

Things China Knew Long Ago.

There is a distinct tradition of flying machines at a very remote date in China, according to the author of "The Civilization of China," and rough woodcuts of such cars have been handed down for many centuries. There are even hints of the X ray, there being a record of a physician of the fifth century B. C. who was able to see into the viscera of his patients, while another physician, who lived about 1,800 years ago, was accustomed to use an anaesthetic and operated upon the bowels and offered to cure the headaches of a military commander of his day by opening his head. Hypnotism has been used for hundreds of years, but is forbidden by law. The ranks of the Boxers were largely recruited from the society of the vegetarians, who neither eat meat, smoke nor drink.

Next Friday night the attraction at the Charlevoix Theatre will be "A Woman's Worst Enemy." Don't miss it.

The Office Boy's Windfall.

It takes little to encourage a poet. A typographical error, says the Washington Star, fanned the flame of hope in the breasts of the Crestville versifiers. The local editor had written this notice for the head of the editorial page: "Poetry taken in exchange for subscription as an advertisement." But in the paper the note appeared as "Poetry taken in exchange."

However, the only person who profited by this error was the office boy for the next fortnight he sold to the unknown a quarter's worth of paper from the wastebasket every day. —Youth's Companion.

Womanly Intuition.

Mrs. Flatbush. The new family upstairs have a lot of money, but they used to be very poor and ordinary. Mr. Flatbush. How do you know? Have you called on them? Mrs. Flatbush. No, but there was a half eaten broiled lobster and a whole Camembert cheese in their garbage can on the dumb waiter this morning. Judge.

Why His Habits Changed.

"I thought you used to shave yourself."

"I did, but I gave it up."

"Why?"

"I got tired of being called to the telephone just the minute I was bathed." —Detroit Free Press.

Too High.

A visitor said to the small boy of the family, "Johnny, can you stand on your head?"

Johnny looked startled.

"No," he replied after a moment's thought; "it's too high up!" —New York Telegraph.

For Him?

Medlow.—Don't you think this selection is a good one of killing off all the idiots? Cyphens.—No; the world would be too lonely. —Baltimore American.

The best preparation for speaking is to have something to say, and the best preparation for that is silence. —Elton Young.

The famous play "Under Arizona Skies" at the Charlevoix Theatre, Saturday night.

Farmer Sues an Aviator.

The first legal case of a farmer against a flying machine has been brought in England. An aeroplane came down in a field of barley and did considerable damage. The farmer has brought suit.

CRANE'S

Special

Saturday, August 17

One Day Only

$1.25 $1.50 Umbrellas

88 c

These are Steel Rod—Paragon Frame, Linen Union Covers—Fast Black. Made by Hull Bros. Umbrella Co.—which is a guarantee of their Quality.

Each and Every Umbrella are regular $1.25 and $1.50 values.

This Day Only 88 c

See Window Display

Charlevoix Theatre

Wm. Wamsher Presents the New York successes

A Woman's Worst Enemy

Friday, August 16th

Under Arizona Skies

Saturday, August 17th

Prices - 25c - 35c - 50c

Pictorial Review Fashion

Book Costs You Only

5c

When Purchasing any Pictorial Review Patterns at 15c

The Fall Quarterly is Now on Sale at our Pattern Counter

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

Your Telephone

is a direct link between your home and this store. It provides a quick, easy way to do your shopping when weather or other conditions prevent your coming in person.

We've made special provision for telephone shoppers. You'll be attended to in the same courteous, satisfactory way all patrons are cared for.

Try us next time a need arises that must be cared for immediately. Lift your receiver from the hook, and, in an instant, you have access to our complete stocks of merchandise.

Dry Goods Notions
Cloaks
Waists
Trunks
Valises

Carpets
Rugs
Matting's
Linoleum
Draperies Bedding

J. L. CRANE

Charlevoix, Michigan

THE TRUTH ABOUT THOSE DELEGATES

Roosevelt Contests Instigated to Deceive the Public.

ALL BUT 74 WERE ABANDONED

(Continued from last week)

INDIANA.

Thirteenth District.
In the Thirteenth Indiana there was no question about the victory of the Taft men, because the temporary chairman representing the Taft side was conceded to have been elected by one half a vote more than the Roosevelt candidate. This one-half vote extended through the riotous proceedings, and although it was not as wide as a barrier door it was enough. The chairman put the question as to electing the Taft delegates, and after continuous objection lasting three hours declared the vote carried. The Roosevelt men then prevented a roll call and then halted.

KENTUCKY.

Seventh District.
In the Seventh Kentucky district the total vote of the convention was 115. There were contests from four counties, involving ninety-five votes. According to the rules of the party in Kentucky, where two seats of credentials are presented those delegates whose credentials are approved by the county chairman are entitled to participate in the temporary organization. On the temporary roll the Taft chairman was elected by ninety-eight votes and forty-seven votes were cast for the Roosevelt candidate. The committee on credentials was then appointed, consisting of one member named by each county delegation. The majority report of the committee was adopted unanimously by the convention, no delegation whose seats were contested being permitted to vote on its own case. As soon as the majority report of the credentials committee had been adopted, the Roosevelt adherents bolted. There was not the slightest reason for maintaining the contest for Roosevelt delegates.

Eighth District.

The Eighth Kentucky district was composed of ten counties having 163 votes, of which eighty-two were necessary to a choice. There was no contest in five of the counties, and although the Roosevelt men claimed that there was one in Spencer county no contest was presented against the seating of the regularly elected Taft delegates from that county. This gave the Taft delegates eighty-four votes, or two more than were necessary for a choice. In other words, assuming that the Roosevelt men were entitled to all the delegates from the counties in which they filed contests in the district convention there remained a clear majority of uncontested delegates who voted for the Taft delegates to Chicago.

OKLAHOMA.

Third District.
In the Third Oklahoma district the question of the validity of the seats of the delegates turned on the constitution of the congressional committee, which was made up of twelve Taft men and seven Roosevelt men. The chairman, Cochran, was a Roosevelt man and attempted to prevent the majority of the committee from taking action. The chairman was removed and another substituted, and thereupon the convention was duly called to order on the temporary roll prepared by the congressional committee, which was made the permanent roll, and the two Taft delegates to Chicago were duly selected. Every county in the district had its representation and vote in the regular convention, and no person properly accredited as a delegate was excluded or debarred from participating in its proceedings. Cochran and his followers bolted after his deposition. Assuming that all the committee who went out with him had the right to act on the committee, it left the committee standing twelve for Taft and seven for Roosevelt, so it was simply a question whether a majority of the committee had the right to control its action or a minority. The bolting convention which Cochran held was not attended by a majority of the duly elected delegates to the convention. It did not have the credentials from the various counties, and its membership was largely made up of bystanders who had not been duly accredited by any county in the district. Its action was entirely without authority.

TENNESSEE.

Second District.
In the Second Tennessee district there were fifty-nine delegates uncontested out of a possible total of 108 in the convention. There were forty-nine contested. The Roosevelt contestants in the forty-nine refused to abide the decision of the committee on credentials and withdrew, leaving fifty-nine uncontested delegates. These fifty-nine delegates, part of whom were Roosevelt men, remained in the convention, appointed the proper committees, settled contests and proceeded to select Taft delegates. There can be no question about the validity therefore of their title.

TEXAS.

First District.
The only remaining districts are the nine districts from Texas. Of these the First district was composed of eleven counties, each county having one vote, except Cass county, which had two. The executive committee, composed of one representative from each county, made up the temporary roll, and in the contests filed from two counties sent both delegates with one-half vote each. The convention elected the two Taft delegates, giving them ten and one-quarter votes. Each county was represented in this vote. A minority representing one and three-quarters votes bolted the regular convention and held a rump meeting. The national committee by unanimous vote decided the contest in favor of the Taft delegate.

Second District.

In the Second Texas district there were fourteen counties. Two counties were found not to have held conventions and one county to have no delegate present. The convention was then constituted by the delegations that held regular credentials. The report of the committee on credentials was accepted upon roll call, and then the representatives of five counties withdrew from the hall. The representatives of four of these counties held a rump convention. The regular convention remained in session several hours, appointed the usual committees, which retired and made their reports, which were accepted, and elected two Taft delegates to the national convention and certified their election in due form to the national committee, which without division asked for, held them properly elected.

Fourth District.

The Fourth Texas district consists of five counties, each having one vote in the district convention under the call. One county, Itasca, chose an uncontested delegation, and that one was for Taft. The other four counties sent contested delegations. The contesting delegations appeared before the congressional executive committee to present their claims, but the committee arbitrarily refused to hear anybody. Having exhausted every effort to secure a hearing, the four contesting delegations, together with the only uncontested delegation of the convention, withdrew to another place and held a convention and elected Taft delegates to the Chicago convention. The congressional convention which elected the Taft delegates was composed of more than a majority, and, indeed, of practically all the regularly elected delegates. The national committee held the title of the Taft delegates to their seats valid by viva voce vote without calling for a division.

Fifth District.

The Fifth district of Texas is composed of Dallas, Ellis, Hill, Bosque and Rockwall counties. Dallas county cast more Republican votes than all the other counties of the district put together. The call for the congressional convention allowed each county to send not to exceed four delegates, but made no reference to the basis of representation of the respective counties composing the district. There was a contest from Dallas county, but the Taft delegates were seated. Taft delegates were seated on the temporary roll from two counties, and Roosevelt delegates from the three counties, and the representation in the convention was fixed at one vote for each county without regard to the number of delegates in the convention or the number of Republican votes cast in such county. A minority report of the district committee was presented, protesting against the ratio of representation adopted. The chairman of the convention objected to the presentation of this minority report. Failing in this he abandoned the platform and left the hall.

The convention thereupon elected a new chairman and a new secretary, appointed a committee on credentials, which recommended the seating of the Taft delegates from Hill county and the adoption of the minority report of the district committee as to the basis of the representation in the convention. Both these recommendations were adopted, and Taft delegates to the national convention were thereupon elected by a vote of eight to three. The Roosevelt men thereafter retired to the south end of the hall, where they organized a meeting at which it was claimed the Roosevelt delegates to the national convention were elected. The Republican vote for the district for 1908 was as follows: Dallas county, 2,068; Ellis, 594; Hill, 414; Bosque, 266; Rockwall, 38. Both the national committee and the committee on credentials sustained the Taft delegates.

Seventh District.

The Seventh congressional district of Texas is composed of the following counties: Anderson, Chambers, Galveston, Houston, Liberty, Polk, San Jacinto and Trinity. Polk, San Jacinto and Trinity were without proper party organization. In Texas county chairmen must be elected by the voters in each party. No such election was held in any of these three counties. In two of them Colonel Lyon assumed to appoint chairmen, which he had no right to do. Lyon himself had closed these three counties as unorganized and without party organization.

The convention met in Galveston. The executive committee met prior to the meeting of the convention to make up the temporary roll of delegates. The executive committee had before it the question of having the three unorganized counties represented in the convention. The executive committee refused to recognize them. When this action was taken by the executive committee a delegate from Houston county and the alleged representatives from the three unorganized counties withdrew from the meeting and proceeded to organize another convention, and upon this is based the contest, which was rejected by both committees, the national committee and the credentials committee.

Eighth District.

In the Eighth congressional convention a split occurred over the majority and minority reports of the executive committee as to the temporary roll. The Roosevelt followers controlled the executive committee, but did not have a majority in the convention, which adopted the minority report and gave Taft five and one-half votes and Roosevelt two and one-half votes. This resulted in the election of the Taft delegates, who were seated by both the national committee and the credentials committee.

Ninth District.

In the Ninth district the district committee was called by Mr. Speaker, a member of the committee, and not by the chairmen. The chairman refused to convene the committee because he claimed that all the delegates from Texas to the national convention must be elected in the state convention, that Colonel Lyon, his superior, had thus directed him. The district committee was called. Seven members attended the meeting. The district convention was called on May 15. Eleven counties out of the fifteen responded to the call and took part in the convention. Three counties were not represented, and in one of these there was no election. After this convention had been called the chairman of the district committee changed his mind and called a meeting of the committee for April 17. This committee called a congressional convention to be held on May 18. But there was no publication of the call, which had to be thirty days before the convention, until April 21. The Taft convention seems therefore to have been duly and regularly convened, while the Roosevelt convention was not. The Taft delegates were seated.

Tenth District.

In the Tenth district the decision turned largely upon the bad faith with which two members of the district committee voted in the seating of delegates and upon the bad faith with which one of them used the proxy entrusted to him. The Taft delegates in this case bolted and left the hall and immediately in the same building organized another convention which consisted of delegates from six counties. Proceedings were regularly held; a permanent organization effected; the report of the committee on resolutions adopted and delegates pledged to Taft were elected. The undisputed evidence indicated that a flagrant attempt had been made to deprive Taft of this district, to which he was justly entitled. The national committee sustained the title of the Taft delegates and alternates by a practically unanimous vote.

Fourteenth District.

In the Fourteenth district there were fifteen counties in the district. When the executive committee met at San Antonio to make up the temporary roll there were ten members of the committee present whose right to act was undisputed, of whom six were for Taft and four for Roosevelt. There were four other Roosevelt men present whose right to vote was disputed and who were clearly not entitled to represent their county at that meeting. One of them held the proxy of the committeeman from Kendall county, who was dead, and the proxies from three other counties were held, two by postmasters and one by an assistant postmaster, while under the election law of Texas no one who holds an office of profit or trust under the United States shall act as a member of an executive committee either for the state or for any district or county. The temporary roll was made up by Taft members, having a clear majority without permitting these men to act under their proxies. There was a contest over the delegation from Bexar county, which contains the city of San Antonio. Full consideration was given to this contest, but the testimony was overwhelming that Taft carried the county by a vote of four or five to one. On the proper basis the total vote in the district convention was sixty-seven, of which the number instructed or voting for Taft was thirty-seven and one-half, the number voting or instructed for Roosevelt twenty-eight and one-half, not voting one. The Taft delegation was therefore seated at Chicago.

CONCLUSION.

The purpose of this resume of the contests in which there was any shadow of substance has been to inform those who have not time or inclination to read the longer and more detailed account of them contained in the larger pamphlet. It is not essential to make Mr. Taft's title indisputable that all men agree on every one of the issues raised. They were decided by the tribunals which uniform party usage had made the proper tribunals to decide such contests. If those tribunals acted in good faith mistaken judgment would not invalidate their decisions. As a matter of fact, an examination of the facts show that the tribunals were right in every instance. There is not the slightest evidence that they were moved by other than a mere desire to reach a right conclusion. On the other hand, the action of the Roosevelt men in bringing 100 contests that they promptly abandoned strongly tended to show the lack of good faith in the prosecution of all of them. Those who support President Taft can well afford to stand on the record in this case and to asseverate without fear of successful contradiction that the delegates whose seats were contested were as fairly seated in this convention as in any in the history of the party.

His Harvest Season.

Teacher—Now, Earlie, tell us when is the harvest season. Earlie—From November to March. Teacher—Why, Earlie, I am surprised that you should name any barren months. Who told you they were the harvest season? Earlie—Pa. He's a plumber.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Literary Note.

Deputist—Pamphlet, the novelist, was in this morning and had a tooth pulled. Friend—Ah! An old man from a popular author, as it were.—Boston Transcript.

The Fear of Woman.

Mrs. A—They say the world is coming to an end. Mrs. B—But let it end with my old clothes on.—Satire.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell
WHAT He had to Trade.

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First
Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell,
Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results
A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Cohens'
StoreCharlevoix
Michigan

MID-SUMMER CLEARANCE SALE

Cohens'
StoreCharlevoix
Michigan

BEGINNING THURSDAY, AUGUST 15th AND LASTING UNTIL SATURDAY NIGHT, AUGUST 31

We will present our entire stock at goodly savings to you. 'Tis all quality merchandise too. Hundreds of bargains await you at this Clearance Sale. No matter whether it is one article or a complete outfit, you can buy now at a saving of 25 per cent to 75 per cent. Everything for the family at greatly reduced prices. Below we mention a few of the money-savers. Come and see for yourself.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 15 TO SATURDAY, AUGUST 31

Men's Department

Men's Shoes

Black and tan Oxfords at 25 to 75 per cent discount.
Men's $3.00 and $3.50 Shoes and Oxfords at $1.75.
Men's $3.75 and $4.00 Shoes and Oxfords at $2.00.

Men's Pants

$5.00 Dress Pants at $3.00
4.00 Dress Pants at 2.00
3.00 Dress Pants at 1.50
2.00 Dress Pants at 1.00
1.50 Work Pants at .89c
Also a complete line of Overalls and Working Clothes.

Men's Hats and Caps

A grade for every purse
Men's $3.00 and $2.50 Hats going at $1.50
$1.50 and $1.00 Hats going at .89c
$1.00 Caps at .75c
75c Caps at .50c
50c Caps at .39c
25c Caps at .18c
All snappy styles

Men's Linen and Rubber Collars

Regular 15c Barker Brand Linen Collar...10c
25c Rubber Collars...15c

Men's and Boys' Swimming Suits

Best Quality.
Regular $1 Swimming Suits going at .79c
Regular 75c Swimming Suits going at .65c
Regular 50c Boys' Swimming Suits at .39c
Also Men's and Boys' Trunks.

Men's Underwear

Five Spring and Fall T-shirt Suits for Men
$1.55 grade at .93c
$1.25 grade at .79c
Two-piece Suits
75c Suits going at .41c

Men's Shirts with Soft Collars

Regular $1.50 Dress Shirts at .89c
Regular 1.00 Shirts at .69c
Regular 75c Shirts at .48c
Regular 50c Shirts at .39c
Men's regular 50c Work Shirts at .38c

Complete line of light weight Flannel Shirts for fall at reduced prices. Strong and firm and will stand the scrub of the tub.

Men's Sweaters

You get more value than you really expect when you buy.
$3.00 Sweaters for $1.89
$2.25 Sweaters for $1.41
Sweaters for the entire family in Jerseys and Sweater Coats.

Boys' Knee Pants

Regular $1.00 Knickerbockers for .69c
Regular 75c Knickerbockers for .50c
Regular 50c Knickerbockers for .38c
The kind that don't wear out

Suit Cases

All leather, regular $2 Suit Cases...$1.25
All leather, regular $1.25 Suit Cases...89c
Best values to be found anywhere.

Men's Furnishings

Men's half-hose. These have no weak points.
Regular 50c Silk Hose...39c
Regular 35c Silk Hose...23c
Regular 25c Silk Lisle Hose...19c
Regular 15c Socks...11c
Regular 10c Socks...7c

Men's Neckwear

Our Neckwear is distinguished by originality and beauty.
Regular 50c Neckwear, closing out at .39c
Regular 25c Neckwear, closing out at .19c
Wash ties in all pretty designs.

Men's Suspenders and Belts

Regular 50c Suspenders and Belts...25c
Regular 25c Suspenders and Belts...19c

Boys' Knee-Pants Suits

All good Styles.
Regular $4, $5, and $6 Suits at $1.50 per Suit

Ladies' Department

A complete line of

KABO
and WARNER
CORSETS

25% Discount

Ladies' Dresses

All Ladies' $1.50 to $3 Dresses at $1.25
All Ladies' $3.50 to $7 Dresses at $2.50
Children's $1.50 Modesty Suits at .75c
Ladies' Waists in high and low necks in all styles at 25 per cent off

Ladies' Shoes and Oxfords

Ladies' $3.50 Gun metal Oxfords at $1.50
Regular $3.00 Oxfords at $1.00
$2.00 White Pumps and Oxfords at $1.00
$2.25 White Pumps and Oxfords at $1.35
All white, black and tan Ladies' Shoes at Cost

Ladies' Muslin Underwear

Closing out at 40% cash off the dollar. These values must be seen to be appreciated.
Ladies' beautiful $2.00 Nightgowns at $1.00
Ladies' $1.75 Nightgowns at .98c
Regular $2.00 Princess Slips at $1.00
Regular $1.75 Princess Slips at .98c

Mercerized Petticoats

Regular $2.00 Petticoats for $1.39
Regular $1.75 Petticoats for $1.19
Regular $1.50 Petticoats for .91c
Regular 75c Petticoats for .48c
75c Gingham Petticoats for .48c

Umbrellas

Black and White
Regular $2.00 Umbrellas at $1.39
Regular $1.50 Umbrellas at $1.09
Regular $1.00 Umbrellas at .79c
Regular 75c Umbrellas at .48c
Umbrellas in all sizes

Ladies' Kimonos and Dressing Sacques

Regular $1.50 Kimonos closing out at $1.19
Regular $1.25 Kimonos closing out at .91c
Regular 75c Dressing Sacques at .48c
Regular 50c Dressing Sacques at .39c

Ladies' Hosiery

Regular $1.50 Silk Hose...$1.19
Regular 25c Lisle and Gauze Hose...19c
Regular 20c Lisle and Gauze Hose...16c
Regular 15c Lisle and Gauze Hose...11c
Regular 10c Lisle and Gauze Hose...7c

Ladies' Ribbed Vests

Regular 25c Ribbed Vests closing out at .15c
Regular 15c Ribbed Vests closing out at .10c

Calicoes

All regular 7c Calicoes closing out at .4-1-2c

Ginghams

Regular 9c Apron Gingham going at .7c
Reg. 15 & 12 1/2c Dress Gingham at .10c per yd.

Towling

Regular 12 1/2c Towling for .10c
Regular 10c Towling for .8c
Regular 7c Towling for .5c

Jabots

Regular 25c Jabots closing out at .15c
Regular 50c Collars for .25c
Regular 50c Ribbon Rosettes for .25c
Complete Stock of Embroideries Sold at 5c yard

Ladies Sweater Coats

Red and White.
Regular $5 Sweater Coats closing out at $3.59
Regular $3.50 Sweater Coats closing out at 2.19

Dress Skirts

Ladies' Dress Skirts, we are going out to close them at cost. Come look for yourself and get your own prices.

Boys School Shoes

Just the kind for boys.
Regular $1.75 Shoes closing out at $1.19
These are of the best quality.

Between August 20th and September 1st, we expect a large complete line of men's and boys' clothing. This assortment will contain men's and boys' suits, overcoats, men's and boys' trousers and boys' knee pants. We will have men's suits in the highest quality at from $10.00 a suit and up. Come in and look them over.

Ayres' Block

COHENS' STORE

Charlevoix, Mich.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and
Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. KETTERTON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty Years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VANFELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. PETER
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. S. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Opposite County Bank
Green's Office Charlevoix, Mich.

J. R. A. AULD
Dentist
1012 Van Ness Building
Over Lexington's Store
Phone 179 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone 111 or 112 residence 25
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to Diseases of the EYE, NOSE and THROAT
Office over Times & Co's at old store
Telephone No. 256 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. L. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
Successor to Dr. LeFevre
Special attention to Diseases of Women and Children. Appointments given promptly at home
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Anthon counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone unknown

Let me do your
DRAYING
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention. Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED
Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Potoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday
Each Week

COURIER PRESS
COMMERCIAL PRINTERS
A Trial will Convince You

Copyright, 1912, by Doubleday, Page & Company

CHAPTER XXIV. Continued.

When she went into the actor's dressing room, she found him sitting at a table, looking at a letter. "Edith," he said, "Henderson is in trouble with his automobile. He wants me to go to O'More's with him to show him where the doctor lives and help him get fixed so he can start back this evening. It will take about two hours. May I go?"

"Of course you must go," she said, laughing lightly. "You can't leave your sister. Why don't you go back to Chicago with them? There is plenty of room, and you could have a fine visit."

"I'll be back in just two hours," said Edith. "While I am gone you be thinking over what we were talking of when the folks came."

Edith offered her hand to all of them, and when she came to Edith she gave him one long steady look in the eyes, then shook hands with him also.

When Philip returned to the limberlost Edith was gone. There was a note for him, saying that even her mother did not know where she had sought refuge. On or before the 1st of September, she wrote, she would let him know where she was and her decision. Philip, deeply disappointed, returned to Chicago. There Edith Carr, in a meeting at which Philip's father was present, begged his forgiveness, told him she had always loved him, and asked for his forgiveness. But he told her they had never loved each other, and that he was going back to the limberlost to live.

Edith, feeling the need of rest, went to the summer home of the Angel and Mr. Carr, on Mackinac Island, and received a warm welcome from Mr. and Mrs. O'More and their four young children.

CHAPTER XXV.

Wherein Edith Carr Wages a Battle and Henderson Stands Guard.

ANY people looked, a few followed, as Edith Carr slowly came down the main street of Mackinac, pausing here and there to note the glow of color in one small booth after another, overhanging with eaves. Despite the effort she made to move lightly, she was very tired and dragged her heavy feet with an effort.

She turned at the little street leading down to the dock and went out to meet the big lake steamer ploughing up the straits from Chicago. Past the landing place, on to the very end of the pier she went, then sat down, leaning against a dark signpost and closed her tired eyes. When the steamer came very near she brought up and had the people lining the railing. Instantly she marked one beam, anxious face turned toward him and with a flash of pity she offered a hand and waved to him. He was the first man off the boat.

"Did you have a successful trip?" she asked.

"Unaccomplished my purpose. Edith, I saw you one day in the Lake Shore private hospital."

"An accident?"

"No. Nervous and physical breakdown."

"But said he was going back to the limberlost."

"Yes. He was. He was there three weeks, but the strain broke him. He has an ailment in his hands and he has been unable to work since. He has been here until it is ragged. He held it up to me and said, 'You can see for yourself that she says she will be well and happy, but we can't know until we see her again, and that may never be. She may have gone too near that place her father went down, some of that limberlost gang may have found her in the forest. She may be dead in some city morgue this instant waiting for me to find her body.'"

"Hurt for pity's sake stop."

"I can't," cried Henderson desperately. "I must tell you. They are fighting brain fever. He did go back to the swamp and he provided it night and day. The days down there are hell now, and the nights were with dew and cold. He paid no attention and forgot his food. A fever started, and his whole brought him home. They've never Henderson spring after her, catching her arm and assisting her to the street. "Help me," she cried, clinging to him. He passed his arm around her, almost carrying her out of sight into a little cove walled by high rocks in the back, where there was a clean floor of white sand, and logs washed from the lake for seats. He found one of these with a back rest, and hurrying down to the water he sank his handkerchief and carried it to her. She passed it over her lips, over her eyes.

"Hurt, what makes you hurt?" she asked wearily. "My mother doesn't care. She says this is good for me. But I think this is good for me, that's all."

"Edith, you know I would give you anything I could save you this," he said, and could not speak further.

He had her carefully, softly, tenderly. She was suffering almost more than either of them could bear.

"I wish your heart was here," she said at last. "I want to sail fast with the wind in my face."

"There is no wind. I can get you out or around in a few minutes."

"Then get it."

"Up on the sand. I can phone from the first booth. It won't take but a little while."

Edith lay on the white sand and Henderson covered her face with her hat. Then he ran to the nearest booth and talked imperatively. Presently he was back, bringing a hot drink and was stimulating. Shortly the motor car drove to the beach and stopped. Henderson's servant brought a rowboat ashore and took them to the launch.

Hour after hour the boat ran up and down the shore. The moon arose and the night air grew very chilly. Henderson put on an overcoat and piled more covers on Edith.

"You must take me home," she said at last. "The folks will be uneasy."

He was compelled to take her to the cottage with the bottle still ringing. He went back early the next morning, but already she had wandered out over the island. Instinctively Henderson felt that the shore would attract her. There was something in the tumult of rough little Huron's waves that called to him. It was there he found her, crouching so close the water foam was dampening her skirts.

"May I stay?" he asked.

"I have been hoping you would come," she answered. "It's been enough when you are here, but it is a little easier than bearing it alone."

"Of course you know there is something I have got to do. But will you go with me?"

"Of course."

"I might as well give up and get it over," she faltered.

"That was the first time in her life that Edith Carr ever had proposed to give up anything she wanted."

"Help me, Hart."

Henderson started around the beach, assisting her all he could. Finally he stopped.

"Edith, there is no sense in this! You are too tired to go. You know you can trust me. You want to be in those lovely places and send me. You will be safe, and I'll run. One word is all that is necessary."

"But I've got to say that word to myself," she said.

"Write it and let me carry it. The necessity is not going to prove you want to the office and sent it."

"That is quite true," she said dropping wearily, but she made no movement to take the pen and paper he offered.

"Hart, you write it," she said at last.

Henderson turned away his face. He gripped the pen, while his breath sucked between his dry teeth.

"Certainly," he said when he could speak. "Mackinac, Aug. 27. Philip Armon, Lake Shore hospital, Chicago." He paused with suspended pen and glanced at Edith. Her white lips were working, but no sound came.

"Miss Constock is at Terrence O'More's, on Mackinac Island," pronounced Henderson.

Edith nodded.

"Steady, Henderson," continued the big man.

Edith shook her head.

"Easy, she is well and happy," and said, Edith Carr," she panted.

"Not on your life!" dashed Henderson.

"For the love of mercy, Hart, don't make this any harder. It is the least I can do, and it takes every ounce of strength in me to do it."

"Will you wait for me here?" he asked.

She nodded, and, pulling his hat lower over his eyes, Henderson ran around the shore. In less than an hour he was back. That evening they were sitting down the straits before a still breeze and Henderson was busy with the filler when she said to him, "Hart, I want you to do something more for me. I want you to go away."

"Very well," he said quietly, but his face whitened visibly.

"You say that as if you had been expecting it."

"I have. I knew from the beginning that when this was over you would dislike me for having seen you suffer. Does it make any difference to you where I go?"

"I want you where you will be loved and good care taken of you."

"Thank you," said Henderson, smiling grimly. "Have you any idea where such a spot might be found?"

"It should be with your sister at Los Angeles. She always has seemed very fond of you."

"That is quite true," said Henderson, his eyes brightening a little. "I will go to her. When shall I start?"

"At once."

A continued next week.

Courier runs on application.

Subscribe for the Courier.

IDLE MONEY

There is idle money in every community—money not in use, not even safely deposited in a reliable bank. It is hid away, carried on the person, liable to loss by fire, theft and many other causes. Idle money makes no one a cent. Its money in circulation that stimulates business. The more money in circulation the higher the prices and the lower the rates of interest. Bring your money to this bank where it will be safe and always subject to your check. It will help you, it will help us, it will help the community. Idle money is as useless to business as an idle man.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nichols H. H. Nichols A. B. Burt A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners
Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Warm Weather

Comforts and Necessity

Screen Doors

A 1 star and kinds from the Cheapest that's good to the best that's made.

Window Screens

The well made, adjustable kind; fits any window strong and durable.

Refrigerators

Best, most handsomely built from the strongest timber; also finished throughout in enamel; almost every size and price.

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's
$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Sales and 100-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and veterinarians, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to obtain. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, cleanest money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 20-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers as an interesting, a manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling sales, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Sales Annually.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE. I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.

I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by seeking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE EPILEPSY in 30 days to stay cured and to never return.

I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given best of care. May work out free.

Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice, which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars. I have no fee. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.
Holding Sanitarium & Retreat, Belding, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Keep Track of the Mints....

If in need of a new Watch or Clock we Will Sell it to You.

If They Need Repairing We Are Prepared to Do It

If in need of anything in the Jewelry Line WE HAVE IT

C. R. BELLINGER

Phone J. 4000

Grange Column

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session Tuesday evening August 6. Worthy Master E. H. Clark in the chair, with an attendance of thirty. All the special committees on picnic reported good work being done and more committees were appointed to assist in the work.

Lecturer's hour was taken up with songs, stories and readings. Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

They are going fast—$3.50 and $4 Oxfords for $2 at Bedford's Shoe Store. 33tf

Wilson Grange No. 719.

Wilson grange met in regular session Saturday, August 10, with an attendance of twenty members.

The Worthy Master called the meeting to order and the usual order of business prevailed, after which followed the Lecturer's program consisting of interesting recitations, readings and talks.

Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

See "A True Kentuckian" at the Majestic Monday night. It will cost you 10 and 20 cents.

Charlevoix Grange.

Charlevoix grange met Monday night with a small attendance. Worthy Master E. B. Ward in the chair.

Sister G. H. Decker was instructed in the third and fourth degrees. Meetings were postponed until the fourth Monday in September.

Talk about bargains—Bedford's Oxford sale has them all beat. Now is the time to buy. 33tf

Two Grange Events.

Don't fail to make note that the next meeting of Pomona grange will be held at Bay Shore August 22, and that the Maple Grove grange picnic will be held the Saturday following, August 24.

Subscribe for the Courier:

For Sale

Farmer's Favorite 11 disk grain drill. Good as New.

Price - $40.00

Re-cleaned Fall Rye; Red Wave Seed Wheat, a new beardless variety.

Samples - FREE

Registered Guernsey Bull Calf, excellent breeding.

Wallace Bros.

Bay Shore, Mich.
Phone 551

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, Van-Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Soul!"
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH

Regular services at the Methodist church.

Morning service at 10:30 followed by Sunday school at noon.

League meeting is at 6:30. It is largely attended.

Evening preaching by pastor 7:30. Prayer meeting Thursday evening, 7:30. A cordial invitation is given you.

Rev. Frank Sheets of Chicago will preach in the morning.

Preaching at Mountain school house 2:30.

EPWORTH CHURCH.

Sunday school 1:30.

Preaching 2:30.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Morning service 10:30. Subject, "Satan, the great Adversary of God and Man, his former Position before God his present Power among Men."

Sunday school 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Topic, "South America, Leader, Mrs. Martindale.

Evening service at 7:30. At the close of the service Pastor will give an opportunity to anyone desiring to become a Christian or to unite with the Church to come forward.

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Burgess school house.

Strangers always welcome. Seats free.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Morning service at 10:30.

Sunday school at noon.

Milweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

"A Woman's Worst Enemy" at Charlevoix Theatre, Friday evening, August 16. 33tf

Arabia's Wild Horses.

The wild horses of Arabia will not admit a tame horse among them, while the wild horses of South America endeavor to decoy domesticated horses from their masters and seem eager to welcome them.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15c first insertion.

COW FOR SALE—Inquire of H. Bedford. 33tf

Girls wanted at Fountain City House. Inquire at once. 33tf

FOR SALE—Gray mare, six years old, weight 1000. W. H. Mayne, R. F. D. 4, 31-13-pd. 33tf

FOR SALE—Modern room house, electric light and bath, 216 West Upright Ave. Terms, Robert G. Madill. 33tf

FARM FOR SALE—40 acres 3 miles north-east of Charlevoix. 40 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. Mahoney, P. O. box 125. 33tf

THEATRICAL

Something different, from the usual run of the musical comedy which contains froth and lolly intermingled with some musical jingles, will be seen when the gorgeous musical-practick "The Prince of Tonight," comes to the Charlevoix theatre August 20.

The truth is there and some folly yet there is something substantial about the story, the music and characters, that has elevated "The Prince of Tonight," above the plane of the ordinary musical offering. It has been termed by many critics a musical fantasy, with all the merit of high class opera. Certainly it has proved the greatest surprise in years. It is an alluring conceit, full of pretty solos and chorus numbers rendered by attractive girls in fanciful costumes. Adams, Hough and Howard, who are also well known for their clever work in a score of musical successes, have been credited with their best effort in the writing of "The Prince of Tonight." The story, consistent and of original trend, tells of a poor but resourceful college youth who has been badly snubbed by an heiress whose flirtations he mistakes for real love. At the magical moment of the blooming of a century, he is transformed into a prince, for the one night, of the mythical land of Lantania. He is enabled to win the girl who snubbed him after all manner of adventure, in the midst of fairland scenes lavishly presented. Among the many song hits are "Her Eyes Are Blue for Yale," "It is a Dear Old World After All," "The Best Thing a Waiter Does Is Wait," "I Can't be True so Far Away," "Tonight Will Never Come Again," and "I don't Want to Marry Your Family."

"The Shepherd of the Hills," Harold Bell Wright's novel, which holds the record for being the largest-selling American work of fiction, has been made into a play by its author with the assistance of Elsbey W. Reynolds. It will be given its first production in this city at the Charlevoix theatre, Wednesday, September 11th.

The play is a story of the Ozark mountains and its people are all of that vicinity, which promises stage characters out of the ordinary. The production which has been made by Messrs. Gaskill and MacVinty, is said to be one of extreme beauty, this picturesque mountain country lending itself to the best in the scenic artist art.

A Woman's Worst Enemy.

In "A Woman's Worst Enemy," the attraction at Charlevoix Theatre on Friday, August 16, theatre goes will see a new social melo-drama which differs greatly from the ordinary run of the realistic stage drama. The play is by one of America's most successful dramatists.

The play deals with issues particularly vital to the new financial phase of American life. A bright young man makes a fortune and becomes a capitalist. His wife clings to her domestic ideals, old fashioned and wholesome. The husband is wrathful at her reluctance to engage in social splendor. He divorces her, weds a brilliant actress and seeks to make his way into the circles of the best of society. In the end the pace is too much for him, he finally loses his fortune and position and becomes again the workingman and social nobody. Now his first wife is still faithful to him, and how the problem of life is worked out to a startling climax are strong points in the play. There is pathos in the play, also bright comedy and intense human-ity.

At last we are to see "Under Arizona Skies" The patrons of the Charlevoix Theatre should congratulate Manager Lookout on his success in securing this well known attraction. The book is a world-wide popular story and every one who has read the book can easily recognize the superb material it affords for the development of an unusual drama. "Under Arizona Skies" will be the attraction at the Charlevoix Theatre Saturday evening, August 17.

Manager Wildern has secured the Cornell-Price players for a week's engagement at the Majestic beginning August 19, presenting a new play with new vaudeville features each night during the week. The company consists of ten very clever people, headed by one of the funniest comedians on the road, Happy Hal Price, assisted by Miss Florence Madiera, his co-star. For their initial play they will present "A True Kentuckian," a southern romance full of comedy.

$3.50 and $4 Walk Over, Queen Quality and Douglas Oxfords at $2. A chance of a lifetime to buy. Go to Bedford's and "Shoe" up. 33tf

Order your Teddy Bear Bread direct Phone 275 33tf

See my line of Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases. I am carrying the largest and most complete line ever shown in the city. I buy direct from the manufacturers in large quantities and can sell at a very low price.

Trunks $3.50 to $18

Bags $1.75 to $10

Suit Cases $1.00 to $10

All Kinds of Repairing Done

Benj. Brown

Closing Out Sale

On account of the exceptionally backward summer. We find ourselves with many more Hammocks on hand than we should have at this time—and to get rid of them we are going to close them out at prices regardless of cost.

Here are some of the bargains

$10.00	Cord Hammocks at	$7.50
$7.50	Handmade " "	5.75
$5	Woven " "	3.75
$4	" " "	3.00
$3	" " "	2.25
$2	" " "	1.50

All others at proportionate prices.
Come before the best have been taken.
You cannot afford to lose this chance.

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable Furniture Dealers.

Republican State Convention.

To the Republican electors of the state of Michigan:

A state convention of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at the Light Guard Armory in the city of Detroit, on Tuesday, September 24, 1912, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of nominating Republican candidates for Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor General, Attorney General, Commissioner of the State Land Office, and Justice of the Supreme Court for the term ending December 31, 1913, to fill vacancy, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Delegates to the respective county conventions shall be chosen at the primary election held on the 25th day of August, 1912, as provided by section 18 of Act 281 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended by Act 239 of the Public Acts of 1911. Each township, ward or precinct shall be entitled to such number of delegates as shall be specified in the call issued by the county committees for the county conventions in the respective counties.

By order of the Republican State Central Committee.

Alex J. Groesbeck,

Chairman

Paul H. King,

Secretary.

Dated at Grand Rapids, Michigan, July 20, 1912.

The following is the apportionment of delegates to the several counties of the 11th congressional district: Montcalm, 15; Isabella, 15; Clare, 8; Roscommon, 2; Grand Traverse, 8; Antrim, 6; Kalkaska, 3; Charlevoix, 3; Missaukee, 7; Osceola, 5; Mecosta, 9; Gratiot, 18.

For Sale.

Binder twine, 7½ cents per pound. One ball or one hundred pounds at the same price. Charles M. Pierce, R. F. D. No. 2. 33tf

Courier rates on application.

Charlevoix Theatre

Tuesday, August 20th, 1912

Le Cointe & Fleisher offer

The Gorgeous Spectacle

260 Times In Chicago

15 Musical Numbers

The Prince of Tonight

By Adams, Hough & Howard

A Musical Gem With a Beauty Setting

Outclassing all Fancies of the Imagination

50 PEOPLE | CAPABLE CAST | 50 PEOPLE BEAUTY CHORUS

All the Girls Are Dreams

$50,000 Musical Fantasy

Prices - $1.50 - $1.00 - 75c - and 50c

Seats on Sale at the Central Drug Store

"There! I'm through."

"Kitchen work all done"—is it late in the evening before you wearily utter these words? Or can you say "all through" with satisfaction because there are still hours of daylight left?

If you are working early and late doing the work of which the care of your range is a large part, you will be interested in what we have to say about the

Monarch Malleable Range

because it gives you the most gratifying service with very, very little care. When you want cooking heat it responds quickly—in a very few minutes the top is piping hot or the oven ready for baking. And it's easy to regulate. You can have a brisk, quick-baking heat, or a slow, even oven temperature—and DEPEND on getting it—just as you want it—every day. No wasted time, no aching arms from hacking or polishing the MONARCH. No smutty-bottomed utensils. No fuss or trouble of any kind.

Better Work—Less Fuel—Lasts a Lifetime

Most women are surprised at the big saving in dollars and cents that the MONARCH makes. Let us tell you what some local users have said. Let us show you this range that keeps on giving this same kind of work-saving, money-saving service after years and years of use.

Come See the Monarch Know the Improvements

It's worth coming to see. You can better afford to have the MONARCH than not. We'll tell you just why. But a MONARCH will mean more than just money saved. In the case of other housewives by the thousands it has taken away the drudgery of long days in the kitchen.

Make Your Cooking a Daily Pleasure

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 34

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

HIS RECORD IS HIS PLATFORM

Hon. Robert W. Paddock Stands on the Services Previously Rendered the County and State—Were You Satisfied Then?

Robert W. Paddock of Charlevoix is a candidate for the office of Representative in the legislature before the primaries August 27th, on the republican ticket. It is up to the people to choose whom they will represent them in the state legislature, and for that reason it is well for them to be fully informed as to what each candidate has done in the past, for the surest indication of what a man will do, is what he has done.

Mr. Paddock has been a resident of Charlevoix county since 1899, but even before that time he recognized the excellence of Charlevoix county products, by choosing a Charlevoix girl, the daughter of Hon. John Nichols, for his wife. In 1885, before coming to this county to locate permanently he held several positions of trust and responsibility in other states, and in every case, "made good." When he decided to

In the fall of 1902 he was elected to the legislature on the republican ticket. The platform of that year, had promised the people primary reform, and, believing that platform promise should be held sacred, Mr. Paddock worked and vied for the only real primary bill before the house that session—the Colby-Stone-Powell bill—which passed the house but was defeated in the senate. Firm in his position that the people should have that which had been promised them, he continued to talk and agitate the matter until it was submitted to the people, carrying in this county by over 1,100 majority. Since that time the people have had a voice in the choosing of candidates, and "ring rule" has been forever done away with. During his term in the legislature Mr. Paddock secured the passage of several bills of local importance to Charlevoix county, particularly one relating to open-wire fences on rural mail routes. He was one of a committee of three that drafted the Contagious Disease bill, giving boards of supervisors the right to pass upon the reasonableness of charges made against the county, which bill saved the county many hundreds, and the people of the state many thousands of dollars.

While a member of the board of supervisors in 1906, Mr. Paddock introduced and helped to pass a resolution authorizing an audit of the county books. The people are familiar with the result of this audit and the conditions revealed, conditions which through the installation of a new system of book-keeping can no longer exist, and the exact financial standing of the county can now be known at any moment.

Mr. Paddock has also served his city as alderman, and was one of the most efficient and hard-working members that body ever had. He is at the present time a member of the Board of Works. In every position to which the people have called him he has proven an industrious, energetic public servant, looking always to the welfare of the people, and opposing anything that smacked of "ring rule" and the "bosses." He has always worked on the theory that he serves the city, county, and country best, who serves the People best, and is not one of those who is afraid to trust the intelligence, the honor and the integrity of the common people. Another motto of his is that "The Laborer is Worthy of his Hire." He has always paid the highest going wage, believes in labor organizations, and when in the legislature, he has always been in the front of the laboring man.

(Continued on page 4)

locate here he bought an interest in a large tract of out-over lands in Marion and Eveline townships with a frontage on Pine Lake, and has developed this into one of the most up-to-date stock and dairy farms in northern Michigan. He helped start the Charlevoix Creamery, and has been untiring in his efforts to keep it in continuous operation. He has invested in city property in Charlevoix, and has always been identified with every movement that had for its object the advancement of the city and county.

JUDGE HARRIS' WORK ENDORSED

By Men Who Have Had Business in the Probate Court—Would You Discharge a Faithful Servant Merely for a Change?

It comes to few men who have had as long a public service as the Hon. J. M. Harris to find little or no criticism of the manner in which he has administered his public duties, and on the eve of another election, when he has offered himself again as the candidate of his party for reelection, to receive so general an endorsement from all classes of people. We give extracts from a few that he has shown us.

R. W. Kane, an attorney of Charlevoix, Michigan, writes: "Have had a good deal to do in probate court and have found the office conducted with method and ability. That the welfare of these interested in estates has been constantly in mind and that in the 12 years only one appeal from his court has been taken to a higher court and that appeal sustained." He further says: "Your large and varied experience in the management of business affairs has contributed very largely to the success with which you have administered the duties of this very important office."

Mr. Hooper of the People's Bank says: "In this connection we wish to take this opportunity of extending to you our appreciation of the manner in which the business of the probate court of Charlevoix county has been transacted during your administration. Your experience in the work connected with this important office is a valuable asset to the people of this county; an asset which they will do well to retain. You have our hearty endorsement."

Hon. A. Butlers of the Charlevoix County Bank, says: "Your administration of the probate office has been a success and you have been careful in its details. The rights of everyone interested in the settlement of estates have been carefully guarded. I have heard no complaints from any one, but that you have always done what was right for all parties concerned in cases that have come into your court."

Mr. Geo. G. Glenn, cashier of the East Jordan State Bank, says: "I wish to compliment you on the manner in which you have conducted the duties of the probate office during the last eight or ten years, particularly as to real estate titles. I have had considerable to do in the probate office in acting as administrator, executor and guardian and have been in a very good position to know how such matters are handled. It is my judgment that your past experience and familiarity with the requirements of this office are very strong points in favor of your reelection."

Lisle Shanahan, an attorney of Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I have been questioned many times in regard to my opinion of you as a probate judge and feel under obligation to inform you of my opinion. I have criticized your method of handling estates, in that you make it unnecessary for petitioners to employ counsel, except in cases of litigation, and believe that my experience is that of all attorneys. I do not believe that the fact that you have held office for a number of years makes you less efficient."

Dr. A. A. Swinton, vice-president of the Argo Milling Co., of Charlevoix and East Jordan, says: "The last time you were a candidate for probate judge I voted against you to support one of the younger men and help ease the job around. The only reason I had was to give some one else a chance. I knew nothing about probate court work and supposed any one could go in there and do the work well. I have changed my mind, because I know what a saving has been made because of your experience. In the estate I am interested in. During the last two years I have been in your court a great deal. Absolutely ignorant of court proceedings, at first I appeared with an attorney. The case I was interested in was very complicated and became more so because of the death of one of the heirs. It was impossible for me, as busy as I am, to always find our attorney and I soon began to follow your advice. I believe that in this way there was a saving of $300 to the estate, and this was not all. I soon saw that your experience in these matters was what was needed. Judgment in the many business details good. During the last year we have consulted with one outside our own firm as much as we have you, not as an attorney nor as a probate judge, but as a man with large experience in business affairs. We could mention instances where the business methods suggested have been worth considerable money."

Henry J. Carpenter, a workman of East Jordan, says: "I have had a good deal of business in the probate court as elsewhere. I have seen the ramifications of the business brought in there, the possibility of poor methods clouding titles, etc. As you have had no compensation other than that coming in as a judge, I feel that I owe you this letter and also my thanks."

(Continued on page 4)

FRANCIS. H. DODDS

In this, our last issue before the primary election, we again call our readers' attention to the record of our congressman, Hon. Francis H. Dodds, and the reasons why we advocate his nomination. We feel it particularly a duty at this time, to render this service to him. While other congressmen have left their post of duty at Washington and spent their time looking after their political fences, Mr. Dodds, although he has two opponents on the ground actively at work, remained on duty looking after the interests of his district and performing the services as he swore to do when he took his oath of office. Don't you like a man of this calibre? Don't you think that the best interests of this district would be fully and carefully looked out for by a man who remains faithful to you when personal ambition says in him, "come home or you will be defeated—let the office which you hold take care of itself. Get out and campaign."

But then, that is Frank Dodds' way. If he has a duty to perform, it is always uppermost in his mind. When that is out of the way, he will look out for himself. But some of the friends of his opponents say Dodds is no talker. We don't say that he is, but is the ability to talk what we demand of a congressman? Rather, we demand that he look after the interests of the district? Results are what we look for and Dodds' record shows that is what we got. Quiet, energetic, faithful, he has served us in the past and we don't believe now that the republicans of the eleventh district are going to turn him down. His record follows.

WHAT MR. DODDS HAS DONE FOR HIS DISTRICT.

Has secured three times the usual number of special pension bills, and has actively supported all general pension legislation.

Saved the Indian School to Mr. Pleasant and secured a total of $25,000 beyond the regular $50,000 appropriation.

Secured $70,000 for a Federal Building at Big Rapids, $10,000 for a suit at Boyne City, $50,000 for addition to Traverse City Federal Building.

HAS INTRODUCED BILLS FOR:

$85,000 for site and Federal Building at Greenville.

$50,000 for a Federal Building at Boyne City.

MR. DODDS VOTES ON IMPORTANT MEASURES.

Voted for the election of U. S. Senators by direct vote.

Voted for Constitutional Amendment for income tax.

Voted for the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation.

Voted for the establishment of Postal Savings Banks.

Voted for the National Conservation Act.

Voted for Payne Tariff—best then possible to secure.

Voted for the investigation of the Sugar Trust.

Voted for Doremus Amendment—free tolls for U. S. ships.

Voted for all General Pension Legislation.

Voted for Government control of Express Companies.

Voted for General Parcels Post—"zone" system.

Voted for the National Conservation Act.

Voted against so-called Canadian Reciprocity.

Voted against destruction of Wool Industry.

Voted against destruction of Sugar Beet Industry.

WHY NOT CHOOSE A YOUNG MAN

Would Not His Ambition to Succeed in Life Be an Incentive to Better Public Service?—Why Not Try it Once?

As a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, I wish to place before the electors for consideration a brief statement as to qualifications and my position as regards the said office.

Charlevoix county never had a young man for Prosecutor, but a man well along in years, whose dual position and station in life had become stationary, and they have had no special ambition or incentive for the conducting of an administration that would stand out as one of force and strength, but rather the incentive to conduct an administration quietly and easily, along the line of least resistance, avoiding as much as possible the antagonizing of both friends and enemies.

As a young man, I believe that the young men should be given the same consideration given to others, and do not believe that the above reasons would govern a young man's actions, and I wish to place myself on record as being for the full enforcement of our laws regardless of class, wealth or position in life, and in case of my selection as Prosecutor, will conduct that office as economically as possible, with a full enforcement of our laws, and believe that the fact that I am located at Charlevoix, will save the county traveling and other expenses incident thereto, that alone will amount to a year's salary.

As one advocating the full enforcement of the law in a fair, square and equitable manner, I ask your consideration of my candidacy.

Signed:

R. L. LEWIS.

Will Make Special Trip.

The Nissouri will make a special trip to Chicago, leaving here Sunday, September 1st, at 10 a. m., arriving at Chicago Monday at 7 a. m. The through trips to Cullingworth from Chicago have made the boat so crowded that a goodly number could not be accommodated. This special trip is to afford these patrons a better chance.

Coming Soon.

J. Leady the optometrist will be at Baker's Inn Wednesday, September 4. Hours from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Headache cured, crossed eyes straightened. Glasses guaranteed to fit.

GOOD BUSINESS PRINCIPLES

Should Govern the People in the Choice of Their Public Officials—Should Not Be Given as Reward for Political Services.

Senator Aldrich stated on the floor of the United States senate that it cost $300,000 more annually to run the government of this country than was necessary if it were conducted on the same business principles that govern the conducting of business corporations. This is a large sum, but close students of governmental affairs have stated that it is not over-estimated, and a proportionate sum is wasted by our state and local governments.

This being the case, it is wise that we, the stockholders in the business corporation known as Charlevoix county, should investigate and see where we can stop the leak, if there be one, and what obsolete methods we can cut out. Surely the most important official we have is the custodian of our public funds—the county treasurer—and a comparison of the different rules which would govern the choice of such an official by a business and a public corporation is interesting.

A business body would choose a man educated along the lines of bookkeeping; one who was familiar with the surroundings and affairs of his company, and who had served them in a subordinate capacity. Having secured such a man, they would keep him as long as possible, as each year his services would become more valuable. The public corporation, too, often makes it a reward for political services or gives some good fellow a job, and then to cap the climax, for no matter how competent a man may be, it requires months of service before he can become familiar with the useless red tape which must be followed to comply with the law, just as a man becomes valuable to the county, the law says that a man can only serve in that position four years out of six, fires him out, and begins training another man.

Charlevoix county is now facing this proposition. The law says that Mr. Lewis shall step out of the treasurer's office. Several men have announced their candidacies for the position.

The friends of Daniel S. Payton, desiring to bring business principles into play, have induced him to enter the race. Let us see how he meets the requirements as specified. First, Mr. Payton is a graduate of the pioneer business college of the United States at Bryant & Stratton college of Cincinnati. Second, he has served as supervisor of his township several years; two years as its chairman. Third, he has previously served as county treasurer, where he made a record as one of the most courteous and efficient officials in the state. Not only did he keep the records of the office in such a manner that any information could be had at a minute's notice, but he inaugurated several improvements in the work which saved the tax payers considerable money. He inaugurated the plan of publishing monthly the state of the treasury, which has since been adopted by several county treasurers, and also by State Treasurer Sleeper. Indeed, he made such a record that at the time of the convention, the business men were nearly unanimous in petitioning our representative there to, if possible, secure the abolishment of the provision prohibiting the serving of only four years, as they did not want to be forced to lose the services of so efficient an officer. Both Mr. Payton's friends and enemies unite in saying that in every public position he has held, the very best possible service has been given. Does it not look to you as if good business sense demands that he should be your choice?

Mr. Payton is a farmer by occupation, and has served as master of his town, as a member of the board of directors of the Agricultural Society and as its president. Always active in everything which is for the advancement of Charlevoix county, Mr. Payton was present at the organization of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, and has served ever since as a member of the board of directors. His hustling abilities have been recognized by the bureau and he has served as its vice-president, and for several terms, as a member of the executive committee by the work of Mr. Payton and his associates in bringing to the attention of the county the resources at this county, hundreds of settlers have been brought to this region, new industries have been established, and the value of Charlevoix county lands have been greatly increased. If good business judgment would not induce you to cast your ballot for Payton, does not his services in boosting the county entitle him to your consideration? Make no mistake. See that your ballot reads:—For County Treasurer, DANIEL S. PAYTON.

SALARY SHOULD BE REDUCED

Who Pays This Salary?—If You Had Drawn This Salary for Twelve Years, Would You Expect to Four Years Longer?

The Republican party has in the past, and, as I believe, will be in the future the best political organization for all, or at least the majority, of the people to affiliate with. By this I do not mean that all it has done in the past was for the best interests of the people, nor am I satisfied at the present time that the best interests of the majority are being subserved by it.

I do not mean by this that the party is wrong but that some of its leaders are trying to use it for themselves instead of the best interests of the majority of the people. In order to express myself more clearly and so as not to be misunderstood, I am of the opinion that there is too great a discrepancy in the earnings of the common laborer and the politician.

I am also of the opinion, as expressed by a member of the tax commission, that the poor people are paying the greater share of taxes and do it uncomplainingly.

I know of no sufficient reason why a man who performs labor from early morn to late at night should receive as compensation for his services $4.75 per day, or thereabouts, and from his meagre earnings, clothe and feed his family and educate his children while those elected to office largely by the vote of the laboring class, and who work only a few hours per day and whose labor is easy should receive from three to fifteen times as much per day as the man who does the hard labor of whatsoever kind or nature it may be.

Our constitution tells us that "all men are created equal." Whether this be true or not, it is but justice that all men should have an equal chance in supporting and educating their families.

I ask you, Mr. Reader, whether you work on the farm, in the mill or factory, and earn small wages, if you have the same chance to maintain and educate your family that the men who hold office and receive from five to thirty dollars per day, which you are paying in the form of taxes assessed against your home and property. Personally I believe that it tends to create classes among the human family and those who hold lucrative positions to believe that they are a little better, excepting at election time, than the men who toil from early morn till late at night.

Whether or not all men are created equal they should have equal opportunities of making a living and I believe that in casting your ballot you should take into consideration this matter and elect men to office who feel for the laboring class and those who are willing to right the wrong.

I know that the Republican party has the power to make the politicians' and laborers' earnings more equal by properly using the ballot.

You now have I stand politically and the position I take, and if you believe that I am right and that a change should be made, I ask your hearty support at the primaries on August 27.

Out of twelve years experience as Probate Judge the present incumbent has twelve letters which he has published as paid advertising. This would indicate that out of all the business he has done he has satisfied our patron each year of his office, to the extent, at least when requested, he would sign his name to a letter endorsing Mr. Harris.

I know this, that if you are a tax payer, your taxes have materially increased and so has the Judge of Probate's salary in proportion to your taxes.

Did you ask the legislature to increase the salary of the Probate Judge? (Continued on page 8)

WHAT SCHOOL?

The school that gives indisputable evidence of the THOROUGHNESS of its work is the only school deserving of your patronage. Eliminate the make-shift, short-cut, cut-price school. Its cheap instruction has a damaging effect on both student and public.

Why attend with us? You will be taught the living principles of business and finance—you will be instructed individually by the highest related business educators in Michigan. You will receive a course of instruction teeming with evidence, which has made this great school famous with "Results."

You Should Have Our Free Catalog?

Let us mail you a copy and list of pupils at work. Railway fare allowed. Opportunities to work for board.

McLellan University

110-118 PEARL ST.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

Lida Black is spending a few days with Mrs. Trimble.
Jeanie Mills, who has been very ill, is improving somewhat.
The Ladies' Aid of Barnard met with Mrs. S. Baker this week.
Mrs. Barbara Cook visited Mrs. S. Cunningham Wednesday last.
Mrs. Hansen of Rexton is visiting her son, Peter Hansen, this week.
Dr. Haines of Three Rivers was the guest of Jerome Cole last week.
Mrs. Hansen of Rexton is visiting her son, H. P. Hansen, and family.
Many of the Marion Center people attended the Trinton picnic last week.

Henry Black received a serious kick on the leg by a horse Monday while at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. E. Ingalls Sunday.

Mrs. James Adams, Mrs. Robert Gregory and Edith Adams visited friends at Northport Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dohl and family visited her mother, Mrs. Arthur Beattie of Charlevoix Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wisley and granddaughter of Olivet, and Ed Boss of Ellsworth visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls Tuesday.

Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Northrop of Cuba and Florida, who have been visiting their niece, Mrs. G. Meggison, left for their home one day last week.

A. S. Ignes of the Lee Pharmacy, Chico, Cal., who has handled Foley & Co's medicines for many years, says: "I consider that Foley's Kidney and Urinary Compound has no equal, and is the one cough medicine I can recommend as containing no narcotics or other harmful properties." The genuine is in a yellow package. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

NORTH BAY.

Herman Bathke is very poorly again.

Beans, corn and potatoes are looking fine.

Farmers are very busy plowing and seeding.

Iva North, the teacher's examination at Petoskey week before last.

The rain caught several farmers with their oats in the fields in shocks.

The Wallace brothers threshed over four hundred bushels of wheat last week.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

MAGGABEES WILL HAVE BIG TIME

Annual Meeting of Northern Michigan K. O. T. M. M. and L. O. T. M. M.

Will Be Held at Traverse City the Second Week in September.

One of the biggest and most important fraternal events in the history of Traverse City will be the annual meeting of the Northern Michigan K. O. T. M. M. and L. O. T. M. M. association, to be held in that city September 9, 10, 11, 12. Deputy Grand Commander C. H. Perry is active in assisting Secretary M. H. Holley, the local committee of both orders and lives in Traverse City, and visiting delegations will not only enjoy a program of fine events, but will reap much benefit, instruction and profit from the convention. Arrangements have been completed for special trains and greatly reduced rates on all railroads entering Traverse City. The M. & N. E. will give a round trip rate of $1.00 and the same will prevail on the G. & A. I. from Cadillac. Excursions will also be run from Mt. Pleasant, Petoskey, Frankfort, Charlevoix, Northport and other points along all the lines. No Macabee or Lady Macabee can afford to miss this great gathering. There will be a monster spectacular parade, band contests, degree team contests and pleasing entertainment every minute, besides the much-honored hospitality of Traverse City which makes everybody welcome. Distinguished Grand Tent and Five officers will be present, among them Grand Commander George S. Lovelace, Great Lieutenant Commander C. H. Thomas, Great Lady Commander Mrs. Frances S. Burns, Great Editor S. D. Williams of Detroit, and many others prominent in the order. The people of Traverse City will cooperate with the organization in giving the visitors a cordial and this means much to those who have often enjoyed Traverse City's hospitality.

Dr. C. H. Ellsworth, Dentist, 10 Baldwin St., Rochester, N. Y., says: "Foley Kidney Pills gave me immediate relief and strengthened me wonderfully. I have been bothered with weak kidneys and bladder trouble and suffered much pain. Foley Kidney Pills gave me immediate relief and strengthened me wonderfully. I am pleased to recommend their use. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop."

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

Editor of Charlevoix Courier: Last week I noticed an article in the Courier of a meeting of the Charlevoix suffrage ladies.

I am for woman suffrage because I never heard a single good reason why I shouldn't be.

I also noticed they were spoken of as not being strong minded ladies. I deem it far better to be strong minded than weak minded.

"It is said that politics are too corrupt for a woman to leave the pure home atmosphere and mix in. If woman has succeeded in preserving the purity of the home, dominated by political man, why shouldn't she be able to bring purity into politics if given the opportunity. They also say that to give woman the ballot

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back For an old One—How It is Done in Charlevoix.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the regions of the kidneys, and again the limbs are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Charlevoix citizen.

Mrs. John Cook, 307 Mason Street, Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I know Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy. I have used them on different occasions for kidney complaint and they have always given me splendid relief. I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for the purpose for which their use is intended. They were procured at the Ivy Drug Store."

"For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States."

"Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other."

would make politics a failure. Can you call the politics of today a success. They say women are not capable of voting. No, but any uneducated man can vote to license a place designed to ruin every mother's son and daughter, too. There are many more women in the church, and many more men in the penitentiary and one of these facts to some extent explain the other.

It is said that five times more women than men were willing to sign a petition for a prohibition law in Maine. The Wyoming legislature passed a resolution that woman suffrage in that state had done much good and caused the laws to be better enforced.

Nearly thousand women registered in Los Angeles and a larger portion of them than of men voted. Some object to allowing woman to vote because she was the first to sin, but what matters it if woman has caused all the trouble in life, as long as she makes life worth the trouble. The reason the devil tempted the woman first, was because he did not need to bother with the man, he was sure of him. Where did the weakness of mind come in to that event? Some say women could be represented by their husbands, but many women have no husbands and never expect to have, and many have lost their husbands and could never endure any more, but surprisingly large number of women are successful business women, yet they have no voice in the laws that affect the running of their enterprises. Some women object to suffrage, they do not want to mix up with the horrid men at the polls, would it be wise to mix with them there than elsewhere.

But those who do not want to vote do not have to, the world is not run by people who do not want to do things, but by people who do.

Charles Dickens' circumspection office was run by people who had found a way, "How not to do" but the people of this government at both women and men must find "How to do and do it," they must get after the Goliath of corrupt politics and women must do it, for men won't do it with the ballot, the only weapon the monopoly, privilege and corruption fears. It is said the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world; the mother should rule the home and mold the character of her children, but the mother has nothing with that outside world where man and his agencies can undo and destroy all that that she has done through years of toil and suffering, therefore women's influence must reach beyond the home, and through the instrumentality of the ballot, woman can do that. LaFollette said in a speech at Carnegie Hall, New York, "Equal suffrage has passed the stage of argument, we could not stop it if we wanted to, and I tell you you will be ashamed of yourselves in a few years if you try to stop it now."

I believe, the women of a community have a right to express political judgment on questions which effect their homes, their lives, the society in which they move and conditions under which they live, as I have. There are seven million girls and women in the mills and factories of this country; haven't they the right to express their opinions to the proper number of hours for them to work, the sanitary conditions which shall prevail in which they work and all else? I won't argue the question, neither will any fair and right-minded man object to the woman voting for the uplift and betterment of the race."

An Old Courier Correspondent.

D. C. Hyber, teaming contractor, living at 649 Keeling Court, Canton, Ill., is now well rid of a severe and annoying case of kidney trouble. His back pained and he was bothered with headaches and dizzy spells. "I took Foley Kidney Pills just as directed and in a few days I felt much better. My life and strength seemed to come back, and I sleep well. I am now all over my trouble and glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Try them, Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

FOUR SCORE AND TEN

Death of Salmon H. Tuttle—Born in 1820—Leaves One Daughter.

Salmon H. Tuttle, whose death we mentioned last week, was born in Sheffield, Massachusetts, January 1, 1820. His early life was spent in Massachusetts. After marriage he removed to the state of New York and from there moved to Wisconsin in 1856. From there Mr. Tuttle moved to Grand Rapids, where he made his home with his only child, Mrs. Robert M. A. Johnson, moving here about two years ago.

The cause of his death was cancer. Mr. Tuttle being confined to his bed only one week. After services held at the house, conducted by Rev. F. M. Taylor, the body was taken to Whitewater, Wisconsin, where funeral services were held and interment took place.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Resources $250,000.00

For a safe investment there is nothing better than our 4 per cent Certificate of Deposit. For small savings let us issue you a Savings Book in our Savings Department. Interest 4 per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually.

R. P. FOLEY, President G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Job Work Solicited Up-to-date Equipment

Is Your Purse Full?

YOUR farm is the purse from which you take the necessities and luxuries of life. What provision are you making to keep your purse full—to insure a constant supply of food, clothing, heat, light, and protection? No soil can produce constant yearly crops without an adequate supply of plant food. It is easier, and far cheaper, to maintain a fertile condition of the soil than it is to build it up after it is once exhausted. Be wise—begin now to use faithfully an

IHC Manure Spreader

Kemp 20th Century, Corn King, Cloverleaf, Steel Corn King, Steel Cloverleaf, Low Lift, Low Spread, Newlow

Distribute stable manure and saturated bedding while it is still fresh. Make the quantity of manure usually spread by the fork do twice the amount of good by distributing it with an IHC spreader, leaving the ground more evenly fertilized and in greatly improved condition. The driving mechanism of the IHC spreader is strong and thoroughly protected. The aprons, both endless and return, run on large rollers. The feed is positive. The manure is spread evenly, light or heavy as may be necessary, the quantity spread never changing until the feed is changed.

See the IHC local dealer and have him show you the spreader best suited to your needs. Get catalogues and full information from him, or write

International Harvester Company of America

Grand Rapids Mich.

IHC Service Bureau

The purpose of this Bureau is to furnish, free of charge, to all, the best information obtainable on better farming. If you have any worthy questions concerning soils, crops, land drainage, irrigation, fertilizers, etc., make your inquiries specific and send them to IHC Service Bureau, Harvester Building, Chicago, U.S.A.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Opposite County Bank
Green's Office Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 131 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 96; residence 268.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store,
Charlevoix, Mich.
Telephone No. 25.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone 1400.

DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have luggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention. Moving Household Goods a Specialty.

CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED

Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Potoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday
Each Week

COURIER PRESS

COMMERCIAL PRINTERS

A Trial will Convince You

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday Page & Company.

CHAPTER XXV—Continued.

Henderson began to tack for the landings, but his hands shook until he scarcely could manage the boat. Edith Carr sat watching him indifferently, but her heart was throbbing painfully. "Why is there so much suffering in the world?" she kept whispering to herself.

"Say, 'She is well and happy,' and sign, Edith Carr!"

world?" she kept whispering to herself. Inside her door Henderson took her by the shoulders almost roughly. "For how long is this, Edith, and how are you going to say goodbye to me?" She raised tired, pain-filled eyes to his. "I don't know for how long it is," she said. "If peace ever comes and I want you I won't wait for you to find it out yourself—I'll cable—Marconigraph—anything!" Henderson studied her intently. "In that case we will shake hands," he cried. "Goodbye, Edith. Don't forget that every hour I am thinking of you and hoping all good things will come to you soon."

CHAPTER XXVI.

Wherein Philip Finds Elora.

"I need my own violin," cried Elora. "This one may be a thousand times more expensive and much older than mine, but it wasn't inspired and taught to sing by a man who knew how."

The guests in the O'More music room laughed appreciatively. "Why don't you write your mother to come for a visit and bring yours?" suggested O'More.

"I did that three days ago," acknowledged Elora. "I am half expecting her on the moon boat. That is one reason why this violin gets worse every minute. There is nothing at all the matter with me."

Elora laid away the violin. "Come along, children," she said. "Let's race to the playground."

With the brood at her heels Elora ran, and for an hour lively sounds stole from the remaining spot of forest on the island, which lay beside the O'More cottage. Then young Terry went to the playground to bring Alice her doll. He came racing back, dragging it by one leg and crying, "There's a company! Some-one has come this summer and papa are just tearing down the house over. He's sick. I saw through the window."

Before Elora missed her, Alice, who had gone to investigate, came flying across the shadows and through the bushes waving a paper. She thrust it into Elora's hand.

"There is a man person—a stranger person!" she shouted. "But he knows you! He sent you that. You are to be the doctor! He said so! Oh, do hurry! I like him heaps!"

Elora read Edith Carr's telegram to Philip Ammon and understood that he had been ill; that she had been located by Edith, who had notified him. In so doing she had acknowledged defeat. At last Philip was free. Elora went to him with a radiant face.

"Are you sure, at last, runaway?" asked Philip Ammon.

"Perfectly sure," cried Elora.

"Will you marry me now?"

"This instant! That is, any time after the moon boat comes in."

"Why such unnecessary delay?" demanded Ammon.

"It is almost September," explained Elora. "I sent for mother three days ago. We must wait until she comes, and we either have to send for Uncle Wesley and Aunt Margaret or go to them. I couldn't possibly be married properly without those dear people."

"We will wait," decided Ammon. "The trip will be a treat for them. O'More would get off a message at once."

Every one met the moon boat. They went in the motor because Ammon was too weak to walk so far. As soon as people could be distinguished at all Elora and Philip sighted an erect figure, with a head like a snowdrift. When the gangplank fell the first person across it was a lean, red-haired boy of eleven, carrying a violin in one hand and an enormous bouquet of yellow marigolds and purple asters in the other. He was beaming with broad smiles until he saw Ammon. Then his expression changed.

"Aw, say!" he exclaimed reproachfully. "I bet you Aunt Margaret is right. He is going to be your beau!"

Elora stooped to kiss Billy as she caught her mother.

Mrs. Cunstock shook out her skirts, straightened her hat and came forward to meet Philip, who took her into his arms and kissed her repeatedly. He passed her along to Freddie and the Angel, to whom her greetings were mingled with scolding and laughter over her wind-blown hair. Then the O'More children came crowding to meet Elora's mother.

"Before you think of something more give me your left hand, please," said Philip to Elora.

Elora gave it gladly and the ring slipped on her finger. Then they went together into the forest to tell each other all about it and talk it over.

"Have you seen Edith?" asked Ammon.

"No," answered Elora, "but she must be here, or she may have seen me when we went to Potoskey a few days ago. Her people have a cottage over on the bluff, but the Angel never told me until today. I didn't want to make that trip, but the folks were so anxious to entertain me and it was only a few days until I intended to let you know myself where I was."

"And I was going to wait just that long, and if I didn't hear then I was getting ready to turn over the country. I can scarcely realize yet that Edith sent me that telegram."

"No wonder! It's a difficult thing to believe. I can't express how I feel for her."

"Let us never again speak of it," said Ammon. "It is done. We will forget it."

"I scarcely think I shall," said Elora. "It is the sort of thing I like to remember. How suffering must have chased her! I would give a great deal to bring her peace."

"Henderson came to see me at the hospital a few days ago. He's gone a pretty wild pace, but if he had been held from youth by the love of a good woman he might have lived differently. There are things about him one cannot help admiring."

"I think he loves her," said Elora softly.

Edith Carr went to her room after her goodnight to Henderson, lay on her bed and tried to think why she was suffering as she was.

"It is all my selfishness, my narrow-mindedness, my pride in my looks, my ambition to be first," she said.

"That is what has caused this trouble. No one really cares for me but Hart. I've sent him away, so there is no one—no one."

Edith pressed her fingers across her burning eyes and lay still.

"He is gone," she whispered at last. "He would go at once. He would not see me again. Oh, these dreadful days to come, alone! I can't bear it. Hart, Hart!" she cried aloud. "I want you! No one cares but you. No one understands but you. Oh, I want you!" She sprang from her bed and felt her way to her desk.

"Get me some one at the Henderson cottage," she said to central and waited shivering.

After a time the sleepy voice of Mrs. Henderson answered.

"Has Hart gone?" panted Edith Carr.

"No! He came in late and began to talk about starting to California. He hasn't slept in weeks, to amount to anything. I put him to bed. There is time enough to start to California when he wakes. Edith, what are you planning to do next with that boy of mine?"

"Will you tell him I want to see him before he goes?"

"Yes, but I won't wake him."

"I don't want you to. Just tell him in the morning."

"Very well."

Hart was not gone. Edith for sleep. She arose at noon the next day, took a cold bath, ate her breakfast, dressed carefully, and leaving word that she had gone to the forest she walked slowly across the leaves. She was thinking hard and fast.

Henderson came swiftly down the path. A long sleep, food and Edith's message had done him good. He had dressed in new light flannels that were becoming. Edith met him.

"Let us walk in the forest," she said.

They passed the old Catholic graveyard and went back into the deepest wood of the island. There Edith seated herself on a mossy old log and Henderson studied her. He could detect a change. She was still pale and her eyes tired, but the dull, strained look was gone. He wanted to hope, but he did not dare.

"What have you thought of that you wanted yet, Edith?" he asked lightly as he stretched himself at her feet.

"You?"

Henderson lay tense and very still.

"Well, I am here."

"Thank heaven for that! I didn't want you to go away."

"Not at all?"

"Not at all; not ever; not unless you take me with you, Hart. I can't honestly say that I love you with the love you deserve. My heart is too sore. It's too soon to know. But I love you some way. You are necessary to me. You are my comfort, my shield. If you want me, as you know me to be, Hart, you can consider me yours."

Henderson kissed her hand passionately. "Hart," Edith, he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

"Edith," cried the man, "Edith," he begged, "don't say those things. I can't bear it. I understand. Everything will come right in time. Love like mine must bring a reward. You will love me some day. I can wait. I am the most patient fellow."

"But I must say it," cried Edith. "I think, Hart, that I have been on the wrong road to find happiness. I planned to finish life as I started it with Phil, and you see how glad he was to change. He wanted the other sort of girl far more than he ever wanted me. And you, Hart, honest, now—I'll know if you don't tell me the truth—would you rather have a wife as I planned to live with Phil or would you rather have her as Elora Cunstock intends to live with him?"

— THE — Charlevoix County Bank

believes an influential banking connection is absolutely essential to the conduct of any business or enterprise. Our ample resources guarantee the safety of your deposits and our progressive, though strictly conservative business policies, provide for you a desirable connection.

We are pleased to furnish our patrons intelligent advice in regard to investments and other business matters, procuring desired information where possible, and we invite you to become associated with us, both as a patron and confident.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Warm Weather Comforts and Necessity

Screen Doors

All sizes and kinds from the Cheapest that's good, to the best that's made.

Window Screens

The well-made, adjustable kind; fits any window; strong and durable.

Refrigerators

Best, most handsomely built from the strongest timber; also finished throughout in enamel; almost every size and price.

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how they can get one. Salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safe, giving the best, clearest money-making opportunities ever revealed. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 20-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safe, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.

THE VICTOR
SAFE & LOCK CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE. I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.

I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerve to perfect health.

I CURE PILES in 30 days to stay cured and to never return.

I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 20 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by medicine or my mail, I will take to my sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for 10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, in 30 days, Rheum, gonorrhea, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Stop at a treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given best of care. May work out fees. Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice, which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars. Life lies in your hands. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.
Holding Sanitarium & Retreat, Helling, Mich., or Bayman Sanitarium, Bayman, Mich.

....Keep Track of the Mintes....

If in need of a new Watch or Clock we Will Sell it to You.

If They Need Repairing We Are Prepared to Do It

If in need of anything in the Jewelry Line WE HAVE IT

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday, at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DUBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building — VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year..... $1.00
One copy, six months..... .75
One copy, three months..... .50

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and
entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Ordinary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 2 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

Give All Equal Chance.

This issue is largely taken up with the reasons why the candidates whose names will appear on the Republican ballot ask the support of their fellow citizens.

The Courier asks a careful reading of the different articles in just time to the candidates, trusting that it may serve to enable you to cast your vote in the best manner, for officials it is difficult to make a choice when all are good men.

The Courier believes fully in the primary system and believes that it should be extended to take in all the officers, but we believe that some system must be devised so that all candidates, whether they are multi-millionaires or dependent upon their daily wage for support, should have an equal opportunity to ask the suffrages of their fellow citizens. This is not true at the present time and we believe that such methods as have been adopted by the candidates in the Courier this week, the exposure of circulation, to be either through the people or by the candidates, are equally so that every candidate and an equal chance, and every voter was given an opportunity to read the same, we would help solve the problem.

Several of the candidates are not represented, in many cases there being no opposition, which is an insufficient reason to believe that all the people are satisfied with their work.
For offices for which there is no opposition:

Mr. Mears has previously served you as a legislator and stands on the record made there. Mr. McMillan is one of the leading business men in the county and promises to represent you in a businesslike manner.

Mr. Correll has been supervisor of his township several years and the record made there is his claim for promotion.

Mr. Lewis has served you previously as clerk and you are familiar with his work. Mr. Davoll has held many public positions and asks recognition.

Mr. Entree is the present holder of the position of Register and his work in the past is his platform for re-nomination.

Mr. Lorraine and Mr. Schaub have both served as treasurers of their local governments, and believe they could serve the county with equal satisfaction.

Fully believing that whoever is successful next Tuesday, the tickets of all parties will be worthy the minded support of the fellow members of their respected parties, we congratulate the candidates in Charlevoix county for the clean manner in which they have conducted the campaign.

Cheaper Flour

WE HANDLE

Occident
Superlative
Minnesota Best
Argo Producer
Iron Duke
White Rose

Call and See Us

ARGO MILLING CO.

GENERAL MANAGER OF MICHIGAN

Amos S. Musselman Would Govern the State in the Same Manner That Has Made Made Him so Successful in Business.

After many years at the head of great business interests and voluntarily laying aside the duties and vast responsibilities of a real captain of industry, Amos S. Musselman of Grand Rapids is seeking a job as general manager.

"General manager of what?" you ask.
"General manager of Michigan,"
he replies.
"There's no such office," you reply.
"Well, there is going to be. When the Grand Rapids business man takes his place in the chief executive office at Lansing, January 1, 1913, the title of governor will be but a formality. It will be General Manager Musselman then because there are no governors in business and Amos S. Musselman promises Michigan a strictly business administration.

In itself, the promise of a mere business administration, doesn't mean much. It might be bad and still be a business administration, and so Mr. Musselman is taking the opportunity to amplify this plank of his gubernatorial platform. It goes without saying that he plans to apply to governmental affairs the highest ideals and the best business sense of business. This motivation to try his hand in shaping state affairs along the lines of great corporation would be considered not new with the Grand Rapids man. It is the result of years of study of state institutions and state affairs that have begun when he was appointed to the board of managers of the State Reformatory at Joliet. From the light of view of a business man, Mr.
Musselman at once noted the wide difference between the conduct of state institutions and institutions of a business, whether directed and controlled by private capital. At once he recognized that there was little chance for the difference.

Studied Michigan Affairs.
He gave much of his time and effort to the improvement of conditions at the reformatory. He became interested in the subject and then began a systematic study of other institutions and departments. Through his connection with one board, he was able to obtain a close observation of others. And years ago he planned to one day lay aside the reins of business with the idea of taking over the executive office of his state in an effort to apply strict business rules to the administration of public affairs.

That time has come. Already he has begun Michigan's business "administration by his refusal to involve himself in any pre-election promises.
I want to be able to hold my heads of departments responsible for their branch of the government," he ex-claims occasionally in his speeches.
"In the conduct of a business institution, merit alone rules. Merit shall rule in Michigan's government if I am governor. How long would any business institution be a success if its head was precluded from the strict application of the merit system.

"When I take office I don't want to be bound by any promises. I shall not consider politics at all. I shall appoint men for their fitness and without regard to whether they supported me. I shall have absolutely no voice in the choice of their assistants. To the head of the department I shall say: 'You are responsible to me for your department
' choice who you will, but see that your force is selected with an eye to efficiency. I shall hold you accountable."

"In that way I will not be handicapped. In addition I shall require regular monthly reports. I think my experience in business will make it possible for me to analyze these reports and keep myself apprised of what is transpiring. If there is evidence of failure I will detect it and I shall act promptly, just as I should act were the government a great corporation for which I was held responsible.

He Invites Responsibility.
"I have invited the people to place the responsibility for a business administration upon my shoulders and I shall not take any chances upon personal discredit through the failure of some of my heads of departments or the individuals of their various staffs.

"I am told there is one department that handles thousands and thousands of dollars annually which pays its own expenses without any aid and merely turns over to the state treasury the balance at the end of the year. What business institution would permit of such a system.
If I am made governor I shall see that this department pays its receipts dollar for dollar into the treasury and that it depends for its expenses upon vouchers. There must be an absolute check on every transaction involving cash in the business administration of the state government.
In my study of state institutions I have seen many possibilities for improvement. Many of these can be inaugurated by the governor without legislative enactment and these, I promise shall be inaugurated at once or as soon as it is practicable to make the change.

There are hundreds of ideas gleaned from my study and observation of governmental and institutional methods in Michigan that may be put into application. The majority of them require no great sweeping reforms. They represent merely the difference between accepted and lax governmental methods and economy as laid down by strict business rules.
Under this head comes the decision to have office holders more than discuss and more than discuss the right of government as private for political debates. As a business institution, I am not a member of any party. I have heads of departments and departmental units, and I shall not be swayed by party lines. And employment by Michigan will be no more a vocation than it is a ordinary business."

Order your Teddy Bear Bread
direct, Phone 277 3362

HARRIS' WORK ENDORSED

(Continued from page 1)

ness in the probate court in the last year or two. I was always pleased with your fair dealings and understanding of what was done. I hope you will be re-elected."

L. C. Madison, County Agent, says:
"I believe that we should reward competent and trustworthy public officials by continuing them in office rather than say to them that no matter whether your work is ordinary or unusually good you can have as much for the best of the interest of the delinquent or dependent child.
I have been much impressed with your careful and competent work in the juvenile court. Your sympathy with the erring child and the often distracted parent, and the time you have spent in investigating what will be for the best interest of the delinquent or dependent child, have no doubt been in the probate court more than any other of our citizens and in all the years you have been in office I have heard only the highest commendation of your work."

Dr. A. M. Wilkinson of Charlevoix, Michigan, says:
"Knowing you to be a candidate to succeed yourself as probate judge, I desire herewith to tender you a word of appreciation as to the way you have handled the business I have had in your court the past year.
The experience and judgment brought to bear on the work of this court makes me feel it should be continued. Like a large majority of the business and professional men of this county I look upon your emulation of the best of the past year, of putting from a trusted employee, who had been tried, true, and never found wanting, considering him far better tried by the experience gained in my employ to continue than a new and untried man."

S. Smith of the First National Bank, says:
"I have had a good deal of probate work to do in your court during the last few years and I know of the promptness and thoroughness of your work in the office and of your ability in the handling of the probate work. I have seen the probate room of title of real estate passing through the probate proceedings.
The proceedings have been so regular that no title coming under my observation has been questioned after being adjusted in your court. The fact of your having an office at Charlevoix and Grand Rapids makes it very convenient for every one concerned. Your treatment of the delinquent, dependent juvenile is also worthy of favorable mention."

A. G. Crumhart, an attorney of Bozette City, Michigan, says:
"An efficient officer should be encouraged in his future efforts, and commended for his ability, promptness and efficient service in the past.
I take this means of letting you know that I appreciate the manner in which you have conducted the office of probate judge in past years and I urge upon you the necessity of your being a candidate for the same office for the next ensuing term, at the same time assuring you of my heartily support in your campaign. I do this because I believe you are the right man in the right place. I find it very convenient to have the judge of probate living in Bozette City because most of the work can be handled right here at home, saving myself and clients the unnecessary time and expense of going to Charlevoix on small probate matters."

Chas. J. Zettler, a farmer of Charlevoix, says:
"In the last four or five years I have had a good deal of business in the probate court and know how well everything is done in the probate court. I have always been in the habit of keeping down the expense of adminis-

Special! Special!

MISSSES SAILOR DRESSES

Plain white or white with blue Trimming

Sizes 14, 16 and 18

Regular Price $5.00 now at $2.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

Are You Satisfied?

SATISFIED WITH YOUR PRESENT RANGE
—satisfied with the way it cooks and bakes—satisfied with the fuel bills it makes you pay?

Chances are you are not satisfied. If you are satisfied, fine chances out of ten you would not continue to be if you realized how greatly ranges have been improved the past few years, and what remarkable new conveniences and advantages you get in the MONARCH RANGE.

We want to show you the many advantages of the

...Monarch Malleable Range...

- FIRST—How little fuel the Monarch will consume in doing your work
- SECOND—How quickly it gives your baking an even heat—how quickly the entire top becomes piping hot.
- THIRD—How easily the Monarch can be kept looking like new with out polish and polishing.
- FOURTH—Why the Monarch keeps giving just as good service after ten, fifteen or twenty years as when new.
- FIFTH—Way, with all its advantages, the price of the Monarch is quite above the ordinary range.

Then You'll Know You Can't Afford Not to Have the MONARCH

You'll realize that it's actual economy to have the Monarch paying for itself time and time again in the cost of fuel—making your cooking better—giving you comfort and convenience obtainable in no other range.

Come in and see the Monarch—No matter what kind of a range you are using, whether it's old or new—see the Monarch. No education required. We're glad to show it. A central comparison of the Monarch with the ranges you know about will bring out some facts you would not know. As to what you do further than looking, that is strictly up to you.

MONARCH MALLEABLE RANGE
Make Your Cooking a Daily Pleasure

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE COMPANY

trating estates. I know what a man of your ability and experience is worth to the public in this office and know it will pay the people to keep you there, as I am sure they would if they all knew as much as I do about it."

It has been reported to me just this week that a report is being circulated among the voters of the county that I do not keep up the work of the Probate Court. That Court is held only held one day in a week.

The facts are that all the work is and has been kept up and done promptly. There has been no delay, and no one having business in this Court has found it so, or will say they have.

I have one regular Court day each week and continue until all work is done; and also my office at Bozette City is always open for probate work and more than half of the work is done there.

I make this statement, because I believe the elections should know the facts and not be misled by untrue statements by over-zealous partisans. After all, it is public business and they should know the true conditions.

John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate.

The Majestic theater has an ideal attraction there this week. The Cornell-Price players are a good company and furnish excellent entertainment.

Miss Maderia and Happy Hal Price are very clever and with their excellent vaudeville features afford a strong-hold in the hearts of the theatre-going public.

Talk about bargains—Bedford's Oxford sole has them all beat. Now is the time to buy. 33rd

HIS RECORD IS HIS PLATFORM

(Continued from page 1)

ature worked with labor representatives, voting for bills which were in the interests of justice toward laborers injured in the employ of railroads and other hazardous occupations. He believes that the man who renders valuable service to his fellow man is the only true American citizen. "Promises are easily made, and more easily forgotten.
The surest indication of what a man will do, is, as we stated in the beginning, to look at what he has done.
In all his public service Mr. Paddock has lived up to the party promises, while others forgot them; he has lived up to his personal promises; he has worked for the PEOPLE, and in so doing he has incurred the displeasure of some, the "bosses" who were opposed to primary reform, opposed to anything that would take away their power to dictate and control.

If the people wish a servant who realizes that he is but the servant; if they wish a representative who will at all times consult and obey their wishes; if they wish an honest, fearless champion, who believes in progress, in looking forward and not backward, they will find such an one in Robert W. Paddock.

Announcement
The undersigned will be a candidate at the August primary for nomination to the office of Judge of Probate on the Republican ticket.

If you believe that I would—illuminated and elected—faithfully
and efficiently discharge the duties
of that office, I will be grateful for your support.
23rd-ndy. ELISHA N. CLARK.
For Sale.
Fifteen cords of day chunk wood.
Enquire of E. G. Wightman, Phone 11112. 34th pd

Robert O'Neill

FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF

Sweet Peas

Telephone Orders to No.

283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

EDUCATION PAYS

Look about you and see how trained brains win better salaries than trained muscles. We train young men and women to use their brains in business.
They succeed. Why not you?
Will you write for a copy of our new catalogue? It will interest you if you want to get ahead.
Felt, Term from August 20th.
Address—Detroit Business University, Detroit, Mich. E. R.
Shaw, President, 25 West Grand River.

..FARMS NEAR CHARLEVOIX..

I have carefully listed a few choice farms near Charlevoix and I want to tell you about them. These farms are level, have good land, buildings and bearing orchards.

G. I. B. McLEAN Charlevoix and Boyne City

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A. G. Truquhart was a business visitor Monday.

M. J. Spencer, of Jackson, is visiting friends in the city.

Don't forget the orange picnic at Maple Grove Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Dunto made a brief trip to Traverse City.

A. E. Cross of East Jordan was a business caller Monday.

Born to Harry E. McHugh, and wife, Saturday, a baby girl.

A. E. Mason was a business caller to Traverse City last week.

Miss Kathryn Lapeer took treatment at Petoskey yesterday.

Hear Jim Helene at Maple Grove grange picnic next Saturday.

Clyde Conter has been spending the past few days in the city.

Mrs. M. E. Emory and daughter Ruby left Tuesday for Detroit.

W. A. Davoll of Boyne Falls was in the city the first of the week.

The Two-Step club will give their last dance Wednesday, August 28.

Myer Levinson and wife visited friends at Harbor Springs Sunday.

Mrs. P. L. Andersen, of Petoskey, visited relatives here last Thursday.

Under-Sheriff Novak was a business caller at Beaver Island Saturday.

Misses Jessie and Gertrude Shapton visited friends at Petoskey, Friday.

Samuel Hirschberg, of Bad Axe, is a guest at the Cohen home this week.

Leon Miller of Petoskey made his parents a short visit the first of the week.

The Antrim county Pomona grange is meeting at Central Lake today.

Mrs. John A. Lynn now of St. Louis, Mo. is here on a brief business visit.

Miss Norma Bachman of East Jordan was a Charlevoix visitor last week.

The Antrim county fair will be held at Bellaire the first week in September.

C. A. Price, cashier of the Illinois Savings Bank, was a Charlevoix visitor Monday.

George Nordrum of Milwaukee is visiting at the home of his uncle, Olaf Nordrum.

Newman Erb has resigned as one of the receivers of the Pere Marquette railroad.

Mrs. Sam Hirschberg, nee Eva Cohen, made a brief visit to Traverse City Monday.

Dr. A. M. Wilkinson was in Detroit the latter part of last week on professional business.

Joe Powers spent Sunday with his parents in the city, returning to St. Ignace Monday night.

Miss Dorothy Iddings was called to Chicago Monday, by the illness of her sister Constance.

The second Michigan Land and Apple show will be held at Grand Rapids, November 12-16.

Miss Rebecca Epstein, of Minneapolis is visiting at the home of Meyer Cohen and family.

Mr. and Mrs. McLain, of Flint, are visiting at the home of the latter's brother, John Dougherty.

Mrs. T. E. Younglove and Mrs. Pearl Younglove, of St. Johns are visiting with I. R. Meade.

Miss Mary Butters spent Sunday with her parents at Northport, making the trip on the Beaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brust, of Detroit, are visiting at the home of Wright Ripley and family.

Rev. F. Dewey Kble, wife and daughter, Gladys, of Detroit, are visiting friends in the city.

Miss Constance Kelley left Tuesday for Grand Haven where she will attend Akeley Hall Academy.

Miss Myrtle Miller, of Detroit, is making a visit with Mrs. Thirza Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner.

Kay Butters returned to his home at Pellston Monday, after an extended visit in this city and Northport.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. A. Johnston returned Wednesday from their brief trip to Whitefish, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Segal, of Harbor Springs, visited friends in the city Sunday, leaving here Monday for Traverse City.

George M. Ferris formerly of this city, now located at St. Louis, Mich., was a caller here the first of the week.

Dr. R. B. Armstrong left Monday for Cincinnati in charge of a patient, expecting to make the return trip today.

Mrs. Chris Bailey was called to Kalamazoo the latter part of the week by the death of her sister, Mrs. Yoss.

Mrs. E. S. Small and daughters, Pearl and Bessie, left Monday for their home at Milwaukee, after a two weeks' visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cohen left Sunday for their home at Jackson after visiting at the Levinson home the past three weeks.

Miss Clara Brumman returned to her home at St. Paul the latter part of the week after an extended visit with the Cohen sisters.

J. M. Tice, former superintendent of our schools, now located at Crosswell, was a business caller here the latter part of the week.

Edward Burnett and wife of Harbor Springs have been making a short visit the past week with Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Burnett.

Miss Nina Hagberg returned to her home at Chicago Sunday after being the guest of Mrs. Ray Faulkner the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. DuBois arrived in the city Thursday for a few days' visit with his brother, George M. DuBois and family.

Mrs. Harry Moore and children of Cadillac returned to their home Friday, after a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lewis.

Supervisor Correll of Metoske was in the city the latter part of the week in the interests of his candidacy for Judge of Probate.

Harry Zeidler returned Monday to his home at Kenosha, Wisconsin, after a ten days visit at the home of his uncle, Charles J. Zeidler.

Miss Anna Keuning made a brief business visit to Chicago the latter part of the week to make her fall purchase of millinery goods.

Joseph Sterzinger and wife returned Monday to their home at Milwaukee after spending a week at the home of Charles Zeidler.

Charlie Zeidler seems to feel mighty lonesome since his brother-in-law went home. Reason—His brother-in-law lives in Milwaukee.

Miss Maynard Stocks arrived home the latter part of the week from Indiana where she has been since ending the school year at Albion.

The ladies of the Catholic church will give an ice cream social at the school house, Tuesday afternoon and evening August 27. Everybody invited.

Miss Caroline Geiken arrived home from Chicago the latter part of the week to make a two weeks' visit with her parents, G. C. Geiken and wife.

Secretary W. P. Squire of the Charlevoix County Agricultural society, was over from East Jordan the first of the week, brooming the coming county fair.

Mr. Friedman of Paducah, Ky., one of our summer residents, entertained a number of his friends at a luncheon at Petoskey the latter part of the week.

E. N. Clink of East Jordan was in the city the first of the week on legal business and incidentally looking after his candidacy for Judge of Probate.

Regular communication of Charlevoix lodge, No. 282, F. & A. M. Tuesday evening, August 27, work in the M. M. degree. A good attendance is desired.

Misses Gail Burns and Marion Swartz are home from Chicago spending their vacation with their parents. They are training for nurses at that place.

The paving job on the north side is completed with the exception of spreading the tar.

Work of construction has commenced on the new boat houses back of the laundry.

Mrs. Effie M. Stevens and daughter, Bessie, of Chicago are visiting with Capt. and Mrs. T. D. Smith.

George W. Thompson, wife and two children of Chicago, are visiting with Capt. and Mrs. T. D. Smith.

Hon. William Mears of Boyne Falls was in the city today on his way to Bay Shore where he will attend the meeting of Pomona grange.

The Charlevoix baseball team will meet the Leland reporters at the golf grounds next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. A good game is promised.

Thomas Shapton arrived here the latter part of the week, to help his family pack their household goods. They expect to leave the first of next week for Ottawa, Ohio.

Mrs. Ray Faulkner, son Raymond, and friend, Miss Nina Hagberg of Chicago, returned the latter part of the week from Pellston, after a few days' visit there with friends.

Mrs. Peter Olson and two little daughters left Tuesday for their home in Grand Haven after spending some time with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley.

Captain Willard A. Smith has been attending the state encampment at Ludington the past week. During his absence Ira A. Adams has had editorial charge of the Sentinel.

Mr. J. P. Strong and Miss Vaila V. Smith, young people from Boyne City were united in marriage last Wednesday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage, Rev. B. Atchison officiating.

A pot-luck supper was given at the home of Mrs. G. C. Geiken Saturday in honor of Mrs. E. S. Small of Milwaukee, who has been visiting at the Geiken home the past two weeks.

President Taft signed the $100,000 appropriation bill Saturday, which has been held up several weeks. Thousands of veterans who have had their pensions held up will now receive their money.

A party consisting of O. D. Hammond, E. B. Ward, Mayor Nordrum, John Baker and R. A. Emery made an auto trip to the encampment at Ludington the latter part of the week returning Monday night. The trip was made in Mr. Emery's machine and various stops were made along the way.

Jack Dicken, wife and daughter, of Ithaca were in the city the first of the week visiting the publishers of the Courier. Mr. Dicken, who is one of the most prominent farmers in Gratiot county, is most favorably impressed with the great possibilities for the agricultural development of Charlevoix county.

The president of Wheaton college, Rev. Charles Blanchard, accompanied by his wife and son, made Hon. Fred M. Benham a flying visit at the Fountain City House last week. Mr. Blanchard was looking at a site for a Wheaton college cottage given by Mr. Benham, and expressed himself as delighted with his trip and will probably have the college next summer.

Wanted at Once.

Three experienced waitresses at Bench Hotel. 341f

Remarkable Pictures of Wild Animals.

Paul J. Rainey, the well known American sportsman, gives the palm to the rhinoceros for being the most dangerous of all the wild animals in British East Africa. He declares that while the lion and the Cape buffalo will fight to the death when wounded and while the elephant has more than ten times the destructive power of the rhinoceros, nevertheless this two-toned pachyderm is always a menace because the hunter never can tell whether it is going to run away or charge. The vitality of this beast is well nigh beyond belief, says Mr. Rainey, and he produces the accompanying photograph of one which succumbed only after it had had three bullets placed squarely in its heart and one lodged in its brain. The rhinoceros seems to be a very clumsy animal, yet Mr. Rainey testifies that this particular rhinoceros displayed the most remarkable agility.

There will be shown at the Charlevoix Inn, Monday and Tuesday nights, a series of wonderful motion pictures which were taken of the wild animal hunt which Mr. Rainey conducted in British East Africa, and all the claims which Mr. Rainey makes for the rhinoceros are clearly proven by one of the films which shows a charging rhinoceros that is not despatched until within twenty-five feet of the camera.

The place for bargain hunters—Tedford's Oxford sale. They are real bargains. 341f

JURY IS EXCUSED

Circuit Court convened in regular session Monday. The following is the record of proceedings to date:

Applications for citizenship: Charles Tuhy, Joseph Ward Emery, Hiram Potter, Andrew Grygle, Simon Pekka, Otto Frederick Selter, George Laing, Robert Nelson Compton, Calhoun Foreyth and Benjamin Brown, admitted; Robert James Madill, continued until February; Emma Rosenthal, Stanley John Bimler, errors in application petitions.

The following criminal cases were disposed of:

People vs. Mekowich, plead guilty, on probation.

People vs. McCafferty, plead guilty, sentenced to jail from one to five years.

People vs. Frankel, dismissed.

People vs. Munia, plead guilty, on probation.

All the rest of the cases were continued.

AUCTION SALE SUCCESS

Immense Crowd Attended Barbecue and Auction Sale at Holy Island.

The auction sale of lots at Holy Island yesterday was a big success over a thousand people being in attendance. Excursions were run from Boyne City, East Jordan and this city. The barbecue was pulled off according to program and a general good time was enjoyed by the big crowd.

The lots sold at good prices and the general verdict was expressed that Mr. McLean had made the old stronghold of King Strong one of the most beautiful and desirable resorts to be found in the Pine Lake region.

Several of the purchasers gave notice of their intention to construct cottages on the island and we will soon see this historical and romantic spot covered with summer homes.

PICNIC AT IRONTON

Held Last Wednesday, was Largely Attended—Everybody Had Good Time.

The annual grange picnic at Iron-ton last Wednesday was largely attended, several going from this city. The addresses by Hon. Patrick H. Kelley, Hon. Henry R. Pattengill and Prof. L. R. Taft were all that were expected and when you say that, in connection with the above names, every body understands they were worth listening to.

Politicians were out in force and everybody had a good time. Of course one of the chief attractions was the dinner and the way the crowd disposed of good things was a sight to see.

Order of Publication.

State of Michigan.

The probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county on the 20th day of August, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate; In the matter of the estate of Mrs. Nelson, deceased, a C. E. Nelson moving filed in said court his petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were the true and lawful heirs of the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 25th day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and published in said county.

Witness my hand and seal of office, this 20th day of August, A. D. 1912.

John M. Harris, Judge of Probate.

We do Fine Job Printing

COURIER

BARGAIN

COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than the first insertion.

COW FOR SALE—Inquire of H. Bedford 341f

Girls wanted at Fountain City House. Inquire at once. 341f

FOR SALE AT ONCE—One second-hand wheel. Inquire of Dr. W. R. Barney, 341f

FOR SALE—House and barn with 3 acres, improved, in city. Will sell reasonably. 341f —W. K. Barney.

FOR SALE—Modern room house, electric light and bath. 211 West Upright Ave. Terms. Robert G. Madill. 341f

LADY WANTED

To introduce our very complete Fall line of beautiful women's outfits, wash fabrics, lace, ribbons, silks, handkerchiefs, petticoats, etc. Up-to-date N. Y. City Patterns. Finest line in the market. Dealing direct with the mills you will find our prices low. If others can make $100 in 30 days weekly, you can also. Samples and full instructions packed in neat simple case, shipped express prepaid. No money returned. Exclusive territory. Write for particulars. Be first to supply.

Standard Dress Goods Company, Dept. 606, Binghamton, N. Y. 341f

CRANE'S

BURSON FASHIONED HOSE

The Only Hose
In The World Whose Shape Is Knit In—
That are Full Fashioned Without A Seam

WIDENED LEG
NARROWED ANKLE

SHAPED FOOT

Made in America

25c, 35c, 50c pr.

THE INN, Charlevoix

Monday and Tuesday Nights Only 8:30 p. m.

PRICES

Adults 50c, 75c Children 25c

A Real Novelty at Last Marvelous and Thrilling Motion Pictures
Paul J. Rainey's African Hunt

DON'T MISS SEEING The famous Water-hole; Elephants Feeding; The Rhinocert Fighting; Baboons Playing; The Dogs Climbing a Tree After a Leopard; The Dancing Ostriches and the Lion Hunt.

Four months at the exclusive Lyceum Theatre, New York and still drawing crowded houses

BRING THE LITTLE ONES

We have received all the New Fall Models of

Kabo Corsets

and they are now on display

Every pair guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction

Prices range from

$1.00 pair to $5.00

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

PEARSON WAS RIGHT THERE

Boyer City Journal Tells How "Bill" Defended the Farmers.

At Springvale Picnic Against Criticism of Speaker From Outside.

There was a slight diversion in the program for the picnic at Springvale on Thursday, which seemed to give great pleasure to all save one person of the crowd who listened to the various speakers.

There was present at the gathering a man from one of the southern counties in the state who is a regular Gleaner picnic speaker for the society. He seemed well posted on the objects, needs and general working plans of the organization of the farmer, but he failed to confine his remarks for any great length of time to those subjects. On the other hand he did devote a great deal of his time to the laws of the state and their reference and fitness for the farmers and their need, even attacking the members of the legislature for not doing more for the farmers and censuring the farmers themselves for not filling up the seats of the house of representatives with the "horny handed sons of toil" for the purpose of enacting laws to aid the rural districts regardless of the rest of their constituency.

It may be that the speaker did not know Mr. Pearson's occupation (a farmer) or perhaps didn't know he was even in the crowd, but he soon learned of that gentleman's presence as well as the fact that he is ever ready to defend not only himself, but his occupation also. Pearson did not take much time in his remarks, but he told the visitor about there being forty of the members of the last house farmers and that if they, as farmers, did not accomplish their ends, the farmers are to blame, but he also made it plain that the legislators were there trying (and succeeding) in getting what their farmer constituents and other classes wanted—that they performed their duties honestly and faithfully.

Mr. Pearson warmed up to the subject of farmers and the proneness to kick on the part of many of them and gave a number of instances to prove that the present condition of the farmer is better than in former years—in fact that the real farmer has no reason at all for kicking.

Hon. "Pat" Kelley was the next speaker and he, too, enlightened the Gleaner speaker from the south part of the state about matters concerning legislation during the past few years, particularly some of the laws enacted during the time when he (Kelley) was the presiding officer of the senate, and the working out of those laws. He also referred to matters pertaining to the betterment of our roads, convict labor, etc., showing the importance of each to the people of the state. He made the same favorable impression with the people that he always does when he makes a talk.

Robert W. Hertz, Lawrenceville, Mo., who had been bothered with kidney trouble for two years, says: "I tried three different kinds of kidney pills but with no relief. My neighbor told me to use Foley Kidney Pills. I took three bottles of them, and got a permanent cure. I recommend them to everybody." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

WAS A SUCCESS

First Country Life Conference Held at Bay View Well Attended.

Which ever way considered, Bay View's first country life conference has been a great success. But for the great storm which continued all day before and threatened on the opening day to continue, the attendance would have been very large. And yet the farmers from miles around and many from distant places came, and with the Bay View people, made the audience large, some of them running up to a thousand or more.

From first to last the programs were so good that the expressions of approval were very numerous and warm. Everything was of the best and every promise was filled to the letter. Bay View has laid the foundation for a permanent annual conference which is going to grow in popularity and influence. The farmers received a big welcome and generous treatment, and next year the attendance will be much larger.

Order your Teddy Bear Bread direct. Phone 273. 3312

W. C. T. U. MEETING

Held Last Week—Potosky Union Invited to Next Meeting—Good Program.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met at the Methodist church Wednesday of last week. Rev. F. M. Taylor conducted the devotionals. It was decided to invite the Potosky union to meet with us at the next meeting, September 13.

The program was in charge of the Misses Lulu Taylor and Hallie Bon, and consisted of music, both vocal and instrumental, recitations and a paper by Miss Annie Metcalf, which was excellent, a vocal solo by Madame LeMar, a reading by Lulu Taylor, Flower Song and Soldier Song by four girls, an instrumental solo by Cecil Burns, a recitation by Madge Kirby, a recitation by Opal Marshall, a duet by Hildegard and Clare Wilkinson, a recitation by Dorothy Ryan, an instrumental duet by Irene Auld and Wilma Stevenson.

The attendance was not so large as was hoped and it was asked that the program be given at the next meeting, and we expect it will be, as far as possible. The flowers that were brought in were sent to the sick.

FAIR OFFICIALS HARD AT WORK

On Preparations for the County Fair September 10-13.

Indications Point to the Best Fair Ever Held—Premium Lists Ready.

We have received the following announcement from Secretary Squire of the Charlevoix County Agricultural society, which shows that the officials are busy with plans to make the 1912 fair, the dates of which are September 10-13, what every Charlevoix fair has been in the past, the biggest fair held in northern Michigan.

The Charlevoix County Agricultural society premium list for 1912 is now in the hands of the secretary, and being circulated as fast as possible. Parties not receiving a copy and desiring one can obtain it by calling at Room 2, Post Office block, East Jordan, or by addressing the secretary.

The officers are desirous that all interested shall be furnished with a list, and it is their hope that all who are in a position to make a creditable exhibit in any department will see that they have the premium list and an entry blank, so that the list of exhibits may be filled before the opening of the fair, but it is impossible to reach all by mail, and those who do not receive these lists will please understand that it is not from lack of interest on the part of the fair officials, but merely a lack of ability to reach all.

Indications point to a bigger fair than has ever before been held in East Jordan, and if we have the people, we want the best show that Charlevoix county can produce. The success of the fair lies mainly with the exhibitors, and it is hoped that all will respond promptly and liberally.

Announcement
I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Clerk on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27.

29-1-6-pd W. Alvah Davoll

To the Democratic Voters
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Register of Deeds on the Democratic ticket, subject to the primary election, August 27.

30-1-4-adv Byron J. Quick

Notice to Electors
I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.

10-1-adv RONALD A. HENRY.

A Well Known School.

The Detroit Business University of Detroit, Mich., is well and favorably known in every corner of our state as a result of its successful history of sixty-five years in training young men and women for business pursuits. The school is located in new premises at 65 West Grand River Ave., and under wise, aggressive management is doing most effective work along modern lines for the large body of students in constant attendance at this worthy institution. The Fall Term opens this year on August 26, and the handsome new calendar recently received at this office is certainly an interesting production. 3112

CAMP MEETING AT SUSAN LAKE

Will Begin Next Monday and Continue Until September Second.

Able White and Indian Speakers Have Been Secured for This Year.

The Charlevoix Indian camp meeting will begin next Monday at Greenack Hill, Susan Lake Indian church, and will continue one week.

If you have never attended these meetings, a booklet which has been loaned explains the aims and objects of the meeting in the following words:

"For about ten days the Indians of this northern part of Michigan live in the woods, under canvas, that unitedly they may have opportunity for the worship of God, giving expression to their religious experiences in hymns, prayer and testimony, and hearing sermons in their own language. Able and talented White and Indian speakers have been secured for this year, in fact we think the program is one of the best that has been offered."

The officers of the meeting are: Chairman, Jackson B. Walker; secretary, Isaiah Waaganum; treasurer, Joe Jackson.

Everybody is most cordially invited to attend the meetings.

CONVENIENT DAIRY HOUSE.

Place For Handling Milk, Cream and Butter in a Sanitary Manner.

Every dairyman selling milk to a creamery or cheese factory or city trade or making dairy butter on his farm should have a sanitary dairy house. This building should be separate from the stable and other buildings on the farm and should be well supplied with water. Milk for any purpose must be kept in a clean, well ventilated place.

Solid concrete dairy houses, such as are found on the large dairy farms, are to be recommended. A building 12 by 14 feet is large enough for a herd of twenty to twenty-five cows. The accompanying floor plan shows

SANITARY DAIRY HOUSE.
[From Kimball's Dairy Farmer.]

trates a very convenient farmers' dairy house. The size of the rooms may be varied to suit the individual needs.

A concrete tank near the pump makes cooling of the milk convenient. The separator should be located in the same room. A room provided with a sink and rack can be located at one end of the building. This room should be used exclusively for washing and drying cans and bottles. A room with shelves suitable for storing milk should be partitioned off from the opposite end of the building.

The walls and floor of the dairy house should be of solid re-enforced concrete. The roof can be of roofing paper or shingles.

The cost of such a building need not exceed $185, varying according to the size of the herd. — Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

A man may outgrow his poverty if he has a piece of land to do the growing on.

Among the Chickens.

Epsom salts in their food is worth trying when the hens cease laying or overfeeding.

A bird that has been sick with any contagious disease is disqualified from being either a safe breeder or mother.

Ducks in the garden will devour many bugs, slugs and worms and can not scratch. Guinea hens also are useful to the garden.

Goslings will thrive if fed on grass alone, but will not make such rapid growth, of course, as when they are given a little grain.

Every farmer should plant such crops as milo, sorghum, Kafir and shalla for his fowls. A small area of land will produce enough grain to feed a large flock of poultry.

Follow the practice approved by many successful poultrymen of selling water in eggshells. The way to get it inside is to let the hens put it there. They will do it satisfactorily if given an ample supply, and if fed and otherwise managed properly and supplied with grit they will put in more or less other ingredients which the public will pay for.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Courier rates on application.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

To the Republican Voters of Charlevoix County

Hon. William J. Pearson having given notice that he will not be a candidate for a third term as Representative in the State Legislature, I have decided to announce myself as a candidate as his successor. In the people of Charlevoix county feel that I served them faithfully during my first term during the session of 1903-4, I shall appreciate their support in the primaries, and if successful I shall endeavor in the future, as I have in the past, to serve as a true representative of the people under any and all circumstances. Very respectfully, 31-1-4 adv Robert W. Paddock.

Notice to Republican Electors

As a representative in the legislature is to be elected in this county, I have decided to be a candidate for the position, subject to the approval of the Republicans of Charlevoix county at the August primary. If nominated and elected I will serve the county in that office to the best of my ability, and will appreciate the support of all Charlevoix county Republicans.

31-1-4 adv. Herman L. McMillan

Notice

I take this method of announcing that I will be a candidate for Republican nomination for representative in the State Legislature at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.

30-1-4 adv William Mears.

To the Democratic Voters

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of State Representative from the Charlevoix district on the Democratic ticket, at the primary election, August 27, 1912.

30-1-4 adv William J. Lewis.

Announcement

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Prosecuting Attorney, at the primary August 27, 1912.

27-1-4 adv. Rottlie L. Lewis.

Announcement

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.

27-1-4 adv Clarence C. Schaub.

To the Electors

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.

19-1-4 adv W. W. Boyle, St. James.

LEGAL NOTICES

Official Public Notice.

ALL THINGS, Male or Female, not effectually seized, running at large on any street, alley or public grounds, or private premises, and the premises of the owner or keeper thereof, may be killed by any person, and he shall be the duty of every Constable, Policeman or other Peace Officer of the said City of Charlevoix to kill and he is hereby ordered to kill any and all such dogs. This will be in force until September 30, 1912.

Charlevoix, Michigan, June 6, 1912.

By Order of the Mayor.

Order of Publication.

State of Michigan. The probate court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 21st day of August, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John N. Harris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Theodore Laurin, deceased. Netto H. Norton having filed in said court his petition praying that said court indicate and determine who were at the time of his death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 21st day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition. It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

J. N. HARRIS, Judge of Probate.

Order of Publication.

State of Michigan. The probate court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 22nd day of July, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John N. Harris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Theodore Laurin, deceased. Netto H. Norton having filed in said court his petition praying that said court indicate and determine who were at the time of his death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 21st day of August, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

J. N. HARRIS, Judge of Probate.

Notice of Election.

Notice is hereby given that a general primary election will be held in the several polling places in the several townships and precincts in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on Tuesday, the twenty-seventh day of August, A. D. 1912, for all political parties, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of United States senator, governor, lieutenant governor, representative in congress at large, representative in congress, eleventh district, state senator, twenty-ninth district, Charlevoix district, judge of probate, sheriff, county clerk, county treasurer, register of deeds, prosecuting attorney, circuit court commissioner, coroners, surveyor and drain commissioner.

The polls of the said election will be open at seven o'clock a. m.

Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, this third day of August 1912.

323 Clerk of the County of Charlevoix.

...Clearance Sale...

To clean up stock we will sell for cash only
From August 22 to August 29

2 bars Hoefners white floating soap.	5c
at.....
4 bars 10c Palm Olive soap	25c
at.....
4 bars 10c pure Olive soap	25c
at.....
6 bars Transparent Glycerine soap	25c
at.....
7 bars Pumo 5c soap	25c
at.....
7 bars Lava 5c soap	25c
at.....
7 bars Santa Claus soap	25c
at.....
7 bars Lenox soap	25c
at.....
1 box Santa Claus soap	$3.00
at.....
1 box Lenox soap	$3.00
at.....
1 box Calumet soap	$2.15
at.....
1 box Rub No More soap	$3.95
at.....
1 box Sunny Monday soap	$4.00
at.....
1 box Oak Leaf soap	$3.15
at.....
1 box Rub No More Soap Powder	$3.95
at.....
1 box Swift's Pride soap	$3.00
at.....
1 box Galvanic soap	$4.00
at.....
1 box White American soap	$3.90
at.....
6 packages 5c Toilet Paper	25c
at.....
3 packages 10c Toilet Paper	25c
at.....
3 good 10c Clothes lines	25c
at.....
2 good 15c Clothes lines	25c
at.....
2 good 25c Clothes lines	45c
at.....
75c Willow Clothes basket	55c
at.....
85c Willow Clothes baskets	60c
at.....
Wash Tubs, Washboards and Wash Supplies very Cheap

All Children's, Boys', Women's and Men's Oxfords
—AT COST FOR CASH—

A. E. MASON Cash Grocer and Shoeman

GRANGE PICNIC

Maple Grove Grange Hall

Saturday, Aug. 24

A good speaker will be present and an interesting program has been arranged.

Base Ball Game

Athletic Contests

Dance in the Evening

Dinner and Supper 25 cents

Refreshments Sold on Grounds

Candidates and Everybody Invited

Good Order - - Good Music

Courier Liners are Solicited

AGRICULTURE MUST BE TAUGHT

In Every Primary School District in Michigan Hereafter.

General Idea of How the New Course Will Be Taught.

Agriculture must be taught in every primary school district in the state of Michigan where there are eighth grade students. This subject is included in the course of study which has just been organized by Superintendent of Public Instruction Luther L. Wright, acting under the new state law which provides that the superintendent of public instruction must prepare and have printed a course of study which must be pursued in all district schools in the state. The course of study is now available for distribution and contains some important changes.

The addition of agriculture is perhaps the most important change. The course of study requires one-half year of intensive work with a textbook in the eighth grade and recommends work in nature study and school gardening leading up to this subject. Agriculture will be included in the list of those subjects in which the rural students must pass an examination in order to complete the eighth grade. The study of agriculture will necessarily be elementary, taking up the testing of soils, seed corn and other essentials.

The required course of study has been considerably simplified, the subjects being reduced to reading, spelling, penmanship, grammar, arithmetic, physiology, civil government, geography, history and agriculture. Nature study, drawing, music and bookkeeping are given as supplementary subjects to be introduced if the teacher has time and considers their introduction advisable.

The stress laid upon the importance of oral or mental training in arithmetic and language work is most emphatic. Superintendent Wright is a firm advocate of the virtue of oral methods and insists that they be faithfully followed in the district schools. Hereafter the teachers' examination questions in arithmetic will be made up largely of mental problems and the time in which they must be answered will be shortened.

The 1912 course of study will contain entirely different poems for language and memorizing than have been previously published in the courses of study. Another feature will be an extensive discussion of sense training methods showing how it should be correlated with geography, language, history and other subjects.

The geography in the new course of study will begin at home, and the child will be taught something about his own township, county and state before he has to master the list of European capitals and to bound the various Asiatic empires. The problems of food production and their relation to people is of more importance in the present day conception of geography than drawing of weird maps and the memorizing of names of various rivers and mountain ranges.

Instead of learning the names of all the bones in the body and being able to locate the various organs and describe their functions, the child is to learn how to take care of his teeth, skin, eyes, ears and other parts of his body, how to revive a person who is nearly drowned, what to do in case a person is burned or suffers a broken bone or a severed artery. The menace of flies and mosquitoes and other similar questions of hygiene and sanitation will supersede the technical physiology which has been taught in the country schools.

Reading in the new course of study is emphasized as probably the most important subject in the

Summer Itch

Instant relief for all kinds of summer skin troubles is now found in that simple wash—D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. Get a 25c trial bottle today and prove for yourself the merits of this wonderful prescription.

We always recommend it for Summer Itch; in fact we give you a regular size bottle on our personal guarantee that D. D. D. will take away the itch at once or it will not cost you a cent.

The place for bargain hunters—Bedford's Oxford side. They are real bargains.

DR. WILEY INDORSES LINDQUIST BILL

GREAT PURE FOOD EXPERT IN SYMPATHY WITH MEASURE.

NATION WIDE DEMAND FOR IT. Francis D. Lindquist Daily Receives Letters and Petitions Indorsing the Lindquist Pure Fabric and Leather Bill.

Francis D. Lindquist, of Greenville, Michigan, progressive nominee for congress on the Republican ballot at the primaries, Tuesday, August 27. There are few people outside of Mr. Lindquist's personal friends, who have any idea of the extent of energy and money that he has spent in the past five years, in the interest of the Lindquist Pure Fabric and Leather bill.

He has covered the entire United States with literature setting forth his plans, by which he can compel congress to pass the Lindquist Pure Fabric and Leather bill into a national law. He has been constantly in touch with some of the most powerful men in the United States, in his earnest efforts to present a bill which would absolutely reduce the high cost of living, and protect the people on all the common necessities used on their backs and in their homes. He has devoted his time and his money without ever asking a single subscription from anyone. He has made investigations of the various manufacturing concerns, both personally and through paid assistants, for the purpose of bringing out facts that will open the eyes of congress.

There is no question but that Mr. Lindquist is the originator of the Lindquist Pure Fabric and Leather bill. Mr. Lindquist claims that the high cost of living is not due to the lack of any one particular law, but to a lack of a combination of reform laws which he advocates, and when Mr. Lindquist is sent to Congress among the many laws on which he will work, toward reducing the high cost of living, the Lindquist Pure Fabric and Leather law will undoubtedly be the main plank of his platform. He has been encouraging this bill for several years, but has been unable to get anyone to present the bill in a proper manner, and consequently he has decided to devote his money and his time in the interest of this bill for the protection of the people.

DR. GEORGE WINCHELL

Will Deliver Address at Meeting of Men's Bible Class Sunday.

The assembly room of the Carnegie library was packed full Sunday at the meeting of the Men's Bible class. Governor Harmon gave a very thoughtful address on the Bible. Music was furnished by the quartette from the Tuskegee Institute.

Next Sunday Dr. George Winchell of Iowa will give an illustrated lecture on "Sexual Hygiene," at the usual hour, to wit, 8 o'clock. The lecture will be given at four o'clock in the afternoon at the same place, to the ladies, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U.

Cottage for Sale.

Chapel Cottage on Michigan Avenue. Inquire Myrtle Young & Son.

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER
Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

Continued from page three.

I would change that I would be like her; that I would grow bigger and bolder. As the words are spoken, God gives me the opportunity to prove whether I am sincere. Help me, as you always have done."

Henderson clenched his teeth and held her hand. The moth had emerged too recently to be troublesome. It clung to her fingers quietly and obediently, clinging there without moving. So hand in hand they went down the dark forest path. A strange excitement took possession of Edith. She began to feel proud of the creature.

"Do you know," she said to Henderson, "this is growing colder every step. The climate is not disagreeable, as I thought it would be. I feel as if I were saving it, protecting it. I am proud that we are taking it to be put into a collection or a book. It seems like doing a thing worth while."

"Edith, if you don't stop," said Henderson, "I will take you in my arms and kiss the face half off you, here on the avenue. You are adorable."

"There's the place, and, thank goodness, there is a crowd," she said. "Hello, every one!" she cried as she came on the wide veranda. "Only see what we found up in the forest. We thought you might like to have it for some of your collections."

She led out the moth as she walked straight to Elmore, who arose to meet her, crying, "How perfectly splendid! I don't even know how to begin to thank you."

Elmore took the moth. Edith shook hands with all of them and asked Philip if he were improving. She said a few polite words to the O'Mores, declined to remain on account of an engagement and went away gracefully.

"Well, bully for her," said Mrs. Comstock. "She's a little thoroughbred after all."

"That was a mighty big thing for her to be doing," said Freddie in a hushed voice.

"If you knew her as well as I do," said Philip Ammon, "you would have a better conception of what that cost."

"I have to take care of this," faltered Elmore, hurrying for the door to hide the tears which were rolling down her cheeks.

"I must help," said Ammon, disappearing also. "Elmore," he called, catching up with her, "take me where I can cry too. Wasn't she great?"

"Superb!" exclaimed Elmore. "I have no words. I feel so humbled!"

"So do I," said Ammon. "I think a great deal like that always makes one feel so. Now are you happy?"

"Unspeakingly happy!" answered Elmore.

THE END.

Hay fever and asthma make August a month of intense suffering to many people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives prompt ease and relief, and is soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes. Wm. M. Merrieth, N. Searsport, Me., says: "A few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound relieved me of a severe attack of asthma and less than a bottle caused a complete cure." Refuse substitutes. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. McCall, Prop.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Don't wait until the last minute—buy Oxfords now at Bedford's. Look at the window display. 3311

We do Fine Job-Printing.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell,
Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right

Advertising that brings Results

A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

ALWARD for CONGRESS

For Representative in Congress

DENNIS E. ALWARD
The Republicans of Charlevoix County must support him. Such and endorse him. They will for him and ask you to vote for him. 3114

Grange Column

Marion Center Grange No. 956.

Marion Center grange met in regular session August 14. All officers were present except the lecturer and cures.

The committee on general arrangements for the annual plowing match was appointed. The plowing match will be held October 17.

After the usual order of business a short program was furnished by the lecturer pro tem. The number present was fourteen.

The program for the next grange meeting, August 28, will consist of: Song from Grange Melodies

Recitation—Edith Adams
Reading—Will Withers
Discussion—Topic—"Which is of the Most Importance to the Farmer, Fertile Soil or Good Business Methods," led by Nat Burns

Instrumental music—Florence Meggison
Recitation—Elmer Meggison
Reading—Mrs. Nat Burns

Discussion—Topic—"Planning the Farm Kitchen to Save Labor," led by Grace McElroy

Grange closed in form.

They are going fast—$3.50 and $4 Oxfords for $2 at Bedford's Shoe Store. 331f

GRANGE PICNIC

Hon. James W. Helme of Adrian Will Deliver the Address.

If the picnics held in previous years are anything to go by, the grange picnic to be held at Maple Grove next Saturday will be a winner.

The committee in charge have all been working hard and the athletic contests will be hotly contested.

Hon. James W. Helme of Adrian has been secured as speaker. Mr. Helme is one of the best known men in Michigan, being at the present time Deputy State Dairy and Food Commissioner. Mr. Helme is better known as "Jim" Helme, the fighting editor of the Michigan Patron, and undoubtedly will have something interesting to say.

As usual dinner and supper will be served and they are worth the trip out to Maple Grove. A dance in the evening will close the day's festivities and everybody who enjoys a good time is invited to be present.

For Sale

Farmer's Favorite 11 disk grain drill. Good as New.

Price $40.00

Recleaned Fall Rye; Red Wave Seed Wheat, a new beardless variety.

Samples FREE

Registered Guernsey Bull Calf, excellent breeding.

Wallace Bros.

Bay Shore, Mich.
Phone 551

ASKS CONSIDERATION

William W. Boyle the St. James. Candidate for Register of Deeds.

William W. Boyle of St. James, one of the Republican candidates for nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, is one of the most active working Republicans in the county. Owing to his activity and work, where, in previous years, only three or four votes were cast in favor of the Republicans on the Beaver Islands, now the Republican ticket is pretty sure of receiving a majority.

Not only has Mr. Boyle been active in the politics of the Islands, but he has been the means of the residents getting a mail service which puts them in touch with the outside world. Mr. Boyle was the man who finally succeeded in securing the Charlevoix route for the delivery of mail instead of the Harbor Springs route. In connection with Mr. Hampton, at that time postmaster of Charlevoix, he also succeeded in having the length of time daily mail service should be given extended.

Mr. Boyle believes that inasmuch as his section of the county has never been represented by a county official he is not asking too much when he asks that favorable consideration be shown his candidacy next Tuesday.

Order your Teddy Bear Bread direct Phone 255. 332

Invaded Petoskey.

Misses Mildred and Marguerite Munger entertained a number of young ladies from the Charlevoix county normal Thursday night at their home on Beach street, delightful refreshments being one of the pleasant features, while music was another factor in the jolly occasion.

In the jolly crowd were Misses Lillian Flanders, of Ironton, Lillian Randall of Charlevoix, Constance Mason of Phelps, Enid Todd of Charlevoix, Ella Rasmussen of Petoskey, Winnie Cunningham of Ironton, Lonise Marsa of Charlevoix, Myrtle Pearl of Eastport, and Lila Gray of Bay Shore.

The young ladies were on their annual excursion and that it was a success from every standpoint goes without saying.—Petoskey News.

Take a look at the $1.50 table of shoes. The former price has been cut in two. Bedford. 331f

LEVINSOHN--ROSENBAUM

Popular Charlevoix Boy Married Last Wednesday at Grand Rapids.

Sam Levinson, of this city, and Miss Matilda Roenbaum, of Cincinnati, were married in Grand Rapids last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Levinson enjoyed a week's trip in the southern part of the state, returning Monday night. The young couple will make their home in this city. The Courier extends congratulations together with their many friends.

SALARY SHOULD BE REDUCED

(Continued from page 1.)

Judges throughout the state of Michigan and when you did it did you know that the increase of salaries would be added to your taxes? Now if you did not ask to have the Judge of Probate's salary increased who did, and was it with your consent and for your benefit?

Is the work of the Probate Judge worth more and of more importance than that of our Circuit Judge; if not, why pay him three or four times the salary for time actually employed than our eminently qualified Circuit Judge receives?

If the probate law is so intricate, which is not true, that old experienced attorneys cannot understand it sufficiently to act as Judge of the Court it seems to me that the legislature ought to get busy and simplify the laws.

Again, it is true that we have only one man in the county who is competent to act as Judge of Probate, it seems to me that it would be a good idea to elect some one else so that the present incumbent might educate him along that line and then we would have two men, in the county, competent to fill that important position, otherwise, should Mr. Harris conclude to remove from the county, or if death should claim him our county, would be without a Probate Court, according to his argument for reelection, for there would be no one competent to fill the position.

The Judge of Probate is not permitted to take cases in his own court but all the rest of the field of litigation is open to him and he is a competitor with other attorneys for all other kinds of legal business. The Judge of Probate is much less restricted in the practice of his profession than our Circuit Judge and receives a salary of about three times as much, per day, as the actual time occupied by him in performing the duties of his office is about four days each month.

The Judge of Probate's salary, whoever may occupy that honorable position, ought to be reduced, by the next legislature at least four hundred dollars per annum. The tax payers have some rights that ought to be respected by their servants, the office holders.

Now Mr. Tax Payer, as you have the bills to meet, it seems to me that it would be only just and right to consult you on the matter of salaries, and when you go to the polls to vote, when marking your ballot on election day, remember that you, Mr. Tax Payer, are the interested party and vote in your own interests as well as in the interests of the candidates for office, who "like the work and the pay."

I am of the opinion that if we have fifty unsettled cases on the calendar that the work of this court must be more than one year in arrears.

I do not know, and of course it is only guess work on my part, that there are fifty cases unsettled in this court, but, if this be true, how long before it will be necessary to have an assistant Probate Judge in this county.

Hoping that you will remember me favorably on August 27, I am, Very sincerely yours, Elisha N. Clink.

Last Auction Sunday.

The last auction sale of Pine Point lots will take place Sunday. This will be the very last opportunity to secure lots in this most beautiful resort. Values have been steadily increasing ever since these lots were placed on the market and this will be the last chance to secure close in property at auction prices.

See my line of Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases. I am carrying the largest and most complete line ever shown in the city. I buy direct from the manufacturers in large quantities and can sell at a very low price.

Trunks $3.50 to $18

Bags $1.75 to $10

Suit Cases $1.00 to $10

All Kinds of Repairing Done

Benj. Brown

Closing Out Sale

On account of the exceptionally backward summer. We find ourselves with many more Hammocks on hand than we should have at this time—and to get rid of them we are going to close them out at prices regardless of cost.

Here are some of the bargains

$10.00 Couch Hammocks at	$7.50
$7.50 Handmade " "	5.75
$5 Woven " "	3.75
$4 " " "	3.00
$3 " " "	2.25
$2 " " "	1.50

All others at proportionate prices.
Come before the best have been taken.
You cannot afford to lose this chance.

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable Furniture Dealers.

SPLENDID RECORD

Has Been Made by Prosecuting Attorney Fitch His First Term.

To the Voters of Charlevoix County. During the first eighteen months of my term of office as Prosecuting Attorney of Charlevoix county I have tried 86 cases, resulting in 83 convictions and one acquittal. This does not include cases now pending nor cases investigated and dismissed. All this has been accomplished at the least possible expense to the tax-payers, in verification of which I respectfully refer you to the records.

The practice of granting faithful public servants a second term is well established. I confidently submit the foregoing and request your support. Very truly yours, DWIGHT H. FITCH.

For Sale.

A two-inch well machine with complete set of tools. Price reasonable. Call at the Second Hand Store or phone 104. Address 1. S. Dice. 34-1

Wanted.

Apples and potatoes at Wilbur's dock. Market price. Godbold & Wilbur. 34-13-1

Subscribe for the Courier.

Charlevoix County Fair

EAST JORDAN

September 10-13

FRED DOBELL WILL MAKE TWO

FLIGHTS DAILY WITH HIS BIG

AEROPLANE

Big Exhibits in All Departments

Interesting Speed Programs Every Day

Write Secretary for Premium

Lists

HORACE B. HIPPI, President

W. P. SQUIRE, Secretary

VOTE FOR

Amos S. Musselman
FOR GOVERNOR

A SAFE, SANE, BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION FOR ALL MICHIGAN.

Common Sense, Energy and Integrity—These Are What the People Want.

Good Men Must Be Chosen at the Primaries.

TO THE VOTERS OF MICHIGAN.

I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor at the primaries, August 27th.

In my judgment, there can be no better training or experience for efficient service in the Executive Office of the State, than that acquired in active business life and in meeting and solving the problems that come before those who develop and build up the community and State. It is upon such a record rather than upon an officeholding career in Lansing, that my candidacy is based.

My fellow citizens, if you believe in the need of a business administration of the State's affairs, give me your active support on Primary Day, August 27th.

Very respectfully yours,

AMOS S. MUSSELMAN.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Notary and Drafts on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Opposite County Bank
Green's Office Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 133 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 58; residence 255.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. H. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE
EAR, NOSE and THROAT
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store.
Telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE,
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone 110 house.

Let me do your
D R A Y I N G
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 573 when you have time to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED
Consult J. LEARY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday Each Week

COURIER PRESS
COMMERCIAL PRINTERS
A Trial will Convince You

Farm Dairying

III.—Advice to Buyers of Cows.

By LAURA ROSE,
Demonstrator and Lecturer in Dairying
at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Canada

(Copyright, 1911, by A. C. McClurg & Co.)
WHEN buying a cow it is not always possible to find out the actual yield and quality of her milk. In such a case we must look for outward indications that are likely to bespeak good milking ability.

Some people lay little stress on form and place all the emphasis on the performance. While we agree with them, yet at the same time we believe the form of the typical dairy cow to be a result of the performance at the milk pail through many past generations. One has followed the other as surely as the fruit follows the blossom.

Development of the Cow.
By selection, breeding and management the cow with naturally a small paunch, diminutive udder and ability to give milk for only a short time to nourish her young has been developed into an animal with big growth, enormous udder and ability to give a good flow of milk almost continuously. Such is the achievement of man in the animal kingdom. What then must we look for in a profitable dairy cow—points common to all breeds?

A BARN WITHOUT LIGHT AND AIR IS A BREEDING PLACE FOR TUBERCULOSIS.

Beginning at the nose, we like the nostrils to be large to admit plenty of air to the lungs, so as to keep the blood pure and the cow healthy. The mouth should be large and the lips firm, but elastic. A large mouth is said to indicate a large appetite. Whether this is limited to cowkind and does not extend to mankind I know not, but I do know we seek cows with good, keen appetites, for if they do their duty the more food the more milk.

From the muzzle up to the eyes should be clean, cut and not too heavy. The eyes should be large and bright. They indicate the nervous constitution of the animal, and a cow to be a good milker should have strong nerves.

"She Knew Her Business."

The forehead—the space between the eyes—should be wide and dishd. The dishd effect results from the full eye, and we want the breadth, for there is where the brain is situated. Cows show intelligence in their faces much the same as human beings do. I have faucl as I looked at a fine cow that she knew what her business was and did not neglect it. Mark you, when a cow is keeping her jaws going she is working—yes, just as much and just as effectively as a set of stones in a grist mill or a weaver at a loom. She too, is taking raw material and manufacturing it into a finished product. But, to return to her head. The horns should be symmetrical and not too large. The ears not very large, and when they are turned back there should be seen a yellow oily secretion on the inside. This should also be found on the udder and on the tip of the tail. I have heard that it indicates richness of milk, but more likely it denotes constitutional vigor and thrift. For the same reason we like the hair to be soft and oily or silky, and when we pull the skin up from the ribs it should be elastic and spring back and not be thick and leathery.

The neck should be slender and neatly joined to the shoulders. There should be no excessive amount of loose, flabby skin on the under part of the throat and neck.

The Double Wedge.
We (and I might here explain that "we" means myself and all who agree with me) like to see the double wedge in the dairy form. From the head she should gradually increase in width to ward the hind quarters. Then from the shoulders down we like to see her broaden out.

There should be good width between the forelegs, and the forelimbs and the elbow should be well fitted out. In this part are situated the vital organs—the heart and lungs. A cow narrow between the forelegs is exactly the same as a narrow chested person—both are apt to be subjects for tuberculosis.

The backbone should be large, loosely pointed and a little prominent, another indication of nerve power, for in the backbone runs the spinal cord, the chief nerve of the body.

The barrel or body of the cow should have good length and depth. This is her storehouse and should be capable of holding large quantities of food.

The cow should be wide and strong across the loins to support this large paunch, for weakness in this point often causes a sag in the back. The thighs should be thin and hollowed out to give plenty of space between the legs, and the flanks should be high, allowing room for a large udder.

Horsemen say, "No foot, no horse." Dairymen say, "No udder, no cow." The udder should extend well up at the back and well forward, being strongly attached to the body. The sole of the udder in a cow, especially a young cow, should be level and the teats evenly placed and conveniently long to be milked. The udder should be covered with fine soft hair, should be springy, and the veins should be prominent.

Milk Veins and Milk Wells.
The milk veins coming from the udder and running forward under the body should be large, tortuous and extending well toward the front before entering the body through what are called the milk wells. Sometimes these openings in the abdominal wall are small and press the veins, swelling them and making them appear larger than they really are. In buying a cow not milking it is well to feel the size of the milk wells, and they will be some indication of the size and length of the milk veins.

After the cow is milked out the udder should hang like a bag of skin, soft and pliable. Occasionally we see a cow with a beautiful udder. After being milked she still has her beautiful udder, but has added little to the milk pail. This is known as a fleshy udder and often deceives a buyer.

The escutcheon, or milk mirror, is considered by some dairymen as an important indication of a cow's value as a milker. The escutcheon is that portion of the hind quarters at the back and top of the udder where the hair points upward instead of downward. It is taken as a good sign when the space covered with such hair is large and when there are several "cores" or "whirlpools" where the hair gathers toward a center.

Some judges like the terminal tail bone to reach the hock. The tail is but a continuation of the backbone—the larger and more loosely jointed the vertebrae the longer the tail. It should taper toward the point and end in a fine, full switch.

First Look For Constitution.

Summing up the qualities of a good cow, we should say first look for constitution. It is anything but pleasant to think of using milk which has come from a sickly, diseased animal. Don't you think with me there is a strong relationship between the vitality of the cow and the vitality of the milk she gives? First, then, let us emphasize the necessity of having a healthy cow.

CROSS SECTION OF COW'S UDDER, SHOWING THE CELLS IN WHICH MILK IS SECRETED.

As indicated by a readiness for her food, a full, bright eye, soft, pliable hair and skin; steady, even breathing and good heart and lung capacity. Then we want good talking qualities, as suggested by a strong nervous system, large middle piece and splendid udder. She should have a quiet, contented disposition, submit quietly to being handled and should be an easy milker.

A cow should increase in her milk down during the first few lactation periods, and frequently there is a slight increase in the percentage of fat as she reaches maturity.

She may be said to be at her best from her fifth to her eighth year, and

Robert O'Neill FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF
Sweet Peas

Telephone Orders to No. 283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

LEGAL NOTICES

Official Public Notice.

ALL DOGS, Male or Female, not effectually muzzled, running at large on any street, alley or public grounds or private premises, may be killed by any person, and it shall be the duty of every Constable, Policeman or other Peace Officer of the said City of Charlevoix, to kill any and all such dogs. This will be in force until September 30, 1912.

Charlevoix, Michigan, June 5, 1912.
By Order of the Mayor.

Order for Publication.

State of Michigan. The probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 21st day of August, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of John Newman, deceased. Herbert C. Newman having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to himself or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 21st day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition. It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

Order of Publication.

State of Michigan. The probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 21st day of August, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of John Newman, deceased. Herbert C. Newman having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to himself or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 21st day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition. It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

Order for Publication.

State of Michigan. The probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 21st day of August, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of John Newman, deceased. Herbert C. Newman having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to himself or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 21st day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition. It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

JOHN M. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

THE Charlevoix County Bank

believes an influential banking connection is absolutely essential to the conduct of any business or enterprise. Our ample resources guarantee the safety of your deposits and our progressive, though strictly conservative business policies, provide for you a desirable connection.

We are pleased to furnish our patrons intelligent advice in regard to investments and other business matters, procuring desired information where possible, and we invite you to become associated with us, both as a patron and confident.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bellars A. F. Bridge

Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Warm Weather Comforts and Necessity

Screen Doors

All sizes and kinds from the Cheapest that's good, to the best that's made.

Window Screens

The well-made, adjustable kind; fits any window; strong and durable.

Refrigerators

Best, most handsomely built from the strongest timber; also finished throughout in enamel; almost every size and price.

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to obtain one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, cleanest money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. We have a handsome illustrated 20-page catalog which enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting manner as though you were a professional salesman. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.
THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.

I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.

I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE PILES in 30 days to stay cured and to never return.

I CURE CONSTIPATION, the great White Plague. In the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by seeing or by mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given best of care. May work out free.

Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life itself.

—In you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WHITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

Bellevue Sanitarium & Retreat, Belvidere, Mich., or Smy

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and
entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

U. S. S. DOROTHEA NIGHT

At Skating Rink Thursday Night a Very Enjoyable Affair.

A most enjoyable time was spent at the skating rink last Thursday evening when it was given up to the sailors from the Dorothea.

The sailors' band furnished the music and after skating about two hours, two races were given. These were entered by two members of the crew. The entire number of sailors then gave a grand march with the band in lead. After this dancing was indulged in until near midnight.

The rink was filled to its utmost capacity and everyone had a good time, thanks to the management and the U. S. S. Dorothea.

"The Balance" at Charlevoix Theatre Wednesday evening, September 4.

See "The House of a Thousand Candles" at Charlevoix Theatre
Thursday night.

Cheaper Flour

WE HANDLE

Occident
Superlative
Minnesota Best
Argo Producer
Iron Duke
White Rose

Call and See Us

ARGO MILLING CO.

COUNTY FEDER- ATION ORGANIZED

By Ancient Order of Gleaners at Meeting Held at Boyne Falls.

Next Meeting Will Be Held October 1, at Same Place.

Charlevoix County Federation Arbor No. 55, Ancient Order of Gleaners was organized at Boyne Falls at a meeting held last Saturday. Lecturer Fred R. Marvin and wife of Detroit were present and founded the federation.

The next county meeting will be held at Boyne Falls October 1. At noon a basket dinner will be served and the county lecturer will have a literary program rendered. All gleaners in the county are invited to bring baskets and attend the dinner and afternoon session.

Charlevoix is the fifty-fifth county organized in the state. The movement for better organization among gleaners is statewide. This part of the organization work will be completed about November 1, then a state federation meeting will be held at Lansing to discuss farm problems today confronting American farmers and take such action as may secure legislation favorable to agricultural interests.

The following are the names of the officers of the county arbor:

C. G.—William Pearson, Boyne
Falls

V. C. G.—Walter Black, Charlevoix
Lecturer—Foster Whitecomb, Springvale

Sec. Treas.—Mrs. Walter Black,
Charlevoix

Com.—Frank G. Davis, Boyne Falls

Con.—Mrs. Bertha F. Davis,
Boyne Falls

Chap.—Mrs. May Detcher, Boyne
Falls

I. G.—Amaza Davis Jr., Boyne
Falls

O. G.—Elmer Hetrich, Boyne Falls

Lookout Committee—Chairman,
James Lock, Boyne Falls; Mrs. Bertha Glen, Boyne Falls; Martin Pearson, Boyne Falls; Alfred Hoffer, Clarion; Edith Meggison, Charlevoix; Addie Trimble, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

Ladies' Federation Arbor Circle

—Chairlady, Corie Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Bertha Davis, Boyne
Falls; Mrs. Daisy Madlan, Clarion;
Mrs. E. A. Reed, Charlevoix.

NO SUNDAY MAIL

Postoffice Department Puts Cites off the Map Sundays.

Postmaster Fitch has received an official communication stating that the postoffice appropriation act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, provides:

"That hereafter postoffices of the first and second classes shall not be open on Sundays for the purpose of delivering mail to the general public, but this provision shall not prevent special delivery mail.

"Under this law you will close the general delivery, carrier's windows, and lock boxes and discontinue all deliveries by carriers on Sunday. You will note, however, that special delivery mail is excepted and you will therefore arrange to have on duty a sufficient force to handle this mail matter promptly.
"The department desires to reduce Sunday work to the minimum so that as many of the employees as possible may enjoy a complete day of rest on Sunday.

Frank H. Leonard, C. S. B., will deliver a lecture on Christian Science at Charlevoix Theatre Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Admission
free.

Sn't cases at cost. Frank Chamberlain, Shea's old stand. 3511

"The House of a Thousand Candles" at Charlevoix Theatre Thursday night, August 29.

YOUNG MOTHER DEAD

Mrs. William Gregory of Hayes—Leaves Two Small Children.

Myrtle C. Gregory, wife of William Gregory of Hayes, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Cess of Harbor Springs, passed from life to the beyond, August 20, aged twenty-six years.

Four dear babies have been given to them, which she has mothered in the most lovable way. Two preceded her to the beyond.

Though she was not an active Christian in the last years of her life, perhaps by the failing strength she was brought to realize she would like to feel sure of the home promised the faithful. She loved her neighbors and always tried to live the golden rule.

Frank H. Leonard, C. S. B., at Charlevoix Theatre on Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Subject, Christian Science. Free. 3511

Travelogues at the Majestic next
week.

Don't miss a good thing when you have a chance. Go to Bedford's and get a bargain in Oxford's. 3511

TO LOAN PICTURES

State Library Offers to Help School Districts Decorate Their Buildings.

Excellent prints of the world's great masterpieces, suitably framed may be loaned from the state library by the various school districts of Michigan, at no expense to the districts except for the freight and cartage from Lansing and return. Application should be made to State Librarian Mary C. Spencer, Lansing, Michigan. The educational value of good pictures is everywhere conceded among educators and the offer of the state makes it possible to transform the barren walls of many schoolhouses with works of art at practically no expense to the district.

All men's shoes, values up to $4 going at $1.75 at Cohen's Store. 3511

Real bargains in Oxford's at Bedford's. 3511

New Piano Store.

The Melin-Winkel Piano company of this city have decided to open a branch piano store at Charlevoix.
Julius Winkel of the company visited Charlevoix some time ago and is much pleased with the place.

George Hale will be general manager and salesman of the Charlevoix store. Mr. Hale is well known here and at Charlevoix with high business standing.—South Haven Tribune.

Men's $1.50 dress shirts going at 90c at Cohen's Clearing Sale. 3511

Card of Thanks.

To the many kind friends and neighbors, we, the undersigned, wish to express our thanks for their many kind deeds in our recent bereavement in the loss of our wife and daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Gregory.
William Gregory.

Sidney T. Cess and Family,
William Gregory, Sr., and Family.

Travelogues at the Majestic next
week.

COHENS' STORE

Our Quick Clearing Sale is now on. Everything must go regardless of cost.
All reasonable merchandise and of the best quality. Our prices talk.

'Any pair of Men's Pants' in the store up to $5.00 must go at $1.50

All-wool Winter Underwear, regular $1.50 a piece going at 78c

Ladies' Wool Underwear going at 50c a piece

All Summer Underwear going at 40c a suit

Men's Shoes, values up to $4.00, all going at $1.75

All Boys' Shoes $1.00 a pair

Men's and Ladies' $1.25 Shoe Rubbers going at 48c pair

All Ladies' Oxfords going at $1.00 pair

All Calicoes going at 4c per yard

Ladies' Petticoats, $1.50 for 98c $1.75 for $1.19
$2.00 for $1.25

All Dress Gingham going at 9c at yard

Sale Lasts Until Sept. 7th

The Crowds in the store on the opening days of the sale prove that when we say bargains we mean bargains. Come early and get first choice.

Yours For Bargains

Cohen's Store

Ayres' Block

Charlevoix, Michigan

Charlevoix Theater, Thursday, Aug. 29

C. S. PRIMROSE OFFERS

George Middleton's Dramatization of Meredith Nicholson's Novel

'THE HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES'

A COMPLETE SCENIC PRODUCTION A GREAT CAST AS PRODUCED FOR ONE YEAR AT

DALY'S AND THE HACKETT THEATERS, NEW YORK AND GARRICK THEATER, CHICAGO

"The audience at the Garrick liked the play, and many, many audiences will go wild over it."—Amy Leslie in Chicago Daily News.

Prices for this Engagement 25c, 50c, 75c, $1

VALUE OF CLEANLINESS.

Plainview, Tex., Has Envious Record
Since Installing Sewerage System.
Plainview, Tex., is particularly prominent of her low rate of mortality. D. W.
McGlashan, recorder for the local bureaus, states that not a death has occurred among its membership of 225 during the past year. He also stated that the membership of the First Baptist church is 450, and there has not been a death among them in the past twelve months.
Earle O. Keck, secretary of the local
B. P. O. E. lodge for two past three years, states that with a membership running well above 100 not a death has occurred in the Elk herd since the date of their organization.
"Plainview urges every town to west Texas to put in a sewer and water works system, for her vital statistics have shown up almost perfect since the installation of same three years ago.

Reciprocity.
"Bridget," said Mrs. Grouchey, don't like the looks of that man who called to see you last night."
"Well, well," replied Bridget. "Ah, it's funny, ma'am? He said the an-about you."

Ladies' white duck shirts going at 90c at Cohen's Clearing Sale. 3511
Oxford bargains. Bedford. 3511

Charlevoix Theatre WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4

Gorham & Rowland Present

The Balance

By Harry Graves Miller

A Play of Broad Humanity
A Story with a Gripping Heart
Interest

Produced under the personal direction of Wm. Owen

Seats on sale at Central Drug Store after Friday Morning

Prices: 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00

New Millinery Store

Mrs. Atchison's Old Stand

Our Millinery Stock will be a most complete line of

Seasonable Goods

Come in and look over our new and up-to-date Millinery Patterns. Our stock will be open for your inspection next week.

Bennett's Millinery Store

..FARMS NEAR CHARLEVOIX..

I have carefully listed a few choice farms near Charlevoix and I want to tell you about them. These farms are level, have good land, buildings and bearing orchards.

C. I. B. McLEAN Charlevoix and Boyne City

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

E. V. Madison, was an East Jordan caller Friday.

Supervisor Correll of Melrose was in the city Monday.

Mrs. L. B. Bartlett has been quite ill the past few days.

Mrs. Will Scroggs has been quite ill the past two days.

Mrs. A. Butters is much improved after a few days' illness.

Mrs. Philip Howland of Bay City, is visiting relatives here.

John Kendall of Elk Rapids visited relatives here last week.

Malcolm D. Wilcox spent Sunday at his home in Mancelona.

Herman Goodman of East Jordan is a business caller today.

Mrs. Beryl and Pearl Smalley of Alden visited here last week.

Adolph Davis of Cincinnati is the guest of Miss Charlotte Cohen.

Miss Margaret Ryan leaves this week for Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Mrs. Lyman Merrill, of Petoskey, visited friends in the city last week.

Mrs. A. L. Coulter visited with Mrs. D. H. Fitch at East Jordan last week.

Mrs. Stanton of Oak Park, Illinois, is visiting with Capt. and Mrs. O. E. Wilbur.

The Indian camp meeting is in progress this week and will close Sunday.

Miss Izora K. McCahill of Chicago is visiting friends and relatives in the city.

Mrs. A. E. Mason and daughter Helen visited relatives at Eastport last week.

L. E. Crandall is building an addition to his grocery store on Antrim street.

Miss Florine Hudkins of East Jordan is visiting with Richard Lewis and family.

Mrs. Mae Ditlefsen of Petoskey, visited with Mayor Nordrum and family Sunday.

Miss Blanche Nowland left Monday for a short visit with friends at Traverse City.

C. Burton Hart of Chicago, arrived here Monday to visit with relatives.

Perry Mason has returned home after a short visit with friends at Central Lake.

CLEAR LAND

WITH DU PONT Red Cross Dynamite

The upper view shows how groups of big stumps are blasted out clear at one time, with all dirt off the roots and stumps shattered into kindling wood. At the same time the soil is thoroughly broken up, creating a fine home for the new crop. Lower view shows a celery crop worth $300 per acre ten months after stumps were blasted out.

To learn how progressive farmers are using dynamite for removing stumps and boulders, planting and cultivating fruit trees, regenerating barren soil, ditching, draining, excavating, and road-making.

Ask for Booklet

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Levi Lewis the past week.

Miss Cassie McKay left the first of the week for her home in Newberry after visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Will Smith.

Announcements have been received by the friends of Miss Bessie Cohen announcing her engagement to Irwin P. Levy of Cincinnati.

Miss Mabelle Weed left this morning for Detroit where she will make a short visit before going to Chelsea where she will teach.

Frank H. Leonard, C. S. B., will give a free lecture on Christian Science at the Charlevoix theater next Sunday afternoon at 3:30.

"Pins" Palmer of Manistee, State Insurance Commissioner was in city Tuesday enroute to Mackinac Island via the Chase S. Osborn.

Mrs. D. F. Dulcher and two children arrived home Saturday from Pontiac, where they visited friends and relatives the past three weeks.

Rev. H. A. Putnam left for his home in Ludington the latter part of the week, after a two weeks visit here.

Miss Maeta Wilke left Tuesday for her home in Chicago after visiting at the home of G. C. Gelken and family.

Glenn Kirby is employed in the store of McGeagh & Morse until such time as Mrs. Morse can take her place again.

Mrs. Ray Falkner was called to Detroit the latter part of the week by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. George Myler.

Miss Phila Wood of Philadelphia is visiting at the homes of her sister and brother, Mrs. F. H. Clark and Henry B. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Allard and son, Lee, and Mr. and Mrs. John Miller left the first of the week for Gloucester, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Bowditch is taking care of Mrs. McGeagh during her illness which resulted from being in the Pere Marquette wreck.

Mrs. and Mrs. Samuel Hirschberg left for their home at Bad Axe the latter part of the week after making a visit at the Cohen home.

Mrs. Corlett and son Cecil of Cheboygan have been making a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Baldwin and other relatives.

H. L. Francisco, a prominent farmer of Grand Island county has purchased the Charles Stevens farm in Marion, and will take possession at once.

Rex Hoffman, wife and two children returned to their home in Boyne Falls Monday, after a few days visit with A. J. Usher and family.

Miss Dorothy Iddings has returned home from Chicago, where she was called by the illness of her sister Constance, who is now very much improved.

Mrs. Gardner left last week for Iowa City, Iowa, after an extended visit at the home of H. P. Wilkinson. While there she will attend a family reunion.

Mrs. Charles Raber and children visited friends at Boyne City the latter part of the week. Mr. Raber joined them there Saturday, all returning home Sunday night.

Anybody in need of police at night are requested to call Central and state the street and number where wanted. In case of inattention, notify No. 37 the following day.

Those receiving the diamond rings given to the first duplicate number at the Majestic Theatre, Friday evening, were Manager Karslake of the skating rink and Emory Barber.

Mrs. E. M. Acheson leaves this week for Fremont where she will engage in the millinery business. She has won many friends while in business here who wish for her success in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Dodge are expected home Friday after a several weeks' trip in southern Michigan. Mr. Dodge will just remain here over Sunday and will then resume his duties as traveling salesman.

E. N. DuBois and wife, who have been visiting at the home of his brother, George M. DuBois, went to Boyne City Saturday where they will spend a few days visiting friends before returning to their home at Alma.

Among those who were in the wreck were Mrs. Bessie Morse and her mother, Mrs. Esther McGeagh, Mrs. McGeagh getting a severe jolting up which confines her to her bed. Mrs. Morse received numerous bruises around head, chest and shoulders; and also having lost the use of the right arm for some time.

Next Sunday is rally day for the Epworth League. Every Epworthian is expected to be in his place at that evening services. There will be platform meetings for both League and evening services with speakers from Petoskey, Boyne City and other places. The league contest will be continued for another month.

J. L. CRANE

Trunk, Suit Case and Valise Department

OUR WALL TRUNK OLD STYLE TRUNK

In this Department we are fortunate in securing the exclusive sale of some of the best makes of Traveling Goods made in this country, and are able to offer you special values in the entire line as our expense in carrying them is nominal.

Suit Cases $1.00 to $10.00

Keratol, Leather and Matting

Duguid Wall Trunks $5 to $13.50

In Steamer Size and Full Size

Fiber, Canvas and Steel Covered $4 to $14

Steamer and Full Size Trunks

Valises, Leather and Matting 50c to $8.00

J. L. CRANE

Charlevoix, Michigan

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15¢ first insertion.

COW FOR SALE—Inquire of H. Bedford 304

Girls wanted at Fountain City House—Inquire at once. 304

WANTED—A girl to do housework. No washing. 102 Upright street. 304

FOR SALE—International may press almost new. Inquire of Elmer Segum, R. F. D. No. 1. 304

WANTED—Position by man and wife, no children, on farm or taking care of summer resort. Would run small farm for elderly couple. McFall, East Jordan, Mich. 304

FOR SALE—Nine cows, three will be fresh in about two weeks, balance fresh early in winter. Phone 57-34. William Williams. 304

FOR SALE—Forty acre farm, next to Walter's fruit farm, one mile from city, on north side. Also four acres next to golf grounds, Ed Norton, Phone 29. 304

FOR SALE—Three iron bedsteads and one cotter. Mrs. Almer Poole, 201 Hurst Ave. 304

EARN FOR SALE—One hundred and sixty acre farm three and one-half miles southwest of Bay Shore. Good land, fair house, good barn, windmill, 20 acres cleared. Sylvester Miller, Bay Shore, Mich. 304

FOR SALE—New 50-hp. 21 foot carrier, capacity 2 tons hourly. H. Wilkinson. 11

FOR SALE AT ONCE—One second-hand wheel. Inquire of Dr. W. R. Barney, 304

FOR SALE—House and barn with acres, improved, in city. Will sell reasonably. 304 W. R. Barney.

FOR SALE—Modern room house, electric light and bath. 20 West Upright Ave. Terms, Robert G. Madill. 304

LADY WANTED

To introduce our very complete Fall line of beautiful wool suitings, wash fabrics, fine waisting, silks, handkerchiefs, petticoats, etc. Visit today N. Y. City Patterns. First line on the market. Dealing direct with the mills you will find our prices low. If others can make $10.00 to $20.00 weekly, you can also. Samples and full instructions packed in a neat sample case, shipped express prepaid. No money required. Exclusive territory. Write for particulars. Be first to apply. Standard Dress Goods Company, Dept. 66, Binghamton, N. Y. 304

Cottage for Sale.—Chapel Cottage on Michigan Avenue. Inquire Myrtle Young & Son, 3313

Wanted at Once.—Three experienced waitresses at Beach Hotel. 304

They'll soon be gone, those Ox-fords at Bedford's. 2511

Charlevoix County Fair

If you are going to see Fred Dabell and his Aeroplane make two flights daily at the Charlevoix County Fair, study the following: Special Through Train service Petoskey to East Jordan and return P. M. R. R. Bellair, E. J. & S. R. R.

September 11-12-13

Bay View	8:30 a. m.	Round trip	$1.50
Petoskey	8:35 a. m.	Round trip	1.50
Bay Shore	8:48 a. m.	Round trip	1.50
Charlevoix	9:00 a. m.	Round trip	1.30
Belvedere	9:08 a. m.	Round trip	1.30
Phelps	9:22 a. m.	Round trip	1.10
Ellsworth	9:31 a. m.	Round trip	.95
Central Lake	9:46 a. m.	Round trip	.75
Bellaire	10:04 a. m.	Round trip	.50

Arrive Fair Grounds, East Jordan, 10:50 a. m.
Arrive Depot, East Jordan, 11:00 a. m.
Returning, leave East Jordan Depot 1:00 p. m.—Fair Grounds 1:10 p. m. Arriving Petoskey 9:30 p. m., Bay View 9:40 p. m.
Passengers from Bay Shore and other Traverse Bay points take suburban trains or boats to connect with above.
The Str. Hum will leave Charlevoix daily at 8:00 a. m. & 12:20 p. m. connecting with P. M. R. R. trains going and returning. Round trip 20¢.

We have received all the New Fall Models of—

Kabo Corsets

and they are now on display

Every pair guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction

Prices range from

$1.00 pair to $5.00

Bergeon's
Dry Goods Store

LEVINSON'S GREAT CLEARANCE SALE

Commences Thursday, August 29---Ends Saturday, September 7

Everything in the line of Dry Goods and Clothing will be included in this Sale. The prices we offer on our merchandise will only be good during the sale. Remember it only lasts from Thursday, August 29th to Saturday, September 7th. You will find everything as advertised. Do not miss this opportunity.

Ladies' Suits

$25.00 Ladies' Suits in plain black, blue or gray, very new, sale price $16.98

$22.50 Ladies' Suits in fancy weaves, grey, blue, black late styles, sale price $14.98

$20.00 Ladies' Suits black broadcloth, fancy weaves, sale price $12.98

Skirts

$6.50 Ladies' Panama Skirts in black, gray, blue, brown, tan, plaited style, the best skirts we have offered for the money, sale price $4.75

$7.50 Ladies' Skirts in chiffon, panama, self trimmed, strictly high class garment sale price $5.50

$5.50 Voile Skirt, black only, satin trimmed, a big seller with us, sale price $6.50

$10.00 Skirts in Altman Voile, plain or with satin trimming, a skirt that cannot be beat sale price $7.75

Ladies' Silk Petticoats, $5.00 values at $2.98

Ladies' Dresden Silk Petticoats, $6.00 at $4.48

Ladies' Short Kimonos, $1.00 values at 89c

Ladies' $3.50 long Kimonos at $2.48

Dress Goods

$1.25 Panama goods in black, brown, grey and blue, excellent value, sale price 98c

$1.25 Molair in plain and fancy, sale price 98c

50c Fancy Mixed Goods, good selling patterns, sale price 48c

Ladies' Dresses

All wash Dresses on hand will be closed out at sacrifice prices

$5.00 Misses Middy Dresses, plain white or with blue trimming, sale price $2.98

$3.00 Ladies' Wash Dresses, a great variety to pick from, sale price $2.98

$6.00 Ladies' Wash Dresses either plain white or fancy, sale price $3.95

$4.50 and $7.50 Fancy White Dresses, sale price $4.98

Shepherd checked Dresses, in medium weight goods, $5.00 regular price, sale price $2.98

$15 Misses Silk Party Dresses, in light Blue or Pink, sale price $9.98

$12.00 Misses Middy Dresses, Navy Blue Serge trimmed in red or White Serge trimmed in red or blue, sale price $8.98

$2.00 and $1.50 Ladies' House Dresses, sale price 98c

Wash Goods

All our 15c Lawns, Dimities, etc., clearance sale 9c

Mercerized Poplins, all shades clearance sale 16c

Fancy White Goods, regular price 35c and 50c clearance sale 21c

Fancy White Goods, regular price 25c, clearance sale 16c

Calico

Very best grade Calico in grey, blue, black and light colors, 7c grade, sale price 5c yd

Bargains

Cotton Cloth, 6c grade 4c

Yard Wide Suloline, 12c grade at 8c

10c Heavy Weight Unbleached Cotton 7c

Linum, in all colors at 1c

Very best Table Oil Cloth, per yard 15c

12c Dress Ginghams at 9c

12c Bleached Cotton, 10c grade at 7c

$1.50 Quilts, sale price 98c

Children's Wool Sweaters with pockets $1.50 values at 98c

NOTIONS

Paper Pins for 1c

Thimbles, two for 1c

Hooks and Eyes, a package for 1c

Safety Pins, large size 3c

Flat Pins, two for 1c

Fancy Headed Pins, package 2c

Bone Buttons, a dozen for 1c

Knitting Cotton, black, white or gray mixed, a ball 3c

Bone Hair Pins, a package 8c

Barrets, each 8c Side Combs 8c

Good Heavy Back Combs 8c

Fancy Back Combs 19c

Finishing Braid 4c

Belt Buckles, pearl or gilt 18c

50c Fancy Back Combs 39c

Dress Braid, regular price 10c a yard, sale price per yard 5c

Ladies' Fancy Handkerchiefs, 15c values 9c

Pillow Tops, 25c at 19c

Clearance Sale of Hart Schaffner & Marx Suits

This will be the greatest opportunity to purchase these Clothes at the prices we will now offer. They are this Season's make. They will not last long at these prices, so make your choice early.

$25 Hart-Schaffner & Marx suits new shades of grey, sale price $19.98

$22.50 Hart-Schaffner & Marx suits in tan, grey, brown, swell effects, sale price $18.58

$22.50 Hart-Schaffner & Marx suits, plain blue or black serge, sale price $17.58

$20.00 Hart-Schaffner & Marx suits in grey, mixed or fancy worsted, very neat sale price $14.98

$16.50 Blue Serge Suits, very swell made up, fine weave two button, sale price $11.98

$15.00 Suits, grey, mixed worsted also blue worsted in plain and fancy, sale price $9.98

$13.50 Suits in plain black, all wool worsted. The best suit at the price obtainable $8.98

$12.00 Suits in fancy weaves. A number to close out. Sale price $6.98

Lace Curtains

$7.50 Lace Curtains, fine mesh, beautiful pattern, sale price $5.48

$6.00 Lace Curtains, choice patterns $4.48

$5.00 Lace Curtains, large assortment to pick from, sale price $3.78

$3.50 Lace Curtains, bargains for the money, sale price $2.49

$2.50 Lace Curtains, very wide, price $1.79

$2.00 Lace Curtains, extra value for the money, sale price $1.49

$1.50 Lace Curtains, large size, price $1.19

Embroideries

45 inch Flouncing for dresses, $2.00 value, clearance sale $1.59

27-inch Flouncing for dresses, $1.00 value, clearance sale 79c

25c grade Embroidery in wide width, clearance sale 16c

50c grade Embroidery, clearance sale 39c

During this Sale we will Sell Coats' Thread at 4c spool.

Money Savers

Baby Ribbon, two yards for 1c

Sansuk, per ball 4c

Extra Heavy Overalls and Jackets, sale price 39c

Men's Soft Shirts, mercerized fronts with attached collars or separate collars, regular price 75c, sale price 39c

Men's and Boys' $1 Sweaters 79c

Men's $2 Negligee Shirts $1.00

Men's $1 Caps at 79c

One lot of Caps to close out at 13c

UNUSUAL VALUES

Curtain Madras goods, 50c yard regular price, sale price 29c

$1.50 Ladies' Scarfs, two yards long, sale price 98c

Corset Cover Embroidery at 19c

Men's Ties, 50c values at 29c

Men's Wool Underwear, special for this sale 48c

Men's $2.50 Corduroy Pants, sale price $1.59

$1.50 Black Leather Bags at 98c

$2.00 Dutch Lace Collars at $1.19

LADIES' GLOVES

$1.50 Long Silk Gloves, double tip in tan, black and white, sale price 98c

Ladies' Kid Gloves, $1.25 and $1 values, black, grey and brown, sale price 89c

Shirt Waists

A choice lot of $1.50 and $2.00 Waists, to close out 98c

$3.50 and $2.50 Waists either in Voile or lawn, newest styles, sale price $1.48

$6.00 Ladies' Black Silk Waists, clearance sale price $3.48

Corsets

American Lady Corsets, $1.50 grade, clearance sale price $1.29

R & G Corsets, $1.50 grade, clearance sale price $1.29

$3.00 Lace Front Modart Corsets, to close out at $2.98

American Lady Corsets, to close out 59c

$1.50 Kaho Corsets, to close out 98c

Sweaters

Ladies' Sweaters, white, cardinal or grey, $3.50 value, sale price $2.48

Men's All-wool Sweaters, $3.00 and $3.50 values, sale price $1.98

Men's Spandling Sweaters, $6 value, sale price $4.78

Ladies' Sweaters

$5 Sweater in White or Grey, very pretty knit, either light or heavy wts., all sizes, price $3.78

$6 Sweaters, in White or Grey, extra quality, sale price $4.78

$10.00 Long Sweaters, White only, to close out at $4.98

Boys' Suits

$3.75 and $3.50 Boys' 2-piece suits, fancy grey mixture, sale price $2.50

$3.50 and $4.00 Boys' 2 and 3-piece Suits, extra value for the money, sale price $3.88

$10.00 Young Men's Suits in grey mixed goods, late style, sale price $6.50

$7.50 and $6.00 Young Men's Suits to close out at our sale at $3.97

Boys' Pants, $1 grade, 5-16, 59c pair

Miscellaneous

50c Extra quality Work Shirts, price 39c

Entire stock of 50c Neckwear at 39c

Nottingham Shirts, $1.00 value at 89c

Chest Shirts, $1.50 value at $1.29

Ladies' Silk Petticoats, $3 value at $2.98

Ladies' Kimonos, $1 value, sale price 79c

Children's Dresses, white or fancy at 48c

Ladies' Hand Bags large size, 75c and 98c grade, to close out at 48c

Extra quality Hairbow Ribbon 6in. wide all colors, sale price 23c

Large size Blankets, Grey, Tan, or White $1.25 value, sale price 98c

Men's Hats

$3.00 Soft Hats in black, grey and brown, clearance sale price $1.98

$2.00 and $2.50 Hats to close out 98c

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY
VanPelt Block
Charlevoix, Michigan

Republican State Convention.

To the Republican electors of the state of Michigan:

A state convention of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at the Light Guard Armory in the city of Detroit, on Tuesday, September 21, 1912, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of nominating Republican candidates for Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor General, Attorney General, Commissioner of the State Land Office, and Justice of the Supreme Court for the term ending December 31, 1913, to fill vacancy, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Delegates to the respective county conventions shall be chosen at the primary election held on the 27th day of August, 1912, as provided by section 18 of Act 281 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended by Act 279 of the Public Acts of 1911. Each township, ward or precinct shall be entitled to such number of delegates as shall be specified in the call issued by the county committee for the county conventions in the respective counties.

By order of the Republican State Central Committee.

Alex J. Groesbeck,
Chairman
Paul H. King,
Secretary.

Dated at Grand Rapids, Michigan, July 20, 1912.

The following is the apportionment of delegates to the several counties of the 11th congressional district: Montcalm, 15; Isabella, 15; Clare, 6; Roscommon, 2; Grand Traverse, 8; Antrim, 6; Kalamazoo, 3; Charlevoix, 8; Missaukee, 7; Oshtemo, 8; Mecosta, 6; Grand, 18.

Republican County Convention.

To the Republican electors of Charlevoix county:

Notice is hereby given that a Republican County Convention will be held at the Court House in the city of Charlevoix on Tuesday, the 10th day of September, 1912, at 10:30 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing nine delegates to represent said county in the Republican State Convention, called to meet in the Light Guard Armory in the city of Detroit on Tuesday, September 21, 1912, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The several townships and wards will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Bay.....2	Wilson.....2
Bye Valley.....4	City of Charlevoix.....2
Chandler.....2	1st ward.....2
Charlevoix.....1	2nd ward.....1
Evangeline.....1	3rd ward.....1
Eveland.....3	Boysen City.....3
Haves.....13	1st ward.....3
Hudson.....2	2nd ward.....2

Marion.....1	3rd ward.....8
Melrose.....3	4th ward.....5
Norwood.....1	East Jordan.....
Peaine.....2	1st ward.....2
St. James.....2	2nd ward.....2
South Arm.....3	3rd ward.....4

Dated August 5, 1912.

H. L. McMillan, Sec'y
Republican County Com.
Wm. J. Pearson, Chairman
Republican County Committee.

MAKING CHARCOAL FOR HOGS.

Helps Wonderfully in Keeping the Animals in Good Condition.

When hogs are being fed corn they have insatiable appetites for charcoal, and this goes to show that the charcoal meets some requirement of the animal system. What is palatable seldom does the system any injury, and then only when taken in excess, which it is likely to be if the animals are not accustomed to it, especially if they are hungry. The fact that hogs when on full feed of corn eat all forms of charcoal with avidity and never get too much of it is sufficient ground for providing it in abundance and keeping it within reach of the hogs at all times.

I utilize all the corn cobs on my place for making charcoal to feed my hogs, says an Iowa Home-land correspondent. I dig a pit about five feet deep which is smaller at the bottom than at the top, in which to burn the cobs. I start a fire at the bottom and gradually fill with cobs, then cover the pit with a sheet iron lid. Earth may be used in covering the pit if a large lid is not available. In about twelve hours the combination has produced an exceedingly good grade of corn-cob charcoal.

In feeding the charcoal I make up the following mixture: Five bushels of corn-cob charcoal, one bushel of wood ashes, eight pounds of salt, two quarts of air slaked lime, two pounds of sulphur and a pound of copperas. I break up the charcoal, mix all thoroughly to gether, put the mixture in self feeding boxes and place where the hogs can have free access to it. This combination furnishes a good percentage of ash for bone building, destroys worms and helps wonderfully in keeping the hogs in a thrifty condition. The amount of charcoal that a bunch of hogs will eat during the winter if given free access to it at all times is really very surprising.

A Wasted Warning.

It very often happens that in strolling along the wharfs in Havana you will observe a huge box or barrel containing glassware with this inscription: "Handle with care—fragile." It is plain that the shipper, filled with a most laudable patriotic enthusiasm, imagines that the English language is universal and that away-off, 500 or 600 miles from the shipping point, the workmen on the wharf will be able to read and understand the recommendations that these words carry with them. How easy it would be to put those words in the language of the country to which merchandise is going.

—Exporters' Review.

*Courier rates on application.

Farm and Garden

BERRIES FOR MARKET.

Send Your Product in Uniform Packages and Watch Results.

One of the striking facts of the berry season every year is the astonishing variety of fruit packages which the consumer finds in the market. Boxes and baskets of both wood and paper, square, flat, oblong or flat, some quart boxes short and some shorter, combine to make a medley which is confusing to the buyer. It is also a puzzle to the grower and a cause of positive loss when he changes his style of package. Heavily the grower need not do this if he makes proper preparations, but sometimes he is forced to when in sudden need he is in.

Photograph by Long Island agricultural experiment station.

RASPBERRIES READY FOR MARKET.

able to find his preferred style and therefore must take whatever the dealer has to offer.

Often in small shipping towns, where are perhaps only half a dozen grocers, there will be found as many styles of packages as there are men. This can be nothing but detrimental to the business, because it prevents the interchange of boxes and crates, which might often be of great advantage. Such unnecessary diversity can be prevented by co-operative buying. In many places this system is now in practice.

Cost is saved by bulking together orders for packages, and uniformity of packages also improves market conditions. If all the grocers of even a small neighborhood were so well organized that their supplies could be bought through one agency in a course of only a few years it would be an advantage of great value. — Farm and Fireside.

PERMANENCY OR THE PRESENT.

We never knew or heard of a farmer who did not prosper financially when he made it his first object to keep up the fertility of his soil. We have known many farmers who grew poorer each year when they made it their first and often their only object to get a crop. — Kansas Farmer.

To Fertilize Potatoes.

Enrow the ground for planting and distribute in the row. A good method is to put the fertilizer in a tight bag swing it over the shoulder and make a small hole in the lower corner that will let the fertilizer run as the workman walks along the furrow. Then drag a log chain along the bottom of the furrow to mix the fertilizer with the soil and to straighten the row. Where the field is large enough to justify the use of a common two horse corn cultivator attach chains to the socks and let them drag in the fur rows. When applications of fertilizers exceed 500 pounds per acre broadcast and harrow in one-half and put the other half in the row. — National Stockman and Farmer.

Alfalfa Seed Per Acre.

With reasonably good seed and a fairly well prepared seed bed about twenty pounds of alfalfa seed are required per acre. If the seed bed is very carefully prepared, made level and free from lumps and unusual pains taken in seedling perhaps half this amount of seed is quite enough, but under ordinary conditions twenty pounds of seed ought to be about right.

Perfect Stand of Potatoes.

When I plant my potatoes, about every tenth row I plant double the amount of seed that I do in the other rows. Then when I hoe them I can take some from these rows to replace any missing hill I may find and so get a perfect stand. — Cor. Farm Journal.

Be on good borrowing terms with your neighbors, but do not abuse the privilege. A little co-operation in using the expensive farming tools can save many dollars.

We do Fine Job Printing.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

SPECIAL MERIT SCHOOL SHOES

"Mayer School Shoes Wear Like Iron."

A. E. MASON
Cash Grocer & Shoe Man

CREAM OF RYE

For Breakfast--that's Enough

Think of a delicious healthful meal at a cost of one cent. Better still, you are feeding your body with nature's food and producing an abundance of healthful energy.

A Silver Spoon in Every Package

Rye is the Cheapest and best Food--U. S. Govt. tests prove it.

Amount of energy 100 will give—
ARTICLES CALORIES of Energy

Eggs.....	348
Beef, Sirloin.....	410
Mutton, Leg.....	445
Milk.....	1030
Pork, Loin.....	1035
Cheese.....	1185
Butter.....	1365
Rice.....	2025
Potatoes.....	2050
Beans, Dried.....	3040
Rye.....	6050

There's a Difference

The Taste is the Best

For Sale by your Grocer. If you fail to get a package Write Us.

Minneapolis Cereal Co. Inc.

Minneapolis

Grange Column

Wilson Grange

Wilson grange No. 719 met August 24 with twenty-five members present and two visitors from Harmony grange. Worthy Master Jaquays being absent meeting was called to order by the overseer.

A request for a donation to a fund for the construction of a rest room on the fair grounds was laid on the table until the next meeting. Treasurer stated amount of money on hand and amount needed to pay on a note maturing September 10.

Members were requested to meet with Harmony grange, Tuesday evening, September 10.

Lecturer announced for next meeting that each member tell their favorite flower and why.

Meeting closed to meet in three weeks.

Trunks and suit cases at cost, to close out. Frank Chamberlain, Shea's old stand. 35tf

Remember, September 1, at 3:30 p. m. is the date of the free lecture on Christian Science by Frank H. Leonard, C. S. B., at Charlevoix Theatre. 35tf

Ironton Grange

Ironton grange met in regular session August 20, with an attendance of 64 members and seven visitors.

One application for membership was received.

Two candidates were instructed in the third and fourth degrees by the degree team.

Lecturers program consisted of songs, stories, readings, recitations and a talk by Brother Neers.

After the regular order of business we had the penny march. Proceeds $1.75.

Grange closed in regular form to meet again in two weeks.

Are you going to the free lecture on Christian Science at the Charlevoix Theatre at 3:30 Sunday afternoon. 35tf

Trunks at cost, Frank Chamberlain, Shea's old stand. 35tf

You are Invited to attend a Lecture on

Christian Science
—BY—

Frank H. Leonard C. S. B.

Charlevoix Theatre

Sunday Afternoon, September 1

At 3:30 O'clock

FREE

MET WITH FATAL FALL

Charles De Boer a Well Known and Respected Resident of This City.

Had Resided Here for the Past Seventeen Years—Leaves Wife and Son.

Charles De Boer was born in the Netherlands, April 3, 1840. At the age of twelve he began the life of a sailor, and sailed the ocean until 1870, when he came to America locating at Grand Haven, after which he sailed on Lake Michigan.

July 3, 1885, he was married to Mrs. L. Noantay. To this happy marriage one son, Anthony of this city, was born, and, together with his wife and three children by a former marriage, two of whom, Mrs. Dan Swartz and Mrs. Louis Burasaw, who reside in this city, and William Noantay of Grand Haven survive him.

In 1895 they moved to this city where they have since resided. About sixteen years ago he sought the Lord and at the time of his departure fully expressed himself as ready and waiting to be with his Savior.

The immediate cause of his death came through a fall which he received while at work August 23. On the evening of the 24 he passed peacefully away.

The funeral was held from the house Tuesday afternoon, Rev. James W. Ruehle officiating.

Don't miss them, you'll be sorry if you do. Oxfords cheap at Bedford's. 35tf

Better get in on the bargain sale of Oxfords at Bedford's. 35tf

The lecture on Christian Science, Sunday afternoon, September 1, at 3:30, will be a rare treat, as those who heard him three years ago will attest. 35tf

SHEEP MANAGEMENT.

Mistakes in Handling the Flock That Tend to Cut Profits.

In the management of a flock of sheep there are several mistakes usually made, among which may be mentioned, first, the temptation to turn them out too early in the spring with the thought of saving feed, says W. H. Underwood. If they are turned on the regular pasture they will get the start of it and fail to obtain the sustenance they should from it the rest of the season, whereas if it had been allowed to get a sufficient start it would serve them much better later in the season.

If the pasture is a field to be plowed I feel quite sure the extra vegetable matter that would be turned under if left, rather than to have it pastured off, is worth much more to the land than to the sheep. In any event, this soft, watery grass, while relished by the sheep, has little nourishment in it. It fills, but does not feed. The animals will get to scouring and lose flesh, while it will take more and better feed to put them back in good condition.

Another mistake is to shear the sheep as the custom was in June. By all means shear before they go to pasture. If they are put on grass with the wool on, the looseness of the bowels, always following a change from dry to green feed, will soil much of their wool about the hinder parts, which is a loss, for it will cost as much to wash it out as it will bring.

The old talk about the gain from accumulation of oil in warm weather is nonsense. If the weather is at all wet

While the Shropshire sheep is generally classed as a mutton producer, it is a good general purpose animal. The first essential of breeders of this sheep has been to secure a correct mutual conformation, but as a general rule the fleece from the animal has been of fine fiber and of fair weight. It is getting to be quite common, says G. McKerrow, Breeder's Gazette, to see Shropshire fleeces at the leading shows that would compare favorably in crimp and fiber with the fine wool types. The Shropshire shown is a good type of the breed.

The rains will wash out more oil than will accumulate twice over, to say nothing about the discomfort of the sheep with its heavy fleece in the hot days.

A third mistake is to leave the young rams uncastrated and lambs with their tails on. In removing the tail piece it is on a hardwood block, above the skin toward the rump and sever it with a sharp two inch chisel. The skin will cover the bone and it will heal quickly. If a knife is used with a drawing

See my line of Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases. I am carrying the largest and most complete line ever shown in the city. I buy direct from the manufacturers in large quantities and can sell at a very low price.

Trunks $3.50 to $18

Bags $1.75 to $10

Suit Cases $1.00 to $10

All Kinds of Repairing Done

Benj. Brown

Closing Out Sale

On account of the exceptionally backward summer. We find ourselves with many more Hammocks on hand than we should have at this time—and to get rid of them we are going to close them out at prices regardless of cost.

Here are some of the bargains

$10.00 Couch Hammocks at	$7.50
$7.50 Handmade “ “	5.75
$5 Woven “ “	3.75
$4 “ “	3.00
$3 “ “	2.25
$2 “ “	1.50

All others at proportionate prices.

Come before the best have been taken.

You cannot afford to lose this chance.

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable Furniture Dealers.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Christ-Jesus." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m. Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH
Our Sunday services begin with morning class at 9:45, followed by preaching at 10:30.

Sunday School meets at 12:00 m. Epworth League holds its meeting at 6:30 p. m.

Evening sermon at 7:30. Epworth Church. Sunday school 1:30. Preaching 2:30.

BAPTIST CHURCH
Morning service 10:30. Sunday school 11:45.

B. Y. P. U., at 6:30. Topic, "The Christian—Virtues—Hopefulness." Leader, Dee Marsa.

Evening service at 7:30 (evangelistic service). Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Burgess school house. Everybody welcome.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Morning service at 10:30. Sunday school at noon.

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30. Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

Don't miss hearing the lecture on Christian Science by Frank H. Leonard, C. S. B., at Charlevoix Theatre on Sunday afternoon, September 1, at 3:30. The lecture is free to everyone. 35tf

Men's $3 wool underwear going at 1.50 a suit at Cohen's Clearing Sale. 35tf

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Readers of the Courier

Are advised that the Detroit Business University, the oldest and most influential business training school in the state, is located in new fireproof premises at 55 West Grand River Ave., Detroit, and under new management is doing better work than ever in training young men and women for good salaried positions. The catalogue is mailed free on request.

E. R. STAW, President.

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

Candidates of All Parties Believe in Progressive Principles—All Are Well Known Citizens of the State.

Next year's convention will be held at Traverse City.

Arthur Lawson in Ole Olson at Charlevoix Theatre Saturday, September 7.

602	721	091	1618	113	118	568	705	511	552	978	810	968	887	1221		1113	1218	1003	1425
	091		1335		618		243			168		51						1425	422

Beach Hotel. 34th St. S.

Don't fail to see "The Shepherd of the Hills" at Charlevoix Theatre September 11.

652	721	491	1648	113	1186	568	705	511	552	978
	97		133		618		243			168

[illegible]

GO TO THE BEST

This is the first essential of assured success. By enrolling at the Mc-Lachlan Business University you are getting "The Best" Michigan has to offer in the line of a Business Education. Its broad course of modern business methods presented individually by the best business educators in the country eliminates every vestige of risk on your part. You should know this fact.

OUR BEAUTIFUL CATALOG FREE

You are not familiar with the methods of Michigan's Greatest School of Business and Shorthand if you have not seen this catalog. It is acknowledged by all to be a worthy representative of a great school.

We allow you railroad fare here. Excellent opportunities to work for board. Hundreds of students placed annually. Let us tell you more about our school. Begin now.

McLachlan University

110-118 PEARL ST.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

The Black school opened Tuesday.

They have just reshingled the Johnson school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ingalls visited at the home of D. E. and Elmer Ingalls Sunday.

Albert Meggison, wife and children of Chicago, are visiting friends and relatives at Marion this week.

George Thompson, wife and two daughters, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Meggison of Marion last week.

Mrs. Oscar Smith of Grand Rapids, visited at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Meggison of Marion last week.

Isabel and Margaret Doran of East Jordan have been visiting their sister, Mrs. Will Panquette for a few days.

Mrs. Arthur Beattie and children visited her daughter, Mrs. E. Dodd and family, and O. R. Beattie and family Thursday.

Nellie Ingalls, Dorothy Beattie and Mrs. O. R. Beattie and son, Wesley, visited Mrs. H. P. Hansen and Maxine, Friday.

Mrs. Oscar Smith, George Thompson and family and James Meggison and wife, visited Bert Thompson and family at Petoskey Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black and son, Doyle, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Eastcott, a few days last week. Mr. Black is somewhat improved in health.

Mrs. C. J. Dodd celebrated her birthday Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. R. Beattie. She received many pretty presents, among them a sapphire ring from her children.

F. L. Parks, Murrayville, Ga. Route 1, is in his 73rd year, and was recently cured of a bad kidney and bladder trouble. He says himself: "I have suffered with my kidneys. My back ached and I was annoyed with bladder irregularities. I can truthfully say, one 50c bottle of Foley Kidney Pills cured me entirely. They contain no habit forming drugs. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop."

Subscribe for the Courier.

CLARION.

J. E. Darrah was in Boyne City Tuesday.

S. A. Correll visited East Jordan Tuesday.

L. H. McIntosh returned last week from Oregon.

N. J. Stone of Petoskey was in town Saturday.

Miss Teresa Phillips of East Jordan was in town Wednesday.

D. H. Geyer was very sick Saturday night, but is much better again.

Miss Bessie Kay has secured the position as teacher of the Card school.

The Misses Vera and Ruby Miller of Petoskey, were in town a short time Wednesday.

The Clarion Sunday school will give a picnic dinner at the K. O. T. M. hall Wednesday.

Miss Grace Norton left last week for Albion, where she has accepted the position of teacher in the commercial department of the Albion high school.

What might have been a serious accident occurred when Charles Gallop and wife were returning home from Mrs. S. E. Haas'. While going down hill a whistle tree broke, letting the horses loose from the buggy. The horses were caught after going about a mile.

Antoine Deloria, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills, as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

ROCK ELM.

Thomas Crothers is reported as very ill.

Frank Adhe is in the neighborhood with his threshing machine.

Miss Addred Hutton will teach in the Duell school near Boyne Falls. Miss Ethel Brintnall of Wilson, will be the teacher at Rock Elm the coming term.

Mrs. Ed Kowalski returned Sunday from a few days visit with relatives in Wilson.

Owing to the severe thunder storm there was no grange meeting Saturday night.

A doctor from East Jordan was called to attend Mrs. A. B. Clark Sunday afternoon.

The long continued rains have prevented the farmers from drawing in oats. Many are moulding in the shock.

The last day of the trout season Fred Van Gorder landed a speckled beauty measuring 15½ inches and weighing 22 ounces.

Marjorie Cleland, Sadie Metz, Leo Lucero, Carrol Fink and Leon Van Gorder will attend high school in East Jordan this year.

Charles Heenan, wife, and daughter Doris, returned to their home in Jackson Monday, after a six weeks visit with relatives here.

C. A. Smith, Bridgeview, Ind., had kidney trouble for years, and was so crippled with rheumatism he could not dress without help. He started using Foley Kidney Pills, and says: "I began to get better at once, and now all my trouble has left me and I do not feel that I ever had rheumatism. I rest well at night and though 30 years old, can now do the work of a man of 20 years. I would like to be the means of others getting benefit from Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop."

BURGESS.

Gas Jerichon and wife visited at Petoskey Tuesday.

Mrs. L. Scouts visited her daughter, Mrs. Orson Cook, Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Kane left Monday for Traverse City to visit her daughter, Mrs. Trafford.

Fay Kane, wife and daughter Edna, visited at Albion last week with Mrs. Kane's aunt.

Henry Howe and wife were in the week August 23 at Superior, but were not hurt very bad.

Mrs. Elsie Scott of Pontiac, sister of Mrs. Agnes Banks, has been visiting here for the past week.

Mrs. Bert Gonder of Grand Rapids, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kane.

Hattie Hamlin had a picnic for the children of her Sunday school class last week. A good time was enjoyed by all.

Student Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney undertakes that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, Ohio, and that he will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh of the Bladder that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 31st day of December, A. D. 1912.

A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Sent by mail, free of charge.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, or by mail.

MAPLE GROVE

Sherman Howe spent Saturday at Petoskey.

Mr. Wagner of Boyne City spent Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Ferris.

Mr. and Mrs. Harker Kirby spent Saturday and Sunday at Charlevoix.

Miss Maudie Howe left Sunday to take charge of her school at Advance.

Mr. Thomas Scroggie left Sunday to take charge of his school near Boyne Falls.

Miss Dicie Howe, who has spent the summer at Charlevoix, has returned home.

Mrs. J. Lewis and niece, Violet, attended the Labor Day celebration at Bay Shore.

Courier rates on application.

NORWOOD.

George Hollicheck spent Sunday with his parents.

Our school started Monday with Miss Knight as teacher.

The L. A. S. cleared $20.00 at their chicken pie social August 28.

Mrs. Walter Mosher is enjoying a visit with her uncle, Ed. Nelson of Petoskey.

Mrs. Crosby and son, Howard, returned to their home in Chicago, Friday, after spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anna Miller.

Elder Kendrick will preach two sermons at Norwood, September 6, at the M. E. church, one at 11 a. m. and the other at 2:30 p. m. Every one cordially invited.

Mrs. J. M. Hill, Homer, Ga., has used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years, and says she always recommends it to her friends. "It never fails to cure our coughs and colds and prevents croup. We have five children and always give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for a cold, and they are all soon well. We would not be without it in our home." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

SOUTH CHARLEVOIX.

Plenty of rain these days in this locality.

Miss Eva Cram is expected home this week from Chicago where she has been taking a course as trained nurse.

All who failed to hear the Christian Science lecture at the Charlevoix Theatre last Sunday missed a rare opportunity.

During the severe electrical storm Saturday night Mrs. Washburn's barn which was filled with hay was struck by lightning and was burned to the ground. Total loss.

$80,000,000.00 Lost Annually by Wage Earners.

Dr. Sadler estimates that about $80,000,000 in wages is lost annually to the American people as a direct result of colds. Lost time means lost wages and doctoring is expensive. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. It will stop the cough, and heal and soothe the sore and inflamed air passages. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

NORTH BAY.

Iva North left Monday morning for her school near Brutus.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens called on Fred Van Amburg's Sunday.

The Petoskey grange meeting at Bay Shore was well attended.

William Heroin visited friends in Horton Bay and vicinity last week. School commenced Monday in District No. 1. Teacher, Miss Norton of Wildwood.

A really effective kidney and bladder medicine must first stop the progress of the disease and then cure the conditions that cause it. Use Foley Kidney Pills for all kidney and bladder troubles and urinary irregularities. They are safe and reliable. They help quickly and permanently. In the yellow package. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

"Woman's suffrage is the latest occasion for alarm to the liquor dealers of Michigan's largest city," reports the Detroit News. If the liquor dealers are alarmed at the prospect of woman's suffrage, should not all people, who are not on the side of the saloon, rejoice at the prospect and help to make it a reality?

At the recent celebration in Detroit in the great auto parade, in which over 5000 machines took part, the suffragists carried off first prize for decorated autos and first prize for decorated auto trucks. The auto was a Metzger entirely covered in pretty shades of yellow, with six little girls each representing one of the suffrage states. The car was driven by the Goddess of Liberty, and banners, streamers of yellow flowers, and fluttering doves added to the beauty of the decorations.

The Progressive party has come out squarely in favor of woman suffrage. Women delegates from California, Illinois, New York, Massachusetts and other states were seated in the body of the convention. A woman, perhaps the greatest woman in the country, Miss Jane Addams, seconded the nomination of Col. Roosevelt in a speech that was listened to with rapt attention and that aroused the greatest enthusiasm.

Col. Roosevelt, in accepting the nomination of the new party, said with regard to suffrage: "Working women have the same need to combine for protection that working men have; the ballot is as necessary for one class as for the other; we do not believe that with the two sexes there is plenty of function, but we do believe that there should be equality of right; and therefore we favor woman suffrage."

Old Matt in The Shepherd of the Hills

In his address as temporary chairman of the Progressive convention, former Senator Beveridge of Indiana announced his belief in the ballot for women in the strongest terms. He said: "Votes for women are theirs as a matter of natural right alone; votes for women should be theirs as a matter of political wisdom alone. As wage earners they should help to solve the labor problem; as property owners they should help to solve the tax problem; as wives and mothers they should help to solve all the problems that concern the home. And that means all national problems, for the nation abides at the fireside."

The Western Federation of Miners by a unanimous vote has endorsed woman suffrage.

Prof. C. F. Hodge of Clark University, one of the great nature study leaders in education, is also a strong advocate of equal suffrage.

LOAN BOOKS FREE

All School Districts Can Secure Libraries at Cost of Transportation.

School districts of this vicinity may secure the use of an excellent library of fifty well-selected books by paying the freight and cartage charges from Lansing and return. Educators throughout the country recognize that proper books of fiction, history, science and government compose the most essential equipment for the schoolroom and the state of Michigan is willing to help the school districts in this matter. Those in charge of the state library have arranged to make the splendid resources of that institution available for the people of the entire state instead of merely the residents of Lansing.

The traveling libraries, as they are called, will be sent to any school district or other organization in the state upon the filing of an application with the state librarian, Mrs. Mary C. Spencer, Lansing, Michigan and the fulfillment of the library requirements, which involves no expense, except the payment of freight and cartage charges. The libraries may be kept from three to six months then returned and a new assortment of books secured.

The libraries are made up to suit the needs of the organization securing them. Those suitable for schools are made up of books particularly adapted to young people and the fiction is of the best literature. The formation of the habit of reading the right kind of literature is the most vital part of a pupil's education and so the state makes it possible for every school to give its pupils the opportunity of forming that habit.

Suit cases at cost. Frank Chamberlain, Shea's old stand. 31st

Selecting Breeding Swine.

In selecting breeding swine attention must be given to size, quality, strength of bone, evenness of fleshing and the use of more mature boars and sows. All pigs intended for breeding purposes should be selected from well developed, mature sows. If the sows are mature animals, so much the better. These pigs should be fed on rations calculated to produce bone and muscle, not fat alone.

Skin On Fire?

Just the mild, simple wash, the well known B. B. O. Prescription for Eczema, and the itch is gone—yes the instant the first drops touch your burning skin you get relief!

Get a trial bottle—25c—today and prove for yourself how the first drops give instant relief—how your skin is cooled and soothed and absolutely protected from all hot weather irritation. We know that B. B. O. does the work no rubbing, no soap—in fact we are so sure of this that we offer a full size bottle on this guarantee: If you do not find that it takes away the itch at once it costs you not a cent.

F. C. Hayes & Co., Druggists

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Resources $250,000.00

For a safe investment there is nothing better than our 4 per cent Certificate of Deposit. For small savings let us issue you a Savings Book in our Savings Department. Interest 4 per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually.

R. P. FOLEY, President G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Job Work Solicited Up-to-date Equipment

Sound Values—Good Service—Courteous Treatment

THESE are the advantages you gain by trading with the IHC local dealer. He is a good judge of values in farm machines. He sells machines of guaranteed quality, and stands behind them to see that they make good. When he sells you an he sets up the machine, tests it, and makes sure that everything is right before he delivers it. He shows you how to use the machine, to make it last longest. In case of accident he can furnish repair parts promptly—repairs that fit. He gives you service worth far more than it costs you.

IHC Manure Spreader

Kemp 20th Century, Corn King, or Cloverleaf

IHC manure spreaders are made in both return and endless apron styles, but all aprons run alike on large rollers. Non-friction roller bearings are used wherever practical, making the machine easy on the horses. The feed is variable and positive. The machines pulverize the manure and distribute it evenly in a light or heavy coat, as may be needed. Because they distribute manure properly, IHC spreaders use less than half as much manure as fork spreading to cover the same amount of ground. They make one ton of manure go as far as two, and do better fertilizing with far less labor than the old-fashioned method.

The IHC local dealer has the style and size best suited to your needs. See him for catalogues and full information, or write

International Harvester Company of America

(Incorporated)

Grand Rapids

Mich.

IHC Service Bureau

The purpose of this Bureau is to furnish, free of charge to all, the best information obtainable on better farming. If you have any worthy questions concerning soils, crops, land drainage, irrigation, fertilizers, etc., make your inquiries specific and send them to IHC Service Bureau, Harvester Building, Chicago, U.S.A.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricul'l Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. J. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
VanPelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 133 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66; residence 265.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. H. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store, Charlevoix, Mich.
Telephone No. 255.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your
D R A Y I N G
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED
Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday Each Week

COURIER PRESS
COMMERCIAL PRINTERS
A Trial will Convince You

Farm Dairying

IV.—Suggestions For Building Stables.

By LAURA ROSE,
Demonstrator and Lecturer in Dairying
at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Canada.

(Copyright, 1911, by A. C. McClurg & Co.)
SELECT a site where the drainage will be away from the barn and out toward the front of the house. Arrange for a sheltered, sunny spot for the stock to exercise in on bright winter days.

Finish your cement floor with a wooden trowel. In finishing with a metal one the surface is made so smooth that cows are in danger of slipping and injuring themselves. One-half inch from front of cow to gutter is plenty of slope. A gutter ten or twelve inches deep and fourteen to sixteen inches wide is safer and cleaner than a shallower and sloping one. The cows step over the deep one and are not so apt to slip. If they back into it they soon step up again and learn to avoid going down.

Placing the draining basin about halfway down the stall at the side just so the cow can turn her head and reach it prevents to a great extent the soiling of the water by food, and there is no slopping of water on the floor.

Double windows are not necessary. Being too carefully housed weakens the constitution, and good air is more necessary than heat. But it is well to have the windows double paned. The temperature is more easily controlled. A strong wire screen in front of the manger keeps the cow from getting too far forward and from throwing the feed out.

Make provision for box stalls for sick cows and young stock. A manger for a box stall may be V shaped, swinging on pivots at the bottom and held shut by a button at the top. When being filled it may be pulled out into the passage and will hang that way until shut.

The platform on which the cows stand may be made a little narrower at one end of the row to accommodate the smaller cows.

Have the ceiling nine or ten feet high and closely boarded to prevent cobwebs accumulating and dust settling through from above.

Save the liquid manure by making a drain from the end of the gutter to the manure shed. The shed should have a cement floor.

Make a cement sidewalk from the barn to the house. It looks progressive, is smarter to walk on and certainly pleases the housewife.

There is but one way to determine the value of a cow when you have her, and that is to weigh and test her milk systematically. This gives proof positive of her profitability.

Keeping a daily record gives the owner and his help a personal interest in the oversight of each cow. It often results in a severe weeding out of the poor ones and better care for the remaining ones. It makes the work of herd improvement quicker and surer.

Directions for keeping the record and making the tests are given in chapter 45 of "The Babcock Milk Test."

WHY IT PAYS TO TEST COWS.
Dairy division, Ottawa.

1910.....	30	8	8324	6000	77	57
-----------	----	---	------	------	----	----

Increase: A's herd, 38%; B's herd, 53%.

CONTRASTS BETWEEN COWS IN THREE HERDS OF THE SAME
COW TESTING ASSOCIATION FOR TEN MONTHS, 1910.

Dairy division, Ottawa.

Increase: A's herd, 33%; B's herd, 55%.

CONTRASTS BETWEEN COWS IN THREE HERDS OF THE SAME COW TESTING ASSOCIATION FOR TEN MONTHS, 1910.
Dairy division, Ottawa.

Herd	Poorest Yield		Best Yield
	Lb. Milk	Lb. Fat	Lb. Milk	Lb. Fat
A	3310	134.1	6390	212.9
B	5065	243.5	9430	316.4
C	4618	200.5	10600	412.1

Poorest Cow
$45.00 Value of Milk
$150.00 Cost of Feed
$105.00 Profit
$ 75.00
Profit is 12 times greater with best cow

Calving Time.
As good parentage is of great value in the human race, so we look for and have every reason to expect cows to be better cows which have come from a long line of heavy milking ancestors. It is within the control of the breeder.

Arthur Lawson as Ole Olson of the calf to see that both her side and dam come off good milking stock. Especially must the head of the herd be a pure bred, healthy animal from a good strain of milk producing stock.

The best dairy cows are built up by raising the best heifer calves from one's own best cows. Calves from cows that have been in good condition before calving are invariably the strongest. A cow must be well fed and cared for if she is to keep up a flow of milk and at the same time nourish her unborn young. She should have a rest from milking at from six to eight weeks in order to produce a vigorous calf and do better during her next milking period. If persistent in keeping up her milk flow, feeding a little milk in the pail and toward the last, milking but on a dry day will not only cause her to become dry, but may be taken when drying up a cow in this manner to avoid the other culling.

Some think the food, feeding, milk fever. This is not to be dreaded; it is the cow is properly handled after calving. The main cause for this frequently fatal trouble is milking the cow out clean soon after calving. Only a little milk should be drawn at a time, and this should be done several times a day for the first day or two. This is as the calf would take it and is following nature's course. One of the best dairy men I know never milks a cow for the first twenty-four hours, no matter how distressed her udder, but just leaves the calf with her. If milk fever develops use the oxygen treatment.

The cow's food before she freshens should be of as succulent a nature as possible. The grain ration should be limited. Corn silage or pulped roots with bran may be given in winter, and rather short pasture in summer so as to give her the necessary exercise. For several days before the calf is expected the cow should be kept in a box stall with plenty of clean litter.

Keep a strict gestation table and look at it frequently to know when the cows are due to calve. Allow twenty days for a cow to drive her calf. In ten days to two weeks before due to calve her udder should commence to fill out. Give her exercise. Her hind legs in walking rub her udder better than an attendant can do and help to ward off udder troubles. A large, full udder may naturally cuke when the cow is near to freshening, but this condition need not cause alarm. Take her for a long walk, but do not let her chill after returning to the barn. If the udder is very much distressed relief may be given by drawing a little milk at intervals, but cure must be exercised in this respect.

THE NEW IDEAL STALL.

(This is one of the most sanitary of simple homemade stalls. The guides for the chain tie are placed at an angle which tightens the chain, drawing the cow nearer the manger when she lies down, bringing her forward and so keeping her clean.)

See that the bowels are in good condition. If not, give a ration of succulent, laxative food. Frequent warm mashies are helpful. In extreme cases a dose of salts and ginger may be given. Many veterinarians prescribe a good dose of salts and ginger just before the cow is due to calve.

It pays to keep her in health. In order to get a good strong calf and have the cow in proper condition to give a heavy flow of milk.

Some assert that cows coming in in the fall give 25 per cent more milk during the year than those which freshen in the spring. After calving give the cow all the warm water she will drink. Do not fail in this. A nourishing, much liked drink is made by putting a quart of oatmeal in a pail, wetting it with cold water, then filling the pail half full of boiling water and stirring well. Add cold water till the pail is full and the drink comfortably warm. The cow may have as much of this as she will take for the first few days. Do not overfeed her at first. Give her bran mash and hay. Then gradually feed up to the full ration. She should be kept warm and quiet. If the stable is cold it is well to blanket her, for she must not take a chill. Some dairymen take the calf home daily from the cow, but it is the best.

LEGAL NOTICES

Order of Publication.

State of Michigan.
The probate court for the county of Charlevoix.
At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 29th day of August, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Marie Nielson, deceased, the Nelsons having filed in said court his petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of her death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition, and it is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

A true copy.
John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate.

Order of Publication.

State of Michigan. The probate court for the County of Charlevoix.
At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 29th day of August, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Hattie V. Tuttle, deceased, Hiram Brock, executor of said estate having filed in said court his petition, praying for license to sell the interest of said estate in certain real estate therein described.

It is ordered, that the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition, and that all persons interested in said estate appear before said court at said time and place, to show cause why a license to sell the interest of said estate in said real estate should not be granted.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

A true copy.
John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate.

her practice to allow it to remain with the mother for twenty-four hours. Leaving the calf with the cow allows it to get its first milk in the natural way, and the licking the cow gives it stimulates the circulation of the blood in the young calf. If the calf remains longer it is harder to teach it to drink, and the cow is apt to fret more for her baby. The calf should be where the cows can neither see nor hear the calves.

Sometimes the udder becomes badly swollen and hard. Rub thoroughly with hot water, wipe dry and rub with unspiced oil or any mild ointment. The oxygen treatment has proved very satisfactory in cases of swollen udder or garget.

Do not exercise a cow after she calves.

O YOU CITY HUNTER.
The city dude now takes his dog
And hauled dollar gun
And goes into the country
To have a lot of fun.

He could not hit a barn door
If he should shoot all day.
His dog was raised on chocolate
And don't know how to bay.

He surely looks courageous
With his gun and fine suit.
But if a cow just moored at him
He'd up a free quick suit.

He'll sit before the cook stove
And drink hard cider down.
While Farmer Brown is shootin' game
For him to take to town.

Old Brown will skin some chickens—
They're pheasants, don't you know—
He'll shoot some tame brown rabbits
You bet old Brown's not slow!

Then he will take those deer horns
That hung there twenty years.
He'll brush the cobwebs off of them
And on them fresh blood smear.

The dude will give us all a wad
And say to all "Goodbye!"
Then quick to a photographer
The mighty hunter fly.

Next day he'll get a half page puff
An illustrated lie.
He'll give the editor skinned hen
To make a phony sale.

C. M. BARNITZ.

Uniform kindness in the treatment of horses enables the driver to depend upon them in all sorts of ways that save time and lessen labor. This is especially noticeable in harnessing and unharassing. The driver accustomed to a team which has his confidence will save hours every month, which under opposite conditions would be wasted.

When you are inclined to poke fun at an Oregonian because of the long rainy season and the dreary, gloomy summers, he gets some comfort out of the fact that he is not afflicted with hizzards, 30 degrees below zero spells, cyclones and the like, and he has other bird company during the winter months besides crows, sparrows and bluejays.

For the soil depletion that is wrought on farms left by stingy landlords to careless tenants on the yearly rental system both parties to the contract and the system itself are jointly responsible. With human nature as it is a farm is bound to run downhill if it is leased year at a time, for the landlord will skin the tenant and the tenant will skin the land.

When the farmer who owns from a quarter to a half section farm has put his land free from incumbrance, has a nice fat bank account and moves to town he should be the last man in the world to put up a holder because he has to bear his fair share of the taxes that are imposed to meet the cost of the extra privileges that he enjoys. In all too many cases, however, his complaint is the longest and loudest.

It is a pretty good idea to take ten or fifteen minutes after your new insurance policy is made out to look it over carefully. A farmer we read of some time ago failed to do this and did not find out until after his barn was struck by lightning and destroyed by the fire which it set that his insurance policy forbade the installation of a feed cooker in the barn. He had violated one of its express provisions and couldn't recover a cent.

IT SOMETIMES RAINS

It is easy sailing in fair weather. With a fair income anyone can get along for the present happy-go-lucky, letting tomorrow take care of itself. But the day may come when the income stops, or sickness or death absorbs it. What then? Then there's old age. Are you smart enough to overcome that? Isn't it up to you to stop and think about the "rainy day?" Sometimes it rains, sometimes it pours. The time will come when you will need an umbrella. You can't always get in out of the wet. Right then your best umbrella will consist of a stiff upper lip and a bank account. Better start now.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Butlers A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

It's Time To Begin

Thinking about it at NEW HEATING STOVE that you promised yourself you would get during the cold weather of last winter. A little fire wouldn't come out of place once in awhile now. We have got what you want.

Wood, Hard or Soft Coal Heaters

Different Kinds at Prices that are Right

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

Dr. A. B. Spinney will be at BAKER'S INN, Charlevoix, SUNDAY, SEPT. 15 ALL DAY

Dr. A. B. Spinney of Detroit, a specialist of 53 years' experience in treating chronic diseases, will give FREE CONSULTATION.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.
I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.
I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE PILES in 30 days to stay cured and to never return.
I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by sending me mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.
Any unfortunate girl given best of care, may work out fees.
Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life!—to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.
Belting Sanitarium & Retreat, Belting, Mich., or Sayrna Sanitarium, Sayrna, Mich.

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Sales and Free-pool boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to obtain one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 20-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Men stipulated as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safely, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 167.
THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

Read the Courier ad. It means a Saving to You.

The Charlevoix Courier

Printed every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year..... $1.50
One copy, six months..... .75
One copy, three months..... .40

Advertising Rates.

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and
entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary notices, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 2 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

ONE thing made plain by the primary in Charlevoix county is that, as the years go by, the people are taking more interest in the primary and turning out better. Another thing was that a competent, faithful official need have no fear that they will be turned down, by the people, unless there is some other cause than the old one of "Pass the plums around." In this county every old official, who went before the people, received endorsement, with the exception of Judge Harris, and his defeat is attributable to part to another cause, the belief of the people that public business should be transacted at the seat of government and that the officials should be located there. This belief was again demonstrated in the race for prosecuting attorney, Mr. Fitch, although he had served only one term, being hard pressed by Mr. Lewis, who made it a point during his campaign that his home was at the county seat.

While some are inclined to regret that the proposition to bond the county for the building of good roads failed to carry at the recent election, we are inclined to believe that it is well, with the sentiment against it, that the vote demonstrated, that it was defeated. While it will set back the beginning of the good work a little while, the supervisors, at their meeting this fall, will appropriate the necessary funds and probably will submit another proposition to bond, but for a smaller amount, to the voters of the county, which there is every reason to believe will meet with their approval. Every body in Charlevoix county wants good roads and we're going to have them.

WE bet "Mac" Harris will feel like blessing the voters some cold Monday morning next winter when he avoids that cold ride to Charlevoix.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" at Charlevoix Theatre, Wednesday evening, September 11.

Surprise Party.

A very enjoyable surprise party was given Monday afternoon at the home of W. T. Driggett, for Gladys Horton by twelve of her little friends in honor of her fourth birthday. The afternoon was spent in playing games, after which dainty refreshments were served. A number of lovely presents were left in remembrance of the day.

At County Fair.

H. C. Meyer of Boyne Falls will be at the County Fair, East Jordan, next week with a full line of Overland automobiles. 301

Cheaper Flour

WE HANDLE

Occident
Superlative
Minnesota Best
Argo Producer
Iron Duke
White Rose

Call and See Us.

ARGO MILLING CO.

QUESTION OF MARKETING

(Continued from page 1)

spends its incomes—asks for certain things because she knows just what she wants from reputation or experience. The wholesaler who puts his own name or brand on a product by so doing controls that producer's market.

The consumer buys reputation. The wholesaler sells reputation, his own. The manufacturer, the producer, is unknown. So he must take the short end of the profit.

It is reputation that brings the price. Profit follows the brand. And the man that owns the brand controls the market. That is the real key to the successful marketing of fruit, for profit.

The great merchandising manufacturer puts his own brand, his own name, on his goods. He goes just as far as he can in getting as close as possible to the consumer. He tells the consumer just what his goods are, just what she will get to every package of his goods she will buy. In his factory he sees that every package contains just what he says it does.

He builds up a great demand for goods of his brand. When the wholesaler comes to him, the manufacturer names the price. He names the conditions of sale. He is the dictator. And in this way it is he that gets the long end of the marketing profit, and not the wholesaler.

The fruit grower who allows the commission man to come in and buy his fruit on the trees is an "average" manufacturer or producer.

So is the grower who ships without name or brand to the commission man in the distant city. And the grower who packs indiscriminately, carelessly, slipshod in quality and in pack, what shall we say of him?

These men are the manufacturers who must take the price that is offered them. They are under the thumb of the man who controls their market, the commission man. Their fruit is not bought because they have grown it and packed it, but because another man's reputation and care and brains are going to make it a saleable commodity.

These men lack the imagination to see beyond the commission man. They are truly producers, only, not sellers. And the big share of what ever profit their fruit may bring rightfully goes to the other man.

If the archardist is to share with more equality in the profits of his fruit, he must become a merchandiser. He must find out what the people are asking for. He must know how they want it packed. He must for instance, learn of the effect of modern living in changing the character of modern buying.

When he was a boy his mother canned great quantities of fruit that she arranged on the shelves in the cellar for winter consumption. There were apples in barrels, or bins. Potatoes were bought by the load.

She went to the grocery and bought supplies in quantities to last weeks at a time. She was what she called forehanded.

Today the woman buyer, an increasingly larger number of her every year, lives in an apartment. She telephones to the grocer for what she will need for the day. She has no cellar. She couldn't keep a barrel of apples to save her soul. She gets her canned goods from the grocer's shelves and buys her bread from the baker. In her family there are probably not more than two or three all told. Yet on these two or three she spends more in the way of buying table supplies than the average woman of a generation ago did on a family of ten.

So the fruit grower must remember that his real customers are the women. His fruit must be of the highest quality. He must see that it is tastefully and carefully packed. He must keep in mind that he and the women are the two terminals of his marketing road. The commission man and the fruit dealer are merely his messengers in getting his fruit before the women that buy it. They are the transfer delivery stations on his way.

He must let the women know who he is. He must put his brand and his name on the fruit and he must put brains and money into making that brand mean something in his customers. The fruit grower must always remember that he is selling reputation and that he must create that reputation not only with honest service, but by reaching his customers in their homes and telling them just what he is doing, how good his fruit is, where it can be bought and how to know if it is stores.

Here in Michigan we can see for ourselves how average methods work out. We will have to admit that we are, broadly speaking, just average producers. Our apples, for instance, have the finest flavor and juice. They are the best eating apples. Yet you may truthfully say that the Michigan apple is unknown as such in the consumers markets.

The commission men who buy our good fruit own our reputation. Really we haven't any reputation to speak of. Except in too many instances, where the origin of our fruit has become known and we have suffered because of our slipshod and careless packing. (To be continued.)

Wonderful electrical effects at the Charlevoix Theatre Monday night, Marie Correll's "Thelma."

$1,000 IN PRIZES

Land and Apple Show to Put Up Amount for Specimens.

There will be prizes for fruit growers to the amount of $1,000 at the second Michigan Land and Apple show, to be held in the Coliseum, Grand Rapids, November 12 to 14. These prizes are offered by the Land and Apple association in co-operation with the State Horticultural society. Prizes of goodly amounts will be offered for the best exhibits in the various classes by individual fruit growers and for attractive displays.

Perry C. Holden, the Iowa corn expert, who grew up in western Michigan has been secured as one of the speakers for the educational program to be conducted in connection with this apple show. In addition to talks by Professor Holden there will be demonstrations in box and barrel apple sorting, grading and packing. There will also be a series of illustrated lectures in which the fruit industry, general farming and road activities of western Michigan will be presented. The Michigan Agricultural College has decided to make a display of all the fruit tree pests that causes the growers trouble and to furnish information as to how to fight these pests. A musical program is to be rendered as one of the features of the great show.

FORMERLY LIVED HERE

Robert A. Linn, Well Known in Charlevoix, Dies of Heart Failure.

Mrs. Wm. Poole received a telegram last Wednesday to the effect that her brother, Robert A. Linn, had died at his home in Chicago, of heart failure. He was born in Canada, February 14, 1863, and came to Charlevoix in 1882. In 1884 he was married to Gladys Reming of this city.

Besides his wife he leaves three children, four brothers and two sisters. Mrs. Wm. Poole, James Thomas and George Linn of this city, John Linn of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. David Walker, of Elstow, Saskatchewan.

James Linn and wife of this city attended the burial, which took place at the Union Ridge cemetery Chicago, Friday.

THE CIVIC ALPHABET.

- A—Aim to make every day a cleanup day.
- B—Brush the tin can district from your city.
- C—Clean up back yards and alleys.
- D—Destroy rubbish by burning.
- E—Educate housewives to demand clean markets.
- F—Fine every club member who does not work.
- G—Give free lecture upon civic improvement.
- H—Have campaign against unsightly billboards.
- I—Interest city authorities in cleanup day.
- J—Join all forces for the anti-dirt crusade.
- K—Kill sidewalk spitting or it will kill you.
- L—Let your slogan be, "Do it for hemo, sweet hemo."
- M—Make requests of preachers for cleanup sermons.
- N—Next to godliness is cleanliness.
- O—Organize the children in civic leagues.
- P—Plant trees, and then plant trees, and plant more trees.
- Q—Question authorities about city expenditures.
- R—Remember to plan parks and playgrounds now.
- S—Study city ordinances and work for their enforcement.
- T—Try to make the school building social centers.
- U—Use every effort to arouse citizens.
- V—Venomous the opposition with good nature.
- W—Wage unceasing war upon all weeds, flies and mosquitoes.
- X—X-act obedience to city sanitary law.
- Y—Your city is you. Never forget that.
- Z—Zeal, courage and patience will make your community perfect.

Cost of Bad Roads.
You can add all your taxes together and multiply the sum by three and it will hardly pay the tax you pay because of bad roads.

LEVINSON'S Great Clearance Sale Ends Saturday, September 7

Take advantage of the bargains we are offering before it is too late. Special for this Saturday.

$6.00 and $5.00 Dresses at

$1.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

VANPELT BLOCK

Pleasantly Surprised.

Mrs. Clara Hall was surprised Tuesday evening at her home on south State street, by twenty of her relatives. The event was in honor of her seventy-sixth birthday anniversary. Her grandson, Charles Miller, who had been lost to the family for thirty years, was present, having arrived a few days before from Colorado.

Dainty refreshments were served and everyone enjoyed the occasion.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

We read that the fresh egg market in San Francisco was recently cornered for the Crocker kennels, where the eggs were fed to the dogs, valued at $100,000. Well, of all things! Thlok of throwing a No. 1 egg to pup!

An incubator factory at Homer City, Pa., burned down Aug. 10, with a loss of $150,000. They at once dispatched for new machinery, erected a temporary factory and notified their agents that they would have plenty of goods to ship in six weeks. How's that for snap?

The cars of the Trenton Street Rail way company were continually being held up by a flock of geese, led by a cross old cander, who walloped everybody that tried to stop the procession. A fine of $40 ($2 per goose) was imposed on their owner for allowing them to parade.

Of Illinois' 237,165 farms in the last census 237,097 reported chickens to the number of 20,523,850. She also has 189,411 turkeys, 225,791 geese, 201,000 ducks, 51,067 guineas, 114,281 pigeons and 410 peafowls. The value of poultry in ten years has increased over $2 per cent.

We don't know whether you have ever tried to gum it on a tough beefsteak, but if you did you can appreciate the time fiddly has to grind grain without grit. Grit and oyster shell are especially necessary for grinding, and mineral ingredients in winter, when the hen can't pick up any oo the land.

The New York state agricultural department is advertising 1,100 farms, comprising 148,190 acres, for sale or rent. During 1910 the state department received inquiries for land from 1,490 persons and sold land to the value of $623,000 to nonresidents. Much of this will be used for up to date poultry culture.

The law that regulates sex is a matter of profound and profuse consideration with certain poultry writers who seem to have no practical ideas to give readers who want practical rules to apply to work. If the heads of certain poultry editors were tapped enough hot air would be released to change midwinter to sultry summer.

An old cluck had the laugh on Mrs. Shumaker of Rose Valley, Pa. The hen stole her nest and was contented by hatching in an old sleigh under which some busy hornets had a nest. Mildly proceeded to yank Mrs. Hen off the nest to break her of sitting when a dozen hornets flew to her defense, and the lady was peppered a dozen times and some more. "Stung!"

Farms in the United States are now valued at $28,383,821,000, an increase of 118 per cent, and the only crop raised on these 6,340,120 farms that exceeds the poultry product in poultry culture, corn is soon to be outdistanced by the American hen. May her tribe increase, especially among those farmers who to the face of her billion dollar product are still blind to her importance.

L. M. Bannitz.

The grubs may be killed by smearing on a little mercurial ointment or injecting a drop or two of Irupeotine, but this is objectionable treatment, as the dead grubs decompose and continue the irritation. It is much the better plan to squeeze out the grubs and destroy them.

Sheep and Silage.

Sheep cannot eat silage in as great a proportionate quantity as can cattle, though no one seems to know why. However, they do well on it, and it saves a great deal of hay and other feed.

We have received our Fall line of

Ladies' Misses' and Children's

COATS

and have as complete a line as was ever show in Charlevoix

We Invite your Inspection of these Goods, as we feel confident that we will be able to please you, both as to

Price and Quality of Material

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

Charlevoix Theatre Monday, September 9

The Event of the Season

One Night Only

The Ever Popular Romance

Marie Correll's

T H E L M A

A Story of the Northland

All Special Scenery

Wonderful Electric Effects

SEE

THE MIDNIGHT SUN
THE BURNING VIKING
THE RAINBOW OF DEATH
THE VISION OF THE VALKYRIE

The Book is Good

The Play is Better

Order Your Seats at Once

Do It Now

PRICES SPECIAL - 25c - 35c - 50c - 75c

Our Job Department will Neatly Design and Print your Supplies

Collect Sixty Thousand Cans.

The cleanup movement in Vicksburg, Miss., was a great success. Sixty thousand tin cans were gathered up by boys of the city, and prizes were awarded. Dennis Hosley, Jr., son of Captain Dennis Hosley of the Warren County Light artillery, received a fine goat and a wagon as a first prize, having gathered 30,000 cans. The city is in a cleaner condition than it has been for many years.

We do Fine Job Printing.

C. ROSS BROWNELL

TEACHER OF

PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE

Fourteen Years Experience

Mason-Sherwood Technical

Mathews Graded Course of Studies

Class limited to Twenty

Temporary Studio 215 Clinton Street

IN CHARLEVOIX WEDNESDAYS

..FARMS NEAR CHARLEVOIX..

I have carefully listed a few choice farms near Charlevoix and I want to tell you about them. These farms are level, have good land, buildings and bearing orchards.

G. I. B. McLEAN Charlevoix and Boyne City

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Ten little flies
All in a line;
One got a swat,
Then there were Nine little flies
Grinny sedate,
Licking their chops—Swat! There were Eight little flies
Kubling some more;
Swat! Swat! Swat!
Then there were Four little flies
Colored green-blue;
Swat! (Ain't it easy?)
Then there were ..
Two little flies
Dodged the civilians;
Early next day
There were a million.

—Buffalo News.

Frank Pearson was a Charlevoix visitor Tuesday.
Mrs. M. W. Lapeer has been quite ill the past few days.
Eber Hardick of East Jordan was a caller here last week.
Miss Gertrude Heath is visiting at Boyne Falls this week.
Justice Blair of the State Supreme court, died last Thursday.
H. A. Stevens of Central Lake was a business caller Tuesday.
Hon. W. J. Pearson of Boyne Falls was in town Tuesday.
Merritt Miller left today on a brief business visit to Saginaw.
Miss Louise Judd of Saginaw is visiting friends in the city.
Robert Comolough of Petoskey was a business caller Friday.
Miss Ethel Jacobs is visiting friends at Petoskey this week.
J. E. Converse of Boyne City was a business caller here Friday.
Miss Fern Chapman is the trimmer for the Bennett Millinery.
Charles Danto left Sunday on a brief visit to Cincinnati, Ohio.
Frank Hosatt returned Tuesday from a week's visit to Chicago.
Mrs. P. L. Anderson of Petoskey visited relatives in the city Sunday.
Mrs. A. M. Burdick visited in East Jordan the latter part of the week.
George W. Kent and wife of Boyne City were in the city Thursday.
Mrs. M. A. Babcock entertained Mrs. Severy of Petoskey last Friday.
Irwin P. Levy of Cincinnati is making a visit with friends in the city.

Lee J. Scroggie of Saginaw spent Sunday in the city with his parents.
John Palmer of the Soo spent Tuesday here as the guest of Mason Rose.
Dr. A. M. Wilkinson was in East Jordan Friday on professional business.
Mrs. F. A. Cook of Grand Rapids visited with Mrs. George Weaver Friday.
Mrs. Archie Miller of Detroit is visiting with Thomas Taylor and family.
Minor Vandermade of Leland, has been spending the past few days in the city.
Harry Hudson and wife of Mt. Pleasant are visiting relatives in the city.
Mrs. F. H. Clark and Miss Phila Wood left yesterday on a visit to Chicago.
Miss Mary Dougherty purchased two store buildings in Boyne City last week.
George Myers and wife of Traverse City are visiting relatives here this week.
The annual plowing match of Marion Center grange will be held October 17.
Miss A. Rex of Chicago is visiting at the home of C. D. McLaughlin and family.
Julius B. Kirby of Saginaw will preside over the Bull Moose state convention.
Ed. E. Parmelee arrives from San Diego, California, this week to visit relatives.
Dr. E. R. Herman of Illinois is visiting in the city with his brother, B. A. Herman.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor of Boyne City visited with R. M. Taylor and family Sunday.
R. L. Lewis has moved his law office into the VanPelt block, over Levinson's store.
Mrs. McFarland of Highland is visiting at the home of her brother, E. R. VanLeuven.
The Bennett Millinery opened Tuesday and is now prepared to receive the public.
Mrs. M. A. Babcock went to Norwood today where she will stay for an indefinite time.
The young baby of Mr. and Mrs. Amos O'Neil died Saturday night after a short illness.
Mrs. Harry D. Lake of Detroit, is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. T. Kirkpatrick.
Leon F. Brower and family are now located in the Levinson cottage on Dixon Avenue.
Mrs. M. A. Phillips left Monday for Grand Lodge, called by the serious illness of her sister.
Mrs. Peter Schneider of Cross Village visited with Will Scroggie, Jr. and family last week.
Mrs. Porter of Petoskey, visited with Stanley Wilder and family the latter part of the week.
N. Liskum and wife of East Jordan were the guests of Charlevoix friends the first of the week.
R. A. Emrey and wife left Monday for South Haven. Mr. Emrey is a delegate to the G. L. K. of P.
Mrs. Ella Fox of Grand Rapids is making a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Faulkner.
Charles Miller of Florence, Colorado, is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Thomas Taylor.
Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Shephard have gone to Cleveland to spend the winter with relatives and friends.
Frank A. Hull has purchased the north side property of John A. Lynn and is moving this week.
Miss Lulu Jackson returned to Saginaw the latter part of the week, after a short visit with friends.
Supt. I. M. DeVoe and wife have returned from Mt. Pleasant, where they spent the summer months.
Mrs. J. H. Tryon, Mrs. M. D. Ryan and Mrs. W. H. Griffin of Boyne City were callers here last week.

F. A. Butler attended a meeting of the Rural Mail Carriers, which was held at Mancelona Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jiler Cheney of Detroit, visited with Mrs. Laucraux and daughter Edith last Friday.

People who have dishes belonging to the Relief Corps are requested to return them to Mrs. Plinn.

Dr. and Mrs. Williamson of Saginaw visited with Dr. Armstrong and family a few days last week.

Mrs. Ida M. Stedley of Grand Rapids is making a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Smith.

Hon. Patrick H. Kelley has been chosen as temporary chairman of the Republican state convention.

Mrs. Olaf Nordrum, son Ibsen and Mrs. E. Nordrum left Saturday for a two weeks visit at Ladington.

Miss Helen Fanning left today for Ionia, after spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. Arthur Bergeon.

H. F. McMillan of East Jordan, Republican candidate for representative, was in the city Tuesday.

Miss Irene Harsha has just returned from Buffalo, where she took an examination for teachers.

Miss Lillian Flanders left Saturday for Boyne Falls where she will teach in one of the district schools.

R. W. Kane left this morning for Saginaw where he will attend a meeting of the State Bar Association.

James Linn and wife made a brief visit to Chicago last week, called by the death of his brother, Robert A. Linn.

Miss Cecelia Black left Saturday for Petoskey, where she will attend the Petoskey Normal and Business College.

George Nordrum left Saturday for his home in Milwaukee, after visiting at the home of his uncle, Naylor Nordrum.

Secretary Wilson of the Pomona grange of Boyne City, was in the city the latter part of the week on business.

James McCrorey of Grand Rapids arrived here the latter part of the week to make a short visit with relatives.

W. R. Hampton is attending the annual state convention of the Knights of Pythias at South Haven this week.

Miss Ruth Mitchell returned yesterday from an extended visit at various Ohio and southern Michigan points.

George Cronter arrived home from Buffalo the first of the week. He made the trip in his new Hudson machine.

Mrs. William Scroggie and grand, son, Valdemar went to Boyne City today where they will attend a house party.

Miss Dorothy Iddings left the latter part of the week for New Jersey, where she will teach the coming year.

Rev. J. N. Dingle of the Garfield avenue church, Chicago, Ill., will preach at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Fred R. Barney and family of Traverse City spent Sunday and Monday at the home of his brother, Dr. W. R. Barney.

Mrs. C. S. Garberson and children returned to their home in Cadillac Monday after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Will Nowland.

Hubert Paddock arrived home Friday from Annapolis for a month's furlough, which he will spend with his parents.

Thomas Shapton and family left Sunday night for their new home at Ottawa, Ohio, Miss Lila being very much improved.

Dr. and Mrs. Rhodes and grand, daughter, Miss Dabney Turrell, of St. Louis, Missouri, visited at the Reeves cottage last week.

Phillip Nahpam, an Indian, of this city died Saturday night while at the campmeeting. The funeral services took place Monday.

Tom Miller and family returned to their home in Bay City Monday, after occupying the D. G. Tillotson cottage the past two months.

Midshipman H. P. Parmelee arrived from Annapolis this week to visit relatives. He has a national reputation as a tennis player.

At the primary contest between Cook and Snellen for the Socialist nomination for sheriff, Cook received 72 and Snellen 31 votes.

Isaac Levinson left Sunday for Asheville, N. C., after spending the summer months with his mother, Mrs. Charles Danto and family.

Linn's Parmelee and family left the latter part of the week for their home in Flint, after visiting relatives here the past two months.

S. A. Correll of Melrose was in the city Tuesday looking over the office of Judge of Probate, which he expects to occupy after January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pitcher and child returned Saturday to their home at Saginaw after a few days' visit at the home of Dr. Armstrong.

Miss Carrie Channer and Miss Alice King returned to their home in Manistee Monday, after a week's visit at the home of Mrs. George Taylor.

Miss Nita Mayne left yesterday for Terre Haute, Indiana, where she will take a position as teacher of expression and dramatic art in the schools.

Mrs. H. E. Werth and son Gordon have returned to their home in Chicago after a week's visit with Mrs. Orton VanDusen and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bret left Friday for their home in Chicago, after a short visit with relatives. Mrs. Bret was formerly Izara K. McCabe of this city.

Mrs. Adam Goldman and son, Charles, left Saturday for their home at St. Louis, Missouri, after spending the summer at the Levinson cottage.

Professor L. Marx, violinist of the Bay View Summer University, and his wife and mother were Sunday guests at the home of Dr. Armstrong and family.

Mrs. W. J. Kling and sons, Arthur and Edgar, of Grand Rapids, sister and nephews of Adolph Young, were guests of Myrtle Young and son, Earl, Sunday.

The Relief Corps will meet Thursday, September 12, at the Odd Fellows hall. All members are requested to be present as the inspectors will be at the meeting.

Guy Dargan and wife were in the city the latter part of the week calling on old friends. They left Saturday for Traverse City, where Guy will teach physical culture in the public schools.

Mrs. H. P. Parmelee returns this week from a few weeks' visit in Canada. While there she attended a reunion of school mates, fifteen in number, this being their first meeting in sixty-two years.

Mrs. John Burns entertained about fifteen ladies of the flat, at a pot-luck supper Friday afternoon. It was given for Mrs. Taggart that she might become better acquainted with the ladies of the church.

The board of county canvassers found one Progressive vote was cast in the county for the following: Representative, W. J. Lewis; clerk, Richard Lewis; treasurer, John Burns; prosecuting attorney, Rolfe Lewis.

The Boyne City Times celebrated its first birthday last week. Editor W. H. Griffin has succeeded in making a bright, newsy paper and here's hoping that the Times will continue to celebrate birthdays with as lusty a growth from year to year as it has the first.

Don't miss seeing and hearing Ole Olson at Charlevoix Theatre Saturday night.

Lighting's Work.
During the severe storm Saturday night lightning struck the barn belonging to N. R. Washburn, in South Charlevoix, which was filled with about thirty-five tons of hay, causing a total loss.

Wanted.
Apples and potatoes at Wilbur's dock. Market price. Godhold & Wilbur. 34-43 pd.

Marie Corelli's famous romance "Thelma," Charlevoix Theatre Monday evening, September 9.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN
Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15¢ first insertion.

LOST—Scent of child's shoes. Found by child. Return to Thelma Taylor. 34-43 pd.

WANTED—A girl to do housework. No washing. 123 1/2 mile street. 33-31

FOR SALE—International hay press, almost new. Inquire of Elmer Seymour. R. F. D. No. 1. 33-32

FOR SALE—Nine cows, three will be fresh in about two weeks, balance fresh early in winter. Phone 934-R. William Wilbers. 33-32 pd

LOST—Between Thomas Taylor's and Clara Hull's a stick-pin set with sapphires and diamonds. Return to Thomas Taylor's. Reward given. 34-43 pd

FOR SALE—Forty acre farm, next to Walter's fruit farm, one mile from city, on north side. Also four acres next to golf grounds. Ed Norton. Phone 20. 34-4

FARM FOR SALE—One hundred and sixty acre farm three and one-half miles southwest of Bay Shore. Good land, fair house, good barn, windmill, 20 acres cleared. Sylvester Miller, Bay Shore, Mich. 34-1

FOR SALE—New 500 lb. Miller 24 foot carrier, capacity 2 tons hourly. R. Wilkinson. 34-43

LADY WANTED
To introduce our very complete Fall line of beautiful waists, with latest fancy waists, silks, handkerchiefs, petticoats, etc. Up-to-date N. Y. City Patterns. Finest line on the market. Dealing direct with the mills you will find our prices low. Others can make $1000 to $2000 weekly. You can also, samples and full instructions packed in neat sample case, shipped express prepaid. No money required. Exclusive territory. Write for particulars. Be first to apply. Standard Dress Goods Company, Dept. 308, Binghamton, N. Y.

CRANE'S

W. B. NUFORM
Corsets typify the newest mode, in graceful, natural lines. Their slender length with nipped-in waistline, gracefully modeled bust and subdued hips gives seductive lines to the figure, only rivaled by the most costly French corsets. Yet W. B. Nuform Corsets are sold at popular prices.

W. B. Nuform boning is firmly pliable, shape-retaining and will not rust.

A variety of Nuform styles in all sizes provides for the individual preference of every woman.

Price $1.00

Other Grades at

$1.25 $1.50 $2 $3 $5

Charlevoix Theatre Saturday, September 7

ARTHUR LAWSON

Ben Hendrick's Comedy Success

OLE OLSON

See Ole's Funny Fishing Scene
The Rescue of Phyllis
The Laughing Scene of Ole and Yenise.

Hear The Original Northland Songs
Yodels and Lullabys

The Greatest Swedish-American Play of the Day

Seats Now on Sale

Charlevoix County Fair

If you are going to see Fred Dehler and his Acrobats make two nights daily at the Charlevoix County Fair, study the following Special Through Train service Petoskey to East Jordan and return P. M. R. R. Bellaire E. J. A. S. R. R.

September 11-12-13

Bay View	8:30 a. m.	Round trip	$1.50
Petoskey	8:35 a. m.	Round trip	1.50
Bay Shore	8:48 a. m.	Round trip	1.50
Charlevoix	9:00 a. m.	Round trip	1.50
Belvedere	9:08 a. m.	Round trip	1.50
Phelps	9:22 a. m.	Round trip	1.10
Ellsworth	9:31 a. m.	Round trip	.75
Central Lake	9:46 a. m.	Round trip	.75
Bellaire	10:04 a. m.	Round trip	.50

Arrive Fair Grounds, East Jordan, 8:50 a. m.
Arrive Depot, East Jordan, 11:00 a. m.
Returning, leave East Jordan Depot 6:30 p. m. Fair Grounds, 6:40 p. m. Arriving Petoskey 9:30 p. m., Bay View 9:40 p. m.
Passengers from Harbor Springs and other Traverse Bay points take Saturday trains or boats to connect with above.
The Str. Hum will leave Charlevoix daily at 8:40 a. m. & 12:30 p. m. connecting with P. M. trains going and returning. Round trip, 30¢.

Take a Stroll

Down Bridge Street and Look
Into my Window. It has a Story to tell you which Means Dollars Saved.

C. R. BELLINGER
Pioneer Jeweler

CLEAR LAND

WITH DU PONT Red Cross
Dynamite

The upper view shows how groups of big stumps are blasted out clean at one time, with all dirt off the rocks and stumps shattered into kindling wood. At the same time the subsoil is thoroughly broken up, creating a fine home for the new crop. Lower view shows a celery crop worth $500 per acre ten months after stumps were blasted out.

To learn how progressive farmers are using dynamite for removing stumps and boulders, planting and cultivating fruit trees, regenerating barren soil, ditching, draining, excavating, and road-making.

Ask for Booklet

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

At Charlevoix Theater, Sunday, September 1, 1912.

BY FRANK H. LEONARD, C. S. B.

Member of the Christian Science Board of Lecturership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass.

Following is the introduction by A. J. Fisher:

Fellow Citizens: It is a pleasure to be called upon to introduce to you the speaker of the afternoon, because I am sure we are all here for some purpose. We have not come for amusement nor entertainment, but because we want to learn more about Christian Science.

During the past few years we have seen the teaching of Mrs. Eddy extend over the entire world. We have seen beautiful buildings erected where meetings are held twice a week. We have seen publications established which at once took the first rank. All this we have seen accomplished by the Christian Scientists, quietly, unobtrusively, without seemingly making any effort. We know by our daily intercourse with Scientists that they stand for everything that is good, that is pure, that will uplift the standard of manhood and womanhood, and that the principles which they teach are part of their everyday life. Such being the case, we want to learn more of Christian Science, and it is my pleasure to introduce to you, Frank H. Leonard, C. S. B., of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, Massachusetts, who three years ago in this hall gave the most instructive lecture on Christian Science ever heard in the city.

Three years ago Shakespeare wrote, "There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so." The world has looked upon this as indicating that a bad thing may be good to one who thinks it good. I am convinced, however, that even unknown to himself, Shakespeare was having a glimpse of the great Truth which even then was terminating in consciousness only waiting for recognition that it might begin its great work of salvation in the world, namely the knowledge that the source or all things is Mind. While he did not know the distinction between divine Mind and mortal mind, Shakespeare did realize the reason why "There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so." It is to be found in the fact that Mind is the only thinker and creates thoughts; and all things whatsoever they may be called are but thoughts externalized or manifested. The mortal or carnal mind conception of all things is false and imperfect and it is because of this we seem to be surrounded on all sides with evil, impurity and corruption, death and decay, and we can rise out of and above this seeming turmoil and disaster only by turning away from the "feeling and false" to the "enduring and true" which abide in the "Mind which was also in Christ Jesus" to have appeared to us as obediently search for that same "Mind" unto the full recognition of the fact that the Mind in Christ is God and therefore God is Mind, the thinker or creator of all things which really are.

In St. John we read, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God," and in Genesis we read, And God said, Let us make the earth and the fulness thereof, and it was so. Let us make man, male and female, in our image, after our likeness, and it was so. And the thought of that divine perfect Mind which God is created a man and universe perfect to qualify even as the Creator Himself is perfect; for we may rest assured our Master never gave a command unto man beyond his ability to obey, and he said, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect;" and when he gave that command for your guidance and mine he was turning us directly in the realization that it is right thinking which manifests good. Christian Science has come into the world apparently teaching a new something while really it is simply emphasizing the fact that the Word is God, is infinite and is good.

We may safely and certainly base all the laws "the flesh is heir to" on the human inability to discern "the signs of the times."

We read of the wonderful happenings of the times of Jesus, which might be possible now and then accept the universal belief that the time for miracles has gone by. To say the time has gone by for the power of the Word to be manifested is literally "tinking the name of the Lord in vain" for he said, "Lo, I am with you alway."

Webster defines a miracle as "anything wonderful." What Jesus did was in direct opposition to what we term natural law; but instead of our accepting and clinging, as we have, to so-called natural law as the real law, we should recognize that no law is natural or normal save that which manifests in all ways and on all occasions good or God. What Jesus did was not supernatural from the basis of real or God naturalness but in full accord with all the premises to the Bible as to the redemptive accomplishment of acceptance of his work as the direct manifestation of the omnipresent power of the Word.

The realization of the infinite power of the Word brings to us absolute confidence that when we speak the Word of God, it is always with authority and power; and that the besetting sin of the sons of men is their lethargic attitude of unillumined indifference toward anything which seeks to turn them from this negative attitude toward the "things of God" unto the mental alertness which reveals "the deep things of God" and literally brings God's kingdom "in earth, as it is in heaven."

We do not need to pray to God to take sin from us and give us good; for God is good and we already have Him. We need to pray that we may be delivered from the belief that God ever sent evil; from the belief that the perfect can ever become imperfect and the eternal, temporal.

Intercessory appeal to God is less than prayer if it implies doubt of the changeless perfection of the creation of the "One altogether lovely" who is the same "yesterday, and today and for ever."

Right knowledge of the changeless God is manifested in the refusal to accept the belief that the good God made a bad world, that the mortal finite being which Job characterized as a poor, miserable "worm."

Knowledge of the changeless God starts one to investigating all lines of teaching which imply anything contrary thereto and reveals that sole reliance on the vicious atonement to work out the plan of salvation is simply mental unwillingness to "search the Scriptures."

The Bible demands of us that we shall "work out" our "own salvation" and this demand indicates that no one else can work it out for us. We can be helped and aided. Our feet may be planted in the right place and our faces turned in the right direction; but salvation is individual and the work is individual, and we all have the work to do ourselves because it is only individual right thinking which brings individual salvation or the "Kingdom of heaven within."

From the human standpoint, it seems as though evil is the dominant factor in all things. It seems as though there is no direction for us to turn where we do not find ourselves face to face with evil. Now, let us change our thought about things and strive to realize the real or Godlike things; to realize the allness of God and to realize the infinite power of the Word.

Then no matter in which direction we turn, we find ourselves face to face, not with evil, but with God. The mission of Christian Science in the world is to establish right thinking about God, man, and the universe; about Life, Truth, and Love.

Jesus said "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" telling us literally in this statement that Truth is the "resurrection and the life" for he also said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth in me shall never die."

Humanity's seeking for truth has a million ideas as to what constitutes Truth and none of them are correct. From the human standpoint Truth seems the most narrow, arrogant, bigoted, unbending, unchanging, and unyielding thing there is in nature. "We may have all the differing opinions relative to Truth we chose, but sooner or later we will have to come to Truth's knowledge as to what Truth is, which eliminates all personal or human sense of it. When we are freed from our false sense of Truth we come to that realization of it which is "our bread . . . from heaven," the realization which enabled the Master to heal the sick, forgive sin, and raise the dead.

Humanity protests when told that sin and sickness are synonymous when both are considered in the light of breaches of the law of God, because sickness has always seemed involuntary while sin has seemed voluntary. Christian Science preaches no need of sin, in its attitude toward sin, or an infringement of God's law for, when Jesus healed the one who was sick of the palsy, He said, "Whether it is easier to say, 'Thy sins be forgiven thee,' or to say, 'Arise, and take up thy bed, and walk?'"

Jesus knew that all the one sick of the palsy would be to know was how to think aright about God and His law and he would be freed from his bondage to sin, alias sickness.

We need in this connection, however, to know that sickness is not always the manifestation of wilful sin, but that it is the result of failure to see the necessity for constant growth in grace or knowledge of God into the coming of the perfect realization of the unity existing between God and man as expressed by Jesus the Christ when he said, "I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one."

What is sin? Consciously stated it is any form of voluntary disobedience to the law of God, and when we infringe that law when we manifest anything not in absolute accord with the law of perfection, which the Master indicated when he said, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect" we are sinning against God. Christian Science in its healing ministry in this world is not simply handling effects, but is disclosing real cause and its suppositional opposite or mortal sense, thus making evident the unparadise sin, whose wages is always death as being the belief in a creator or cause and a creation or effect as other than spiritual and perfect.

What sort of a conception of God can one have who believes in a dual natured God? Our Bible teaches in its every page that God is omnipotent, omniscient, and omnipresent. He cannot be omnipresently both good and evil for one is the essence of the other; neither, for the same reason can He omnisciently think both life and death nor omnipotently decree these negations; and yet the acceptance of them by mortals as being both real and present is literally a manifesting of belief in just this impossible condition.

In Deuteronomy we read "The Lord our God is one Lord;" therefore the Lord our creator is one-creator and He created all things perfect and good and he created man in the image of the creator, for cause and effect must agree, we know, that all real things are omnisciently, omnisciently, and omnipresently good just because God is good.

When Jesus was accused by the Pharisees of casting out devils by the power of Beelzebub he reminded them that a "house divided against itself shall not stand." When we apply this same logic to the creation of God we readily see if He created good and evil, right and wrong, life and death, He is a house divided against itself and cannot stand.

We must reason ourselves to reasoning out the things of Spirit and cease believing they are hidden from us until after the change which we call death. The things of Spirit are eternal and it is as much eternally now as it ever will be, so now is the time when we are to worship God "in spirit and in truth" and cease giving willing ear to the cry of carnal mind which is at war with Spirit and is death unto any possible knowledge of God.

But, carnal or mortal mind declares, evil is real and all around us; and how can you declare that good alone is real and what proof have you to offer in support of such a statement? Jesus the Christ healed the sick, cleansed the leper, cast out sin, and raised the dead and he said, speaking of his mission on earth, "I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." Surely all will agree that Jesus the Christ was fulfilling the law of God in all that he did.

But it may be argued, these things Jesus did and he said, "I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." It proves nothing other than that we have failed to realize that the Mind "which was also in Christ Jesus," is also in us. Not until we have this "Mind" we can resolve "things into thoughts" as Mrs. Eddy has written in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 123, 1 and not until we do this as the Master did, shall we be able to accomplish the work which he accomplished which he did, but the day cometh when we shall do them all for He said "Verily, I say unto you, Whosoever ye shall ask the Father in my name he will give it unto you."

The question might be put here, if we ask for something we ought not to have and ask in His name will we receive it? When we really ask in His name, it will be with the same "Mind" which He has and that "Mind" neither thinks nor knows anything less than good and therefore at that time, no sense of wrong will remain and of a truth we shall "know him as he is."

Temptation to do evil is no sin. It is sin to yield to the temptation. Jesus was tempted in all ways as we are, but was without sin. He recognized it to be nothing more, or less than a suggestion to think wrong about God and, refusing to yield thereto he kept his thought pure and his freedom and dominion over all things was the consequent result. His knowledge that right thinking means right living makes us know we do not need to apply material remedies when one is in pain but do need to help him think right, thus applying the cleansing influence of Truth the outward manifestation of which is harmony in its highest sense.

Christian healing is accomplished, through the ministry of Christian Science as we realize the allness of divine Mind and the nothingness of what is termed matter. We do not claim to be healers, but we do claim to be in matter for if we had we would manifest Spirit alone, but we have risen above the belief that it is anything other than a belief.

What is it that sees, hears, feels, tastes, smells? Is it the eye that sees? Is it the hand that feels? Is it the ear that hears? When we stop to think about it, we know there is not a physical thing to do anything either seeing, hearing, feeling, tasting, or smelling. It is all mind. Therefore, whether we call the thing matter or call it a feeling, it is just a mental impression to us that all matter is in matter for if we had we would manifest Spirit alone, but we have risen above the belief that it is anything other than a belief.

That which looks attractive to one is repulsive to another. Harmony to one is discord to another. Pleasure to one is pain to another. We readily comprehend when we consider these simple illustrations what Christian Science means by the allness of Mind and the nothingness of matter. The Bible teaches "be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind" and this means we are to be changed in substance by beginning with Mind.

Jesus the Christ transcended all material belief with the Word of God and yet he said, "I can of mine own self do nothing;" indicating it was the "Mind" in him, the Father, God, which did the works.

It is very easy to go to God when we are in distress. If we will only go aright and not make the endeavor a fight and try to tell Him what to do. It must not be my way but His way, not my will but His will. "My way" and "my will" are the barriers which mortals have thrown up between things we have to cast aside and rise above, for they constitute the veil which was rent asunder when the Master in his humility and meekness seemed to yield temporarily to the hatred of carnal nature for good, that he might in humility teach him out from the shadow and the tomb through the realization of the spiritual Mind which is "life and peace" unto the absolute overcoming of belief in sin, disease, and death and the establishment in consciousness of eternal Life, Truth, and Love.

Paul wrote "There is no respect of persons with God," which means that the right to go to God with our every problem is unimpaired, belonging to no special period nor to any select number. Each one of us has the same right to demand of Truth the fulfillment of its very promise as had the humble Nazarene, and when we ask aright, each will find the word clothed with authority and see God's glory manifested in his individual experience through the overcoming of evil in all its varied claims of power and law.

In order that we may know the "only true God, and Jesus Christ," which knowing is "life eternal," we have to reverse evil and we find the word "evil" itself bears out this statement, for if we spell "evil" backwards, we find it spells "live."

Christian Science teaches that to reverse evil means to stop being afraid and when we think of it, we know there is no need in the world so great as the need of the knowledge of that "perfect love" which casts out fear. Mortals manifest fear from the vilest babe unto the oldest man, for they all worry, and worry is but another name for fear. It is just as unlawful, according to the law of God to be afraid of a pain or of evil in that form, as it is to be afraid of anything from a moral standpoint. We ought to be fearful when we come face to face with problems which would suggest the acceptance of an immoral belief or thought. We ought to be just as fearful in the right way when suggestion comes to us of doing other kind of an evil or ungodly thought which calls itself pain.

But some one who is suffering may say, "I guess if you felt as I do you would say you had a pain." So long as any one feels that way about it, he will continue to have pain unto the ultimate of that wrong thinking, for the Bible tells us "as man thinketh in his heart, so is he" and "The thing which I greatly feared is come upon me."

Mortals have the seeming ability to think wrong and have the wrong manifestation, or to think right and have the right manifestation. If one is determined to hold unto the statement that he has a pain and knows it, there is only one thing to do, and that is to let him have it. It is entirely a matter concerning himself and no Christian Scientist will interfere to dispel it unless asked to do so.

I had nothing but pain for years and was absolutely convinced that pain was the most real of all things in my entire experience, and as long as I felt that way I continued to have pain. Then Christian Science came to me, and in its teaching and treatment brought to me the consciousness that I had been thinking wrong and was believing in the wrong thing—I had not been rightly educated about the power and the infinity of the law of God, and when the Christian Science practitioner said the pain I had been suffering from was simply the outward manifestation of wrong thought and belief about God, I began to change my belief; and when I thoroughly changed my belief I did not have the pain and for the first time of which I am conscious, was well.

Now, really, this presents just one question: If to believe in the reality of pain gives it to you and keeps it with you, and to know the unreality and falsity of the belief takes the pain away, is there any one in the world that would not be willing to have the knowledge of reality, or God, which gives him peace and strength and joy and happiness?

There are two kinds of fear spoken of in the Bible, the fear of the Lord, which is the beginning of wisdom, and the fear of man, which is the beginning of evil; and the fear that there is a power apart from God. One is terror, the other is reassurance; and when we have the "fear of the Lord" which is reassurance and the beginning of wisdom, we realize that dominion and not slavery is our portion. What are we called upon to do in order that this realization of Truth—the knowledge of right thinking that means right consciousness? We must lay self-love, self-will, self-justification, self-complacency, self-exaltation, ambition and everything akin thereto on the altar of self-abnegation for Christ's sake.

Mortal mind will cry in answer to this demand, "If I do that I shall literally lay myself upon the altar." Yes, that is true. But in reality mortal mind and body constitutes the sum total of inharmonious, sickness, unhappiness, and discord or in other words the shackles and fetters that have held mortals in bondage to this wrong belief relative to God; and until in the realization of Christian Science one willingly lays all on the altar for Christ's sake he never knows what relief, what freedom, what joy, what happiness there is for man in thinking right and laying aside everything that is ungodly, unholy, and unrighteous.

The healing work of Christian Science is the direct outgrowth of right thinking. Our Master healed those who came to him sick and in all forms of distress instantly because he knew through actual demonstration, there is no such thing as a power outside of or apart from God.

The Christian Scientists have never claimed that, with their present day apprehension, they have reached the place where they have overcome the universal belief in sin, disease, death, and kindred evil; in fact, Mrs. Eddy, in her book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," very plainly expresses the thought which she had relative to this when she writes (p. 348:1)

"I have never supposed the world would immediately witness the full fruitage of Christian Science, or that I should be relieved for an indefinite time; but I do not say, that, as a result of teaching Christian Science, ethics and temperance have been restored, nor longevity increased. If such are the present fruits, what will be the harvest when this Science is more generally understood?"

Christian Scientists, with their present day apprehension of the infinite power of the Word of God, are finding themselves daily face to face with the statement that they must grow in grace, and they will never stop growing in grace until they have become literally to the fulness, the liberty and the stature of the fulness of Christ.

It has been said of Christian Scientists that if ever any one came

SPECIAL MERIT SCHOOL SHOES

Shoes that stand the racket—that stand the kicking and scuffling, or rough play—that are good looking, tough and durable, yet not too heavy or clumsy. Have your boys and girls wear

Special Merit School Shoes and you will cut down shoe expenses at least one-half. These shoes, like all Mayer Shoes, are made of carefully selected leather, and are not substituted or alighted in any part. They have double leather toes, tough flexible soles and are easy on the feet. They wear like iron. In every point they are the best made, and of the best material, which accounts for their remarkable wearing qualities. For boys and girls, no shoe equals "Special Merit" School Shoes. Call in and let us explain how Mayer Special Merit School Shoes will reduce your shoe bills.

A. E. MASON
Cash Grocer & Shoe Man

into their homes who was sick and who was not a Christian Scientist they would lock the doors and windows and lose the key to prevent them from having a physician if they wanted one. I want to read from the Christian Science text-book (page 417) what the leader of the Christian Science movement had to say on this point:

"If patients fail to experience the healing power of Christian Science and think they can be benefited by certain ordinary physical methods of medical treatment, then the Mind-physician should give up such cases and leave incalculable free to resort to whatever other systems they fancy will afford relief."

That is common sense, and common sense and Christian Science are one and the same thing when it comes to a consideration of how to treat disease, and knowing salvation to be an individual work. The Christian Scientists take this attitude because the Bible teaches us that man may plant and man may water, but it is "God that giveth the increase." The increase is God's business, and it is not in our province to endeavor to interfere in any way. All must follow the line, in their striving for salvation, that seems right to them until they come to the realization that it is not the right way; and the blessed promise is held out to us that eventually we shall all come to the right way—for the Bible teaches that God Himself said, "They shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them."

We must gain a spiritual viewpoint from which to grasp the spiritual allness of Christ's teachings. We cannot grasp what he taught in this world from a materialistic viewpoint. It is utterly impossible, because either materiality with all of its misconception or spirituality with all of its perfection must be true; and the acceptance and knowledge of the one means the annihilation and obliteration of the other. We must rise to the spiritual standpoint of Christ in order that we may realize the purity and uplifting which come to one when he gives up looking at the Christ teaching from a materialistic standpoint.

The Scribes and Pharisees failed to grasp the truth of the Master's teachings because their whole endeavor was from the basis of intellectual discernment and discussion, and the world has followed in their footsteps ever since and striving to understand his teachings from this viewpoint constitutes an endeavor to grasp an endeavor to know the truth which he taught.

Christ knew they were striving to harmonize Spirit with matter, the real with the unreal, to prove to themselves the eternity of matter and the temporality of Spirit. And he said, "I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes."

The world at large has had great misapprehension as to the position accorded to Mrs. Eddy by the Christian Scientists. They have never looked upon her as a Creator but simply as a Revelator, who through consecration, self-abnegation and profound spiritual searching of the Scriptures, discerned the great Truth of the life and with Christ in God which she transcribed in the Christian Science text-

Robert O'Neill FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF
Sweet Peas

Telephone Orders to No.
283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," so simply that any one who is willing to study may comprehend and know the "Truth" which makes man free.

Newton did not create anything when he gave to the world the law of gravitation. He simply dispelled its ignorance relative to something that had always existed.

Fulton did not create anything when he revealed the power of steam to the world. He simply eliminated its ignorance relative to the way in which it might be used.

Morse in giving us the wireless, Graham and Bell in giving us the telephone gave us nothing new. They simply eliminated ignorance relative to facts, principles, and law that had always been.

Mrs. Eddy found the world steeped in ignorance of the spiritual fact in ignorance of the fact that she has eliminated this ignorance to those who have studied the Christian Science text-book she is the avenue through which God's word is become practical as a "very present help to trouble," and is the revelator of right thinking based on the fact that God is Mind, which is salvation or the kingdom of God come unto us.

Christian Science is not Mrs. Eddy's secrets. It is Christ's science or Christ's eternal continuity, presence, and activity manifested in works, as well as words, teaching us that only as we intelligently know and have righteous faith in him and prove it by demonstration, have we become no little children accepting the kingdom of heaven which is "within."

We have scant record of what Jesus the Christ said while on earth, but the new testament is filled with records of what he did and is working out our salvation. It is just as (Continued on page 7)

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

(Continued from page 6)

essential that we do the works in obedience to his command as it is that we obey his words; for he said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do, shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do, because I go unto my Father." and no one may say he did not mean that his statement should be taken literally.

The arm of the Lord is not shortened unto this generation. The Word of God has not disappeared from the face of the earth. The law of God has not ceased to be law, nor has the will of God ceased to bring out the lawful sequence of God. Christ, man and the universe, all co-existent and all in agreement as cause and effect, one and inseparable all spiritual and eternal, manifesting Life and Truth and Love.

We really sum up all the teachings of Christian Science when we bring out the right knowledge of Love. It is Love that healed the sick through Jesus of Nazareth. It is Love that healed the sick through his disciples. It is Love that healed the sick through patriarch and prophet. It is Love that was manifested to this world through the Leader of the Christian Science movement, Mrs. Eddy. It is Love that is the redeemer of promise. It is Love that comes into our thought, driving out hate, malice, jealousy, envy, striving, contention, and mad ambition.

It is Love that prepared a table before us in the presence of our enemies, teaching us our enemies are not the brethren but the wrong thoughts we have and cling to.

It is Love that establishes in earth His Kingdom as it is in heaven. It is Love rightly understood that establishes the universal brotherhood of man, wherein there is no way, no will, and no law save God's.

And it is this Love manifested through Christian Science which has drawn Jew, Gentile, Pagan, Atheist and Atheist unto Christ through lifting him "up from the earth" into the realm of spiritual reality and consciousness, wherein God is worshipped "in spirit and in truth."

Christian Science has not attained its unassailable position in the religious world through the worship or adoration of personality, but has grown as it has through the elimination of personality through the elimination of the belief that the mortal man which, David, writing of his own human birth, tells us is "shaped in iniquity" and conceived in sin is the God-made man, the man that he made in his image and likeness; and the establishment in thought of the individuality of spiritual or real man who is the image and likeness of God.

This proper conception of man comes through worshipping God in spirit and in truth, rendering one immune from any attack of evil, no matter what it may seem to be, giving one a measure of that peace which comes with active, conscious growth in grace unto a right knowledge of God.

Mrs. Eddy, the Leader of the Christian Science movement, was one of the humblest and meekest followers our Master ever had on this earth. She thwarted every attempt to give her adulation, for she realized if the time ever came when personal worship entered the ranks of the Scientists that would be the time when they had ceased to worship the one God and had descended to the plane of the children of Israel where as God, through Moses, led them through the wilderness and where they turned unto the worship of the golden calf. Christian Science teaches that personal worship is abhorrent unto God and an insurmountable barrier between God and himself to any one who indulges in it.

The Christian Science text-book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mrs. Eddy's legacy to suffering and sin-sick humanity, enables one to find the spiritual truths in the Bible, simplifies and elucidates their teachings and makes practical the example of our Master while on earth. It does not supersede nor does it make the place of the Bible, but makes it more desired and studied than ever before.

Legitimate Christian Science is revealed only through profound spiritual scriptural research based on the desire to justify God rather than man, and the Christian Science text-book in its absolute insistence on unqualified obedience to the commands of Christ Jesus has been literally a light unto the world and the liberator of all mankind from the letter of the law which kills.

The Bible teaches that God is Love and this Love is all that can bring to us the infinite and unbounded sense of good.

It is futile to strive to know God in any other way than in the way Christ knew Him for there is no other "way" than Christ. The "way" has not changed so we must walk in it that we may be saved.

Jesus the Christ said to Saul, in the vision on the road to Damascus "It is hard for thee to kick against the pricks," and striving to know God in any way but Christ's is kicking "against the pricks."

In every step of the struggle out from materiality into spirituality do we find Love with us not thrusting temptation from us but instantly freeing us when we resist it and endure "unto the end." Jesus said "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Christian Scientists are demonstrating the absolute truth of his statement. No matter what the problem calls itself, no matter how it presents itself, they take it straight to God, the Great Physician and the Word does not return unto Him void, but heals them from all their diseases and delivers them from all their destructions.

GET TO THE CAUSE

Charlevoix People Are Learning the Way.

There is but little peace of comfort for the man or woman with a bad back. The distress begins in early morning—keeps up throughout the day. It's hard to get out of bed, it's hard to stoop or straighten. Doctors and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure. The cause is inside—the kidneys. When suffering from Doan's Kidney Pills, the tested and proven kidney remedy, used in kidney troubles for over 35 years, Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of such cases. Proof in the testimony of a nearby resident:

Mrs. R. M. Meekel, 214 Mason St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly. I had been troubled for several months by kidney disease. I floated quite badly and had weak back and severe pains in my kidneys. My rest was broken at night. I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at the Ivy Drug Store and they have given me relief in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The message of Christian Science to mortals is the message of hope, the message of activity and the message of joy. It is the glad tidings that at last we know how to worship God and how to "Walk in the Spirit" that we may not fulfill "the lust of the flesh" but "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." "For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever."

Republican State Convention.

To the Republican electors of the state of Michigan:

A state convention of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at the Light Guard Armory in the city of Detroit, on Tuesday, September 21, 1912, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of nominating Republican candidates for Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor General, Attorney General, Commissioner of the State Land Office, and Justice of the Supreme Court for the term ending December 31, 1913, to fill vacancy, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Delegates to the respective county conventions shall be chosen at the primary election held on the 27th day of August, 1912, as provided by section 18 of Act 281 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended by Act 274 of the Public Acts of 1911. Each township, ward or precinct shall be entitled to such number of delegates as shall be specified in the call issued by the county committees for the county conventions in the respective counties.

By order of the Republican State Central Committee,

Alex J. Groesbeck,
Chairman
Paul H. Kieck,
Secretary

Dated at Grand Rapids, Michigan, July 20, 1912.

The following is the apportionment of delegates to the several counties of the 11th congressional district: Montcalm, 15; Isabella, 15; Clare, 6; Rosebush, 2; Grand Traverse, 8; Antrim, 6; Kalamazoo, 3; Charlevoix, 3; Muskegon, 7; Oshtemo, 8; Mecosta, 9; Grant, 18.

Republican County Convention.

To the Republican electors of Charlevoix county:

Notice is hereby given that a Republican County Convention will be held at the Court House in the city of Charlevoix on Tuesday, the 10th day of September, 1912, at 10:30 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing nine delegates to represent said county in the Republican State Convention, called to meet in the Light Guard Armory in the city of Detroit on Tuesday, September 21, 1912, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The several townships and wards will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Bay.....2	Wilson.....3
Bye Valley.....4	City of Chx.....2
Chandler.....2	1st ward.....2
Charlevoix.....1	2nd ward.....4
Evangeline.....1	3rd ward.....4
Evelline.....3	Boyer City.....3
Hayes.....3	1st ward.....3
Hudson.....2	2nd ward.....5
Marion.....3	3rd ward.....8
Nelrose.....1	4th ward.....5
Norwood.....1	East Jordan.....2
Penine.....2	1st ward.....2
St. James.....2	2nd ward.....2
South Arm.....3	3rd ward.....4

Dated August 5, 1912.

H. I. McMillan, Sec'y
Republican County Com.
Wm. J. Pearson, Chairman
Republican County Committee

We do Fine Job Printing.

CROSS STATE RAILROAD

Work Being Pushed Between Gaylord and Alpena From Both Ends of Line.

The long-looked-for railroad development at Alpena are about to assume definite shape. The board of commerce of that city have completed arrangements for the rights of way and Mr. W. H. White reached there yesterday afternoon to take active charge of the operations. Directly upon his heels will come 50 teams of horses and a crew of from 200 to 300 men from Boyne City and a cargo of rails from Buffalo, for immediate construction work on the road.

W. H. White has made promise to the Alpena Board of Commerce that the big crew of men he will set to work at that place will meet the crew at this end of the line before snow falls this year. And if so, Gaylord's as well as Alpena's dream of a cross-state railroad will be realized. The Whites certainly mean business and will put forth every effort to complete the line this year.—Gaylord Advance.

BIG DAY THURSDAY

At the Northern Michigan Maccabee Association Meeting at Traverse City.

For several very important reasons the dates of the big K. O. T. M. M. and L. O. F. M. M. association convention in Traverse City were changed from September 3, 4 and 5, to the 11, 12 and 13. The big day will be on Thursday, the 12, on which date there will be special excursions at reduced rates from all sections. On that day there will be a grand parade, ball games, water sports, launch and boat races, swimming races, tugs of war, motorcycle and bicycle races, band concerts, degree team drills and other entertainment that will please the visitors every minute of the time. On Wednesday evening there will be a grand reception to the great camp and great hive officers, followed by a banquet and appropriate entertainment. On Friday morning the business session will occur and on that evening there will be a grand ball free to all Maccabees and their families. Deputy Great Commander Perry is covering the entire district in the interests of the convention and at a recent official meeting in Traverse City he reported great enthusiasm and the prospect of the largest gathering of Maccabees and ladies ever recorded in northern Michigan. As the date was extended the tents and hives had more time to prepare to attend, and local committees were given more time for the elaborate entertainment arrangements.

CARELESS OF BONDS

School Districts Not Particular Enough About Safety of Their Finances.

Many school districts in the state and some in this vicinity are not properly safeguarded in that their treasurers are not under lawful bonds. The law provides that the treasurer must give a personal or surety bond for the full amount of money to come into his hands during each year of his term of office. This bond must have at least two sureties, who are liable for the amount and each signer of it must justify in writing and under oath to the amount for which he is held. The bond cannot be signed by a member of the school board nor by the name of a married woman good on a bond. Practically the only districts in the state which have lost money are those which failed to have their treasurers under proper bonds.

All district money must be kept by the treasurer separate from other funds and must be on hand at all times in actual cash or must be deposited in the name of the treasurer as treasurer in a bank or banks. Any interest accruing on the school money must be placed in the general fund of the district. A treasurer who loans district money to any person or organization, no matter how good security he may have, or who appropriates any interest for his own uses, lays himself liable to fine or imprisonment.

His Slang Won.

A ragged wayfarer accosted a well-dressed pedestrian on Fifth avenue and said:

"It is up to you whether I flop." "I construe this," said the well-dressed one, "to be a usual request for money. There is a quarter. It is not mine. I will pay it to you for a definition of flop as you use the word." "Flop," explained the ragged one, grinning, "means to sleep. I make a book they nick your wad for ten swell slugs every time you flop. Take it from me, kid, ten of those in our set is good for an even hundred nights." "Here is $10, then," smiled the well-dressed one. "Flop a hundred."—New York Globe.

IT WON'T BE LONG

Before the Winter Evenings will be here and now is a good time to begin to think about your Winter Reading.

Let us figure on a Combination for you. A first-class Magazine, a Ladies' Magazine, a good Farm Paper, a reliable Daily Paper and

THE COURIER

Charlevoix County's Leading Newspaper, published at the county seat. It gives you the Official News first hand. Its Correspondents in all parts of the county keep you posted on the news of your locality. Its Grange Department lets you know what is going on in the ranks of Organized Agriculture. These and many other Special Features have caused the Courier to be universally recognized as CHARLEVOIX'S BEST.

On a Combination of this kind we guarantee to save you more than the price of the Courier. If you want the Courier alone the price is only

$1.50 Per Year

WE DO JOB PRINTING

The Kind That's Right

See us Before You Place Next Order

Auction Sale Advertising is a Special Feature of the Courier.

The Season is About to Begin

Investigate Our Plan

The Courier Press

PHONE 12 12r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

CREAM OF RYE

For Breakfast--that's Enough

Think of a delicious healthful meal at a cost of one cent. Better still, you are feeding your body with nature's food and producing an abundance of healthful energy.

A Silver Spoon in Every Package

Rye is the Cheapest and best Food--U. S. Govt. tests prove it.

ARTICLES	Amount of energy 10c will buy—	CALORIES of Energy
Eggs.....	388	—
Beef, Sirloin.....	410	—
Mutton, Leg.....	445	—
Milk.....	1030	—
Pork, Loin.....	1035	—
Cheese.....	1135	—
Butter.....	1365	—
Rice.....	2025	—
Potatoes.....	2970	—
Beans, Dried.....	3910	—
Rye.....	6050	—

There's a Difference

The Taste is the Test

For Sale by your Grocer. If you fail to get a package Write U.S.

Minneapolis Cereal Co. Inc.

Minneapolis

Grange Column

Marion Center Grange No. 935.

Grange opened in fine form with Worthy Master William Withers in the chair. The usual order of business was transacted. The lecturer's hour was taken up with the following program:

Song—Grange
Recitation—Edith Adams
Reading—Mrs. Panquette
Song—Herman Himebaugh
Reading—Mrs. Burns
Song—Walter Black
Reading—William Panquette
Song—William Withers.

Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks. Woman's suffrage will be discussed and lunch served at the next meeting.

Hear John, the whirlwind entertainer, at Majestic all this week.

THEATRICAL

Ole Olson.

The Northland singer Arthur Lawson comes to the Charlevoix Theatre Saturday, September 7.

Mr. Lawson is a graceful and talented actor, and his songs, charming as ballads, are full of pathos and romance; they are a feature of the performance and each one is a hit. They are soft and sweet and full of sympathy. By a happy utilization of diversified talent he also combines drollery and dignity and makes the part of "Ole," the hero of the play, a memorable picture.

"Thelma" Coming.

"Thelma," a romance of the Northland by Marie Correlli, dramatized by Robert Sherman, will be at the Charlevoix Theatre for one night only, Monday, September 9. This is a Norwegian tale with a dash of weird mysticism of the old Vikings.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

the Gods of Odin and Thor. Giving the great scenes in the Land of the Midnight Sun, the Burning Viking Ship, the Rainbow of Death, famous Echo Cave, and the Vision of the Valkerie. Every detail is perfect and the engagement of Thelma is announced as one of the season's theatrical events. Prices for this engagement will be 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

"The Shepherd of the Hills."

Harold Bell Wright, the author of "The Shepherd of the Hills," which comes to the Charlevoix Theatre on Wednesday, September 11, is conceded to be the most popular American novelist. No modern author's books have had anything like the sale that has been accorded to Mr. Wright's works.

Nearly every one is familiar with the characters in "The Shepherd of the Hills." They are people out of the ordinary run of life, people whose veins run good, rich, red blood. They do things in a natural, human way; they love and hate with deep passion.

In making a play of his novel Mr. Wright with the assistance of Elsbury W. Reynolds has retained all the dramatic moments of the story and enlarged upon the character of "Preachin' Bill," making a character of him that will be long remembered by theatre-goers. Naturally the love between "Sammy Lane" and "Young Matt" is the pivot upon which the play revolves.

Messrs. Gaskill and McVitty, the producers, have mounted the play in a sumptuous manner and given it a cast that promises to prove unique in the matter of types.

People in Charlevoix, who want to see and hear something really good, should go to the Majestic to night and balance of the week.

John Kunor, the whirlwind entertainer, is there in a complete change of program nightly. The Majestic has in this man one of the classiest attractions that ever was behind the foot lights in our city. The house was crowded to the doors last night. Those that have heard the world-wide globe trotter are loud in praise. Tonight you can see Frisco Golden Gate and the notorious Chinatown and the under world.

PARK FIREPLACES FOR LOS ANGELES PICNICKERS.

Novel Plan to Prevent Brush Fires During the Summer.

In order to prevent brush and grass fires, which are prevalent in California during hot weather, very strict regulations are enforced in the Los Angeles parks against building campfires. But in order that picnickers to the larger parks may have hot coffee or warm food with their lunch the park commissioners have provided fireplaces, solidly built of rough stones or cobbles and cement. These are provided with a metal grill, on which coffee pots or any other utensils may be set or steaks can be broiled. The stoves are large enough to provide cooking space for a number at a time, and six foot chimneys carry the smoke away from their faces. The stoves serve another purpose in providing a ready method of clearing the parks of accumulated rubbish. Much of it is used by picnickers for their fires, and the park caretakers readily dispose of the fallen twigs and leaves and the Sunday's accumulation of newspapers by burning them, thus saving the expense of hauling them away.

Lost—Seat of child's tricycle. Finder notify Courier office. 36-11

IDEAL TYPE OF ROAD PAVEMENT

A Combination Highway to Be Tried in New Jersey.

GOOD UNDER ALL CONDITIONS

R. A. Meeker, State Highway Engineer, Has Novel Plan For Making Serviceable Roads With Strips of Different Materials—Would Be Cheap.

The question is being asked on every side, "What is the best pavement for our country roads, especially those that are subject to a mixed motor and horse drawn traffic?"

The answer to the question embraces several factors. These may be summarized under three general heads—viz. utility, durability and cost. The most useful pavement is best described by the phrase coined at the close of the eighteenth century by the framers of the original turnpike acts—that is, it must be smooth, hard and convenient for travel at all seasons of the year.

A pavement that meets these requirements leaves nothing to be desired.

In New Jersey we have an abundance of good road material in certain sections, while in others it is lacking. The gravel in some portions of south Jersey makes an excellent road for nine months of the year if the travel is not too heavy. The trap and dolomite of the central and northern sections make a good road at all seasons but they have two bad qualities—one that they become dusty in dry weather the other that they break up and rut under heavy travel. To combat these two evils various bitumens have been used, and the results, when the proper materials were employed, have been satisfactory, except that the surface is slippery in cold weather.

To overcome this objection it is proposed to build our trunk lines as follows: Have the twelve feet in the center of the road with a mixture of stone and asphalt and on each side of this lay a plain macadam pavement four feet wide by four inches deep. In slip pery weather on a road of this sort the horses can travel on the stone on each side, allowing one wheel of the wagon to run on the bituminous pavement if the driver so desires and leaving sufficient room for an automobile to run on the center. By following this method three ends would be attained—first, the horses would be able to travel over the road without slipping; second, a more satisfactory and wider pavement would be had for less money, and, third, there would be less obstruction to traffic. A bituminous pavement sixteen feet wide would cost more per mile than a combination pavement twenty feet wide built as above suggested, and as an added advantage of the latter the traffic would be distributed over the entire road.

MACADAM ROAD IN NEW JERSEY.

A pavement laid according to this plan would also be free from the disagreeable and unsightly drop at the edge that is so often seen on the sides of a bituminous pavement, particularly if the soil of which the shoulders is formed is of a light or sandy nature. This sharp drop at the edge of the pavement is also very injurious to it owing to the shearing off of the edges of the pavement by the wheels of the vehicles when they are driven off or on. This shearing or breaking of the edge is most destructive to the life of the pavement. The opelag so formed admits the water into the body of the pavement, and as a consequence disintegration begins. The durability of the pavement is thus greatly lessened, as the breaking of the bond not only causes the shattering of the pavement, but permits a movement of the stone particles composing it. This attrition greatly increases the wear, thereby augmenting the cost of maintenance, with the result that the annual expenditure is much increased.

The ultimate cost of a combination type of pavement constructed as above described will be much less than that of the other kind, so that whether measured on the basis of first or maintenance cost the pavement above described will be by far the cheapest.

The life of the day laborer may have its drawbacks, but it also has its compensations, for, while he cannot afford an automobile or broadcloth nor buy his wife diamonds, he may have steady nerves, a good digestion and a clear conscience, which many who possess wealth lack.

See my line of Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases. I am carrying the largest and most complete line ever shown in the city. I buy direct from the manufacturers in large quantities and can sell at a very low price.

Trunks $3.50 to $18

Bags $1.75 to $10

Suit Cases $1.00 to $10

All Kinds of Repairing Done

Benj. Brown

Closing Out Sale

On account of the exceptionally backward summer. We find ourselves with many more Hammocks on hand than we should have at this time—and to get rid of them we are going to close them out at prices regardless of cost.

Here are some of the bargains

$10.00 Couch Hammocks at	$7.50
$7.50 Handmade " "	5.75
$5 Woven " "	3.75
$4 " " "	3.00
$3 " " "	2.25
$2 " " "	1.50

All others at proportionate prices.
Come before the best have been taken.
You cannot afford to lose this chance.

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable Furniture Dealers.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, Van Pelt Hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Man."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH

Our Sunday services begin with morning class at 9:45, followed by preaching at 10:30.

Sunday School meets at 12:00 m. Epworth League holds its meeting at 6:30 p. m.

Evening sermon at 7:30.
Epworth Church.
Sunday school 1:30.
Preaching 2:30.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Morning service 10:30.
Sunday school 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Topic, "Why and How to Improve the Mind." Leader, Miss Lavina Poole.

Evening service at 7:30.
Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town Hall.

Every body welcome.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Morning service at 10:30.
Sunday school at noon.

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

Harold Bell Wright's famous novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," at Charlevoix Theatre, Wednesday evening, September 11.

A great play from a great book. Marie Correlli's "Thelma," Monday evening, September 9, at Charlevoix Theatre.

Courier rates on application.

Charlevoix Theatre

Wednesday, Sept. 11, '12

Gaskill and McVitty (Inc.)
Announce

THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS

Dramatized from Harold Bell Wright's Novel
by
Mr. Wright and Elsbury W. Reynolds

"The most popular American book made into the most popular American play."

"Preachin' Bill"

Prices, 35c, 50c, 75c, $1.00

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during our recent bereavement.

Mrs. Charles De Boer and family.

See and hear John, the whirlwind entertainer and worldwide traveler at Majestic all this week.

See Ole Olson Saturday night at Charlevoix Theatre.

Readers of the Courier

Are advised that the Detroit Business University, the oldest and most influential business training school in the state, is located in new brick premises on West Grand River Ave., Detroit, and under new management is doing better work than ever in training young men and women for good salaried positions. The catalogue is mailed free on request.

E. K. SHAW, President.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 37

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

REPUBLICANS MET TUESDAY

Enthusiastic County Convention Held at the Court House Yesterday.

HON. WILLIAM J. PEARSON

Elected Chairman of Delegation to the State Convention.

New County Committee Elected—Resolutions Commend Choice of the People at the Primary.

The Republican county convention, held at the court house yesterday, was quite well attended, representatives from all sections of the county being present.

County chairman Pearson called the convention to order with a few well chosen words. On motion, Hon. W. J. Pearson was chosen temporary chairman and E. L. Stanford temporary secretary, after which the following committees were chosen:

Permanent Organization and Order of Business—G. A. Potts, Hudson; George W. Kent, Boyne City; E. J. Meech, Charlevoix.

Credentials—A. G. Urquhart, Boyne City; A. E. Cross, East Jordan; Archie Alcock, Charlevoix.

Resolutions—Will H. Griffin, Boyne City; Glenn M. DuBois, Charlevoix; A. J. Crago, Melrose.

The convention then took an adjournment for dinner.

On reassembling, the committee on credentials reported most of the precincts represented by delegates.

The committee on permanent organization and order of business recommended, that the temporary organization be made permanent and the following order of business be adopted: First: Election of delegates to state convention. Second: Election of a county committee. Third: Report of committee on resolutions. Report was adopted.

The following gentlemen were unanimously elected delegates to the state convention. Hon. W. J. Pearson, Boyne Falls; W. J. Gallagher, St. James; L. O. White, Boyne City; Hon. J. M. Harris, Boyne City; Will H. Griffin, Boyne City; J. J. Porter, East Jordan; E. A. Kenyon, East Jordan; Arthur L. Fitch, Lisle Shanahan, Charlevoix.

The new county committee will be made up of the following gentlemen:

Chairman—Hon. W. J. Pearson. Secretary—E. L. Stanford. Bay—Joseph Shaw. Boyne Valley—Dr. Conkle. Chandler—M. J. Pearson. Charlevoix—S. Godbold. City of Charlevoix—Harry Nichols, R. A. Emrey, R. B. Armstrong, Evangeline—Fred Tainter. Evellne—M. A. McDonald. City of Boyne City—Ed. Lorch, Walter Ware, R. H. Taylor, J. H. Parker.

Hayes—Eugene Stroud. Hudson—William Leszler. Marion—W. K. Straw. Melrose—J. E. Darrah. Norwood—James Chase. Pesine—Hugh E. Hoyle. South Arm—Jacob E. Chew. City of East Jordan—A. E. Cross, Charles McCalmon, Roy. L. Lorraine. St. James—W. J. Gallagher. Wilson—Thomas Shepherd.

The committee on resolutions made the following report, which was adopted by the convention.

Resolved, that Chairman Pearson must have been afflicted with a temporary brainstorm when he selected this committee, however, we feel that the county committee should be congratulated on securing his services for another term as chairman.

Resolved further, that the man who is to be his successor at Lansing is as wise a choice as the county ever made and that H. L. McMillan will be found to be the right man in the right place. He may permit automobiles to run over him in Charlevoix county but we think he can dodge the cars in Lansing and undoubtedly find time to give this county all the service she has coming.

Resolved further, that the balance of the ticket is worthy the support of all Republicans as it was the choice of the people.

After inspiring remarks by H. L. McMillan, Judge Harris, E. J. Meech, Captain W. A. Smith, George W. Kent, Frank A. Kenyon, J. E. Darrah and Chairman Pearson the convention closed.

ENJOYABLE TIME

House Party Held at Meech Cottage Latter Part of the Week.

Twelve young people enjoyed a house party in the Meech cottage the latter part of the week, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Meech and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Levinson.

A sumptuous dinner was served Sunday. Those who partook of it beside the chaperones were Messrs. Hubert Paddock, Robert and Clarence Bridge, Wilbur Pugh, Glenn Warren, Rex Beardsley and Lavater Meech; the Misses Etta O'Neill, Caro Meech, and Elizabeth Levinson.

Work was entirely forgotten and everyone could not help but feel that Miss Caro made a delightful hostess on such an occasion.

ORGANIZATION OF GROWERS

What It Can Accomplish—Will See Pack is Standard.

WITH REGISTERED BRAND

Conduct a Systematic Advertising Campaign of Michigan Apples.

We Have Nothing to Fear from the West But Much to Learn—Michigan Must Wake Up.

(Continued from last week.)

We can and do take prizes at the fairs. But the consuming public don't buy at the fairs. They buy in the stores. And it is the fruit that we sell that keeps our orchards going. It's the fruit we have been selling that has hurt us, and the way we have sold it.

We haven't been close enough to our real customers, the people who buy fruit to eat. It is winning first place with them that we must strive for.

In quantity of apples produced we are second only to New York. If we can add first the additional profit due to a mark of a known character and then our due share of the seller's profit to our immense production it will mean millions of dollars of added revenue without any added cost of production.

One large organization in this state is already tackling this problem in the sane, logical way that a keen manufacturer would.

This organization contemplates the establishment of an inspection system that will assure the buyer that this pack is up to the standard in every way. They expect to make these standards so well known and so carefully lived up to that buying their apples is as easy as buying Ivory Soap or Quaker Rolled Oats over the counter at the grocery.

They will put their own registered label and brand on this fruit, and make that label known by a broad and systematic advertising campaign that will go to the women in the homes.

When this campaign is under way it is going to make these women buy and eat more apples. Thirty years ago America consumed more than one bushel of apples per capita annually. Today the consumption annually is less than a third of a bushel. Yet the population of the country has increased by thirty millions, and its earning power has doubled.

You apple growers have let tropical and semi-tropical fruits take away a good share of your market. Florida, California, Honduras, Colombia, Mexico, the fruit from these places is found on every fruit stand in the Union. The good, satisfying, healthful American apple is trotting in second place.

The work the organization is about to undertake is going to go a long way in winning back first place for the apple. And the apple deserves it, the Michigan apple.

They are going to make their fruit in demand. They are going to get the buyers to ask for it by name, to insist upon getting it. This will make their fruit a vastly more profitable proposition for the dealers. The dealers are going to be glad to push it.

SUPERINTENDENT I. M. DEVOIE.

All this is expensive. It's going to take quite a good bit of money, but expense is relative. Spending a few thousands of dollars ceases to become an expense when it adds fifty cents a bushel to some millions of bushels. Money spent in this way is about the best paying investment that can be made.

It pays big. The men who have this illuminating understanding of their situation have already in hand orders for apples running into the hundreds of thousands of bushels, placed contingently upon the carrying out of their plan.

See what the west has done. Yet you cannot say that the western apple is as good as the Michigan product to eat. No, but it sells. And the profit comes from the sales.

It costs the west more to grow their apples. Nearly twice as much, in fact. It costs them four times as much for freight, for getting them to market. And the apples, without much flavor as flavor goes with us, sell rapidly. The west is a good example of the merchandising orchardist. Yet the west knows that it cannot hold the markets of the Mississippi valley or the Atlantic seaboard. Already western fruit goes across the water, and is gaining ground rapidly.

The west knows that the big orchards of New York, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, the Virginias, Indiana and Ohio are going to hold the domestic market, after a while.

So it's not the west we have to fear, only to learn from. Our competition is coming from the immense new orchard plantings of the states that will fight as right in the markets closest to us, the richest and most profitable markets in the world.

Michigan fruit growers must wake up.

Your whole orchard investment depends on a profitable market for your fruit. Without that market your orchard is not worth a penny.

You must realize that keen, active work must be done not only to win back a reputation for Michigan apples, not only to make a market for your apples, but that effort and money and keen shrewd brains are going to contest those markets with you after you think you have them won.

Don't belittle the back-to-the-land movement. The city business man who has gone back to the farm is making a mighty good fruit farmer, as a rule. He has little to learn, and knows that he has much to learn. It is the city man who is making the Bitter Root and the Palouse, the Wenatchee, the Yakima and the Rogue River valley famous. It is the city man, the business man, who is legally responsible for the 107,377,000 apple trees not yet in bearing.

Michigan must seize her markets now, before these immense new orchard plantings come in to rob her of her opportunity. Michigan must wake up to time.

The fruit growers of this state must become more than merely average producers. They must become merchandisers. They must create reputation for their fruit and for themselves. They must get to gether.

One grower alone can do but little. But the growers of the state as a body can become a force greater than any obstacle or any problem they will have to overcome.

Sunday School Picnic.

The Baptist Sunday school will give a picnic next Saturday in the park on the lake front. A program is being prepared consisting of games, races, etc. Dinner will be served at the "Round Table" about noon. All friends as well as members of the church and Sunday school are invited to be present and enjoy a good social time together. Bring your baskets and meet as soon after nine o'clock as possible.

ASKS FOR A LARGE SUM

From Francis O. Lindquist and Isabella County Enterprise.

Congressman Dodds Alleges He Was Libelled in Recent Campaign.

Congressman Francis H. Dodds of this district has brought suit for damages against Francis O. Lindquist of Greenville, who defeated him in the recent primaries for nomination as congressman on the Republican ticket, claiming he misrepresented his record in Congress. He asks $30,000 damages.

It is alleged that Lindquist sent voters a letter on the last day before the primaries.

Lindquist, it is alleged, claimed in the letter that Dodds did not vote for the direct election of United States senators by the people, and, it is also alleged, claimed that Dodds voted against an investigation of the singular trust.

Lindquist's letter, it is alleged, contained what claimed to be a citation to the congressional record in support of the letter.

Exception is taken to other alleged statements.

A $10,000 libel suit is also commenced against B. M. Gould, publisher of the Isabella County Enterprise.

Mr. Dodds states that he takes this action for the purpose of establishing his reputation as an honest representative of his constituents by proving in the courts that the statements were not true. Mr. Dodds also desires to discourage the tendency to make personal political attacks. The cases will interest the people of the whole state.

Notice to High School Students.

All students of the High School who have not already classified should do so before September 11. The Superintendent will be in the office at the High School building Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 12, 13 and 14.

HORSE IS KILLED

As Result of Automobile Accident on State Street Saturday Evening.

Early Saturday evening John Skye, driver for Mr. Woodruff of Kalanazoo, one of the summer residents on the Hyvelere resort, ran into the rig of Charles Vosburg, on South State street, in which three boys were riding, badly wrecking the machine and tearing the horse's hoof off, so it became necessary to shoot it, and wrecking the wagon. Skye had several teeth knocked out and the boys were badly bruised. It is claimed that the accident was caused by insufficient lights.

Mr. Vosburg's loss was adjusted for $175, while the damage to the machine will amount to about $150.

Makes Strong Showing.

On page 9 of this issue will be found the statement of the Charlevoix State Savings bank, as called for by the State Banking department. A comparison of this statement with the statement of June 14 shows an increase of $50,000 in deposits, which is evidence of the prosperity of Charlevoix and the careful management of the bank.

NEW FACES WILL BE FEW

Among the Teachers in the Charlevoix Public Schools This Year.

SUPERINTENDENT I. M. DEVOIE

Heads the List—All Are Experienced in Their Chosen Profession.

Many Improvements Have Been Made on Buildings—All Are Looking Forward to a Successful School Year.

With few changes in the teaching force and all of the school buildings in excellent condition, the public schools open September 16.

The new teachers to greet Charlevoix pupils for the first time are Laura Brown, high school history and English; Blanche Lamoreaux, seventh grade; Kate Wilson, seventh and eighth grade assistant; Flora B. Nold, sixth grade; Bessie Henshaw, chart and first grade in the Lincoln school; Mrs. A. L. Conter, music and drawing. Miss Brown is a graduate of Alma college and comes to us with the best of recommendations. The Misses Lamoreaux, Wilson, Nold and Henshaw are all experienced teachers who have made good in the profession. Mrs. A. L. Conter having taught music and drawing in the Charlevoix schools before and also having been a resident of Charlevoix for several years will need no introduction to the people of Charlevoix. For the first time in many years Charlevoix will have an experienced corps of teachers throughout the system.

During the summer the buildings have been thoroughly cleaned, the floors have been oiled with a patent preparation for keeping down the dust, and the new sanitary toilets have been installed in all of the buildings. Every room presents an appearance that will please the teachers and pupils.

It is hoped that parents will cooperate in every way and help to make this a record year in the Charlevoix schools.

In order that all of the pupils may be properly equipped on the first day, the superintendent has furnished a complete list of the supplies needed for each of the grade pupils.

(Continued on page 4)

Auction Sales.

The season for auction sales is again on hand; this week the Courier advertises two sales.

On page two we advertise the sale of Joe Holecheck, at his home in Norwood, Tuesday, September 24, beginning at one o'clock P. M. W. K. Byers, auctioneer; John G. Biery, clerk.

On page eight we advertise the sale of Dice & Stafford, on Mason street, Saturday, September 14, beginning at two o'clock P. M. W. E. Byers, auctioneer; F. A. Butler, clerk.

CONGRESS MADE MANY CHANGES

Which Are of Special Interest to All the People.

AT THE LAST SESSION

All First and Second Class Postoffices to Be Closed Sundays.

Parcel Post Goes Into Effect January 1—The Zone System Similar to Express Companies.

Some matter of special interest to patrons of the postoffice were enacted at the recent session of congress.

Patrons of all the first and second class postoffices were notified during the last week that beginning September 1 all such offices would be closed on Sunday. The only change this makes at the Charlevoix office is that the general delivery window will not be open at all Sunday. The lobby will be open all day and all persons having lock boxes can get their mail. All mail received Saturday night will be distributed as usual, all special delivery letters will be delivered Sunday, so if you have any urgent business or personal correspondence coming Saturday it should bear a special delivery stamp unless you have a lock box. This is not an act of local postmasters, but is an order from Washington based on a provision contained in the postoffice appropriation bill.

The Courier has at different times given a practical explanation of the new parcel post law. The law is finally enacted differs somewhat from the original bill and is as follows:

Regardless of distance, flat rate is one cent per ounce if parcel weighs not more than four ounces.

POUND RATES
Above four ounces, rates are by the pound, and vary with distance, thus:

	1st	each	11
	lb.	lb.	lbs.
Rural route and city delivery	.05	.01	.15
50-mile zone	.05	.03	.35
150-mile zone	.06	.04	.40
300-mile zone	.07	.05	.57
600-mile zone	.08	.06	.68
1,500-mile zone	.09	.07	.79
1,800-mile zone	.10	.09	1.00
1,900-mile zone	.11	.10	1.11
Over 1,900 miles	.12	.12	1.32

UNAVAILABLE
Parcels weighing more than 11 pounds.

Parcels whose length and girth are more than 72 inches combined.

Parcels likely to injure mails or postal equipment.

Senator Bourne in answer to inquiries, said of the exact effect of the new law, "The postmaster general may make provision for indemnity insurance and collection on delivery, with additional charges for such service, and may, with the consent of the interstate commerce commission after investigation, modify rates, weights and zone distances, when experience has demonstrated the needs therefor."

Under the law any article is available if not over 11 pounds in weight, nor more than 72 inches in length and girth combined, nor likely to injure mails, equipments or employees. Up to four ounces the flat rate is one cent per ounce. Above four ounces rates are by the pound or fraction thereof and vary with distance.

Regardless of distance, the rate for city service will be five cents for the first pound. The maximum payment is 15 cents.

That the volume of patronage will increase as the merchants become familiar with the parcels post law is certain. Merchants will now be able to forward an order on short notice at a very low rate.

Groceries, meat and produce may be sent by mail when complying with the rules.

The law will necessitate certain changes in the postal department. The merchandise will be handled in hamper, as it is done in London.

This law becomes effective January 1, 1913.

Cohen's store will be closed until Friday at 6:00 p. m. on account of Jewish holiday.

Cooling Wash Stops That Itch

Yes—not in half an hour—not in ten minutes—but in 5 seconds. Just a few drops of that mild, soothing, cooling wash, the D. D. D. Prescription, the famous cure for Eczema, and the itch is gone. Your burning skin is instantly relieved and you have absolute protection from all summer skin troubles. We can give you a good skin trial bottle of the genuine D. D. D. Prescription for only 25 cents. Don't fail to try this famous remedy for any kind of summer skin trouble—we know D. D. D. will give you instant relief.

F. G. Hines & Co., Druggists

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

Charles Stevens of Phelps has sold his farm.

A number of Marion farmers are building new silos.

Rev. Biery was the guest of Robert Gregory Thursday.

M. Nixon has purchased the Wilfong thoroughly farm.

Alfred Lynde of Charlevoix visited Ben Newland Sunday.

Robert Beattie spent Sunday and Monday with O. R. Beattie and family.

Mrs. Bennett of Petoskey was the guest of Mrs. Harriet Newman last week.

Mrs. Parfille and son Don of Charlevoix are visiting Mrs. Pasco for a few days.

Mrs. Bert Proper of Charlevoix was the guest of Mrs. F. Blanchard a few days last week.

Thrashing machines are busy in Marion, but much of the grain is badly damaged by continued rains.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dodd visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith Friday evening.

Mrs. Pierce and daughter from Honor is spending a few days with her cousin, George Winkler and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beattie and Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of East Jordan and Robert Beattie of Howell were visitors Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of East Jordan visited Mrs. Earl Dodd and family and O. R. Beattie and family Friday and Saturday.

Owing to the poor health of Henry Black they have moved to Kilsworth and will remain with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Rastetter, for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles of Detroit and Mrs. Millpugh and daughter Evelyn of Boyne City were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls and daughter Thursday and Friday.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, Ohio, and State of Ohio, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 9th day of December, A. D. 1912.

A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public, Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for free literature, free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MAPLE GROVE

Fine weather. Maple Grove school opened Monday with R. C. Pierce in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Howe of Petoskey spent Sunday at Cloverdale. Mrs. Kane and Mrs. John Kirby Sr. were guests at Bloomingdale last week.

A chicken pie supper was held at Maple Grove grange hall Saturday evening. A good time was reported by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brown and Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Charlevoix were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Lewis Sunday.

T. L. Parks, Murrayville, Ga., Route 1, is in his 73rd year, and was recently cured of a bad kidney and bladder trouble. He says himself: "I have suffered with my kidneys. My back ached and I was annoyed with bladder irregularities. I can truthfully say, one 30c bottle of Foley Kidney Pills cured me entirely." They contain no habit forming drugs. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

CLARION.

J. W. Colden went to Charlevoix Monday.

A daughter was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Banks.

Mrs. C. M. Darrall of Big Rapids is the guest of Mrs. J. E. Darrall.

Miss Ramona Hotsford of Petoskey was the guest of Miss Jean Colden Sunday.

School commenced at Walloon Lake Monday, with Misses Nell Maddaugh and Mamie Scroggie as teachers.

Miss May Ransom, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ransom of Walloon, returned last week to Detroit.

Subscribe for the Courier.

troubles. We can give you a good skin trial bottle of the genuine D. D. D. Prescription for only 25 cents. Don't fail to try this famous remedy for any kind of summer skin trouble—we know D. D. D. will give you instant relief.

F. G. Hines & Co., Druggists

ATWOOD

Men's hat. Wedding bells this week.

Will Byers talks of going north. Petoskey men are here this week buying cattle for beef.

Ed. Scott of Norwood was here Sunday smiling very prettily. He says it's a girl.

Next Sunday will be the last preaching for this conference year at the M. E. church. It is expected that Rev. Biery will return for another year. Hope so.

Mrs. Will Knight and Mrs. Albert Harwood were visiting at Rapid City last week. Their "hubbies" went after them the other day. They expected to have a good time.

On Friday evening of this week the ladies will serve ice cream at the hall. We are looking the pastor $25. Come and help us out and you will feel better by doing so. "Whatsoever thy hands find to do, do it with all thy might."

James Parsons, wife and sister, Mrs. Edwards, all from Gal, Iowa, are here visiting their brother, John Parsons, and other relatives for a few days. Mr. Parsons, who is a retired farmer, sold his 20-acre farm last month for $30,000 cash.

The fourth quarterly meeting, held at Norwood on Friday last, was surely a memorable event.

District Superintendent Kendrick preached two fine sermons. One hundred-thirty-five sat down to a bounteous dinner served in the hall. An invitation was tendered Rev. Biery for his return another year. Just this kind of gatherings tend to make people happier. The writer is very sorry he could not be present.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Antoine Delorie, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

An educated Chinaman is helping in the Ohio campaign for woman suffrage by addressing open air meetings. When Mr. Wong De Gi holds up a "Votes for Women" flag and pours forth a torrent of Chinese eloquence it scarcely needs an interpreter to inform his hearers that he is exhorting American men to be as progressive as China in granting suffrage to women.

In Oregon, where women speakers came from the east to work against suffrage, they define an anti-suffragist as "a lady who travels 3,000 miles from home to prove that women's sphere is the home."

Over eighty per cent of the newspapers of Ohio were favorable to the woman suffrage amendment that was voted on in that state September 3. The Cleveland Leader and News, the Springfield News and Sun, the Dayton News, the Columbus Citizen, the Toledo Blade, the Youngstown Vindicator, the Cleveland Jewish Daily Press and the Cincinnati Brainer Zeitung are some of the leading papers that frequently gave favorable editorials as well as regularly printed suffrage news.

The Cleveland News said in a recent editorial: "Woman has earned her place in every activity of life including politics. By right of ability she is in the professions, in business, in public office, in commerce and industry as well as in the home. Her interests are as broad as man's. The government is as much for her as for him. She supports it, as he does, by paying taxes, directly or indirectly."

There is no virtue of any sort whatever in doing rough and dirty work without gloves when one can get just as much work out of the way and wear them. The human hide may be cheaper than buckskin or pleskin, but after a fellow has been at dirty and rough work about so long his hands have more the appearance of the paws of some wild beast. Considering the portion of the income they earn, a fellow's hands would seem to merit a little better protection and grooming.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo is followed by some farmers in northwestern Minnesota with considerable success. Briefly the method followed is to stack the corn as fast as cut in such a way as to leave the butts of the stalks exposed and make the pile of stalks as nearly air tight as possible. The top of the stack is protected by a canvas cover while feeding and does not seem to be damaged by freezing any more than ensilage in a silo. The cost per ton of putting corn up this way is said to be less than half that of converting it into ensilage, and for the man who cannot afford a silo and has not roots which would furnish a succulent ration during the winter season the method would seem to be worth trying.

A method of preserving fresh cut corn without the aid of a silo

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. SETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plans on Short Notice
VAN PELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
Van Pelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in Van Pelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 129 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66-2; residence 66-3.
—Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co's drug store, telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention. Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your
D R A Y I N G
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.

CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED
Consult J. LEARY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday Each Week

COURIER PRESS

COMMERCIAL PRINTERS

A Trial will Convince You

LEGAL NOTICES

Order of Publication.
State of Michigan.
The probate court for the county of Charlevoix.
At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 28th day of August, A. D. 1912.
Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Marie Nielson, deceased. Cleo Nielson having filed in said court her petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of her death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 28th day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.
It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate.

Order for Publication.

State of Michigan. The probate court for the county of Charlevoix.
At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 28th day of August, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Marie V. Faltie, deceased. The deceased, Marie V. Faltie, having filed in said court her petition praying for license to sell the interest in said estate in certain real estate therein described.

It is ordered, that the 28th day of September, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition, and that all persons interested in said estate appear before said court, at said time and place, to show cause why a license to sell the interest in said estate in said real estate should not be granted.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

A true copy. John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate.

AN ODD MEETING

With One Who Had Been in a Different Position

By MILDRED LOUISE DODGE

The social world is a boiling pot. That which is under goes to the top and after whirling about awhile sinks again. The loss of fortune among the aristocrats of Europe produces disastrous effects on the losers. There is little or no hope of his recovery, and they must drop to a lower scale. They can't bear to live among people who have considered them far better than themselves.

There is now an American colony in every capital in Europe, and those who are financially able to entertain and be entertained have an easier entrance to the one milieu social circle presided over by royalty than any other nationality, for the reason that since we have no titles in America no rank is expected of us. Some years ago a wealthy American gentleman named Tracy spent a month in Rome. His wife and daughter, Henrietta, had always moved in the upper circles of America, and, having friends in the

HE WAS LEONARD BRANDINI

Eternal City to introduce them, they soon found themselves in the swim there.

Henrietta Tracy was much sought after by Italians, who would have been glad to marry a beautiful American with a fortune. Her only objection to accepting their attentions was a natural desire to see the world in Rome. One young man she fancied, but he was supposed to be perfectly independent financially and did not seem inclined to join the throng of her suitors.

But the lady was not sure that indifference was the cause of his standing aloof, though she did not know. There were young men who are either too proud to enter into a competition for the hand of a girl pursued by fortune hunters or too sensitive to pay attention in such. But this young man, Leonard Brandini, was not a pauper and no such motive could be attributed to him, though his estate was said to be involved in a law suit of many years' standing.

Nevertheless Brandini showed Miss Tracy every attention he could without indicating that he was likely to become a suitor. The first time she saw him at a social function was a ball given at the Quirinal palace, where he was her partner more than once during the evening. He seemed gloomy, and Miss Tracy could not help wonder ing if her departure, which was to take place the next day, had anything to do with his depression. When she was leaving the palace the young man bid her goodnight and goodbye with a far-away look in his eye that boded some impending calamity.

That was the last the Tracys saw of Rome for some time. From there they went to Berlin, thence to London and finally sailed from England to America.

Two years passed. One day Miss Tracy entered a restaurant in an American city with a party of friends for luncheon. When they were seated a waiter advanced with a napkin on his arm to serve them. Looking up at him Miss Tracy met his eye. The hot blood rushed to his cheeks and an expression of unguessed pain and mortification showed itself in every feature of his face. The man recognized her as she recognized him. He was Luigi Brandini.

He turned and went away, and she saw him no more. Presently another waiter came and took the party's orders. It is needless to say that the luncheon had been spoiled for Miss Tracy. The face of one she had last met as a guest in the Quirinal palace in Rome changed to a waiter in an American restaurant was appalling.

Being ignorant of what had caused this downward course in the social scale on the part of Brandini, she wrote a friend who made Rome her residence and who had recently come to America for a visit. In reply she was informed that soon after her departure from Italy an important suit of many years' standing between Luigi Brandini and a cousin had been decided in the court of last appeal against Brandini and made him a pauper. He had disappeared from Rome, and no one knew where he had come. Rumor had it that he had enlisted in the French foreign legion; that he had committed suicide; that a bandit who was terrorizing a province in Sicily under the name of Calana was Brandini. For awhile these wild rumors went from month to month; then the poor man was forgotten by the social world as completely as if an ocean had closed over him.

Miss Tracy read the information in part, and her sympathies went out all the more to her former acquaintance, especially at learning that his fall was not attended with disgrace. It was hard for her to understand that helplessness under which gentlemen of Europe who were not born to work experience when they are thrown out upon the world. It does not exist—certainly not to so great an extent—in America.

What could she do for Brandini? Nothing. The pride which had caused him to flee from such help as he might have received from his friends would prevent his accepting assistance from a woman he had known in that exclusive circle. One of the unseen analyses that beset life way of those who tread roseate paths had been suddenly exposed to her vision.

The only effort Miss Tracy felt herself in a position to make in Brandini's behalf was to inform her father of her meeting with the Italian with a view to learning if anything could be done for him. Mr. Tracy was disposed to help one who had contributed to his and his daughter's pleasure in a foreign land. He went to the restaurant where Henrietta had seen Brandini, and described him to the proprietor, who was told that a man answering that description had left his service on the day Miss Tracy had met Brandini. The proprietor did not know where he had gone. That ended the matter for the time being and possibly forever.

But Fate, who delights in arranging all sorts of complications for us, was working the matter in his own peculiar fashion. Many a man's career has been determined by some slight incident such as missing a train, falling into a river or running up against some one turning a corner. In this case the agent through which fate worked was a newspaper. Some eighteen months after Miss Tracy's meeting with Brandini in a restaurant she advised for a chauffeur. Recalling several replies, she appointed a day and an hour when the applicants for the position might present themselves for inspection. When she entered the room where they were assembled and cast her eye over them whom should she see among the number but Luigi Brandini. His mortification was apparent in his scarlet face. He made a movement to retire but changed his mind. It was too late.

Miss Tracy questioned the men one after another, dismissing them as soon as examined until she came to Brandini. The two stood alone together. Brandini looking as if he would like to escape. Miss Tracy looked as if she would like to prevent him from doing so.

For a moment she hesitated whether to speak to him as a former friend or as an applicant for the position of chauffeur. She decided on the latter course.

"Your name?" she asked.

"Giovanni Riccardonna."

"How much experience have you had in running automobiles?"

"None whatever, signora. I am sure I would not suit you. I should not have answered your advertisement."

"Nevertheless I like your appearance, and think that, after a little practice, you will be able to drive my auto very well. You are engaged?"

"Gardon me, signora. I am quite sure I should not be able to." He stopped, bowed his head and fixed his eyes on the floor.

"Signor Brandini," said the lady, "you are among friends."

"There was no reply to this. He did not even raise his eyes.

"You Italians," she continued, "were very kind to us when we were in Italy. My father, my mother and I were indebted to you among others for a very pleasant sojourn in your Italian capital. Perhaps my father may be able to help you out of this quagmire into which you have fallen."

He raised his eyes to hers.

"I wish you would consult him in reference to your affairs. He would consider it a favor if you would permit him through you to return some of the favors received from your countrymen while we were in Rome."

"There is nothing he can do for me, signora."

"You mean that your ancestral pride will not permit you to accept anything at his hands. In that you are wrong. Indeed, you are absurd. You need some one to throw a switch to turn the rails of fate and place you on the main track."

"Signora, you are apt at condensing the expression of ideas."

"Give me your address."

He needed in her request, and she secured a promise from him to answer any communication that might be sent to him. Then she permitted him to depart.

That was some years ago. Now Luigi Brandini is a member of the Italian parliament, and his wife, formerly Miss Tracy, is prominent in Roman social life and, possessing a fortune, can afford certain important charities. The Romans have often tried to learn where Brandini passed those years that he was lost to Rome, but have never succeeded. Of all concerned the Tracy family are the only ones who know that the legislator once swung a napkin in an American restaurant.

MUST EDUCATE PEOPLE IN MATTER OF GOOD ROADS.

Thomas Nelson Page Tells of Benefits of the Movement.

"Of all the material affairs of the country at present," says Thomas Nelson Page, the author, "the improvement of the public roads seems to me the most important and far-reaching. Every improvement of our roads is a direct increase in the value of our property and a directness somewhat to the improvement, physically, morally and mentally, of our people. It is not too much to say that in the southern portion of this country we are five years behind at least a part of the north in this matter of roads, and we are 200 years behind Europe, at least that portion of Europe over which I have traveled, extending from the northern borders of Norway down to the southernmost points of Italy and Spain. Our people need to be educated in this matter of good roads as much as on any other matter in the world."

"It takes a long time to establish a new idea in the minds of a great conservative population, but this new idea is taking root among our people and will in time become established. The new idea of farming is being introduced, which is already increasing materially the productivity of the soil and the knowledge of our farming population as to the value of improved methods, and it is as certain as any other law of nature that in time the improvement of the public roads will result."

The only question is whether we shall allow this improvement to be postponed until our generation are all dead, and buried or whether we shall bring this improvement in our own time and get the benefits of it—whether we shall use our knowledge and our opportunities to give to the rising generation throughout the country the benefits which come directly from a great system of good roads opening the way to enlightenment and comfort of all kinds or whether we shall leave them to suffer from the want of such a system and possibly even from the want of knowledge that such improvement is essential."

ROADS AND RELIGION.

Better Highways Will Increase the Church Attendance.

At the national good roads congress Bishop Fallows said:

"Good roads are closely allied to religion. Good roads in the country districts would not only increase the church attendance, but would improve the general moral tone of the community. It is a work that is worthy of the assistance of all the churches in the country."

That is good gospel. A man's ideas are always battered by fair surroundings. Order, neatness, usefulness, constitute a sort of high plane of thinking. Given the character of the material conditions of a community and you can almost tell how it will vote or in what numbers it will go to church. A dirty gutter is an obscene story. A deep mudhole in a country road is a nest of profanity. A miserable, old, broken down locomotive near by is a scandal in the neighborhood. A man's thoughts are largely what his surroundings make them. If they are ragged, filthy and disordered so is his thinking.

So in making good roads, parks, sidewalks and gutters the tone of public sentiment is elevated, and it can then be counted upon to support the true progress of a community. A bad old locomotive is a bad companion. Ohio State Journal.

Women to Help Beautify Roads.
The town Federation of Women's Clubs has joined in the good roads movement in that state.

While the men are agitating the advisability of making drag roads or establishing cross state highways the women will make a plan for the abatement of landscape disfiguring signboards and that terra be planted along the cross state routes that the roads might be made shiny and more beautiful.

IT SOMETIMES RAINS

It is easy sailing in fair weather. With a fair income anyone can get along for the present happy-go-lucky, letting tomorrow take care of itself. But the day may come when the income stops, or sickness or death absorbs it. What then? Then there's old age. Are you smart enough to overcome that? Isn't it up to you to stop and think about the "rainy day?" Sometimes it rains, sometimes it pours. The time will come when you will need an umbrella. You can't always get in out of the wet. Right then your best umbrella will consist of a stiff upper lip and a bank account. Better start now.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

New Coal and Wood Heating Stoves

Coal Stoves that Burn the Smoke
Oil Heating and Cook Stoves
Stove Board; Oil Cloth Rugs
Coal Hods and Sifters
Potato Forks and Hooks
Corn Knives Corn Rope
POTATO AND APPLE CRATES BASKETS MEASURES
Tin, Enameled and Aluminum Ware
Fishing Tackle

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

Dr. A. B. Spinney will be at BAKER'S INN, Charlevoix, SUNDAY, SEPT. 15 ALL DAY

Dr. A. B. Spinney of Detroit, a specialist of 53 years' experience in treating chronic diseases, will give FREE CONSULTATION.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.
I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing.

I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE PILES in 30 days to stay cured and to never return.

I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by seeing or my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given best of care, may work out here.

Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and give advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life—to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.
Belding Sanitarium & Retreat, Belding, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how to get it—this is one, salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 25-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting manner, although you were visiting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling instruction, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.

THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Sales Annually.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Read the Courier ad. It means a Saving to You.

The Charlevoix Courier

Published every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors

A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courtier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year..... $1.50
One copy, six months..... .75
One copy, three months..... .40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where subscription is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

NOTWITHSTANDING the manner in which the primary campaign was waged in this county, which was a source of pride both to the people of Charlevoix county and to the candidates, none of whom stooped to personalities, all urging their claims to the consideration of the electors on their competency to fill the position to which they had aspirations, it has been brought to our attention that a certain newspaper published in this county, probably because the candidates chose what they considered as the best medium for advertising and increased circulation, feels a little sore, takes the occasion to insult the whole newspaper fraternity by insinuating that there are papers that sell their editorial support. The Courier wishes to go on record as expressing the belief that there is no paper published in Charlevoix county, and it is doubtful if in the state, that will sell its editorial support, and we regret exceedingly that such an insinuation should have been made.

While we are on the subject of political advertising, we wish again to point out our views upon the matter. We believe that all candidates, who are worthy of support, should be given an equal chance.
We don't believe they are at the present time. The man with the most money, who can buy the most advertising, has an advantage over the man who has merit and fitness, but has not an equal amount to expend in advertising. It is absolutely necessary that in some way the people become familiar with the reasons why candidates ask for their support, and what measures they stand for. To reach the people there are only three ways: personally, by letter and through newspaper advertising. We believe that the issuing of political letters and advertising should be regulated by law and placed in control of public officials, and that the candidates should be required to pay into the public treasury such sum as might be found necessary to pay the expenses of a statement of why they ask support being published and placed in the hands of every voter.
Having required this we believe they should be forbidden to cause anything more to be circulated or printed in advocacy of their candidacy. We believe the last issue of The Courier before the primary gave a good illustration of our idea.
The Courier was sent to every enrolled Republican in Charlevoix county. Where we were unable to secure a signed statement furnished us by a candidate, we announced what the platform of the candidate was and why they asked support.

Report of the Condition of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank at Charlevoix, Michigan, at the close of business September 4, 1912, as called for by the Commissioner of the Banking Department.

RESOURCES

Loans and discounts, $12,000.00
Commercial department, $12,000.00
Savings department, $12,000.00
Bonds, mortgages and securities,
$12,000.00
Savings department, $12,000.00
Overdrafts, $12,000.00
Banking house, $12,000.00
Furniture and fixtures, $12,000.00
Other real estate, $12,000.00
Items in transit, $12,000.00
Total, $12,000.00

LIABILITIES

Capital stock paid in, $12,000.00
Surplus fund, $12,000.00
Undivided profits, $12,000.00
Commercial deposits, $12,000.00
Savings deposits, $12,000.00
Total, $12,000.00

STATE OF MICHIGAN

I, W. J. KACHOW, Cashier, County of Charlevoix, do hereby announced and solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief and correctly represents the true state of the several matters therein contained, as shown by the books of the bank.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 9th day of September, A. D. 1912.

ROBERT W. KANE, Notary Public.
My commission expires January 13, 1913.

Correct attest: R. E. POOLEY, Directors.

so nil were represented, although all did not share in the additional expense we were put to in preparing the special edition. We believe were some such plan as this adopted whereby all were put upon an equal basis and equal expense, the people would be better informed on the qualifications of candidates for public office, and the danger of securing incompetent officials would be reduced to a minimum.

NEW FACES WILL BE FEW

(Continued from page 1)

Individual supply list for grade pupils:

Beginners—Pencil and Crayon

crayons.

First grade—Blodgett reader,

book 1; Paints; Crayon

crayons; Pencil; Eraser.

Second grade—Blodgett reader,

book 2; Paints; Crayon

crayons; Eraser; Music reader, book 1.

Third grade—Blodgett reader,

book 3; Smith's primary arithmetic;

Hyde's language, book 1; Paints;

Music reader, book 1; Pencil; Pen holder; Eraser.

Fourth grade—Blodgett reader, book 4; Dodge's Elements of Geography; Hyde's language, book 1;

Music reader, book 1; Spelling blank; Composition book; Dictionary; Crayon

crayons; Paints;

Cork pen holder; Pencil; Eraser;

Ruler; Smith's primary arithmetic;

Fifth grade—Smith's intermediate arithmetic; Dodge's Elements of Geography; Hyde's English, book 1;

Eaton grammar school reader;

Dictionary; Two composition books;

Pen holder; Pencil; Fable; Eraser;

Ruler; Paints; Smith music reader, book 2; Crayon

crayons.

Sixth grade—Smith's intermediate arithmetic; Hyde's English, book 2;

Mac's primary history; Dodge's advanced geography; Smith music reader, book 3; Reed's spelling book;

Tablet; Dictionary; Spelling blank;

Ruler; Pencil; Paints; Elson grammar school reader, book 2.

Seventh grade—Hyde's English, book 2; Elson grammar school reader, book 3; Dodge's advanced geography; Harding's story of England; Davison's Human Body and Health, advanced; Smith's advanced arithmetic; Loose leaf note book;

Spelling blank; Pencil and pen tablets; Ruler; Pencil; Eraser; Pen holder; Dictionary; Paints.

Eighth grade—Smith's advanced arithmetic; Human Body and Health, advanced; Hyde's English, book 2; (S. A.) Shinnick's U. S. civil government; (S. A.) McKone's state civil government; Elson grammar school reader, book 3; Cork tip pen

holder; Pencil; Eraser; Tablets;

Paints; Spelling blank; Loose leaf notebook.

THEATRICAL

Manager Karelake of the roller rink gave his patrons something out of the ordinary the first of the week by securing "Daredevil Frank"

the sensational performer on roller skates. Mr. Frank is a sure enough entertainer, both as a fancy skater and as a thriller, when he performs some most sensational stunts. His work in the "dip to death," barrel jumping and other novelty acts are worth witnessing. A return engagement is announced for Saturday night, and all who failed to see him Monday or Tuesday night will have an opportunity to see a real novelty.

Manager Wildern of the Majestic

announces for tonight, Clifford and Brice in singing and dancing

comedy. Friday and Saturday

Stewart & Desmond will be the bill

PIONEER OF THIS REGION

Archibald Cameron of Central Lake Died
Sunday Evening.

One of Antrim County's Leading Business Men—Came There in 1865.

Archibald Cameron, one of the pioneer residents of Antrim county passed away at his home in Central Lake Sunday evening at six o'clock, at the age of seventy-two years. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland in 1840, and came with his parents to Toronto, Canada, when three years of age. In 1850 he removed to Leavenworth, Kansas, and from there to New Mexico. In 1861 he returned to Leavenworth and enlisted in the First Kansas Volunteer Infantry and served his country until discharged in September 1865. He then came to Milton, Antrim county, where he was engaged in agricultural pursuits until 1880. He then entered the employ of John H. Silkmann of Torch Lake village and in June, 1884, he, with three other brothers, purchased the interest in the lumbering interests of Mr. Silkmann at that place. In 1872 Mr. Cameron was married to Miss Emma R. Smith of Milton; one son and three daughters resulting from the union, William Cameron, Central Lake; Mrs.
Agnes Sulehow, Traverse City; Mrs.
Mary Vaughn and Louise Cameron, Central Lake.

After closing up their Torch Lake interests, the brothers removed to Central Lake, where they conducted their lumbering interests until the timber was exhausted, since which time Mr. Cameron had retired from business.

DEMOCRATS MEET

Supporters of Wilson Hold County Convention—Will Make Active Campaign.

The Democratic county convention was held in this city the first of the week. Dr. G. W. Cronier acted as chairman of the convention and Byron J. Quick of Boyne City as secretary. The following delegates were elected to the state convention:
Dr. G. W. Cronier, Charlevoix;
George Fineman, Charlevoix; W. J.
Lewis, Boyne City and F. E. Boosinger, East Jordan.

W. J. Lewis and Byron J. Quick of Boyne City, were chosen chairman and secretary of the county committee and we are informed that an active campaign will be waged in this county.

HAY FROM THE SOY BEAN.

Directions For Handling Forage From This Useful Plant.

For hay soy beans are cut with the mower and as soon as wilted raked into small windrows. They are allowed to dry here for a short time and should then be put into small shocks and allowed to stand until well cured.
Experience is necessary in curing soy bean hay, but those who have made cowpea hay will find less trouble in curing that of soy beans. A correspondent writes in regard to curing cowpea hay that he sets posts about one foot into the ground, nails cross pieces near the bottom and shocks the hay over the posts as soon as cut. The forks of pea vines are slipped over the post, which is sharpened, and a good sized shock made. No further at-

DEVICE FOR CURING SOY BEAN HAY IN SHOCK.

(From bulletin Kentucky agricultural station.)

Attention is given until the hay is cured.
He claims that hay cured in this way is of extra fine quality, but does not say how much time it takes to handle the hay in this manner. It would probably not prove practical on a large scale, but is worth trying with a small crop.

Another contrivance often used in curing soy bean or cowpea hay in illustrated here. The hay is allowed to wilt and is then raked into windrows and piled over these frames. Being held up from the ground and having an air space in the center of the shock,
the hay, of course, cures quite rapidly.
This apparatus appears to be more

Modart Corsets

We have a limited quantity of

$5.00 Lace Front Modart Corsets on Hand

Which we are Closing Out. If you wish to get a High-class Corset at a very Low Price, now is your chance.

The Price on these Corsets until closed out will be

$2.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

VANPELT BLOCK

SPECIAL SALE

OF

Sideboards, Buffets, China Cabinets

To reduce our stock on these goods and to realize a little needed money
—We will, during this month, make the following SPECIAL PRICES.

$28 Sideboards	$25.00	$25 Buffets	$22.00
$23 " "	$20.00	$23 " "	$20.00
$21 " "	$19.00	$22 " "	$19.50
$16 " "	$14.50	$21 " "	$19.00
		$20 " "	$18.00

$28.00 China Cabinets for $25.00

$23.00 " " " $20.00

$21.00 " " " $19.00

$16.00 " " " $14.00

$14.00 " " " $12.00

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable House Furnishers

practical than the one described above.
Neither soy bean nor cowpea hay keeps well in a stack unless given a good covering of timothy or other grass, because the coarseness of the stems allows the water to penetrate so readily. The stack should also be made on brush, rails or boards to keep the hay from becoming damp and moldy on the bottom.—Bulletin, Kentucky Agricultural Station.

CO-OPERATION.

Co-operative effort has enabled many farmers and stockmen to improve their live stock. It is an easy matter to secure the best breeding stock when a number of farmers buy males upon the co-operative plan. It does not require large capital to farm, but it requires intelligence and business organization.

Carbolic acid is one of the best of disinfectants. Mixed with water at the rate of one to twenty, it makes an excellent spray for the poultry and hog houses and dairy barns. When whitewash is applied to the interior of these buildings an ounce of the acid should be added to a gallon of the whitewash.

It is pretty shallow philosophy and mighty shoddy morals which cause many good folk whose blood has cooled to deny young people recreation and entertainment of possibly questionable character when they are not willing to lift a finger or go down into their pockets to provide pastimes which are wholesome.

We have received our Fall line of

Ladies' Misses' and Children's

COATS

and have as complete a line as was ever shown in Charlevoix

We Invite your Inspection of these Goods, as we feel confident that we will be able to please you, both as to

Price and Quality of Material

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

..FARMS NEAR CHARLEVOIX..

I have carefully listed a few choice farms near Charlevoix and I want to tell you about them. These farms are level, have good land, buildings and bearing orchards.

G. I. B. McLEAN Charlevoix and Boyne City

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Oh, you Scappers. We're glad the hot weather is over. The Inn closed Tuesday after a successful season.

Rex Beardsley of Boyne City visited here last week.

John A. Newville of Boyne City was in the city Monday.

Joe Slatchke visited friends at Traverse City last week.

A. T. Burnett spent Friday in Harbor Springs on business.

Miss Merle Felts made a brief trip to Chicago last week.

George W. Fryhofer left yesterday on a brief visit to Chicago.

Miss Eva Cram is home from Chicago on a two weeks' visit.

Mrs. M. N. Lapeer is much improved after her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowen were Sunday guests at Ben Nowland's.

Mrs. Harvey Campbell made a brief visit to Traverse City today.

W. J. Lewis and B. J. Quick of Boyne City were in the city today.

Fred Cook of Grand Rapids was a business caller in the city Saturday.

The Methodist conference will meet at Big Rapids next Wednesday.

Miss Lilah Bradley of Harbor Springs, visited relatives here Sunday.

Miss Mildred Messenger of Grand Rapids is visiting friends in the city.

Born Sunday, September 8, to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Scott of Norwood, a girl.

Mrs. Agnes LeMar visited friends at Boyne City the latter part of the week.

Frank P. Geiken of Pellston was a business caller here the first of the week.

Miss Gertrude Heath returned Monday from a visit to Boyne Falls.

Misses Mary and Clare Finucan made a brief visit to Traverse City today.

Paul Harsha is enjoying a week's visit with friends and relatives at Detroit.

Miss Madeline Mullen returned Saturday from a brief visit to Chicago.

Misses Mayfred Stacks and Winnie Weaver spent Friday at Beaver Island.

Harvey Webster of Warren, Ohio, is the guest of his brother, Amos Webster.

The S. S. Maniton makes her last trip south for this season tomorrow, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lynde were guests of Matt Saunders' and Ben Nowland's.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Coulter last Thursday, an eight pound boy.

Miss Ethel Brady left today for Indiana, where she will make an extended visit.

George Brown and family are attending the West Michigan state fair this week.

The adjourned August term of Circuit Court will convene again next Monday.

Miss Mariou Parsons left Monday for Alma, where she will attend the Alma college.

Hubert Paddock visited friends at Boyne City last week, returning here Saturday.

Misses Lois Frazier and Marjorie Weaver visited friends at Harbor Point, Monday.

W. W. McKay of Gary, Indiana, is spending the day here Sunday at J. A. Cameron's.

Mayor Nordrum made a brief trip to Mackinac Island Saturday, returning Sunday.

Harrison Wallace arrived here Monday from St. Ignace to visit with his parents.

County Commissioner of Schools Millard was in the city the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Corrine Moore Lawson will sing at the Methodist church next Sunday morning.

Andy McCall Jr. and family are making a two weeks' visit with relatives at Shepherd.

Mrs. D. Blissett and Mrs. M. Peck of Central Lake visited here the latter part of the week.

Miss Caroline Cole is enjoying a week's vacation from her duties at the telephone office.

Rev. Taylor will hold his last service of the year at the Methodist church next Sunday.

Clarence Bridge left yesterday for Schenectady, N. Y., where he will continue his studies.

Douglas Nettleton left Sunday for Morgantown, West Virginia, where he will attend college.

Dr. Cronter returned home Tuesday from a business trip to the south part of the state.

Miss Marguerite McNeil left Monday for Alma, where she will be a student at Alma college.

R. A. Emrey and wife returned home Tuesday from South Haven, Kalamazoo and Chicago.

Rev. F. M. Taylor, pastor of the M. E. Church, leaves for conference at Big Rapids next Tuesday.

Miss Constance Iddings has returned home from Chicago where she has been for some time.

Miss Carrie Bennett returned home Saturday from Glen Haven where she visited relatives.

The open season for teal and mallard ducks begins next Sunday and continues until December 31.

Mrs. Henry Barth leaves tomorrow for Germany, where she intends to make her future home.

Miss Mary O'Leary left last night for Bloomington, Illinois, where she will teach the coming year.

Joseph Cooper and family are attending the West Michigan state fair at Grand Rapids this week.

The Dorothy K. of Northport, towed John Munroe's pile driver here the latter part of the week.

Miss Bessie Alexander of Boyne City visited Miss Marguerite McNeil last Friday and Saturday.

Robert C. Jones sold his property on Petoskey Avenue to Joseph Krulick the latter part of the week.

Miss Marion Saunders left the latter part of the week for Ann Arbor, where she will attend high school.

Miss Irene Harsha left today for Northampton, N. Y., where she has accepted a position as supervisor of art.

George Hamlin and family of Traverse City visited with the former's father, A. M. Hamlin, last week.

Mrs. W. D. Morton and daughter of Wayne, Michigan, are visiting with Mrs. Lamerax and daughter Edith.

C. E. Scott of Norwood has some of the finest pears, of the Flemish Beauty variety, ever grown in this county.

James McCrorey and wife returned Friday to their home in Grand Rapids, after an extended visit with relatives.

Robert C. Jones left Monday for his new home in Detroit, his wife and daughter, Mary, having gone last week.

Dr. Lucy Bon and daughters, Anna and Hattie are visiting in Lansing and other southern Michigan points.

Mrs. D. S. Payton returned home Saturday after a few days' visit at Traverse City with her son, Vernon, and family.

The Lady Macabees will hold a special meeting at the home of Mrs. D. G. Tillotson, September 17. Every body come.

Mrs. Wm. Scroggie, Sr., and grandson Valdean, returned Friday from a short visit with relatives at Boyne City.

Miss Janie Mitchell returned home Monday from a few weeks' visit in New Jersey, Ohio and southern Michigan.

Mrs. Ella Fox returned to her home at Grand Rapids the latter part of the week after a short visit with relatives.

John Burns of this city is one of the jurors drawn for the United States court, which meets at Grand Rapids October 8.

W. E. Hampton returned home Sunday morning from South Haven where he attended the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias.

Harry and Mose Cohen left Sunday for Morgantown, West Virginia, where they will attend the University of that city.

Mrs. H. A. Martin and daughter Bessie, returned to their home in Elk Rapids, last week, after several weeks stay in this city.

The steamer City of Boyne will leave here for the East Jordan fair Friday at 8:00 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. Fair round trip 50 cents.

Mrs. E. A. Kneegesser and children of Boyne City spent Saturday and Sunday in the city with her mother, Mrs. Lamerax.

William Wenman, who has been helping to run the roller rink here during the summer, is now managing the East Jordan rink.

Miss Bess Mulrone has returned to her home in St. Ignace, after visiting at the home of Capt. Wm. Finucan the past two weeks.

Dr. E. R. Herman returned to his home in Illinois the latter part of the week after making a short visit with his brother, R. A. Herman.

Pat Glensoo and George Kemp of Chicago left for their homes yesterday after spending a few weeks at Baker's Inn and visiting with old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hudson returned the latter part of the week to their home at Mt. Pleasant, after visiting at the home of the former's parents.

W. J. Rachow, cashier of the State Savings Bank, left for Detroit Tuesday night where he will attend the convention of the American Bankers' association.

Arthur Edwards, son of Albert E. Edwards, has returned home in time for school after spending a couple of weeks with relatives and friends in Detroit.

On account of the Jewish new year the stores in this city conducted by members of that religion will be closed the rest of the week until Friday at 6:00 p. m.

M. N. Wagner of New York, who is connected with the United States customs service, is the guest of Judge Mayne, who is an old time friend of boyhood days.

Captain Geiken's new gasoline boat, "Sunflower," arrived the latter part of the week from Northport and he expects to start for Gloucester, Massachusetts, on it this week, where he will fish during the winter.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the Methodist church. The members of the Petoskey union are expected to be present and a fine program will be given. Refreshments will be served to the guests and members.

C. W. Marshall has been spending the past few days in the city on business connected with the Equitable Life Insurance company. He recently returned from the Thous and Islands where he attended a convention of that company.

Mrs. A. E. Mason and children returned last week from Traverse City after making a short visit with relatives. While there they had a very narrow escape during an electric storm, the bed which Helen was sleeping on, being set on fire; however no injuries were sustained.

The Hart Transportation Company has recently been formed in this city for the purpose of taking contracts for handling freight by water. The company consists of A. L. Hart, William Knight and A. Loren Hart. They will handle the boats, A. C. Pierce and G. R. Driske.

Miss Jennie Carey, after visiting with her brother, Archibald, in Detroit for over two weeks, and spending several days in Highland, Michigan, with her uncle Lyle, has returned home by way of Pontiac and Saginaw, stopping off at these places to see friends and relatives.

M. M. Wagner of New York City, where he is connected with the U. S. consular office, will address the Men's Bible class Sunday noon at the Carnegie Library. Mr. Wagner is a decidedly interesting speaker and will give the class something different than they have ever before heard.

Lafe Alcock of Highland, Mich., formerly of Charlevoix, has secured a good position with the Studebaker Corporation, and intends to move his family to Detroit in the very near future. Old friends will be glad to learn of Lafe's whereabouts as many will remember him as being one of Charlevoix's favorite bus drivers and livery men some years ago.

Georgia Adams and Carrie Cole, two of our local telephone girls, recently dared each other to hike to Petoskey. Both were game and they made the trip in a roundabout way, covering a distance of twenty-seven miles, arriving in Petoskey in time to take the train back to this city, tired, hungry and utterly disgusted with life, but having great tales to tell of their experience in dodging meeting friends.

PLEASANT EVENING

Baptist Young People Entertain Petoskey Young People Last Week.

On Wednesday evening the young people of the Baptist church entertained the members of the Petoskey B. Y. P. U., about thirty, of which were able to respond to the invitation. Supper was served in the church parlors, after which an informal, but very inspiring, program was rendered in the auditorium above, the members and pastors of both churches participating. A small token in the way of a B. Y. P. U. pennant was presented to the visiting society before leaving on the last evening train. About two weeks before the local society was entertained at the Parr Memorial church in Petoskey by the young people there. Both meetings will long be remembered by everyone present.

M. A. Levinson & Company's store will be closed from 6:00 p. m. Wednesday until 6:00 p. m. Friday of this week, on account of Jewish holiday.

For Sale.

Or will rent for season of 1913. Levinson home on Dixon Avenue. Inquire at store.

Subscribe for the Courier.

TOMATOES

FOR CANNING

A. ECKLUND
Phone 167-31

COURIER

BARGAIN
COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15¢ first insertion.

FOR SALE—Forty acre farm, next to Waller's fruit farm, one mile from city, on north side. Also four acres next to golf grounds, Ed Norton, Phone 26, 354.

FARM FOR SALE—One hundred and sixty acre farm three and one-half miles southwest of Bay Shore. Good land, fair home, good barn, windmill, 24 acres cleared. Sylvester Miller, Bay Shore, Mich.

FOR SALE—New 500 ft. 21 foot carrier, capacity 2 tons hourly, B. Wilkinson, 11

LOST—Within one mile south of north of Maple Grove garage building, a small round hand bag with baby clothes in it. Ben Brown.

FOR SALE—Nine-year-old mare, weight about 1200. Inquire of C. W. Fox, R. F. D. 1.

HOUSE FOR RENT—Furnished or unfurnished. Inquire of Mrs. B. W. Miller.

CRANE'S

Winter Wearthings

Charming in Style, Material and Making

Fashion has been generous in her gift of designs this year and every woman will find it possible to get a garment adapted to her particular needs.

To describe here, the various features is impossible. So we simply ask that you come and view the array we've prepared. We aim each season to excel all previous showings, and we will leave the judgment of our success with you. Come and let us show you the new things.

There will be no opportunity to buy; you'll be under no obligation. The store is yours during this display of Autumn and Winter Wearthings.

The Store that Sells "Wooltex"

LOW PRICES

—IN—

Minnesota Wheat Flour

We believe that the weather has been such that present prices of Flour are lowest.

We have a Good Price on Minnesota Wheat Flours of OLD GRAIN

In Barrels and One-half Barrels

Call and See Us

Argo Milling Co.

Charlevoix County Fair

If you are going to see Fred Dobell and his Aeroplane make two flights daily at the Charlevoix County Fair, study the following: Special Through Train service Petoskey to East Jordan and return P. M. R. R. Bellaire E. J. & S. R. R.

September 11-12-13

Bay View	8:30 a. m.	Round trip	$1.50
Petoskey	8:35 a. m.	Round trip	1.50
Bay Shore	8:48 a. m.	Round trip	1.50
Charlevoix	9:00 a. m.	Round trip	1.30
Belvedere	9:08 a. m.	Round trip	1.30
Phelps	9:22 a. m.	Round trip	1.10
Ellsworth	9:31 a. m.	Round trip	.95
Central Lake	9:46 a. m.	Round trip	.75
Bellaire	10:04 a. m.	Round trip	.50

Arrive Fair Grounds, East Jordan, 10:50 a. m.
Arrive Depot, East Jordan, 11:00 a. m.
Returning, leave East Jordan Depot 6:00 p. m. Fair Grounds, 6:10 p. m. Arriving Petoskey 9:30 p. m., Bay View 10:40 p. m.
Passengers from Harbor Springs and other Traverse Bay points take suburban trains or boats to connect with above.
Will leave Charlevoix daily at 9:00 a. m. & 1:30 p. m. connecting with P. M. trains going and returning. Round trip, 25¢.

The Str. Hum

Take a Stroll

Down Bridge Street and Look Into my Window. It has a Story to tell you which Means Dollars Saved.

C. R. BELLINGER
Pioneer Jeweler

CLEAR LAND
WITH OU PONT RedCross Dynamite

The upper view shows how groups of big stumps, are blasted clean at one time, with all dirt off the roots and stumps shattered into kindling wood. At the same time the subsoil is thoroughly broken up, creating a fine home for the new crop. Lower view shows a celery crop worth $800 per acre ten months after stumps were blasted out.

To learn how progressive farmers are using dynamite for removing stumps and boulders, planting and cultivating fruit trees, regenerating barren soil, ditching, draining, excavating, and road-making.

Ask for Booklet

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

"It's THE BEST POLISH I EVER USED"

That's What Every One Says Who Tries

Black Silk Stove Polish

DON'T imagine for a moment that all kinds of stove polish are the same. Don't get the idea that a cheap polish is any good. It's not. It's a question of the stove polish to use.

Black Silk Stove Polish is a much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison. It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as other polishes.

Get a tin and give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove, or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer will refund your money. Black Silk Stove Polish has been made by the same formula and with the same care for 20 years.

It is what you want for your stove.

Ask Your Dealer
Black Silk Stove Polish Works, Sterling, Ill.

"A Shine in Every Drop"

Farm Dairying

Holstein Calf

V.—Care of the Calf.

By LAURA ROSE,
Demonstrator and Lecturer in Dairying
at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Canada.

(Copyright, 1911, by A. C. McClurg & Co.)

THERE is a difference of opinion among farmers as to letting the calf suck the dam at all. Some take it away immediately, but the greater number leave the calf with its mother at least twenty-four hours after it is born. It is always safer to allow it to stay that length of time unless the cow is known to be tuberculous, in which case the calf should be removed right away and not allowed to be licked by its mother or to drink any of her milk. Tuberculosis is not hereditary, but may be contracted.

To teach a calf to drink let it get quite hungry first, then insert two fingers in its mouth and lower the head into the milk. Calf feeders can be taught and are liked by some. If the calf proves obstinate—and depend upon it some surely will—the milk will cool while your patience is being tried. It must be beaten by adding a little hot water to it, for the young baby must not get cold milk, even when it is obstinate. Remember it is ignorant nature for a young calf to put its head down to drink, so while it is learning this we must be patient. It will beg matters at first to raise the pail, or better still, a dish, to the calf, if possible. Never feed in wooden pails. They soon sour. Always wash and sterilize the pails at least once a day. It takes less time than to bother with sick calves.

As a rule, it is a good plan to feed the calf whole milk for the first three weeks, though there are many strong ones which would stand the change to skim milk at two weeks. At first give from six to eight pints (two and one-half to three and one-half quarts, according to the size of the calf, twice daily. At the end of three weeks it should get from eight to ten pints. In the event of a calf from any cause not getting the colostrum (first milk), which is very laxative and intended by nature to cleanse the bowels of the young animal, it is advisable to feed it with the milk from the freshest, lowest teatling cow you have, at the same time watching carefully to see if the bowels are acting. If not give about two tablespoonfuls of warm raw flaxseed oil or castor oil, repeating the dose if necessary.

Jersey milk is often too rich in fat for the calf to do well on it. Such milk should be diluted with water. Or give the calf milk from another fresh cow of low test if you have one.

"In feeding calves by hand," said an expert stock raiser to me, "I would never be without a thermometer and some means of weighing the milk, as I would far rather let a calf go without a meal than have it get a couple of pounds too much milk or have it get it at a temperature of 70 degrees if it had been used to getting it at 60 degrees, which is about right."

When heating milk for calves it is best to place the vessel containing it in a pan of hot water; then there is no danger of its being burned or boiled. One great advantage of separator milk is that it fed immediately it is at the right temperature and is fresh and sweet. Besides, I think the infant heat in the milk has a certain vitality in it. The froth should be removed. It is not good for the calf, sometimes causing colic.

In changing from whole milk to skim milk do not be in too great a hurry. Take at least a week to make the change.

At two or three weeks the calf will begin to eat a little hay and should be provided with some nice, bright clover hay. It should also get a little meal about this time. A good plan is to fill the hand with bran and crushed oats, and when the calf has finished its milk hold your fingers for it to suck, and while it is doing so sprinkle the meal a little at a time into its mouth with your thumb. Another plan is to put a little meal into the bottom of the pail just as it has finished drinking. Some give it a few whole oats. The chewing and mixing of the food with saliva promote digestion and thrift. A little pulped roots is relished by the calf and tends to keep the appetite keen. If you wish to fatten a calf give it some fat producing food, such as a little cornmeal.

A calf of two months should not get over eight quarts of milk per day; at four months it cannot make good use of more than ten quarts. With this it should get two quarts of mixed crushed grain per day and all the hay it can eat.

At six months the milk allowance may be dropped out, or before that time if milk is scarce. Weaning the calf from milk should be a slow process by substituting water gradually. Calves should have fresh, clean water to drink from babyhood to maturity.

Do not forget the supply of salt for the calves. Occasionally put a lump of fresh and in the calf pen. The calves seem to enjoy a taste of earth.

It is always well to substitute something to replace the fat taken from skim milk fed to calves. When making the change from whole milk a tablespoonful of ground flaxseed may be added to the milk. If flaxseed is used and there is nothing better, it should be well boiled and from a half cupful to a cupful of the jelly added to the warm milk. To make the jelly pass one pint of whole flaxseed to four quarts of water, add a little salt, soak overnight and hold for an hour next morning. Some put into the milk a little of the oatmeal porridge made for breakfast.

Good calves have been reared on hay tea. Good, bright green hay is put through a cuttng box and cut fine, three pounds per day allowed for a six-week-old calf. It is then well boiled, strained and a quarter of a pound each of ground flaxseed and wheat middlings added for each calf. It is again boiled and fed at a temperature of 60 degrees. This makes a nourishing, easily digested food. The older cattle relish the steeped hay.

A successful dairyman, who sends his milk all off the farm, uses the following mixture to make a thin gruel, a substitute for milk: One hundred pounds ground flaxseed, 100 pounds new grade flour, twenty-five pounds ground flaxseed.

In raising calves it is very unwise to pour the milk into a trough and let them all drink together.

Calves should not be exposed to extremes in weather and are better to be housed most of the time for at least the first six months of their lives.

The calf's skin is tender and may blister and become very sore if exposed to the hot sun. A nice clean grass paddock develops the muscles and keeps them in general good health. When calves sweat badly there is probably bad ventilation in the stable. Give them plenty of fresh air, even though it be cold.

The pen must be frequently cleaned out, be kept dry and have plenty of litter or the calves will not thrive and are sure to get some of the many troubles which a young stock is

JERSEY COW AND HER CALF.

is a good plan to sprinkle the floor with sand plaster and occasionally spray the pen with a good disinfectant.

Scours—or Diarrhea.

The most frequent trouble in raising a calf on skim milk is scours. The reason of this is nearly all cases is indigestion, due to one or more of the following: prevalent in calves. Too much milk; sour milk when the calf has been used to sweet; changing from whole to skim milk too suddenly; irregular hours of feeding; dirty feeding pails and dirty wet bedding. The disease frequently begins with constipation, which soon gives way to diarrhea.

Should the calf begin to scour at any time give it just about half its usual ration for a few days and two tablespoonfuls of raw flaxseed oil or castor oil. Some add twenty drops of laudanum. When the scouring has stopped, gradually increase the feed until the calf is getting his regular allowance.

There are several remedies for scours recommended by different authorities. Of these the most popular seem to be raw eggs, flour, flaxseed, black tea and wood meal. The latter is highly recommended as a calf feed. About a teaspoonful in the milk is said to be a cure for scours and if fed regularly is a preventive.

The first year—when she is a calf—is the most important in a cow's life. Stunt the calf and it can never develop into the profitable cow which good care and thrifty growth would have produced. It is true that the cow is partly born and partly made. Our aim should be to train the calf to make use of coarse foods.

Dehorning.

Where a large number of cows run together it is probably the safest and best plan to have them dehorned, though it certainly detracts from their appearance. The best time to dehorn is in the calf, he said, it is impossible to bring what its effect on roads and bridges will be. It is possibly not out of place, he said, to suggest that the solution of the problem lies in the passage of laws limiting the weight that may be carried over the public highways by motor trucks. In order to preserve the roads and bridges.

FARMERS ARE VITALLY INTERESTED IN GOOD ROADS

They Are the Ones Who Suffer Most From Bad Highways.

It is the farmer who is most directly and vitally interested in the improvement of the country roads. Whatever may be the ultimate destination of farm products their first movement is over the country roads. Every improvement in a highway, be it a waterway, a railway or a wagon road, means an enlargement of the opportunities of all those engaged in any kind of business contiguous to it.

Operating a farm is in the highest sense conducting a business in which a high grade of intelligence is required to insure success. The farmer is our greatest producer. His products are his crops of meat and foodstuffs. Unlike the manufacturer, he cannot load his products in cars at the scene of their production and be relieved of the responsibilities of transportation.

To him falls the duty of handling the entire salable production to the nearest and best market—perhaps a mile or probably twenty miles. With tod roads his burden must be done with

Chief Engineer Dean of Massachusetts Tells How to Overcome Difficulty of Building a Road to Withstand Both Horse and Motor Drawn Vehicles.

The necessity for building roads to suit the traffic they are to bear was emphasized by Chief Engineer A. W. Dean of the Massachusetts highway commission, formerly state engineer of New Hampshire, in an address made at the New Hampshire good roads congress in Concord, N. H.

A road should be built to sustain the traffic passing over it, according to Mr. Dean, no matter what it costs. If an expenditure of $12,000 per mile is required to construct a road to carry a certain amount of traffic without an the subsequent outlay for maintenance, and if a road costing less will not sustain the traffic without too large maintenance charges then it is economy to expend the larger amount in the original and construction. It is also better, he held, for a state or a municipality to build one mile of good road that will remain good without a large maintenance cost than to build two or three miles that will remain in good condition only a short time.

AN IDEAL BITUMINOUS MACADAM ROAD

Before building any section of a road the kind and amount of traffic that it carries should be ascertained, the future traffic should be estimated and considered as regards both kind and amount and the character of the surface to be built then determined, taking into account also the nature and availability of material. If after having made such determination and estimating the cost of the work it is found that the funds available are not sufficient it is much more economical to build a lesser mileage than original planned than it is to build the whole length and employ an inferior construction.

The ordinary water bound macadam road or a carefully constructed road of a good quality of gravel will stand a large amount of horse-drawn traffic but will not withstand automobile traffic. On the other hand, an ordinary water bound macadam road with a blanket surface of asphalt or tar will withstand automobile traffic, but not horse-drawn traffic. To build a permanent road that will withstand both kinds of traffic the minimum be incorporated with the upper portion of the road either by the mixing method or the penetration method.

WATER BOUND MACADAM ROAD IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

In connection with the subject of road surfaces and motor traffic Mr. Dean argued that the new method of transportation of merchandise by motor trucks has not been in use for a sufficiently long time for us to sufficiently amount to permit determination of its exact effect on roads. The number in use is increasing very rapidly, however, and the capacity of the trucks is being increased to an alarming extent, according to Mr. Dean. This, he held, is a matter that should receive the attention of roadmakers and legislators. If the use of these vehicles increases as rapidly during the next five years as it has during the past five, he said, it is impossible to predict what its effect on roads and bridges will be. It is possibly not out of place, he said, to suggest that the solution of the problem lies in the passage of laws limiting the weight that may be carried over the public highways by motor trucks. In order to preserve the roads and bridges.

FARMERS ARE VITALLY INTERESTED IN GOOD ROADS

They Are the Ones Who Suffer Most From Bad Highways.

It is the farmer who is most directly and vitally interested in the improvement of the country roads. Whatever may be the ultimate destination of farm products their first movement is over the country roads. Every improvement in a highway, be it a waterway, a railway or a wagon road, means an enlargement of the opportunities of all those engaged in any kind of business contiguous to it.

Operating a farm is in the highest sense conducting a business in which a high grade of intelligence is required to insure success. The farmer is our greatest producer. His products are his crops of meat and foodstuffs. Unlike the manufacturer, he cannot load his products in cars at the scene of their production and be relieved of the responsibilities of transportation.

To him falls the duty of handling the entire salable production to the nearest and best market—perhaps a mile or probably twenty miles. With tod roads his burden must be done with

SPECIAL MERIT SCHOOL SHOES

Shoes that stand the racket—that stand the kicking and scuffling, or rough play—that are good looking, tough and durable, yet not too heavy or clumsy. Have your boys and girls wear

Special Merit School Shoes and you will cut down shoe expenses at least one-half. These shoes, like all Mayer Shoes, are made of carefully selected leather, and are not substituted or slighted in any part. They have double leather toes, tough flexible soles and are easy on the feet. They wear like iron.

In every point they are the best made, and of the best material, which accounts for their remarkable wearing qualities. For boys and girls, no shoe equals "Special Merit" School Shoes. Call in and let us explain how Mayer Special Merit School Shoes will reduce your shoe bills.

"Mayer School Shoes Wear Like Iron."

A. E. MASON

Cash Grocer & Shoe Man

weather conditions are most favorable to thus keeping him and his team away from farm work.

This business must be counted as part of his cost of production. It requires labor, time, wear and tear of teams, all of which are elements in producing his profits, and the advantage or greatest amount of profit, other things being equal, goes to him who, living along a good highway, is able to more cheaply transport his products. Of two producers one of whom lives ten miles from a market on a bad road and the other fifteen miles on a good road the first, although closer to the market, will have no advantage over the other living farther away.

CARPET FOR ROADS.

An Improved Elastic and Dustless Carpet is a Necessity.

A carpet was recently delivered by a member of the road board before the Royal Institution of London on "The Road, Past, Present and Future." The lecturer said the problem was to find the best mode by which a road should be constructed so that its surface would not be broken by traffic, so that the traffic might be easier for both passengers and loads. A road which would form neither puddles nor exude mud from vehicles and create no dust when the weather was dry.

One thing was universally recognized—that the road of the future should be a truly bound road in which whatever kind of stone was used the stone should be held together so that it would form a crust. The lecturer suggested that what he called a carpet or an elastic skin should be adopted as the covering.

The carpet, he thought, should be made of bituminous material mixed with sand and placed on the roads in various thicknesses according to the nature of the traffic. It should go on in liquid form, solidifying quickly, but always remaining resilient and non-permeable and so interlocking with the crust of the road that there could be no shifting of the surface below.

The advantage of such a carpet, he was said, would be to permanently protect the crust, and just as a carpet on the floor softens the step so would this carpet for the roads silence the noise and reduce the shock of rolling vehicles. It was admitted that the original cost of a road so laid would be more than that of a hard bound road but spreading the cost over a series of years it would probably not be so great, since the crust of the road itself would not have to be renewed.

Mud and the Direct Market.

The city of Aurora, Ill., opened a city market, designed to bring farmers and consumers together for direct selling. About 1,000 housewives flocked to the spot on the opening day, to be met by one solitary farmer. He had driven eight miles with two elephants, twelve dozen eggs and a barrel of apples. The roads for miles around Aurora had been thick with mud, and the market had not been sufficiently advertised to persuade the farmers that a trip over such roads would be justified. The necessity of the market is one of several things needed before the grower can spend time to set his own product in small lots.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Robert O'Neill

FLOWERS

SPECIALTY OF

Sweet Peas

Telephone Orders to No.

283 3-rings

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

NORTH COUNTIES ARE IN LEAD

In the Estimated Yield of Nearly All Farm Crops.

Michigan State Crop Report Just Issued by Secretary of State.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 6, 1912. Wheat: The average estimated yield in the state is 10, in the southern counties 9, in the central counties 11, in the northern counties 14 and in the upper peninsula 20 bushels per acre. The quality as compared with an average per cent is 73 in the state, 70 in the southern counties, 75 in the central counties, 84 in the northern counties and 90 in the upper peninsula.

Oats: The estimated average yield in the state is 32, in the southern counties 33, in the central counties 31 and in the upper peninsula 35 bushels to the acre. The quality as compared with an average per cent is 84 in the state, 80 in the southern counties and 85 in the upper peninsula.

Rye: The estimated average yield in the state and southern counties is 13, in the central counties 12, in the northern counties 14 and in the upper peninsula 22 bushels per acre.

Corn: The condition of corn compared with an average per cent is 73 in the state, 70 in the southern counties, 71 in the central counties and 72 in the upper peninsula. The condition one year ago was 83 in the state, 84 in the southern and northern counties, 79 in the central counties and 89 in the upper peninsula.

Beans: The probable yield of beans compared with an average per cent is 78 in the state, 81 in the southern and northern counties, 71 in the central counties and 77 in the upper peninsula. One year ago the probable yield in the state was 75, in the southern counties 76, in the central counties 75, in the northern counties 81 and in the upper peninsula 85.

Peas: The estimated average yield in the state is 16, in the southern counties 15, in the central and northern counties 14 and in the upper peninsula 20 bushels per acre.

Potatoes: The condition of potatoes compared with an average per cent is 88 in the state and northern counties, 91 in the southern counties, 78 in the central counties and 101 in the upper peninsula. The condition one year ago was 62 in the state, 57 in the southern and central counties, 69 in the northern counties and 85 in the upper peninsula.

Clover seed: The condition of clover seed compared with an average per cent is 79 in the state, 78 in the southern counties, 81 in the central and northern counties and 90 in the upper peninsula. The condition one year ago was 64 in the state and central counties, 62 in the southern counties, 66 in the northern counties and 88 in the upper peninsula.

Live stock: Live stock throughout the state is reported in good condition.

U. A. Smith, Bridgetown, Ind., had kidney trouble for years, and was so crippled with rheumatism he could not dress without help. He started using Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I began to get better at once, and now all my trouble has left me and I do not feel that I ever had rheumatism. I rest well at night and though 59 years old, can now do the work of a man of 35 years. I would like to be the means of others getting benefit from Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Netaff, Prop."

Republican State Convention.

To the Republican electors of the state of Michigan:

A state convention of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at the Light Guard Armory in the city of Detroit, on Tuesday, September 24, 1912, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of nominating Republican candidates for Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor General, Attorney General, Commissioner of the State Land Office, and Justice of the Supreme Court for the term ending December 31, 1913, to fill vacancy, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Delegates to the respective county conventions shall be chosen at the primary election held on the 27th day of August, 1912, as provided by section 18 of Act 281 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended by Act 229 of the Public Acts of 1911. Each township, ward or precinct shall be entitled to such number of delegates as shall be specified in the call issued by the county committees for the county conventions in the respective counties.

By order of the Republican State Central Committee.

Alex J. Grosbeck,
Chairman.

Paul H. King,
Secretary.

Dated at Grand Rapids, Michigan,
July 20, 1912.

The following is the apportionment of delegates to the several counties of the 11th congressional district: Montcalm, 15; Ionia, 15; Charlevoix, 6; Roscommon, 2; Grand Traverse, 8; Antrim, 6; Kalamazoo, 3; Charlevoix, 8; Muskegon, 7; Oshtemo, 8; Mecosta, 6; Grand, 15.

A WIDOW THAT WAITED

By M. QUAD

Copyright 1912, by Associated Literary Press.

Moses Bateman was fifty-five years old when his wife died. He was a farmer just outside the town of Enfield, and as he kept a hired man and as there was much housework to be done the gossip said he would marry again.

As a matter of fact, Moses came to this decision. He could name over a dozen widows and old maids that might say yes if asked the question, but when he sat down to do it and recall them he was not at all satisfied. Something was wrong in every case and very much so with the Widow Hooper.

And what was principally wrong with the Widow Hooper was her looks. She was not a beauty. Indeed, she was not even fair looking. Moses' opinion of her appearance was, as he himself expressed it, "She is homely enough to stop a clock."

When he came to the Widow Hooper in his thoughts he uttered a "humph!" of contempt and yet at the same moment recalled the fact that she had asked him to bring her in a crock of butter. She lived in the town and had an income sufficient to support her. Yes, the butter must be delivered in a couple of days, and it was.

"Moses," said the widow, "you are a widower and I am a widow. You need a wife and I need a husband. Why should we beat around the bush, Moses?"

"Do you mean why shouldn't we get married?"

"Just that, Moses."

Moses Bateman was a plain spoken man on all subjects.

"Looky here, widow, I guess your heart is all right, but I used to feel mighty sorry for Dan Hooper."

"What about?"

"Because of your looks."

"Good Lord! But what's the matter with my looks?"

"You was born that way and can't help it, but to be honest with you, you are about the homeliest woman I ever saw. Now, don't get mad about it. You asked me a question and I answered it."

"And you don't want to marry me on account of my looks?"

"That's about it."

"But, Moses, I never before asked a man to marry me, and I never shall again. Because why? Because I am going to marry you."

"I can't make it seem that way."

"Sorry I'm so homely, Moses, but I'm trusting in Providence."

To reach the town from the north or in the direction of Moses Bateman's farm one had to descend a long hill, and cross a creek by a bridge. The Widow Hooper lived just at the foot of the hill. About a month after the widow had been turned down Moses came down the hill driving a young horse that wanted to bolt every minute. The widow was at her gate, and she held up her hand and said:

"Better look out, Moses!"

"What about?"

"I'm depending on Providence, and Providence is depending on this hill and that colt."

"As to how?"

"You've kept right on and you'll see. Won't be any need of a breach o' promise suit."

Moses figured it out that the widow was looking for an accident to happen to him, and for the next three weeks he came to town behind his steady old mare. Then he got to thinking that he had been bluffed, and he harnessed up the colt one day and reached the brow of the long hill to see the Widow Hooper at her gate far below.

"She's there depending on Providence," said the man as he took a farmer hold on the lines; "but I'll show her that Providence never yet kept the frost away from strag beans."

Ten seconds later the colt started on a wild run down the hill and those who happened to be looking on got numerous thrills. Moses was game. He hung to his seat, and he hung to the horse, and but for an old cow he might have reached the foot of the hill and crossed the bridge in safety. It was the old cow that did the trick. She came wading on to the bridge just when she ought to have been a mile away and horse, buggy and driver struck her like a landslide. Not, however, until the widow Hooper had waved her hand at the widower and called out:

"It's Providence, Moses, and I am right here to pick up the pieces!"

The cow was dead, the horse was dead and such villagers as didn't know how tough a farmer is wanted to have Moses Bateman buried right away. He wasn't dead, however. He was taken into Mrs. Hooper's house, and there he remained for several weeks. The nursing was of the best, and no time was said about matrimony for a long time. Then one day the widow put a hand glass in Moses' eyes and said:

"Mebbe you'd like to take a look at your own face once more?"

"Go, wife, but who is this?" yelled the patient after taking one look.

"His name is Moses Bateman."

"But—but—"

"His nose is broken, he's lost an eye, most of his teeth are gone, one of his ears is lop and an eyebrow is gone."

"And that's me!"

"That's you, and if I am homelier than you are I won't say another word about marriage!"

Six months later they were quietly wed. They were the homeliest couple in the state, but very happy.

ABOUT GROWING ONIONS.

For those of our readers living in the northern states, where spring will be on directly, and who would like to try raising onions, we have a few suggestions that may be helpful. First, the ground on which the crop is to be grown should be well drained, rich and as free as possible from weed seeds. The tract is preferably fall-plowed and harrowed and floated as soon as the ground can be worked in the spring. Best results will be had if the seed bed is well firmed and in the finest tilth. The seed should then be drilled in to a depth of half an inch in rows from fourteen to sixteen inches apart, depending upon the variety. The seeder should be tested on a board floor in order to ascertain how many seeds will be dropped in a given distance. If they can be sown so that there will be on the average about an inch apart, it is well. Before the seed is sown, however, it should be tested as to germinating power and more or less seed sown to make up for this. The best seed is none too good, and in the long run money will be saved by paying two or three dollars extra, if need be, to get true pedigreed seed. In the section in which the writer has lived the red globe onion is very popular, but this matter would be determined by the preference of the buyers in the nearest market centers. In northern latitudes, where the growing and ripening season is none too long, the seed should be sown just as soon as the soil can be worked. The onions should be cultivated as soon as the rows can be seen, should be hand weeded once or twice and thinned to about two inches apart in the row. If a dry spell should come on, especially after a driving rain, care should be taken to give thorough cultivation, as this may mean the saving or losing of the crop. If commercial fertilizers are desired and there is no question that it pays to use them, they may be applied at the time the seed is sown, while a second application may be made after the onions are two or three inches high. If a very dry spell should come in July the field should be kept thoroughly cultivated, so as to preserve a dust mulch. It costs about $50 per acre to raise and harvest a crop of onions, and one can count on from 40 to 60 cents a bushel f. o. b. shipping station. In the matter of yield one may reasonably expect from 500 to 600 bushels if the stand is good and growing conditions have been favorable.

SHOULD INVESTIGATE.

The writer is receiving many inquiries these days from readers living east of the Rocky mountains who are tired of the frightfully cold winter just past and are looking for a home place where the winter season is milder and where it doesn't take quite as long a fellow can earn during the summer season to keep him and his family from freezing to death during the winter. We sympathize with our readers keenly in this matter and are advising them to take a trip to the west country, get acquainted with it first hand, learn both its drawbacks and advantages, and then, after a calm and sober balancing of points good and bad, settle in a section where one will feel most at home. Where one has considerable money to invest it is well to take plenty of time in making one's investigation of the property to be bought, and, as said in a recent department of these notes, it is always a good idea to limit one's mouthful in an investment way to what one can masticate nicely.

1,126 POUNDS OF BUTTER.

An Ohio Guernsey cow by the name of Spottedwood Daisy Grant has lately completed a year's milking record during which she gave 18,923 pounds of milk testing 5.14 and yielding 957.38 pounds of butter fat. On an 85 per cent fat basis this means a butter yield of 1,126 pounds, or considerably more than half a ton. It is interesting to note the raw products that were put in the hopper of this untrained milk unmanufacture. In January, three months after freshening, she received daily five pounds of wheat bran, one and a half pounds of cornmeal, four pounds of brewers' grains, two pounds of gluten meal, one and a half pounds of cottonseed meal, one pound of old process oilmeal, one pound of corn and out chop, thirty pounds of silage and ten pounds of hay. During succeeding months much the same ration, strong in concentrates, was given, but varying somewhat according to roughage available for the season. The grain ration was given in three feeds and was thoroughly soaked beforehand.

An Old Darky Charged with Stealing Chickens.

A chicken was arranged in court and was incriminating himself when the judge said: "You ought to have a lawyer. Where's your lawyer?"

"Ah ain't got no lawyer, judge."

"Very well, then," said his honor.

"I'll assign a lawyer to defend you."

"Oh, no, no, no, no, no, I'll see—"

"Don't do dat!" the darky begged.

"Why not?" asked the judge.

"It won't cost you anything. Why don't you want a lawyer?"

"Well, Ah'll tell yo', suh," said the old man, waving his tattered old hat confidentially. "Hitt's jes' dees away—"

"Ah wan' tuh enjoy dem chickens ma self!"—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune

IT WON'T BE LONG

Before the Winter Evenings will be here and now is a good time to begin to think about your Winter Reading.

Let us figure on a Combination for you. A first-class Magazine, a Ladies' Magazine, a good Farm Paper, a reliable Daily Paper and

THE COURIER

Charlevoix County's Leading Newspaper, published at the county seat. It gives you the Official News first hand. Its Correspondents in all parts of the county keep you posted on the news of your locality. Its Grange Department lets you know what is going on in the ranks of Organized Agriculture. These and many other Special Features have caused the Courier to be universally recognized as CHARLEVOIX'S BEST.

On a Combination of this kind we guarantee to save you more than the price of the Courier. If you want the Courier alone the price is only

$1.50 Per Year

WE DO JOB PRINTING

The Kind That's Right
See us Before You Place Next Order

Auction Sale Advertising
is a Special Feature of the Courier.

The Season is About to Begin
Investigate Our Plan

The Courier Press

PHONE 12 12r
Courier Building VanPelt Place
Charlevoix, Michigan

CREAM OF RYE

For Breakfast--that's Enough

Think of a delicious healthful meal at a cost of one cent. Better still, you are feeding your body with nature's food and producing an abundance of healthful energy.

A Silver Spoon in Every Package

Rye is the Cheapest and best Food--U. S. Govt. tests prove it.

ARTICLES	Amount of energy 10c will buy	CALORIES of Energy
Eggs.....	348	---
Beef, Sifted.....	410	---
Mutton, Leg.....	445	---
Milk.....	1030	---
Pork, Loin.....	1035	---
Cheese.....	1145	---
Butter.....	1365	---
Rice.....	2925	---
Potatoes.....	2950	---
Beans, Dried.....	3910	---
Rye	6050	---

There's a Difference

The Taste is the Test

For Sale by your Grocer. If you fail to get a package Write Us.

Minneapolis Cereal Co. Inc. Minneapolis

Grange Column

Ironton Grange.

Ironton Grange met in regular session September 3, with an attendance of fifty-six members and four visitors.

Two candidates were obligated in the first and second degrees. Lecturer's program consisted of songs, stories and readings.

Under good of the order the committee on gathering things for the fair made arrangements for getting it all together.

Grange closed in regular form to meet again in two weeks.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, Van-Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:15 a. m.

Subject: "Substance." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m. Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday Rev. Taylor will hold his last service for this year. He will preach in the morning at 10:30.

His subject will be "A Plain Talk With My People." Mrs. Corrine Moore Lawson of Cincinnati will sing.

Sunday school is at noon. Epworth League meeting is at 6:30 at which time they hold a Bible study rally. Mrs. Bogart is leader. The evening service will be at 7:30. It will be the last service of the conference year.

All are invited to all of our services.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Morning service 10:30. Sunday school 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Topic, "Why and How to Improve the Mind." Leader, Miss Lavina Poole.

Evening service at 7:30.

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town Hall.

Everybody welcome.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Morning service at 10:30.

Sunday school at noon.

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Meets at Carnegie Library at noon. Speaker next Sunday, M. M. Wagner of New York City. All men invited to attend.

Notice to Dog Owners.

If you wish to avoid trouble you must keep your dogs muzzled during this month. 37th By Order of the Council.

Courier rates on application.

C. ROSS BROWNELL

TEACHER OF PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE

Fourteen Years Experience Mason-Sherwood Technical

Nashua's Graded Course of Studies in ten Grades

Class limited to twenty

Temporary Studio 215 Clinton Street

IN CHARLEVOIX WEDNESDAYS

[This matter must not be reprinted without special permission.]

A hog can be starved to eat almost anything, but this is poor economy, for it retards development.

The egg trust, whatever that may signify, has had some pretty hard luck of late from the cackling Biddies of the country.

It is a fact that the pigs of large litters are usually more uniform in size and fatten more quickly than those of small litters. Here is where the good breeding sow comes in.

Ontario, Ore., is the center of a district which produces much alfalfa seed, 250,000 pounds of which are said to have been shipped to eastern markets within the past three or four months.

The revival of the good old custom of co-operative killing of beef and sheep among neighbors would solve one of the causes of the high cost of living, so far as farmers are concerned.

The increased use of aluminum in utensils and in other forms is shown in the growth in the output of the metal from less than 100,000 pounds in 1893 to more than 50,000,000 pounds in 1911.

The repulsive looking scaly legs in chickens can be improved in appearance a whole lot by rubbing them at intervals of a few days with a salve made of equal parts of lard, sulphur and kerosene.

A farmer living near Polo, Ill., has a cow that gave birth to a calf the other day having two heads with eyes and mouth perfect and identical and with two backbones running the entire length of the body.

It should be mighty small consolation for the man whose boys or girls are going wrong that he has stowed away in the bureau drawer or writing desk blue or red ribbons won on blood stock at the county or district fair.

It will be in mighty good taste for the fellow who trusts to luck and doesn't test his seed corn this spring in some accurate way to cuss providence or the weather next November when he is husking fifteen or twenty bushels per acre.

The manure spreader should be the most generally used tool on the farm, but this is no reason why it should be left unprotected in the storms and whetted in the snow bank. A shed for the spreader would be the best economy.

Thoroughbred boys and girls should stay or be kept at home nights unless there is an excellent reason why they should be somewhere else. They are at least entitled to the same care in this regard that the pure bred domestic animals receive.

Midstate brewers (or, more correctly, the National Brewers' association) are said to have secured control of the bulk of the hop growing business in western Oregon. The high prices of a year ago seem to have been more than the brewers were willing to stand for.

Lots of folks, both men and women, get into the miserable habit of whining and complaining a good deal over little troubles or annoyances, overlooking the whole blessings that should obscure these little troubles completely were a right standard of values employed. It is just as easy to cultivate the habit of looking on the bright side as looking on the dark and a whole lot more enjoyable for the folks one has to live with.

The mere fact that many men and women who were denied the privileges of an education in their youth have still made a success of life should not be used as an argument by the boy or girl of today for neglecting opportunities for schooling that may be had free of cost. One cannot but wonder in the case of these so-called self-made people how much more they might have achieved along desirable lines had they been able to have such advantages as are open to practically everybody today.

A great service might be performed by the merchants of many a town for the water-folk living in the rural community refractory to them if they or some other organization in the town would provide room and rest rooms which the former could use on their visits to town. In all too many towns there is no place whatever, aside from store or shop, where the farmer's wife or daughter can go while waiting for her husband or father. This would be a thoughtful provision for townfolk to make and would be a courtesy that would be greatly appreciated.

If one is short of seed potatoes it will be all right to use the small tubers, but it is not a good plan to follow this practice year after year. The best seed, if one can choose, is medium sized and preferably selected from a patch in which the average yield was large.

Several apple trees on the writer's ranch have been badly pestered with the green aphids for some years past. This spring he plans to spray with a solution of lime sulphur just as the buds of the trees are swelling, and this will wind up a whole lot of the aphids. Those that survive this will receive an early dose of "black leaf."

Provided he is broken to it early enough, there seems to be no method of giving the herd bull the exercise he needs that is as simple and satisfactory as that of working a tread power two or three hours of such exercise a day will take the devilment out of him, keep him courteous and quiet and result in a decided increase in vigor of his offspring.

The gradual and steady advance in land values is quite accurately shown in the rapid increase in the rental value of farm lands. In one locality with which the writer is acquainted a renter has agreed to pay $8 per acre rental for a farm of eighty acres which he rented two years ago for $5 per acre and which six years ago he could doubtless have rented for $3.

The milking of a cow more or less than 600 times during the year and finding out at the end of that time that she has failed to pay her feed bill by a margin of $5 or $10 ought to result in something more than surprise in her owner, for this is a round price to pay merely for the purpose of associating with a bovine on such intimate terms and under the conditions mentioned.

A family of hogs that the writer knows well and whose friendship he prizes highly are being brought up sensibly, as we think. There is dignity and devotion on the part of the mother, an example in the father which does not cancel her admonition and, besides this, the judicious application of kindness and an eighteen inch ruler. This combination will produce good citizens if anything will.

The pillar of manure in small lots as it is handled should may have some points in its favor, but from the standpoint of realizing the largest possible good from the fertilizing elements contained it is plainly a poorer method than scattering from the spreader. Handled in this way, the soluble portion of fertilizers that the manure contains sink at once into the soil, while if the manure is put in piles there is a loss by chemical changes and the escape of gases.

Where the dairyman can receive as much from the sale of his cream as from the sale of his milk to a cheese factory there should be no hesitation as to which course he should follow. The sale of the cream leaves the skim milk at home, and it is this that contains most of these elements, the removal of which from the farm means a depletion of soil fertility. On the contrary, the cream sold contains but a very small portion of these elements.

"Sterilization" is a term about which we hear much these days. Its meaning is known to many, yet there may be some readers who have not a definite idea of what the process is. Briefly, a liquid or substance is said to be sterilized when it has been heated for a stated length of time at a temperature of 180 degrees or more. This heating process kills all bacterial or other life--typhoid or tubercular germs in milk or water, triphane in pork and the like.

A man living in Cincinnati is making rapid recovery from a chronic and very painful case of rheumatism as a result of subjecting himself to a bee sting or two daily. He has been taking this treatment some three weeks and is decidedly improved and no longer has to use a cane. Physicians are

Auction Sale

OF HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS

Owing to the fact that we are overloaded and must dispose of a large quantity of Household Furnishings, we will sell at our store, 101-103 Mason Street, Charlevoix, at public sale on

Saturday, Sept. 14, 1912

Commencing at 2:00 o'clock p. m., the following described property:

25 Iron beds, all sizes	6 Oil Stoves	6 Gasoline stoves
25 Springs	3 Bicycles
30 Mattresses, all sizes	Set of Single harness
6 Dressers	3 Kitchen cabinets	Boilers
5 Cupboards	6 Baby cabs	Tubs
6 Trunks	6 Suit Cases	Brooms
6 Sanitary cots	4 Common cots	Fruit press
2 Couches	2 Dining Tables	Lawn mowers
2 Kitchen Tables		Lawn seats
Dining-room chairs	Rocking Chairs	Lawn swings
4 High Chairs	2 Refrigerators	Shovels
10 Good cook stoves		Hooks
2 Ranges	Hard coal stove	Chains
20 Heating stoves, coal and wood		Saws
		Churns
		Rakes
		Hoes
		Flower pots
		Window screens
		Stock foods
		Hundred of other articles too numerous to mention.

Terms of Sale

All sums of $5.00 or under cash; all sums over $5.00 a credit of five months' time will be given on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

Dice & Stafford, Props.

101-103 Mason Street

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

F. A. BUTLER, Clerk

A Single Harness for $3.50

See my line of Single Harness made from the best selected Oak Leather, the finest Nickle and Rubber Trimmings with Flexible Saddles.

I have a large assortment of Harness in different Styles and Finishes

My Best Sellers are $10.00, $12.00, $15.00

Benj. Brown

with a good deal of interest. The benefit of the stinging method is said to be due to the introduction into the system of formic acid, the principle which makes the sting so sharp and painful.

The fellow who has had a fine bunch of hogs wiped out by cholera naturally wonders how soon it will be safe for him to go to raising hogs again. If the premises have been very thoroughly cleaned and renovated this might be attempted within a comparatively short time. Where such precautions have not been taken hogs have been known to contract the disease when introduced into infected quarters a year later and in rarer cases two or three years. If one wishes to continue in the hog business after a dose of the cholera it is better to completely disinfect the old pens and remove to a new location or build new pens entirely.

One can have early cucumbers in the following manner: Thrust the seed into pieces of sod and set these in the hot bed or in a box or pot in a sunny window. Water as needed, and when the danger of frost is over the soil pieces containing the roots of the plants may be put in their permanent place. The plants will have such a start that they will outgrow the bugs and give an early return of crisp cukes for the table.

One of the delights, as the writer looks at it, in connection with life in the west is the practically universal use of wood instead of coal for cooking and heating purposes. This getting rid of the infernal dirt and soot from the use of bituminous coal is a most refreshing change, while the odor of the burning pine or fir wood is fragrant compared to the sulphurous fumes let loose in the combustion

Readers of the Courier

Are advised that the Detroit Business University, the oldest and most influential business training school in the state, has moved to new headquarters at 15 West Grand River Ave., Detroit, under new management, is doing better work than ever in training young men and women for good salaries positions. The catalogue is mailed free on request.

E. K. SHAW, President.

The Palace Clothing House will be closed Thursday and Friday, September 12 and 13, on account of Jewish Holiday, opening for business Friday evening at 6 o'clock.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 38

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

LARGEST IN ITS HISTORY

Attendance at Charlevoix County Fair at East Jordan Last Week.

OLD OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Exhibits Were Good in All Departments Considering the Season.

Aeroplane Flights Were Big Features of the Fair—Good Race Program Was in Evidence.

The annual fair of the Charlevoix County Agricultural society held at East Jordan last week was the most successful ever held in the history of the society.

Thursday, the big day, the attendance was 4,500, nearly a thousand more than was ever before on the grounds on any one day. Wednesday the crowd was estimated at 2,000, while the crowd Friday was over that of previous years.

Without doubt the feature above all others that swelled the attendance were the daily flights of the aeroplane. Northern Michigan cities have been particularly unfortunate in picking lemon exhibitions in this line, and the first real flight north of Grand Rapids took place on the grounds at East Jordan late Wednesday afternoon. On Thursday three flights were given and on Friday one.

The machine used there was a Curtiss bi-plane equipped with a Kirkman six cylinder motor of 50 horse power. The gentlemen in charge of the aeroplane were: Ray F. Barnette of Danville, Illinois, general manager; Clarence Bartchell of Danville, owner; Chris Fasnacht, plane-man and William Bender, machinist. John Sverkersson of Oregon, Illinois, was the driver and he made some beautiful flights, going up nearly a thousand feet and remaining in the air for ten minutes or more at a time. The aeroplane people fulfilled their contract in every particular and have the hearty good-will of our fair officials and the thousands who witnessed the flights.

In the line of exhibits, the poultry and fancy fowls probably ranked the best from an exhibition standpoint. There were birds there from Bay City, Midland, and practically all points north.

The exhibit of horses, sheep and swine was excellent, and the new barn for sheep and swine showed the stock to advantage.

In the floral hall, the exhibit of fancy work, canned fruits and school work was better than the average heretofore. The greatest falling off was in fresh fruits and vegetables; a backward season had early dates for our fair combining to make the exhibits in these lines below the average. In the fruits were several samples of winter apples which had not yet attained their true color, while a number of the vegetables were not yet fully ripe.

East Jordan merchants also had fine displays.

In the annual election of officers all the outgoing officials were re-elected as follows:

President—Morace B. Hipp.
Treasurer—Martin Ruhling.
Directors—E. B. Ward and Elmer Ingalls of Charlevoix, Robert Price and Martin Staley of East Jordan.

One of the sources of revenue of the associations is the various concessions and this year there were a total of thirty-five various stands, a merry-go-round, etc.

The fair officials are deserving of praise for the efficient manner in which the various matters concerning this exhibition were handled. President H. B. Hipp, General Manager E. B. Ward, Secretary W. P. Squier and Treasurer Martin Ruhling all put forth their best efforts to make the event a success and they succeeded nicely.

For the speed events, over thirty-five race horses were entered, making in all cases a full starting entry for the various events and some excellent contests.

Will the boy who found watch with L. E. B. engraved on back, please return to L. E. Bursaw and receive reward. 381

VISITED PETOSKEY

Royal Neighbors Spend Friday With the Lodge of That City.

The local order of Royal Neighbors were invited to Petoskey Friday to spend the afternoon and evening with the lodge of that city. Twenty-seven ladies accepted the invitation and were well repaid.

Upon their arrival they were greeted by about thirty ladies of Petoskey and Alanson. A pleasing program had been prepared, after which a dainty supper was served. The ladies returned home on the last train after having spent a most delightful day.

Schools Opened Monday

School opened Monday with a large enrollment, more foreign pupils being enrolled than at any other period in its history. The entire enrollment in the high school is 119, divided as follows: freshmen, 49; sophomores, 29; seniors, 19; juniors, 19; county normal, 12; special, 3. Every member of last year's eighth grade class entered the high school this year.

SIZE MUST BE STANDARD

Sulzer Law Regulating Size of Apple Barrels in U. S.

Growers' and Packers' Name to Be Branded on Standard Barrels.

Beginning with the 1st of next July the apple barrel to be standard will have to contain 7,056 cubic inches. Its dimensions will have to be as follows:

Length of stave, 28½ inches; diameter of head, 17½ inches; distance between heads, 26 inches; circumference of bulge, 61 inches outside measurement.

Congress has passed upon the subject and in the future the apple barrel will be uniform for the entire United States. The Sulzer law, which prescribes the dimensions of the barrel, also defines standard grades for apples. Three grades are provided for. They are: "Standard grade, minimum size 2½ inches; Standard grade, minimum size 2½ inches; Standard grade, minimum size 2 inches." The apples put in the above grades must be of one variety, which are well grown specimens, hand picked, of good color for the variety, normal shape, practically free from insect and fungus injury, bruises, and other defects except such as are necessarily caused in the operation of packing, or apples of one variety which are not more than ten per centum below the foregoing specifications.

Standard grade apples and standard barrels may be branded "standard," but if the barrel is so branded, the name of the variety, the name of the locality where grown and the name of the packer or the person by whose authority the apples were packed, must also appear.

The penalty for the violation is $1 and costs for each barrel wrongly packed or wrongly branded.

REAL WORK OF ART

Andons Designed and Manufactured by John Kirby for Masonic Temple.

If you are interested in works of real art take time to go around to John Kirby's blacksmith shop and see the andons which Mr. Kirby has designed and made by hand for the fireplace in the new Masonic Temple. The three branches of the order in Charlevoix, Blue Lodge, Chapter and Star are all represented in the design and Charlevoix Masons will have a set of andons which cannot be equaled elsewhere.

Coming Soon.

Thursday, October 3, is the date when J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be at Baker's Inn, one day only. Headache cured, crossed eyes straightened, fitting children's eyes a specialty. Glasses guaranteed to fit. 3812

Notice.

The Pentucket Shoe Store will close every evening except Saturday, at six o'clock, commencing Monday, September 23. 3811

CAMPAIGN IS FORMALLY OPENED MONDAY NIGHT

Archie McCall of Ithaca, Democratic Candidate for Congress Eleventh District, Made Two Addresses—Promises if Elected to Be Representative of Whole People—Has Strong Endorsements From Home.

The campaign in this city was formally opened this week, by Archie McCall, of Ithaca, Democratic candidate for Congress, who spent Monday in this city. Monday evening Mr. McCall spoke for a few moments to a large crowd of people on Bridge street, after which he made his principal speech at the Majestic theater. The close attention which was given him by the large crowd present and the frequent applause, with which he was greeted, demonstrated that although he was speaking in a rock-bound Republican community, his opponent, Mr. Lindquist, was taken at his word when he announced himself as the candidate of no party and that Mr. McCall would receive the votes of scores of Republicans, who refuse to be bound by a nomination secured, as it is charged, Mr. Lindquist's was, by unfair methods.

Mr. McCall freely acknowledged that his only hope of success lay in the securing of Republican votes and pledged himself, if elected, to serve as the representative of the whole people. He further pledged himself that on every measure of National importance he would ask that it be discussed by the different business men and farmer's organizations and his vote would be recorded in obedience to their wishes.

Mr. McCall said that all he asked of his opponent was fair treatment and if he had anything to say against him, to say it now, while he had opportunity to reply and not wait as he is charged with doing during the primary, and make charges when it was too late for his opponent to defend himself.

We have been asked several times what we know of Mr. McCall. In answer we would say that we have been personal friends during our entire life and we never heard a word said against him as a man, nor as a public official. He is engaged in the profession of farming, as well as law, and from boyhood up has known what it is to farm with his hands; that as secretary of the Gratiot County Agricultural society and of the Ithaca Business Men's association, he has done more to boost his section than any other man and that, if elected to the position he seeks, he will keep every pledge made to his constituents, and the Eleventh district will be represented by a man with more than one idea.

To show his high standing, where he is known best, Mr. McCall has the endorsement of over five hundred of the business men and farmers of his own locality, irrespective of party, who are outworking hard for his election.

YOUNG SUPERINTENDENT

Paul Colden Eighteen Years Old Head of the Clarion Schools.

Clarion has a superintendent of schools that is bound to be a winner. He is Paul Colden, eighteen years of age, and a graduate from the Petoskey high school in the class of 1912.

Mr. Colden is noted as a bright, industrious youth. For some time, during the summer months, he has sold papers at Walloon Lake, and is well liked there by resorters and permanent residents. While going to school in Petoskey, he has been employed at Hotel Perry, all of which goes to show that Paul is industrious and worthy of success.

Clarion, his home town, is not large, and to be superintendent of its schools might not be considered as any great honor by some people. He has only one teacher under him, but nevertheless he is superintendent, and prospects are bright for him.—Petoskey News.

SEASON OF JEWISH HOLIDAYS

Began at Six O'clock Wednesday Evening of Last Week.

Other Days of Fasting and Rejoicing Outing September and October.

Wednesday evening of last week all the Jewish stores in the city closed their doors and they remained closed until Friday evening. During the intervening time the new year of the Hebrew was observed.

The Jewish fast days and festivals, observed by all orthodox Jews as well as in a less rigid manner by reformed members of the Jewish race, commences with the evening of September 12, when the New Year of the Hebrew year begins. On September 21, the fast of Yom Kippur comes this year and this is the New Year, with orthodox Jews, continues for two days. The New Year is a feast of rejoicing, whilst the fast of Yom Kippur is the Jewish day of atonement and is the most rigid fast day of the Jewish year. It is likewise observed by the reformed Jews in a less strict manner and with these, it is only observed for one day.

On September 26, the first day of Tabernacles is observed and on

IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

Subject of Fine Address Before Men's Bible Class Last Sunday.

Sunday the Men's Bible class had the pleasure of listening to a fine address by M. M. Wagner of New York City, who has been connected with the United States customs service for over thirty years.

Mr. Wagner spoke on the "Immigration Problem," relating many incidents which had come under his observation, and explaining the present laws and where, in his opinion, they might be bettered.

Next Sunday Rev. C. E. Taggart will address the class and a large attendance is desired.

Pillow Tops Have Arrived.

After long weeks of waiting we are pleased to inform our friends that ordered pillow tops last winter that the tops have arrived and will be delivered as fast as called for. The delay was caused by a series of unfortunate circumstances and we desire to thank our friends for the patience they have shown.

OPEN SEASON FOR DUCKS

Began Last Sunday—Will Continue Balance of the Year.

Game Warden Oates Calls Attention to Changes in Game Laws.

This week the open season for ducks began and Game Warden Oates is calling attention to the most important provisions of the game laws. The following are the open seasons and the most important laws pertaining to each kind of game.

Noose, Elk and Caribou—Unlawful to kill until 1913.

Deer—Open season from October 15 to November 30, inclusive. Resident hunters' license, $1.50; non-resident hunters' license, $25.

Rabbits—Open season from October 15 to March 1, inclusive. Unlawful to use ferrets or guinea pigs in hunting. Farmers and fruit growers may use ferrets in killing rabbits on their enclosed lands.

Squirrel—Unlawful to hunt fox, black or gray until 1914.

Beaver—Unlawful to kill until January 1, 1913.

Bear, Otter, Fisher, Martin, Fox, Mink, Raccoon and Skunk—Unlawful to take, trap or kill from April 1 to November 1.

Muskrafter or Beaver Houses—Unlawful to destroy, disturb or molest at any time or set any trap within six feet of a muskrat house.

Quail—Unlawful to kill until 1913.

Prairie Chicken—Unlawful to kill or capture at any time.

Partridge and Spruce Hen—Open season from October 15 to November 30, inclusive. Unlawful to take more than six in one day. Unlawful to take more than fifty in one calendar year. Unlawful to have in possession more than fifteen in all at one time.

Ducks, Snipe, Plover, Woodcock, Geese, Brant, Shorebirds, Rails and Coots—Open season from October 15 to Dec. 31, inclusive.

Bluebird, canvasback, redhead, widgeon, pintail, whistler, spoon-bill, butterball and sawbill ducks may also be hunted from March 2 to April 10, inclusive. Teal and mallard ducks may be killed from September 15 to December 31, inclusive.

Unlawful to take in one day more than 25 ducks, geese or brant; 6 woodcock, 10 plover, 10 snipe or other shorebirds.

Unlawful to take in one calendar year more than fifty plover, woodcock, snipe or other shorebirds.

Unlawful to have in possession at one time in all more than 25 geese, brant or ducks, 20 plover, woodcock, snipe or other shorebirds.

Caddies' Tournament.

The following were the prize-winners in the caddies' tournament held on the golf grounds Thursday and Friday:

First prize—$10, Charlie Hamilton.
Second prize—$5, Charles Hyke.
Third prize—$3, Yeatash Hyke.
Ed. Krulick, Amos Savotny and Myron Corey were awarded clubs. An extra $5 was given the winner of the first prize by Mr. Rollison.

DODDS' RECORD IN CONGRESS

Was Stated Correct Says Isabella County Republican Convention.

BY AN UNANIMOUS VOTE

Splendid Endorsement From Republicans of His Home County.

F. O. Lindquist's Campaign Methods Are Denounced by the Resolutions Adopted as Contrary to Spirit of Primary Law.

At the Isabella county Republican convention Hon. F. H. Dodds was called upon to explain his record in congress. Mr. Dodds took the floor and reviewed the part he took in national legislation, touching upon the vote to investigate the sugar trust and the direct election of United States senators, and earnestly denounced Mr. Lindquist and Mr. Gould for the unseemly methods they employed against him. He was given hearty applause.

The following resolution was adopted: The first section by a unanimous vote and the rest relating to Mr. Lindquist by a vote of 19 to 16.

Resolved that we, the Republicans of Isabella county, here assembled hereby pledge our hearty support of the county ticket now nominated and agree to use all honorable means to elect the same.

We the undersigned have carefully examined the congressional record, concerning Congressman Dodds' votes in congress on the important questions contained on his campaign card, and find that he voted exactly as he stated thereon.

The resolutions relating to Mr. Lindquist mailed a misleading letter to the electors just before the primary and too late to be answered are as follows:

Whereas, the bulk of the matter contained in said letter was an absolutely groundless falsehood which was calculated to deceive and did deceive the voters of the district, making them think that the statements on Mr. Dodds' card previously issued campaign card were untrue. Therefore be it

Resolved, that as the entire primary system depends for its success upon the good faith and honesty of the candidates, else the people be deceived and defrauded and unsuitable officials chosen, and

Resolved, that it is evident that Lindquist has in no sense acted in good faith and according to the principles of common decency, and

Resolved, that Lindquist has employed underhand and unscrupulous methods that should deprive him of the support of every good Republican who has the welfare of his party and his country at heart, and

Resolved, that this convention hereby expresses its disapproval of such dishonorable and contemptible practices and its disapproval of the said Lindquist as an unfit person to hold such an office of trust and confidence as that of congressman.

Afterward an attempt was made to adopt similar resolutions denouncing Mr. Gould, editor of the Mt. Pleasant Enterprise, but after a delegate had struck Mr. Gould, the resolution was tabled and the convention adjourned.

We understand that Mr. Lindquist and Mr. Gould claim to have to have acted upon information supplied them by Collier's Weekly in the action they took in attacking Mr. Dodds' record.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Given by W. R. C. in Honor of Members Who Will Soon Leave the City.

A farewell reception was given Tuesday afternoon by the W. R. C. at the home of the president, Mrs. C. R. Bellinger, for Mrs. Amanda Moore, who leaves Thursday for Vermont, and Mrs. Newberry and Mrs. Will Smith who will leave soon for Gloucester, Massachusetts.

All present had a very good time and departed wishing that at some future time they might enjoy such a meeting again.

Summer Itch

Instant relief for all kinds of summer skin troubles is now found in that simple wash—D. D. Prescription for Eczema. Get a 25¢ trial bottle today and prove for yourself the merits of this wonderful prescription.

We always recommend it for Summer Itch; in fact we give you a regular size bottle on one personal guarantee that D. D. will take the away the itch at once or it will not cost you a cent.

F. G. Hines & Co., Druggists

CORRESPONDENCE

BAY SHORE.

Miss Mayme Scroggie is teaching at Walloon.

A. J. Horton is visiting at Charlevoix for a few days.

The farmers of this section are busy getting in their fall crops.

Miss Grace Hamlin is visiting at Elm Dale farm for a couple of days.

Cecile and Ralph Singer spent Sunday visiting relatives in Resort.

Albert Bathka has accepted a position as janitor at the Lockwood Hospital.

Miss Blanche Wallace spent part of last week at Walloon Lake and Potoskey.

Mrs. Luddington, Conrade Voelker and H. Kunkle are putting up new silos.

Isaac Colborn and family of Walloon Lake spent Tuesday at Clover Leaf Guernsey farm.

Mrs. Buell of Horton's Bay has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. Priebe for the last two weeks.

Cecile Singer, Ambrose Fromm, Ray Karcher and William Brecheisen spent a day at the East Jordan fair.

The Misses Worth and Hazel Gilmarin came home Thursday from spending the summer at Bay View.

Mrs. Arthur Van Amburg left for her home at Harbor Springs Saturday after visiting her parents the past week.

The Bay Shore school will open Monday with Mrs. Norton in charge of the High school and Miss Bird in charge of the grades.

Misses Agnes Worth, Merle Brecheisen and Hazel Gilmarin will enter the County Normal school at Charlevoix Monday.

Mrs. J. Kahler, who has been afflicted with rheumatism for some time, is much better since taking a treatment at the Saville sanatorium.

Mrs. Fred Priebe was severely injured Saturday when she fell on the floor of her home breaking her hip bone. She was taken to the Lockwood Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Priebe being eighty-one years old makes the injury the more doubtful of recovery.

State of Ohio, city of Toledo, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

Signed before me and subscribed in my presence, this 18th day of December, A. D. 1912.

A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Sent for free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, or by mail, to the nearest.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MARION.

Mrs. Henry Harkness is very ill.

Jay Adams is attending the Potoskey fair this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Star of Ohio are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Ager.

George Winkler is the owner of the finest ten weeks old colt in Marion.

Mr. and Mrs. Sims Baker are attending the Grand Rapids fair this week.

Several of the people from here attended the fair at East Jordan last week.

The Nowland school is in session with Miss Winole Cunningham as teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. David Alexander visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Ecklund Sunday.

Barnard school has begun with Miss Lulu Mason teaching the second year there.

Nisa Edith Lamercanx of Charlevoix visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls Sunday.

Leslie Shapton, Jesse Gregory and Harold Cole began school at Charlevoix Monday.

A number of the friends of Mollie Brown gave her a pleasant surprise Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls entertained Mrs. Webb Morison and daughter, Helen, of Wayne Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dodd and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blanchard were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Fink of Ellsworth Sunday.

Mr. Goldsberry of Oklahoma arrived here Thursday to join his wife.

formerly Cora Reed, who has spent the summer with her brother, E. A. Reed and family.

Marion Center grange was again represented at the county fair at East Jordan, receiving first prize in canned fruit and grain; second in fresh fruit and vegetables. For several years Marion Center exhibits have ranked among the first and Marion people are proud of its record.

T. L. Parks, Murrayville, Ga. Route 1, is in his 73rd year, and was recently cured of a bad kidney and bladder trouble. He says himself: "I have suffered with my kidneys. My back ached and I was annoyed with bladder irregularities. I can truthfully say, one 50¢ bottle of Foley Kidney Pills cured me entirely." They contain no habit forming drugs. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

BURGESS.

M. K. Chew attended the county fair at East Jordan.

Nat Poole attended the East Jordan fair Thursday.

Roy Kane spent Wednesday in Potoskey on business.

Mr. and Mrs. George Long visited at Peter Kane's Wednesday.

Phyllis Webster and wife attended the East Jordan fair Thursday.

Mrs. Mark Saunby of Potoskey visited friends at Hayes last week.

H. S. Newson returned home Friday from the Western Michigan fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Phyllis Webster and daughter spent Sunday at M. K. Chew's.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Jerichow visited at East Jordan Thursday to attend the fair.

Mary Belle Hair and Irene Gregory are attending high school in Charlevoix.

Frank Kane left for Traverse City Thursday morning to attend the Maccabee doings.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newson were visitors at Mr. and Mrs. William Fergusson's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown and children visited at Mr. and Mrs. George Scott's Sunday.

Mr. and Cooper Chew of Horton Bay spent Saturday evening and Sunday with M. K. and A. B. Chew.

I. S. Webster of Charlevoix, and his son, Harvey of Warren, Ohio, visited at Mrs. Orsen Cook's Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kane and Mr. and Mrs. Fay Kane called on Mr. and Mrs. George Newson Sunday evening.

Mrs. Celena Curtis, son, George, and sister, Mrs. Flora Coggin of Flint were the guests of Mrs. Peter Kane last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Muscott and little son of Barker Creek spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Shantz, last week.

Antoine Deloria, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills, as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

ATWOOD.

"I thank you."

O, I forgot,—listen—did you?

No preaching next Sunday.

Jolliffe, Smith, Knight, Parsons and Klooster went to Charlevoix court Monday last.

Answer—No it's not a new correspondence—but the same person. By the way, the editor's smile will stay.

Tooy Clark is shingling his house and making other improvements. Mr. Clark is in Eton Rapids for a few days.

The Atwood schools commenced business last week with Miss Hazel Halliday as principal and Miss Pickard as assistant. Both ladies are from Bellaire.

Mrs. Albert Parsons, who was quite badly hurt last week by the overturning of her buggy, is out of danger. Albert says, "Guess Sadie will take the old horse after this."

Our new store will soon be in readiness for business. F. H. Skow of Ellsworth and Jacob Bugman of Atwood are the new proprietors. Soon we will have cement sidewalk and a bank.

Born to Mr. Mrs. Frankie Supernaw Sunday, September 15, 1912, a baby boy—wonder how Calvino likes to be called grandpa. Well never mind. He would be willing to set 'em up if you asked him.

CLARION.

G. W. Ruffe went to Charlevoix Monday.

J. E. Darrah went to Boyne City Monday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Silas Young Thursday.

Miss Isaac of Mayfield is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Webster.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Weaver were to East Jordan one day last week.

Rev. H. G. Kennedy and wife attended the East Jordan fair last week.

Roy Webster, who has been visiting his parents, left Sunday for New York.

Miss Minnie Webster of Chicago is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Webster.

Billy Bright is up from the Soldiers Home at Grand Rapids visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Rench leave this week for Potoskey where Mr. Rench has purchased a barber shop.

Mrs. C. M. Darrah, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. E. Darrah the past week, returned Monday to her home at Big Rapids.

School opened Monday with Paul Golden as principal and Miss Teresa Phillips of East Jordan as teacher of the primary department.

$80,000,000.00 Lost Annually by Wage Earners.

Dr. Soller estimates that about $80,000,000 in wages is lost annually to the American people as a direct result of colds. Lost time means lost wages and doctoring is expensive. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. It will stop the cough, and heal and soothe the sore and inflamed air passages. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

NORTH BAY.

Mrs. Arthur Van Amburg of Harbor Springs is spending a few days with her people.

Mrs. Buell returned to Horton Bay Sunday after spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. John Priebe.

Lee Worth and family of Potoskey spent a few days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Worth.

Mrs. Fred Priebe, who is eighty-one years old, fell and broke her limb just below the hip joint last Saturday. She was immediately taken to Lockwood hospital and is resting comfortably at this writing.

Mrs. Lyman Curtis, son, George, and sister, Mrs. Coggin from near Flint, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Potoskey and Bay Shore, visited at Long View farm and at Peter Kane's in Hayes last week.

Mrs. J. M. Hill, Homer, Ga., has used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years, and says she always recommends it to her friends. "It never fails to cure our coughs and colds and prevents croup. We have five children and always give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for a cold, and they are all soothed well. We would not be without it in our house." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

NORWOOD.

Alton Bugbee spent a few days in town last week.

Celia Pierce spent a few days with her father, H. Pierce.

Rev. Biery left Tuesday for Big Rapids where he will attend conference.

Nisa Erma Cohen of Charlevoix is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Henry Wagner.

Ellan Jolliffe and wife of Atwood attended our meeting Sunday. Come again.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Valentine made a business trip to Charlevoix one day last week.

Mrs. Annie Richardson and Mrs. Della Cameron came home Saturday, after spending ten days with Charles Richardson at Detroit.

A really effective kidney and bladder medicine must first stop the progress of the disease and then cure the conditions that cause it. Use Foley Kidney Pills for all kidney and bladder troubles and urinary irregularities. They are safe and reliable. They help quickly and permanently. In the yellow package. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

Volva, overseer of Zion City, says, "Colonel Roosevelt is one of the greatest characters in the world to-day. He made a tactful step on the suffrage question. If a man has the women on his side he can lick all creation."

If men did not have the ballot would not the same arguments against woman suffrage apply equally to men? For instance, men are so absorbed in business they have no time to vote nor to inform themselves on the questions to be voted on. How many men really understand the tariff question?

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Charlevoix People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, and Bright's disease, follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with the reliable and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Charlevoix.

Mrs. John Hull, 112 W. Lincoln Ave., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I have used them and they have done me a world of good. I first used them about a year ago when I had a severe attack of lumbago. I suffered greatly and tried many remedies, but got no relief, until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ivy Drug Store. A few months ago I was again having trouble from my kidneys and had backache and pains in my loins. I again procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they acted promptly, bringing me entire relief. I value them highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Then men are too emotional. At the recent national conventions all the men shouted themselves hoarse and most men act fairly crazy at a ball game. There are many more men than women who can neither read nor write. Hence enfranchising men would increase the ignorant vote. The parallel arguments could be continued to the end.

Democrats, who believe in the Jeffersonian principle that all men are entitled to self-government, are confronted with the question, "Does the expression, 'all men' include women? That is, are women human beings?" President Gregory of the American Bar association, "It certainly seems as if women were entitled to self-government as well as men."

The actual results of equal suffrage in California show that none of the dreadful things feared have come to pass. The good women are voting in large numbers; the bad element is not anxious to face the public and they rarely register or attempt to vote; polling places are located in schools, churches, stores or tents; voting precincts are small and there is no danger that homes will be neglected when it takes only a few minutes to go to the polls; women are treated with marked respect and consideration.

The defeat of the women in Ohio was brought about by the liquor interests. It is perhaps not a defeat but a victory since all good men will confess that what the liquor people fear all others must wish to secure.

U. A. Smith, Bridgetown, Ind., had kidney trouble for years, and was so crippled with rheumatism he could not dress without help. He started using Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I began to get better at once, and now all my trouble has left me and I do not feel that I ever had rheumatism. I rest well at night and though 59 years old, can now do the work of a man of 35 years. I would like to be the means of others getting benefit from Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop."

Subscribe for the Courier.

LABOR COMMISSIONER

Powers Interprets the Law Regarding School Children Working After School Hours.

Declaring that to hire boys under the age of sixteen even after school without first securing permission of school superintendents is against the Michigan law, State Labor Commissioner Perry F. Powers is sending out a request to all school superintendents of the state to pay more attention to their power as regulators of child labor in their communities.

He declares that four theatre-employers of Muskegon were convicted last week for hiring boys under sixteen years, and that the law is being violated in Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Detroit.

While our superintendents and teachers thus have a serious duty to perform, it would be well to investigate every reason of the child and his parents for allowing the work out of school to be done. "All work and no play," etc., but few boys, or girls either, now-a-days, are carrying too heavy responsibilities in this line.

Courier rates on application.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Resources $250,000.00

For a safe investment there is nothing better than our 4 per cent Certificate of Deposit. For small savings let us issue you a Savings Book in our Savings Department. Interest 4 per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually.

R. P. FOLEY, President G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Job Work Solicited

Up-to-date Equipment

An I H C Manure Spreader Is an Investment—Not an Expense

A MACHINE that makes two dollars where one was made before is not an expense—it is a good investment.

Careful tests made at the Ohio Experiment Station showed an average increased crop yield of $15 an acre when eight loads of manure were properly spread. Spreading with a fork, it would take at least sixteen loads to an acre to produce the same result. By fertilizing twice as much ground with the same quantity of manure and doing the work better, an I H C manure spreader soon pays for itself. Add to this saving an increase of $15 an acre in the value of your crops, and you at once see why we urge the purchase of an

I H C Manure Spreader

Kemp 20th Century, Corn King, or Cloverleaf

Ask the I H C local dealer to show you the self-aligning, removable boxes on the main axle; notice that the axles are roller bearing to reduce the draft; study the apron construction, and note the large rollers on which it runs. I H C spreaders can be used in any corner of the barnyard. There is no reach to interfere. The scat folds out of the way when filling the spreader. If you appreciate machines of extra merit; machines that spread manure in ample range of quantities; machines which can be equipped with drilling attachments for use in market gardens, and above all, machines which are made in sizes convenient for every farm, investigate I H C spreaders. Go to the local I H C dealer and look carefully over the machines he shows you. Get catalogues and full information from him, or write

International Harvester Company of America

Incorporated

Grand Rapids Mich.
I H C Service Bureau

The purpose of this Bureau is to furnish, free of charge, to all, the best information obtainable on better farming. If you have any worthy questions concerning soils, crops, and drainage, irrigation, fertilizers, etc., make your inquiries specific, and send them to I H C Service Bureau, Harvester Building, Chicago, U.S.A.

Charlevoix Rock • Product Co.

Producers and
Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years experience
State and National Short Notice
VAN PELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

LESLIE SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Bldg.
Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
Van Pelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in Van Pelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 132 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
— Eyes tested and glasses fitted —
Phone—Office 66-2; residence 66-3.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE,
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store,
telephone No. 253. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. Always gives prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled
some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address
Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your
DRAYING
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED
Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday
Each Week

COURIER PRESS
COMMERCIAL PRINTERS
A Trial will Convince You

His Matrimonial Spurs

How After a Defeat by a Man
He Won Them From a Woman

By F. A. MITCHEL

The shores of Lake Lemau, commonly called elsewhere Lake Geneva, are thick with historical incidents. The city of Geneva was the home of Calvin, Rousseau, Voltaire, Mme. de Staël and other celebrities. At Chillon is the castle where Bonaparte was so long a prisoner, as related in Byron's poem.
At Vevey, on a hillside some distance back and above the town and partly hidden by the trees surrounding it, is the old castle of Bligny. There is a story—a true story—with which this castle is connected dating away back to the twelfth century. Those were the days of feudalism, and the Blignys were built and owned the castle were feudal lords of the counts of Savoy. They seem to have been in favor with their sovereigns, for they held various offices of trust under them.
The Blignys came across the lake from Challais and built the castle in 1175.
One day a number of knights of Turin, the capital of Savoy, were wandering over the question whether marriage made a man more efficient as a soldier or less so. The matter knights claimed that a married soldier would not only be sensitive to his responsibilities for bravery on his own account, but also on account of his wife and children. The unmarried knights declared that they were more efficient because they had only themselves to live for, whereas having a lovely wife and infants the dread of separation from them by death would sap their courage.
The dispute between the knights of Turin waxed hot, and, since the question could be settled only by being put to the test, challenges began to fly between the bachelors and the bachelors, and it looked as if many families would be made fatherless and many young men well fitted to become progenitors would bite the dust.
Perhaps it was that the reigning Count of Savoy, fearing to lose so

"ARISE, SIR KNIGHT," SHE SAID.
Many of his best officers to no purpose, interfered. Perhaps some women who feared to be made widows or young girls who dreaded to lose their fathers objected. At any rate, the married and single knights met in council and decided to settle the matter by championship. A few on each side were appointed to arrange the terms and select the champions. Those agreed upon were these: A married man was to meet a single man in contest. If the married knight was defeated he should go to Mademoiselle of Savoy and all other marriageable women of her house, as well as another lady to be named by the victor, and on his head knees cry mercy. The bachelor knight, if defeated, should humiliate himself to all the married ladies of the ducal house and especially the wife of his conqueror.

A gay scene marked the trial of this important question. Today couples between married and single men are unprofessional and usually burlesque.
Not so this tournament. All knights were fighters, and he who was considered the best married knight was pitted against the best single knight. Simon de Bligny was to represent the married side, while Corsant de Bresse defended the cause of the bachelors.
There were ladies present headed by Mademoiselle de Savoy, the ancestress of one of the most beloved women of royal blood of the present day, the dowager Queen Margaret of Italy and others of the ducal house and the nobility. But whether they were unim-passioned or divided in their sympathies between the two sides has not been handed down through the centuries.
Naturally the good wishes of the ladies would be with the bachelor, but as all women are in favor of marriage, or were at that time, they should all have played for the success of the married knight, for would not his victory prove that a married man is a better one than a single man and the result be conducive to matrimony?

Be this as it may, when all were seated in the tribune where the fight was to take place, amid a waving of fans and bonnets and a flourish of trumpets, the two champions, armed and armed, rode out to the field. The Bligny heavier, filled out in waist and chest, and De Bresse tall and slender, no superfluous fat mingled with his oiled muscles. At the signal the two, pouncing their lances, made a dash at each other.

At this first onset neither was unhorsed, neither wounded. Again and again their lances came together, and at last in one of these encounters De Bresse's lance was shattered, and he was left defenseless. The married knight had won.

Corsant de Bresse rode up before the queen, dismounted, knelt and with hanging head cried for mercy.
He repeated the ceremony to the other ladies to whom the terms of the tourney compelled him to subject himself, and then rode away to Vevey to spend the night with the wife of his conqueror.

Now, in those days there were no telephone or telegraph in that land.
Indeed, there were no regular maillines. One afternoon Mme. de Bligny, who was mistress of the tournament, was sitting on her estate terrace with a baby on her lap, looking out on the placid waters of Lake Lemau. A mailed horseman ascended the hill and dismounted below where the lady sat, came up on to the terrace and, bending
the knee, said:

"Mme. de Bligny, I love you dearly."
"You cry me mercy," exclaimed the astonished woman. "You, an armed knight, cry mercy of me, not only without weapons, but unnumbered with my baby?"

"Yes, madam. I am Corsant de Bresse. I have met your husband in battle, he the champion of the married knights of Turin, I representing the single knights. I have been conquered by him, and by the terms of the tournament I have come to cry mercy from his wife."

As soon as Mme. de Bligny understood the situation, recognizing the fact that her husband had won a victory for marriage, she considered the idea of winning a second victory, not with lance or battle, but with her woman's own weapons.

"Arise, Sir Knight," she said,
"grant you mercy on one condition."
"Name it, good lady."

"That you be my guest at a feast which I shall give in your honor with the ladies living around about."

"Thanks, madame, that you accompany your mercy with a boon instead of a penance. I will be your guest most willingly."
Immediately Mme. de Bligny dispatched messengers to those to be invited to the feast, including her young and beautiful cousin, Yolande de Villette. When all were assembled Mme.
de Bligny placed Yolande beside her son-in-law Corsant de Bresse where he could feast his eyes on her beauty.
There was a clinking of glasses and maudlin words of good natured derision fired at the bachelor cause in the recent contest.

"Alas!" he said, "Would that I had a wife to defend me against this re-belle!"

He accompanied the words with a look of appeal at Yolande, who blushed and lowered her eyes.

Cries of "Deserter!" "Renegade!" and the like were hurled at him from the bachelors present, while "Come over!" "Welcome to our ranks!" and similar badinage came from the married persons.

After the guests were gone De Bresse declared to Mme. de Bligny that he had had enough of the unmarried side, and since he had become smitten with her niece, begged that she would intercede for him with Yolande.

"How, now, Sir Knight," said the lady, "having been beaten at feats of arms by a married man, do you now beg the assistance of a married woman?"

"By my spurs, madame! I am more afraid of the girl than of either you or your husband."

"Well, then, you must either win your matrimonial spurs as you have already won those of knightship or remain a craven."

With that she opened a door and ushered him into a room with Yolande. What took place there has not been handed down, except that after while De Bresse came out, strutting like a peacock, and informed his hostess that he had won this fight far more easily than her husband had vanquished him in the tourney.

After a brief courtship the young lady rode back to Turin, the bore a scraps of paper from Mme. Bligny to her husband, on which she had written: "I have gained a victory for the same cause with woman's weapons. I wish you an auspicious lance, I wish a beautiful girl."

Corsant de Bresse, returning an attached husband, excited a great deal of admiration in Turin. The married knights welcomed him among their number, and the single knights talked of another tournament in which the renegade should defend his newly chosen side against one of their number, who should punish him for his desertion. But the Count of Savoy, fearing any further fighting, and therefore being demoralized among the bachelors both on account of their defeat and De Bresse's joining the enemy's ranks, unnumbered more deserted, and many maddened gained noble husbands.

And you who visit northern Italy take a little steamer plying around the lake and among other sights viewed from the boat look at Castle Bligny.
You can fancy a good woman sitting on the terrace 700 years ago with a baby on her lap and a plumed knight riding up the slope to cry her mercy.
And, remembering how he rode again down that same slope an engaged man having turned his back indignantly on the side for which he had so recently fought, you will say to yourself, "Verily, a woman's wit is mightier than the sword."

"The successful poultry raiser must possess to a certain extent that which has been called 'genius'—the capacity for taking infinite pains."

THE SOCIAL SIDE OF GOOD ROADS.

The common roads of a country are not only necessary to its development, but their condition is a measure of its civilization.
The highest type of mental and moral culture and development cannot be attained without the means of easy and rapid communication between all parts and sections of the country. The railway and telegraph lines are the great modern civilization of the world, but they are limited in their spheres of usefulness.
Because they do not reach the farm, the home, the country schoolhouse and church. The common road is the connecting link between these, and without it the progress of a widespread civilization must of necessity be greatly retarded. They are the foundations upon which the superstructure of society is erected and upon which its symmetry, beauty and stability must rest.

Neighborhoods, counties and states separated from each other by the barriers of practically impassable roads, in their loneliness degenerate into a condition of moral stagnation from which it is difficult to arouse them to a common and constructive interest and understanding.—W. M. Moore.

GOOD ROADS WILL BUILD UP BUSINESS.

They Will Increase Population and Benefit Local Trade.

To no one more than the business man is the question of good roads a vital issue. The spreading of the doctrine of good roads will mean a large increase in the volume of business, will lead to great leaps in the development of this already rich country and will make money for every man in mercantile lines. While directly the building of good roads will benefit the farmers and stock raisers perhaps more than any one else and will raise the value of every farm reached by good roads, still the business men come in a close second.

Good roads will increase the productivity of the land because they will give the farmers a better outlet for their marketable stuff and will lead to such an increase in population that there will be more workers per square mile than there are under the old roads system. Good roads will open for settlement and cultivation land now lying out of the radius of profitable farming. They will put more square miles of territory within trade distance of your town.

The business men of any town are interested in bringing to that town trade from greater distances than are easily covered by our present roads.
Good roads increase business, and every man in business in the community receives his share of the benefit.
The farmer is able to haul his grain and produce to market at less cost and makes a greater profit per year from his labor. This additional profit is represented by the additional amount of cash he has to spend with the home dealers. When the farms are made to pay larger dividends more settlers will come to your neighborhood, and all of them will have to spend money with you and your fellow business men. So, directly and indirectly, the business men are benefited by the building of good roads.

ROADWAYS AND WATERWAYS.

Good Roads Advocate Should Get More Money.

If it is feasible for the federal government to issue bonds to improve water transportation facilities then it is equally sensible to do so for the improvement of highways.

The millions expended on waterways may be of advantage to some of the people, but a few dollars for highway improvement will benefit all the people.

Why is it that congress and public men generally did not long ago see that the improvement of transportation between city and farm, the product and the market, the farm and the railroad, the farm and the harbor or the river wharf, is of as much importance as the deepening of harbors and rivers?

If bonds are issued by the government then half of the proceeds should go to the construction of roads, and a large percentage of the money lavished on rivers and harbors should be diverted to good roads.

Good roads advocates in congress should organize at once and get at least as much money for roads as goes to waterways.—Jesse Taylor in Good Roads.

LEGAL NOTICES

Order for Publication.

State of Michigan. The probate court for the County of Charlevoix.
At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 24th day of August, A. D.
1912.
Present: Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Hattie V. Tuttle, deceased. Hiram Brock, executor of said estate, being first in said court his petition, praying for license to sell the interest of said estate in certain real estate therein described.
It is ordered, that the 24th day of September, A. D. 1912, be and is hereby the time of said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition, and that all persons interested in said estate appear before said court, at said time and place, to show cause why a decree to sell the interest of said estate in said real estate should not be granted.
It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.
A true copy. John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate.

"GO TO THE BEST"

This is the first essential of assured success. By enrolling at the Mc-Lachlan Business University you are getting "The Best" Michigan has to offer in the line of a Business Education. Its broad course of modern business methods presented individually by the best business educators in the country eliminates every vestige of risk on your part. You should know this fact.

OUR BEAUTIFUL CATALOG FREE

You are not familiar with the methods of Michigan's Greatest School of Business and Shorthand if you have not seen this catalog. It is acknowledged by all to be a worthy representative of a great school.

We allow your railroad fare here. Excellent opportunities to work for board. Hundreds of students placed annually. Let us tell you more about our school. Begin now.

McLachlan Business University

110-118 PEARL ST.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

IT SOMETIMES RAINS

It is easy sailing in fair weather. With a fair income anyone can get along for the present happy-go-lucky, letting tomorrow take care of itself. But the day may come when the income stops, or sickness or death absorbs it. What then? Then there's old age. Are you smart enough to overcome that? Isn't it up to you to stop and think about the "rainy day?" Sometimes it rains, sometimes it pours. The time will come when you will need an umbrella. You can't always get in out of the wet. Right then your best umbrella will consist of a stiff upper lip and a bank account. Better start now.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nichols Harry Nichols A. Battars A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

New Coal and Wood Heating Stoves

Coal Stoves that Burn the Smoke
Oil Heating and Cook Stoves

Stove Boards Oil Cloth Rugs

Coal Hods and Sifters

Potato Forks and Hooks

Corn Knives Corn Rope

POTATO AND APPLE CRATES BASKETS MEASURES

Tin, Enameled and Aluminum Ware

Fishing Tackle

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's
$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Sales and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others.
Our handsomely illustrated 200-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for convinced talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory?
We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to leave all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.

THE VICTOR
SAFE & LOCK CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

Take a Stroll

Down Bridge Street and Look
Into my Window. It has a Story to tell you which Means Dollars Saved.

C. R. BELLINGER
Pioneer Jeweler

The Charlevoix Courier

Published every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year, $1.00
One copy, six months, .75
One copy, three months, .40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge meetings and entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary notices, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 5 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

ELSEWHERE in this issue will be found the resolutions adopted by the Isabella county Republican convention in regard to Congress man Dadds' record. By an unanimous vote Mr. Dadds' friends and neighbors, with whom he has spent nearly his entire life, adopted resolutions of the committee, in which they reported that after investigation they found Mr. Dadds' record exactly as he published it throughout the district, and, by a large vote, adopted the resolutions denouncing Mr. Lindquist.

That our readers may understand what it is all about we will briefly state what the resolutions refer to. Mr. Lindquist is charged with sending out letters broadcast throughout the district, in which he accused Mr. Dadds with making false statements, on his campaign cards, in regard to his votes on certain questions, too late for Mr. Dadds to defend himself. If true, Mr. Lindquist stands convicted of the most dastardly political attack ever made upon a public official and is unworthy the support of any honest man. Regrettable as it may be, the evidence seems to convict him. The letters in question were sent out and were sent out during the closing days of the campaign, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Dadds had published his record weeks before, and, if it were false, ample opportunity had been given his opponent to make the fact known to the people. From any viewpoint it looks as if Mr. Lindquist would have to do a lot of explaining before he convinces the people of the eleven district that he is a proper man for the position he seeks, and there is no cause in wonder that Republicans are deserting his standard in large numbers.

HOW THE VOTE STOOD

Official Figures Given Out by State Board of Canvassers.

Following is the vote cast at the August primaries, according to the official count by the state board:

For U. S. Senator.

William Alden Smith, (Rep.) 149,922.
Alfred Lucking, (Dem.) 42,866.
George P. Hummer, (Dem.) 13,424.
Theodore M. Joslin, (N. P.) 9,283.

For Governor.

Amos S. Musselman, (Rep.) 86,490.
Fred C. Martindale, (Rep.) 82,714.
Woodbridge N. Ferris, (Dem.) 36,491.
L. Whitney Watkins, (N. P.) 9,770.

For Lieutenant Governor.

John Q. Ross, (Rep.) 139,063.
James Helme, (Dem.) 35,479.
W. D. Gordon, (N. P.) 9,271.

Endorsed by Ferris.

To the Voters of the 11th Congressional District of Michigan:

I have known Archie McCall of Ithaca for many years. Mr. McCall is an able lawyer, a man who has made his own way in the world, a man who has fought first, last and all the time for the interests of the people. He was a very enthusiastic worker for the nomination of Woodrow Wilson. Mr. McCall never hedges, never dodges, he strikes straight from the shoulder. He is sanely progressive on the great question of the day. I am more than glad that Mr. McCall is a candidate for congress on the Democratic ticket in the 11th district. Mr. McCall will make a whirlwind campaign. He will give the voters wholesome things to think about. He is the man that should represent this district. Democracy can count on McCall to exemplify it in its highest and best sense. I appeal to my friends throughout the district to support Mr. McCall. This is the year of all years that the people should awaken to their opportunities. It is of no use to advocate measures without men. Mr. McCall is the type of a Wilson worker. He is not narrow, but on the contrary, he is broad, generous and clear in his thinking. I take great pleasure in expressing my appreciation of Mr. McCall's ability and worth in this campaign.

Very sincerely,

ndv:381 W. N. Ferris.

(This matter must not be repeated without special permission.)

A piece of beet which is to be stored for use could will be much more satisfactory and slice more easily if it is roasted the day before it is to be used.

Last season was a nutchy bad one for grasshoppers in several sections, and if the coming season should be as dry as last they are likely to be a still worse pest.

Unleached wood ashes contain from 5 to 7 per cent of potash and are an excellent fertilizer. As is well known, the ashes from hard wood are much richer in potash than those from soft wood.

When one rides through a dairy section it does not take very much imagination to decide whether the farmers are making money or not. The appearance of their places is sufficient evidence.

The uses of concrete are multiplying very rapidly. Not only has it largely taken the place of plank for sidewalks, but floors and posts, but it is giving very satisfactory results as a substitute for wooden railway ties.

Eggs are quite as likely to absorb odors from the things the hen eats as milk is to take on smells from the things the cows consume in the stable. And either smelly milk or eggs are not calculated to whet one's appetite.

Hogs are not usually recommended as a fertilizer for corn, but one of the best fields of corn that the writer remembers having seen as a boy was one in which some 200 350 pound porkers that died of hog cholera had been planted.

The middle of January a carload of potatoes from Scotland was unloaded at Port Huron, Me., to supply local needs. This is said to be the first time in her history as one of the leading potato states that Maine has had to import potatoes for her own use.

It is not only desirable for a girl to know how to sew well from the standpoint of being competent and self sufficient, but from that of economy as well. Fortunately it is neither degrading nor undulylike for a woman to know how to clothe herself.

A northern poultry keeper who has been getting good results from a flock of forty pullets has made the meat of one rabbit a part of their daily bill of fare. Besides, they get when in the morning, out or spent at noon, cracked corn at night, while winter and milk, bone and ground oyster shell are provided every day.

Baby beef is the cheapest and most profitable to raise, and the first 200 pounds of growth in a short time produced considerably cheaper than the last 100 pounds if he is brought to a weight of 300 pounds. Almost invariably early gains are quickest and cheapest, and this is just as true of poultry and sheep as it is of hogs and cattle.

If the flock of bees is to be confined the coming season it will be a good idea to shut off a portion of their yard or a tract adjoining and sow rye. If this is allowed to get a good start it will furnish the bees a supply of the sweet green food all summer, and they will be still nibbling at the stalks after they are killed by the frost of early winter.

If there was ever a spring when the argument ought to be strong in favor of setting out a wood lot it is the present one, following a winter season when the very slight of soft earth is enough to give the householder who has been buying it and the good wife who has been using it and cleaning up after it a veritable nightmare. Medium sized wood lots set ten or a dozen years ago are now giving their owners a most refreshing substitute for this nastiest of fuels.

They have found out in experiments conducted in Rothamstead, England, on the royal agricultural farms that if soil is heated to a temperature of 212 degrees F. it will kill certain forms of destructive amoebic life and make it possible for the soil to yield double what it has been wont to do. This is good news, but just how the fellow who cannot now, as things are, buy a new range for his wife or a spring bonnet, makes necessary fence repairs or repairs the hog house or dairy barn can install and operate a steam heating plant to parboil the amoebae on his many acres we have not been quite able to figure out.

SOME HOG FEEDING POINTERS.
In bulletin No. 123, issued within a few weeks by the Nebraska experiment station, the results are given of hog feeding experiments extending over several years. While some eight or ten different combinations of corn and alfalfa were tried, the most pronounced consisted of corn and alfalfa hay fed from a sack. Nearly as good as this from the standpoint of cheap pork production was nine parts corn and one part chopped alfalfa hay and nine parts corn and one part alfalfa meal. In every case the corn fed was ground, and all feeds were moistened in the trough before being eaten. Interesting single facts brought out were that one bunch of hogs fed a ration of half corn and half alfalfa gained but fifty-five pounds in three months, while another bunch weighing the same at the start and fed nine parts corn and one part alfalfa gained 148 each on the average. Another historical fact demonstrated was that the best of feed to produce a 225 pound hog was $3.55 per hundred pounds, while keeping the hog until it weighed 325 pounds increased the cost per hundred pounds of gain to $3.57.

GIVE IT A TRIAL.

To any reader of these notes who would like to have a part in this "back to the land movement" and who now has a lucrative position or other employment we would suggest the putting of this longing to the test on a small scale where possible before giving up the salary job. This may be done in a good many instances by renting a half acre or so and putting it in to onions, cabbage or beets. If one is near a beet factory, doing a good share of the work in connection with the raising of such a crop would enable one to know whether the desire to be near the soil was a passing fancy or an abiding like for the great outdoors and labor with and on the soil. If one will try out such an experiment as this and still bankers for the agricultural or horticultural life it would seem to be pretty safe to make the trial. At least the one who had the preliminary experience suggested would hardly be taken unawares in the experiences which would come to him.

A COMMON MISTAKE.

The writer is personally acquainted with instances not a few where those investing in a new section of the country have bitten off more than they could chew financially. That is, they have been so anxious to tie up so much land at the start for the purpose of making as much as possible on their investment that they have been desperately pinched and handicapped in all their later operations, including repairs and improvement, equipment and the meeting of simple running expenses. If one expects to sell a property a few weeks or months after the time of buying the statements made would no apply in so large a degree, but where there is likelihood that one may keep possession a year or more it is very necessary that the premium suggested should be heeded. Being so will not only make it possible to avoid operating at a great disadvantage, but perchance the ultimate loss of all that one may have invested.

SURE OF ONE THING.

Will the coming season be wet or dry? Absolutely no one can tell more than forty-eight hours ahead notwithstanding all the high sounding and pompous claims of long distance weather prophets, who when it comes down to brass tacks know no more about the future of weather conditions than a codfish does about Caesar. But there is one thing that the farmer does know from his own experience or that of others—namely, that if the season should be dry, as the past two or three have been, his chances of getting even a fair crop will be greatly increased if he gives the soil thorough and careful preparation before the seed is sown or planted. There is no moonshine or monkey business about this, and it doesn't depend upon planetary conjunctions, sun spots or anything else.

THE REAL TROUBLE.

Many a soil is supposed to be lacking in fertilizing elements when, if the truth were known, this is not so much what ails it as lack of proper drainage. Plant life, and particularly those ordinarily raised for commercial purposes, simply will not thrive in poorly drained soil. Should the land be drained and still fail to produce, the trouble may be due to sources which can easily be overcome by harrowing in from a ton to a ton and a half per acre of ground burnt lime or ground limestone (the former will be the more quickly available) per acre. Constant cropping is bound to impoverish the soil, and it is more than likely that along with being poorly drained or sour the soil needs fertilizers and will respond generously if they are applied.

ASK A SQUARE DEAL.

The members of the National Dairy Union are to be commended for the stand they have taken on the oleomargarine question—insisting merely on the point that oleomargarine should not be colored in imitation of butter and sold so as to deceive buyers of it into thinking that it is butter. This is merely good sense and common honesty. If the poor man wants to buy oleomargarine let him do so, but he ought not to be deceived into paying butter prices for it on the supposition that it came originally from a dairy barn and not from the carcasses of steers in the feed lot.

J. E. Trigg

Some one contends that a balky horse can be distinguished from the fact that the tips of its ears will point inward. The writer had a balky horse once, but usually had his hands so full getting the brute to go that he entirely overlooked this turn of the ears. However, on reflection we do believe the writer's ears did sort of turn inward.

Long Silk Gloves

$1.50 grade "Niagara Maid" Long Silk Gloves in different colors, all sizes to close out at

98 cents pair

Double Finger Tips with a Guarantee in every Pair of Gloves

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

VANPELT BLOCK

SPECIAL SALE

OF

Sideboards, Buffets, China Cabinets

To reduce our stock on these goods and to realize a little needed money
—We will, during this month, make the following SPECIAL PRICES.

$28 Sideboards	$25.00	$25 Buffets	$22.00
$23 " "	$20.00	$23 " "	$20.00
$21 " "	$19.00	$22 " "	$19.50
$16 " "	$14.50	$21 " "	$19.00
		$20 " "	$18.00

$28.00 China Cabinets for $25.00

$23.00 " " " $20.00

$21.00 " " " $19.00

$16.00 " " " $14.00

$14.00 " " " $12.00

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable House Furnishers

ROAD WORK HINTS.

Bad roads have been tried and convicted of highway robbery. Wake up and realize the cost to you of bad roads.

Every road built adds value to the whole country.

Proper drainage will immediately improve the condition of earth roads.

No one will ever be able to calculate the loss to the farmers from bad roads.

Bad roads have much to do with the high cost of living.

Don't try to check the good roads fever.

A combination of holes, mud and ruts is an expensive possession.

We should devote some thought to preservation as well as construction and to drainage as well as surfacing.

The chief cause of the bottomless condition of roads is the lack of proper drainage.

Never under any circumstances place sod, roots, organic material or worn-out dust or mud on the surface of a road.

Bad roads make any kind of transportation difficult, unpleasant and wasteful of time and labor.

The "penny wise, pound foolish" policy will no longer be tolerated by the people, for they want good roads and plenty of them.

"Love certainly does play up with a man's anatomy."

"In what way?"

"It makes him lose his head, and away his hand and often breaks his heart."—Baltimore American.

Before Purchasing your

Winter Underwear

we would be pleased to have you call and examine our line, now on display. We carry the celebrated

Athena Underwear

For Women and Children

The prices are no higher than you would have to for Ordinary Garments and they give much better satisfaction. We would be pleased to show them to you.

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

FARMS NEAR CHARLEVOIX..

I have carefully listed a few choice farms near Charlevoix and I want to tell you about them. These farms are level, have good land, buildings and bearing orchards.

C. I. B. McLEAN Charlevoix and Boyne City

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

H. A. Jersey of Boyne City was in the city Monday.

Attorney Leon Miller of Petoskey was in the city Monday.

William Mitchell spent Sunday with relatives in Boyne City.

Miss Marion Harris visited friends at East Jordan during the fair.

Hon. W. S. Mesick of Petoskey was a business caller here Monday.

There will be no preaching at the Methodist church next Sunday.

W. J. Rachow left last night for Detroit on a brief business trip.

Miss Kathryn Lapeer spent Sunday with relatives at Boyne City.

Attorney DeFoe of Bay City is in the city this week on legal business.

Sam Levinson and wife visited relatives at Harbor Springs Sunday.

Mrs. John Chonberlin of Harbor Springs is visiting relatives in the city.

Louie Hamlin left yesterday for a two weeks' visit at Mendon and Detroit.

Mrs. Lee Howland and children visited at East Jordan a few days last week.

Mrs. Olaf Nordman and son, Olsen, returned Friday from a visit at Ludington.

Miss Lottie Taggart left yesterday for Hillsdale where will resume her studies.

St. Mary's school commenced Monday, one week later than had been planned.

Paul Harsha returned Sunday from a short visit with his brother John at Detroit.

Harry Karl of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, visited at the home of J. W. Kirby last week.

Terrence O'Laughlin of Big Rapids, is the new bookkeeper at the Argo Milling Co.

Rev. F. M. Taylor left yesterday for Big Rapids where he will attend the M. E. conference.

Frank Dalton of Leland was in the city Tuesday enroute to Mt. Pleasant and Detroit.

Joe Klooster returned Monday to Muskegon, after a short visit at the home of Peter Block.

Mrs. George Carr and child of East Jordan visited relatives here the first of the week.

Mrs. P. L. Anderson visited at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leon F. Brower, last Saturday.

A. L. Porter of Grand Rapids, is visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Brown.

L. D. Bartholomew returned Monday night from a short visit with his daughter at Owosso.

Lester Taggart left Friday for Jackson before taking up his studies at Hillsdale College.

Miss Althea Ashmore left Saturday for Flint where she will visit with friends and relatives.

True Dalton of Leland visited at the home of Capt. and Mrs. E. E. Pugh the first of the week.

Prosecuting Attorney Meggison of Antrim county was in the city Monday on legal business.

Jones Durance left the first of the week for Iron Mountain where he expects to spend the winter.

Stenographer Brown of Judge Shepard's circuit is acting as court stenographer this week.

Mrs. Bert Beaudoin and son, Lisle, left this afternoon for a few days visit with relatives at Bay View.

Mrs. Ray Ashton returned the latter part of the week from a short visit with friends at Mancelona.

Lee Howland is the owner of a fine Mitchell touring car, which arrived the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Ray Faulkner returned from Detroit the latter part of the week after a several weeks' visit there.

Mrs. M. A. Babcock leaves tomorrow for Prewman where she was called by the illness of her sister.

Mrs. George Farrar returned to her home at Port Austin, Monday, after visiting relatives in the city.

Malcolm D. Wilcox leaves tomorrow for his home in Mancelona after spending the summer here.

Irwin P. Levy left Monday for his home in Cincinnati after spending the week end with friends in the city.

Adolph Davis left Saturday for his home in Cincinnati after a month's visit with friends in the city.

Miss Lula Taylor left the latter part of the week for Albion where she will attend college the coming year.

Mrs. Bryant Brin and child of Traverse City visited over Sunday at the home of her father, D. C. Nettleton.

Mrs. Robert Bonthron, the Misses Vera Nowland and Arbutus Nordman spent Thursday at Mackinac Island.

John Burns returned the first of the week from Toronto, where he made a ten days' visit with his brother.

Mrs. James Graham spent Sunday home, returning Monday to Petoskey where she is taking medical treatment.

John Floyd and wife have returned to their home at St. James after a short visit with Adam Pister and family.

Lynn Purdy has returned from Boyne City where he has been assisting in a furnishing house the past few weeks.

Frank Kane of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, visited his sister-in-law, Mrs. L. B. Kane, at the home of J. W. Kirby last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Baker will have charge of the "Austin," a large winter hotel at Daytona, Florida, this coming winter.

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong and children, Bruce and Phila, have been visiting friends at Garden Island since last Friday.

Allen Campbell and family are now occupying the house on Huron, but avenue recently vacated by Thomas Shapton.

Mrs. Lucy Bou and daughters, Anna and Hallie, returned the latter part of the week from their visit in southern Michigan.

Miss Anna Kaufman left yesterday for Brooklyn, New York, where she will spend the winter with her sister and attend school.

At last we are able to announce that the long looked for pillow tops have arrived, and are ready to be delivered when called for.

John Ackert Sr. is confined to his bed with a sprained knee, caused by a fall while doing some plumbing on Frank Hall's new house.

J. W. Teasdale and family left Tuesday for their home in St. Louis, after spending the summer in their cottage on Michigan Avenue.

Edward Parmelee left Thursday for Chicago, then to his home in San Diego, California, after a short visit with relatives in the city.

A New Year's dinner was given for the guests of the Beach Hotel at that place last Wednesday evening to celebrate the Jewish New Year.

At the meeting of the council Monday night, Peter Benson was awarded the contract for the construction of the Nettleton street sewer.

Elmer Poole and family left for Asheville, North Carolina, Tuesday morning where they will spend the winter for the benefit of Mrs. Poole's health.

Mrs. C. Ross Brownell joined her husband in the city Tuesday. They are located in the Campbell residence, corner of Antrim and Grant streets.

City Treasurer Cook and wife are now living on the north side with their daughter, Mrs. Harvey Campbell, expecting to remain there until December.

The steamer Petosega sunk at the dock at Traverse City early Tuesday morning. The cause is undetermined, but efforts will be made to raise the boat at once.

Rev. C. E. Taggart left Tuesday for Reed City where he will attend the annual meeting of the North Central association of Congregational churches and ministers.

Miss Ann Hoffman returned Monday to her home at Muskegon, after a weeks' visit at the home of Peter Block. During her visit several parties were given in her honor.

The exhibit of vegetables for prizes offered by the Charlevoix Retail Merchants' association is being held at Vought's garage today. Many fine specimens are being shown.

George Hale and family of South Haven, manager of the branch store of the Melin-Winkel Piano Co. located in S. M. See & Sons furniture store, have moved into the Jarvis home on west Antrim street.

A party consisting of Misses Marjorie Miller, Annette Nordman, Gertrude Block, Marion Emrey of this city, and Ann Hoffman of Muskegon, made a trip to Mackinac Island Thursday on the Manitowish.

In last week's issue we were slightly mixed in regard to the Hart Transportation company. It should have read, the Charlevoix Transportation company, and the name of Ivor E. Gibson should have taken the place of A. Loren Hart.

Sunday School Picnic.

The Baptist Sunday school attendees enjoyed a dinner on the lake front park Saturday. About fifty were present and the picnic dinner was one long to be remembered. Various games were indulged in, prizes being awarded for the lucky winners. This is the first occasion of this sort this season, but it is hoped that others may follow.

Notice to Dog Owners.

If you wish to avoid trouble you must keep your dogs muzzled during this month.

By Order of the Council.

Subscribe for the Courier.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION

Jury Brought in Verdict of Guilty in the Joels Case.

Damage Case of Crooks vs. East Jordan Co-operative Company on Trial.

The adjourned term of circuit court opened on time Monday. After call of the calendar the criminal case of the People vs. Joels was taken up. This was a hard fought case, E. N. Chok appearing for the defendant and Prosecuting Attorney Fitch for the people. The jury were sent out Tuesday afternoon and after remaining out all night brought in a verdict of guilty.

As we go to press the case of Thomas Crooks vs. East Jordan Co-operative Company is on trial. This is a case in which damages are asked for injuries received by the plaintiff while working in the defendant's factory in the winter of 1910. Mr. De Foe of Hall, De Foe & Henry of Bay City are for the plaintiff, while Harris & Ruegger of Boyne City appear for the defendant. The indications are that the term will last the most of next week.

The Palace Clothing Store will be closed from six o'clock Friday evening until six o'clock Saturday evening on account of a Jewish holiday.

SUFFRAGE FORCES

Organize Charlevoix County Branch Michigan Equal Suffrage Association.

On Friday of last week the Charlevoix county branch of the Michigan Equal Suffrage association was formed and the following officers elected:

Chairman—Mrs. Cora B. Conlter

Vice-Chairman—Mrs. Gertrude Burdick

Secretary—Edith H. Wilkinson

Treasurer—Maybelle D. Smith

Chairman Organization Committee—Mrs. Louise Wilkinson

Chairman Literature Committee—Mrs. Cassie Hunt

Chairman Canvass Committee—Mrs. Rosa Nettleton

Chairman Finance Committee—Mrs. Lois Campbell

Chairman Advertising Committee—Mrs. Jennie Alcox

Chairman Press and Speakers Committee—Miss Jessie Himes

All women who are interested in the question of equal suffrage, to be voted upon November 5, are earnestly requested to meet at the home of Mrs. Cora B. Conlter, 111 Michigan Avenue Friday afternoon, September 20, at 3:30.

The Palace Clothing House will close every evening except Saturday, at six o'clock, commencing Monday, September 23.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van-Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Matter."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Morning service 10:30.
Sunday school 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Topic, "Believe. Believe Strongly." Leader, Mrs. B. Atchison.

Evening service at 7:30.
Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town Hall.

Everybody welcome.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Morning service at 10:30.
Sunday school at noon.

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.
Meets at Carnegie Library at noon.

Speaker next Sunday, Rev. C. E. Taggart. All men invited to attend.

M. A. Levinson & Company's store will be closed from six o'clock Friday evening until six o'clock Saturday evening on account of a Jewish holiday.

On account of so many school children in need of glasses, J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be here again Thursday, October 3.

For Sale.
Or will rent for season of 1913, Levinson home on Dixon Avenue. Inquire at store.

CRANE'S

Style That Lasts

Good style is as necessary in your fall suit as salt is in food.

Good style appeals too good taste—but good tailoring and good materials are absolutely necessary to insure service and lasting satisfaction.

Wooltex Garments combine style, tailoring and quality materials in the highest degree

They appeal not only to good taste but also the good sense of every woman. They represent the best value at moderate price.

Wooltex styles are the best that Paris creates. They are authentic. The Wooltex coat you buy today will be in a style distinctive now, and still popular next year.

Wooltex tailoring is the product of a great organization of expert designers and tailors.

Wooltex fabrics are pure wool—without a thread of cotton in them.

You cannot buy better coats, than Wooltex—not even if you get them from the most exclusive custom tailors.

New Fall Wooltex Coats
$15.00 to $30.00

Newspaper advertising or window display cannot do full justice to the excellence of our complete stocks. Come in and see them for yourself.

The Store that Sells Wooltex

Big Four Flexible Door Hanger

Anti-Friction Steel Roller Bearings
Made entirely of Steel

The "Big 4" Hanger cannot jump the track

Warranted to give satisfaction or money refunded

Price of Hangers - 90c pair
Price of Track - 5c foot

Charlevoix Hardware Company

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15c first insertion.

FOR SALE—Forty acre farm, next to "White's" fruit farm, one mile from city, on north side. Also four acres next to golf grounds. Ed Norton, Phone 201, 3611

FARM FOR SALE—One hundred and sixty acre farm three and one-half miles southwest of Bay Shore. Good land, fair house, good barn, windmill, 20 acres cleared. Sylvester Miller, Bay Shore, Mich.

FOR SALE—New 2100 Uter, 21 foot carrier, capacity 2 tons hourly. B. Wilkinson, if tried.

FOR SALE—Nine-year-old mare, weight about 1300. Inquire of C. W. Fox, R. F. D. 1.

HOUSE FOR RENT—Furnished or unfurnished. Inquire of Mrs. H. W. Miller, 341

TOMATOES FOR CANNING

A. ECKLUND

Phone 167-31

C. ROSS BROWNELL

TEACHER OF PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE

Fourteen Years Experience

Shoon-Sherwood Technique

Mathews Gilded Course of Studies, in ten Grades

Class limited to Twenty

Temporary Studio 215 Clinton Street

In Charlevoix Mondays-Tuesdays

ATTENTION BAKERS

We are making
Better Flour and More Of It Than Ever Before.

We are Selling our own make and imported Minnesota Flour CHEAPER than for years.

Try it and See. We guarantee every Sack.

Argo Milling Co.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. It is not a flake of paint or a flake of oil. It is a liquid polish which you have once used before. Your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel only. Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, hardware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It is also good for use on automobiles.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works
STERLING, ILLINOIS

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General-Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

KNOX GOES EAST

The Well-Known Soo Politician Quits Michigan Newspaper Field.

W. Frank Knox has sold out his interest in the Soo News and has moved to Manchester, N. H., where he will take advantage of a most flattering newspaper opportunity there. Mr. Knox has been one of Michigan's most prominent figures during the last three or four years. He was chairman of the Republican state central committee which was behind Governor Osborn's campaign and more recently has been prominent in the Bull Moose movement.

A. B. Darragh Injured.

Ex-Congressman A. B. Darragh met with a very painful accident last Friday which kept him confined to his room at the Park hotel for the past week and it is feared it will be some time before he fully recovers.

While attempting to move heavy marble slab which was stored in one of the vacant rooms in the Gratiot Bank building the heavy marble slab fell in such a manner that it struck Mr. Darragh on the right foot, severely crushing the member. In fact he was assisted to his room where a physician was summoned and it was found that the foot was severely bruised and the instep badly injured.

Mr. Darragh is receiving every attention and is in hopes that he will soon be able to leave his room even if it is necessary for him to use crutches for a short time.—St. Louis Leader.

Farm Dairying

Jacoba Irene,
Great Butter
Cow

VI.—The Heifer and the Udder.

By LAURA ROSE,
Demonstrator and Lecturer in Dairying
at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Canada.

[Copyright, 1911, by A. C. McElroy & Co.]
It pays in more ways than one to be on friendly terms with our animals. You must pet and talk to the young heifer so as to gain her confidence and affection.

Place her early with the herd of milk cows and watch that no harm befalls her. A sudden fright from a dog or an unusual sight may cause her to lose her calf.

Go through the process of milking her to accustom her to being handled. See that her calf is removed unknown to her twenty-four hours after birth. Go into the stall soon after the calf is taken away, groom and caress the young mother, and if she gets the idea that you are the baby so-much the better for the milk pail.

The heifer's udder for a few days after calving is swollen and inflamed and often painful. She is nervous and excited. If you have been in the habit of handling her, she will allow you to gently rub her udder and draw a little milk. The relief thus given will further instill in her affection and her last thought would be to lift a foot to kick you. The kicking cow is not horn; she is made that way by the milk. It is a good plan to clip the long hair from the udder around the teats. When milking this hair is often caught with the teats and pulled, causing pain which makes the heifer kick.

To get gentle cows there is nothing like raising them yourself. The cow seems to partake of the disposition of her keeper. No dairyman can afford to have a man in his stable who is rough and quick tempered.

The First Calf.

If the heifer is thrifty and strong she may have her first calf from two to two and a half years old. If delayed longer she is apt to acquire the habit of putting her food into flesh. It is well to delay the coming of the second calf for a few months longer than is usual in the nature cow. This gives the young heifer a better chance to develop, as there is not the extra tax on her during the heaviest flow of milk. It ought not to be necessary to dwell upon the point of feeding a heifer generously. She is as yet immature and must have plenty of good food to build up her own body as well as nourish the unborn calf.

Many farmers as soon as a cow becomes dry let her hunt her own living or half starve her, excusing their neglect by saying she is doing nothing for her board. Is she not preparing herself to work again every day for ten or eleven months, besides presenting her owner with a calf?

If you wish to establish a long milking propensity you must be persistent in milking the heifer after her first calf. It is then that the habit of a long or short milking period is formed. Dry her up at seven or eight months and it is difficult ever after to get her to milk for ten months. For this reason keep on milking her for ten or eleven months, no matter how little milk you may get.

It is better to have the heavy flow of milk in the winter, when prices are higher and help more plentiful. Cows coming in in November and December go on the grass just when there is a tendency to a falling off in the milk flow. The change to fresh pasture stimulates the secretion of milk, and it is like a second freshening.

Fail calving is better both for the cow and the calf. They receive better care and are not so exposed to extremes of weather. It must be remembered that a cow must not be neglected when dry. This is very important period, and she should get plenty of good food and be in vigorous condition at freshening time.

The udder, the glandular organ in which the cow secretes her milk, is made up of arteries, veins, nerves, tissue and fat. When cut, it has a soft, spongy, pale grayish pink appearance. There is a partition running lengthwise through the udder, dividing it into two distinct and unconnected parts. If a cow loses the use of one of her teats, the milk may be largely drawn from that quarter through the other teat on the same side, but if an accident happen to both teats on the same side, half of her usefulness as a milker is gone.

The birth of the young is the primary incentive to the secretion of milk by all animals which suckle their young. In the wild animals and in the scrub cow the udder is small and imperfectly developed, and secretes only for a few months. Intelligent feeding, selection and breeding have resulted in an enormous development of udder and an almost continuous milking period in the best cows.

The Secretion of Milk.

There are two general theories advanced in regard to the secretion of milk. The metamorphic (meaning change of form) claims that the milk is due to a breaking down of the cell structure of the udder. We can hardly accept this, for it would be almost impossible for a cow to build up and break down the cells to the extent of as much as from 50 to 100 pounds of milk per day.

The transudation or filtering theory claims that the milk filters or oozes through the tissues from the blood as it courses through the udder. Neither can this explanation be wholly true, for constituents found in milk are almost lacking in blood—fat, for example.

A combination of these two theories appears reasonable. As the blood courses through the udder from it are taken substances to build up thousands and thousands of tiny cells stored with materials which afterward form the greater portion of the solid constituents of the milk. All day long these cells keep developing, and the udder grows larger and larger. The blood is charged with an extra supply of water.

The cow has now the materials in readiness to make the finished product, milk. We have provided her with food and water. With these she has carried on the manufacturing process to a certain point, but she needs some outward assistance to finish the work thoroughly. She gets this assistance from the calf when it presses the teat in its mouth or from us when we likewise squeeze it in our hands.

We place our hands on the teats thinking we do so in order merely to draw the milk, but we do much more than that. We are cowboys with the cow in helping her to make the milk, and the better we understand our part of the business the larger will be the returns.

Action of the Nerves.

The materials for the milk are stored in the cells of the udder and in the blood. Its final secretion is brought about by the action of the nerves; hence the great importance of the nervous constitution. If a cow were giving ten quarts of milk at a milking and she were killed just before being milked there would not be found in her udder or any other part of her body more than a quart of milk. Too much stress cannot be laid upon this fact that the making of the milk is largely completed just at the time of milking.

Intelligence and kindness on the part of the milker at this time determine to a great extent not only the quantity but also the quality of the milk.

When we press the teats we excite the fine network nerve in the udder.

UDDER OF JACOBIA IRENE—HER PRODUCE MORE THAN ONE WEIGHT IN BUTTER IN A YEAR.

These nerves act on the cells, bringing them down. At the same time the water filters through the tissues, carrying with it the mineral matter from the blood. The materials from the broken down cells and the water unite to form milk, which finds its way through the minute channels to the milk cistern at the top of the teat, whence the milk is drawn by the downward pressure of the hand on the teat through the fat canal and escapes. It takes the fat globules longer to get to the outlet, hence the reason for the richness of the first milk drawn.

Milk is a product which is subject to remarkable changes while in the body of the animal secreting it. Intense pain, fright, anger, all leave their traces in the milk. In the human mother the first two of these have been to infuse the milk with poison and to cause convulsions, and sometimes the death of the nursing baby. It is reasonable to suppose that what is true of the human family applies more or less to such a highly developed, sensitive animal as the dairy cow.

Some cows leak their milk. This is due to the muscle at the teat opening being too lax. It may be remedied by a rather risky operation. Other cows are very hard to milk, the muscles being too tight. Remedies are given for this defect also.

The flow of milk is usually greater in the morning and the percentage of fat slightly lower than at the evening milking.

HOW TO BUILD A SHELL ROAD

A Surface Binder Is Absolutely Essential.

LAXITY OF THE OLD METHOD

No Economy in Using This Kind of Road Surfacing Unless Proper Care
Is Taken to Roll and Wet It Thoroughly—Raw Shells Best.

For many localities along the sea coast shells have proved to be both convenient and valuable for use in surfacing roads. Their maximum value is had for moderate traffic roads. Over sand, but they have also been used to advantage, where cheaply and where better material was expensive, over clayey soils.

The usual practice has been to simply spread, without much care and from piles dumped in the roadway, a layer of the shells over the unprepared natural roadbed, leaving the traffic to consolidate the shells, which it gradually and reluctantly did, says Major W. W. Crosby in the Good Roads Magazine. The succeeding season perhaps about shells to patch and even up the former work. When intelligently persisted in this procedure after a reasonable period has frequently resulted in a very satisfactory road surface under certain conditions.

It required, however, a considerable expense for patching to be kept in good condition, especially as the amount of traffic increased, and in many cases the use of shells has been abandoned because of this expense and of the decrease resulting in the proportionate pieces of stone and shells.

After considering and maintaining several roads under the above described methods for a period of several years, I became impressed with the lack of economy thus had and with the belief that many of the defects, such, for instance, as the forming of potholes or the "slaking" of the shells

A PERFECT SHELL ROAD IN GEORGIA, when used over clay subgrades—could be avoided by different methods.

In using shells over clean sand and in the subgrade may be impossible and is unnecessary provided any bits of the sand have been properly settled. All that may be necessary are thinning and evening up of the subgrade, so as to secure uniformity in the thickness of the shell layer without waste. Neither is it important to prevent a moderate churning up of the sand under the roller. This can safely be disregarded when not excessive and the sand is not so loose or clayey as to possess marked capillarity. In use of shells over clayey or loamy subgrades, however, the specifications should be strictly adhered to. Further, on some days a layer of clean sand from three to six inches thick between the shells and the subgrade can be advantageously used.

To secure satisfactory results plenty of water must be used with the rolling. It is preferable to so bind a shell road by sanding, watering and rolling as to have it ring under horse traffic. Identically as does first class macadam. However, the usual practice is to neglect this important feature and to depend on the adhesiveness of the powdered shells to rubably a lack of binding. Shell roads built with insufficient binding will always be imperfect and expensive to maintain.

Fresh raw shells are to be preferred for these surfaces, though steamed shells will give fair results. The steaming seems to take some of the toughness and life out of the shells. Dredged shells, procurable in many places, have never been used by me, but it seems that an excess of mud with them would be detrimental and should be avoided as much as possible, especially where frost action on the surfacing is to be expected.

The result of the proper use of good shells is a most satisfactory surface for light traffic. It is pleasantly resilient, smooth, though not objectionably slippery, and attractive in appearance, and especially so at dark nights, when its whiteness may be a decided advantage to the driver.

Further, the washings from the road surface encourage a splendid growth of sod on even the sandiest of shores and thereby increase the effective width of travel way.

TRAINING THE DAIRY HEIFER.

One of the first things we do is to teach the dairy heifer to lead and be handled while she is young. Not only is she easier to handle at this age, but she is easier to train to the halter than when she grows to be a big, strong two or three year old heifer, writes M. Coverell in Iowa Homestead. By teaching her to lead now there will be no "breaking in" to be done when she drops her first calf. It is not only hard work to handle the matured heifer that always has run wild, but it is positively dangerous and may even result in serious injury to the heifer or her owner before she is subdued. In this same connection it is also our policy to teach the dairy calf to be approached from either side. None of ours ever know any difference between the wrong side and "the right side." There are numerous advantages to be derived from milking a cow on either the right or the left side, whichever is handiest.

Clean, warm, snug quarters at night for the dairy heifer will mean not only a saving of feed, but a cow of higher grade when she is grown, as exposure to the elements or scant nutritious check

The Holstein cow Nancy Spotted, seventh show, was the first prize and grand champion cow at several leading state fairs during recent years, also at many other shows, says American Agriculturist. She is the dam of four A. T. O. daughters, also Sir Spotted Beets, winner of many first and junior champion prizes. This cow weighs 1200 pounds and is one of those that are a quick choice and have many admirers. One of her daughters has given over 60 pounds of milk per day. Her best three calves are still owned at Riverside Farm, in northern Illinois. R. E. Haeger, proprietor.

proper development, which never is quite realized. At the same time, confinement in a close, dark stall is just as much to be avoided as the cold, filthy quarters. The calf will need daily exercise in the open air and sunlight.

Plenty of water is another pressing essential to best results, and the supply should not only be generous, but it should be pure, clean and not too cold. Just as it comes from the well is about the correct temperature. Salt also should be kept where she can reach it at all times, as it is of great assistance in promoting ideal digestion and assimilation and in warding off disease. An occasional currying and brushing is also productive of good results, keeping the skin clean and healthy and still further training the heifer to be handled all over.

The question of feed is also given careful attention. Many farmers do not consider this worth the effort, but let us remember that we must develop dairy tissue in the young and gradually growing heifer if she is to prove a heavy milk producer when she arrives at maturity. This is not a difficult matter, since the kinds of feed that possess the qualities necessary to the nourishment and healthy development of the heifer are the ones that will build for milk and cream production. Such rations as clover, alfalfa and clean, bright corn fodder are our favorite roughages in feeding the dairy heifer. For the grain portion of the feed we give one-fourth oats, one-fourth bran or oilmeal and two-fourths corn chop. Misty or unclean feed in either the grain or roughage is carefully guarded against, as they are productive of digestive derangements. Corn is made the larger portion of the ration only while the weather is cold, in order to promote heat for keeping the body warm.

Milk From Silage Fed Cows.

The department of agriculture reports a test at the Illinois station, where the dairy herd was divided into two lots, one which was fed forty pounds of corn silage per cow daily, while the other lot was fed only clover hay and grain. During the course of the experiment samples of milk from each lot were submitted to 572 persons for an opinion as to any difference in flavor, the better being, of course, kept in ignorance of which milk was silage produced. The result showed that 90 per cent. readily preferred the milk from the silage fed cows, 29 per cent. the milk from cows not fed silage, while 11 per cent. could not make up their minds either way.

GROWTH OF SPRING PIGS.

Youngsters Should Be Liberally Fed to Secure Best Results.

Pigs gain in weight while young much cheaper than they do as they approach maturity. If fed all they can consume and assimilate while young, they require the thrifty habit and can be made to grow to market weight at less expense for feed than if allowed to come along in the usual manner, writes N. A. Clapp in Orange Judd Farmer. When pigs are liberally fed while young—the stomach is expanded—rapidly, and they can consume and utilize more feed over and above what is required to maintain them. This enables them to gain in weight at less cost per pound than would be possible if allowed to grow slowly.

When the pigs are three weeks old they will begin to look around the pen, and if when the sow is out a little "shelled" corn is thrown on the floor of the pen the sow will begin to pick it up before she pays any attention to the pigs. The pigs will see her pick up the kernels one at a time, and they will begin to pick them up and chew them. Such can be the first lesson in eating grain.

When the sow is out place a small, shallow trough where it will be handy to coax or drive the pigs over it. Tuck some the middlings in a pail, scald it, stir in some new milk, sweeten the mess with a little blackstrap molasses and put it in the trough while it is warm. Drive the pigs over the trough. They will snuff the molasses, lap up the feed and begin to eat. When they once get a taste of such feed they will eat all they can hold.

The pigs should be fed in the middle of the forenoon and in the middle of the afternoon. When I have desired to crowd pigs to make all the growth possible to show them in the fairs I have given them a feeding in the evening also.

After the pigs have eaten from the trough for a week or more counter feeds can be used and skim milk substituted for new milk. A good feed is made by mixing corn chop up with an equal quantity of wheat middlings. I like to feed a little molasses along with the warm feed to make it more palatable and to keep the bowels in a laxative, healthy condition.

The amount of feed given should be increased only as fast as the capacity of the pigs to eat increases. Feed in a clean trough every time. Give the pigs a chance to run in the field and eat grass. If fed and handled in the manner described the pigs can be weaned when eight weeks old, and there will be no check in their growth. At two months old they should weigh from fifty to sixty pounds each and be well started toward adulthood. I have frequently had pigs weigh 80 to 100 pounds each when three months old.

Caring For Horses' Shoulders.

In getting the shoulders ready before one starts working he should clean them well, washing and brushing to remove the dirt and grime. One should keep the mane out from under the collar while working.

A good wash is made of one-fourth salt, one-fourth alum, one-fourth borax and one-fourth saltpetre. Dissolve this fully in a gallon of rainwater and then put it in glass jars and keep it covered. One should wash the horse's shoulders every night. They must not be brushed too hard, for that would irritate the skin and cause it to get sore.

One should never clean horses' collars in the morning, but clean them at night, rubbing them clean with the hand. In case one forgets to clean them at night he should take a wet cloth to clean them in the morning. If one scrubs the collar with a knife or a curry comb it will scratch the surface of the collar, and the result will be a sore shoulder.

Rations For Dairy Cattle.

The following general facts should be observed in making up the ration for a dairy cow. A cow should be fed all that she will eat and digest well, giving due consideration to the cost, digestibility and composition of the food fed. The more palatable the food the greater quantity a cow will consume. Vary often increases palatability. A part of the ration should be succulent in nature, as such food stimulates action in the intestinal tract, which stimulates vigor, thrift and health in the animal. Another important part of the food supply is water. Too often this is not given proper consideration.

Apiary Notes.

Don't use sulphuric acid for cleaning beehives, because it will burn the comb and take the substance out of it to such an extent that the bees will not work upon it.

Bees won't thrive in a cellar where there are mice or any disturbing influences. It is well to partition bees off to themselves where it is quiet, with plenty of ventilation and little light.

During spring manipulations, in preparing bees for winter and at other times it may be necessary to feed them for stimulation or to provide stores. Honey from an unknown source should never be used for fear of introducing disease.

The first thing to be looked after in making a bee cellar would be the location. This should be in a side hill or knoll sloping to the south where the soil is gravel or sandy loam. By digging into the bank a cellar of sufficient size to hold the number of colonies comfortably can be secured.

A curious interference on the part of the honeybees in our economic questions has occurred in the tobacco raising sections of the country. They are gathering nectar from the tobacco blossoms, and some of the apiarists complain that the honey is flavored in a way that is neither delightful nor wholesome.

Silage Cheaper Than Pasture.

Dean Mumford of the Missouri College of Agriculture makes the statement that cows can be maintained more cheaply on silage than they can be carried through the summer on blue grass pasture, where the land costs about $100 per acre and is suitable for growing corn. He says that there is very little pasture land where a cow and a calf can be pastured on less than one and one-half acres, but it is entirely possible to get twelve and one-half to twenty tons of silage from one acre.

Tzar Coffee
35¢

You will find Tzar Coffee every bit as good as we represent it, - refreshing, invigorating and pleasant to the taste. It has the same flavor every day. It is fresh roasted and put up in air-tight packages. Try Tzar. You'll enjoy it.

Pleasant Valley Teas
80c 60c
50c

Give your callers a cup of Pleasant Valley Tea before they leave. They will want to know where you get such good tea. Tell them at

Mrs. B. W. Miller
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

DRINKING SCHEDULE

Roy K. Moulton Has New One for Travelers on Pere Marquette.

With a keen appreciation of the needs of the thirsty who travel over its line, the Pere Marquette has printed on the back of its cafe menu a very handy map of Michigan showing the outlines of counties where liquors cannot be served.

Any person who takes a trip on the Pere Marquette for the purpose of drinking all the time is doomed to disappointment. There are moments when he must cease. While the train is crossing a "wet" county he must drink enough to last him while the train crosses a "dry" county. In some cases this may be difficult, but in others comparatively easy.

There are, however, some trips on the Pere Marquette whereon a person may imbibe every moment of the time. Such a trip is the one from Detroit to Saginaw. According to the wet and dry map there is not a spot on the road where a person is obliged to go thirsty. This is the best place on the railroad to acquire a jag.

When a passenger starts from Grand Rapids to Detroit he can drink steadily until he gets to Elkhart and then he must cease until he gets to North Lansing. If he is a good drinker he can absorb enough to last him over. At North Lansing he can take up the flowing bowl once more and drink until he gets to Webberville, about three-quarters of an hour. Then he must cease until he gets to South Lyon, from which point to Detroit he can imbibe steadily. This is one of the most complicated trips on the entire system.

In the central part of the state there is nothing doing whatever. From Chicago to Grand Rapids a man can drink only about half the time, but the dry territory comes all in a bunch and is not difficult to keep track of. From Grand Rapids to Bay View it's on again, off again about every other county and only the most expert drinkers can keep on the schedule.

Taking the entire schedule into consideration, a man who exercises the proper diligence can stay sober about half the time.—Grand Rapids Herald.

INCREASE NECESSARY.

Thinning of Ranks of Veterans Makes G. A. R. Per Capita Tax Necessary.

The report of Quartermaster General Stowitz to the National Encampment Grand Army of the Republic, to the National Encampment held at Los Angeles last week, showed that an increase of from 3 1/2 to 5 cents per capita tax would be necessary in order to raise funds sufficient to meet demands. In 1900, the report stated, there were 400,000 members in good standing, but in 1912 there were less than half that number, making the yearly loss more than $7,000 from the per capita tax alone.

THE FLOCKMASTER.

Remember that the ewes sink the lambs require much more water than those without lambs. Save some of the best ewe lambs to improve the flock. It is a most wasteful practice to feed grain of any kind on the ground. Light, flat bottomed troughs should be provided in every sheep pasture.

The ewes that are suckling lambs should be fed very liberally. The young lambs will grow rapidly, so give them a chance. There is profit in it. To do their best sheep should either have free access to salt or else be salted once a week.

The novice when selecting a ram of the Down or other hornless breeds of sheep should be very careful not to select one with stubs—miniature horns.

RAISING DRAFT HORSES.

Farm Work Admirably Adapted For Developing Good Animals.

The farmer breeder of horses must strive to raise the kind of horse which will do his work best and bring the most money when sold. Profoundly in favor of the wrong type of horse from this standpoint has probably been the cause of more failures to make money when opportunity was waiting than any other one factor in farm horse breeding. Too much of this prejudice still remains, says J. L. Edmonds, Illinois experiment station, in Breeder's Gazette. To be highly regarded nowadays a drafter must have more than mere bulk to recommend him. He must be rugged, but must also have quality with it to make him a stayer and a good wearer. Softness of joints and unsoundness are sure to be much more discriminated against in the future than in the past. Size and fat will not hide such a multitude of sins, as was formerly sometimes the case.

The misfits and unsound ones are the hardest to peddle. They are always discriminated against most severely in case of a bad market. No one ever made money raising the mixed class of horses called "southerners" on the market. The dealer makes some, but probably not so much as the grower lost in producing them.

In no point are drafters showing more systematic improvement than with respect to their action. This is

Admirers of the Belgian breed of draft horses claim that it surpasses all others in uniformity of type and breed characteristics. Probably no draft breed has made such progress as has the Belgian in the last twenty-five years. Rigid selection, good feeding and general care have been the dominant factors in bringing this about. Many Belgian horses have been imported into the United States within recent years. Those who know this breed best like it best also. The horse pictured here is a two-year-old Belgian owned by Bell Brothers of Wayne county, O. This young stallion won first and reserve championships at the last international live stock show. All of the massiveness, strength and quality of this breed stand out prominently in this horse.

evident wherever draft horses are used and in the show ring. There is more profit in using big fast walking horses with mechanically perfect action. The art of making better walkers from naturally good ones is an art not as much practiced by farm teamsters as it should be. Cost would be cut down and speed increased by keeping teams at a good walk instead of a slovenly slow one and an occasional jog to make time. The good, smart moving big horse is a prize worth striving for, even though it is hard to produce. This kind of horse is largely free from criticisms which are made of the sluggish sort in hot summer weather.

Practically all of the work on the land must be done at the walk. This is why work on the land makes much safer work for the foal mares than wagon work, with more trotting and backing loads. No pregnant mare should be required to back heavy loads or do work on slippery footing.

Silage Cheaper Than Blue Grass.
Dean Muford of the Missouri College of Agriculture makes the statement that cows can be maintained more cheaply on silage than they can be carried through the summer on blue grass pasture, where the land costs about $100 per acre and suitable for growing corn. He says that there is very little pasture land where a cow and a calf can be pastured on less than one and one-half acres, but it is entirely possible to get twelve and one-half to twenty tons of silage from one acre. A cow and her calf can be carried through the summer on two pounds of clover hay and thirty-five pounds of silage per day as well or better than on a blue grass pasture.

WHAT THE SILO DOES FOR FARMERS.

The Missouri Red Book summarizes tersely the economic possibilities of the silo as a means of conserving food value. It is pointed out that no one thing will do more to add to the food production of the world, the farmer is learning, so far as conservation of food value, than the silo, says the Iowa Homestead. In future years, when arable lands will be taxed to the utmost to furnish sufficient food for the teeming millions who will live on land now occupied by thousands, this food conservator, it is declared, will be in

The silo practically increases the producing capacity of the farm at least 10 per cent and often more, says Professor Grant, Minnesota College of Agriculture. A 100 acre farm with a silo will produce as much revenue as one of the 100 acres without. Therefore the first cost of a silo, like that of a dwelling house, a barn or a team, should be considered part of the initial investment, and if one's capital is limited it is better to buy a farm smaller by 10 per cent rather than depending with a silo. The producing value of a silo on fifty dollar land would be equal to that of twenty acres added to the 50 acre farm, or $1,000; on $100 land it would be $2,000. This is a low estimate, for the stock carrying capacity of the farm will often be increased fully 25 per cent by the adding of a silo.

instrumental in saving thousands from starvation. So much for the silo from an altruistic standpoint.

From the viewpoint as a means of adding to the profitable output of farms the large increase of production to the acre average is considered equally remarkable. Farmers, usually quick to adopt improved machinery and new ideas in farming, have been slow, it is confessed, to understand the wonderful possibilities in silage feeding. The innovation in methods of feeding and the cost of the improvement have operated against the adoption of the silo.

Where farmers feed stock 200 days in the year and give animals thirty pounds of silage per day one-third of an acre of corn will carry the animal through the winter. The average acre of corn placed in a silo will produce from 18,000 to 20,000 pounds of silage, one acre, therefore, furnishing feed for at least three animals. One hundred and fifty cattle could be wintered on a fifty acre cornfield.

With stall feeding all the year, which is now followed in many sections of the east, a cow can be fed the richest milk producing feed in the world on silage and kept in good condition on the products of three-fourths of an acre of corn. With careful handling of the fertilizer products by providing floors and troughs to catch all droppings and keeping it well spread over the ground certain dairymen have given proof of supporting twenty cows on fifteen acres of land.

Milk cows are fed on rations averaging about forty pounds silage per day. When fattening heaves a forty pound feed of silage, with ten pounds of alfalfa hay, makes an ideally balanced ration. On the estimate of forty pounds of silage per day to the animal the value of an acre of corn in feeding nutrition is increased about 40 per cent. The large increase comes from the use as feed of the entire stalk of corn, which is cut up while green and all the strength of ear, leaves and stalk conserved. Were silos in universal use and the larger part of the corn crop thus utilized at least one-third more stock could be handled and in many cases better kept and fattened than under the old system of feeding.

The Good Dairy Bull.
In selecting herd bulls either mature animals which have already demonstrated their worth as sires or younger animals from high testing dams and sires only should be used. Remember that the best and surest results will always follow the use of a mature sire which has sired heifers with good records. A good dairy bull should be kept until he is twelve or fifteen years old—in fact, as long as he is a sure sire. Real good sires are so rare that when we do find one he should die only of old age. All breeders of dairy cattle should secure yearly tests on each and every cow in the herd. Shorter tests do not really mean very much. It is the cow that stays by her job that is really valuable.

Points on Horse Breeding.
Breeding a draft sire to a light trotting bred dam will produce a colt with legs and feet too light for the body, and he will have blind spots. On the other hand, breeding a trotting bred stallion to a draft mare will give a light body, heavy legs and an uncertain disposition. Don't cross.

We do Fine Job Printing.

IT WON'T BE LONG

Before the Winter Evenings will be here and now is a good time to begin to think about your Winter Reading.

Let us figure on a Combination for you. A first-class Magazine, a Ladies' Magazine, a good Farm Paper, a reliable Daily Paper and

THE COURIER

Charlevoix County's Leading Newspaper, published at the county seat. It gives you the Official News first hand. Its Correspondents in all parts of the county keep you posted on the news of your locality. Its Grange Department lets you know what is going on in the ranks of Organized Agriculture. These and many other Special Features have caused the Courier to be universally recognized as CHARLEVOIX'S BEST.

On a Combination of this kind we guarantee to save you more than the price of the Courier. If you want the Courier alone the price is only

== $1.50 Per Year ==

WE DO JOB PRINTING

The Kind That's Right
See us Before You Place Next Order

Auction Sale Advertising
is a Special Feature of the Courier.

The Season is About to Begin
Investigate Our Plan

The Courier Press

PHONE 12 12r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

CREAM OF RYE

For Breakfast--that's Enough

Think of a delicious healthful meal at a cost of one cent. Better still, you are feeding your body with nature's food and producing an abundance of healthful energy.

A Silver Spoon in Every Package

Rye is the Cheapest and best Food—U. S. Govt. tests prove it.

ARTICLES	Amount of energy the will buy—	CALORIES of Energy
Eggs.....	388	—
Beef, Sirloin.....	410	—
Mutton, Leg.....	415	—
Milk.....	1050	—
Pork, Loin.....	1033	—
Cheese.....	1153	—
Butter.....	1365	—
Rice.....	2025	—
Potatoes.....	2050	—
Beans, Dried.....	3040	—
Rye.....	6050	—

There's a Difference

The Taste is the Test

For Sale by your Grocer. If you fail to get a package Write Us

Minneapolis Cereal Co. Inc. Minneapolis

Grange Column

Wilson Grange.

Wilson grange met in regular session Saturday, September 14 with an attendance of twenty-one members.

The dance committee reported $18.05 cleared from dance and supper.

Bills amounting to $90.30 were allowed.

Lecture hour was taken up with readings and instrumental music after which grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

Harmony Grange No. 1451.

Harmony grange is having some very interesting meetings. At the last one a contest was inaugurated with Mrs. Myrtle Wilson as leader on one side and Miss Mildred Leifer on the other, the contest being over new members, attendance and literary program.

While the attendance was not all that could be desired, the literary program was very good, consisting of two original essays, several recitations, instrumental music and the recital of portions of the ritual work by two or three of the members.

The Women's work committee announced that they would meet with Mrs. Mabel Willson Wednesday, September 18, at her home in Boyne City.

Arrangements were made to take all the school children, who cared to go, to the fair at East Jordan.

Bay Shore Grange.

Bay Shore grange met in regular session Friday evening, September 13, with all officers present except three. Mrs. Baker was obligated in the four degrees.

Communication read from state anti-grange committee.

Lecture hour in charge of Blanche Wallace.

Song from grange melodies.

Reading by Mrs. G. Long.

"Are the Michigan Development

Bureaus Helping or Harming This Section?" discussed by brothers J. C. Karcher and Fred Worth.

Recitation by Merle Brechisen.

Music by Orrie Hooper.

"The Influence of Magazines, Papers and Books Upon the Home,"

by Mrs. F. Worth and Mrs. Jones.

Music by Theo Bowman.

Recitation by Ray Karcher.

Recitation by J. C. Wallace.

Music from grange melodies.

Secretary suggested having a

Woman's work committee.

Anniversary celebration suggested by Worthly Master.

Penny drill.

There were thirty-one members present, two visitors from Maple

Grove grange and one from Horton

Bay.

The next meeting will be held

September 27.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Readers of the Courier

Are advised that the Detroit Business University, the oldest and most influential business training school in the state, is located in new fireproof premises at 25 West Grand River Ave., Detroit, and under new management is doing better work than ever in training young men and women for good salaried positions. The catalogue is mailed free on request.

E. R. SHAW, President,

THE DAIRYMAN.

One advantage of succulent feed is the fact that it not only provides the cow with more moisture, but at the same time is more appetizing.

The milk utensils must be free from seams and cracks. It is impossible to keep them clean if this is not the case.

The bigger the ears of corn when they are put in the silo the bigger the milk flow will be when the silage is fed.

Provided your cow is a good one, the more she is fed along right lines the more she will give. No animal that gets only food enough to support life can make a gain or profit.

Haphazard methods of breeding never pay with dairy cattle. The best herd bull is none too good.

The man who can double the productivity of his farm more than doubles its value.

WHY PARKS ARE A HELP TO THE TOWN

They Attract the Prospective Home Hunter.

DO NOT RESTRICT THEM.

Plenty of Seats Should Be Supplied, and the Permission to Roll About or Nap on the Grass Should Be Granted to Every One.

Prospective-home-hunters are more likely to locate in a town that has a park than one without any, provided the place is satisfactory in other respects. Even a few acres tastefully laid out with lawn, flower beds and a playground for the young folks will be a pleasant spot where rich and poor can spend many happy hours.

A small section of a large city park is devoted to a rosary with a beautiful rose walk. This idea can easily be carried out in a small park at a moderate expense, and in the genial month of roses it would form a charming beauty spot.

FOUNTAIN IN A LOS ANGELES PARK.

Open spaces about a railroad station laid out like a park please the passer-by and add greatly to the appearance of a town and its approaches.

What parks are meant for and their value to mankind are concisely described by a writer in the Los Angeles Times, who says:

"Parks are, or at least should be, built for use, not merely to look at. A park is a place of the country within the town or a piece of land within the town where the people have all the freedom and influences of rural parts. For this reason as little restriction as possible should be placed upon the use of parks and every reasonable provision made for the accommodation and convenience of the public. No 'Keep Off the Grass' signs should deter any one from taking a roll (or a nap) if he feels like it upon the lawns, and plenty of seats should be provided for all who care to use them.

"There have been park boards that seemed to think that the parks were given them to juggle with and the public had no rights which they were bound to respect, but the shoe is on the other foot. Park commissioners have no greater legal rights than the public in general. A piece of land within a town is not a park, nor will it ever be until used. One of the leading park men of the United States has made the point that a great collection of buildings does not make a city or town, but a great collection of people does, and they find the buildings convenient, almost necessary. The people who use the land constitute the park; for without them it would be useless and, however highly embellished, would be a dead thing unless some one could see it in detail, and enjoy it.

PARK IN HAWAIIAN TOWN.

"Not only should parks be used wherever found, but they should be found everywhere, for it has been proved that purely city and town conditions cannot produce what is best in man, kind and therefore parks are a prime necessity. The best that is in mankind has been produced by association with Nature and her influences. Man kind confined to cities altogether artificial would quickly degenerate. Therefore parks are a vital necessity."

FOR A BALANCED RATION.

Rations are of three kinds—narrow, wide and balanced. When narrow it contains too much protein, when wide it has an excess of carbohydrates, which include fats, and when balanced protein and carbohydrates stand in the ratio one of protein to 4.6 carbohydrates. For the convenience of friends who desire to balance the ration so that heus get just what they need we furnish this content table.

	Total carbohy-	Protein and fat	Ratio
Corn.....	7.9	2.4	1:7.7
Wheat.....	10.2	2.3	1:7.7
Oats.....	9.2	5.8	1:6.2
Barley.....	8.7	6.2	1:5.9
Buckwheat.....	7.7	5.3	1:5.9
Kafir corn.....	7.8	6.2	1:5.1
Corn bran.....	7.4	20.1	1:3.4
Wheat bran.....	12.2	4.3	1:3.7
Wheat midds.....	12.8	6.7	1:4.7
Buckwheat midds.....	2.2	4.6	1:2.1
Beef scrap.....	66.3	31.1	1:5.5
Dried blood.....	52.3	5.6	1:9.1
Blood meal.....	32	23	1:9.7
Dried fish.....	44.1	25.2	1:5.5
Green cut bone.....	18	43	1:5.3
Buttermilk.....	3.9	6.5	1:3.7
Skim milk.....	2.9	5.9	1:4.5
Clover (dried).....	6.8	69.6	1:5.8
Alfalfa (dried).....	11	42.3	1:3.8
Cabbage.....	1.8	8.1	1:5.1
Mangel.....	1.1	10.4	1:3.4
Turnips.....	1.1	7.6	1:7.7
Potatoes.....	0.9	16.5	1:13.3

THE VALUE OF ONE SUGGESTION. Once on a time a Minnesota farmer attended for the first time a farmers' institute in which a speaker recommended the use of the Babcock test. He forgot a good deal of what was said, but this stuck in his crop. He acted upon the advice and began testing his cows. He found on the show down that there were just two out of the whole lot that were paying their keep. The rest he sold to the butcher and as he ran across them bought cows of large milking capacity that also showed up with a good test. That was twelve years ago. In the interval he has continued to improve his herd by purchase and breeding until today he has one of the most profitable as well as finest herds of Guernsey cows in the state. What this man has done others can do, and it is high time they were getting busy and weeding out the loaf-ers.

J. E. Trigg

Use of Commercial Fertilizer.

On a light, sandy Wisconsin soil phosphate and potash made it possible to grow a leguminous crop which, plowed down in 1910, supplied fertility for a forty-five bushel crop of corn in 1911. Similar land in which the legume was grown and plowed down with no fertilizer made only thirty bushels per acre. And the land is in better condition for the next crop—Farm and Fireside.

A Single Harness for $3.50

See my line of Single Harness made from the best selected Oak Leather, the finest Nickel and Rubber Trimmings with Flexible Saddles.

I have a large assortment of Harness in different Styles and Finishes

My Best Sellers are $10.00, $12.00, $15.00

Benj. Brown

Announcement

The Melin-Winkel Piano Company of South Haven, Michigan, has placed a stock of pianos in S. M. See & Sons Furniture Store, which they will be pleased to show to the general public. These pianos are handled direct from the factory to the home, thus saving the middleman's profits, and we solicit your patronage.

The Melin-Winkel Piano Co.

GEORGE HALE, Manager

With S. M. See & Sons

Charlevoix, Mich.

RIGHT SIDE

STRAYED OR STOLEN from my farm some months ago; between two and three years old; Holstein Heifer marked as above, ear tag number 145. If strayed $25 reward for her return. If stolen $50 for information leading to conviction.

E. C. WALLER.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 39

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

POINTS ON ALFALFA GROWING

Interesting Bulletin Issued by Michigan Agricultural College

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

For all Farmers Who Contemplate Growing This Valuable Crop.

Should be Regarded as a Permanent Crop—Difficult to Get Plants Started—Avoid Wet Soils.

Greatly varied results have been secured from alfalfa growing in Michigan; a great variety of methods have been employed on nearly every kind of soil under widely varying conditions; no uniform rules seem to have been observed in this work. It is much better to employ every possible means to secure a stand on a small area each year and succeed, than to attempt to seed a large acreage in an invariable or haphazard way and fail.

In selecting a suitable site for alfalfa growing avoid the low lying, wet, cold lands with water level nearer than five or six feet of the surface. Also avoid high, wet lands, such as steep hillsides. It is desirable, as far as practicable, to grow alfalfa on lands not suited to cereal production, such as the light, er, sandy and gravelly areas and high, barren hills and ridges; for there is a possibility of utilizing these lands in this way while other crops may not be profitable. Alfalfa should be regarded as a permanent crop too valuable to use in a short rotation to be plowed under after two or three years, in the same manner as clover. Where clover succeeds well and the crop rotation is a short one it should be used.

An exact statement as to the most suitable soils cannot be made because of the influences of local conditions. Two soils of the same general character, but in different localities, may produce far from the same results.

The sub-soil should be sufficiently permeable and porous to permit proper aeration, drainage and penetration of roots. An impenetrable hard pan sub-soil is extremely undesirable.

In general the most suitable alfalfa soils are those of the deep, rich, loamy, or sandy loam types. Much soils do not seem to be satisfactory. The results from clay soils seem to be variable. If clay overlies a somewhat porous sub-soil the alfalfa seems to thrive, but if the sub-soil is impervious to the percolation of water, interfering with natural drainage, thus producing cold, wet conditions, the results are bad. With this class of soils the plants are more subject to heaving in the winter and spring.

In general, alfalfa can be grown quite successfully on this class of soils even though lacking in humus and certain elements of plant food. The chief difficulty in connection with these soils is to get the alfalfa plants well started, but when once established under these conditions, the crop will do better than any cereal or grass crop that could be used.

In all cases the land should be continuously and thoroughly cultivated to free it from all vegetable growth before seeding. Weeds are about the most troublesome factor in securing a stand unless entirely destroyed before the alfalfa is planted. Soils of the clay and loam class should be plowed and cultivated deep and thoroughly. The light, sandy or gravelly soils should not be plowed, cultivated or loosened up deep shortly before the seeding time; for these soils it is desirable to secure a compact, firm seed bed.

How The Vote Stood.

The official report of the board of county canvassers shows that there were 1,341 votes cast in this county for United States senator at the recent primary election, of which the Republican candidates received 1,322; Democratic, 110; Socialist, 110; Prohibition, 27; National Progressive, 13. The official vote appears elsewhere.

Courier rates on application.

CHARLEVOIX UNRIVALLED

As a Summer Resort says Manager-Creamer of The Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Creamer of the Inn left Sunday enroute for the south. Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Turner, who have been their guests here for a few days accompanied them. Mr. Turner is associated with Mr. Creamer in the operation of the Highland Pines Inn, a new hotel located on Weymouth Heights, Southern Pines, North Carolina. Hotel Ottawa, Ottawa Beach, Michigan, was in charge of Messrs. Creamer & Turner the past season. The Inn and Hotel Ottawa both did an excellent business this season.

In conversation with Mr. Creamer he spoke very enthusiastically of Charlevoix and the future which lay before it, judging that future by its past. He stated it as his opinion that it had no rival as a summer resort in the west and each year its unrivalled attractions were sure to bring more visitors here to enjoy our hospitality, and in his opinion, it was a mighty good town to tie to.

FINE SHOWING WAS MADE

Of the Products of Charlevoix County Farms and Orchards.

At the Merchants' Prize Exhibition—Next Exhibition October 12.

Wednesday the Retail Merchants' Association held their third annual bargain day and prize exhibition at Vought's garage, which made an ideal show room. While the display was smaller than in previous years, the showing of the products of Charlevoix county farms was a fine one and we doubt if finer vegetables and fruits have been displayed in the state.

The next exhibition will take place October 12, when larger prizes will be offered for a much larger number of products and it is hoped that more of our farmers will enter the contest and the display room will be filled. Following is the list of prize winners:

Fred Marsh, first prize, onions.
R. S. Shapton, first prize, pumpkins; first cauliflower; first, carrots; second, onions; second, tomatoes.
Mrs. Dorit, second, carrots.
Mr. Reynolds, first tomatoes; second, cabbage.
S. Godbold, first, squash; second, pumpkin.

B. F. Wilkinson, first, cabbage; second, squash.

Mech & Armstrong, second, Wolf River apples.

Albert Beattie, first pears.

Will Scrigley, second pears.

Ed McClanathan, first, Wolf River apples; second, Alexander apples.

Howard Fairbanks, second, cucumbers.

Mr. Gornell, second, Wealthy apples.

Nat Burns, first, Alexander apples.

August Cellner, first, cucumbers.

William Withers, first, Wealthy apples.

Auto Accident.

Slippery streets and the sudden turning of the rig to the curb was the cause of an accident this morning in front of the Emrey Clothing House, which resulted in Jones Lewis of Hayes, having his luggage overturned and a wheel dished by an automobile driven by George Cranter, Jr. According to reports of bystanders, under the circumstances, the accident was unavoidable.

Newly-Weds Surprised.

About twenty friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Sam Levinson at the home of the former's mother on Dixon avenue Tuesday evening. Music and games were the chief features of the evening, also a fudge making contest, the newly-weds winning of course.

The guests departed at a late hour hoping to meet with Mr. and Mrs. Levinson again.

For Sale or Trade.

Pair light bob sleighs, light wagon, cutter nearly new, two single harnesses. Will sell for cash or trade for three-foot wood. Inquire at Hotel Elston.

UNITED STATES SENATOR CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE

Who the Candidates of the Three Leading Parties Are—William Alden Smith, Alfred Lucking and Theodore M. Joslin for Senator—Patrick H. Kelley, Edward Frensdorf and W. H. Hill for Congressman-at-Large.

At the primary election the voters of each political party chose their candidates for United States senator, and, whoever is chosen as our state senator and representative, will cast their votes for the choice made at that time by the voters of their respective parties.

The Republican candidate, William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids, needs no introduction to the people of Michigan or Charlevoix county. He served several years in congress as representative from his district and is now serving his first term in the senate. As a senator Mr. Smith's services have been so satisfactory that no opposition was brought against him at the polls in August. Mr. Smith is a recognized leader in this senate who has faithfully served in the past and deserves a reelection.

Alfred Lucking of Detroit, the Democratic candidate, is one of the leaders of the Michigan state bar. He is an orator of ability and has served a term as representative in congress with credit to himself and, if Michigan desires to be represented by a Democrat in the senate, the choice of Mr. Lucking would be entirely satisfactory.

Theodore M. Joslin of Adrian, candidate of the National Progressive party, has served the people as prosecuting attorney of Lenawee county and mayor of Adrian. Since the beginning of the year he has lost no opportunity to advertise himself, but the people have never seemed to have taken his candidacy seriously.

This year the state is entitled to another representative in congress. Owing to the failure of the legislature to re-district the state last winter it becomes necessary to elect a congressman-at-large. For this position the Republicans have nominated Patrick Henry Kelley of Lapeer. There is no better known man in Michigan than Mr. Kelley and we don't believe there is any other man better fitted for the peculiar position of congressman-at-large.

The Democratic candidate, Edward Frensdorf of Hudson, is one of the state's foremost business men, being one of the largest wool dealers in the state.

William H. Hill of Detroit, candidate of the National Progressives, is a prominent manufacturer and dealer in druggist's supplies.

Bozette City, Charlevoix, and East Jordan—be appointed to arrange a schedule of making points and to encourage and develop the work during the present school year.

VEHLE PATHFINDER

Passed Through Here Tuesday Afternoon on 1,000 Mile Tour.

The Vehle Pathfinder, a car driven by three members of the Chicago Motor club of Chicago, passed through this city Tuesday afternoon enroute to Chicago on a 1,000 mile tour through this state. The course brought them to Mackinaw by way of the Upper Peninsula and on down through the state by the west coast along Lake Michigan.

The young men in charge of the machine were J. L. Laurie, Roland Clarke and J. Browley. Their average mileage has been 182 miles a day since they left Chicago a week ago last Saturday. The car was richly painted and decorated for the express purpose of the trip.

SQUIER IS AGAIN CHOSEN

Secretary of Charlevoix County Agricultural Society for Another Year.

Other Important Business Transacted at Meeting of Directors.

The Board of Directors of the Charlevoix County Agricultural society at a recent meeting transacted much business of importance.

President Hipp appointed the following committees for the ensuing year, which was confirmed: Finance, Lewis, Newville, and Staley; Auditing, Price, Olney, and Neurs. The finance committee made settlement with the secretary and treasurer and the auditing committee passed upon a number of bills against the society.

A resolution was presented by Mr. Ward as follows: Resolved that the president and secretary be authorized to execute a proper lease in favor of the Charlevoix County Pomona grange as an incorporated body conveying to them the ownership of the new Grange rest room for a period of ninety-nine years. Carried.

Moved and seconded that W. P. Squier act as secretary for the ensuing year.

On motion it was decided to appropriate $500.00 to be applied in payment of premiums for excellence of exhibits made by the schools of the county and the city schools respectively.

PROFESSOR SMALLEY DEAD

Well Known Resident of Belvedere Resort Passed Away Monday Night.

Professor H. S. Smalley, aged thirty-four, of Ann Arbor, where he was connected with the literary department of the university, died Monday night, at the home of his father in law, W. W. Beeman on the Belvedere resort, where he had been spending the summer of diabetes. His fatal illness lasted only a short time although he had been ill for a long time.

The body was taken to Ann Arbor Tuesday for cremation.

WILL SPEAK ON EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Dr. E. C. Rowe at Court House Next Saturday Evening.

Will Also Address the Men's Bible Class Next Sunday at Noon.

It is with great pleasure that the Charlevoix County branch of the State equal suffrage association announces the presence in the city next Saturday evening of Dr. E. C. Rowe, from the faculty of the Central State Normal School at Mount Pleasant, who will give the subject of equal suffrage a thoroughly interesting presentation to all who will turn out and hear him at the court house Saturday evening at eight o'clock. All men and women interested or who wish to inform themselves on this most important question, are earnestly invited to be present.

The Men's Bible class voted at its last Sunday meeting to invite the Charlevoix County Equal suffrage association to present its cause to the class next Sunday noon, September 23, at the Carnegie library. Dr. E. C. Rowe of Mt. Pleasant, has been secured by the local organization to present the cause of equal suffrage before the Men's Bible class. They have also secured a first class male quartette to sing at this meeting. The county president, Mrs. A. L. Conter, and other officials, representing the local branch of the state organization will be present.

For Sale.

Or will rent for season of 1913. Levinson home on Dixon Avenue. Inquire at store.

ASK FOR REMOVAL

Of Receiver of Defunct Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Policy holders of the defunct Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties, have informed the state insurance department that they are dissatisfied with the work of the receiver, appointed two years ago. They have filed a petition in the Emmet county circuit court asking that the receiver be replaced. The policy holders allege that the liabilities, amounting to about $12,000, have not been paid, and that the indebtedness is constantly increasing.

Deputy Orr, of the insurance department, says that under the present law, passed in 1911, the settlement would have been handled by the state department. The receiver was appointed before the law was passed. Recently the policy holders raised enough to pay off obligations, but the receiver, it is stated, has not made the collections.

ANOTHER PIONEER IS CALLED

Mrs. Peter Kane of Hayes Passes Away Saturday Morning.

One of the Earliest Settlers in County Coming Here in 1878.

Mrs. Peter Kane, one of the pioneer settlers of the township of Hayes passed away last Saturday at 1:30 a. m. A large crowd attended the funeral service on Monday morning, which was conducted at the home by Rev. B. Atchison.

Edna Augusta Long was born February 25, 1816, in Genesee county, Mich. She was united in marriage to Peter Kane December 24, 1871. Three children were born, Roy M. Emma B. (now Mrs. Gender of Grand Rapids) and Fay L. Kane.

Mr. and Mrs. Kane were among the early settlers of Charlevoix county moving here in 1878. During these early years they became fully acquainted with many of the hardships of the pioneer life. About nine years ago Mrs. Kane suffered from a stroke of paralysis which affected her body and leaving her in a crippled condition, this was followed by another stroke last Tuesday while out riding in a buggy. From this she never rallied.

She, together with her husband, professed conversion and were baptized into the fellowship of the Baptist church during the special meetings last spring. She departed this life last Saturday morning rejoicing in the faith and the consolation of the gospel. Besides her husband, and three children that survive her, she also leaves three brothers, George, Samuel, and Morrel Long of Bay Shore.

Auction Sales.

If you contemplate holding an auction at any time this fall or winter, there is no better time than next month. Experience during the past five years has demonstrated that the Courier's plan of advertising auction sales is the modern plan—the plan that brings buyers. We make dates with all the leading auctioneers and will gladly furnish you with information how to make a sale successful. This week we advertise two sales.

On page two, we advertise the sale of Stephen Hull, six miles south of Charlevoix, on Norwood road, Friday October 4, beginning at ten o'clock a. m. W. B. Byers, auctioneer; F. A. Butler, clerk; W. J. Rachow, note clerk.

On page six we advertise the sale of Ed Norton, at the golf grounds near the water tower, Saturday, October 5, beginning at one o'clock p. m. E. B. Ward, auctioneer; F. A. Butler, clerk.

Shapton is Elected.

We were incorrectly informed last week in regard to the election of the board of directors of the Agricultural society. Richard S. Shapton of this city, was chosen in place of Elmer Ingalls. Mr. Shapton is an enthusiastic worker in farmers' organizations and will make a valuable man on the board.

Subscribe for the Courier.

DOINGS IN CIRCUIT COURT

Jury Completed Their Labors This Forenoon and Were Discharged.

HEAVY DAMAGES AWARDED

Thomas Crooks Given a Verdict of Two Thousand Dollars.

Jury Awards Peter Scoop Damages of Three Thousand Dollars—Disposition of Other Cases.

As we went to press last week the damage case of Thomas Crooks vs. the East Jordan Coopers company was on trial in the circuit court. In this case the plaintiff asked damages for injuries which he received by having some of his fingers cut off, while employed at the company's mill, at East Jordan during the winter of 1910. The case was hotly contested, Mr. DeFoe of Hall, DeFoe & Henry of Bay City appearing for the plaintiff and Harris & Rueggesser of Boyne City for the defendants. After a long session the jury brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $2,000.

The next case taken up was the case of Peter Scoop vs. W. H. White Company. In this case Mr. Scoop asked damages for injuries received while hauling logs for the defendants during the winter of 1910. The injuries consisted of a broken collar bone and internal injuries received from a chain breaking on a load of logs. Mr. Scoop alleged that the bill, upon which the injuries were received was not properly sanded. After a long session the jury brought in a verdict of $3,000 damages.

E. N. Clunk of East Jordan looked after the interests of the plaintiff while Harris & Rueggesser were for the defendants.

The jury was discharged this forenoon. The following cases were disposed of as noted:

People vs. Vought, forgery, plea of guilty. Paroled.

People vs. Belmer, violation of the liquor law, guilty. Sentence suspended.

Arden N. Howe, et al vs. M. S. Plank, et al, appeal. Verdict for plaintiff of six cents.

George E. Nichols vs. City of Boyne City, trespass. Settled.

Carrie E. Tucker vs. Reuben P. Foley, trespass appeal, non suit.

Horace B. Hipp, et al, vs. Peter Weisbuhn, et al, appeal. Argued and taken under advisement.

HAVE LEASED SEED HOUSE

Chatterton & Son will make Charlevoix Their Headquarters.

Will Ship Beans Here for Picking—George Brown the Manager.

Chatterton & Son, the Mt. Pleasant seedsmen, have leased the D. M. Ferry & Co. seed house and took possession Monday. This week they are busy cleaning it up and putting it in shape and will open up ready for picking next week. It is their intention to make this a general headquarters for this section of the country and, in addition, to picking the beans which they have had grown under contract in this vicinity, they will be in the market for beans in all surrounding towns, and ship them here for picking.

Geo. Brown who has been in the employ of Ward & Ward and J. R. Cooper for the past five years has accepted the position of manager. Mr. Brown's wide acquaintance with the farmers of this locality makes him a peculiarly valuable man for the position.

The Courier believes that this is a very important matter to Charlevoix county farmers as there is no more valuable crop than beans sown to this locality and we will now have a market at first hand.

Itching Skin Quickly Cooled

Hot weather means skin trouble for many people, but now you can stop that itch instantly.

Just a few drops of the cooling and healing D. D. D. Prescription and the itch is gone—not in half an hour—not in ten minutes—but in five seconds. We know the lotion will do the work. If the first regular bottle fails to prove it to your satisfaction it will not cost you a cent.

This great specific for skin disease, D. D. D. Prescription, usually sells for $1.00 a bottle, but now, by special arrangement you can get a trial size bottle for 25 cents. This will be enough to show you why we always recommend D. D. D. for all skin troubles. D. D. D. gives instant relief.

F. H. Hines & Co., Druggists

Correspondence

ATWOOD

Palmyra weather.
Gathering autumn leaves.
Preaching next Sunday 10:45 a. m.
Town board was in session on Monday last.

Skow & Bergama started to sell goods in their new store on Tuesday.

The young people had a nice party, all by themselves over at Jacob Bergama's.

Mrs. Albert Parsons was taken quite sick last Monday. The doctor thinks not serious.

Little Georgie Parsons is very sick and hope at one time was doubtful. Tuesday noon—Georgie is reported on the gain.

Rev. John Bing returned home from Big Rapids Monday afternoon where he attended the M. E. conference. Rev. Bing will talk to his children for another year.

Married on Thursday evening, September 19th, by Rev. G. G. Haan, Mr. Albert Elzinger to Miss Gertrude Veenstra, both of Atwood. They will reside here. Congratulations extended.

Ethan Jolliffe received a letter from Rev. W. W. Ayresworth of Sterling, Ill. The Rev. was formerly pastor of Norwood church. He now preaches in a $50,000 church, commanding $1,000 salary.

Mrs. J. M. Hilly Homer, Ga., has used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years, and says she always recommends it to her friends. "It never fails to cure our coughs and colds and prevents croup. We have five children and always give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for a cold, and they are all soon well." We would not be without it in our house," Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

CLARION

J. E. Darrach went to St. Ignace last week.

Miss Minnie Webster returned Saturday to Chicago.

Mrs. S. B. Haas returned last week from Dowagiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Holly visited relatives at Petoskey last week.

Truant Officer Bashaw visited the Clarion schools on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Miss Phillips and Miss Cullen were visitors at the fair on Friday.

Mrs. Mabel Cony and Willie Cony, Miss Nellie Cantwell and Edward Cantwell of Norristown are the guests of Mrs. Katie Older.

Mr. and Mrs. Regan, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Haas, Mrs. A. J. Crago and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Hinkley, Mr. and Mrs. Webster and Miss Winnie Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cullen attended the fair at Petoskey last Thursday.

State of Ohio, city of Toledo, Lucas County, Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, Ohio, and State of Ohio, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY,
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1912.

A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.
F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by Druggists.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

EVELINE

Farmers are busy picking beans.

Mrs. Chris Neilson is at Petoskey Hospital.

Mrs. Peter Knudsen is reported on the sick list.

Peter Knudsen was to Ellsworth Friday last on business.

Miss Sadie Hammond of Ironton has been visiting at Knudsen farm a few days.

A number of young people visited East Jordan three and four days during the fair.

Joe Kemp gave a dance in his new house last Friday. Everybody reports a good time.

Misses Lily and Dagmar Lyngklop have returned to Boyne City, after a few weeks' visit at their mothers.

Subscribe for the Courier.

School Reports

C. H. S. NOTES.

School opened September 16 with 119 pupils enrolled, 49 being "freshmen," this is the largest class in the High School history.

The athletic association met last week, electing Mr. Carpenter as manager. According to the custom of past years, each boy was taxed $2 for each semester. Ned Durand is captain of the football team.

We stood upon a mountain,
We looked down on a plain;
We saw a lot of green stuff
Which looked like waving grain,
We took another look at it;
We thought it might be grass;
But goodness! to our horror
It was the Freshmen class!

The football boys expect to play East Jordan September 28, on the latter's ground.

If we did not know for sure that school begins in the fall, we could almost persuade ourselves into believing that spring and autumn had exchanged places, because of the amount of green which we see decorating various seats in High School.

Morton Parsons and Margaret McNeal are attending school at Alma.

Robert Bridge and Will Mitchell leave the latter part of the week for Ann Arbor where they will attend the university.

T. L. Parks, Murrayville, Ga., Route 1, is in his 33d year, and was recently cured of a bad kidney and bladder trouble. He says himself: "I have suffered with my kidneys. My back ached and I was annoyed with bladder irregularities. I can truthfully say, one 50c bottle of Foley's Kidney Pills cured me entirely." They contain no habit forming drugs. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

COUNTY NORMAL.

The county normal opened Monday September 16, with eleven students enrolled, ten young ladies and one young man: Hazel Gilman, Hazel Gilman, and Nerle Brecheisen of Bay Shore; Blanche Rogers of Central Lake and Jessie Groenink, Central Lake R. R. No. 2; Hazel Mills, Charlevoix, R. R. No. 1; George Hamlin, Charlevoix, R. R. No. 3; Sophia Berg, East Jordan; Naby Cliffe and Nabel Dunlop, East Jordan, R. R. No. 2; and Jessie Barkley, East Jordan, R. R. No. 3.

A letter has been received from Miss Maymie Scroggie class of '08. She is teaching at Walloon with Miss Nell Maddaugh.

Word has also been received from Miss Ella Rasmussen, class of '12, who is teaching near Pellston.

Miss Mary Berg, class of '10 called at the Normal room on her way to Bay Shore where she is to teach the coming year.

Miss Barbara Groenick was a Normal visitor Thursday morning.

Miss Georgia Redfield, class of '10, called at the Normal room during the past year. She is teaching at Halleck this year.

The students have been writing letters for their language work for the ordering of their school books for the year.

Although school has been keeping only a week, several insects have been captured for observation in agriculture. A cocoon of a cecropia moth has been brought in; a caterpillar which has already formed its cocoon; a cabbage worm which has formed its pupa-case and Thursday morning a large yellow spider was received.

The Normal garden planted by the class of '12 and the training room children has been visited by the class and although it has suffered from neglect during the summer vacation it still makes a good showing and the nasturtiums and the phlox are blooming nicely. The vegetables do not make so good a showing but we found potatoes, carrots, horse radish, lettuce, cucumbers and popcorn; while the sunflowers have attained a remarkable height and size, the tallest being ten feet in height and the head eleven inches in diameter.

For results, try our advertising liner.

Women Suffrage Notes.

The question is often asked, "What good has woman suffrage done in the states in which women can vote?" Ellis Meredith of the Denver election commission says, "It would take a book to answer. It is safe to say in every state where women have had the vote over at least one legislative assembly, they have modified, changed, amended or enacted laws so that they shall better protect women and children." The women of Massachusetts worked for fifty-five years to secure a law making the mothers equal guardians of their children with the fathers. In Colorado after the women were enfranchised the very next legislature granted it. Judge Lindsey of the Denver Juvenile court says, "We have in Colorado the most advanced laws of any state in the union for the care and protection of the home and the child. These laws in my opinion would not exist at this time if it were not for the powerful influence of woman suffrage."

The Michigan Equal Suffrage Association with campaign headquarters at Grand Rapids, asks the voters of Michigan the following pointed questions: Do you know that women vote in Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Idaho, Washington and California? Why not in Michigan? Who can't vote? Children, insane, idiots, aliens, criminals and women. Is that a square deal for women?

Over a million women in the United States have full political rights. Are homes broken up because of neglect of the home, differences of political opinion, etc.? In Wyoming where women have voted the longest, divorce is only one-eighth as great as in similar states where women do not vote. In New Zealand divorce has decreased seventy-five per cent and crime has decreased fifty-five per cent since women began to vote.

MICHIGAN HAS MANY ALIENS

Half Million Foreign People Have Residence in State.

Last Census Furnishes Some Very Interesting Statistics on the Subject.

A dispatch from Washington says that more than half a million of Michigan's white people were born abroad. According to the latest statement made public by the census bureau there was a total of 1,345,545 foreign-born white persons in the United States when the last census was taken, April 15, 1910. Of that number 595,524 were living in Michigan. The previous census taken January 1, 1901, showed there were but 427,323 in the state, so in the nine years' time the number increased 168,199 or 28.2 per cent.

Within the last few months an organized effort has been made to get foreigners to locate in Michigan. The figures given out show that Michigan, with the single exception of Wisconsin, made a smaller proportional gain than any other state in the east north central group. Ohio increased in number of foreign-born whites in that state by 40 per cent between the years 1901 and 1910; Indiana 35 per cent; Illinois 36 per cent, and Wisconsin 21 per cent.

During the nine year period between the taking of this census and the previous one, the number of foreign-born white people throughout the country has been increased by 5,000,000. Approximately half of them settled in the three states of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. For the most part they remained in the congested districts of the big cities. In New York state, so the new census report shows there were 2,729,272 foreign-born persons, a gain of 1,185,018 in the last nine years. New Jersey gained 279,272 and Pennsylvania 600,680. In the vast territory south of the Ohio river and west of the Mississippi river only 22 per cent of the immigrants located.

The census shows, however, that gradually the immigrants drift into the interior of the country, thereby relieving to some extent the tendency of the immigrants to remain along the seaboard. The group of five states of which Michigan is a part contains 2,034,893, or approximately 25 per cent of the early immigrants—those who came before the taking of the 1901 census—but only 20 per cent of those who have come since that time. In marked contrast the middle Atlantic states contain but 32 per cent of the early arrivals and 43.1 of those arriving since 1901.

Subscribe for the Courier.

TO RECEIVE CREDIT

Work of County Normals Approved by Higher Institutions of Learning.

The county normals have so emphatically proven their efficiency that there is a growing demand for the popular training schools of rural teachers. As a result, higher standards for these institutions are being required and this year minimum enrollment limit has been fixed by the Department of Public Instruction. A county normal will be discontinued whenever less than ten students declare their intention of taking advantage of the opportunities offered. This ruling will affect few, if any counties, however, as the institutions are almost universally popular and the interest as well as the attendance is increasing each year throughout the state.

That effective work is being done in the county normals is demonstrated by the fact that their graduates now receive eight units of advanced credit at any of the state normal schools, making it possible for them to complete their work for a life certificate in one year and a summer term. The University of Michigan will also allow 12 hours advanced credit which amounts practically to half a year's work. In both cases, the county normal graduate must have previously completed their secondary training in an approved high school before taking the normal work. This makes it possible for a student to remain at home, saving considerable expense, secure a three years' rural certificate, subject to a renewal, and reduce the length of the time demanded in the higher institutions of learning.

The great majority of the county normal school graduates enter the teaching ranks and few fail to make good. The standard of the rural schools has been decidedly raised in all communities where these schools are located and the more progressive school boards now refuse to hire untrained teachers. This fact together with the better wages that the county normal graduates can obtain by advanced credit given graduates in the state schools, and the strong possibility that the next legislature will pass a law requiring all inexperienced teachers to have some normal training, insures for the coming year the largest total enrollment in the history of Michigan county normal schools.

Nine Thousand Millions of Dollars $9,000,000,000 HARVESTS are Nature's Dividends

Large figures truly, and not readily comprehended, but that is the value of the crops of this country for the year 1912, as estimated by a very competent authority. What a golden flood of prosperity this means! What opportunities for everyone in position to contribute to the general welfare and happiness!

The quickening influences are already manifest in many lines of Mercantile and Industrial life.

Unsatisfactory conditions of the recent past are being forgotten in the bright prospects and hope of the immediate future. What about your share of all this? What can we do to help you secure it?

The name, the reputation, the high standing and the prestige of The Charlevoix State Savings Bank, Charlevoix, Michigan, should be potent factors in your work, and these are at your service, as well as all the unusually large facilities and wide variety of equipment this Bank commands.

If you need money to harvest your crops, or if you are preparing to build a home, barn or business block, we will help you. If you are not going to build until next year, we will pay you 4 per cent interest on your money while you are saving it.

There will be plenty of business this Fall, and we want to help you get your part, for then we know we shall get ours. The harvest is ready.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Job Work Solicited Up-to-date Equipment

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm six miles south of Charlevoix, on the Norwood Road, on Friday, October 4, 1912

Commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. the following described property:

Brown horse, weight 1450, 10 years old
Brown horse, weight 1450, 10 years old
Sorrel mare, weight 1200, 8 years old Iron-grey mare, weight 1100, 7 yrs old Yearling colt 11 Cows
3 yearling heifers 2 yearling steers
About 15 ewes Some lambs Buck
Some chickens 44 tons baled hay
Quantity of straw 4 acres of corn
100 bushels oats Some barley
Heavy wagon, nearly new, 3 1/2 inch tire Heavy Weber wagon, new Pair of sleighs, new, 3 inch runner Pair of new Caldwell & Louden sleighs
3 1/2 inch-runner
Pair of farm trucks Hay rack Deering binder, nearly new Superior drill Cycle grinder
Syracuse riding plow Disc harrow Deering mowing machine Drag

McCormick mowing machine
Jones rake Beet lifter Acme harrow
Imperial plow Two-legged cultivator
Two-horse riding cultivator
Spike-tooth iron frame harrow
Spring-tooth cultivator
Spike-tooth cultivator
Hay rope, fork and pulleys
Two-seated buggy Single buggy Top buggy, new Light harness, new Double work harness, nearly new Light harness Stone-boat
Empire cream separator
12-gallon barrel churn
12-barrel water tank
Good farm dog.
2 Beet racks Chains
Forks Shovels
Other articles too numerous to mention.

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

Terms of Sale

All sums under $10.00 cash; all sums over $10.00 one year's time on good approved bankable paper bearing interest at seven per cent payable at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

Stephen Hull, Proprietor

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

F. A. Butler, Clerk

W. J. Rachow, Note Clerk

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plans on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

ISLE SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
VanPelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 139 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66-2; residence 66-3.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store, Charlevoix, Mich.
Telephone No. 35.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your
DRAYING
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 573 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention. Moving household goods is specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED
Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curling Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday Each Week

COURIER PRESS
COMMERCIAL PRINTERS
A Trial will Convince You

BY GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

Copyright, 1906, by Dodd, Mead & Company.

PROLOGUE.

An irate British lord and his beautiful but petulant lady; the Hon. Penelope Drake, youngest and most cherished sister of his lordship; Randolph Shaw, a handsome and athletic young American, and a French count are the leading characters in this amusing and highly entertaining romance by McCutcheon, the prince of American story tellers. It captures the interest from the very first paragraph, and there is not a dull line in it from start to finish.

CHAPTER I.

In Which a Young Man Transgresses.

"It's just an infernal lude, your lordship, and I'll throw him in the river if he says a word too much."

"He has already said too much, Tompkins, confound him, don't you know."

"Then I'll throw him in whether he says anything or not, sir."

"Have you seen him?"

"No, your lordship, but James has James says he wears a red coat and—"

"Never mind, Tompkins. He has no right to fish on this side of that log. The insufferable ass may own the land on the opposite side, but, confound his impudence, I own it on this side."

This concluding assertion of the usually placid but now irate Lord Bazelhurst was not quite as momentous as it sounded. As a matter of fact, the title to the land was vested entirely in his young American wife, his sole possession, according to report, being a little much less substantial but a great deal more picturesque than the large, much handled piece of paper down in the safety deposit vault—lying close and crumpled among a million scold, homely little slips called coupons.

It requires no great stretch of imagination to understand that Lord Bazelhurst had an undesirable neighbor. That neighbor was young Mr. Shaw—Randolph Shaw, heir to the Randolph fortune. It may be fair to state that Mr. Shaw also considered himself to be possessed of an odious neighbor in other words, although neither had seen the other, there was a feud between the owners of the two estates that had all the earmarks of an ancient romance.

Lady Bazelhurst was the daughter of a New York millionaire. She was young, beautiful and arrogant. Nature gave her youth and beauty. Marriage gave her the remaining quality. Was she not Lady Bazelhurst? What odds if Lord Bazelhurst happened to be a middle aged, adulated ass? So much the better. Bazelhurst estate and the Bazelhurst estates cheerily encumbered before her father came to the rescue were among the oldest and most coveted in the English market. Her mother noted, with unctuous joy, that the present Lady Bazelhurst in babyhood had extreme difficulty in mastering the eighth letter of the alphabet, certainly a most flattering sign of mental superiority, notwithstanding the fact that her father was plain old John Banks (deceased), formerly of Jersey City, more latterly of Wall street and St. Thomas.

Bazelhurst was a great catch, but Banks was a good name to conjure with, so he capitulated with a willingness that savored somewhat of suspended animation, so fearful was he that he might do something to disturb the dream before it came true. That was two years ago. With exquisite irony Lady Bazelhurst decided to have a country place in America. Her agents discovered a glorious section of woodland in the Adirondacks teeming with trout streams, game haunts, unparalleled scenery. Her lordship instructed them to buy with all speed. It was just here that young Mr. Shaw came into prominence.

His grandfather had left him a fortune, and he was looking about for ways in which to spend a portion of it. College, travel and society having failed him, he hid himself into the big hills west of Lake Champlain searching for beauty, solitude and life. He found and bought 500 acres of the most beautiful bit of wilderness in the mountains.

The same streams coursed through his hills and dales that ran through those of Lady Bazelhurst, the only distinction being that his portion was the more desirable. When her ladyship's agents came leisurely up to close their deal they discovered that Mr. Shaw had snatched up this choice 500 acres of the original tract intended for their client. At least a thousand acres were left for the young lady, but she was petulant enough to covet all of it.

Overtures were made to Mr. Shaw, but he would not sell. He was preparing to erect a handsome country place, and he did not want to alter his plans. Courtously at first, then somewhat scathingly, he declined to discuss the proposition with her agents. After two months of pressure at the most vigorous persistence he lost his temper and sent a message to his inquiries that suddenly terminated all negotiations. Afterward when he learned that their client was a lady he wrote a conditional note of apology, but if he expected a response he was disappointed. A year went by, and now with the beginning of his narrative two newly completed country houses glowered at each other from separate hill-sides, one enviable and spiteful, the other debauch and a bit satirical.

Bazelhurst Villa looks across the valley and sees Shaw's cottage commanding the most beautiful view in the hills; the very eaves of his ladyship's house seem to have wrinkled into a constant scowl of annoyance. Shaw's long, low cottage seems to snarl back with tantalizing severity, serene in its more lofty attitude. In its more gorgeous richness of nature, the brooks laugh with the glitter of trout, the trees chuckle with the flight of birds, the hill-sides frolic in their abundance of game, but the acres are growing like dogs of war. Love the neighbor, the landowner on the hillside that face the borders of the two estates in bold black letters the standard-bearers of the feud.

"No trespassing on these grounds. Keep off!"

"Yes, I fancy you'd better put him off the place if he comes down here again to fish. Tompkins," said his lordship, in conclusion. Then he reached his horse and barked off through the shade lane in a most painfully upright fashion, his thin legs sticking straight out, his mouth coming in agonized little jerks with each succeeding return of his person to the saddle.

"By Jove, Evelyn, it's most annoying about that confounded Shaw chap," he remarked to his wife as he mounted the broad steps leading to the gallery half an hour later, walking with the princess which suggests pain. Lady Bazelhurst looked up from her book, her aristocratic young face clouding with ready intelligence.

"What has he done, Cecil dear?"

"Been fishing on our property again, that's all. Tompkins says he lunched at him when he told him to get off. I say, do you know, I think I'll have to adopt rough methods with that chap. Hang it all, what right has he to catch our fish?"

"Oh, how I hate that man!" exclaimed her ladyship petulantly.

"But I've given Thompson final instructions."

"And what are they?"

"To throw him in the river next time."

"Oh, if he only could," rapturously.

"Could? My dear, Tompkins is an American. He can handle these chaps in their own way. At any rate, I told Tompkins if his nerve failed him at the last minute to come and notify me. I'll attend to this confounded poplery."

"Good for you, Cecil!" called out another young woman from the broad hammock in which she had been dawdling with half alert ears through the foregoing conversation. "Spoken like a true Briton. What is this poplery like?"

"Hullo, sister! Hang it all, what's he like? He's like an ass, that's all. I've never seen him, but if I'm ever called upon to—"

"You remember the big log that lies out in the river up at the bend? Well, it marks the property line. One-half of its stump belongs to the Shaw man, the other half to us—to us, Evelyn. He shan't fish below that log—no, sir!"

His lordship glared fiercely through his monocle in the direction of the faraway log, his wintery blue eyes blinking as malevolently as possible, his long, aristocratic nose wrinkling in its base in fine disdains. His five feet four of stature gulvered with ill-suppressed emotion, but whether it was rage or the sudden recollection of the dog trot through the woods it is beyond me to suggest.

"But suppose our fish venture into his waters, Cecil. What then? Isn't that trespass?" demanded the Hon. Penelope Drake, youngest and most cherished sister of his lordship.

"Now, don't be silly, Pen," cried her sister-in-law. "Of course we can't regulate the fish."

"But I dare say his fish will come below the log, so what's the odds?" said his lordship quickly. "A trout's a lawless brute at best."

"Is he big?" asked the Hon. Penelope lazily.

"They vary, my dear girl."

"I mean Mr. Shaw."

"Oh, I thought you meant the—but I don't know. What difference does that make? Big or little, he has to fish off my grounds." Was it a look of pride that his tall young wife bestowed upon him as he drew himself proudly erect, or was it akin to pity? At any rate, her gay young American head was inches above his own when she arose and suggested that they go in and prepare for the housing of the guests who were to come over from the evening train.

"The dog has come over to the station, Cecil, and it should be here by 7 o'clock."

"Confound his impudence, I'll show him," grumbled his lordship as he followed her, stiff-legged, toward the door.

"What's up, Cecil, with your legs?"

called his sister. "Are you getting old?" This suggestion always irritated him.

"Old? Silly question. You know how old I am. No, it's that beastly American horse. Evelyn, I told you they have no decent horses in this beastly country. They jingle the front of one—but he was obliged to unlend himself perceptibly in order to keep pace with her as she hurried through the door."

The Hon. Penelope allowed her indolent gaze to follow them. A perplexed pucker finally developed on her fair brow and her thought was almost expressed aloud: "By Jove, I wonder if she really loves him." Penelope was very pretty and very bright. She was visiting America for the first time, and she was learning rapidly. "Cecil's a good sort, you know, even"—but she was loyal enough to send her thoughts into other channels.

Nightfall brought half a dozen guests to Bazelhurst Villa. They were fish-lands to the point where email is the chief characteristic, and they came only for lodgings and sleep. There was a duke among them and also a French count, besides the bored New Yorkers, they wanted brandy and soda as soon as they got into the house, and they went to bed early because it was so much easier to sleep lying down than sitting up.

All were up by noon the next day, more bored than ever, fondly praying that nothing might happen before 1 o'clock. The duke was making desultory love to Mrs. De Peyton and Mrs. De Peyton was leading him aimlessly toward the shadier and more secluded nooks in the park surrounding the villa. Penelope, fresh and full of the purpose of life, was off alone for a long stroll. By this means she avoided the attentions of the duke, who wanted to marry her; those of the count, who also said he wanted to marry her, but couldn't because his wife would not consent; those of one New Yorker, who liked her because she was English, and the palid chatter of the women who based her with their conjugal cynicisms.

"What the deuce is this coming down the road?" queried the duke, retreating from the secluded nook at luncheon time.

"Some one has been hurt," exclaimed his companion. Others were looking down the leafy road from the gallery.

"By Jove, it's Penelope, don't you know?" ejaculated the duke, dropping his monocle and blinding his eye as he to rest it for the time being.

"But she's not hurt. She's helping to support one of those men."

"They" shouted his lordship from the gallery as Penelope and two ill-dressed male companions abruptly started to cut across the park in the direction of the stables. "What's up?" Penelope waved her hand aimlessly, but did not change her course. Whereupon the entire house party sallied forth in more or less trepidation to intercept the strange party.

"Who are these men?" demanded Lady Bazelhurst as they came up to the fast-breathing young Englishwoman.

"Don't bother me, please. We must get him to bed at once. He'll have pneumonia," replied Penelope.

Both men were dripping wet, and the one in the middle limped painfully.

"Who are you?" demanded his lordship, probably because both eyes were swollen tight and his nose was bleeding. Penelope's face was beaming with excitement and interest.

"Who are you?" demanded his lordship, planting himself in front of the silver-tongued twain.

"Tompkins," murmured the blind one feebly, tears starting from his blue slits and rattling down his cheeks.

"James, sir," answered the other, touching his damp forehead.

"Are they drunk?" asked Mrs. De Peyton, with fresh enthusiasm.

"No, they are not, poor fellows," cried Penelope. "They have taken nothing but water."

"By Jove," Deuced clever, that," drawled the duke. "Eh?" to the New Yorker.

"Deuced," from the Kickerlooper.

"Well, what's it all about?" demanded Bazelhurst.

"Mr. Shaw," said James.

"Good Lord! Couldn't you rescue him?" to her.

"He rescued us, sir," murmured Tompkins.

"You mean—"

"He threw us in and then had to jump in and pull us out, sir. Begging your pardon, sir, but I don't mind."

"And you didn't throw us out?"

(Continued on page 7.)

POSITIONS

DO YOU WANT ONE? Let us prepare you and secure for you a responsible, permanent, paying position. We are preparing and placing hundreds of our students annually. WHY NOT YOU? It is sure and certain. If you fail you are to blame.

OUR BEAUTIFUL CATALOG

Tells all about our work. You should see it to appreciate it. Drop us a card and it will be sent free. Lists of hundreds of students at work also sent. Time is money. Don't wait.

We place more young men and women annually as accountants and stenographers than any other two schools combined in Western Michigan. Let us mail you the proof. Railway fare allowed. Opportunities to work for board. Begin now.

McLachlan University
110-118 PEARL ST.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

Are You on Salary? THEN SAVE

It is possible that luck may play an important part in the quick making of fortunes, but it has nothing to do with fortunes accumulated from the savings of labor.

A bank account, however, will be of assistance and the young man or woman who will take this method saving from his or her salary will eventually reach the desired goal.

This bank welcomes the accounts of those people who are working on salary and have a desire to save a part of it.

We not only safeguard your money against fire loss or theft, but we also allow you 4 per cent interest for the use of it.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. E. Butters A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

New Coal and Wood Heating Stoves.

Coal Stoves that Burn the Smoke

Oil Heating and Cook Stoves

Stove Boards Oil Cloth Rugs

Coal Hods and Sifters

Potato Forks and Hooks

Corn Knives Corn Rope

POTATO AND APPLE CRATES BASKETS MEASURES

Tin, Enameled and Aluminum Ware

Fishing Tackle

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's
$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Sales and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clearest money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 26-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. New appointed salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wise-awake men who received our special selling inducement rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.

THE VICTOR
SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Hard to Resist

The temptation to stay in bed these mornings, now the rush of summer is over. Better get an

ALARM CLOCK

C. R. BELLINGER
Pioneer Jeweler

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule. Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates. Ordinary poetry, regular rates. Card of thanks, 2 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

OF the three candidates for governor, Watkins, Ferris and Musselman, it is difficult to say which one is the most enthusiastic prohibitionist. By what trick of fate do the liquor interests find themselves thus candidateless?

A few months ago the liquor interests were represented as dominating the political situation in Michigan. They had leagues and societies, organizations and clubs, lobbyists and attorneys, states and tickets in such formidable array that some people were inclined to believe that the liquor men had gained control of the rising and the setting of the sun in this state, and that it was impossible to get a permit to shoot a duck or to get a burial license without the O. K. of omnipresent, omniscient and omnipotent liquor organization.

Governor! Why, they made governors over night! But what do we find? They stake all on one candidate who met defeat, and now each of the parties, democratic, progressive and republican, has a prohibitionist as its candidate for governor (or there is a fourth, a prohibitionist party?).

Obviously, the liquor interest will vote for someone for governor in spite of this dilemma. The will choose one of the three horns. Which one? Surely not Ferris, the schoolmaster, the lecturer on plain living and high thinking, the sincere advocate of temperance and local option. Surely not Watkins the sturdy progressive fighter who has fathered anti liquor legislation and who is as straight-standing in his prohibition principals as a plumb line.

Yet whom have we left here but Musselman, the pronounced prohibitionist, the missionary of temperance, whose innumerable platform announcing on prohibition have given him a place as a blow-in-the-bottle, dry-to-the-death, out-and-out prohibitionist advocate.

What is a poor liquor man to do in such a pass? Kidnap one of the candidates and ply him with liquor? Declare an election unconstitutional, all that does not provide for the election of a wet governor? There is one other recourse. Take to drink.—Detroit News.

THE candidacy of Amos S. Musselman for governor on a platform of "A business administration of the state by a business man," is striking a responsive chord among the people who believe that if Michigan stands in need of anything it is an administration, such as promised by Musselman, the conducting of the affairs of our state as a successful business without fads or frills, and Mr. Musselman's career as a business man is an assurance that Michigan will secure in him, as business manager, a man who will make the plan a success.

To back up a business governor and business administration, Charlevoix county Republicans present, as their candidate for representative, a business man, Herman I. McMillan, whose line of business is an connected with the farmer, that he may be called a representative of both professions, which is an assurance that he will not have to receive his information in regard to needed legislation second handed but will be a representative of the whole people.

A RECENT reading of some of the letters sent out by F. O. Lindquist, who secured the republican nomination for congress in the eleventh district, assists in explaining the surprise his nomination afforded. George Ade never did anything more grotesque in the way of writing than are Lindquist's letters—but they worked just as he had expected.

"The people all over America urged me to get into this fight for congress," declared Lindquist in his last letter, and then he suggests the gloom and sorrow that will spread over the nation in case he is not nominated.

There have been successful fakes and talented confidence operators and persuasive demagogues who have succeeded before in just such efforts, but the best of them can take off their hats to Francis O. Lindquist, whom "the people all over America have been urging."—Cadillac News and Express.

CANVASSERS' STATEMENT.

Statement of votes given in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, at the primary election, held on Tuesday the 27th day of August, 1912, for the nomination of candidates of the political parties, voting therefor, and for the officers named herein.

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of United States Senator was fifteen hundred seventy-two (1572) and they were given for the following named persons:

William Alden Smith received fifteen hundred seventy-two—1572

Total 1572

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of United States Senator was one hundred nineteen (119) and they were given for the following named persons:

Alfred Lucking received seventy-five 75

Geo. P. Hummer received forty-four 44

Total 119

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of United States Senator was one hundred ten (110) and they were given for the following named persons:

H. S. McMaster received one hundred ten 110

Total 110

The whole number of votes given by the prohibition party for candidates for office of United States Senator was twenty-seven (27) and they were given for the following named persons:

William A. Taylor received twenty-seven votes 27

Total 27

The whole number of votes given by the national progressive party for candidates for office of United States Senator was thirteen (13) and they were given for the following named persons:

Theodore M. Joslin received thirteen votes 13

Total 13

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Representative in Congress at Large was fourteen hundred fourteen (1414) and they were given for the following named persons:

Patrick H. Kelley received fourteen hundred fourteen 1414

Total 1414

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of Representative in Congress at Large was ninety-six (96) and they were given for the following named persons:

Edward Frensdorf received ninety-six 96

Total 96

The whole number of votes given by the prohibition party for candidates for Representative in Congress at Large was twenty-four (24) and they were given for the following named persons:

Fred W. Corbett received twenty-four 24

Total 24

The whole number of votes given by the national progressive party for candidates for office of Representative in Congress at Large was seven (7) and they were given for the following named persons:

Julius B. Kirby received one 1

William H. Hill received six 6

Total 7

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Governor was sixteen hundred ninety-six (1696) and they were given for the following named persons:

Frederick C. Martindale received six hundred eighty-three 683

Amos S. Musselman received ten hundred thirteen 1013

Total 1696

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of Governor was one hundred thirty (130) and they were given for the following named persons:

Woodbridge N. Ferris received one hundred thirty 130

Total 130

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of Governor was one hundred seven (107) and they were given for the following named persons:

James Hoogerhyde received one hundred seven 107

Total 107

The whole number of votes given by the prohibition party for candidates for office of Governor was twenty-five (25) and they were given for the following named persons:

J. D. Lland received twenty-five 25

Total 25

The whole number of votes given by the national progressive party for candidates for office of Governor was nine (9) and they were given for the following named persons:

Lulu Whitney Watkins received nine 9

Total 9

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Lieutenant Governor was thirteen hundred ninety-one (1391) and they were given for the following named persons:

John Q. Ross received thirteen hundred ninety-one 1391

Total 1391

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of Lieutenant Governor was one hundred seven (107) and they were given for the following named persons:

James H. Helme received one hundred seven 107

Total 107

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of Lieutenant Governor was one hundred seven (107) and they were given for the following named persons:

James H. Helme received one hundred seven 107

Total 107

The whole number of votes given by the prohibition party for candidates for office of Lieutenant Governor was twenty-five (25) and they were given for the following named persons:

J. D. Lland received twenty-five 25

Total 25

The whole number of votes given by the national progressive party for candidates for office of Lieutenant Governor was nine (9) and they were given for the following named persons:

Lulu Whitney Watkins received nine 9

Total 9

by the socialist party for candidates for the office of Lieutenant Governor was one hundred eight (108) and they were given for the following named persons:

Edwin H. Cornish received one hundred eight 108

Total 108

The whole number of votes given by the prohibition party for candidates for office of Lieutenant Governor was twenty-two (22) and they were given for the following named persons:

P. C. Demerest received twenty-two 22

Total 22

The whole number of votes given by the national progressive party for candidates for office of Lieutenant Governor was ten (10) and they were given for the following named persons:

William D. Gordon received ten 10

Total 10

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of State Senator, 29th district, was thirteen hundred fifty-eight (1358) and they were given for the following named persons:

Frank D. Scott received thirteen hundred fifty-eight 1358

Total 1358

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of State Senator, 29th district, was one hundred seven (107) and they were given for the following named persons:

John E. Martin received one hundred seven 107

Total 107

The whole number of votes given by the prohibition party for candidates for office of State Senator, 29th district, was twenty-six (26) and they were given for the following named persons:

Douglas Tallady received twenty-six 26

Total 26

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Representative in State Legislature was one hundred twenty (120) and they were given for the following named persons:

William Mearns received three hundred fifty-six 356

Herman I. McMillan received seven hundred eighty-eight 788

Robert W. Paddock received six hundred seventy-six 676

Total 1820

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of Representative in State Legislature was one hundred ten (110) and they were given for the following named persons:

William J. Lewis received one hundred ten 110

Total 110

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of Representative in State Legislature was one hundred four (104) and they were given for the following named persons:

William W. Washburn received one hundred four 104

Total 104

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Probate Judge was eighteen hundred sixty-seven (1867) and they were given for the following named persons:

Elisha N. Clink received four hundred thirty-four 434

John M. Harris received six hundred fifty-two 652

Servetus A. Correll received seven hundred twenty-one 721

Total 1867

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of Probate Judge was one hundred three (103) and they were given for the following named persons:

William Herachel Miller received one hundred three 103

Total 103

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of Probate Judge was one hundred twelve (112) and they were given for the following named persons:

Eliza H. Shepard received one hundred twelve 112

Total 112

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Sheriff was sixteen hundred forty-eight (1648) and they were given for the following named persons:

Ford P. Robbins received sixteen hundred forty-eight 1648

Total 1648

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of Sheriff was one hundred thirteen (113) and they were given for the following named persons:

Thomas Bacon received one hundred thirteen 113

Total 113

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of Sheriff was one hundred three (103) and they were given for the following named persons:

Grant J. Snellen received thirty-one 31

William H. Cook received twenty-two 22

Total 103

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of County Clerk was seventeen hundred fifty-four (1754) and they were given for the following named persons:

Richard Lewis received eleven hundred eighty-six 1186

W. Alvah Davoll received five hundred sixty-eight 568

Total 1754

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of County Clerk was one hundred five (105) and they were given for the following named persons:

Oliver F. Johnson received one hundred four 104

Total 104

Special Sale on Night Robes

Saturday, Sept. 28th (One Day Only)

$1.25 Values at 98 Cents

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

VANPELT BLOCK

SPECIAL SALE OF Sideboards, Buffets, China Cabinets

To reduce our stock on these goods and to realize a little needed money —We will, during this month, make the following SPECIAL PRICES.

$28 Sideboards	$25.00	$25 Buffets	$22.00
$23 " "	$20.00	$23 " "	$20.00
$21 " "	$19.00	$22 " "	$19.50
$16 " "	$14.50	$21 " "	$19.00
		$20 " "	$18.00

$28.00 China Cabinets	for $25.00
$23.00 " "	" $20.00
$21.00 " "	" $19.00
$16.00 " "	" $14.00
$14.00 " "	" $12.00

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable House Furnishers

were given for the following named persons:

George Flinnac received one hundred five 105

Total 105

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of County Clerk was one hundred eleven (111) and they were given for the following named persons:

Albert Holmes received one hundred eleven 111

Total 111

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of County Treasurer was ninety-seven (97) and they were given for the following named persons:

John Burns received ninety-seven 97

Total 97

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of County Treasurer was eighteen hundred fifty-eight (1858) and they were given for the following named persons:

Clarence C. Schaub received five hundred fifty-two 552

Daniel S. Payton received seven hundred ninety-five 795

Roy L. Lorraine received five hundred eleven 511

Total 1858

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of County Treasurer was one hundred four (104) and they were given for the following named persons:

Oliver F. Johnson received one hundred four 104

Total 104

(Continued on page 8)

Before Purchasing your

Winter Underwear

we would be pleased to have you call and examine our line, now on display. We carry the celebrated

Athena Underwear

For Women and Children

The prices are no higher than you would have to for Ordinary Garments and they give much better satisfaction. We would be pleased to show them to you.

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

$15 Given Away

- $5.00 For the best Loaf of Bread from IRON DUKE
- $5.00 For the best Loaf of Bread from WHITE ROSE
- $5.00 For the best bunch of Biscuits from either.

CONDITIONS

Bread or Biscuits to be exhibited at Retail Merchants' Fair Day, October 12, 1912. Retail Merchants' Association to appoint judges.

Argo Milling Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A dealer who is shrewd and wise is very sure to advertise. And to become, as he grows wiser, still more and more an advertiser.

Tom Bacot is the new clerk at Bert Mason's.

The G. R. & F. is building a new depot at Pellston.

E. S. Stacks made a business trip to East Jordan today.

Mrs. A. Alcox visited friends at East Jordan last week.

Roy L. Lorrain of East Jordan was in the city Tuesday.

Miss Elsie See visited friends at Boyne Falls over Sunday.

Mrs. Fred L. Slaght has been quite ill the past few days.

Don't forget to call at the Courier office for your pillow tops.

Mrs. Charles Danto spent Friday and Saturday at Petoskey.

John Greene of St. James was in the city the first of the week.

Mrs. J. A. Vought spent Sunday in the city with her husband.

Mrs. Martha Ayers left Monday for a trip to southern Illinois.

Hiram Brock was a business visitor at Boyne City last Friday.

Mrs. Charles Plum visited with friends at Boyne City last week.

Dr. A. M. Wilkinson made a brief visit to Grand Rapids last week.

James Sweet of Petoskey was a caller here the first of the week.

James and Henry Barber have purchased two new bean threshers.

Jim Block has been visiting friends at Mancelona the past week.

Lee J. Scroggie, of Saginaw, spent Sunday in the city with his parents.

John Burns went to Detroit Thursday to hear Woodrow Wilson.

Roy Faulkner, of Chicago, is making a two weeks' visit with his parents.

W. J. Welkel and wife left Monday for a short visit in southern Michigan.

Mrs. S. A. Fleming, of Boyne City, visited here the latter part of the week.

E. S. Stacks made a business trip to Detroit the latter part of last week.

Alden Chamberlin went to Petoskey Saturday for medical treatment.

Don't miss the opening chapter of the Courier's new serial in this issue.

Take a look at the window at the Charlevoix Hardware Company's store.

W. J. Gallagher is attending the Republican state convention at Detroit.

W. A. Davoll of Boyne Falls was in the city the first of the week on business.

A. B. Dougherty, of Elk Rapids was in the city last week on legal business.

Frank W. Travis, of Jackson, Mich., visited his aunt Mrs. Wm. Ranger last week.

Roy D. France, of Petoskey was in the city Thursday, enroute to Ottawa, Ohio.

Amanda Moore and grandson, Steven left Thursday for Vergennes Vermont.

E. R. Ruegger and family of Boyne City visited relatives here last week.

L. S. Orlowski made a brief business visit to Traverse City this afternoon.

Mrs. D. O. Montague of Buchanan, is the guest of her son, Dr. C. A. Montague.

Miss Blanche Johnson is visiting with her brother and family at Boyne City.

Miss Nellie Matchett visited relatives at Boyne City the latter part of the week.

The Grange County convention will be held with Peninsula Grange, next Tuesday.

Harold Parmelee left Friday for Annapolis, after a two weeks' visit with relatives.

J. E. Converse of Boyne City was in the city the first of the week on legal business.

Leon W. Miller of Petoskey was in the city the first of the week on legal business.

R. G. Beecham, of Bay City, spent Sunday in the city the guest of Miss Kathryn Lapeer.

Mrs. L. B. Bartlett is convalescing from her recent illness of six weeks' duration.

Miss Addie Erickson of Grand Rapids is the guest of Miss Mable Poole this week.

The next bargain day and prize exhibit of farm products will take place October 12.

Miss Marjorie Miller left Monday for Grand Haven where she will enter Akeley Hall.

Don Paradise left last week for Detroit where he will be employed during the winter.

Mrs. John Mason, of Nevada, is visiting at the home of her father, Hon. John Nicholls.

Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson has returned home after a few weeks' visit with relatives at Detroit.

Earl Wooley left Saturday for Jackson where he will work in an automobile factory.

Work is going on rapidly on the extension of the B. C. & A. railway east of Gaylord.

Henry Jacobs and son Harold returned home Saturday from a visit in southern Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. George Madden of Boyne City visited Mr. and Mrs. William Ranger last week.

William C. Taylor and wife leave tomorrow for Detroit where they will spend the winter.

Kalkaska county has purchased a ten ton gasoline motor road roller for use in road making.

Misses Elena O'Leary and Agnes Orlowski returned Saturday from a short visit at Grand Rapids.

Elmer Woolley leaves tomorrow for Detroit where he expects to be employed during the winter.

Mrs. Fred A. Cook, of Grand Rapids visited at the home of George Weaver and family last week.

Phil Standen and family left for Gloucester, Massachusetts, Monday to their make future home.

Edward Edwards left for Allion last week where he will take up a four-year course at that college.

Captain O. E. Wilbur returned the latter part of the week from Chicago where he made a two weeks' visit.

Mrs. Ida Sample, of Lansing, arrived Saturday to visit with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Chamberlin.

Burt C. Phillips of Northville, Michigan, arrived here the first of the week to open the fish hatchery.

Mrs. Ray Faulkner left Thursday for her home in Chicago, after spending the summer months here.

Mr. F. C. Derby of Boston, the Inn's popular cashier, has finished his duties here and has returned east.

Mrs. B. W. Miller and family, E. G. Carpenter, and F. G. Hines and family spent Sunday at the Porter farm.

James Gaskin, Jr., left for Petoskey this afternoon where he will take treatments at the Saville Sanitarium.

Fred Brockway who spent the summer here is now visiting relatives at Boyne City enroute to Kalamazoo.

A. I. Stewart, of Northville, Michigan, arrived in the city Monday, on business connected with the local fish hatchery.

O. D. Hammond, wife and children, and Mrs. Huntington spent Sunday with Wm. F. Johnson and family, near fronton.

The ladies of the Congregational church will serve supper in the church parlors Friday September 27, from 5:00 to 7:00 p. m.

Dr. Croner, wife and son George, and Mrs. Burr expect to leave this week for a trip to Vancouver and other points.

Miss Eva Cram left for Chicago Friday night, to resume her duties at Children's Memorial Hospital. This is her second year.

Miss Arbutus Nordrum left Levinson's store Saturday, where she clerked during the summer, to take up a commercial course.

Mrs. H. A. McCartney left Tuesday for Iron Mountain where she will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Chloe Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Wright left for their home in Maine Sunday night. Mr. Wright has been room clerk at the Inn for several seasons.

Miss Helen Mary Meech entertained a few friends at the home of K. J. Meech, Monday evening. The usual good time is reported.

The steam laundry has been undergoing repairs the past week, chiefly a coat of red paint which greatly adds to its appearance.

H. E. Glossenger has taken the place of Will Mitchell as mail carrier, Will resigning to take up work at the University of Michigan.

The steamer Petoskey which sank at Traverse City a short time ago, was brought here the latter part of the week by John Monroe's outfit.

Mrs. F. H. Wilkinson and Mrs. James Wilkinson were in Boyne City Thursday where they organized the Boyne City Suffrage League.

The name of Harrison Bedford was left out of the list of merchants closing their stores at six o'clock, except Saturdays, published last week.

Mrs. Mabelle McQuirk of Chicago, who has been visiting relatives at Boyne City all summer, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howard last week.

Mrs. Fred Meyers' condition remains the same, and if she is no worse the last of the week, they hope to bring her home from Petoskey.

Mrs. James Paddock, Beeman, L. S. See, and A. F. Bridge, were guests of Mrs. Wm. Stone the latter part of the week. — East Jordan County Herald.

A party consisting of R. A. Emery, son Charles, Lon Hanshaw, L. E. Smith and O. D. Hammond attended the Emmet County Fair last Thursday.

Capt. P. D. Campbell was taken ill the latter part of the week, but is now much improved. Captain Emery is taking his place on the steamer Beaver.

Mrs. Kate Galbraith left yesterday for Iron Mountain, where she will remain a short time and then go on to California where she will visit her son, John.

Manistee won the championship of the Michigan State League this season in the last week of play, Traverse City taking second and Boyne City fourth place.

Married last Thursday at Grand Rapids, Emil Lyngklip and Miss Lillian Bassett. Both these young people were formerly of this city and their many friends join in congratulations.

Bert Henry of Ottawa, Ohio, formerly of this city, fell sixteen feet from a scaffolding last Wednesday and was badly bruised, although no bones were broken and he is doing nicely now.

Representatives of the House of David, of St. Joseph, Michigan, who have recently purchased High Island, were in the city the latter part of the week purchasing supplies for the lumbering operations which they will conduct.

Henry Lasher shipped 52,000 ferns last week, and the average is over 100,000 per day so far this week. He has ten people sorting and bunching ferns at his storage house in this village, and about twenty five people picking in the woods. — Mancelona Herald.

Dr. E. C. Rowe of Mt. Pleasant, who is to speak Saturday night on the equal suffrage question at the court house, will be entertained while in the city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vandermaede. Dr. Rowe also speaks on Sunday to the Men's Bible class.

Those expecting to attend the Men's class on Sunday next at the Carnegie library, will do well to come early as the seating capacity of the library is somewhat limited. This will enable the class ushers to take care of the large crowd, which is sure to attend, in the most comfortable way.

The township of Jordan has recently purchased the stone crusher bought some years ago by Echo township, and is having it fitted up at the East Jordan farm works. Jordan township is making big strides in the matter of good roads, and now aims at a double benefit—to get rid of the stones and hard heads they do not want by grinding them up into the very best material for macadam roads. — East Jordan Enterprise.

Be sure and see the Queen's Messenger, a special hand colored historical drama, and several other interesting pictures at Charlevoix Theatre tonight and Thursday. 39c

Cowardice Court.

This week the Courier publishes the opening chapters of a new serial. It has always been the aim of the Courier to give its readers the best to be secured in serial stories.

Cowardice Court which begins in this issue is by the famous author of Grana-tark, George Barr McCutcheon, and holds the reader's attention to the last word. Don't fail to read the opening chapters.

Coming Soon.

Thursday, October 3, is the date when J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be at Baker's Inn, one day only. Headache cured, crossed eyes straightened, fitting children's eyes a specialty. Glasses guaranteed to fit. 38c

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15c first insertion.

HOUSE FOR RENT—Furnished or unfurnished. Inquire of Mrs. B. W. Miller 37c

FOR SALE—Nine-year-old mare, weight about 1,200. Inquire of C. W. Fox, R. F. D. 4. 37c

FOR SALE—Cheap for cash. Heavy-duty gray mare and colt three months old. Inquire of Lincoln Ford, Bay Shore, Michigan. 36c

FOR SALE—Forty-acre farm, next to Water's fruit farm, one mile from city, on north side. Also four acres next to golf grounds. Ed. Sutton, Phone 29. 34c

HELP WANTED—Blacksmith, must be good horse-shoer. Good wages. Write particulars, J. S. Sanderson Estate, State Savings Bank Building, Lansing, Michigan county, Michigan. 34c

FARM FOR SALE—One hundred and six-acre farm three and one-half miles south-west of Bay Shore. Good land, fair house, good barn, well-drained, 20 acres cleared. Sylvester Shiner, Bay Shore, Mich. 34c

CRANE'S

THEY DO NOT GAP NOR BIND

Wear Them - You Will Like Them

MUNSING UNION SUITS

Give Complete Satisfaction

Investigate and experiment all you please—in the end you will Munsingwear, and the sooner you do, the sooner you will experience complete underwear satisfaction. No matter what you think about Union Suits, to know the comfort and satisfaction of a Munsing Union Suit you simply have to wear it. How well they wash, how long they wear, how little they cost, how perfectly they fit and cover the form, you cannot know until you enjoy the comfort and satisfaction of becoming a Munsingwear.

Water Doesn't Hurt Them
The Fit Won't Wash Out

They are also the best foundation for stylish clothes, proof of which is seen in the excellent fit of Mollie Munsing's seven handsome dresses, each worn over her perfect-fitting Munsingwear. Molly is the charming little paper doll we will give away to every purchaser of Underwear tomorrow. Be here early.

Women's Fall and Winter Munsingwear at $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00

Children's Fall and Winter Munsingwear at 50c, 75c, $1.00

Shoe Repair Outfits

24 in. Malleable Stand and Four Lasts $1.00

Home Repair Outfit including stand and four lasts, hammer, shoe knife, wax, rubber and leather cement, bristles, awls and handle, four packages shoe tacks, and shoe thread.

Price $1.00

Home Repair Outfit including stand and three lasts, hammer, shoe knife, awls and handles and package tacks.

Price 65 Cents

Best Grade Oak Leather Blocks, enough to make two large pair half soles . . . 60c

Hemlock Leather Strips, enough to make three pair half soles . . . 50c

All sizes Half Soles, prices 12, 15, 20, 25, 30 Cents

Buy an Outfit and do your own Repairing

Charlevoix Hardware Company

THE QUEEN'S MESSENGER

Hand Colored Historical Drama

Positively the Most Gorgeous and Elaborately Staged Film Ever Shown in Charlevoix Besides

Several Other Good and Very Interesting Pictures

Charlevoix Theatre

...TONIGHT...

Call Up

125

and let us convince you that we appreciate

Your Patronage

By the service we give

QUALITY AND PRICES

That Cannot Be Beat

Van Allsburg's Market

Corner Antrim and State Streets

That's What Every One Says Who Tries Black Silk Stove Polish

DON'T imagine for a moment that all brands of stove polish are the same. Don't get the idea that to keep a nice glossy shine on your stove you must black it every five days. It's not a question of repeated application. It's a question of the stove polish to use.

Black Silk Stove Polish is so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison—it's in a class all by itself. It makes a brilliant glossy shine that doesn't rub or dust off. It comes to the iron—becomes a part of the stove. It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine.

Get a can and give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove, or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Black Silk Stove Polish has been made by the same formula and sold under one name for 30 years.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:

"I sent you for a can of Black Silk Stove Polish and found it so much better than any I had ever used and I asked my hardware dealer to order a supply. He did so, and is now selling nearly everyone in the place your polish. I had no idea there could be such a difference in these polishes."

"It was visiting friends and they used Black Silk Stove Polish on their stoves. It made the best shine I ever saw, and after blacking, the polish did not rub or dust off. It is way ahead of any polish I have ever used."

For Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand. Ask your dealer. It costs you no more than the ordinary kind, so why not have the best. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works, Sterling, Ill.

Use Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel for grates, tenders, registers, stove pipes, etc. Prevents rusting. Not affected by heat or cold. Produces a permanent glossy black surface. Can, with brush for applying enamel, only 25 cents. Ask your dealer.

Use Black Silk Metal Polish for nickel, brass, silverware or tinware. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

"A Shine in Every Drop"

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK LIQUID STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

STATE WILL BRING SUIT

To Prevent Further Enlargement of Illinois Drainage Canal.

Land Commissioner Russell Busy Collecting Evidence To Protect Fruit Growers.

State Land Commissioner Huntley Russell began last week an investigation which in all probability will result in a suit by the state of Michigan to enjoin any further operations in connection with the deepening or enlarging of the Illinois drainage canal. This is the first official step taken by the state in what probably will result in a great season of litigation.

The commissioner in preparing his case against Illinois is getting facts from the Grand Rapids United States engineer's office pertaining to Lake Michigan levels and the change of the currents which, it is held, has been brought about by the construction of the drainage canal. He will make other exhaustive investigations within the next few days and will bring to a head in an official way the widespread protest registered from time to time concerning the damaging effect to western Michigan fruit through the changing of lake currents and the lowering of the lake level.

The matter is of interest to western Michigan fruit farmers from St. Joseph north to the tip end of the lower peninsula. It has been alleged at various times that when the Illinois drainage canal was opened the currents in Lake Michigan were changed to an extent which affected the climate along the east shore, thus affecting the entire Michigan fruit belt.

Previous to the construction of the canal the current along the east shore was a warm current to the northward, starting from the rivers at the southern end of the lake and going north through the straits of Mackinac, thence down Lake Huron and eventually to the Atlantic ocean. When the canal was opened it gradually changed the current, it is stated, bringing a cold stream of water southward from Lake Superior, down through the drainage canal and thence to the Mississippi river. According to fruit experts along the east shore, a change in climate really has been affected, thus injuring fruit susceptible to lower temperature.

Commissioner Russell recently, through private information, was apprised that active operations are now under way in Illinois to deepen the drainage canal, thus increasing its flowing materially for the purpose of furnishing electric power to Chicago manufacturing plants. In fact some of the electrical machinery already has been installed and more has been ordered.

The Illinois plan apparently does not contemplate any limit on the volume of water to be used in the canal. It is the plan of those in Michigan, who are against the project of deepening the canal to force Illinois to install breakwaters or locks which would regulate the amount of water to be drawn out of Lake Michigan. This of course is the plan if the Michigan authorities are unable to prevent any further enlargement of the canal.

The lowering of the lake level long has been a subject of argument. There are those who assert the level is being steadily lowered under the influence of the canal while others hold that the lake level is changeable and fluctuates every few years. Shippers and boat owners, however, declare the lake has been lowered until the shipping interests actually are endangered.

The case, which may be fought out by two states, is unique and raises a new question for the United States federal courts to decide. It is expected that a mass of evidence will be prepared and that if the Michigan authorities find that they have a case against Illinois it will be brought into court soon. Commissioner Russell expects to proceed cautiously and to be quite sure of his ground.

U. A. Smith, Bridgetown, Ind., had kidney trouble for years, and was so crippled with rheumatism he could not dress without help. He started using Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I began to get better at once, and now all my trouble has left me and I do not feel that I ever had rheumatism. I rest well at night and though 50 years old, can now do the work of a man of 35 years. I would like to be the means of others getting benefit from Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop."

Courier rates on application.

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at the Golf Grounds, near the water tower, Charlevoix, on

Saturday, October 5, 1912

Commencing at one o'clock p. m. the following described property:

6 Cows— 3 two-year old heifers
2 one-year old heifers 3 Calves Buggy— Light wagon
Set bob sleighs— Grind stone
6 h. p. gasoline engine
Buzz sawing machine
6-inch canvas belt, 20 feet long Power feed cutter— Single harness
Double harness— Quantity hay
One-horse plow— 3 cultivators

144-egg Cyphers incubator, new Bone cutter— 2 milk cans Organ
Sewing machine— Barrel churn
Economy Chief cream separator Beds— Bed springs— Mattresses
4 Feather beds— Commode
Carpets— Linoleum
Round Oak Stove— Cook stove
Other household goods too numerous to mention.

40 Acre Farm One Mile From Town Near Waller's Fruit Farm
Also Four Acres Near Golf Grounds

Terms of Sale.

All sums under $5.00 cash; all sums over $5.00 one year's time on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

Ed. Norton, Proprietor

F. B. Ward, Auctioneer F. A. Butler, Clerk

Grange Column

Charlevoix Grange.

Charlevoix Grange met in regular session Monday night with a small attendance.

The following were elected delegates to the county convention: Brother G. E. Dutton and wife and Brother O. D. Hammond and wife.

Nominations for state grange officers were made. Lecturer's program consisted of a talk on the recent county fair by Worthy Master Ward and music by Sister Dutton.

A full attendance is desired at the next meeting.

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session September 17, Worthy Master E. H. Clark presiding, with an audience of thirty-seven members and four visitors.

The committee reported winning second prize on canned fruit at the fair.

The chairman of committees on next year's fair exhibit were appointed.

Two candidates were obligated in the third and fourth degrees.

After the regular meeting the grange opened in open session and the following program was conducted by the lecturer:

Talks on equal suffrage by two ladies from Charlevoix.

Songs, Dr. A. M. Wilkinson.

Refreshments were served by the ladies and all had a very enjoyable evening. We hope to see more members and visitors at the next meeting.

$80,000,000,000 Lost Annually by Wage Earners.

Dr. Sadler estimates that about $80,000,000 in wages is lost annually to the American people as a direct result of colds. Lost time means lost wages and doctoring is expensive. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. It will stop the cough, and heal and soothe the sore and inflamed air passages. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

HITS NEWSPAPERS

A New Law Enacted at the Last Session of Congress.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has issued instructions for carrying into effect the new newspaper and periodical law; first returns under which must be made by October 1.

The law requires that publishers shall file on the first days of April and October of each year, both with the postmaster general and with the local postmaster, under penalty of denial of the use of the mails, a sworn statement of the names and addresses of the owner, publisher, editor, managing editor and business manager, of their newspapers and periodicals. Religious, fraternal, temperance and scientific publications are excepted.

For a corporation, the names of the holders of more than one per cent of the stocks, bonds or other securities must be given, and in the case of daily newspapers, a statement of the average paid circulation for the preceding six months, is required.

All editorials or other reading matter appearing in a newspaper or magazine for the publication of which pay is accepted or promised, must be marked "advertisement," under a penalty of a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500.

Antoine Deloria, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills, as a great remedy for kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop."

WAITING FOR RAISE

Over One Billion Eggs in Cold Storage in the United States.

Uncle Sam's crop reporting experts have been taking an egg census.

They announced last week that although there were only 1,119,000,000 eggs in cold storage at this time last year, there are now in the warehouses awaiting consumption some time next winter—when prices get high enough to induce the "egg kings" to dispose of them—exactly 1,173,433,800 eggs.

This is an increase over last year by some 54,000,000.

If the prediction of a western expert that eggs will reach the price of 5 cents each comes true, the warehouse men would be able to sell their product for $58,650,000, not including millions of eggs that will be gathered and put in storage before cold weather comes.

TWO AMENDMENTS

Will Be Submitted to Voters of Michigan at November Election.

At the fall election to be held November 5, two amendments to the constitution will be submitted to the voters of Michigan.

The effect of the first amendment is to extend the right to vote to every woman, a citizen of the United States and of the state of Michigan, above the age of twenty-one years.

The effect of the second amendment is to give a city or village power to amend an existing charter through its regularly constituted authority, without making a general revision of the old charter or framing of a new charter.

CHANGES IN PENSION LAW

Of the Greatest Importance to all Who Draw Pensions.

After January 1, Payments Will be Made From Washington.

Several very important changes have been made by the bureau of pensions in the payment of such and all who are regular recipients of pensions from the United States government may save themselves considerable annoyance and trouble by carefully observing these changes and acting accordingly. Pensions falling due on December 4, 1912, and thereafter will be paid without vouchers in all cases in which vouchers and penalty envelopes are not furnished. But those receiving vouchers with their checks must execute and present them as before. Checks drawn without vouchers will be mailed to the last known postoffice address of the pensioner on the date the payment becomes due, and no receipt will be required.

Postmasters will not forward letters containing pension checks. To prevent their return and insure their prompt delivery, pensioners paid without vouchers must have notice of any change in postoffice address before the time for mailing their checks. Such notices must show the number of the pension certificate and the law under which the pension was granted, as well as the pensioner's name. Until January 31, 1913, they should be addressed to the pension agent who pays the pension. After the above date they should be addressed to the commissioner of pensions, Washington, D. C.

If the pension certificate is lost, the pensioner must make prompt application to the commissioner of pensions for a new one, as the checks to be issued without vouchers cannot be endorsed without exhibiting the certificate to two identifying witnesses.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Sunday in the Churches

CATHOLIC CHURCH
Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.
High Mass at 10:30 a. m.
Other services announced the Sunday previous.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Reality."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room—open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Morning service 10:30.
Sunday school 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Topic, "Japan." Leader, Mrs. Bearse.

Evening service at 7:30.
Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Burgess school house.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Morning service at 10:30.
Sunday school at noon.
Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.
MEN'S BIBLE CLASS
Meets at Carnegie Library at noon. Speaker—next—Sunday, Dr. E. C. Row. All men invited to attend.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE

Central Lake Man Meets With Fatal Accident

Last Week Wednesday.

George Brown, living north of Central Lake, was killed Wednesday morning of last week while blasting stumps with dynamite. He was alone at the time, but it is thought that a charge exploded unexpectedly, as he was not far from the stump he was working on at the time.

A piece of wood about a foot square struck him in the forehead, crushing his face and breaking his neck. Death was instantaneous.

Mr. Brown was a most estimable young man, being only thirty-seven years of age.

He is survived by his father, mother, and several brothers and sisters.

The funeral was held Saturday at the Holland church.

Club the Courier with a magazine.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks

Ornamental Brick

Pressed Brick

Common Brick

Flue Linings

Sirurgical Steel

Newaygo Portland Cem't

Barreled Lump Lime

Bulk Lump Lime

Hydrated Lime

Gravel

Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Telephone—No. 297

Tzar Coffee
35c

You have never bought better coffee in this store at 35 cents than Tzar Coffee

Other favorite brands are:
Nero 30c
Marigold 32c
Pleasant Valley 40c

You'll enjoy Pleasant Valley Tea. 50c
60c - 80c a pound

When sending in your order to-day remember the famous Tzar Coffee and Pleasant Valley Tea.

Mrs. B. W. Miller
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Cowardice Court

By
GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON

Copyright, 1906, Dodd, Mead & Co.

(Continued from page 4)

"Do you mean to tell us that he threw you great hulking creatures into the river?" Single handed? cried Lady Bazelhurst, against.

"He did, Evelyn," inserted Penelope.

"I met them coming home, and poor Tompkins was out of his senses. I don't know how it happened, but—"

"It was this way, your ladyship," put in James, the groom. "Tompkins and me could see him from the point there, sir, a-fishin' below the log. So we says to each other 'Come on,' and up we went to where he was a-fishin' Tompkins, bel' the game warden, says be to him, 'Hi, there.' He was plainly on our property, sir, a-fishin' from a boat for bass, sir. 'Hello, boys!' says he back to us. 'Get off our land,' says Tompkins. 'I am,' says he; 'it's water out here where I am.' Then—"

"You're wrong," broke in Tompkins. "He said 'It's wet out here where I am.'"

"You're right. It was wet. Then Tompkins called him a vile name, your lordship—shall I repeat it, sir?"

"No, no!" cried four feminine voices. "Yes, do," muttered the duke.

"He didn't wait after that, sir. He rowed to shore in a flash and landed on our land. 'What do you mean by that?' he said, madlike. 'My orders is to put you off this property,' says Tompkins, 'or to throw you in the river.' 'Who gave these orders?' asked Mr. Shaw. 'Lord Bazelhurst, sir, dash you!—beg pardon, sir; it slipped out. 'And who the devil is Lord Bazelhurst?' said he. 'Hurst,' said Tompkins. 'He owns this ground. Can't you see the motto on the tree? No Trespassin'!' But Mr. Shaw said, 'Well, why don't you throw me in the river?' He kinder smiled when he said it. 'I will,' says Tompkins and made a rush for him. I don't just remember why I started in to help Tompkins, but I did. Somehow, sir, Mr. Shaw got—"

"Don't call him Mr. Shaw. Just Shaw; he's no gentleman," exploded Lord Bazelhurst.

"But he told us both to call him 'Mister,' sir, as long as we lived. I kinder got in the habit of it, your lordship, up there. That is, that's what he told us after he got through with us. Well, anyhow, he got the start of us, an'—there's Tompkins' eyes, sir, an' look at my ear. Then he pitched us both in the river."

"Good Lord!" gasped the duke.

"Dialle!" spluttered the count.

"Splendid!" cried Penelope, her eyes sparkling.

"Hang it all, Pen, don't interrupt the count!" snorted Bazelhurst for want of something better to say and perhaps hoping that Devenaux might say in French what could not be uttered in English.

"Don't say it in French, count," said little Miss Folsom. "It deserves English."

"Go on, James!" sternly, from Lady Bazelhurst.

"Well, neither of us can swim, your ladyship, an' we'd 'a' drowned if Mr. Shaw hadn't jumped in himself an' pulled us out. As it was, sir, Tompkins was unconscious. We rolled him on a log, sir, an' got a keg of water out of him. Then Mr. Shaw told us to go home and get in bed, sir."

"He sent a message to you, sir," added Tompkins, shivering mightily.

"Well, I'll have one for him, never fear," said his lordship, glancing about bravely. "I won't permit my men to assault my servants and brutally mal-treating them. No, sir; he shall hear from me or my attorney."

"He told us to tell you, sir, that if he ever caught anybody from this place on his land he'd serve him worse than he did us," said Tompkins.

"He says, 'I don't want no Bazelhursts on my place!'" added James in a snarl.

"Go to bed, both of you!" roared his lordship.

"Very good, sir," in unison.

"They can get to bed without your help, I dare say, Pen," added his lordship caustically as she started away with them. Penelope blushed, and one party went to luncheon, while the other went to bed.

"I should like to see this terrible Mr. Shaw," observed Penelope at last. "He's a sort of Jack the Giant Killer, I fancy."

"He is the sort one has to meet in America," lamented her ladyship.

"Oh, I say now," expostulated the New York young man wryly.

"I don't mean in good society," she corrected, with unconscious irony.

"Oh," said he, very much relieved.

"He's a damned cat," said his lordship conclusively.

"Because he chucked your men into the river?" asked Penelope sweetly.

"She's doxed pretty, eh?" whispered the duke to Mrs. De Peyton without taking his eyes from his young cousin's face.

"Who?" asked Mrs. De Peyton.

"Then he relinquished his gaze and turned his unsmiling blankly upon the American beside him.

"I shall send him a warning that he'll have to respect, and no end," said Bazelhurst, absently spreading butter upon his fingers instead of the roll.

"Send him a warning?" asked his queenly wife. "Aren't you going to see him personally? You can't trust the servants, it seems."

"My dear, I can't afford to lose my temper and engage in a row with that bouncer, and there's no end of trouble I might get into."

"I shall see him myself if you won't," said her ladyship firmly. There was a full minute, relieved only when his lordship's monocle dropped into the glass of water he was trying to convey to his lips. He thought best to treat the subject lightly, so he laughed in his most jovial way.

"You'd better take a mackintosh with you, my dear," he said. "He member what he told Tompkins and James."

"He will not throw me into the river. It might be different if you went. Therefore I think—"

"Throw me in, would he?" and Bazelhurst laughed loudly. "I'm no groom, my dear. You forget that it is possible for Mr. Shaw to be sensible."

"He was good enough to sense himself this morning," volunteered Penelope. "I rather like him."

"By Jove, Cecil! You're not afraid to meet him, are you?" asked the Lord Bazelhurst Rode Forth Like a Lochinvar.

duke, with tantalizing coolness. "You know, if you are I'll go over and talk to the fellow."

"Afraid? Now, hang it all, Barmister, that's rather a shabby thing to suggest. You forget India."

"I'm trying to. Damned miserable time I had out there. But this fellow fights. That's more than the beastly natives did when we were out there. Marching isn't fighting, you know."

"Confound it! You forget the time—"

"Mon Dieu! Are we to compare ze Hindu bareu wiz ze American feast singer?" cried the count, with a wry face.

"What's that?" demanded two noblemen in one voice. The count apologized for his English.

"No one but a coward would permit this disagreeable Shaw creature to run affairs in such a high handed way," said her ladyship. "Of course Cecil is not a coward."

"Thank you, my dear. Never fear, ladies and gentlemen. I shall attend to this person. He won't soon forget what I have to say to him," promised Lord Bazelhurst, mentally estimating the number of brandies and sodas it would require in preparation.

"This afternoon?" asked his wife, with cruel insistence.

"Yes, Evelyn, if I can find him."

And so it was that shortly after 4 o'clock Lord Bazelhurst, unattended at his own request, rode forth like a Lochinvar, his steel headed bravely toward Shaw's domain, his back facing his own home with a military indifference that won applause from the assembled house party.

Coming To Charlevoix

The Most Eminent Specialist in America Will Visit Charlevoix

Thursday, Oct. 3

One Day Only Each Visit

OFFICES AT Baker's Inn

Consult the Wonderful Herb Specialist FREE.

He asks no questions but tells you instantly just what ails you. To introduce himself to the people of this vicinity he will give consultation and treatments for the case FREE to all who call.

All that is asked in return is that you will state to your friends the results obtained.

Don't fail to call on the eminent specialist and have it forever settled in your mind just what your troubles are. No matter what your disease may be, no matter what others have told you, if sick or ailing don't fail to call and get the benefit of this wonderful knowledge. A visit will cost you nothing and may save your life.

If you are afflicted with deafness, catarrh, rheumatism, stomach, liver, kidney, bladder, or nervous trouble, be sure to call.

Weak and sickly men and women made strong and vigorous.

Remember, not a penny will be charged for consultation and treatments for the case to all who call during this visit. All those who do not take advantage of this free offer will be charged the regular price on future visits.

Remember the date and call early as my office is always crowded.

I will visit this place regularly every four weeks.

"I'll face him alone," he had said in a trifle thickly for some unknown reason when the duke offered to accompany him. It also might have been noticed as he cuttered down the drive that his legs did not stick out so stiffly, nor did his person bob so exactly as on previous but peaceful expeditions.

In fact, he seemed a bit limp. But his face was set determinedly for the border line and Shaw.

(Continued next week.)

The Courier auction advertising plan has never failed to please its many patrons. Investigate.

FAREWELL SURPRISE

Given Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith Last Saturday Evening.

Saturday evening a number of neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith, gave them a surprise party at the home of Mr. Smith's brother, Joseph Smith, on Antrim street. The occasion was the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and family, to their future home at Gloucester, Massachusetts. The evening was spent in visiting, light refreshments being served. All regret to lose them from our midst and wish them all prosperity in their new home.

THE WEARY WAY

Daily Becoming Less Wearisome to Many in Charlevoix.

With a back that aches all day, With rest disturbed at night, Annoying urinary disorders, Tires a weary way, indeed, Doan's Kidney Pills drive weariness away.

Are endorsed by Charlevoix citizens.

Henry Newman, 203 Sheridan St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ivy Drug Store for kidney trouble and have received relief. I have been troubled for years by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions at night and I had backache. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at the Ivy Drug Store. They gave me much relief. I can rest better and do not have much backache."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

AUCTION SALES

THE COURIER

is the recognized medium in Charlevoix county for Advertising Auction Sales. If you contemplate having a sale you can't afford to miss investigating our plan of advertising sales. During the past five years we have advertised practically all the Auction Sales held in this locality and have not had a dissatisfied customer. Our plan brings the buyers. Give us the list of things you have for sale

WE'LL DO THE REST

Furnish the Auctioneer

Make the Date

Bring the Buyers

Now is the Time to Subscribe

for the Courier. The long Winter Evenings are at hand and you can't afford to be without Charlevoix county's favorite home paper.

Clubbing offers with any other paper or magazine published. Here's a sample:

Courier	$1.50 per year
Michigan Farmer	$1.00 per year
Grand Rapids Press	$2.00 per year
On Rural Routes	$4.50

Our price for all three $3.25

Making a Saving of $1.25

The Courier Press

PHONE 12 12r

Courier Building VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

CREAM OF RYE

For Breakfast--that's Enough

Think of a delicious, healthful meal at a cost of one cent. Better still, you are feeding your body with nature's food and, producing an abundance of healthful energy.

A Silver Spoon in Every Package

Rye is the Cheapest and best Food—U. S. Govt. tests prove it.

Amount of energy 100 with only—
ARTICLES CALORIES of Energy

Eggs.....	388
Beef, Sirloin.....	410
Mutton, Leg.....	445
Milk.....	1030
Pork, loin.....	1035
Cheese.....	1185
Butter.....	1365
Rice.....	2025
Potatoes.....	2050
Beans, Dried.....	3940
Rye.....	6050

There's a Difference

The Taste is the Test

For Sale by your Grocer. If you fail to get a package Write Us

Minneapolis Cereal Co. Inc. Minneapolis

REV. TAYLOR GOES TO OTSEGO

Will Be Succeeded Here by Rev. Quinton Walker of Clare.

Rev. J. G. Biery Returns to Norwood—Other Appointments of Interest.

At the Methodist conference held at Big Rapids last week the following appointments of interest to Charlevoix people was given out. Bellaire, G. R. Mellard; Boyne Falls, S. J. Headly; Boyne City, M. W. Drifter; Central Lake, D. A. Wood; Charlevoix, Quinton Walker; East Jordan, L. H. Wheeler; Otsego, F. M. Taylor; Niles, R. A. Wright; Hastings circuit, R. E. Yost; Norwood, J. G. Biery.

It is with a feeling of regret that the citizens of Charlevoix will part with Mr. Taylor and family. During his residence among he has gained a place in our affections not only as a minister who fulfilled the high duties of his calling but as a man and citizen who was always ready to do his part toward the up-building of the community.

Rev. Quinton Walker his successor is a young man who comes to us from Clare where he conducted a successful pastorate. He is expected to arrive in the city the latter part of the week.

Democrats Organize.

A Wilson-Marshall-Ferris club has been organized in this city with the following officers: President, Dr. J. A. Auld; secretary, George Finnican. We are informed they will hold meetings every Wednesday night at the office of the president.

TOMATOES

FOR CANNING

A. EGKLUND

Phone 167-31

C. ROSS BROWNELL

TEACHER OF
PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE

Fourteen Years Experience
Mason-Sherwood Technique
Mathews Graded Course of Studies
In ten Grades
Class limited to Twenty Temporary Studio 215 Clinton Street
In Charlevoix Mondays-Tuesdays

Readers of the Courier

Are advised that the Detroit Business University, the oldest and most influential business training school in the state, is located in new brick premises at 6 West Grand River Ave., Detroit, and under new management is doing better work than ever in training young men and women for good, enterprising positions. The catalogue is mailed free on request.

E. R. SHAW, President.

CANVASSERS' STATEMENT.

(Continued from page 4)

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Register of Deeds was seventeen hundred eighty-eight (1788) and they were given for the following named persons:

R. A. Emrey received nine hundred seventy-eight 978
Wm. W. Boyle received eight hundred ten 810

Total 1788

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of Register of Deeds was one hundred seven (107) and they were given for the following named persons:

Byron J. Quick received one hundred seven 107

Total 107

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of Register of Deeds was eighty-two (82) and they were given for the following named persons:

David H. Francis received eighty-two 82

Total 82

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Prosecuting Attorney was eighteen hundred fifty-five (1855) and they were given for the following named persons:

Dwight H. Fitch received nine hundred sixty-eight 968
Rollie L. Lewis received eight hundred eighty-seven 887

Total 1855

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Drain Commissioner was twelve hundred thirty-eight (1238) and they were given for the following named persons:

William W. Cowan received twelve hundred thirty-eight 1238

Total 1238

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of Drain Commissioner was one hundred five (105) and they were given for the following named persons:

Joseph Howey received one hundred five 105

Total 105

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Coroner was twelve hundred twenty one (1221) and they were given for the following named persons:

Allen M. Wilkenson received twelve hundred twenty-one 1221

Total 1221

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of County Surveyor was fourteen hundred thirteen (1413) and they were given for the following named persons:

Ernest A. Robinson received fourteen hundred thirteen 1413

Total 1413

The whole number of votes given by the socialist party for candidates for office of County Surveyor was one hundred seven (107) and they were given for the following named persons:

David C. Nettleton received one hundred seven 107

Total 107

The whole number of votes given by the republican party for candidates for office of Representative in Congress, 11th District, was seven hundred forty-five (745) and they were given for the following named persons:

Francis O. Lindquist received nine hundred eighteen 918

Dennis E. Alward received one hundred thirty-five 135

Francis H. Dodds received six hundred ninety-one 691

Total 1745

The whole number of votes given by the democratic party for candidates for office of Representative in Congress, 11th District, was one hundred (100) and they were given for the following named persons:

Archie McCall received one hundred 100

Total 100

hundred 100

Total 100

The whole number of votes given by the prohibition party for candidates for office of Representative in Congress, 11th District, was one hundred five (105) and they were given for the following named persons:

Harry W. McLean received one hundred five 105

Total 105

The whole number of votes given by the prohibition party for candidates for office of Representative in Congress, 11th District, was twenty-five (25) and they were given for the following named persons:

George A. Chatterton received twenty-five 25

Total 25

The whole number of votes given by the national progressive party for candidates for office of Representative in Congress, 11th District, was twelve (12) and they were given for the following named persons:

John N. Patchin received twelve 12

Total 12

The whole number of votes given for and against the proposition of bonding the county was twenty-four hundred and twenty-eight (2428) and they were given as follows, viz:

One thousand and three votes contained the words, For the issuing of County Bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, Yes, 1003

Fourteen hundred and twenty-five votes contained the words: For the issuing of County Bonds to raise money for the construction and maintenance of County Roads, No, 1425

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss.

We do hereby certify, that the foregoing is a correct statement of the votes given in the County of Charlevoix for the candidates named in such statement and for the office designated therein, at the General

Primary Election, held on Tuesday, the twenty-seventh day of August, in the year One Thousand Nine Hundred Twelve.

In witness whereof, We have hereunto set our hands and caused to be affixed the seal of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, this fifth day of September, in the year one thousand nine hundred twelve.

C. F. DUTTON,
C. C. BURNETT,
FRANK A. HULL,
Board of County Canvassers.

Attest: DANIEL S. PAYTON,
Clerk of Board of County Canvassers.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss.

We do hereby certify, that the foregoing is a correct transcript of the statement of the Board of County Canvassers of the County of Charlevoix, of the votes given in such county for the candidates named in such statement and for the office designated therein, at the General

Primary Election held on the 27th day of August, 1912, so far as it relates to the votes cast for said office, as appears from the original statement on file in the office of the County Clerk.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed the seal of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, this fifth day of September, in the year one thousand nine hundred twelve.

DANIEL S. PAYTON, County Clerk.
G. E. DUTTON,
Chairman of the Board of County Canvassers.

RUN OVER BY A TRAIN

Joseph Bochniak Killed at Boyne Falls Monday Afternoon.

Was Walking on Tracks of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway.

Struck at Boyne Falls by G. R. & I. southbound passenger train No. 4, leaving Petoskey at 1:25 p. m., Joseph Bochniak, a Pole, married, twenty-four years of age, was so severely injured Monday afternoon that he died at four o'clock Tuesday morning in Petoskey hospital, to which institution he was taken as soon as possible after the accident.

The exact manner in which Bochniak was struck by the train is unknown. It has been learned that he cashed a check Monday afternoon at Boyne Falls and that he announced his intention of going to Cobb & Mitchell's camp to obtain work. When No. 4 came along, Bochniak was walking on the track, and before anyone in the vicinity could realize what had happened, he had been struck, the blow so badly injuring the frontal bone of the head that he did not regain consciousness.

Willing.
"Now," said the voluble salesman, "here's a piece of goods that speaks for itself."

"All right!" interrupted a weary customer. "Suppose you keep quiet for a couple of minutes and give it a chance!"

Notice to Dog Owners.

If you wish to avoid trouble you must keep your dogs muzzled during this month.

By Order of the Council.

A Single Harness for $3.50

See my line of Single Harness made from the best selected Oak Leather, the finest Nickle and Rubber Trimmings with Flexible Saddles.

I have a large assortment of Harness in different Styles and Finishes

My Best Sellers are $10.00, $12.00, $15.00

Benj. Brown

Announcement

The Melin-Winkel Piano Company of South Haven, Michigan, has placed a stock of pianos in S. M. See & Sons Furniture Store, which they will be pleased to show to the general public. These pianos are handled direct from the factory to the home, thus saving the middleman's profits, and we solicit your patronage.

The Melin-Winkel Piano Co.

GEORGE HALE, Manager

With S. M. See & Sons Charlevoix, Mich.

STRAYED OR STOLEN from my farm some months ago; between two and three years old; Holstein Heifer marked as above, ear tag number 145. If strayed $25 reward for her return. If stolen $50 for information leading to conviction.

E. C. WALLER.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 40

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

MORE FACTS ABOUT ALFALFA

Continuation of Bulletin Published in Last Week's Courier.

BY DIRECTOR R. S. SHAW

Manure Should be a Top Dressing Well Worked Into Soil.

Inoculation of Soil May be Required—Will Succeed Better Without a Nurse Crop

No manuring may be necessary in the case of the deep, rich, well tilled loam, but a light top dressing of fine well rotted manure goes far to insure a stand of alfalfa on clays, sands and gravel soils. It is desirable on the clay, not so much to furnish plant food as to prevent the ground from drying out, baking and cracking. On the sand and gravel, the top dressing is needed to prevent the sand from drifting, to furnish food for the young plant, to shade the ground and conserve moisture, and, on steep hillsides, to aid in checking washing. Farmyard manure, plowing under deep, while very valuable later, does not furnish aid at the time or in the manner heretofore suggested. The top dressing is particularly essential in seeding barren hill tops, washes and light sands. The manure should be applied after plowing so that the subsequent cultivation, necessary to produce a suitable seed bed, will intermix it with one or two inches of the surface soil, rather than leave it entirely on the surface except in the case of a blow sand. The manure should be fine and well rotted so as not to interfere with cultivation or spread weed seeds; the amount needed will vary from six to twelve loads per acre, depending on soil, season, climatic and various other conditions. The manure can be leached and distributed most perfectly by means of the spreader. Moderate applications of lime are likely to improve the results. This will vary with the locality and the season, but may begin as soon as danger of severe frost is past, say about May 1st, and may continue as late as there is prospect of getting a vigorous growth to withstand winter; this will also depend on the season and the use of a top dressing of manure. Last season we seeded successfully up to August 1st. The early spring seedlings are giving best results.

From 15 to 30 pounds of seed is needed per acre, depending on the suitability of the soil, the season, quality of seed, etc. On well prepared loam and clay soils broadcast seeding followed by very light discing or harrowing, or both, as the conditions may demand, is all that is necessary. On the lighter, sandy soils however, which will drift or dry out quickly, the seed should be imbedded at a greater depth; this can be accomplished in two ways, viz: (1) Mix the alfalfa seed with about twice its bulk of dry, sifted soil, fine saw dust or corn meal and sow with the ordinary grain drill, exercising great care however, not to bury the seed deeper than two inches. It is difficult to shut the ordinary drill down close enough so that alfalfa seed alone will not feed out too fast. Or the seed may be distributed by grass seeder attachment of drill if tubes can be attached connecting with hose. If this method cannot be used, we suggest, (2) scatter seed broadcast and then disc, using moderate cut only and follow with harrow. These methods, particularly (1) put the seed down in the soil evenly and provides greater certainty of moisture for germination than when sown in the ordinary way. There is no doubt but that many of the failures in seeding sandy lands are due largely to lack of suitable covering for the seed in soils which dry out quickly.

As a general rule the young alfalfa plants will succeed much better without a nurse crop. If a nurse crop is used, not more than one-half to two-thirds the ordinary seeding should be applied. Broadcast the alfalfa ahead of grain drill and then harrow, except in the case of clay soils when the alfalfa may be sown after the grain drill.

If weeds are troublesome, clip high with the mower as often as it is necessary to prevent them from crowding and shading the alfalfa plants and robbing the soil of its moisture. Allow clippings to remain as much as possible, or, in case weeds have gone to seed they should be removed and burned.

Where alfalfa has not heretofore been grown, the soil may need inoculation to develop the production of root nodules, the bacteria of which are claimed to utilize atmospheric nitrogen. If inoculation is desired we recommend the farmer to secure a few sacks of soil from an old alfalfa field and scatter over the soil to be seeded. If the inoculated soil has to be shipped long distances at great expense try from 300 to 400 lbs. per acre; it may be better to use much more however, providing it can be secured nearby at little cost. Get soil from fields as free from weeds as possible. Artificial cultures may be reproduced from the bacteriological laboratory at cost.

In the west there are authentic records of alfalfa stands continuing for ten to twenty years. It is not at all likely that this crop will prove to be as long lived under Michigan conditions. As the stand becomes thinner from various causes, it is crowded more and more by June grass.

Great care should be exercised under Michigan conditions relative to pasturing alfalfa. In no case should it be pasture too close by any kind of stock trampling excessively so as to injure the crowns of the plants.

DEMOCRATS NAME STATE TICKET

At The Largest State Convention in History of Party.

Speakers of National Prominence Were Present—Progressive Platform Adopted.

The democratic party of Michigan in a convention marked by the adoption of a platform along entirely progressive lines and by only a few passing ripples of excitement to disturb the general aspect of harmony, put into nomination candidates for state offices.

The convention that gathered in the Coliseum at Grand Rapids last Thursday was the largest democratic assembly of its kind in the history of Michigan. More than 1,100 delegates were present out of a total of 1,334. The prevailing atmosphere was of enthusiastic confidence in a democratic victory at the polls on November 5.

Several pre-convention thrills threatened discord early in the day but with the re-election of all but five members of the old state central committee these were dissipated and the opening of the convention found a desire of harmony prevailing.

It was a speechmaking convention addresses being given by several prominent party leaders. These included Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma, head of the western organization bureau of the democratic national committee; Woodbridge N. Ferris, candidate for governor, and Alfred Lucking, candidate for United States senator.

The following state ticket was named: Governor—Woodbridge N. Ferris, Michigan. Lieutenant governor—James W. Helme, Lenawee. Congressman at large—Edward Frensdorff, Lenawee. Secretary of State—J. B. Balch, Kalamazoo. State treasurer—John H. Robson, Clinton. Attorney general—Louis C. Howell, Livingston. Auditor general—Peter Primeau, Marquette. Justice of supreme court, long term—George L. Yapple, Kalamazoo. Justice supreme court, short term—Roland H. Person, Ingham. Commissioner state land office—Orlando F. Barnes, Roscommon.

50 Girls Wanted.

At the seed house to pick over beans. We are ready to take in beans at any time. For information apply to George Brown, Phone, office 73-2r. House, 73-3r. Chatterton & Son, Ferry Seed Warehouse. Advertisement. 1-401t

REPUBLICANS NAME STRONG TICKET AT CONVENTION

Held at Detroit Last Week—Administration of President Taft Strongly Endorsed ---Harmony in Evidence Throughout Gathering---Platform Adopted in Line With Progressive Principles.

The Republicans of the state completed the state ticket at Detroit Wednesday of last week at which time the policy of the party was strongly endorsed as was the administration of President Taft. The platform endorses the laws passed for the protection of workingmen, women and children and for the compensation of injured workingmen, favors the compelling of assessing officers to take into consideration the earning power of each industrial property in fixing value for taxation purposes, favors the preservation of the primary school fund, the investigation of all state institutions by non-partisan committees, opposes the employment of prison labor on private contracts, favors the acquisition of prison farms and the employment of prisoners thereon under healthful conditions, favors more simple election laws, the initiative and referendum on legislative questions, improvement in the highways and the placing of automobile license fees to the credit of highway funds, the continuation of the home rule policy for cities and villages. The following ticket was nominated, the candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and congressman-at-large having been named at the primaries. Secretary of state—Frederick C. Martindale, Detroit. State treasurer—O. B. Fuller, Ford River. Attorney general—Grant M. Fellows, Hudson. Land commissioner—A. C. Carlton, East Tawas. Justice supreme court—Joseph H. Steere, Sault Ste. Marie. Justice supreme court—Franz C. Kahn, Mount Clemens.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Charlevoix People in One Near Elk Rapids Last Wednesday.

A Ford delivery car containing six persons, Mr. and Mrs. William Shapton, son Earl, and Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, enroute from Charlevoix to Traverse City, Wednesday, ran into the ditch when about four miles south of town, turned over and was badly damaged. The occupants, with the exception of Mr. Shapton, escaped unhurt. He was somewhat bruised about the chest, but an examination disclosed no serious injury. The car was not so badly damaged that it could not be run back to town, where it was temporarily patched up and later taken to Traverse City for a general overhauling, an entire new top being necessary. The ladies of the party returned home by rail—Elk Rapids News.

Located in Kansas.

Charlevoix friends of J. Milo Eaton, who for a number of years was a resident of our city, will be pleased to learn that he is now located at Miltonvale, Kansas, where he is engaged in the law and real estate business.

Mr. Eaton was one of the best hustlers Charlevoix ever had and worked hard for the advancement of our city, and we have no doubt is pushing things in his new location.

GAVE INTEREST- ING ADDRESS

Professor E. C. Rowe of Mount Pleasant on Equal Suffrage.

Made a Strong Argument For The Cause Saturday Evening.

Professor E. C. Rowe of Mount Pleasant spoke in the court-house Saturday evening on the subject of equal suffrage. The large crowd present at the meeting was evidence of the interest being taken in the subject.

The speaker at the meeting was introduced by Mrs. A. L. Coulter, president of the county organization, and whatever might have been the opinion of his hearers in regard to his subject, all admitted that they heard an interesting scholarly presentation of the case from his standpoint.

Mr. Rowe first declared that the movement for equal suffrage was the most important before the electors this fall.

He brought out the fact that while man was once loyal to a single leader and later to a group of leaders, he now follows neither, but he gives his loyalty to a great human cause founded on principle. Since this cause requires the support of morality, honesty, etc., women are as well fitted for the work as men. The speaker denied that they were not as well fitted mentally, proving his case by quoting statistics in regard to the education and business activities of women.

The apparent indifference of many women in this respect counts for nothing, since men are quite as indifferent. Moreover, where equal suffrage is permitted, interest is quickly aroused, and a large percentage of the votes are cast by women.

He described this country as being a great home, rather than a store or factory. This being the case, the one who devotes her time and energy to the care of the household is quite as competent to rule as the one who stands behind the counter, or in the factory.

The speaker declared that the recent passage of laws on the government of children and child labor was due to the votes of women, and the speaker predicted a great moral improvement throughout the country when all women are given free use of the ballot. That they are not already granted this right is strange when we recall that some of the oldest and most conservative countries of Europe have adopted equal suffrage and are making a success of it.

Sunday Professor Rowe spoke before the Men's Bible class. A large crowd was present. He said no apology was needed today in advocating equal suffrage because it was recognized as one of the vital questions. He dwelt more particularly in his second talk on the imperative need of woman's help in solving some of the great moral questions of the hour.

OPPOSE LOCAL OPTION

Prohibitionists Declare it Hindrance to Their Cause
---Name Their State Ticket.

The prohibitionists in state convention at Lansing last week, by an almost unanimous vote, declared that local option was one of the hindrances of prohibition. The platform adopted is a long one.

The following state ticket was named: Governor—J. D. Leland, Cornua. Attorney general—Seth B. Terry, Durand. Land Commissioner—Willis M. Farr, Dowagiac. Secretary of state—Alfred J. Lowther, Detroit. State treasurer—John Boreland, Sault Ste. Marie. Justice supreme court—W. H. D. Fox, Mount Clemens. Auditor general—W. J. Reynolds, Laurium.

Will Open Hospital.

Mrs. Shockley is fitting up an office in the annex of her residence State street, where she will give hot air and electric light baths with massage. As soon as arrangements can be made an operating room, and a trained nurse will be added, so that persons needing hospital care can have same without going out of town.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

COOK-EMORY

Former Charlevoix Residents Married at Detroit September Eighteenth.

Announcements have been received here of the marriage of Miss Ruby Emory and Harry A. Cook, which took place at Detroit, Wednesday September 18.

Both these young people were formerly residents of this city. Mr. Cook acting as cashier for the Booth Fisheries, and Miss Emory as owner of the Emory Hat Shop.

They will make their home at Port Arthur, Ontario, where Mr. Cook holds a responsible position as manager of the Booth Fisheries. Their many friends join in congratulations and well wishes.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Will Hold Annual Meeting Friday Evening With Mr. and Mrs. Kane.

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kane Friday evening, October 4.

The following is the program: Music.....Singing by the society. President's Greeting. "The Historical Society" Hon. A. Butters. Intermission. Piano.....Cecil Burns. Current events of the last five months.....Dr. E. H. Wilkinson.

SECOND PRIZE EXHIBITION

Will be Held at Vought's Garage Saturday October 14.

Premium List Has Been Enlarged and Value of Prizes Increased.

Saturday, October 11, the Charlevoix Retail Merchants' association will hold another exhibition of farm produce. The premium list which appears on page seven is much longer and the prizes are more valuable than at any other previous exhibition.

Vought's garage will be used as the show room, which assures all exhibitors that ample space will be had to display everything in the best possible manner. The success of these exhibitions in previous years, and the prizes offered, which are well worth striving for, should be an incentive for our farmers to show the best products of their farms as well as an assurance that the exhibition will be well worth the attention of everybody.

At four o'clock, on the day of the exhibition, a free auction will be held of the articles on display, the proceeds to go to the exhibitors. Special bargains will be offered by Charlevoix merchants for this day only.

HAMLIN-ULRICH

Charlevoix Couple Married at Mendon Thursday of Last Week.

Announcements have been received to the effect that Miss Cleo Ulrich and Lemie Hamlin, both of this city were married last week.

The event was solemnized at the home of the bride's uncle at Mendon, Michigan, last Thursday with relatives present.

The couple are now on a brief trip to Detroit after which they will return to make their home in this city.

Auction Sales.

This week, on page two we advertised the sale of Thomas Cunningham, five miles south of Charlevoix, Wednesday, October 9, beginning at ten o'clock a. m. W. E. Byers, auctioneer.

Last week we advertised the sale of Stephen Hull, six miles south of Charlevoix, Friday, October 4, beginning at ten o'clock a. m. W. E. Byers, auctioneer.

We also advertised the sale of Ed Norton, at the golf grounds, Charlevoix, Saturday, October 5, beginning at one o'clock p. m. E. B. Ward, auctioneer.

Watch next week's issue for the sale of W. M. Conk, of Charlevoix township, October 19.

NEARLY A COM- PLETE LOSS

Steamer City of Boyne Destroyed by Fire Thursday Morning.

FROM AN UNKNOWN CAUSE

Will Be Immediately Rebuilt—Steamer
Knobloch Now on Run.

Burned Steamer Had Been on Run Seven Years—
Was Rebuilt Two Years Ago—Captain Weaver Heavy Loser.

At one o'clock Thursday morning fire was discovered on the steamer City of Boyne while at her dock in Boyne City, by the engineer who slept on board. When he awakened the fire was so far advanced that he could do nothing to check the same. He gave the alarm and in a short time workers were on hand but they were badly handicapped by the fire and the cable having been burned allowing the boat to drift away from the dock over against the lumber piles on the dock across the slip.

The fire evidently started in the slab pile in the hold, forward from the boilers, and the damage is mostly in the forward end of the boat. The upper deck and pilot house are practically gone; the machinery is greatly damaged, the sturges in the hold are burned, although the flames did not eat through the planking into the water.

In addition to the damage to the boat Capt. Weaver, who is one of the larger stockholders of the owning company, was also a personal loser to considerable extent. Besides having a cargo of fruit aboard for the trip across the lake for this morning, a large proportion of which was damaged or lost by being dumped into the lake, Captain Weaver had quite an amount of clothing in his private room on the boat, all of which was destroyed. There was also something like $30 in silver in the room, but careful search through the ruins resulted in finding most of this money.

The damaged steamer has been running on the Pine Lake traffic for the past seven years. For the first five years of that time the craft was known as the Cummings, but was rebuilt making her a trailer over 100 feet long and equipped with the many conveniences which combined to make her the popular steamer that she has been. The name was changed to the City of Boyne and this is the second season under that cognomen. During all the many years, however, she has been under the command and watchful care of her present master, Captain George Weaver.

The damage to the boat was fully covered by insurance and she will immediately be rebuilt, and next spring will be ready to take up her regular run as usual.

For the balance of this season the steamer Lena Knobloch has been chartered and commenced making regular trips Monday under the command of Captain Weaver.

STATE TAX LESS

Over Million Dollars Decrease From Amount Levied Last Year.

Auditor-General Fuller has computed the aggregate state tax for the several counties for 1912. Taxpayers will hail with joy the announcement—that the state taxes will be $1,070,733 less than they were last year, the aggregate tax for 1912 being $5,452,308 as compared to the aggregate tax for 1911 of $6,523,041.

Charlevoix county will pay $22,855, as compared with $25,300.40 last year.

For Sale or Trade.

Pair light both sleighs, light wagon, cutter nearly new, two single harnesses. Will sell for cash or trade for three-foot wood. Inquire at Hotel Elston. 301t Advertisement.

Dressmaking.

Girls' school clothes a specialty. Mrs. Jacobs, 301 Antrim. Advertisement. 402pd

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the stove. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use it.

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, leaders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-BRISTLING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel only. Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, hardware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works
STERLING, ILLINOIS

Correspondence

IRONTON.

(Too late for last week.)
Mr. and Mrs. Ogden spent last week at Wildwood.

Mrs. Dean and family spent the week-end at Phelps.

Gurnie Decker has gone to Charlevoix to build cottages.

Miss Katherine McGhan of Ironton visited her parents in Marion, Sunday.

We are hoping for a month of good weather to ripen corn, beans and fruits.

Miss Dora King has returned from Laosing and entered the Eighth grade.

We all enjoyed Mr. Taggart's good practical sermon. Some thought for all of us to carry home.

The primary children have been making some original and pretty designs in mats of raffia and grasses.

There are thirty-three pupils enrolled in the primary room and fifteen in the grammar room at Ironton.

Ironton school base ball nine has challenged the Mountain school nine. The game will be played at Ironton September 28.

The Eighth grade has memorized Longfellow's "Skeleton in Armor." The Sixth and Eighth grades are learning "The Arrow" and "The Song," by the same author.

E. C. Lewis, Matthew Saunders, Hiram Brock, William Saunders and John Seiles are among those putting up silos. This speaks for the coming prosperity of our farming community. The silo fillers will commence work next week.

Mr. Allan Moseley visited school, Monday morning.

The pile driver is building a dock at Howe's landing.

Gilbert Holland has moved his cottage to Lake street.

New histories and geographies are expected this week.

Farmers are beginning to pull their beans and cut corn.

The silo filler is busy at work, for there are many silos ready.

Some of our prosperous farmers report corn twelve feet high.

The Eighth grade girls are having some lessons in hemstitching.

The peach boat from Old Mission made a welcome visit to our port Thursday.

There was a family gathering at the home of James Lewis this week. Twenty-four were present.

Mr. Greenman and family from the Taft fruit farm, called at the home of Lewis Brown on Sunday.

Monday afternoon a birthday party was given in the primary room for all whose birthdays came in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Halvorsen left for Milwaukee, Tuesday, after enjoying several weeks on the shore of Pine Lake.

Frank Hammond's hay press has broken down and has been sent to Chicago for repairs. It is a fine machine and has been put on the side filler.

The Eighth grade is taking a trip through the British Isles, visiting the Giant's Causeway, Jersey and the Shetland Islands, old castles, the homes of Shakespeare and Robert Burns and all places of historic interest.

The pot luck dinner at Mrs. Joel King's was an enjoyable occasion for all. Much work was accomplished. Those present were: Madames McMullen, Webb, Sanderson, Hammond, Munson, Adams, Brown, Clark, Wilhelm, Alexander, Hyers, Palmer, Ogden, Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Taggart, Miss Adams, Miss Clark, Miss Moseley, Miss Wilhelm, Master Scott, Ernest Brown, Beattie Brown and Faith Ogden.

C. M. Wheelihan, 336 Fort street, Port Huron, states: "I have used various kidney medicines for a chronic case of kidney trouble that has bothered me for some years and I can honestly say that Foley Kidney Pills did more for me than any of them. They relieved me greatly and I will always be pleased to recommend them." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

BAY SHORE.

Miss Ruth Dilman visited at Mrs. John Brecheisen Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Scroggie was the guest of Miss Ollie Van Amburg Saturday and Sunday.

Fred Friend is visiting his parents and friends here for a month after which he will return to his work at Grand Rapids.

Misses Gertrude Scroggie and Blanche Wallace attended the linen shower given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Winsor at her home at Eagle Island for Miss Ollie Van Amburg.

The first frost of the season came September 28. It hurt the bean crop quite severely on many of the farms as the beans were only partly matured, because of the rather cold summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Long, Mr. and Mrs. George Long, M. Long, and Mr. and Mrs. William Brecheisen attended the funeral of Mrs. Peter Kane. Mrs. Kane was a sister of the Longs.

Mrs. William Wallace and daughter gave a china shower for Miss Ollie Van Amburg Wednesday afternoon at their home. There were twenty-six ladies present and a good time was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Dora Ray, 720 Broad street, St. Joseph, states: "I suffered much misery from my kidneys and bladder and all I tried failed to help me. My kidney action was irregular with a burning pain, and I had headaches and dizzy spells, with swollen ankles. I gave Foley Kidney Pills a good trial and improvement followed promptly and in fact, I've felt exceptionally well since taking Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

CLARION.

J. E. Darrah returned Saturday from the "So."

Mrs. Will Hough visited friends at Kalkaska last week.

C. E. Johnson of Pellston spent Sunday with his parents.

John Older came up from Leetsville for a short time Sunday.

Mrs. T. Banghman went to Lansing last week to visit her son.

Mrs. Katie Older and children are visiting relatives at Norristown.

Rev. H. G. Kennedy and wife returned Saturday from East Jordan. J. M. Ran acted as agent in the place of W. H. Hough who went to Manton on Friday.

The station at Walloon was closed on Monday, the agent J. M. Ran, returning to his home at Cedar Springs.

Mrs. Myrtle Jackman, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, has returned to her home at Marquette.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Vangilder and mother and Mrs. Louisa Vangilder left Wednesday for Grant's Pass, Oregon, where they will make their home.

Club the Courier with a magazine

Skin On Fire?

Just the mild, simple wash, the well known D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema, and the itch is gone—yes the instant the first drop touches your burning skin you get relief!

Get a trial bottle—25c—today and prove for yourself how the first drops give instant relief—how your skin is cooled and soothed and absolutely protected from all hot weather irritation.

We know that D. D. D. does the work as nothing else can—in fact we are so sure of this that we offer a full size bottle on this guarantee: If you do not find that it takes away the itch at once it costs you not a cent.

F. L. Hines & Co., Druggists

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Charlevoix Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are common symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Charlevoix. Follow the advice of a Charlevoix citizen.

Mrs. W. V. Imel, 365 May street, Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I was troubled for a long time by a sharp backache and pains in my back which kept me in misery. I became tired very easily and had no strength. It hurt me to stoop or lift and I did not rest well. I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at the Ivy Drug store and they have toned up my system wonderfully. I am now free from backache and pains and have more strength and ambition. Other members of my family have used Doan's Kidney Pills for lame and aching back with good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Advertisement.

MARION.

Miss Grace Meggison will teach the Phillips school the coming year.

Mrs. Jane Clover from Seattle, Washington is visiting friends in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Nowland of Charlevoix are visiting friends in Marion this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Banker from Three Rivers was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. Cole last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, returned home Saturday after visiting friends and relatives in Detroit.

Miss Winnie Cunningham entertained a number of her friends Thursday evening. A good time reported.

Mrs. P. Hanson and daughter, who have been visiting friends in Grand Rapids, returned home Thursday last.

Philip Desormeau, Proprietor of the Farmer's Home Hotel, Schaffer, Michigan, says: "Last winter I could not sleep nights on account of a bad cough that would start at bed time and keep me awake. I started using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and was greatly pleased to find that my cough left me, my appetite increased and I slept soundly at night." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

NORWOOD.

James O'Brien and wife were Norwood callers Tuesday.

The L. A. S. cleared $9.50 at their pie supper September 25.

Will Alward and wife were Charlevoix visitors last Wednesday.

Henry Billow of Atwood took dinner with W. M. Lucia Tuesday.

Heavy frost Saturday night did lots of damage to corn and beans.

We are all pleased to have Rev. J. G. Biery with us for another year.

Charles Ferguson and wife spent three days with Uncle Amos Miller.

Amos Richardson came home Friday from Detroit where he has been visiting his son Charles.

E. D. Nelson made his niece, Mrs. Walter Mosher, a pleasant call Saturday returning to Petoskey in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Owens of Foster, Wisconsin, are visiting Mrs. Owens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Carman. They expect to return home October 3. Miss Nell Carman will go with them to spend the winter.

Charles C. Collison, a leverman living at 930 No. 4th street, Saginaw, states: "I had a severe case of acute kidney trouble with pain across my back and irregular kidney action. I finally took Foley Kidney Pills, and in a few days time the pain left my back, my kidney action became regular and today I am entirely free of all kidney trouble." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

"Connecticut's Negro Governor." The negroes of Connecticut were formerly accustomed to elect a governor for themselves. "Negro election," as it was called, generally took place on the Saturday following the election day of the whites. Just when the negro governor's duties and privileges were does not appear. At all events he was respected as "gubernor" by the negroes throughout the state. The custom was established before the Revolutionary war and was continued as late as 1820.

For results, try our advertising inner.

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

The Normal class began manual training Monday, under the instruction of Miss Whiting.

Miss Arlinda Nordrum, class of '10, and Miss Clara Finnman, class of '09, called at the Normal last Wednesday.

Our books have arrived and we can work more definitely in our studies.

Committees have been appointed as follows: Miss Mabel Dunlop and Miss Sophia Berg act in the capacity of housekeepers; Miss Jessie Barkley and Miss Dessie Groenink act as ventilating committee; Miss Hazel Mills and Miss Merlie Brecheisen are our editors.

Miss Mabyn Cliffe missed the boat at East Jordan Monday morning, so was absent from school that day.

The program has been so arranged, that it is possible for most of the Normal students to go home Friday afternoon and return Monday morning, without missing their classes.

Interesting letters were received from Miss Lila Taylor, class of '11, who is now attending college at Albion; and Miss Edith Cady, class of '11, who is teaching near Ellsworth.

Miss Sara Nicholson from the state department at Lansing, is visiting the county normal this week. She is giving instruction to the students in oral methods in number work and language, using the various grades in the training room and the other departments in developing her methods. The city teachers met for an observation lesson with Miss Nicholson Monday evening and found the work intensely interesting.

Catarh Cannot Be Cured

with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best medicines known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarh. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, price 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Advertisement.

Subscribe for the Courier.

SCHOOL BAGS

FOR

School Children

AT

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

The farmer should have a good barn for his crops; the Merchant a good store and warehouse for his stock of goods, as well as Banks should have good substantial buildings and vaults for their properties and stock in trade.

The children and young people should have some convenient way for taking good care of their School Books, in carrying them to and from the schools and Library. For this purpose we have just received a consignment of School Bags and we desire to place them in every home where there are boys and girls attending school in Charlevoix.

No matter how much rain or snow or how cold the weather may be, with one of these Book Bags you can easily carry your books.

Commencing Thursday, October 3d, after School Hours, we will be glad to have the boys and girls call at our Bank and ask for a School Bag. If you do not get around that day call in Friday before or after school hours. We want you to have one. We desire to encourage the children and young people to study and read good books in their homes. In this way the evenings will be pleasant and profitable during the coming winter.

R. P. FOLEY, President

H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his home in Marion, 5 miles south-east of Charlevoix, on Wednesday, October 9, 1912

Commencing at ten o'clock a. m. the following described property:

Brown mare, age 14, weight 1300
Milch cow, age 5, fresh in February
Milch cow, age 9, fresh in February
Milch cow, age 9, fresh in April Heifer, 18 months old, fresh in May Bull, 18 months old 2 spring calves
About 30 chickens
Set double work harness
Set cultivating harness
Set double driving harness
Heavy wagon, 3 1/2 inch tire
Steel truck, 5-inch Pair heavy sleighs, 3-inch shoe
Pair sleighs, 2-inch shoe
Campbell fanning mill
18-inch 12 disc harrow
52-tooth spike harrow
16-tooth springtooth harrow

2 five-tooth cultivators Empire disc grain drill
General sod plow Weeder
Champion mowing machine
Jones mowing machine Feed cutter 2-row cultivator
3-beet lifters Top buggy
Empire cream separator
450 brick 2 beet boxes
Hay rack Pair pea harvesters
60 feet decking line
600 feet tamarack lumber
500 feet hemlock lumber
200 feet matched hardwood lumber
14 tons baled hay 6 tons straw
Forks Rakes Shovels
Many other articles too numerous to mention.

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

Terms of Sale

All sums under $10.00 cash; all sums over $10.00 one year's time on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

Thomas Cunningham, Prop.

W. J. Rachow, Note Clerk

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

Robert Gregory, Record Clerk

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricul'l Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VAN PELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. J. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
Van Pelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in Van Pelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 139 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66-2; residence 66-3.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store.
Telephone No. 235. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your DRYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have luggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods a Specialty.

CHARLES TAYLOR

GLASSES FITTED

Consult J. LEAHY, Optometrist
Expert on Eye Strain
Curing Headache a Specialty
Petoskey, Michigan
Office Open Friday and Saturday Each Week

COURIER PRESS

COMMERCIAL PRINTERS

A Trial will Convince You

BY GEORGE BARR MCUTCHEON
Copyright, 1906, by Dodd, Mead & Company.

CHAPTER II.

In Which a Young Woman Tries to

MR. SHAW was a tall young man of thirty or thereabouts, smooth faced, good looking and athletic. It was quite true that he wore a red coat when tramping through his woods and vales, not because it was fashionable, but because he had a vague horror of being shot at by some nearsighted Niirud from Manhattan. A crowd of old college friends had just left him alone in the hills after spending several weeks at his place, and his sole occupation these days, aside from directing the affairs about the house and grounds, lay in the efforts to commune with nature by means of a shotgun and a fishing rod. His most constant companion was a pipe, his most loyal follower a dog.

As he sauntered slowly down the river road that afternoon, smiling reflectively from time to time as he looked into the swift, narrow stream that had welcomed his adventures of the morning, he little thought of the encounter in store for him. The little mountain stream was called a river by courtesy because it was yards wider than the brooks that straggled luxuriantly to surpass it during the rainy season. But it was deep and turbulent in places, and it had a roar at times that commanded the respect of the foolhardy.

"The poor devils might have drowned, eh, Bonaparte?" he mused, addressing the dog at his side. "Confounded nuisance, getting wet after all, though. Lord Bazelhurst waits for me, doesn't he? That dog down there is the dividing line in our river, eh? And I have to stay on this side of it. By George, he's a mean spirited person, and it's his wife's land, too. I wonder what she's like. It's a pity a fellow can't have a quiet, decent summer up here in the hills. Still, lighting his pipe—I dare say I can give as well as I take. If I stay off his land they'll have to keep off of mine. Hello, who's that? A man, by George, but he looks like a partridge. As I live, Bonaparte is pointing. Ha, ha. That's one on you, Bonny!" Mr. Shaw stepped into the brush at the side of the path and watched the movements of the man at the "log," now less than two yards away.

Lord Bazelhurst, attired in his brown corduroys and his tan waistcoat, certainly suggested the partridge. He hopped nimbly about in the distant foreground, cocking his ears from time to time with all the aloofness of that wild bird. He was, strange to relate, some little distance from Bazelhurst territory, an actual trespasser upon Shaw's domain. His horse, however, was tethered to a sapling on the safe side of the log, comfortably browsing on Bazelhurst grass. Randolph Shaw, an unseasoned observer, was considerably mystified by the actions of his unusual visitor.

His lordship paced back and forth with a stride that grew firmer as time brought forth no hostile impediments. His monotonous over and anon was freighted both high and low in search of Shaw or his henchmen, while his face was rapidly resolving itself into a bloom of rage.

"Confound him," his lordship was muttering, looking at his timepiece with stern disapproval. "He can't expect me to wait here all day. I'm on his land, and I'll stay here as long as I like!" (At this juncture he involuntarily measured the distance between himself and the log.) "I knew it was all a bluff, his threat to put me off. Haug it all, where is the fellow? I won't go up to his beastly house. I won't gratify him by going up there even to give him his orders. Confound him! I dare say he's seen me and has crawled off into the underbrush. He's afraid of me; he's a coward. It is as I feared. I can't see the rascal. There's only one thing left for me to do. I'll ph a note to this tree. Confound him, he shall hear from me. He'll have to read it."

Whereupon his lordship drew forth a large envelope from his pocket and proceeded to fasten it to the trunk of a big tree which grew in the middle of the road, an act of premeditation which showed strange powers of prophecy. How could he, except by means of clairvoyance, have known before leaving home that he was not to meet his enemy face to face?

As Mr. Shaw afterward read the note and tossed it into the river, it is only fair that the world should know its contents while it hung unfolded to the bark of the tall tree. It said in a very scrawling hand: "Mr. Shaw, I have looked all over this end of your land for you this afternoon. You doubtless choose to avoid me. So be it. Let me state once and for all that your conduct is despicable. I came here personally to tell you to keep off my land henceforth and forever. I will not repeat this warning, but will instead, if you persist, take such summary measures as would befit a person of your instincts. I trust you will feel the importance of keeping off. To this his lordship heavily signed himself.

"I've said in that letter, confound him!" He had not observed the approach of Randolph Shaw, who now stood, pipe in hand, some twenty paces behind him in the road.

"What the devil are you doing?" demanded a strong bass voice. It had the effect of a cannon shot. His lordship leaped half out of his corduroys, turned with agonizing abruptness toward the tall young man and gasped "Oh!" so shrilly that his horse looked up with a start. The next instant his watch dropped forgotten from his fingers and his nimble little legs scurried for territory beyond the log. Nor did he pause upon reaching that supposedly safe ground. The swift glance he gave the nearby river was shuddering as well as apprehensive. It moved him to increased but unpolished haste.

He leaped frantically for the saddle, scanning the stream, huddling broadside, but with sufficient nervous energy in reserve to scramble on and upward into the seat. Once there he kicked the animal in the flanks with both heels, clutched with his knees and reaching for the little rein in the same motion. The horse plunged obediently, but came to a stop with a jerk that almost misdirected the rider; the sapling swayed; the good but forgotten rein held firm.

"Ha!" gasped his lordship as the horrid truth became clear to him. "Charge, Bonaparte!" shouted the man in the road.

"Saddlers!" cried the rider, with a wild look among the trees. "My dog," called back the other. "He charges at the word."

"Well, you know, I saw service in the army," apologized his lordship, with a pale smile. "Get up!" to the horse.

"What's your hurry?" asked Shaw, grinding broadly as he came up to the log.

"Don't—don't you dare to step over that log!" shouted Bazelhurst. "All right, I see; but, after all, what's the rush?" The other was puzzled for the moment.

"I'm practicing, sir," he said unsteadily. "How to mount on a run, demmit. Can't you see?"

"In case of fire, I imagine. Well, you made excellent time. By the way, what has this envelope to do with it?"

"Who are you, sir?"

"Shaw. And you?"

"You'll learn when you read that document. Take it home with you."

"Ah, yes; I see it's for me. Why don't you untie that hitch rein? And what the dickens do you mean by having a hitch rein anyway? No rider—"

"Confound your impudence, sir! I did not come here to receive instructions from you, dem you!" cried his lordship defiantly. He had succeeded at that moment in surreptitiously slinging the hitch rein in two with his pocketknife. There was nothing now to prevent him from giving the obtrusive young man a defiant farewell. "I am Lord Bazelhurst. Good day, sir."

"Just a minute, your lordship," called Shaw. "No doubt you were timing yourself a bit ago, but that's no reason why you should leave your watch on my land. Of course I've nothing against the watch, and while I promise you faithfully that any human being from your side of the log who ventures over on my side shall be ejected in one way or another, it would seem senseless for me to kick this timepiece into the middle of next week."

"Don't you dare kick that watch. It's a hundred years old."

"Far be it from me to take advantage of anything so old. Don't you want it any longer?"

"Certainly, sir. I wouldn't part from it."

"Then why don't you come over and get it? Do you expect me to break the rule by coming over on to your land to hand it to you?"

"I shouldn't call that trespassing, don't you know," began his lordship. "Ah! Nevertheless, if you want this watch you'll have to come over and get it."

"By Jove, now, that's a damned mean trick. I'm mounted. Beastly annoying. I say, would you untie that hitch rein?"

"I wouldn't touch it for $10. By the way, I'll just read this note of yours." Lord Bazelhurst nervously watched him as he read; his heart lightened perceptibly as he saw a good humored smile struggle to the tall young man's face. It was, however, with some misgiving that he studied the broad shoulders and powerful frame of the erstwhile partridge. "Very good of you, I'm sure, to warn me."

"Good of me? It was imperative, let me tell you, sir. No man can abuse my servants and trample all over my land and disturb my fish."

"Excuse me, but I haven't time to listen to all that. The note's sufficient. You've been practicing the running stunt until it looks well nigh perfect to me, so I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll step back thirty paces and then you come over and get the watch—if you're not afraid of me—and I'll promise—"

"Afraid? Demmit, sir, didn't I say I was Lord Bazelhurst? Of the guards, sir, and the Seventy-first? Confound him! You come over and get the watch and then see if you can get back to the horse and mount before I get to the log. If I beat you there, you lose, how's that?"

"I decline to make a fool of myself. Either you will restore my watch to me or I shall instantly go before the law."

"Afraid? Didn't I say I was Lord Bazelhurst?"

authorities and take out a warrant. I came to see you on business, sir, not folly. Lady Bazelhurst herself would have come had I been otherwise occupied, and I want to assure you of her contempt. You are a disgrace to her countrymen. If you ever put foot on our land I shall have you thrown into the river. Demmit, sir, it's no laughing matter. My watch, sir."

"Come and get it."

"Scalwag!"

"By George, do you know if you get too personal I will come over there?" Randolph Shaw advanced with a threatening scowl.

"Ha, ha!" laughed his lordship scornfully. "I dare you!" He turned his horse's head for home and moved off a yard or more. "Whoa! Curse you! This is the damdest horse to manage I've ever owned. Stand still, confound you! Whoa!"

"He'll stand if you stop flogging him."

"Hallow! Hey, Bazelhurst!" came a far distant voice. The adversaries glanced down the road and beheld two "It am Peulope Drake. But," she added quickly, "I am an enemy. I am Lord Bazelhurst's sister."

"You—you don't mean it?"

"Are you disappointed? I'm sorry. I am staggered and—a bit skeptical. There is no resemblance."

"I am a bit taller," she admitted carefully. "It isn't dreadfully immediate, is it, for one to hold converse with her capor? I am in your power, you see."

"On the contrary, it is quite the thing. The heroine always converses with the villain in books. She tells him what she thinks of him."

"But this isn't a book, and I'm not a heroine. I am the adventuresome. Will you permit me to explain my presence on your land?"

"No excuse is necessary. You were caught red handed, and you don't have to say anything to incriminate yourself further."

"But it is scarcely a hundred feet to our line. In a very few minutes I shall be hurled relentlessly from your land and may never have another chance to tell why I dared to venture over here. You see, you have a haunted house on your land, and I'm—"

"I see. The old Renwood cottage on the hill. Been deserted for years. Renwood brought his wife up here in the mountainous long ago and murdered her. She comes back occasionally, they say; mysterious noises and lights and all that. Well?"

"Well, I'm very much interested in spoils. In spite of the feud I rode over here for a peep at the house. Dear me, it's a desolate looking place. I don't go inside, of course. Why don't you tear it down?"

"And deprive the ghost of home and home? That would be heartless. Besides, it serves as an attraction to bring visitors to my otherwise solitary place. I'm terribly sorry the fortunes of war prevent me from offering to take you through the house. But as long as you remain in Bazelhurst—I can't neglect my vow—of course, I don't mean to say that you can't come and do what you please over here, but you shall be recognized and treated as a trespasser."

"Oh, that's just splendid! Perhaps I'll come tomorrow."

"I shall be obliged to escort you from the grounds, you know."

"Yes, I know," she said agreeably. He looked dazed and delighted. "Of course I shall come with stealth and darkness. Not even my brother shall know of my plans."

"Certainly not," he said with alacrity. (They were nearing the log.) "Depend on me."

"Depend on you? Your only duty is to secure me off the place."

"That's what I mean. I'll keep sharp watch for you up at the haunted house."

"It's more than a mile from the log," she advised him.

"Yes, I know," said he, with his friendliest smile. "By the way, would you mind doing your brother a favor, Miss Drake? Give him this watch. He or he must have dogged it while pursuing me."

"You can?" She accepted the watch with surprise and interest.

"You come over and get the watch

(Continued on page 7.)

POSITIONS

DO YOU WANT ONE? Let us prepare you and secure for you a responsible, permanent, paying position. We are preparing and placing hundreds of our students annually. WHY NOT YOU? It is sure and certain. If you fail you are to blame.

OUR BEAUTIFUL CATALOG

Tell all about our work. You should see it to appreciate it. Drop us a card and it will be sent free. Lists of hundreds of students at work, also sent. Time is money. Don't wait. We place more young men and women annually as accountants and stenographers than any other two schools combined in Western Michigan. Let us mail you the proof. Railway fare allowed. Opportunities to work for board. Begin now.

McLachlan University
110-118 PEARL ST.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

Are You on Salary? THEN SAVE

It is possible that luck may play an important part in the quick making of fortunes, but it has nothing to do with fortunes accumulated from the savings of labor.

A bank account, however, will be of assistance and the young man or woman who will take this method saving from his or her salary will eventually reach the desired goal.

This bank welcomes the accounts of those people who are working on salary and have a desire to save a part of it.

We not only safeguard your money against fire loss or theft, but we also allow you 4 per cent interest for the use of it.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

New Coal and Wood Heating Stoves

Coal Stoves that Burn the Smoke
Oil Heating and Cook Stoves

Stove Boards Oil Cloth Rugs
Coal Hods and Sifters

Potato Forks and Hoes
Corn Knives Corn Rope

POTATO AND APPLE CRATES BASKETS MEASURES
Tin, Enameled and Aluminum Ware

Fishing Tackle

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 200-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instruction for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.

THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Silverware

Don't buy Silverware until you see my Goods and get my Prices

C. R. BELLINGER
Pioneer Jeweler

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year $1.00
One copy, six months75
Five copies, three months50

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and
entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Ordinary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 2 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

DURING the past few months we have devoted considerable space to the subject of equal suffrage, which will be voted upon by the voters of Michigan this fall. We believe it one of the most important subjects ever submitted to the electorate and not only desire to give our readers all the information possible, but are seekers after information ourselves. We cannot see where the granting to women of full suffrage would do any harm, but, on the contrary, believe that it might be a vast benefit if women would only exercise the privilege when granted to them. Advocates of the measure assert that if given the ballot, women will immediately proceed to clean-up on conditions which we all deplore, but fail to explain why, after they have had full suffrage in several states for years, conditions are no better than in the other states of the Union. In Michigan for years the right has been granted women of voting at school meetings but the small attendance, of both men and women, at these meetings has been disgraceful.

In Charlevoix county last August, we had a very important question submitted to the electors, upon which both men and women were entitled to vote, the question of whether or not we should build good roads at once. Surely nothing would promote the welfare of our community more than the bettering of our means of transportation and yet a surprisingly small number of Charlevoix county women, possessed of the necessary qualifications, cared enough about voting to go to the polls.

As we stated before we believe that the granting of suffrage rights to women might be, and would be, of vast benefit to the community if they would exercise that right and while they seem to neglected to do so in the past we don't see where it would do any harm.

Charlevoix County Honored.

At the Democratic state convention held at Grand Rapids last week, Dr. G. W. Cronier was nominated as one of the presidential electors from this district. The honor is well deserved as the doctor has long upheld the banner of his party in this strong Republican locality.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS
Meets at Carnegie Library at noon.
All men invited to attend.

His Luck.

"The birthstone is supposed to control our destinies. Now, what is your birthstone?"
"Jndging from my life experience I am inclined to believe it is a brickbat."
—Exchange.

Courier rates on application.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Farm Dairying

Dutch Belted Bull

VII.—Feeding and Watering Cows—The Silo.

By LAURA ROSE,
Demonstrator and Lecturer in Dairying
at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Canada.

Copyright, 1911, by A. C. McClurg & Co.
If we are to get adequate returns from our cows we must give them at all times all the feed they can consume profitably. Palatableness is a feature which cannot be overlooked. Cows like succulent food. Grass is their natural and ideal diet. In substituting, we ought to come as near to it as we can. Corn silage is the best and cheapest and most easily handled succulent food.

Variety in the cow's ration is also desirable, and so roots, mangels, carrots, sugar beets, one or all, should be provided. A mixture of pulped roots and silage is better than either fed alone.

If from some failure, no succulent food is available, cut good oat straw moisten it with water, sprinkle over it a little salt and let stand awhile. This makes it palatable, and if some meal be added to it cows will readily eat a considerable quantity. Shredded or cut cornstalks may be put into a silo and steamed or moistened and thus made more acceptable and digestible, but this is a poor substitute for good silage.

If it is a good mixed meal one pound of meal to every four pounds of silage given by the cow is considered about right. Cows giving a good flow of milk usually get from five to ten pounds of meal per day. Several kinds of grain mixed together are better than feeding one straight grain, but if the feed to one choose chopped oats. Equal parts of oats, peas, barley and bran make an excellent and cheap mixture. Some of the more concentrated foods, such as oil cake, cottonseed meal or gluten meal may be substituted or added.

Best Method of Feeding.

The best method of feeding is to prepare in the morning enough feed for two meals, mixing the cut straw, silage and pulped roots together in a pile in the feed room adjoining the stable. Let this stand several hours before feeding. Put the meal on top of this roughage when in the manger.

Feed twice a day, giving all the cows will eat up clean in two hours. After that time the mangers may be cleaned out. A little long hay may be given immediately after the morning and evening feed or at noon. Have the intervals between feeds of equal length. In case of heavy milkers, where they are milked more than twice a day, they should be fed after each milking.

Salt should always be before them. A lump of rock salt may be kept in the manger. It makes them drink more, a desirable thing, and makes the cream easier to churn.

Some cows have the habit of chewing bones, wood, etc. Give them a small handful of fine hardwood ashes in the feed two or three times a week. Such a habit denotes a lack of mineral matter.

Cows on good grass do not need any grain unless in exceptional cases where a record is to be made. Sometimes just a pint or two of meal put in the manger is a good bait to bring the cows willingly from the pasture to the stable to be milked. When they are on the rich, fresh grass of early summer, which is very laxative, a little cottonseed meal may be given as a corrective. The meal will improve the butter by adding firmness.

A change of pasture is good both for the pasture and the cows. If there is no shade in the pasture the cows should, if possible, be kept indoors during the hottest hours of the day. Bring them in at noon and give them a feed of silage or meal, then turn them out after the evening milking.

Where most dairymen need to improve is in providing food for the cows when the pasture gets short and dry. A small silo to open for summer feeding is coming much in vogue and taking the place of a mowing crop. Any change from one food to another should be gradual.

A few apples may be safely given, but if fed in large quantities they will give a peculiar flavor to the milk. Sour apples are supposed to have a tendency to dry up the milk. When potatoes are cheap and plentiful they may be fed to cows, but are more profitable when boiled and given to pigs. Carrots appear to exercise a specific action on the milk glands and cause an increased secretion of milk. Cows are very fond of cabbage. If the cabbage is sound and a limited amount fed after milking, no serious objection is found to the milk. In feeding all such foods care must be taken of the quality will be of flavored.

A ration is the amount of food necessary for a cow for one day. A balanced ration is one in which the carbohydrates, fat and protein are in the right proportion to each other. One pound of digestible protein to six pounds of digestible carbohydrates and fats is considered about right.

Alfalfa is one of God's greatest gifts to the dairyman. For feeding value it comes nearer to grain than to hay. With plenty of corn silage and alfalfa hay very little grain is needed to keep up a good milk flow. One ton of whole alfalfa hay is said to equal one ton of wheat bran in food value.

Clover hay is one of the easiest crops on our land, is excellent in food value as a milk producer and a good food to give well flavored milk and butter. Any objectionable flavor found in rank clover pasture is overcome in the well cured hay. Next to clover might be placed hay made of peas and oats.

To have prime oat straw for feeding it is wise to cut the oats a little on the green side.

Nothing will prove more profitable than a patch of sweet corn for feeding for the cows. Plant it early in a convenient place. Plant thinly so as to have good strong corn. Sugar cane or common field corn also makes good autumn feed.

Into every hundred pounds of milk the cow puts eighty-seven pounds of water. A cow to keep up a heavy milk flow must have all the clean, pure water she can drink. The average milking cow will take from eighty to a hundred pounds of water per day. We should induce the cow to drink plenty. The best way is to have water always before her. If this is not convenient she should get water twice a day.

It is out of the question to talk of tempering the water, but if the child could be removed the cows would certainly drink more.

Salt convenient for the cows in creases their thirst.

Cement Silos Popular.

The cement silo is growing steadily in favor. It is comparatively easy to construct and has a nice appearance on a farm. The silage keeps perfectly if the corn silage is in good condition.

The primary principle in the making of silage is the exclusion of air in order to prevent decay; therefore not only the walls of the silo, but the doors must be perfectly air tight.

The walls should not only be tight and rigid, but they should also be smooth and straight on the inside to permit the silage to settle without forming pockets.

The majority of silos being built have a continuous door which makes it very convenient for emptying the silo. Two ply boards should be used for the door with tar paper or heavy building paper between and on the edges. Doors on hinges are objectionable.

The deeper the silo the greater the pressure and the larger amount of corn

A SILO IN THE FIELD FOR SUMMER FEEDING.

can be stored per cubic foot. A silo should not be less than thirty feet deep nor more than twelve or fourteen in diameter.
For a herd of twenty-five cows a round silo fifteen feet inside diameter and thirty feet high would be about right, or it may be 12 by 40. This size will hold a little more than a hundred tons, which allows four tons of silage per cow, which is about right.

Importance of Silage.

The kind of corn to grow for filling the silo will depend on the locality. To avoid frost early maturing varieties should be selected.

When to cut is an important question. Better to have the corn a little over-ripe than on the green side.
One may begin feeding as soon after the silo is filled as is desired. Good silage has a not unpleasant acid smell, a slightly sweetish, fermented taste and should be a brownish-green color and free from rot or mold.

If a portion of the silage around the silo becomes frozen it is more of an inconvenience than a loss. It should be mixed with that from the center of the silo to allow it to thaw before being fed.

An acre of ground should produce from twelve to fifteen tons of silage in a good season. The cost from the filling of the silo for the seed to the time the corn is in the silo is estimated at from $2 to $2.50 per ton.

The importance of silage as a succulent, coarse food for all kinds of cattle cannot be overestimated. Next to corn clover is considered the best crop to use for silage.

Alfalfa is being used for silage with equal success, being still richer than clover in protein.

Cowpeas, soy beans, sorghum and various other plants are successfully used to fill the silo.

Har Cloverest Moments.

"She's so vivacious and witty."
"Yes, especially when somebody else is slugging." Chicago Record-Herald

Special for

Saturday, October 5, '12

LADIES' SWEATERS

$6.00 Value at $3.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

VANPELT BLOCK

Keep Comfortable

Cold frosty mornings are apt to be the rule most any time now, and the prudent man prepares to keep both himself and his horses from suffering and catching cold. We have the goods and guarantee that our prices are as low as first class goods can be sold at.

FUR COATS HORSE BLANKETS SHEEP-LINED COATS

While you are about it look at what we are offering in Heavy TEAM HARNESS, hand made and made for service.

FRANK CHAMBERLIN

Shea's Old Stand

Bridge Street

Sunday in the Churches

CATHOLIC CHURCH
Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.
High Mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Other services announced the Sunday previous.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Morning service 10:30. (Communion Service) Subject, "The Second Coming of Christ."
Sunday school 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Topic, "Christian Virtues, Humility." Leader, Miss Florence Randolph.
Evening service at 7:30.
Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion town hall. Everybody welcome.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Unreality."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Morning service at 10:30.
Sunday school at noon.
Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.
Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

ORDER EASTERN STAR

Charlevoix Lodge Installed Officers at Meeting Held Wednesday Night.

The following officers were installed at the last meeting of Charlevoix Lodge, No. 72, O. E. S., held last Wednesday night:
Worthy Matron—Minnie Glassford.

Worthy Matron—Henry C. Cooper.
Associate Matron—Hattie Jelleries.
Conductress—Eva Ackert.
Associate Conductress—Alice Miller.

Secretary—Clara Todd.
Treasurer—Lottie Markham.
Chaplain—Emma Geiken.
Marshall—Jennie Price.
Aid—Anna Lombard.
Ruth—Myrtle Young.
Elder—Lavina Akerst.
Electa—Corra Pugh.
Warder—Lydia Ahlbeck.
Organist—Anna Howland.
Sentinel—Frank Glassford.

Is Your Purse Full?

YOUR farm is the purse from which you take the necessities and luxuries of life. What provision are you making to keep your purse full—to insure a constant supply of food, clothing, heat, light, and protection? No soil can produce constant yearly crops without an adequate supply of plant food. It is easier, and far cheaper, to maintain a fertile condition of the soil than it is to build it up after it is once exhausted. Be wise—begin now to use faithfully an

IHC Manure Spreader

Kemp 20th Century, Corn King, Cloverleaf, Steel Corn King, Steel Cloverleaf, Low Lift, Low Spread, Newlow

Distribute stable manure and saturated bedding while it is still fresh. Make the quantity of manure usually spread by the fork do twice the amount of good by distributing it with an IHC spreader, leaving the ground more evenly fertilized, and in greatly improved condition. The driving mechanism of the IHC spreader is strong and thoroughly protected. The aprons, both endless and return, run on large rollers. The feed is positive. The manure is spread evenly, light or heavy as may be necessary, the quantity spread never changing until the feed is changed.

See the IHC local dealer and have him show you the spreader best suited to your needs. Get catalogues and full information from him, or, write

International Harvester Company of America

Grand Rapids Mich.

IHC Service Bureau

The purpose of this Bureau is to furnish, free of charge to all, the best information obtainable in regard to IHC products. If you have any queries, questions, or suggestions, please write to the IHC Service Bureau, Harvester Building, Chicago, U.S.A.

SHOE SALE

We are offering Shoes at Prices that must command your attention. Now is the time to fit up your Children with School Shoes that will stand the Hardships of the playground. We offer:

Children's shoes from	25c to $1.25
Misses' shoes from	85c to $2.50
Youth's shoes from	$1 to $1.75
Boys' shoes from	$1.50 to $2.50
Men's Water-proof shoes bargains for	$3.00
Men's work shoes from	$1.50 to $3.00
Ladies' gun metal button shoes, from	$2.00 to $3.00

You don't have to be told the quality of the goods we offer. Our reputation is established.

S. Orlowski & Son

Steamer City of Boyne Thrued to Water's Edge at Boyne City Thursday Morning at 4:30 A. M.

H. S. Star has purchased the Parish property, known as the Cement block house on West Garfield avenue.

Cleland and Almie Mayne and Hing Hampton left Saturday for Ann Arbor to resume their studies at the U. of M.

Miss Rose Zettler returned Saturday from East Jordan where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. James Votruba.

Mrs. Norton and daughter, Helen, returned Friday to Wayne, after a short visit with Mrs. Lamertox and daughter, Edith.

Mrs. C. Holman Dewitt left for her home last week at Chicago, after spending the summer with Dr. Brown and family.

A number of gentlemen friends gathered at the home of Lyle Shannan Saturday night to remind him of his 37th birthday.

Mrs. Fred Myers was removed here the latter part of the week from Potoskey. Her condition remains about the same.

About thirty couple attended the Moose dance given at the Bank Hall, Friday evening. Music was given by the Barrett orchestra.

J. W. Webb of Chicago, who has been a summer resident of Potoskey for twenty-seven seasons, dropped dead in that city, Friday afternoon.

Leslie and Percy Crane, Will Mitchell and Robert Bridge left Friday for Ann Arbor where they will take up work at the university.

Cleo Aymer left Saturday for Saginaw, Vassar and Detroit. He expects to locate at the latter place and Mrs. Aymer will follow in a few weeks.

Ray Faulkner and son Raymond left Sunday for their home in Chicago, the former spending the past week with his parents, R. N. Faulkner and wife.

The Lena Knobloch which ran out of Traverse City all summer is now on the Boyne City route, taking the place of the City of Boyne which burned last week.

An anti party consisting of Harry Bowen and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Porter of Potoskey passed through the city this morning on a two weeks' trip to Indiana.

Word has been received here announcing the birth of a son to C. J. Miller and wife of Shepherd, Michigan. Mr. Miller was a high school teacher here year before last.

Mr. Rowe returned Sunday to his home at Mount Pleasant after giving two very interesting talks on woman suffrage. Upon arriving home Monday he found a new son awaiting him.

Mrs. S. L. Godfrey leaves tomorrow for Grand Rapids where she will purchase a new supply of art needle work. She has moved her goods to Mrs. R. M. A. Johnston's home on Park avenue.

Sunday morning the Methodist church was flooded, caused by some of the pipes having been left disconnected. The carpets had to be taken up and the piano removed but nothing was totally destroyed.

L. E. Smith, F. A. Butler, Richard Lewis and R. A. Emrey drove to East Jordan, Sunday, in the latter's car to attend the funeral of the one year old son of R. A. Brintnall, who died Saturday from an unknown cause.

Judge Harris was stricken with a bad attack of heart disease shortly after ten o'clock Thursday morning. Doctors were called immediately and the judge was able to come to Charlevoix and attend to his official duties as usual Monday.

Rev. Quinton Walker, and family the new Methodist pastor, arrived in the city Monday. Mr. Walker has been pastor for the past four years at Clare. He will return to Clare Friday night to attend a farewell reception. The usual services will be held at the Methodist church next Sunday.

Art Needlework Materials. Madams Godfrey & Johnston have moved their stock of D. M. C. notions and art materials to the cottage, 102 Park Avenue where they will continue business. New cross-stitch and filet books. Mail orders receive prompt attention. Godfrey & Johnston. Advertisement 4014

FOOT BALL SEASON OPENED

Last Saturday at East Jordan--Charlevoix losing to Home Team.

Next Saturday Charlevoix Will Play Boyne City on Home Grounds.

Last Saturday Charlevoix played East Jordan the first foot ball game of the season. It was played on the latter's grounds and was a good clean game, full of excitement from start to finish. No brilliant plays were made in the first quarter but the quickness with which our boys (most of whom were playing their first real game) adapted themselves to their work was remarkable.

In the second as well as in the third quarter the J. rantes managed to make a touch down and kicked goal each time. In the last quarter with only three minutes to play and with the ball in East Jordan's possession only twenty yards from their goal their quarterback fumbled the ball. Taylor of Charlevoix secured it and running the length of the field made a touch-down. Captain Durance kicked goal and the game ended with the score 7 to 14 in East Jordan's favor.

Saturday October 5, Charlevoix will play Boyne City on the home grounds. Come out and see the boys win.

FOR ENCAMPMENT

R. Hansen Offers to Give State 15,000 Acres of Land Near Grayling.

According to R. G. Appleby, of Saginaw, a member of the state commission, appointed by Governor Osborn to select a permanent site for the state encampment of the National Guards, R. Hansen, a prominent lumberman of Grayling, has offered free 15,000 acres in Roscommon county, on the banks of Portage lake, to the state.

This site is situated on the Michigan Central and can be reached also by the Manistee & Northeastern railroad. The site is 7,000 acres larger than any yet offered. The commission at present is considering the matter. It is asserted that in that section of the state the weather conditions are very moderate and there is excellent water in abundance.

R. J. Smidberg, Merchant of Copper City, Michigan, says: "For a good many years we have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in our family. It will quickly cure a cough or cold and we consider it a safe and sure cure." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Nictall, Proprietor. Advertisement.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head. 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 100 first insertion.

FOR SALE—Noble hot air furnace, in good condition. Dr. F. R. Wilkinson. 401

HOUSE FOR RENT—Furnished or unfurnished. Inquire of Mrs. B. W. Miller. 501

FOR SALE—Three sets, shoe laces, in good condition. Will sell cheap. Inquire at Palace Clothing Store. 401

FOR SALE—Cheap for cash. Hyatt and gray more and eat three months old. Inquire of Lincoln Ford, Bay Shore, Michigan. 242

FOR RENT—Furnished modern house. Park Avenue, corner, two bath rooms. From now until May 1. Moderate rent. Enquire at this office. 842

HELP WANTED—Blacksmith, must be good horse-shoer. Good wages. Write full particulars. J. S. Morrison Estate, State Savings Bank Building, Lansing, Michigan county, Michigan. 242

FARM FOR SALE—One hundred and six-acre farm three and one-half miles southwest of Bay Shore. Good land, but house, good barn, windmill, 20 acres cleared. Sylvester Miller, Bay Shore, Mich. 401

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

John Mitchell visited relatives at Boyne City Sunday.

Miss Maude Black visited friends at Potoskey Sunday.

G. W. Cronter, wife and son George left today for Victoria, B. C.

Ellis Jones of Johannesburg, is visiting relatives in the city.

A. E. Cross, of East Jordan was a business caller here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Metcalf visited friends at Potoskey last week.

Oswald Rowbottom, of Sault Ste. Marie, spent Tuesday in the city.

Mr. Chatterton of Mt. Pleasant is in the city on business this week.

Henry Partridge left Saturday for Ypsilanti where he will enter school.

Mrs. Noble has returned from a few days business visit to Chicago.

George Johnson and wife spent Monday on business at East Jordan.

Mrs. M. E. Heston of East Jordan was a caller here the first of the week.

Elias Oliver of Britton, Michigan, is visiting at the home of Frank Reed.

George Eagleton made a brief business visit to Traverse City today.

Potoskey will lay twenty-three blocks of pavement the coming season.

Lacy Oldham has returned from an extended visit with relatives in Minnesota.

Harry A. Stevens of Central Lake was a business caller here the first of the week.

Glenn Ellis of Potoskey visited with Henry Jacobs and family the first of the week.

Miss Mahel Poole left Thursday for Cincinnati, Ohio, where she will spend the winter.

Call Up 125

and let us convince you that we appreciate

Your Patronage

By the service we give

QUALITY AND PRICES

That Cannot Be Beat

Van Allsburg's Market
Corner Antrim and State Streets

Get $5 Free
Get $10 Free
Get $15 Free

$5.00 For the best Loaf of Bread from IRON DUKE
$5.00 For the best Loaf of Bread from WHITE ROSE
$5.00 For the best baking of Biscuits from either.

CONDITIONS

Bread or Biscuits to be exhibited October 12, at Retail Merchants' Vegetable Exhibition, Charlevoix. Retail Merchants to appoint judges.

Argo Milling Co.

The Problem Solved If You Buy a Florence Stove

The most wonderful heater of the Age for Soft Coal. Smoke, Gas and Clinkers are consumed in its operation.

The Florence will burn soft coal with the same regularity and cleanliness as hard coal and a steady, even temperature may be maintained at less than half the cost of hard coal.

The most Economical Stove on earth. Buying one is an investment—earning money all the time.

Remember it is not the original cost of a stove, but what it costs to operate it that counts.

Investigate and learn what the Florence is. You can not realize it unless you do. Ask us what your neighbors who have had Florence stoves for three or four years think of this stove.

The prices on Florence Stoves are—

$17.50 to $30
For the Largest Size

Charlevoix Hardware Company

Before Purchasing your

Winter Underwear

we would be pleased to have you call and examine our line, now on display. We carry the celebrated

Athena Underwear

For Women and Children

The prices are no higher than you would have to for Ordinary Garments and they give much better satisfaction. We would be pleased to show them to you.

Bergeon's
Dry Goods Store

WE OFFER

the services of 11 Teachers and the use of the latest equipment for training Young Men and Women to earn good salaries in business. Our New Catalogue, exclusive, Send us a post card request for a copy. It will show you something about the oldest, yet most modern business school in our state. Address: Detroit Business University, 25 West Grand River Ave., Detroit, Mich. E. R. SLAW, President.

C. ROSS BROWNELL

TEACHER OF PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE
Fourteen Years Experience
Mason-Sherwood Technique
Methods Granted Certificate Studies in Ten Grades
Class limited to Twenty
Permanent Studio 301 State Street
B. W. Miller House
In Charlevoix Mondays-Tuesdays

FOR ONE WEEK
October 5 to 12
Including Two Saturdays

J. L. CRANE
Charlevoix - Michigan

SEE THE NEW STYLES
October 5 to 12
And Secure Some Bargains

FALL OPENING SALE

Women's New Fall Cloaks

"What's going to be worn" in cloaks will be completely settled by your visit to this department. A complete showing of every desirable new style, from the extreme to the more "staple" styles are now on exhibition. Prices are most fair in each instance.

Heavy Kersey Coats, belted back in the latest effects price..... $6.00
Carmel Coats in full length, black, all sizes price..... $10.00
Extra heavy long Coats from plain Mackinaw cloth, belted back. Durable and warm coat $15.00
Famous "Wooltex" Coats in all the leading styles and cloths. The best in the market..... $15 to $27.50

Our annual opening and exhibition of Fall styles and new creations in merchandise will begin Saturday, October 5, and continue until Saturday evening, October 12. In addition to being an interesting exhibition of new Fall styles this will also be a Special Bargain Sale Event

in which each section of the store will participate. Each section will contribute one or more bargains in brand new merchandise specially bought for this occasion in the New York Market.

The main object of this Fall Opening Sale is to acquaint you with the correct styles and the newest conceptions for this coming season—"What's going to be worn"—and in addition to induce early choosing. It is a great benefit to us to have our customers buy early in the season, as it aids us in regulating our stocks, and to this end we offer early buyers many bargain inducements, some of which are exemplified below. Again much of the merchandise styles offered at this Opening Sale is in small exclusive lot that will not be duplicated again after these are gone, thus those who desire it are assured of getting that "Something Different" which is so much prized by many people. We tell below more specifically of some of the new things.

Special Values From Our Various Departments

Specials in Fall's Newest Skirts

A special purchase of separate skirts for this Fall Opening Sale, to be sold at prices exceedingly low. Each one is in the latest correct style and the sale prices in no way represent the real value.

Lot 1 comprises wool panama skirt in black, brown and navy with diagonal lap, front and button trimmed, at..... $2.95
Lot 2, Whipcord serge and fancy stripe materials with straight and diagonal lap fronts, button trimmed. A fine garment, at..... $3.95

Silk and Satin Petticoats

Special Values in the new Fall Styles
Mercerized Satine, plaited flounce, all sizes price..... 45c
Moire Skirting Petticoats, corded effect flounce. Very special value. Black only..... 98c Soft finish silky satin Petticoats, Elite top fastening, black, brown, navy, green. Very fine garment $1.50
"Smooth Set" silk Petticoats, the acme of style and taste in plain and changeable mesalines. Black, brown, navy, green, etc.

$2.85, $3, $3.50, $5

Furs

The most complete line of Furs ever shown in our city. Particular care has been taken to matched sets and correct styles.

Brown Coney Scarf and Muff set soft and silky per set..... $10.00
Blue China Wolf Scarf and Muff set, a durable set..... $10.00
Black Russian Wolf set, scarf and muff..... $15.00
Black Belgian Coney Scarf and Muff set..... $14.00
Natural Wolf set, large muff and scarf..... $45.00
Genuine Beaver Muff and Scarf set, large size muff per set..... $50.00

Corset Cover Embroid'y

18 inch C. C. Embroidery in variety of patterns. A great value per yard..... 15c
Not over two yards to a customer

Dressing Sacques

Flannelette, all over figures and floral patterns, scalloped edge, assorted colors, all sizes..... 19c

Way's Mufflers

Genuine Way and Mercerized Mufflers, the greatest value possible. All colors price..... 18c
Secure these while you can at this price

Silk and Satin Short L'ths

1 to 3 yard pieces. Silks worth up to $1.00 yard. Line of colors..... 15c

Outings

Special purchase of Heavy Persian Twill, plain color outings. Blue, pink, cream, white. 10 yards only to a customer, per yard..... 8 1/2c

Gingham Aprons

Large size Gingham Kitchen Aprons, blue and white check. A special from our recent purchases..... 15c

Special Notion Sale

Extra heavy Barretts, medium size and finely finished each..... 10c
Extra heavy Side Combs. A finely finished comb in just the right size, pair..... 10c
Mending Cotton in balls. Black only per ball..... 1c
Handkerchiefs—Women and Children's plain white H. S. Handkerchiefs. 3 to a customer. Each..... 1c
Handkerchiefs—Men's full size plain white H. S. Handkerchiefs. 3 to a customer. Each..... 3c
Cotton Tape, black or white, all sizes and a bargain per roll..... 1c

Women's Hand Bags

Black grained, embossed Hand Bags, 9 inch frame, full lined. Strap handle..... 19c

Crash Toweling

Superior Linen, family toweling unbleached. A fine value per yard..... 7 1/2c

NEW FALL DRESS GOODS

In the language of the trade "dress-goods business is picking up." We have more new dress goods to show this season than we had either last Spring or last Fall. Some of the fabrics were bought in small quantities of each design in order to give our early shoppers exclusiveness in their new Fall costumes. Whipcords are very prominent this season and are a very satisfactory fabric. We carry them in several grades.

36-inch wool Whipcords in browns, greys, black, navy, white and reds per yard..... 50c
45-inch wool Whipcords in tans, greens, navy, browns, black and cardinal, per yard..... $1.00
36-inch Storm Serges. A most durable dress material in the full line of staple colors, per yard..... 50c
50-inch Storm Serges in navy-blue, standard goods per yard..... $1, $1.25, $1.50

Our Corset Section's Fall Showing

Now complete with the new designs adapted to this Fall's predicted fashion needs. Sizes are complete in all lines for both slender and stout figures. Consult the head of our Corset section about your corset needs.

W. B. Niform Styles 50c, $1, $1.50, $2
W. B. Redus Styles, stout figures at..... $3
Nemo Self-reducing Corsets at..... $3
J. C. C. corded side rival price..... $2
J. C. C. long hip. Coutil price..... 50c
R. W. low bust long hip..... $1.50
R. B. Med. 1/2 in. long Jean..... 25c

Flannelette Gowns

A special purchase of Gowns enables us to offer you the following great values

Mother Hubbard style, striped outing gowns, turn-over collar, braided trimmed..... 38c
Two-tone Mother Hubbard style, heavy flannelette, plain trimmed, full made, tasty colors..... 50c
"Comfort" style, extra quality heavy outing gowns, plain white, blue or pink. Superior make and trim. A very desirable garment..... $1.00
Children's Mother Hubbard style, striped outing gowns. Chain stitched and trimmed..... 50c
One lot 36 x 70 Axminster Rugs This sale each..... $2.55

Blankets and Comforts

Two special values direct from the Eastern Mills.

64x72 heavy fleeced Bed Blankets, tan, white or grey per pair..... 95c
62x72 Silkoline covered, cotton filled Comfortable price..... $1.00

New Rug Specials

A fortunate purchase of carpet size Rugs enables us to make these two special values

9x12 seamless, heavy, Tapestry Rugs Oriental designs price..... $13.50
9x12 Berwick, extra Tapestry Rug small Oriental patterns price..... $14.50

New Fall Sweaters

A recent shipment of Sweaters brings our assortment to a complete stock

Ladies' heavy worsted face Sweater Coats, V-neck, solid Oxford color. A wonderful value. All sizes..... 78c
Ladies' high-collared, plain Sweater, Webber made, splendid fitting garment. White, grey and red..... $3.00
Ruff neck, fine knit Ladies' Sweaters, Vassar made, an excellent garment. White, grey and red..... $5.00
Slaker Knit, ruff neck, extra heavy Webber Sweater. Splendid heavy garment. Grey, red and white..... $6.00
Misses Sweaters Good values price..... $1, $1.50, $2
Children's Sweaters Good values price..... 50c and $1.00

Lace Curtains 1/2 Price

Single pairs and odd Lace and Mull Curtains. Perfect Goods only odd Lots. Come in and see them.

...Half Regular Price...

On Saturday, October 12, '12

Prize Farm Products Day

Of the Retail Merchant's Association we offer

Special for That Day Only—October 12

White and fancy Table Oil Cloth 1 1/2 x 2 yard lengths, one length only to a customer, at 8c

Linoleum Specials

Genuine Inlaid Linoleum, 2 yards wide per square yard..... 88c

Genuine Wild's Linoleum, 2 yards wide per square yard..... 50c

12 foot wide Cook's heavy Linoleum, per square yard..... 65c

Pleasant Valley Teas

50 60 80

You'll say it's the best cup of tea you ever tasted when you try Pleasant Valley.

They have a delicate flavor and at the same time brace the tired nerves.

Our Coffees are of equal merit to the Pleasant Valley Teas.

We have four brands.

Nero . . . 30c
Marigold . . 32c
Tzar . . . 35c
Pleasant Valley 40c

Tzar Coffee is especially recommended. It has a smooth, rich flavor and its fragrance is, in itself, a great factor in the sale of it. The aroma, which is a sign of freshness, is retained by reason of the air-tight packages in which Tzar Coffee is delivered to you. Why not order a trial of Pleasant Valley Tea and Pleasant Valley Coffee and get into the habit of using the best?

Mrs. B. W. Miller
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Cowardice Court

By
GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON

Copyright, 1906, Dodd, Mead & Co.

(Continued from page 6.)

"Here is the line, Miss Drake," he evaded. "Consider yourself ignominiously ejected. Have I been unnecessarily rough and expeditious?"

"You have had a long and tiresome walk," she said, settling herself for a merry ellip. "Please don't stop on our side." He released the bridle rein and doffed his hat.

"I shall bring my horse tomorrow," he remarked significantly.

"I may bring the duke," she said sweetly.

"In that case I shall have to bring an extra man to lead his horse. It won't matter."

"So this rock is the dividing line?" "Yes; you are on the safe side now—and so am I, for that matter. The line is here," and he drew a broad line in the dust from one side of the road to the other. "My orders are that you are not to ride across that line at your peril."

"And you are not to cross it either at your peril?"

"Do you dare me?" with an eager step forward.

"Goodby!"

"Goodby! I say, are you sure you can find the Redwood cottage?" he called after her. The answer came back through the clatter of hoofs, accompanied by a smile that seduced his self-possession.

"I shall find it in time."

For a long time he stood watching her as she rode down the road.

"At my peril," he mused, shaking his head with a queer smile. "By George, that's fair warning enough. She's beautiful."

At dinner that night the Hon. Penelope restored the veto to her brother, much to his embarrassment, for he had told the duke it was being repaired in town.

"It wasn't this watch that I meant, old chap," he announced irreverently to the duke, quite red in the face. "Where did you find it, Pen?" She caught the plea in his eye and responded loyally.

"You dropped it, I daresay, in pursuing Mr. Shaw."

The positive radiance which followed dimmed in his watery eyes convinced her beyond all doubt that her brother's encounter with the tall Mr. Shaw was not quite creditable to Razelhurst arms.

She listened with positive indifference to the oft-repeated story of how he had routed the "insufferable cat," encouraged by the support of champagne and the softened approval of two eye-witnesses. She could not repress the mixed feelings of scorn, shame and pity, as she surveyed the array of men who so mercilessly flayed the healthy, fair-faced young man with a gentle strength.

The house party had been augmented during the day by the arrival of a full dozen men and women from the city, brain-fagged, listless and smart. The big cottage now was full, the company complete for three weeks at least. She looked ahead, this fresh, vigorous young Englishwoman, and wondered how she was to endure the staidness of life.

There was some relief in the thought that the men would make love to the good-looking young married women—at least part of the time—and—but it

"Here is the line, Miss Drake," depressed her in turn to think of the leftover husbands who would make love to her.

"Why is it that Evelyn doesn't have real men here—like this Mr. Shaw?" she found herself wondering vaguely as the night wore on.

(Continued next week.)

Hemp as Weed Killer.

On the prison farm at Waukegan, Wis., a field of three and a half acres was infested with quack grass and Canada thistles. It was sown in hemp to test that crop as a weed eradicator. The seed was sown at the rate of a bushel per acre. It yielded $118 worth of hemp and killed all the thistles and nearly all the quack—Farm and Fire side.

Horse Collars Should Fit.

It is well worth while to have a perfect fitting collar for each work horse. Collars should not be changed from one horse to another unless the collar is fitted to the second horse. A good method for fitting collars is to wet them until they become soft and pliable, then put the collar on the horse, Kansas Farmer.

The Courier-Examiner advertising plan has never failed to please its many patrons. Investigate.

Coming To Charlevoix

The Most Eminent Specialist in America Will Visit Charlevoix

Thursday, Oct. 3

One Day Only Each Visit

OFFICES AT Baker's Inn

Consult the Wonderful Herb Specialist FREE.

He asks no questions but tells you instantly just what ails you. To introduce himself to the people of this vicinity he will give consultation and treatments for the case FREE to all who call.

All that is asked in return is that you will state to your friends the results obtained.

2. Don't fail to call on the eminent specialist and have it forever settled in your mind just what your troubles are. No matter what your disease may be, no matter what others have told you, if sick or ailing don't fail to call and get the benefit of this wonderful knowledge. A visit will cost you nothing and may save your life.

If you are afflicted with deafness, catarrh, rheumatism, stomach, liver, kidney, bladder, or nervous trouble, be sure to call.

Weak and sickly men and women made strong and vigorous.

Remember, not a penny will be charged for consultation and treatments for the case to all who call during this visit. All those who do not take advantage of this free offer will be charged the regular price an future visits.

Remember the date and call early as my office is always crowded. I will visit this place regularly every four weeks.

Farm and Garden

WOOD LOTS AND RAINFALL.

Stand of Trees Valuable in Themselves and For Conservation of Moisture.

No intelligent farmer should require an argument to induce him to surround his farm buildings with enough trees to give him a windbreak in winter and a cool retreat in summer, says the Farm Press. It may require some demonstration, however, to convince him that he can afford to give up a few acres of seventy-five dollar land to plant a crop of timber. We will do our duty, nevertheless, by advising every man to put in at least 10 percent of his acreage to a permanent forest growth. While the trees are young he may utilize his land for tillage crops, like corn or potatoes, and before his trees are half matured he can begin thinning them for firewood or fenceposts or for other uses about the farm. When his trees have reached

STAND OF NORWAY SPRUCE.

[Norway spruce will do well on any moist soil, provided the soil is fairly well drained. It should not be planted on dry soil. Starting very slowly, its growth after the first few years is good. It will endure heavy shade and is therefore a good tree to use in planting land as ready partly wooded. It is able to grow on very shallow soil if such soil is moist.—Bulletin and Photograph From Department of Forestry, New York State College of Agriculture.]

a marketable size for lumber he will find them a permanent and profitable source of income. Black walnut trees, which grow to their maturity with one generation, have sold as high as $70 apiece, the wood being utilized for furniture.

Entirely aside and beyond the money value of a small forest tract and the luxury that the sight of it provides to every eye that beholds it is the fact that trees do draw moisture, and people who live in sections where the rainfall is uncertain will find their farms are likely to grow better crops and surer crops year after year as the acreage given to tree crops increases.

"FIVE PROFIT" CROPS.

Corn, alfalfa and clover are "five profit" crops. In other words, they will give five profits when wheat gives one. And wheat cannot give that one unless helped out by corn, alfalfa or clover.

The five profit crops are: First, the crop; second, preparation of the land for a crop of grain and the assurance of a crop of grain; third, the milk, butter, beef, eggs, pork or horsepower that these crops can be manufactured into; fourth, the manure; fifth, distributing the income and work.—Howard's Dairyman.

Placing His Kick.

On one occasion the professors at a Scotch theological college were made to feel the latter long and reckless sarcasm of one of their students. The students residing within the college dined together in the common hall. The fare was mean, consisting generally of rabbits. The students had often grumbled, but as a professor presided at the table none ventured openly to complain. Each student asked the blessing by turns. One rose reverently and said:

For rabbits young and for rabbits old, For rabbits hot and for rabbits cold, For rabbits tender and for rabbits tough, Our thanks we render, for we've had enough.

"Do you know what an oath is?" asked a Virginia judge of an old dandy who wanted his vote sworn in at an election.

"Yes, sah. When a man swears as a lie he's got ter stick to it."—Satire.

Antoine Deloria, postmaster at Garden, Michigan, states: "From my own experience I can recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney trouble. My father was cured of kidney disease, and many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Advertisement.

Premium List

FARMERS' PRODUCE EXHIBIT

given by the

CHARLEVOIX RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

In J. A. Vought's Garage on Antrim Street

SATURDAY, OCT. 12, 1912

Exhibits must be entered before 12 o'clock noon

Award of prizes will be made at 4:00 p. m. by competent judges. Immediately thereafter an auction of the produce exhibited will be had, the proceeds to go to the owners of the exhibit.

PRIZES

Wheat—best peck	1st prize	$2.00
Wheat—best peck	2nd prize	1.00
Oats—best peck	1st prize	2.00
Oats—best peck	2nd prize	1.00
Rye—best peck	1st prize	2.00
Rye—best peck	2nd prize	1.00
Corn—best bushel ears	1st prize	2.00
Corn—best bushel ears	2nd prize	1.00
Potatoes—best bushel round white	1st prize	2.00
Potatoes—best bushel round white	2nd prize	1.00
Potatoes—best bushel long white	1st prize	2.00
Potatoes—best bushel long white	2nd prize	1.00
Rutabagas—best bushel	1st prize	2.00
Rutabagas—best bushel	2nd prize	1.00
Apples—Spy, best bushel	1st prize	2.00
Apples—Spy, best bushel	2nd prize	1.00
Apples—King, best bushel	1st prize	2.00
Apples—King, best bushel	2nd prize	1.00
Apples—Wagner, best bushel	1st prize	2.00
Apples—Wagner, best bushel	2nd prize	1.00
Apples—Snow, best bushel	1st prize	2.00
Apples—Snow, best bushel	2nd prize	1.00
Apples—Greenings, best bushel	1st prize	2.00
Apples—Greenings, best bushel	2nd prize	1.00
Apples—Baldwin, best bushel	1st prize	2.00
Apples—Baldwin, best bushel	2nd prize	1.00
Apples—Golden Russet, best bushel	1st prize	2.00
Apples—Golden Russet, best bushel	2nd prize	1.00
Apples—for best display of three varieties of apples other than the varieties mentioned above, one peck each,	1st prize $2. 2nd prize $1
Grapes—best eighth basket	1st prize	1.00
Grapes—best eighth basket	2nd prize	.50
Musk Melons—best six melons	1st prize	2.00
Musk Melons—best six melons	2nd prize	1.00
Navy or Pea Beans—best peck	1st prize	1.00
Navy or Pea Beans—best peck	2nd prize	.50
Butter—best one gallon jar	1st prize	3.00
Butter—best one gallon jar	2nd prize	2.00

We would be pleased to have other farm produce brought for display, all of which will be offered at auction for benefit of owner.

The Argo Milling Company offers the following Prizes: Fifteen Dollars given away as follows:

$5.00 for the best loaf of bread made from Iron Duke flour;
$5.00 for the best loaf of bread made from White Rose flour;
$5 for best pan of Biscuits made from either of the above brands of flour.

Conditions:—Bread or Biscuits to be exhibited at the Charlevoix Retail Merchants' Bargain Day held October 12, 1912; judges to be chosen by the Retail Merchants' Association.

Argo Milling Company

The Merchants of Charlevoix will offer special bargains in all lines for this day only, and will strive to make your visit a profitable one.

Take a day off and exhibit the result of this season's work.

Retail Merchants' Association

Lisle Shanahan
Secretary

Charles Zeitler
President

Committee in Charge—J. L. Crane, Chairman; L. E. Crandall, J. R. Cooper

CREAM OF RYE

For Breakfast--that's Enough

Think of a delicious healthful meal at a cost of one cent. Better still, you are feeding your body with nature's best and producing an abundance of healthful energy.

A Silver Spoon in Every Package

Rye is the Cheapest and best Food--U. S. Govt. tests prove it.

Amount of energy 10c will buy--
ARTICLES CALORIES of Energy

Eggs.....	388
Beef, Sirloin.....	410
Mutton, Leg.....	445
Milk.....	1030
Pork, Loin.....	1035
Cheese.....	1185
Butter.....	1305
Rice.....	2525
Potatoes.....	2530
Beans, Dried.....	3040
Rye.....	6050

There's a Difference

The Taste is the Test

For Sale by your Grocer. If you fail to get a package Write Us

Minneapolis Cereal Co. Inc.

Minneapolis

Grange Column

Harmony Grange No. 1451 is conducting a spirited contest as anyone attending their last meeting, held September 24th, could testify. The effect of the contest was shown in the early arrival of a large majority of the twenty-one members present and in the alacrity with which all responded to calls for music, songs, quizzettes, and instrumental duets; recitations, original essays and readings, showing that the members are giving much thought to grange work not only at the meetings but between times. Altogether it was one of the best programs ever given by the members of Harmony Grange.

The following business was also transacted. The following delegates were elected to attend the county convention to be held at Peninsula grange hall on Tuesday, October 1st: O. D. Willson, Mrs. Myrtle Willson, J. A. Newville and Mrs. Mabel Willson. They chose for alternates, Willard Warden, J. D. Willson, Mrs. Ann P. Newville and Mrs. Marcia H. Birdick.

The grange also voted to advise the nomination of the following officers of the State Grange: Master, N. P. Hull; Secretary, Mrs. F. D. Saunders; Members of the Executive Board, J. A. Newville, George B. Horton, Charles Bartlett and Thomas B. McNaughton.

Bay Shore Grange.

Bay Shore grange met in regular session Friday evening and opened with five officers present.

Mr. and Mrs. Colman of Horton Bay were elected to membership. Mr. and Mrs. A. Tillotson and Mr. and Mrs. A. Bowman were elected delegates to the county convention.

The grange will have an anniversary celebration for its members the last of October. The lecturer not being present and no preparations having been made the lecture hour was omitted.

Next meeting will be held October 11.

C. H. S. NOTES.

Our number is steadily increasing. Last week Harry Alcox yielded to the charm of the sirens and this week we welcomed Geo. Burns back to our midst. An illustrious freshman has figured it out that at this rate by the end of the year we will have 36 more students than at present. Evidently he did not make any allowance for a few of his brethren dying of Algebritis, etc.

The first meeting of the junior class was held last Wednesday, the following officers being elected: President, Denn Scroggie, Secretary and Treasurer, Lois Frazier. Both are well qualified to fill the positions given them by their classmates.

Prof. Harbort of Kalamazoo college visited the C. H. S. Thursday morning and gave an excellent talk on "Education Beyond the High School."

The juniors are finding the "Life of Franklin," a very interesting study.

Lost--Newell's Descriptive Chemistry--Can it be that a freshman took it for his Zoology.

The chemistry class has begun regular laboratory work.

For Sale.

Or will rent for season of 1913. Levinson home on Dixie Avenue. Inquire at store. Advertiser.

GOOD ROADS IN THE SOUTH

Evolution of the Movement in Last Century

A BETTER ORDER HAS COME.

The Tortuous, Muddy Hill Roads Have Gradually Disappeared, and Sand-Clay and Macadam Highways Now Predominate--Convict Labor.

The evolution of the road, like that of the species, affords an interesting study in science, as well as in economics, says John J. Douglas in Better Roads.

The early settlers of our country made roads, but they did not take the time and trouble necessary to make them good. No one seemed to have the inclination to emulate the example of the Romans, except in the matter of conquest itself. No one wanted a Roman road. So, for a century or more we followed the rut made by our fathers' cart wheels, always shying around a stump or dodging a boulder, with a sort of reverential pity worthy of the celestial empire. And if any one possessed the courage to express his convictions at the crossroads store he-it he were an advocate of better roads--was instantly and effectually squelched by that passage of Scripture which reads in this wise: "Remove not the ancient landmarks which your fathers have set up."

Thus we came to recognize certain old stumps and stones as familiar and necessary evils. We pluckily plowed our way through muck and mud, obtaining thereby abundant time for reflection, while the market toward which we were conveying our pork and potatoes, apples and asparagus, butter and beef, played "hulls and bears" and did all kinds of wild and unstable stunts and finally wound up by dropping the bottom out before we got there.

When the spring freshet set in we stayed at home or went huddled deep in sticky mud, by no means rivaling the rabbit in the familiar fable and envying the happy dwellers in the desert.

GOOD ROAD WORK IN THE SOUTHERN MOUNTAINS.

of Sahara. We could never tarry long with our friends and neighbors, as we consumed all of our time on the road in solemn if not sacred self communion. No wonder our forebears were so puritanically conscientious.

We are pleased to state that this old order (or disorder) is rapidly passing to the south--it can scarcely be termed a renaissance of the road, for this is the first birth. But, whatever it is, it is a change, a pronounced blessing to the country at large.

The elements of good road construction we already had in abundance--sand, clay, gravel, shell and stone. Nature, wise provider that she is, has so distributed these things that universal good roads are no longer, in the south, a mere Muncie-house dream.

In some localities, where there is a predominance of sand, ditches dug along the roadway almost invariably provide sufficient clay to make a first rate sand-clay road. In other localities, where red, sticky mud makes wet weather a nightmarish to the traveler, the addition of sand and gravel in the proper proportion soon remedies the evil. In the extreme east, along the seashore, oyster shells make splendid roads. In the south where there is a quantity of stone a steam roller soon finishes in a due point of perfection what the rock crusher has begun. Thus we already have in some parts of the south magnificent macadam roads which rival those of the ancient Romans. Steep, animal killing hills have been graded, crooked roads made straight, and good substantial bridges span the streams. These things, it may be said, are splendid tributes to the road law, the road scraper and other improvements in the hands of the contractors of the south. Thus, in a way, we tend to despise itself, for who can say that the prevalence of good roads, ushering in a greater era of industrial prosperity than has hitherto dawned upon us, shall not tend to make men more peaceable and law-abiding citizens? It is, I think, quite a plausible theory. At any rate, it goes a long way toward solving the convict problem in the south.

GOOD ROAD MAXIMS.

Push, don't pull.
Don't be a sealer.
You can't afford bad roads.
The laborer should be interested in the road question.
Soft roads and slushy streets add to the cost of everything.
Good roads do mean more than a mere pleasure course for automobiles.
It costs more money to do without good roads than it will to build them.
Build good roads and see America first.
Improved roads are the best advertisement a state can have.
It is false economy to build a wagon road with cheap materials.
As soon as we "got down to brass tacks" on the road question and agree upon a system to be built, the kind of roads to construct and an equitable way to pay for them the country will fall ever itself getting away from the old mud roads.

GET TOGETHER.

GET TOGETHER ON GOOD ROADS WORK.

What Two Old Enemies Did at an Improvement Meeting.

Two of the oldest men in the town of Goff, Nemaha county, Kan., quarreled eight or ten years ago. They have been mighty careful ever since not to see each other on the street or to speak. There have been no open hostilities, but just a silent warfare. No one knows how the old enmity might have resulted eventually had it not been for one thing. Nemaha county had a good roads turnout recently. One hundred and twenty-five men, with fifty teams, gave one day to improving one mile of the worst road in the county. Three long hills were cut down and two old broken bridges were repaired. These bridges are to be replaced at once with concrete. All the weeds and brush for several miles along the road were cut and burned.

At noon the good roads workers met at a big picnic to hear A. R. Losh, assistant state highway engineer from the agricultural college, give a good roads talk and get something to eat. And there the two old business enemies met. After the silence and contempt of years they looked at each other for a moment and then shook hands. "Bill," said one, "we surely do need work on these roads."
"We surely do," said the other. "And the only way to do it is to get together."

GOOD ROADS, SUPPER.

A Novel Plan to Get Money For Improvement Work.

If farmers generally would adopt the plan of those of Lubek district in Wood county, W. Va., the good roads problem would be solved. Here a good roads supper was given last year, and the year before last, and commit fees have been appointed for a similar affair this year. Only a small section of the road connecting Lubek with Parkersburg remains to be improved, and it is for this work the proceeds of the supper will be used. When it is completed the Lubek road will be a monument to the progressive spirit of the people of that locality, who have contributed time, money and labor for the furtherance of the work. Before the improvement of the road in the winter was absolutely impossible, and this has been converted into not only the best and most substantial road in Wood county, but one of the best in the entire state.

Excise Taxes For Better Roads. Nearly $120,000 was collected in excise licenses in Jackson county, Mo., in July. Of this sum $100,000 was spent on road building in the county. The county surveyor prepared plans for more than twenty proposed rock highways.

FREE

FREE

A beautiful 13-piece set of Genuine Rogers' Standard A-1 Silverware Given away absolutely FREE.

Each Saturday
At 8:00 P. M.

Ask at the Store for Particulars or read the Advertising card in our North Show Window

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable House Furnishers

Bridge Street

See Block

ANNOUNCEMENT

I have received my Fall and Winter Stock of

5-A Blankets - Fur Coats
Sheep-lined Coats
Mackinaws Soo Woolen Goods
Gloves and Mittens

In looking over my stock I find I have overbought and must sell this large stock and in order to do so, must make the Prices low. You will receive the benefit, as I must sell

See this large stock and you will save DOLLARS. Watch this space for Prices.

Benj. Brown

LEFT SIDE

RIGHT SIDE

STRAYED OR STOLEN from my farm some months ago; between two and three years old; Holstein Heifer marked as above, ear tag number 145. If strayed $25 reward for her return. If stolen $50 for information leading to conviction.
E. C. WALLER.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 42

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

BANQUET WAS BIG SUCCESS

Decided to Proceed to Organization of a County Y. M. C. A.

AT THE BOYNE CITY MEETING

A. L. Coulter Chosen as President of Committee in Charge of Work.

Grand Address by International Secretary Roberts, Representatives Present from All Parts of the County Committee at Work.

The banquet at Boyne City Friday night to outline plans for the organization of a county Y. M. C. A. was a success in every way, large delegations being present from Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne Falls to accept of the grand feast of oratory which was the feature of the evening.

The banquet surpassed anything of the kind heretofore held in the county, in the remarkable address of International secretary Roberts. The general comment of the assemblage of Charlevoix county's leading business and professional men who made up the audience, being that it was too short.

After disposing of the banquet proper, which was up to the high standard set by the Wolverine—the best. The meeting was called to order by S. C. Smith of Boyne City who introduced the toastmaster, Robert W. Kane, of this city. Mr. Rowe of Jackson who has charge of the work in the state, was the first speaker. Mr. Rowe explained the method of work as previously outlined.

Then came the treat of the evening, the address of Mrs. Roberts.

The building of character, said Mr. Roberts is the greatest work that men can do. Sixty per cent of all the boys of the United States live in rural counties; eighty or ninety per cent of the successful business men of the cities were country boys. An economic value is placed on the country boy in the big cities. They are the well springs of national life, but they have become depleted by the drafts of the cities upon the country, and we have not been careful to see that they were maintained. It is for us to see that these well springs are kept pure. The country boy needs help. In these times of political changes and readjustments the boys are going up against harder things than their fathers ever encountered. We glory in the achievements of the men who fought in the civil war, but an economic war is impending which will put a greater strain upon American character.

There is plenty of social life in a small town, but it's largely on the basis of "me, my wife, my son John and his wife, us four and no more." The greatest need is organization for better things. It is not enough to open a room and set up a Y. M. C. A. sign.

The first need and the absolute essential, is a man trained to the work of social organization, a "good mixer" and an expert in the development of boy character.

Most boys today are brought up on the basis of winning in the game of life. They are taught to win, honestly if they can, but to win. This starts even in the school games. The truth is, it is better to lose than to win dishonestly.

Less than two per cent of the boys go to college; less than five per cent go to the high schools. What in God's name happens to the others? In most cases boys go wrong when they reach the fool age. All boys must pass this period, and if the boy ever needs assistance and a friend it is then.

At the conclusion of Mr. Roberts' address remarks were made by several from different parts of the county in favor of the movement.

A committee of five each from Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City and two from Boyne Falls was appointed to take up the work of organizing.

The committee organized by the election of the following officers: President—A. L. Coulter, Charlevoix; Vice-President—S. C. Smith, Boyne City.

Secretary—John Porter, East Jordan.
Treasurer—W. J. Pearson, Boyne Falls.
The local members of the committee are C. L. Coulter, R. W. Kane, Frank M. Glassford, F. H. Thomas and A. M. Wilkinson.

Sunday the matter was taken up at the meeting of the Men's Bible class and quite thoroughly discussed, all agreeing that it was a good movement but a difference of opinion being expressed as to whether the required amount ($2,500) could be raised and as to whether it was the best to organize as a county or to form a local organization.

Republicans Open Campaign.
Thursday night the Republican campaign in this vicinity was opened at Burgess' by addresses by W. F. Hashaw, Andrew Ross, J. H. Milford, Lisle Shanahan, D. S. Payton and A. L. Fitch. The Charlevoix quartette and Andrew Ross furnished music.

A large crowd was present and much interest was manifested in the remarks of the different speakers. The Republicans will wage an aggressive campaign from now until the polls are closed.

QUARTER OF A MILLION

Dollars Expended by State For Good Roads Last Year.

OVER FIVE HUNDRED MILES

Were Built in Forty-Four Counties—Gravel Roads Most in Favor.

Department Should be Given Power to Maintain Roads, County System is Favored by Commissioner.

State Highway Commissioner Ely has sent his annual report to the state printer. He reports that from 300 to 600 miles of state road have been built during the year in forty-four counties having adopted the county system. The work cost $250,000. Applications were made for 640 miles and it is expected this will all be laid before the year ends. According to the commissioner, 75 per cent of the roads were constructed of gravel, it being the most popular ingredient with the road builders. Near the big cities, macadam proved the most attractive. The commissioner reports that he is in favor of applying the tax on automobiles to the state highway fund.

"The automobiles destroy the roads and they should pay part in maintaining them," he said. "I have talked with many owners and manufacturers and have yet to see one opposed to the plan. I believe the money should be turned directly into the coffers of the highway department and that the machines should be taxed, according to their size and power, as the big fast cars do much more damage to the roads than the little ones. The local tax on the cars should be eliminated."

"The department ought to be given power and authority to maintain the roads after they are built. Now all we can do is to build them and leave it to the county and township officials to look after them. We can punish them by refusing a second reward and we have done so in many cases, but that is largely like locking the barn after the horse is stolen."

"It is amusing because some of the residents of the rural districts are opposed to the county system. The former is by far the better because it increases the strength of the unit and enables gangs of men to be kept at work continuously. Almost without exception, the city districts are in favor of the system, although forced to pay their share of the cost."

"The new counties have been leading in the matter of securing good roads, but the older counties are waking up and several more of them will likely vote on the county system next spring."

25 Men Wanted

At once. Charlevoix Rock Product Company. Charlevoix, Michigan. —Advertisement. 41-42

YIELD SMALLEST IN YEARS

Michigan Wheat Crop Averages Only Eleven Bushels Per Acre.

Northern Counties Again Make Good Showing in State Crop Report.

The following is the Michigan State crop report for September just issued by Secretary of State Martindale.

WHEAT
The final estimated yield of wheat in the state is 11, in the southern counties, 9; in the central counties, 10; in the northern counties, 14, and the Upper Peninsula, 21 bushels per acre. The estimated total yield for the state is 5,714,514 bushels.

The total number of bushels of wheat marketed by farmers in September at 92 flouring mills is 125,447, and at 92 elevators and to grain dealers 125,688; or a total of 251,135 bushels. Of this amount 185,030 bushels were marketed in the southern four tiers of counties, 45,659 in the central counties, and 20,446 in the northern counties and Upper Peninsula.

The per cent. of acreage sown this fall as compared with last year is 84 in the state, 82 in the southern counties, 81 in the central counties, 88 in the northern counties and 95 in the Upper Peninsula.

The average date of sowing wheat in the state is September 20th; in the southern counties the 22nd, in the central counties the 19th, in the northern counties the 17th, and in the Upper Peninsula the 16th.

RYE
The per cent. of acreage sown this fall as compared with last year is 91 in the state and southern counties, 86 in the central counties, 94 in the northern counties, and 95 in the Upper Peninsula.

BARLEY
The estimated average yield per acre in the state and central counties is 24, in the southern counties 23, in the northern counties 21 and in the Upper Peninsula 28 bushels.

OATS
The estimated average yield per acre in the state and central counties is 32, in the southern counties 33, in the northern counties 27 and in the Upper Peninsula 31 bushels.

CORN
The estimated average yield in the state is 31, in the southern counties 34, in the central counties 27, in the northern counties 20 and in the Upper Peninsula 24 bushels per acre.

POTATOES
The estimated average yield in the state is 103, in the northern counties 106, in the central counties 99, in the northern counties 103 and in the Upper Peninsula 160 bushels per acre.

BEANS
The estimated average yield in the state and northern counties is 14, in the southern and central counties 13 and in the Upper Peninsula 20 bushels per acre.

SUGAR BEETS
The estimated average yield in the state, southern, central and northern counties is 10, and in the Upper Peninsula 12 tons per acre.

WHEATWHEAT
The estimated average yield in the state is 17 in the southern and central counties 19, in the northern counties 18 and in the Upper Peninsula 22 bushels per acre.

MRS. L. COOK DEAD

Had Resided in This Vicinity for the Past Thirty Years. Age Sixty-four.

Word was received in this city this morning of the death of Mrs. L. Cook, in Traverse City last night.

Mrs. Cook had been a resident of this city for the past thirty years. She was sixty-four years of age and leaves, besides her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Ralph Smith of Pontiac. The funeral will be held Friday.

See our window exhibit of the Searchlight Hard Coal Stove, the one which will save you $3.50 on every ton of coal used. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Advertisement. 42-41

Dressmaking

By the day. Phone 262. Miss Grace Shockley.—Advertisement. 41-41pd

SHOULD BE OF AVERAGE SIZE

Medium Sized Apples Are The Most in Demand on Market.

Extra Large Ones Are as Undesirable as The Very Little Ones.

The big red apple has always been the popular one with the small boy. Send him down cellar to get an apple for himself and he picks out the largest one he can find. This, however, is not the case with the man who is handling apples commercially. He has a definite idea as to what constitutes the proper size for commercial purposes. He will pay the highest price for average sized fruit—not the undersized one or the overgrown monstrosity.

The Western Michigan Development bureau which is furnishing a large exhibit for the Michigan Land and Apple show and has had a great deal of experience in the packing of apples, says, "The markets rarely demand large apples, nor are very small ones desirable. The highest prices are usually paid for those that are from 2 1/2 to 3 inches in diameter, and which will pack from 88 to 140 to the bushel box, or in 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 tiers. An eighty box is beyond the pale of the first class award and below 140 is passed on the other side. The reason for this discrimination against the large apple is easily seen. The hotel and restaurant keepers do not want to put half an apple on the plate, and an average person cannot eat a whole one of those large apples. Very large apples, such as the Biggheimer and Wolf River, and very small ones like the Snow are in a class by themselves, and are for the special trade. All judges at the Apple show will follow this commercial line and decide that when an apple goes beyond a certain size it should be condemned on the score of size."

Growers who expect to exhibit at the coming apple show should take heed to this advice given by the bureau and select only those specimens which are typical of the variety in size, shape, color as well as other characteristics. This season's Michigan grown fruit runs large, and the temptation to select the overgrown specimens will be great. The day of the county fair exhibits of monstrosities is past. We must now make exhibits which will cater to what the trade demands.

DEATH OF ELI HAPNER

Well Known And Highly Respected Resident of Marion Township.

Passed Away Last Thursday—Leaves Wife And Six Children.

Eli Hapner, was born on the fourth day of April, 1834. When but a child his parents moved to Whitley county, Indiana. On the 8th of October 1851 he was united in marriage to Eliza Jane Beaver of Whitley county, Indiana.

To this union were born nine children, six of whom survive, four sons, Clinton and William of Elmhurst, Albert of Scottsville and Nathan, who resides at home, and two daughters, Mrs. William Havens and Mrs. Andrew Griffith, both of East Jordan.

Besides his wife and children there remains to mourn their loss seventeen grand-children and two great grand-children besides many other friends.

In 1901 he moved with his family from Indiana to Elmhurst, Michigan, from which place he moved to Charlevoix where he resided until his death which occurred the 10th day of October.

Fifty-two years ago he was adopted into the family of God and united with the church of God of Whitley county, Indiana, of which church he was a member until his death.

He is gone but not forgotten. He will be sadly missed but our loss is his gain. He was always an affectionate husband and father and a friend of all who knew him.

The funeral was conducted Sunday from the Marion town hall, Rev. Quinton Walker officiating.

CLARK--STEVENS

Well Known Marion Couple United in Matrimony
Thursday October 10.

A company of about thirty-five witnessed a quiet home wedding, Thursday, October 10, at 4 p. m., when Miss Mabel Stevens was married to Mr. Anthony R. Clark, at the home of the bride's father in Marion. Rev. John G. Derry tied the knot using the ring ceremony, little Mabel Maddock acting as ring bearer.

The bride was gowned in white wool whip cord trimmed in silk and lace while her bridesmaid, Miss Elsie Moscho, wore white trimmed in pink. The groom and "Best Man," Harrison Trimble, nephew of the groom, were attired in black suits. The pink and white idea was carried out in the decorations consisting of festoons, carnations and autumn leaves.

After the ceremony and congratulations a two course luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark left on the 8:50 train for a short trip and on returning will go to their farm home south of Barnard.

CONGRESSMAN AND SENATOR

Who the Candidates are and Why They Ask Your Votes.

LINDQUIST - MC CALL - PATCHIN

Are Anxious to Represent the Eleventh District at Washington.

Senator Frank O. Scott Made a Good Record at Lansing and Deserves Re-Election. Other Information in regard to Candidates.

In this issue we complete our series of articles on who the candidates of the leading political parties are, with the exception of the candidates for county offices, which will be covered in the next two issues.

For representative in Congress, the republican candidate, F. D. Lindquist, is a resident of Greenville, where he is engaged in the mail order clothing business. Having accumulated a large fortune in his business he became ambitious to receive political honors and announced himself as a candidate for the republican nomination for Congress.

By spending a large sum of money in sending out letters throughout the district he was successful, and secured the honor sought for. So far as we have been able to ascertain, Mr. Lindquist has never taken any part in public affairs and, up to date, has never expressed himself in regard to any of the great questions which a representative of the people will be called upon to solve and presumably announced himself as a republican candidate because this is a strong republican district. He has been charged with using unfair methods in securing his nomination, a charge which he has never taken the trouble to deny.

Archib. McColl, the democratic candidate, is a resident of Ithaca where he is engaged in the law business and farming. A hustler, he has always been in the front ranks in any movement for the development and uplifting of his county, which service has been recognized by the support which has always been accorded him irrespective of party.

He is a firm believer in democratic principles but promises if elected in this strong republican district, to seek the advice of the different farmer's and business men's organizations and to be guided by their counsel before casting his vote on important questions.

In response to a request for information Mr. John W. Patchin of Traverse City, the progressive candidate sends us the following:

I was born at Lodi Plains about (Continued on page 4.)

Lost.

A red sweater with smoked pearl buttons. Finder leave at this office. —Advertisement. 41

OVER ONE HUN- DRED PERSONS

Made Displays at The Produce Exhibition Held Last Saturday.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY PRODUCTS

Power of Proper Advertising Was Conclusively Demonstrated.

List of Prize Winners. Show Rooms Were Crowded Poultry Show Will be Held First Week in December.

Probably never before was the power of proper advertising better demonstrated than in the second produce exhibition of the Retail Merchants' Association, held at Vaughn's garage Saturday. The exhibit was held September 14 was a disappointment to the committee in charge, very few farmers making exhibits, owing to the lack of advertising which would reach them. This time, profiting by their former mistake, the committee depended almost exclusively on the Courier for their advertising; the result was a grand tribute to the wisdom of the move, one hundred and sixteen different exhibitors being represented. The list of prize winners are as follows:

Wheat—First, Kenben Pearl; second, F. M. Polcopher.
Oats—First, Frank Smith; second, John Kundsens.
Rye—First, John Kundsens; second, George Ager.
Corn—First, B. D. Wilkinson; second, George Mergeson.
Potatoes—Round White—First, George Anderson; second, Ed Boss.
Potatoes—Long White—First, Ed Boss; second, George Demuts.
Krutabags—First, K. S. Shapton; second, James Willis.
Apples, Spys—First, Earl Clark; second, Loren Hanlin.
Kings—First, Floyd Bartholomew; second, W. E. Byers.
Wagners—First, Earl Clark; second, Floyd Bartholomew.
Snows—First, Earl Clark; second, Fred Clarke.

Greenings—First, Earl Clark; second, W. E. Byers.
Baldwins—First, Earl Clark; second, Fred Clarke.
Kussets—First, Howard Fairbanks; second, H. Gornell.
Best bushel of three varieties—First, Fred Rice; second, H. Gornell.
Grapes—First, H. Gornell.
Beans—First, Frank Smith; second, Walter Black.
Butter—First, Mrs. Earl Clark; second, Mrs. Caled Van Zant.
Special prizes given by Argo Milling company.

Best loaf of bread made from Iron Duke—Mrs. John Hall.
Best loaf of bread made from White Rose—Mrs. A. E. Cross.
Best pan of biscuits made from either—Mrs. W. E. Smith.
Ed Newman made a display of sixteen quarts of strawberries.
Watch for the premium list of the poultry show the first week in December.

VERY BAD ACCIDENT

Eugene Lewis of Ironton Injured While Filling a Silo.

Eugene Lewis of Ironton, was quite badly injured Tuesday morning while engaged in filling a silo. His sleeve, in some manner caught in a set screw, and only by his presence of mind, in ridding himself of his coat, did he prevent his arm from being drawn into the machine. His thumb was torn completely out, the skin taken entirely from his arm and his face slightly cut. He is doing finely at this writing.

Auction Sales.

Last week, we advertised the sale of W. H. Cook, Saturday, October 19, commencing at one o'clock p. m., on the Petoskey road just outside the city limits of Charlevoix. E. B. Ward, auctioneer. W. J. Rachow and F. A. Butler, clerks. On page eight we advertised the sale of Stanley Wildern, who will close out his entire stock of watches, clocks, jewelry, etc., at auction, every afternoon and evening until the stock is sold.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIRBORNE ENAMEL. Touch how with each can of enamel only. Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works
STERLING, ILLINOIS

Correspondence

ST. JAMES.
Barge Drinker loaded timber here last week.
Wm. Rickgers visited Charlevoix this week.
Mrs. Ella McDonald visited Charlevoix Tuesday.
Fishing tug C. W. Endress was in the harbor Monday.
Oscar Martin transacted business in Charlevoix this week.
Dr. D. Geoffrey went to Cheboygan for a visit with friend.
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shield visited friends at Manistee this week.
H. P. Boyle is attending the meeting of the board of supervisors this week.
Tug B. F. Bruce of Harbor Springs was in the harbor several days last week wind-bound.
S. A. Correll and W. Herschel Miller, rival candidates for Probate Judge visited here last week.
Mrs. H. McCollough returned from a two month's visit with friends in Manitowish, Wisconsin.
Mr. and Mrs. Lou Briggs returned from Alpena where they had gone to attend the funeral of Mrs. Briggs' brother.
Mrs. Albion Smith and cousin Miss McCafferty of Charlevoix are visiting at Mrs. Smith's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Mooney.
Mrs. "Wee" Bonshorn and children, whose husband has been working for the C. & N. W. R. R. at Escanaba, left for that city Friday.
Mr. B. Stephen manager for B. I. L. company stole a march on his friends by slipping away quietly last week and joining the order of Benefactors at Manistee.

Charles C. Collison, a leverman living at 480 No. 4th street, Saginaw, states: "I had a severe case of acute kidney trouble with pain across my back and irregular kidney action. I finally took Foley Kidney Pills, and in a few days time the pain left my back, my kidney action became regular and today I am entirely free of all kidney trouble." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.—Advertisement.

MARION.
Louis Johnson has sold his farm in Marion.
The silos are about all filled around here.
The bean thresher is around again keeping the farmers busy.
Miss Frankie Jackson of Phelps very ill with appendicitis.
Mr. and Mrs. C. Van Zant visited friends in Atwood Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Paquette spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Passey.
Gordon Bennett and Mrs. C. Noyes, of Petoskey were callers of Mrs.

Newman and Julia, one day last week.
Mrs. Wyre and Mrs. Ross of Charlevoix visited Mrs. Smith, Wednesday last.
Mr. and Mrs. George Tronchly were callers of Mrs. Harriet Newman Sunday.

Lee Pierre and August Collier, left Friday for Ottawa, Ohio, where they expect to spend the winter.
A number of the young people gathered at the home of E. Smith, Friday evening, a good time reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Eld Goldsberry and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Reed and family were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Beattie Sunday.
The Glensmen met at the town hall Saturday night. We heard that some more new members were initiated. A fine program was rendered after which a dainty lunch was served.

IRONTON.

A new silo is being built on the Stuart farm.
They have struck a flowing well on the Stuart farm.
The hay bales were baling busy at Dons Dean's last week.
Bert King will start threshing beans and buckwheat soon.
Ross Alexander visited relatives in Charlevoix over Sunday.
Mrs. Mary Hammond visited relatives at Charlevoix last week.
Wallis Coblenz has been visiting Claude Myers a few days this week.
Miss Cora Mosley spent a couple of days with Marcelona friends this week.
Mrs. John Mitchell and Miss Janie Mitchell visited friends in Ironton Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. Hugh King were visiting in Charlevoix the last of the week.
Miss Marjorie Myers of Charlevoix visited her friend, Miss Hilda Myers over Sunday.
Mrs. Emma Ogden and children, have been visiting at Mr. Clyde Ogden, before leaving for their new home near Muskegon.
Mrs. Taggart will preach next Sunday on "The Unity of the Church; That They Might be One." Do not miss hearing this good sermon.
Mr. Milford McLeroy of Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mitchell of Ellsworth, and Mr. Aaron Harwood of Atwood were visiting Mrs. Dean and family this week.

Cataract Cannot Be Cured
with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Cataract is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Bull's Cataract Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Bull's Cataract Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonic known, combined with the best blood purifier, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing cataract. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHEBEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, price 25c. Take Bull's Family Pills for constipation. Advertisement.

Club the Courier with a magazine.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

HEARD IN CHARLEVOIX

Bad Backs Made Strong—Kidney Pills Corrected.

All over Charlevoix you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work, curing weak kidneys, driving away backache, correcting urinary ills. Charlevoix people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Charlevoix citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.
Mrs. W. L. Cowan, 211 Clinton St., Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for I have derived very good results from their use. I was subject to severe backache and pains in my kidneys also annoyed by kidney irregularities. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ivy Drug Store and they brought me great relief."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMurray Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name Doan's and take no other. Advertisement.

CORRESPONDENCE

CLARION.
(Too late for last week.)
Orlando Johnson is working for A. J. Crago.
Mrs. D. Osborne of Chandler was in town Saturday.
The L. A. S. will meet with Mrs. Milne on Thursday.
Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Clark visited in Chandler last week.
G. W. Knife of R. F. Dr. No. 1 is taking his annual vacation.
Rev. F. H. Bridgewater of Harbor Springs spent Sunday in Clarion.
Henry Grund and wife of Walloon left Monday for southern Michigan.
Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Phelps of Clare were guests of J. W. Golden and wife last week.
W. H. Ransom of Walloon returned Sunday from a pleasure trip to Detroit and Canada.
Mrs. H. V. Newton has sold her home here, and will leave this week for Grant's Pass, North Dakota.
J. E. Darrah left Sunday for Manistee.
Mrs. Anna McVay of Petoskey was in town Saturday.
The L. A. S. met at the home of Mrs. Milne last week.
Miss Maggie Johnson of Petoskey was in town Thursday.
Miss Teresa Phillips visited her parents at East Jordan last week.
O. V. Hally and wife are in Petoskey for a few weeks' visit with relatives.
Frank Hime has been appointed road commissioner to succeed Edwin Tillapaugh.
Newton Taylor and Miss Ruby Place of Petoskey were married at Charlevoix last week.
A surprise in the form of a kitchen shower was given Miss Jessie Milne, by her many friends on Thursday evening.
Mrs. H. V. Newton and children left Wednesday for Josephine, North Dakota, where they will join Mr. Newton.
The pupils of the grammar room gave Vernon Newton a surprise on Tuesday evening. About twenty-five were present.
The L. A. S. of the Walloon Lake and Clarion M. E. churches will hold an all day meeting at the parsonage on Thursday.
A bee was held Monday to put a stone wall under the parsonage. The L. A. S. served dinner to the men engaged in the work.
Joe Miller and family left Thursday for Hartford, Indiana, where they will live this winter. They drove through in a covered wagon.
A reception was given Rev. H. G. Kennedy and wife at the Walloon M. E. church on Friday evening. (Owing to the rain, but few were present.)
About twenty old friends and neighbors called on Mrs. J. E. Darrah on Friday evening, it being the seventy-third anniversary of her birthday.
"The Ladies" aid held a special meeting at the parsonage, on Monday, and elected Mrs. Hough, president; Mrs. Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Regan, Secretary.
A surprise reception was given Rev. H. G. Kennedy and wife on Wednesday evening. A dainty supper was served and the evening passed in music and games.

A pretty wedding took place Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Milne, where their daughter Jessie, was united in marriage to Daniel H. Buckley. Rev. H. G. Kennedy officiating. Miss Margaret Buckley of Chicago, a sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Mark Milne, a brother of the bride, was best man. Only the immediate family and few intimate friends were present. After a dainty luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Buckley left for Curtis, Michigan, near which place they will make their home.

MAPLE GROVE

Ernest Beaslee is home on two weeks' vacation.
Wade Howe will spend the winter in Los Angeles.
Maple Grove school is having two weeks' vacation.
Miss Lella Howe spent Saturday and Sunday at Maple Row.
Mr. and Mrs. Jones Lewis attended the exhibit at Charlevoix Saturday.
Messrs. Nelson and Joseph Jr. Lewis attended the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. Hogan, Friday.
E. D. Pierce teacher of Maple Grove school, is spending his vacation visiting relatives in East Jordan.
Mr. and Mrs. Marsae, Mrs. Charles Howe and Mrs. H. W. Kirby were callers at Sylvester Miner's Sunday afternoon.
The services held at Maple Grove Sunday evening were well attended. Services will be held again Sunday evening October 27.

25 Men Wanted

At once, Charlevoix Rock Product Company, Charlevoix, Michigan.—Advertisement. 41-62

ATWOOD

Beautiful weather.
"Lovely starlight last Sunday evening."
Aaron Harwood was visiting over at Ironton last Sunday.
"Abstain from all appearance of evil,"—how many of us are doing it.
Pork 10 1/2 cents per pound. Wonder what town consumers pay. Whew!
Mr. Adams will sell everything next month, farm and stock and go to California for good.
Mrs. Peter Visser went to Grand Rapids last week to visit relatives and friends for a few weeks.
Willard Albert Byers will rent their farms. Will and family moves to Charlevoix. Albert to Detroit.
Parcel post is now a law in the United States, January 1st, 1913. You can get by mail, merchandise weighing up to eleven pounds and five feet in length. R. F. D. No. 4 Charlevoix is talking of buying a fine span of drivers here, you will need them Van.
Antoine Deloria, postmaster at Garden, Michigan, states: "From my own experience I can recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney trouble. My father was cured of kidney disease, and many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

25 Men Wanted

At once, Charlevoix Rock Product Company, Charlevoix, Michigan.—Advertisement. 41-62

SCHOOL BAGS

FOR

School Children

AT

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

We have just received another lot.
The first order went so fast and seemed to answer so good a purpose that we ordered more.
Parents or Children living in the Country are especially invited to call for "School Bags" as they are an excellent thing for School Children.

4 per cent. Interest paid on Savings.

R. P. FOLEY, President
H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

WANTED

MARKETABLE

Potatoes Apples HAY

And in fact all kinds of Produce

S. Orłowski & Son

AT THIS TIME

You are Interested in Placing Your

FIRE INSURANCE

In a Strong, Reliable Company

Myrtie Young & Son

Would Like to Talk it Over with You

Phone 275

Office between the Banks Charlevoix, Michigan

C. ROSS BROWNELL
TEACHER OF
PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE
Fourteen Years Experience
Musical-Stereo Techniques Mathematics Graded Course of Studies
in Ten Grades
Classes limited to Twenty
Permanent Studio 301 State Street
B. W. Miller House
In Charlevoix Mondays-Tuesdays

Charlevoix Rock
Product Co.
Producers and
Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricul'l Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call
Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VAN PELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. G. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

LESLIE SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
Van Pelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in Van Pelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 139 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 652; residence 663r.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMITAGE, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE,
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store,
Telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention in diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 4.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled
some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address
Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your
D-RAYING
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

The Courier auction advertising plan has never failed to please its many patrons. Investigate.

BY GEORGE HARR MCUTCHEON
Copyright, 1906, by Dodd, Mead & Company.

CHAPTER IV.
In Which the Truth Transpires.
LORD and Lady Bazelhurst, with the more energetic members of their party, spent the day in a so called hunting excursion to the hills south of the villa. Toward nightfall they returned successfully empty handed and ravenous for bridge. Penelope, full of smoldering anger, had spent the afternoon in her room, disdaining every call of sociability. She had awakened to the truth of the situation in so far as she was concerned. She was at least seeing things from Shaw's point of view. Her resentment was not against the policy of her brother, but the overbearing, petulant tyranny of her American sister-in-law. From the beginning she had disliked Evelyn; now she despised her. With the loyal simplicity of a sister she absolved Cecil of all real blame in the outrage of the morning attributing everything to the cruelty and envy of the despot who held the purse strings from which dangled the pliable fortunes of Bazelhurst. The Bazelhursts, one and all—ancestors thrown in—swung back and forth on the pendulum of her capriciousness. Penelope, poor as a church mouse, was almost wholly dependent upon her brother, who in turn owed his present allowance to the more or less luckless movement of the matrimonial market. The girl had a small, inadequate income—so small that it was almost worthless.

Penelope Started and Flushed.

Here was Penelope, twenty-two, beautiful, proud, fair minded and healthy, surveying herself for the first time from a new and an entirely different point of view. She began to loathe herself more than she pitied her brother. Something like a smile came into her clouded face as she speculated on Randolph Shaw's method of handling Evelyn Banks had she fallen to him as a wife. The quiet power in that man's face signified the presence of a manhood that—ah, and just here it occurred to her that Lady Bazelhurst felt the force of that power even though she never had seen the man. She hated him because he was strong enough to oppose her, to ignore her, to laugh at her impotence.

The smoldering anger and a growing sense of futility combined at length in the determination to take her brother and his wife to task for the morning's outrage, let the consequences be what they might. When she joined the people downstairs before dinner there was a red spot in each cheek and a steady look in her eyes that caused the duke to neglect woefully the conversation he was carrying on with Mrs. Odwell.

Dinner was delayed for nearly half an hour while four of the guests finished their "rahar." Penelope observed that the party displayed varying emotions. It afterward transpired that the hunters had spent most of the afternoon in her ladyship's distant lodge playing bridge for rather high stakes. Little Miss Folsom was pitifully unsuccessful to the north of Mr. Odwell. She could ill afford to lose $600. Lady Bazelhurst was in a frightful mood. Her guests had so far forgotten them selves as to win more than $1,000 of the Banks' money, and she was not a cheerful loser, especially as his lord ship had dropped an additional $500. The winners were riotously happy. An observer given to deductions might have noticed that half of the diners were immoderately hilarious, the other half studiously polite.

Lord Bazelhurst wore a hunted look and drank more than one or two high balls. From time to time he cast furtive glances at his wife. He laughed frequently at the wrong time and mirthlessly.

"Yes, he always laughs when there is anything on his mind," replied Mrs. Peyton. "That's the way he gets it off."

After dinner no one proposed cards. The party edged off into twos and threes and explained how luck had been with or against them. Penelope, who could not afford to play for stakes and had the courage to say so, sat back and listened to the conversation of her brother and the group around him. The duke was holding forth on the superiority of the Chinese over the Japanese as servants, and Bazelhurst was loudly defending the Japanese navy.

"Think it all, Bazelhurst, the Japs could eat 'em up!" he proclaimed. "Couldn't they?" to the crowd.

"I'm talking about servants, Cecil," observed the duke.

"And shoot? Why, they're the greatest gunners in the world. By Jove, I read somewhere the other day that they had hit what they shot at 3,000,000 times out of or, let me see, was it the Prussians who fired 3,000,000 rounds?"

"Oh, let's change the subject," said the duke in disgust. "What's become of that Shaw fellow?" Penelope started and flushed, much to her chagrin. At the sound of Shaw's name Lady Bazelhurst, who was leaning with the count, stopped so abruptly that her companion took half a dozen paces without her.

"Shaw? By Jove, do you know I'd completely forgotten that fellow," exclaimed Cecil.

"I thought you were going to shoot him or shoot at him or something like that. Can't you get him in range?"

"Oh, I wasn't really in earnest about that. Bazelhurst, you know we couldn't shoot at a fellow for such a thing."

"Nonsense, Cecil," said his wife. "You shoot poachers in England."

"But this fellow isn't a poacher. He's a—gentleman, I dare say—in some respects—not all, of course, my dear, but—"

"Gentleman? Ridiculous!" scoffed his wife.

"I—yes, quite right—a ridiculous gentleman, of course. Ha, ha! Isn't he, Bazelhurst? But with all that, you know, I couldn't have Tompkins shoot him. He asked me the other day if he should take a shot at Shaw's legs, and I told him not to do anything so absurd."

Penelope's heart swelled with relief, and for the first time that evening she looked upon her brother with something like sisterly regard.

"It didn't matter, however," said Lady Evelyn sharply. "I gave him instructions yesterday to shoot any trespasser from that side of the line. I can't see that you owe Mr. Shaw any especial consideration. He has insulted and ignored me at every opportunity. Why should he be permitted to trespass more than any other common lawbreaker? If he courts a charge of birdshot he should not expect to escape scot free. Birdshot wouldn't kill a man, you know, but it would."

But Penelope could restrain herself no longer. The heartlessness of her sister-in-law overcame her prudence, and she interrupted the scornful outburst of the house, her eyes blazing, but her voice under perfect control. Her tall young figure was tense, and her fingers clasped the back of Miss Folsom's chair rather rigidly.

"I suppose you know what happened this morning," she said, with such apparent restraint that every one looked at her expectantly.

"Do you mean in connection with Mr. Shaw and Jack the Giant Killer?" asked her ladyship, her eyes brightening.

"Some one of your servants shot him this morning," said Penelope, with great distinctness. There was breathless silence in the room.

"Shot him?" gasped Lord Bazelhurst, his thin red face going very white.

"Not—not fatally?" exclaimed Evelyn, almost in spite of herself.

"No. The instructions were carried out. His wound in the arm is trifling. But the coward was not so generous when it came to the life of his innocent, harmless dog. He killed the poor thing. Evelyn, it's—it's like murder."

"Oh," cried her ladyship, relieved. "He killed the dog. I daresay Mr. Shaw has come to realize at last that we are earnest in this. Of course I am glad that the man is not badly hurt. Still, a few shot in the arm will hardly keep him in bonnets. His legs were intended," she laughed lightly. "What miserable aim Tompkins must take."

"He's a bit off in his physiology, my dear," said Cecil, with a nervous attempt at humor. He did not like the expression in his sister's face. Somehow, he was ashamed.

"Oh, it's bad enough," said Penelope. "It was his left arm—the upper arm, too. I think the aim was rather good."

too soft hearted to be a physician. I saw Mr. Shaw just after the—ah—the accident."

"You saw Shaw—I mean you saw Shaw?" gasped Bazelhurst.

"She sees him frequently, Cecil. It was not at all unusual that she should have seen him today. I daresay he waited to show you his wound before going to a surgeon."

Penelope could not resist the temptation to invent a story befitting the moment. Assuming a look of concern, she turned to her brother and said: "He is coming to see you about it tomorrow, and he is coming armed to the teeth, attended by a large party of friends. Mr. Shaw says he will have satisfaction for the death of that dog if he has to shoot everybody on the place."

"Good Lord!" cried the duke. There was instant excitement. "I believe the wretch will do it too."

"Oh, I say, Bazelhurst, settle with him for the dog," said De Peyton nervously. He looked at his watch and then at his wife. The entire party now was listening to the principal speakers.

"Nonsense!" exclaimed Lady Evelyn. "He won't come. It's all bluff. Don't let it frighten you, Cecil. I know the manner of man."

"I wish you could have seen him this morning," murmured Penelope, thoroughly enjoying the unexpected situation. Her conscience was not troubled by the pretention.

"By Jove, I think it would be wise to send over and find out what he valued the brute at," said Cecil, mopping his brow.

"Good! We'll send Penelope to act as ambassador," said her ladyship. "She seems to be on friendly terms with the enemy."

"To act as ambassador from Cowardice Court?" questioned Penelope lightly, yet with cutting significance. "No, I thank you. I decline the honor. I shan't," with a collected frown, "I don't believe it's diplomacy he's after."

"I say, what the devil do you suppose the confounded savage has in mind?" exclaimed the duke. "I've heard of the way these cowboys settle their affairs. You don't imagine—and he paused significantly.

"It looks like it's going to be a rather disagreeable affair," said De Peyton sourly.

"Good heavens! What are we to do if he comes here with a lot of desperadoes and begins to shoot?" cried Mrs. Odwell, genuinely alarmed. "I've read so much of these awful mountain feuds."

"Don't be alarmed," Lord Bazelhurst will attend to the gentleman," said Lady Evelyn blandly. His lordship's monocle clattered down and the ice rattled sharply in his glass.

"To—to be sure," he agreed. "Don't be in the least worried. I'll attend to the upstart. What time's he coming, Pen?"

A door banged noisily near by, and every one jumped as though a gun had been fired. While the "ohs" were still struggling from their lips Hodder, the butler, came into the room, doing his best to retain his composure under what seemed to be trying circumstances.

"What is it, Hodder?" demanded her ladyship.

"The cook, your ladyship. She's fallen downstairs and broken her leg," announced Hodder. He did not betray it, but he must have been tremendously surprised by the sight of relief that went up on all sides. Lord Bazelhurst went so far as to laugh.

"Ha, ha! Is that all?"

"Oh, dear, I'm so glad!" cried Miss Folsom impulsively. "I was frightened half to death. It might have been Mr. Shaw."

"Don't be silly, Rose," said Lady Bazelhurst. "Where is she, Hodder?"

"In the laundry—your ladyship. There are two fractures."

"By Jove, two legs instead of one, then. Worse than I thought," cried Bazelhurst, draining his glass.

"Send at once for a doctor, Hodder, and take her to her room. Isn't it annoying?" said her ladyship. "It's so difficult to keep a cook in the mountains."

"Don't see how she can get away without legs," observed De Peyton.

"I'll come with you, Hodder. Perhaps I can do something for her," said Penelope, following the butler from the room.

"Don't take too many patients on your hands, my dear," called the mistress, with a shrill laugh.

"Yes, remember tomorrow," added the duke. "Then suddenly, 'I believe I'll lend a hand.' He hurried after Penelope rather actively for him."

CHAPTER V.
"I shall go tonight."

LORD BAZELHURST visited his wife's room later in the night. Called there by a peremptory summons, Cecil had been too fatigued to resist in the morning and was inclined to be jocund.

"Cecil, what do you think of Penelope's attitude toward Mr. Shaw?" she asked, turning away from the window which looked out over the night in the direction of Shaw's place.

"I didn't know she had an attitude," replied he, trying to focus his wavering gaze upon her.

"She meets him clandestinely and she supports him openly. Isn't that an attitude, or are you too drunk to see it?"

"My dear, remember you are speaking of my sister," he said with the dignity that fitted his position. "Be serious. I am not too drunk. I do see it. It's a damned annoying attitude. She's a traitor, my stand now. A traitor. I intend to speak to her about it."

"It is better that you should do it," said his wife. "I am afraid I should control my temper."

"Penelope's attitude is very peculiar," continued on page 53

CREAM OF RYE

For Breakfast--that's Enough

Think of a delicious healthful meal at a cost of one cent. Better still, you are feeding your body with nature's food and producing an abundance of healthful energy.

A Silver Spoon in Every Package

Rye is the Cheapest and best Food—U. S. Govt. tests prove it.

ARTICLES	Amount of energy life will buy—	CALORIES of Energy
Eggs.....	388	—
Beef, Sirloin.....	410	—
Mutton, Leg.....	415	—
Milk.....	1030	—
Pork, Loin.....	1035	—
Cheese.....	1185	—
Butter.....	1365	—
Rice.....	2025	—
Potatoes.....	2050	—
Beans, Dried.....	3010	—
Rye.....	6050	—

There's a Difference

The Taste is the Test

For Sale by your Grocer. If you fail to get a package Write Us

Minneapolis Cereal Co. Inc. Minneapolis

EVIDENCES OF SUCCESS

If we simply made unsupported statements of the quality of our school you might have room to doubt our assertions. We want to mail you unqualified evidence that we do more for our students than any other business school in Michigan. Facts speak louder than idle boasting. Satisfied students in positions of trust tell the story.

You Should Have Our Free Catalog

We want you to have our list of students placed in positions from time. They will be mailed free on request. Railroad fare allowed. Opportunities to work for board. Tell your friends.

McCallan University
110-118 PEARL ST.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH

Are You on Salary? THEN SAVE

It is possible that luck may play an important part in the quick making of fortunes, but it has nothing to do with fortunes accumulated from the savings of labor.

A bank account, however, will be of assistance and the young man or woman who will take this method saving from his or her salary will eventually reach the desired goal.

This bank welcomes the accounts of those people who are working on salary and have a desire to save a part of it.

We not only safeguard your money against fire loss or theft, but we also allow you 4 per cent interest for the use of it.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Battars A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

New Coal and Wood Heating Stoves

Coal Stoves that Burn the Smoke
Oil Heating and Cook Stoves

Stove Boards Oil Cloth Rugs

Coal Hods and Sifters

Potato Forks and Hooks

Corn Knives Corn Rope

POTATO AND APPLE CRATES BASKETS MEASURES

Tin, Enameled and Aluminum Ware

Fishing Tackle

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

The Courier Brightens the Home. Does it yours?

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBois & USHER, Proprietors

A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

Advertising Rates.

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and
entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary notices, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 2 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

Why I Believe in Equal Suffrage.

R. W. Kane:—"For many reasons, among others these:

1.—Because it is restoring to woman a right which man has unjustly usurped, appropriated and monopolized. It is but just that when woman demands what belongs to her, man should restore it.

2.—The law requires the teachers in our public schools, the great majority of whom are women, to be proficient in the knowledge of civil government, including the frame work, genius, and operation of our governmental system, but with the baldest of inconsistency, denies them the right to practice that which it requires them to teach.

3.—Because I can see no reason founded on justice, reason, or political economy why this right should be denied her."

Capitán P. D. Campbell:—"I believe women have a right to vote just as much as any man has a right to vote.

D. C. Nettleton:—"I believe that woman suffrage will purify politics; that instead of breaking up the home it will have a tendency to make them more enduring through the elimination of the liquor traffic; that instead of lowering the women it will elevate the men. I expect to vote one ticket, my wife another; if I make a mistake, my wife neutral-izes it and there will be no dissension in the home on that account."

Rev. C. E. Taggart:—"Why should the franchise be granted to women?
Suppose we turn the question about and ask, "Why should it not be granted?" There does not appear to be any good reason why women should not vote. And if the women generally desire the ballot, by virtue of what prerogative can the men say to them "No, you cannot have it?"

If there were no other reason for giving them the ballot, this would be a convincing one with me, namely, that the liquor interests here in Michigan, as everywhere else, are unitedly and vigorously opposing it.

Finally, it is perfectly safe to say that if the women unite in wanting the ballot, they will certainly get it.
And the men who are opposing it might as well climb into the band wagon, or get out of the way.

Genlemen:—
Your editorial in regard to equal rights and good roads, which appeared in last week's issue, should meet the approval of every man, if he has the welfare of this great republic of ours at heart. I have always been an ardent advocate of equal suffrage and good roads, and I contend that those two questions at this time are synonymous, and should go hand in hand.

Some will say if you grant the women the right of franchise, you strike at the very foundation of our social system, sowing the seed of discord and rivalry, which can not but end disastrously to our monogamous family. Hush! Grant the woman equal rights, and you strengthen the family tie. Furthermore the responsibility of the ballot will have a tendency to make women better and broader citizens.

The enjoyment of the privileges of citizenship impose correlative duties and obligations, which no citizen should ignore. Among these chief duties is voting. Especially is this true in a country having our form of government, where a vote has an arithmetical value.
Majorities rule both in making our laws, and in choosing our officials;
hence it is evident that the stability of our government will ultimately depend upon the civic and moral virtues of its individual citizens.
Every individual should not only be a law-abiding citizen, but should take part in the making of those laws, and in the election of officers worthy to administer the laws when placed upon our statute books.
This is true for women as well as men. Women ought not therefore permit their traditional love for the virtues of home, their innate dignity, and becoming reserve, to prevent them from discharging the chiefest of civic obligations.

Suffragism may not be as old as the hills, but certain documents have been found in the ruins of "Pompeii," touching up equal suffrage in that ancient city. For the past fifteen years "New Zealand," has had equal suffrage. Even the "Nuns" in the convents of that country have advantage of the privilege granted them by casting their vote now and then. Equality of rights should always be recognized. Men cannot regard as their type of the ideal one, whom they try to command, and whom they have lowered by denying an equality of privileges with themselves. Six of our western states California, Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Washington and Wyoming, have emancipated woman by giving them the right to vote at all elections, and I hope to see Michigan follow the example of her western sisters at the coming election.

W. W. Boyle, St. James

R. J. Sundberg, Merchant of Copper City, Michigan, says: "For a good many years we have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in our family. It will quickly cure a cough or cold and we consider it a safe and sure cure." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.
Advertisement.

CONGRESSMAN AND SENATOR

(Continued from page 1)

five miles from Ann Arbor in the year 1838, graduated from the State University of Illinois in 1878, and from the Law Department of the University of Michigan in 1884, since which time I have been actively engaged in the practice of law. For the last twenty-one years I have practiced law in the city of Traverse City. Was mayor of the city, May 1900 to 1901. Have held one or two local appointed offices, but have never been a candidate, except as above mentioned for any elective public office. Have always been an earnest Republican up to the present year, and have done considerable active work for that party, but believe in the principles and leaders in the Progressive party, and joined that party the present spring.
I was both temporary and permanent chairman of their first state convention which was held in the city of Jackson this year.
I became a candidate for congressman on the National Progressive ticket at the earnest solicitation of members of the state central committee, and of other friends.

Frank D. Scott of Alpena, republican candidate for state senator is our present senator. During the last session he made a record as a faithful representative of the people and deserves re-election.

John L. Martin of Petoskey, is the democratic candidate.

See our line of Junior Oak Heaters, just the stove for a small room.
Prices $6.50 to $9.50. Charlevoix
Hdw. Co.—Advertisement. 42-1

Aluminum Powder.
To make aluminum powder very thin foil is first cut up into small span-gles. These are ground in a mill, and the powder is then sifted through fine cloth. The powder is used as a base for metallic paint and is especially valuable for metallic surfaces that are exposed to a great deal of wear. The powder is very soft and adhesive, like graphite.

See the great southern play "Human Nature" at Charlevoix Theater Monday evening October 21.—Advertisement.

Subscribe for the Courier.

HOW TO TAKE CARE OF A LAWN

A Great Many Things Must Be Considered.

BEAUTY AND USEFULNESS.

The Soil Is One of the Most Important Considerations—Sowing the Seed and Grading the Lawn Must Be Done Carefully.

In an effort to educate property owners in the art of making and keeping good lawns the department of agriculture has sent out a bulletin containing the results of experiments made by the bureau of soils and the bureau of plant industry. The whole subject, from the breaking of the ground to the culture of the grown grass, is treated thoroughly.

A lawn may vary in extent, the bottom says, from a few feet square at the side of steps leading to a brown-stone mansion to broad, expansive areas of an extensive park. Green grass is not only of great economic value, but it is also of great aesthetic value. The grass of the fields is the primary dependence of animal life, and it is nature's habit for feeding all erosive soils. Nature plows and edges and broken places and humanity proceeds to cover up such places with green grass.

A lawn is the accomplishment of ex-ery effort on the part of man to beautify the surroundings of his abiding place. The great increase of suburban

AN IDEAL LAWN IN GREEN MAWIL, PA.

and rural life has caused corresponding increases in interest in matters pertaining to the making and maintenance of lawns. Suburban railways, the extension of electric lines and the increasing return of man to the country are factors contributing to the growing interest in lawn making.

In general a lawn should be beautiful as well as useful. Its beauty depends upon the contour of the land, the color and texture of the grass and the uniformity of the turf. The use of the lawn is to provide a suitable setting for architectural adornment and landscape painting. Every device should be employed when working with small areas of ground as possible. The buildings should be well back, the foundation not too high, and the grading of the ground should be slightly convex.

The soil is one of the most important considerations that a gardener must contend with. It must be rich enough so that it will grow grass well without any additional chemical plant food. If fertilizer is then added grass seeds are sure to result in a flourishing lawn.

Bricks, boards and other coarse debris found in nearly all lawns are very detrimental to the proper movement of soil fluid. The moisture moves downward until it encounters a brick, at a distance of from three to four inches below the soil level. The water meets with no difficulty in getting to the edge of the brick and goes straight down, thus leaving the soil immediately below the brick unsupplied with moisture.

Now, when the opposite movement of soil fluid begins the water moves upward until it encounters the brick, and the soil immediately above the brick, which has in the meantime dried out, remains unsupplied with moisture, so that the grass suffers and dies out during a critical dry spell.
Bad spots on city lawns are more often than not found to be due to some such impediment to movement of capillary water.

The Old, Old Scorpion.
Scorpions are relics of prehistoric times. They have been in existence since the middle egyptian era, and through all the changes in environment in the millions of years which have elapsed they have remained practically the same in structural character, in habit. There is little if any evidence that these animals in the past days of their history have ever gained a firm hold by means other than those enployed at the present day.—London Standard.

SPECIAL SALE

OF

Ladies' Coats

This will be a Great Opportunity to get Your Winter Coat at the start of the Season

Sale will last until
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26

$25 Ladies' Coats, Plush, Chinchilla or Fancy weaves	$19.98
Sale price.....
$22.50 Ladies' Coats, Plush, Chinchilla or Fancy weaves, sale price.....	$17.48
$20.00 Ladies' Coats, Plush, Chinchilla or Fancy weaves, sale price.....	$14.98
$15.00 Ladies' Fancy Coats, Plush, Chinchilla, Fancy weaves, sale price.....	$10.98
$12.00 Ladies' Coats, Caracul, Chinchilla, or Fancy weaves, sale price.....	$8.98
$10.00 Ladies' Caracul Coats sale price.....	$6.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY
VANPELT BLOCK

Sunday in the Churches

METHODIST CHURCH

On Sunday services begin with morning class at 9:45, followed by preaching at 10:30. Subject, "A Lesson From the Street."
Sunday school meets at 12:00 m.
Epworth League holds its meeting at 1:30 p. m. Subject, "Who Made God?"
Evening sermon at 7:30 p. m.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Sunday school 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. at 6 p. m. Topic, "Christian Socialism." Leader, Earl Snethen.
Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.

CATHOLIC CHURCH

Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.
High Mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Other services announced the Sunday previous.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, Van-
Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a.
m.
Subject: "Doctrine of Atonement."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday
Thursday and Saturday from 2:00
to 5:00 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Morning service at 10:30.
Sunday school at noon.
Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.
Services at 8:00 a. m. on

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Meets at Carnegie Library at noon.
All men invited to attend.

W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. meeting last Friday at the home of Mrs. Oldham was a most interesting one. It was well attended.

The topic, "Why I Wear the White Ribbon," was ably handled by Mrs.
Parmelee, who gave an excellent talk on the beginning of W. C. T. U. in the crusade days, nearly forty years ago. This talk will be put into type for the benefit of those who did not have the pleasure of listening to the original. A "Song of Hope" was read by Mrs. Campbell. "Twelve reasons why we wear the White Ribbon," was read by Mrs. Atchison. Several suffrage songs were sung and enjoyed by all. Mrs. Wilkerson read a paper, which was written probably fifteen

The Problem Solved If You Buy a Florence Stove

The most wonderful heater of the Age for Soft Coal. Smoke, Gas and Clinkers are consumed in its operation.

The Florence will burn soft coal with the same regularity and cleanliness as hard coal and a steady, even temperature may be maintained at less than half the cost of hard coal.

The most Economical Stove on earth. Buying one is an investment—earning money all the time.

Remember it is not the original cost of a stove,
but what it costs to operate it that counts.

Investigate and learn what the Florence is.
You can not realize it unless you do. Ask us what your neighbors who have had Florence stoves for three or four years think of this stove.

The prices on Florence Stoves are $17.50 to $30
For the Largest Size

Charlevoix Hardware Company

or eighteen years ago by her mother, Mrs. R. C. Marshall of Painesville, Ohio, "Does the wife need the ballot?" in which she takes the affirmative in a decided matter.

It was decided to have a pot-luck supper at our next meeting which is to be held with Mrs. Wm. Wallace, Sr. in order to raise some money to put into the treasury. Due notice will be given later.

The following delegates were elected to attend the District W. C.
T. U. convention, which is to be held at Gaylord October 23 and 24. Mesdames Lewis, Shockley, Edwards, Parrish and Wilkerson; alternates,
Mesdames Oldham, Wildsicht, Engleton, Blair and Denton. Mrs.
Alexand Mrs. Burdick are delegates by virtue of their office.
It is to be hoped that a good delegation will attend as much can be gained. A report of the convention will be taken by the delegates, dividing the work among them.

Courier Rates on application

WE OFFER

the services of 11 Teachers and the use of the finest equipment for training Young Men and Women in every good subject in Business. Our New Catalog explains fully. Send us a post card requesting a copy. It will show you something about the oldest, yet most modern business school in our state. Address: Detroit Business University, 50 West
Grand River Ave., Detroit, Mich.
E. R. SHAW, President.

Notice of Hearing of Claims.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for
the County of Charlevoix.
In the matter of the estate of John C.
Newman, deceased.
Notice is hereby given that six months from the 7th day of October, A. D. 1912, have been allowed for creditors to present their claims against said deceased to said court for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court at the probate office in the City of Charlevoix in said county, on or before the 7th day of April, A. D. 1913, and that said claims will be heard by said court on Monday the 7th day of April,
A. D. 1913 at ten o'clock in the forenoon.
Dated October 7th, A. D. 1912.
John M. Harris
Judge of Probate

Call Up 125
and let us convince you that we appreciate
Your Patronage
By the service we give
QUALITY AND PRICES
That Cannot Be Beat
Van Allsburg's Market
Corner Austin and State Streets

Charlevoix Theatre

MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1912

Beautiful Scenic Production of

HUMAN HEARTS

With a splendid cast Powerful and Impressive Greatest play before the Public

Prices, 25c, 35c, 50c, Boxes 75c

Seats on Sale at Central Drug Store. Curtain 8:30

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

W. W. Boyls of St. James is in the city today.

Jack Shier of East Jordan, was a caller here Sunday.

Born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wells, a girl.

J. W. Newberry of Petoskey, was a caller here Saturday.

W. H. Griffin of Boyne City, was a caller here Saturday.

Miss Isabelle Hines visited at Petoskey the first of the week.

A. Schehrat of Petoskey was a business caller here Monday.

Mrs. Marshall of Bliss, is visiting at the home of William Scroggie, Jr.

Mr. P. L. Anderson of Petoskey visited relatives here the first of the week.

Mrs. J. C. Stuart of Alpena joined her husband and daughter here last week.

J. G. Frowling has returned to his home at Traverse City after a short visit here.

Mrs. Thomas Hartwell died early this morning of pneumonia after a short illness.

Miss Lena Cram has returned here after spending the summer at Wequetonsing.

Ralph Dye of Boyne Falls was in the city the latter part of the week on business.

Mrs. Huntington has returned home after a week's visit with relatives at Chicago.

Miss Gertrude Heath left for the Beaver Islands today for a brief visit with relatives.

Mrs. Edward Daniels of Chicago, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. O. D. Hammond.

Mrs. Floyd Bettes left Friday for Detroit where she will act as delegate for the Rebekas.

Mrs. Lyman Merrill and Mrs. Mary Eldridge of Petoskey visited friends here last week.

The Lady Maccabees will serve a supper at the Odd Fellows hall next Tuesday evening.

Charles Novak and R. A. Emrey made a trip to East Jordan Sunday in the latter's machine.

Miss Julia Montford has returned to her home at Grand Rapids after a short visit with friends.

Cleo Lapeer arrived here the latter part of the week after a short visit in southern Michigan.

W. H. Griffin of the Boyne City Times was in the city Saturday taking in the produce exhibit.

Frank Webster of Toledo, Ohio, visited with his brother Amos and family the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Scroggie, Sr. and grandson Valdeen visited relatives in Hayes, Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Myers' condition is very much improved. She is now able to sit up a few hours each day.

Mrs. Andy McCall, Sr., left Saturday for Manistiquie, where she was called by the death of an uncle.

Mrs. Louise Niles of Sault Ste. Marie arrived here today for a brief visit with Miss Kathryn Lapeer.

Miss Mayfred Stacks left the latter part of the week for Chicago, where she will spend the winter.

The Hotel Elston closed today for the winter months owing to Mrs. Noble's poor state of health.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mercier have returned from Waukegan where they visited friends the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald of East, Michigan, are visiting at the home of M. B. Hooker and family.

Fourteen suffrage leaders from this city attended a suffrage meeting in Boyne City last Friday night.

Mrs. L. E. Geer left the first of the week for Grand Rapids where she will spend the winter with relatives.

Don't forget the big Halloween party at the home of A. M. Wilkinson October 30. Come in costume.

Mrs. Neilson returned to her home in Chicago today after spending the summer in Garden Island.

C. W. Marshall left last night for Saginaw, his new headquarters in the Equitable Life Insurance Company.

Mrs. Brown has returned to her home at Alma after a brief visit with her daughter, a high school teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hyland of East Jordan are in the city today, the former enroute to Flint on a business visit.

John B. Watson, a well known druggist of Boyne City died Thursday morning. He leaves a wife and four children.

Mr. and Mrs. Saville of the Petoskey Sanitarium spent Monday at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. A. J. Shockey.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. DeVoe of Sherman, Michigan, arrived here Thursday for a visit with their son, L. M. DeVoe and wife.

Miss Ethel Brady who returned last week from her vacation visit, has resumed her duties as saleslady in the McCann bakery.

Chatterton & Son have commenced receiving beans and potatoes at the seed house, the first having come in yesterday.

Mrs. Corn Gray, who spent the summer at Wequetonsing, has been spending a few days in the city enroute to Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Jessie Arnold of Pontiac, who was called here by the death of her grandfather, Aldin Chamberlin, returned home today.

The family of W. L. Fairchild joined him here this week. Mr. Fairchild is the new salesman in the Emrey Clothing Store.

Frank Berge of Bay City, formerly manager of the Beutel Fish company of this city, was a business caller the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Darling, who spent the summer here, have left for Hot Springs, Arkansas, where they expect to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter returned to their home in Lansing the latter part of last week, after a week's visit with their son, D. Carpenter.

Married, Wednesday, October 15, by Rev. Walker, at the M. E. parsonage, Oscar Reitzel and Miss Mary Graves, both of East Jordan.

Dean Scroggie had the misfortune to break some of the small bones of his left hand Saturday during the foot ball game with Petoskey.

The progressives have opened headquarters in the building formerly occupied by Green's law office with E. S. Stacks in charge.

Richard Nicholls left Monday for his home in England after an extended visit with his brother, Hon. John Nicholls, and other relatives.

Hon. James W. Helme of Adrian spoke at the Democratic rally at Wilbur's hall Tuesday night. A fair sized crowd was in attendance.

Hon. Parin C. Gilbert of Traverse City and Judge Harris of Boyne City spoke at a Republican meeting at the Charlevoix theatre Monday night.

John A. Newville of Boyne City was in the city the first of the week on business connected with the Patron's Mutual Fire Insurance company.

Married Thursday October 10, at the M. E. parsonage by Rev. Walker, Mrs. Rose Farmer and Russel Herick both well known young people of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder, who have been visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. L. M. DeVoe, returned Saturday to their home in Mt. Pleasant.

Governor Osborn has issued a proclamation designating October 27 as tuberculosis day and recommending its observance throughout the state.

County Treasurer Lewis is attending the Grand Lodge of L. O. O. F. at Detroit this week. H. C. Cooper is taking his place in the office during his absence.

A motor-cycle party consisting of two parties from Petoskey, Clarence Withers and Robert Mahill, Jr. of this city, left the latter part of the week for Detroit.

Miss M. Miller returned to her home at Cadillac today after having spent the summer visiting relatives here and at Charlevoix.—Boyne City Journal.

There will be a regular meeting of Court Charlevoix, No. 810, L. O. F., next Monday evening October 21. A good attendance is desired. Refreshments will be served.

Florence, the baby girl of Elmer Gallup of Hayes, died Tuesday of last week. The funeral was held from the house Wednesday, Rev. George Atchison officiating.

Regular communication of Charlevoix lodge No. 282 F. & A. M. Tuesday evening October 28. A good attendance is desired as very important business will come before the lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, the former being a noted artist, spent Friday with Dr. Armstrong and family, enroute to their home in Chicago after spending the summer on Garden Island.

The Charlevoix Equal Suffrage Association will be very glad to meet all women interested in the question of equal suffrage, in the music room, high school building, Saturday, October 19, at 4 p. m.

According to statistics compiled by Auditor-General Fuller the receipts from the mortgage tax law for the first eleven months amounted to $266,320. This amount exceeds the expectations of the state officials.

An examination for the position of postmaster at Norwood will be held in this city November 16. The compensation of the postmaster last year was $112. Further information can be secured from the postmaster at Norwood or the local secretary at the Charlevoix postoffice.

Rev. Atchison left last Monday for Bay City to attend the Baptist Annual State convention also expecting to spend a few days in Grand Rapids on way home. There will be no preaching next Sunday at the Baptist church or at the Marion Town Hall in the afternoon.

The slate convention of the order of the Eastern Star was held at Grand Rapids last week, with more than 2,000 delegates and visitors in attendance. The time of the election of officers was changed from fall to spring. Mrs. Minnie Keyes of Olivet was elected Grand Matron.

Last Friday at the Baptist parsonage occurred the marriage of Miss Ethel Wooley and Charles O. Davis, both of this city. For several years, Miss Wooley has acted as clerk in Beaudoin's ice cream parlors, during that time winning many friends, while Mr. Davis has been employed in the bottling works.

"Human Hearts" Charlevoix theatre Monday evening.—Advertisement.

Masquerade at Rink.

Friday night a masquerade will be given at the roller rink. Prizes are offered for the best caricature and comic costumes. Only those who are masked will be allowed to skate after nine o'clock, when unmasking will take place and general skating follow until 10:30.

What? Halloween Masque party? Where? Home of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Wilkinson.

When? October 30, 1912.

Who? Everyone in costume.

By whom? Epworth League.

Advertisement. 42-1

See the great southern play "Human Hearts" at Charlevoix theatre Monday evening October 21.—Advertisement.

THEATRICAL

"Human Hearts."

"Human Hearts" the melodramatic success announced at the Charlevoix theatre, October 21 appeals to every class of playgoers. It deals with a story that tears the heart interest from beginning to end. "Tom Logan" an honest young blacksmith in the Arkansas Hills, falls in love with and marries a reformed confidence woman. The dull country life soon palls on her. She accidentally meets her former lover and pal. Without any just cause they conspire together to ruin Tom and kill him if necessary. The woman calls him while her accomplice conceals himself. The father of Tom responds and is mistaken for the "Young Blacksmith." He is fatally stabbed by the ambitious man. Tom, coming out to see where his father is, is accused by the adventuress and her "pal" of the murder. He is finally sentenced on that charge. But his friends ultimately establish his innocence and he is released. Retribution overtakes his villainous and murderous accusers. No play of its kind possesses a stronger plot or more sensational incidents. The serious element is mingled with comedy, forming a combination that never fails to touch a responsive chord in the heart of playgoers.

For Sale or Trade.

Pair light hobs sleighs, light wagon, enter nearly new, two single harnesses. Will sell for cash or trade for three-foot wood. Inquire at Hotel Elston. 39-1

GO TO FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Baker Will Manage the Austin at Daytona.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Baker, and daughter Doris, leave this week for Daytona, Florida, where they will take charge of "The Austin" the coming winter.

As managers and owners of the Beach Hotel and the cottages, which are connected with it, for several years, they have, by the courteous attention with which they have looked after the welfare of their guests, made it one of the most popular summer hotels in the country, and while the Austin is not as large as "The Beach" they will probably meet with an equal measure of success in Florida.

Wanted to Rent.

House with six or eight rooms. Modern improvements. Inquire of Leon F. Bruner.—Advertisement. 42-1

Missionary Society.

The October meeting of the missionary society of the Congregational church will be held at the home of Mrs. G. C. Geiken, Friday afternoon. Subject: India, the nation, home life, the woman.

Mrs. M. E. Heston will read recent letters from her daughter, Doctor Heston of India. Favorite texts.

Some Fine Sheep

To let out on shares. Call on Charles See at S. M. See & Sons Furniture store.—Advertisement 42-1

New Meat Market.

Charles Jefferies has opened a new meat market in S. Orlovski Sons' store building. His long experience in the meat business is an assurance that his patrons will receive the best of service.

The Lady Maccabees will serve supper at the Odd Fellows hall, Tuesday October 22, from 5:00 to 7:00 p. m. Price 15 cents.—Advertisement. 42-1

"Human Hearts" Charlevoix theatre Monday evening.—Advertisement.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head: 1 cent per word first insertion; half rate each week thereafter. No ad less than 15c first insertion.

FOR SALE—One team horses. Phone No. 120. 42-1

FOR SALE—Nonrow hot air furnace, in good condition, Dr. F. H. Wilkinson, 411 42-1

LOST—A red sweater with smoked pearl buttons. Finder leave at this office. 41 42-1

FOR SALE—Three bit, store tables, finished all mission style, will sell cheap. Inquire at Palace Clothing Store. 39-1

FOR RENT—Furnished modern house, Park avenue, furnace, two bath rooms. From now until May 1. Moderate rent. Inquire at this office. 40-1

FARM FOR SALE—One hundred and six acre farm three and one-half miles southwest of Bay Shore. Good land. Fair house, good barn, windmill, 50 acres wooded. Sylvester Shiner—Bay Shore Mich. 3-1

CRANE'S

DO YOU KNOW OUR GUARANTY?

It is very important to both of us. All goods sold here are guaranteed to endure the test of wear; money paid here is regarded as "on call." We guarantee entire satisfaction as to price, as to style, as to wear, you are to be satisfied on all these points.

You can see what that means to us; it means the utmost care in buying and the most pains-taking expert service in selling; it means that we must deserve your confidence if we want to keep it. To you it means your money back if you want it.

On Saturday, Oct. 19

For One Day Only

We offer from a mill purchase 2,000 yards full width

Heavy Outing Flannels

Light and dark patterns

6³/₄c Yard

10 yards only to each customer

Now is the time to get your Winter's supply of

Bed Blankets

We have them in all prices ranging from the 50c Outing Blanket

TO THE

$5.00 Wool Blanket

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

Silverware

Don't buy Silverware until you see my Goods and get my Prices

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

The Courier Brightens the Home. Does it yours?

Save your coupons with Iron Duke or White Rose
Flour and get a Set of Dishes

Read the following letter:

Alden, Mich., Sept. 24, 1912

Argo Milling Co.
Dear Sirs:—

Received the set of china last week. They are entirely satisfactory. It is so seldom that premium goods live up to ones expectations that it is an event worth mentioning.

Thanking you for the same I remain,

Yours respectfully,

E. A. Cranmer

Argo Milling Co.

Grange Column

Charlevoix Grange.

Charlevoix grange met in regular session Monday night with a fair attendance. Worthy Master Ward presiding.

Brother Hammond gave a report of the county convention. Brother John A. Newville of Harmony grange gave a short talk on grange fire insurance.

Lecturer's hour was taken up by short talks by different members, a talk by Brother Chew of South Ariz., recitation by Sister Meggison and music by Sister Dutton.

Lecturer promised a good program for next meeting October 28.

Marion Center Grange.

Marion Center grange met in regular session October 9.

All arrangements were made for the plowing match. A committee on sports was elected and donations asked from the members which met with a good response.

The lecturer's hour was taken up with speeches on woman suffrage by Miss Hines, Mrs. Campbell, and Dr. Wilkinson of Charlevoix, also songs by Dr. Wilkinson.

After grange closed the ladies served lunch in the dining room and thirty-six members and visitors were made happy.

Wilson Grange No. 719.

Wilson grange met in regular session Saturday October 12, with an attendance of twenty-five members.

Worthy Master George Jaquays called the meeting to order and during the business session one application for membership was received. Finance committee examined records and reported a balance of $207 on hand.

The following officers were chosen by the members of Wilson grange for State grange offices.

N. P. Hull, State Master
Jennie Buell, Secretary
Members of Executive committee:
T. H. McNullin, George B. Horton,
A. W. Thompson, R. A. Brintnall.

After which the lecturer's program consisting of several readings and an interesting discussion of the Western Michigan Development Bureau. Members voted to have supper next meeting.

50 Girls Wanted.

At the seed house to pick over beans. We are ready to take in beans or potatoes at any time. For information apply to George Brown. Phone office 73-2r. House, 73-3r. Chatterton & Son, Ferry Seed Warehouse.—Advertisement. 1-411f

Supervisors in Session.

The board of supervisors met in regular October session Monday morning. Up to date no business of importance has been transacted. The committees are all hard at work and hope to complete the business of the session this week. Tomorrow morning the election of officers has been made a special order, and Friday the matter of raising funds for the building of county roads will be taken up.

Glasses Fitted.

Consult J. Leahy the optometrist at Baker's Inn, Thursday October 31, one day only. Headache and dizziness cured, crooked eyes straightened, fitting children's eyes a specialty. Glasses guaranteed to fit. 42-1-2 (Advertisement.)

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

On Monday of last week, the class gathered the cucumbers and put them in salt water.

Miss Hines attended a grange meeting at Marion Center on Wednesday evening of last week. She reported having had a fine time and brought greetings, for the class, from Miss Grace Meggison, class '08.

The class discussed the political parties and their platforms, last week, in connection with current events.

The committees appointed last week were as follows: housekeepers, Miss Hazel Mills and Hazel Gilmarlin; editors, Misses Mabel Dunlop and Agnes North, and on the venting committee, Miss Dessie Groenink and Mr. George Hamlin.

Miss Hazel Mills substituted as teacher in Miss Hamshe's room on Friday afternoon of last week, on account of the illness of Miss Hamshe.

An interesting letter was received from Miss Andie Delaney, class '11, who is teaching near Boyne Falls.

Miss Florence McKee, class '11, who is teaching near Boyne City, visited at the normal room Friday afternoon of last week.

Last week an interesting letter was received from Miss Jessie Metz, class '08, who is teaching near Iron-ton.

C. H. S. NOTES.

Mr. Bashaw was at the High school building on business Thursday.

The faculty enjoyed a pot-luck supper at High school building Wednesday.

Two new typewriters have been procured.

Miss Genevieve Durand was absent from school last week on account of illness.

Miss Essie Gear, Miss Alice Hale and Mr. Willis Brown were visitors at the High school building last week.

The Physiography class began laboratory work last week.

The monthly tests were given last week and consequently some of the swelling has left the freshmen's heads. Wonder why?

It has been decided to have a fire drill at least once a month and Lynn Thomas and Dwight McGeagh were appointed assistants to help keep order at the stairways.

The Chemistry class believe it would be well to give the students in the assembly room the following notice:—If loud explosions and shrieks of students disturb you remain quietly in your seats as it is only the Chemistry class experimenting with hydrogen, a tin can and air.

There once was a zealous Chemistry lad,
Who, upon experimenting was bent.
He used some Hydrogen, a tin can and air.

And directly to heaven he went.
Mr. Johnson of Case college, Cleveland, was at the High school building, Monday, October 14 and spoke to the students.

The bell will ring ten minutes earlier for the High school students so as to give more time for the roll call.

Subscribe for the Courier

FAKE LAND DEAL

Bad Swindle Recently Worked on Ohio Men at Cadillac.

When Ulrich Rudy of Toledo, was informed by County Clerk Flynn that his son was the victim of a fake land deal he nearly fainted. Mr. Rudy is an old man, nearly seventy, and the shock nearly overcame him. It was on August 2 that his son, Harry Rudy, and partner, Charles Sherrick, traded a gristmill worth $3,000 and 200 acres of land in Clark county, Kentucky, for 600 acres of land in Wexford county. The deed calls for sections 14, 15 and 16 of township 14 N., range 10 E., section 36. The swindle was accomplished through a fake abstract. The land in question belongs to Cumber Diggins company, R. G. Peters and Walter Stocking. The purchasers had never seen the land but bought on the strength of recommendations made by a Toledo real estate curb broker. The present whereabouts of Fredericks are unknown but Mr. Rudy believes they will be able to locate the broker and if the deeds they gave have not yet passed into the hands of innocent purchasers they may be able to get their land and gristmill back, but will no doubt lose the bonus money they paid. It is one of the most high-handed land swindles ever pulled off in this county. Mr. Rudy took the afternoon train today for Toledo.—Cadillac Globe.

MORE THAN A MILLION

Less Barrels of Beer Consumed in United States Last Year.

The importance it deserves has not been given to the fact that the consumption of beer in the United States fell off by more than a million barrels last year. The large fact in this connection rests in the knowledge that had it not been for the effect and success of anti-saloon efforts and the increase of prohibition and local option territory the sale of beer would have been increased last year by more than a hundred million barrels. During recent years, in their national and state conventions, brewers have always opened their proceedings with congratulatory announcements of the satisfactory increase in their trade. But they do not admit now that the fight is going strongly against them and the lessened beer sales of more than a million barrels last year, in spite of desperate efforts to hold their business, is the beginning of an end that is certain and is rapidly approaching.

COL. ROOSEVELT SHOT

While Leaving His Hotel in Milwaukee—Wound Will Not Prove Fatal.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, progressive candidate for president, was shot in the breast, while he was leaving his hotel in Milwaukee, by a New York German named John Schrenck.

Colonel Roosevelt proceeded to the Auditorium and made a speech with the bullet in his body, refusing to permit physicians to examine the wound until he had finished his speech, after which he was taken to a hospital where it was decided that the wound would not prove fatal unless complications set in.

OUR COUNTY FINANCES

As Reported by County Treasurer Lewis for the Month of September.

The report of the county treasurer for the month of September is as follows:

RECEIPTS
Balance on hand September 1st, 1912	$217,501.55
Received from delinquent taxes	2,500.00
Received from redemption certificates	27.98
Received from general fund	62.23
Received from one fund	12.00
Received from library fund	140.00
Received from mortgage tax	118.50
Received from Charles Zeiler interest on inheritance tax	98.00
Received from State of Michigan, for Chandler and Eveline townships	6.32
Received from State of Michigan, ending June 30th	127.62
Total	$219,029.71
DISBURSEMENTS
General fund	$1,256.77
Poor fund	102.94
Circuit court orders	1,067.20
Probate court orders	30.80
Soldier's relief fund	2.00
Mortgage tax	78.25
State of Michigan, for ending June 30th	1,217.46
State of Michigan, interest on inheritance tax	98.00
Balance on hand Sept. 1st, 1912	6,990.32
Total	$219,029.71

Dated, Charlevoix, Mich., Oct. 7, 1912.

RICHARD LEWIS, County Treasurer.

Card of Thanks.

Many thanks for the kind interest friends manifested in the death and burial of my beloved husband.

Mrs. Aldin Chamberlin
Mrs. Will Arnold,
—Advertisement.

25 Men Wanted

At once. Charlevoix Rock Product Company. Charlevoix, Michigan.—Advertisement. 41-1-2

ANNOUNCEMENT

I have received my Fall and Winter Stock of

5-A Blankets - Fur Coats
Sheep-lined Coats
Mackinaws Soo Woolen Goods
Gloves and Mittens

In looking over my stock I find I have over-bought and must sell this large stock and in order to do so, must make the Prices low. You will receive the benefit, as I must sell

See this large stock and you will save DOLLARS. Watch this place for Prices.

Benj. Brown

SPECIAL BLANKET SALE

Now that the cool nights are here, you probably need a pair of good warm All-wool or Cotton Fleece Blankets. We have them. Think of it. You can buy of us a pair of

All Wool Blankets, extra large for - $4.75
Others of standard size for $4.00 and $4.25

These Blankets were bought early in the season before the advance in prices, hence the extra low prices. Don't fail to come before the best patterns are gone.

A beautiful set of Rogers Silverware given to our customers every Saturday evening

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable House Furnishers

See Block

Bridge Street

AUCTION SALE

Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Cut Glass Silverware, Brass and China

My entire stock of the above goods to be sold at Auction is the store building

FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY THE COHEN SISTERS

three doors south of Baker's Inn. I wish to devote my entire time to the Picture Show and take this method of disposing of my stock quickly. The goods I offer are all standard make and quality not "JUNK." My Watches, Elgin, Waltham, Durber, Hampden, Illinois, etc., and guaranteed in first class condition.

Afternoons 3:00 Evenings 7:30

Every Afternoon and Evening Until Stock is Sold

Don't miss this Opportunity to Pick up your Christmas Presents, as you will buy at your own Price.
Stanley Wildern.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 43

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

WILL PROTECT LAND BUYERS

Proposed New Real Estate Organization Has Merit.

ITS NEED CONSIDERED GREAT

Fair, Dealing and Truthful Advertising is Absolutely Necessary.

Legislature Will be Asked to Pass Three Measures to Insure Fair Dealing Between Agent and Purchaser.

The proposed organization of the real-estate men of the state and particularly those of western Michigan, will be perfected at the Land and Apple show which will be held in Grand Rapids on November 15, promises much for this section of the state, once it is put into practical operation. The formation of this organization will enable the reliable dealers of the state to combat the wildcat concerns which make a specialty of misleading inferior lands upon unsuspecting buyers and thereby creating distrust among the people of the motives of real estate men in general. The great majority of the dealers in the state are honest and are doing their best to satisfy their customers and make permanent citizens of them. In order to do this fair dealing and truthful advertising is necessary and in order to insure this policy it is thought best to form an organization which will work in harmony at all times and with a common purpose in view, to build up the state from the best class of people possible.

This meeting will be presided over by Heber A. Knott, and the first session will be held in the Coliseum Friday forenoon, November 15, followed by a session in the afternoon on the same day. It is intended to ask the next legislature to pass three bills for the welfare of the state at large. The first will be a measure to license real estate dealers, charging them a sufficient fee to make the organization effective, and any one who is guilty of misrepresenting a deal to a customer can be put out of business by having his license revoked upon the presentation of the proper proofs. The second measure to be asked for is a blue sky law, which would prevent wildcat firms from selling land located at the bottom of a lake or in a swamp, or other place that could never be reclaimed. Third, the organization will ask that the state appoint an agricultural commission whose duty it will be to make an examination of the pine barrens of the state and ascertain whether or not they can ever be developed into valuable farming or fruit lands. The formation of this organization and the passage of these measures will go a great way toward fostering the development of the northern part of the state and especially the territory comprised in the twenty counties now in the bureau. The time is ripe for such a campaign and the sooner it is put into actual operation the better it will be for not only western Michigan but for the entire state. It will give an official sanction to the work and will insure fair treatment to the prospective settler, who is assured that nothing will be misrepresented to him when he comes here to purchase a home and become a citizen. The real estate men are taking kindly to the idea and most of them are very enthusiastic over the changed proposed.

Camping at Oyster Bay.

A party consisting of George Brewer of Saginaw, and H. E. McHugh, E. R. VanLeuvan and Joe Powers of this city, left Monday morning for a ten days' outing at Oyster Bay. The boys will get the benefit of all there is to camp life and spend the time hunting and fishing. Watch out for tales of wonderful shots and the "big one that got away" next week.

Some Fine Sheep

To let out on shares. Call on Charles See at S. M. See & Sons Furniture store—Advertisement 421

NARROW ESCAPE

W. H. White and Son, of Boyne City, in Auto Accident.

While W. H. White and son, Kyle, were on their way to Alpena last week, they had one of the most thrilling experiences they had ever come up against. They were speeding along at a good clip and had made one turn in the road, which at that point was smooth as a pavement, but the driver had forgotten about a second turn. As they approached this, the big machine was turning off a 50-mile clip or better, and when the turn was observed, the car was slightly slowed down, but the high speed prevented a quick stop, and the driver thought they could make the turn all right. Instead of taking the turn properly, the car slewed in the sand and started to tip over, when the driver righted the car and ran straight ahead. In a flash it ploughed through a wire fence several strands high, tore out five fence posts and continued on into the field until the car buried its front wheels in some ploughed ground.

No one was hurt and no extensive damage was done to the car, but the quick action of the driver in taking chances on the fence instead of the curve, probably saved the party from being killed or seriously injured.

CANDIDATES OF MINOR PARTIES

Democratic and Socialist Candidates for the Different County Offices.

Neither Have Named Candidates for Prosecutor, Commissioner or Coroner.

The minority parties in this county have both nominated tickets this year and are putting up an active campaign to get out a full party vote. This city is well represented on both the Democratic and Socialist tickets.

The Democratic candidate for representative, William J. Lewis, a prominent business man of Boyne City, is one of the best known Democrats in the county. At present Mr. Lewis is one of the supervisors from his city. William W. Washburn, a well known boat builder of this city, is the Socialist candidate.

For judge of probate the Democrats have nominated William Herachell Miller, supervisor from the third ward of Charlevoix. Mr. Miller is one of our very best citizens and no man in Charlevoix is more highly esteemed by everybody.

E. H. Shepard of Boyne City, is the Socialistist candidate. Mr. Shepard has been before the people several times and needs no introduction.

Thomas Bacot of Charlevoix is the Democratic choice for sheriff. Mr. Bacot has been a life long supporter of Democratic principles, and is a good citizen.

W. H. Cook, supervisor of Charlevoix township, is the Socialist candidate.

George Finnican of this city was chosen by the Democrats as the standard bearer for the office of county clerk. Mr. Finnican is one of Charlevoix's best young men.

Albert Holmes, a prominent contractor of this city, is the nominee of the Socialists.

For treasurer, John Barus, a well known business man of Charlevoix has received the Democratic nomination.

Oliver F. Johnson of Boyne City is the choice of the Socialists.

Hyron J. Quick, a prominent Boyne City business man, is the choice of the Democrats for register of deeds. The Socialists have chosen David H. Francis a Boyne City business man.

Joseph Howey is the Socialist candidate for drain commissioner, while the same party have named David C. Nettleton of this city as their favorite for surveyor.

To the Voters of Charlevoix County.

I am the nominee of the Democratic party for the office of Judge of Probate. If elected to that office I shall serve the people in the best of my ability. I respectfully solicit your support. W. Herschel Miller.—Advertisement 432

EVERY MAN ON TICKET CHOSEN BY YOUR VOTES

And Are Entitled to Your Support at the Coming Election—Split in Republican Ranks Should Not Prevent Election of Every Candidate For Each Respective County Office.

The campaign which will close on the night of November fourth, has been a curious one. For the first time since the birth of political parties in American history, the contest is between the candidates of two political parties, the followers of whom were so largely in the majority that the candidates of the minor parties cut no figure in the final outcome, but this year it is conceded that the candidates of three parties, Republican, Democratic and Progressive, are liable to elect the man of their choice as president.

Charlevoix county is a Republican county. By a big majority she has always been found in the Republican column when the votes were counted, and a large majority of the voters of this county believe in Republican principles. Notwithstanding this fact, there is no one disputing the fact that there is a big sentiment for the Bull Moose ticket, and Colonel Roosevelt is going to receive an enormous vote.

It is every man's right to cast his vote as he sees fit, and if a Republican desires to aid in the election of Professor Wilson, by the usual method of supporting Colonel Roosevelt, which will either elect Mr. Wilson or throw the choice into the hands of representatives, it is his privilege and right as an American citizen, and we believe they will give expression to their honest opinions.

We wish, however, to ask you who have firmly made up your mind to vote the Progressive ticket, if any reason exists why you should not support the Republican county ticket? Every man on the ticket was chosen by your votes at the primary, and unless some reason has developed since then, are entitled to your support.

In another column we tell you who the Democratic and Socialist candidates are, and while they are all good citizens of this county, we believe the Republican ticket will not suffer by comparison.

H. F. McMillan of East Jordan, candidate for representative, is one of the best known men in the county. He has made a success of his private business—would he not prove equally capable in looking after your business at Lansing? The line of business which he has followed has brought him in touch with the needs of the farmers, and he will be able to look after the legislation demanded by the agricultural interests in an intelligent manner, and all interests will be assured of a capable representative.

SCHOOL FUNDS MORE THAN TAX

In Two-Thirds of the Counties in Michigan Including Charlevoix.

In Twenty-Eight Counties it is Reversed—Charlevoix County Way Ahead.

Charlevoix is one of the counties in Michigan wherein the school apportionment exceeds the state taxes. According to the report of Auditor General Fuller, the apportionment of primary school money in various counties of the state exceeds the state tax paid by all the counties by $92,847.25. The other counties where the school apportionment exceeds the state tax are:

Alcona, Alger, Allegan, Arenac, Baraga, Bay, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Clare, Crawford, Delta, Dickinson, Gladwin, Grand Traverse, Gratiot, Huron, Isabella, Kalamazoo, Lake, Leapeer, Leelanau, Mackinac, Manistee, Mason, Mecosta, Montcalm, Montmorency, Muskegon, Newaygo, Oceana, Ogemaw, Osceola, Oscoda, Otsego, Ottawa, Presque Isle, Roscommon, Saginaw, Sanilac, Schoolcraft, Shiawassee, St. Clair, Tuscola, Van Buren, Wexford.

Of the twenty-eight counties in

S. A. Correll, candidate for judge of probate, has long represented his township on the board of supervisors, where he has gained the reputation of being a man who would always vote and speak for that which he believed to be right, even if he stood alone. Mr. Correll is a farmer, but has been admitted to the bar and followed the legal profession for several years, although he retired from active practice several years ago. His knowledge of law will be of the utmost value in settling the many questions which arise in the probate court, and we firmly believe that the widows and orphans of this county will find in him a wise councillor and friend.

Sheriff Robbins and Prosecuting Attorney Finch are asking for second terms. Has there been a time in the history of Charlevoix county, when the peace of the county has been kept in a better manner than in the past two years? Law breakers have been taught that they could not ply their professions in this county; that the officers of the law were vigilant, and while economical, the law has been strictly enforced.

Mr. Payton, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Emrey are all familiar with the duties of the positions they seek. The position of clerk is an important one. He is charged with keeping the permanent records of the county. Do you believe that any man, no matter how competent, could step into the office and give you as good service as Mr. Lewis, for several weeks, at least?

The same is true of treasurer. Mr. Payton made a record as county treasurer as a faithful custodian of the public funds, and you know that with him again in charge, everything will be all right. Is it wise to make a change?

When a man sells a piece of property or asks for a loan, the first question asked is "how is your title?" He must satisfy the purchaser or money lender on that point. Romeo A. Emrey has made a study of the real estate descriptions of Charlevoix county, and personally conducts the affairs of the office of register of deeds. The bankers and business men who have business with the office, tell you that Mr. Emrey cannot be excelled as a careful, painstaking official in this most important office.

The candidates for coroner, surveyor and drain commissioner are all capable men, and fully competent to fill the positions they seek.

which state taxes exceed the primary school fund apportionment, Wayne county leads with an excess of $214,686.79.

In a majority of counties containing large towns or cities, state taxes exceed the primary apportionment, but in the smaller counties the result is reversed. Charlevoix county pays $22,576.32 and receives $14,314.95.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

W. H. Woodley, Formerly of Charlevoix, Hurt While Playing Football.

Word received from Childress, Texas, gives the information that W. H. Woodley, formerly superintendent of the Charlevoix public schools, was badly injured while playing football at that place a few days ago.

The letter states that Mr. Woodley is now rapidly recovering from his injuries, and the physicians in charge have every hope for his ultimate recovery, if he continues to improve as he has in the past few days.

The news to Mr. Woodley's many Charlevoix friends, while a surprise regarding the accident, is very gratifying as to his condition, and it is hoped that he will soon be able to again resume his duties.

Bad Fire at Frederic.

Fire destroyed a large amount of property in Frederic last week. The fire started in the Callahan Hotel, and had gained great headway before discovered. Adjacent building and dwelling houses were burned, including the town hall and sheds.

MUST RE-REGISTER

Every Voter in This City Must Do so or They Cannot Vote.

Every voter in the city of Charlevoix must re-register this fall or he cannot vote at the election in November. It makes no difference how many times you have been registered or enrolled, you must re-register on Saturday November 2. The places for registration in this city have been fixed by the council for the following places.

First Ward—Hose House; Second Ward—City Clerk's office; Third Ward—Joseph Cooper's store.

ROOSEVELT'S PICTURE

Will Appear at the Head of Progressive Party Ticket at Ballot.

The secretary of state has been furnished with the National Progressive party vignette to be placed at the head of the ticket on the official ballot. The picture of Roosevelt is surrounded with the words, "National Progressive Party."

The order of the parties on the ballot according to law is as follows: Republican, first; Democratic, second; Prohibition, third; Socialist, fourth; Socialist Labor, fifth; and National Progressive last.

P. M. AGAIN CHANGES TIME

First Train in Morning Now Leaves Charlevoix at 8:20 A. M.

Necessity of Work Trains Causes Officials to Give More Running Time.

Commencing last Monday, a new time card went into effect on the Pere Marquette, providing for trains as follows:

No. 6, south, leaves Charlevoix 8:20 a. m.
No. 8, south, leaves Charlevoix 2:32 a. m.
No. 1, north, leaves Charlevoix 4:11 p. m.
No. 3, north, leaves Charlevoix 9:41 p. m.

While it was supposed that the regular winter schedule went into effect some time ago, it was found necessary to make still another change on account of the large amount of work that is being done on the line and the consequent presence of many work trains. For this reason the running time of the passenger trains between Charlevoix and Grand Rapids was lengthened.

News of the change of time reached Charlevoix some time Saturday, and was not generally known until during the day Monday. In many instances residents intending leaving on the morning train were disappointed, not knowing the change in the running time. The fact that the welfare of the traveling public is the last thing thought of, is quite evident in the management of the Pere Marquette.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Will Meet Friday Evening With Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elston.

The Charlevoix Historical society will meet with Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elston, Friday evening October 25. The following is the program.

Music. Instrumental solo—Miss Addie Holley.

Paper. "Ancient Irish and their Legends"—Mrs. H. S. Harsha.

Intermission.

Music. Vocal solo—Miss Constance Idlings.

Reading. "Lord Plunkett on the Irish Parliament"—Miss Lombard.

Hallowe'en Masque Party.

A big Hallowe'en party will be given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Wilkins, on Dixon avenue, Wednesday evening October 30, at eight o'clock. Prizes will be given for most unique Hallowe'en costume. An evening of fun and a good supper are promised features. Admission 25c. Party given by the Egworth League.

For results, try our advertising bureau

STEAMER PINE LAKE SUNK

One Life Lost in Collision Between Steamers in Detroit River.

WAS FORMERLY OWNED HERE

Part of the Crew Was Rescued Through the Cabin Windows.

Pine Lake Was Built in Charlevoix in 1895 and Sold by Lumber Company About Two Years Ago.

One man missing, probably dead, and the sand steamer Pine Lake sunk, is the result of a collision which took place Monday morning in Lake St. Clair, just above the buoy at the head of Belle Isle, between the steamer Pine Lake downward bound with a load of sand and the steamer Fleetwood, upbound, with a cargo of hard coal.

Struck on her starboard quarter abreast of her stack, the Pine Lake sank so speedily that Captain G. A. Ferguson, her master and ten of her crew, who survived, were forced to abandon their belongings. Several of the crew who were asleep below, got away wearing only their underclothing.

No trace was found of Alex McKelvey, the wheelman, who is said to have been in the pilot house when the steamers came together.

Investigation of the circumstances attending the collision was commenced in the afternoon of the day of the accident, and from what can be learned to date, was the result of "crossed signals."

The Pine Lake was formerly owned by the Charlevoix Lumber Company, and made this port her headquarters for a number of years. About three years ago she was disposed of to J. M. McKelvey, and rebuilt for the sand and gravel trade. Later she was bought by the Little company. She was built in this city in 1895, was of 388 gross tons, 137 1/2 feet long, 28 1/2 feet beam and 10 1/2 feet deep. She was valued at about $20,000 and was not insured. The Fleetwood was uninjured.

THREE MEN IN ACCIDENT

Tram-way in Charlevoix Lumber Co.'s Yards Goes Down.

Laborers Fall Twelve Feet and Were Covered With Lumber When Rescued.

An accident which might have resulted in the death of three men, occurred in the Charlevoix Lumber Co.'s yards Thursday morning.

For some time the mill has been cutting sunken logs taken from the lake bottom, and the lumber from these was piled upright on the tramways leading out into the yards.

On the day of the accident, Joe Krulik, Frank Krulik and George Lahee were pushing a cart loaded with lumber down the tramway to a point where it was to be piled, when without any warning the tramway gave away, letting them fall a distance of about twelve feet. At the point where the accident occurred, lumber had been piled upright on each side of the tramway, and this also went down, covering the three men.

When the men were rescued from the mass of lumber and broken tramway, it was found that Joe Krulik was badly hurt in the legs. George Lahee bruised in his side and hurt internally, while Frank Krulik escaped with a slightly bruised chin, being able to finish the day's work.

The injured men are very fortunate in escaping in the manner as they did, and will be able to resume work in a few days.

Have you potatoes for sale? Call phone 231 or 187. B. L. Smith.—Advertisement 432pd

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish once, and as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not like it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other satisfied women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE —ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel only.

Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, angel figurine or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works
STERLING, ILLINOIS

CORRESPONDENCE

IRONTON.

Bert King is thrashing at Mr. Ward's.

Miss Jane Mitchell visited friends here this week.

Miss Ruby Hoker spent Saturday with Neta Johnson.

Mrs. Alexander visited her daughter in Charlevoix Friday.

Donald Huggard of East Jordan visited in Ironton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kenny visited Mr. and Mrs. Lewis this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith visited Mrs. Hyers Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. W. F. Johnson visited Mrs. E. L. Johnson in Charlevoix last week.

The Seventh grade is finding their study of South America very interesting.

Mrs. Alexander and family and Miss Hilda Hyer visited Northwood Farm Saturday.

Mrs. Henry Hammond and her daughter, Sadie, were visiting in East Jordan last week.

There was a large crowd in attendance at church Sunday, to enjoy Rev. Taggart's sermon.

The Eighth grade is taking a trip through the German empire, Switzerland and Austria Hungary.

The girls of the Ironton school are formed into a sewing class. They are now learning hairpin lace and tatting.

The aid society will meet with Mrs. Adams at 2 o'clock Thursday p. m. A donation basket will be filled. All the ladies of our community are cordially invited.

An Ironton youth, dreaming of conquering his mathematical difficulties, walked into his father's room in his sleep and called out, "Papa, did you get the fourth one?"

Charles C. Collison, a leverman living at 900 No. 4th street, Saginaw, states: "I had a severe case of acute kidney trouble with pain across my back and irregular kidney action. I finally took Foley Kidney Pills, and in a few days time the pain left my back, my kidney action became regular and today I am entirely free of all kidney trouble." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.—Advertisement.

Club the Courier with a magazine.

ATWOOD

Have one another.

Halloween will soon be here.

Johnnie Blow is in Detroit.

Mrs. N. E. Blow is very sick.

If you like good sermons, come on Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

Several went from here to attend the annual plowing match over at Marion Town hall last week.

Mrs. William Cowen and daughter of Charlevoix, were the guest of

In winter, Mrs. John Empey last week.

A new baby boy at Jacob Burgama. Jack says his dandy for the 7th boy, weight 9½ pounds. Coo y please.

Rev. Beiry presented to the hands of families on Sunday last the annual minutes of the Michigan conference, held last September at Big Rapids. We take this way to thank him.

The young ladies of the M. L. Sunday school will on Friday evening November 1, have an indoor social at the town hall. Jack o' lanterns, decorations, costumes, plays, games, songs, etc., to meet the occasion. Come everybody and have another chance to play the "Michigan girl." Come anyway should you not have a cent. Proceeds to purchase new Sunday school song books.

C. M. Wheeler, 336 Fort street, Port Huron, states: "I have used various kidney medicines for a chronic case of kidney trouble that has bothered me for some years and I can honestly say that Foley Kidney Pills did more for me than any of them. They relieved me greatly and I will always be pleased to recommend them." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

MARION.

Miss Iva and Nell Edwards visited Miss Edith Adams Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldberry have returned to their home at Afion, Oklahoma.

Mrs. D. Pasco and Mrs. Duille attended the funeral of Mrs. Hartwell of Norwood, Friday.

Mrs. Fink and son, Conrad, visited W. E. Dodd and wife and Mrs. Austin Newman Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Megginson and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls were callers of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ingalls Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Beattie and son, Wesley, and Mrs. C. J. Dodd visited Mrs. M. A. Phillips of Charlevoix Sunday.

Catarrah Cannot Be Cured

with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrah is a local or constitutional disorder, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrah Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrah. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. C. HENRY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, price 50c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Advertisement.

NORWOOD.

The post office inspector was here last week.

The L. A. S. will serve a dinner, November 5, in the grange hall.

Mrs. W. M. Lucia and daughter, Margaret, visited friends in Charlevoix last week.

Miss Berthie Harris of Battle Creek, is here calling on old friends and acquaintances.

Dr. Armstrong was called here Monday on account of the sudden illness of Sam Chase. Mr. Chase is somewhat improved at this writing.

Mrs. Walter Mosher enjoyed a visit with her uncle, E. D. Nelson, of Petoskey, over Sunday. Mr. Nelson returning to his home Tuesday.

SOUTH CHARLEVOIX.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper of Oyster Bay, visited at the home of Sam Brown over Sunday.

Mr. Narsac moved last Saturday from the Bacot house, to the home

HELP THE KIDNEYS

Charlevoix Readers Are Learning That Way.

It's the little kidney ills—

The lame, weak or aching back—

The unnoticed urinary disorders—

That lead to dropsy and Bright's disease.

When the kidneys are sick, help them with Doan's Kidney Pills.

A remedy especially for sick kidneys.

Doan's have been curing kidney troubles for 75 years.

Endorsed by 50,000 people—endorsed at home.

Proof in a Charlevoix citizen's statement.

H. Markwardt, Bridge street, Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney and bladder remedy. I have used them frequently when having lame back and trouble from my kidneys. I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills from the Ivy Drug store and the have always benefited me, relieving my aches and correcting the kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Advertisement.

The Youth's Companion for 1913.

The Youth's Companion appeals to every interest of family life, from housekeeping to athletics. It begins with stories of youthful vim and vigor, with articles which disclose the secrets of successful play in the great games, with charming tales of life at the girls' colleges. But The Companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common foibles or caricature eccentricity. In short, for less than four cents a week The Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration, fine ideals, increase of knowledge.

Names rarely seen in tables of contents will be found in The Companion's Announcement for 1913, which will be sent upon request—with samples of the paper, to those not familiar with it.

Every new subscriber for 1913 will receive free all the issues for the remaining weeks for 1912; also, free, The Companion Widow Transparency and Calendar for 1913, in rich, translucent colors—the most beautiful of Companion souvenirs.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 111 Berkeley street, Boston, Mass.

New subscriptions received at this office. Advertisement.

opp she the seed ware house.

Mrs. George Fay went to Petoskey, Monday, where she will undergo an operation at the Petoskey hospital.

Alfred Nowland started for the upper peninsula Monday, where he will spend a few days hunting deer.

COUNTY NORMAL.

Mahyn Cliffe spent Saturday and Sunday at her home near East Jordan.

A card was received from Miss Blanche Nowland, class of '10, who is teaching at Newberry this year.

Hazel Mills was absent Monday and Tuesday of last week on account of the poor health of her mother.

Agnes Worth was called home Thursday, on account of the serious illness of her little sister, Alice, of Bay Shore, who was very low with pneumonia. Word has since been received that she is slightly better, but not out of danger yet.

Next week is the time of the state teachers' institute at Grand Rapids.

Miss Himes, Miss Whiting and several of the high school teachers will attend. Some of the members of the normal class will have charge of the normal and training rooms during their absence.

The normal class visited the meeting of the county board of supervisors last Friday, to hear the discussion on the good roads question. How much money should be raised and where the first road should be built, were the important points in the discussion, which was very much enjoyed by the class and also proved very instructive.

The normal class held its first class meeting last Monday and the following officers were elected: president, Hazel Gilmartin; vice-president, George Hamlin; secretary and treasurer, Miss Mabel Dunlop.

An executive committee was appointed, Miss Blanche Rogers, chairman, the other members being Miss Hazel Mills and Miss Mabel Dunlop.

Wednesday evening of last week, the class gathered at the home of Miss Himes, on Park avenue, where they were most delightfully entertained by her and Miss Whiting, our critic-teacher. The evening was spent in playing games and telling stories. At a late hour the party dispersed, each one saying that they must have more of these parties in the future.

Friday afternoon the class had its second lesson in domestic science, the lesson being the making of doughnuts and coffee, which were served to the teachers and members of the school board in the evening. The reception given that evening was much enjoyed by everyone.

Between twenty-five and thirty guests were present. A short program was given by some of the teachers and then the members of the school board responded to the call with short speeches, which were very interesting.

Thursday, October 17, was the date of the plowing match and the normal students went as a class, this being the first time a class has done so. In the forenoon all watched the various contestants plow their allotted plot of ground. At 2 o'clock the ladies began to serve dinner and on account of the immense crowd, they were kept busy until about 2:30 o'clock. In the afternoon various races and sports were indulged in. Several of the normal girls took part in the girls' race. Late in the afternoon we returned home in order to be ready to attend school the next day.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

Why we wear the White Ribbon—

Some of you remember that more than forty years ago when "Our Boys" came home from the war, that the liquor curse was at its height. Many women realized that the war had left a greater evil than African slavery and that evil reached into and darkened nearly every home in the land. Effects were made to close the saloons, but to no purpose.

Then the "Call" from heaven came to a few earnest christian women workers in Ohio, and the "Crusade" broke out at first, only one weapon, women's weapon—prayer to God—was thought of, and it was successful in some places. But the great evil still held sway, and very soon the women's club, the W. C. T. U., was started. Women met to pray at a certain hour, in many places to pray for the abolition of the liquor traffic. We were weak and unpopular, many of the churches refusing to countenance our work.

Like the Salvation Army, we were called to do a special work that the christian churches had failed to do. We realized even then that most of the great evils of our time would vanish with the liquor curse, and the idea seemed preposterous, when looked at practically, for a few foolish women to attack such a monster.

It seemed like emptying the ocean with a teaspoon, but lo! soon the praying band reached around the world, and very soon the question arose: What can we do to answer our prayers? How can we help the sinful suffering ones, that we see everywhere?

Then one after another, branches of work developed until the sympathy and help of our W. C. T. U. reached everywhere, but each effort was a battle. We succeeded in getting the work into the schools and Sabbath schools, in having the christian churches devote part of their time and influence to the cause. The prisons were visited and all the help and sympathy possible were given those unfortunate, for there is no doubt that a good majority of these prisoners would never be there if the temptation to drink were not placed in the path of every young man, who is punished for falling into the temptation. We pleaded with the "Powers that be." We sent miles and miles of petitions signed by millions of suffering women only to have them "laid under the table" where they still lay if they have not been taken to kindle fires with.

We made homes for the unfortunate outcast who had no other refuge, those whom the Priest and the Levite "passed by," but I cannot tell a tenth of what this first and greatest of "Women Clubs" has accomplished for humanity, started with one object—the good of humanity—with no thought of reward or honor or benefit, with no regard to the Creed that thanks God "they are not as other men," nor for the political party that grows great on the bodies and souls of its victims, nor for the "Caste" that draws into its shell like a snail, for fear of contact with "the common," we have only to read; see that a miracle has been and is about to be accomplished by the great "Hearer of Prayer." Truly He takes the weak things to "confound the mighty."

We have at last realized that our

(Continued on page 4.)

SCHOOL BAGS

FOR

School Children

AT

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

We have just received another lot.

The first order went—so fast and seemed to answer so good a purpose that we ordered more.

Parents or Children living in the Country are especially invited to call for "School Bags" as they are an excellent thing for School Children.

4 per cent. Interest paid on Savings.

R. P. FOLEY, President

H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

WANTED

MARKETABLE

Potatoes Apples HAY

And in fact all kinds of Produce

S. Orłowski & Son

AT THIS TIME

You are Interested in Placing Your

FIRE INSURANCE

In a Strong, Reliable Company

Myrtie Young & Son

Would Like to Talk it Over with You

Phone 275

Office between the Banks

Charlevoix, Michigan

C. ROSS BROWNELL
TEACHER OF
PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE
Fourteen Years Experience
Mason-Sherwood Technical
Mathews Graded Course of Studies
in ten Grades
Classes limited to twenty
Permanent Studio 301 State Street
B. W. Miller House
In Charlevoix Mondays-Tuesdays

Charlevoix Rock
Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty Years Experience
Maps and Plans on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

ISLEMIANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
VanPelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 130 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. M. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66-2; residence 66-3.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE,
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co's drug store,
Charlevoix, Mich.
Telephone No. 255.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled
some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address
Central Lake, Mich. Pinehouse.

DR. M. DOYNE
DRAYING
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR
The Courier auction advertising
plan has never failed to please its many patrons. Investigate.

BY GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEN
Copyright, 1906, by Dodd, Mead & Company.

CHAPTER VI.
In Which Dan Cupid Trespasses.

LADY BAZELHURST was right. Penelope was making her way through the blackest of nights toward the home of Randolph Shaw. In deciding upon this step, after long deliberation, she had said to herself, "Randolph Shaw is the only real man I've seen since coming to the mountains. I can trust him to help me tonight."

It was fully three miles in Shaw's place, most of the way over the narrow valley road. She knew she would encounter but few terrors, places. The last half mile, however, was steep, rugged and unfamiliar to her. She had ventured no nearer to his home than Renwood's deserted cottage, lying above and to the south of the road, almost at the base of the long hill on whose side Shaw had built his big home. To climb that hill was no easy task in daylight, with the stars obscured by clouds and treetops there was something perilously uncertain in the prospect.

Only the knowledge that patience and courage eventually would bring her to the end made the journey possible. Time would lead her to the haven; care would make the road a friend; a stout heart was her best ally. Strength of limb and strength of purpose she had, in use and in reserve. No power could have made her turn back willingly. Her anxious eyes were set ahead in the blackness. Her runaway feet were eager in obedience to her will.

"Why couldn't I have put it off until morning?" she was saying to herself as she passed down the gravelled drive and advanced to meet the wall of

She started off briskly into the woodland road. Trees that frowned blackly in her face. What will he think? What will he say? Oh, he'll think I'm such a silly, romantic fool! No, he won't. He'll understand. He'll help me on to Plattsburg tomorrow. But will he think I've done this for effect? Won't he think I'm actually throwing myself at his head? No, I can't turn back. I'd rather die than go back to that house. It won't matter what he thinks. I'll be away from all of it tomorrow. I'll be out of his life, and I won't care what he thinks. England! Goodness! What's that? She had turned around in the drive, and just ahead there was a light. A sigh of relief followed the question. It came from the lantern which hung to a stake in the yard where the new stone gate posts were being built by workmen from town. Bazelhurst Villa was a quarter of a mile, through the park, behind her; the forest was ahead.

At the gate she stopped between the half finished stone posts and looked ahead with the first shiver of dismay. Her limbs seemed ready to collapse. The flush of anger and excitement left her face. A white, desolate look came in its stead. Her eyes grew wide, and she blinked her lashes with an awed uncertainty that boded ill for the stability of her adventure. An owl hooted in mournful cadence close by, and she felt her hair was going straight to end. The tense fingers of one hand gripped the handle of the travelling bag, while the other went spasmodically to her heart.

"Oh," she gasped, moving over quickly to the stake on which the lantern hung. The wind was rushing through the treetops with increased fervor, the air was cool and wet with the signs of rain, a swirl of mist drew up into her face, the swirl of leaves sounded like the splashing of water in the air. Holding her heart for minutes, she at last regained some of the lost composure. A hysterical laugh fell from her lips. "What a goose!" It was an owl, and I've heard hundreds of them here. Still, they do sound different outside of one's own room. It's going to rain. What wretched luck! Dear me! I can't stand here all night. How black it is ahead there! O-o-o-o! Really now, it does seem a bit terrifying. If I only had a lantern it wouldn't be so!—Her gaze fell upon the laborer's lantern that clattered aimlessly, uselessly, against the stake. An instant later she had jerked it from its fastenings with a cry of joy. "I'll send it back when they go for my trunks. What luck!"

Without a second's hesitation she started off briskly into the woodland road, striding along with the splendid swing of the healthy Englishwoman who has not been trained to dawdle. Her walking skirt gave free play to her limbs. She was far past the well known "line in the road" before she paused to take a full breath and to recapitulate. Her heart beat faster, and the sudden glow in her cheek was not from the exercise. Somehow, out there alone in the world, the most amazing feeling of tenderness sprang up ahead of Randolph Shaw. She tried to put it from her, but it grew and grew. Then she blushed deep within herself, and her eyes grew sweet with the memory of those stolen, reprehensible hours along the frontier. Something within her breast cried out for those shimmings, gone by moments, something seemed to close down on her throat, something flooded her eyes with a softness that rolled up from her entire being. Then she said: "Their insurmountable barrier! An absurd yet heftable longing to fall down and kiss that fair came over her with compelling force."

Her head grew light with the thought of those moments when their horses stood with muzzles together as if kissing by proxy—the flash grew deeper, though her blood went cold and she trembled.

A pitiful confusion seized her, an inexplicable thud crept into her heart, replacing the bold assurance that had been recklessly carrying her on to him. It was as though some one had whispered the truth into her ear and she was beginning to believe. From that moment her courage began to fall. The glow from her lantern was a menace instead of a help. A sweet timorousness enveloped her and something throbbed—she knew not what.

Spattering raindrops whizzed in her face, ominous forerunners from theinky sky. The wind was whistling with shrill glee in the treetops and the treetops tried to flee before it. A mile and a half lay between her and the big cottage on the hillside—the most arduous part of the journey by far. She walked and ran as though pursued, scudding over the road with a swiftness that would have amazed a soldier. Thoughts of cobblers, tramps and wild beasts assailed her with intermittent terrors, but all served to diminish the feeling of shyness that had been interfering with her determination.

Past Redwood's cottage she sped, shuddering as she recognized the stone steps and path that ran up the hillside to the haunted house. Ghosts, witches and hobgoblins fell into the procession of pursuers, cheered on by the shrieking wind that grew more noisome as her feet carried her higher up the mountain. Now she was on new ground. She had never before explored so far as this. The hill was steep and the road had black abysses out beyond its edges.

She was breathless, half dead from fatigue and terror, when at last her feet stumbled up the broad steps leading to his porch. Trembling, she sank into the rustic bench that stood against the wall. The lantern clattered to her feet, and the bag with her jewels, her letter of credit and her cruller from said to the floor behind the bench. Here was his home! What cured she for the storm?

Even as she lay there gasping for breath, her eyes on the shadowy moon that was breaking its way through the clouds, three men raced from the stables at Bazelhurst Villa, bent on finding the mad young person who had fled the place. Scarcely knowing what direction he took, Lord Bazelhurst led the way, followed by the duke and the count, all of them supplied with carriage lamps, which at any other time would have been sizzling in their obtrusiveness. Except for Lady Evelyn the rest of the house slept the sleep of ease.

Gradually Penelope recovered from the effects of the mad race up the hill. The sputtering flame in the lantern called her into action. Clutching it from the floor at the porch, she softly began a tour of inspection, first looking at her watch to find that it was the unholy hour of 2. Had some one yelled "Boo!" she would have woken up, so tense was every nerve. Now that she was here, what was she to do? Her heart came to her mouth, her hand shook, but not with fear; a nervous smile tried to wreak disaster to the concern in her eyes.

The house was dark and still. No one was stirring. The porch was littered with rugs and cushions, while on a small table near the end stood a decanter, a siphon and two glasses. Two? He had said he was alone except for the housekeeper and the servants. A visitor, then. This was no what she had expected. Her heart sank. It would be hard to face the master of the house, but—a stranger? Clearer stars met her bewildered, troubled gaze—many at them. Definition was easy out there in the lonely night. It was easy to see that Shaw and his companion sat up so late that the servants had gone to bed.

Distractedly she looked about for means of shelter on the porch until daylight could blot her in the night to the village beyond. The storm was sure to come at no far distant time. She knew and feared the splendor of the mountain rains.

"By all that's holy," came in a man's voice, low toned and uncertain. "It isn't a dream, after all!"

She turned like a flash, with a startled exclamation and an instinctive movement as if to shield herself from unbidden gaze. Her lips parted, and her heart pounded like a hammer. Standing in the doorway was Randolph Shaw, his figure towering up like a monstrous, wavering giant in the uncertain light from the shaking lantern. His right hand was to his brow, and his eyes were wide with incredulous joy. She noticed that the left sleeve of his dinner jacket hung limp and that the arm was in a white sling beneath.

"Is it really you?" he cried, his hand going instinctively to his watch-pocket as if doubting that it was night instead of morning.

"I've run away from them!" she stammered. "It's 2 o'clock. Don't look. Oh, I'm so sorry now! Why did I?"

"You run away?" he exclaimed, coming toward her. "Oh, it can't be a dream! You are there, aren't you?" She was a pitiable object as she stood there, powerless to retreat, shivering like a leaf. He took her by the shoulder. "Yes, it is you. Good Lord, what does it mean? What has happened? How did you come here? Are you alone?"

"Utterly, miserably alone! Oh, Mr. Shaw," she cried despairingly. "You will understand, won't you?"

"Never! Never as long as I live. It is beyond comprehension. The wonderful part of it all is that I was sitting there dreaming of you—yes, I was! I heard some one out here, investigated and found you—yes, of all people in the world. And I was dreaming that I held you in my arms. Yes, I was! I was dreaming it!"

"Mr. Shaw? You shouldn't!"

"And I awake to find you—not in my arms, not in Bazelhurst Villa, but here—here on my porch."

"Like a thief in the night," she murmured. "What do you think of me?"

"Shall I tell you—really?" he cried. The light in his eyes drove her back a step or two, pale in her heart.

"N—no, no—not now!" she gasped, but a great wave of exaltation swept through her being. He turned and walked away, too dazed to speak. Without knowing it, she followed with hesitating steps. At the edge of the porch he paused and looked into the darkness.

"By Jove, I must be dreaming," she heard him mutter.

"No, you are not," she declared desperately. "I am here. I ask your protection for the night. I am going away—to England—tomorrow. I couldn't stay there—I just couldn't. I'm sorry I came here—I'm—"

"Thank heaven, you did come," he exclaimed, turning to her joyously. "You are like a fairy—the fairy princess come true. It's unbelievable! But—but what was it you said about England?" he concluded, suddenly sober.

"I am going home. There's no place else. I can't live with her," she said, a bit tremulously.

"To England—at once? Your father—will he?"

"My father? I have no father. Oh!" with a sudden start. Her eyes met his in a helpless stare. "I never thought. My home was at Bazelhurst castle—their home. I can't go there. Good heavens, what am I to do?"

CHAPTER VII.
"They are after me!"

LONG afterward she recalled his exultant exclamation, checked at its outset—recalled it with a perfect sense of understanding. With rare good taste he subdued whatever it was that might have straggled for expression and simply extended his right hand to relieve her of the lantern.

"We never have been enemies, Miss Drake," he said, controlling his voice admirably. "But had we been so up to this very instant I am sure I'd surrender now. I don't know what has happened at the villa. It doesn't matter. You are here to ask my protection and my help. I am at your service, my home is yours, my right hand also. You are tired and wet and nervous. Won't you come inside? I'll get a light in a jiffy and Mrs. Ulrich, my housekeeper, shall be with you as soon as I can rouse her out. Come in, please." She held back doubtfully, a troubled, uncertain look in her eyes. "You will understand, won't you?" she asked shyly.

"And no questions asked," he said from the doorway. Still she held back, her gaze going involuntarily to the glasses on the table. He interpreted the look of inquiry. "There were two of us. The doctor was here picking out the shot, that's all. He's gone. It's all right. Wait here and I'll get a light." The flame in her lantern suddenly glided its feeble life.

"Dark as Egypt, eh?" he called out from the opposite side of the room.

"Not as dark as the forest, Mr. Shaw."

"Good heavens, what a time you must have had! All alone, were you?"

"Of course. I was not sleeping."

"I beg your pardon?"

"Where were you sitting when I came up?"

"Here—in the dark. I was—"

(Continued on page 7.)

CREAM OF RYE
For Breakfast—that's Enough

Think of a delicious healthful meal at a cost of one cent. Better still, you are feeding your body with nature's food and producing an abundance of healthful energy.

A Silver Spoon in Every Package

Rye is the Cheapest and best Food—U. S. Govt. tests prove it.

—Amount of energy 10c will buy—

ARTICLES	CALORIES of Energy
Eggs.....	348
Beef, Sirloin.....	410
Mutton, Leg.....	445
Milk.....	1030
Pork, Loin.....	1035
Cheese.....	1185
Butter.....	1365
Rice.....	2925
Potatoes.....	2950
Beans, Dried.....	3040
Rye.....	6050

There's a Difference

The Taste is the Test

For Sale by your Grocer. If you fail to get a package Write Us

Minneapolis Cereal Co. Inc. Minneapolis

Are You on Salary?
THEN SAVE

It is possible that luck may play an important part in the quick making of fortunes, but it has nothing to do with fortunes accumulated from the savings of labor.

A bank account, however, will be of assistance and the young man or woman who will take this method saving from his or her salary will eventually reach the desired goal.

This bank welcomes the accounts of those people who are working on salary and have a desire to save a part of it.

We not only safeguard your money against fire loss or theft, but we also allow you 4 per cent interest for the use of it.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

New Coal and Wood Heating Stoves
Coal Stoves that Burn the Smoke
Oil Heating and Cook Stoves
Stove Boards Oil Cloth Rugs
Coal Hods and Sifters
Potato Forks and Hooks
Corn Knives Corn Rope
POTATO AND APPLE CRATES BASKETS MEASURES
Tin, Enameled and Aluminum Ware
Fishing Tackle

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

Silverware

Don't buy Silverware until you see my Goods and get my Prices

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

The Courier Brightens the Home. Does it yours?

SELECT your fall and winter knit underwear carefully. Make sure that it possesses comfort—warmth—wear. Be doubly certain that it will fit your body smoothly—perfectly—without bulk.

ATHENA UNDERWEAR
For Women, Misses and Children

is made in firmly knitted elastic fabrics that do away with wrinkles under the corset—a great cause of discomfort in the ordinary underwear.

Athena underwear fits the figure with the smoothness of a silk stocking. It insures comfort without bulk—daintiness with wearability.

Here are some of its special merits:

A patented seat that gives extra room where room is most needed. A special stay that prevents the garment from stretching over the shoulder. An elastic cuff that holds the sleeve in place and keeps it from slipping up on the arm. Trimming put on in an improved way, giving exquisite daintiness that is not lessened by washing.

In all shapes and fabrics at the price you usually pay. Try Athena for the children. A perfect fit for all ages—from two to sixteen years.

Bergeon's DRY GOODS STORE

ARCHIE MCCALL
Democratic Candidate for Congress in the Eleventh Congressional District of Michigan.

To the voters of said district:—

The Eleventh Congressional District as a whole is an agricultural district with a limited number of manufacturing institutions.

Whoever is elected to this office should be in close touch with the needs and requirements of his district and act accordingly.

Labor Produces Wealth, and any law that safeguards labor and the products thereof and makes the social, moral and financial conditions of the producer of wealth better is not class legislation, but a move that makes the government under which we live stronger and more substantial.

Laws must be enacted and repealed to suit the condition of the hour. Laws that might have been beneficial to the people years ago will not meet the necessity of the vast changes that are taking place today.

There are many issues in this campaign; some are personal, they being a fight between men for power; others, national and state. Some are false and some true; but in my judgment the great issue is first, the education and uplifting morally, physically, socially, and financially of the producers of wealth; second, laws that better, encourage and build up clean business competition in all the products of labor, and then your boy and mine when they shall arrive at the age of discretion and take part in the different avocations of life, will have an equal chance and not be handicapped by enormous trusts, cartels,

SPECIAL SALE
OF Ladies' Coats

This will be a Great Opportunity to get Your Winter Coat at the start of the Season

Sale will last until
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26

$25 Ladies' Coats, Plush, Chinchilla or Fancy weaves	$19.98
Sale price.....
$22.50 Ladies' Coats, Plush, Chinchilla or Fancy weaves, sale price.....	$17.48
$20.00 Ladies' Coats, Plush, Chinchilla or Fancy weaves, sale price.....	$14.98
$15.00 Ladies' Fancy Coats, Plush, Chinchilla, Fancy weaves, sale price.....	$10.98
$12.00 Ladies' Coats, Caracul, Chinchilla, or Fancy weaves, sale price.....	$8.98
$10.00 Ladies' Caracul Coats sale price.....	$6.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY
VANPELT BLOCK

The Charlevoix Courier
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy this year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule. Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates. Obituary notices, regular rates. Card of thanks, 2 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

FOR THIRTY YEARS

Mrs. L. Cook Had Been Resident of Charlevoix—Died Last Wednesday.

Last week we mentioned the death of Mrs. L. Cook, which occurred at Traverse City Wednesday morning. Mrs. Emma Cook was born in St. Clair county, Michigan, January 8, 1848. In 1881 she was married to Lorenzo Cook and had been a resident of this city for the past thirty years.

Mrs. Cook's health had been poor for some time. About a year and one half ago she was taken to the Traverse City hospital, and all that medical skill and kind treatment could do was of no avail.

She was a faithful and efficient member of the Baptist church of this city.

She leaves to mourn her departure, besides her husband, one son and one daughter and a host of friends who will never cease to miss her. For her to die was gain.

The funeral services were held Thursday at the home of Charles See, Rev. Quinton Walker officiating.

Why We Believe in Equal Suffrage.

F. A. Smith—"I believe equal suffrage in the opening wedge toward a better and freer life for both men and women. While man has been unjustly denying woman the right of the ballot, she has been proving her superior qualifications in all else, and is now asking only what justly belongs to her. We are giving her nothing—only restoring her rightful heritage."

Albert Holmes—"I believe that as a matter of human justice the ballot should be given to women. They are entitled to it just as much as men are."

The Marion Center Grange is favorable to equal suffrage. At a meeting Mrs. Elmer Ingalls was appointed to co-operate with the county equal suffrage organization in distributing literature, canvassing voters, etc.

The granges throughout the state are rapidly getting to line on the suffrage question. In this they are following the lead of the Michigan State Grange which last December voted to enter upon an aggressive campaign for equal suffrage.

Robert J. Bardette—"What's the matter with mother? Isn't she good enough to vote?"

"Lyman Abbott, dear old Lyman, Of the Outlook's righteous fame, He's fiercest the equal suffrage. 'Thinks 'twould be outrageous."

To place the heavy load of voting On the woman's burdened back; But does it worry Lyman, That the women pay their tax?"

Antoine Deloria, postmaster at Garden, Michigan, states: "From my own experience I can recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney trouble. My father was cured of kidney disease, and many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned wish to express their appreciation to the many friends who gave the beautiful flowers and for the kindness shown them in their recent bereavement.

Mrs. D. H. Frances,
Mrs. Minnie Preston,
Mrs. J. O. Lewis.

—Advertisement. Btlpl

What is yours to be? Are you going as witch, ghost, fairy, brownie or what? Join the merry-makers and go to Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Winkim-on's Wednesday evening, Oct. her 30—Advertisement. Btlf tions and monopolies that we all admit are a menace to the country, especially so when they use their great influence and wealth to control legislation in their own special interests.

Big business is not bad or dangerous in and of itself, but is made bad only by the way it conducts itself to the injury of the masses, and in that it ought and must be corrected or dissolved.

If my solution is correct, who of the prominent candidates in this campaign is the best qualified and in a position to produce the best results in this district—a man who will have back of him a working majority in Congress—a man who is not afraid to tell the people where he stands before election—a man who is actually engaged in the principal industry of the Eleventh District of Michigan—a man who believes that the office should seek the man, not the man the office—or a man that claims that he has no political connection with any party and "making a campaign" as the father of a measure to inspect fabrics and leather as a solution to the high cost of living, which, if enacted into law, would from the natural effect thereof have a tendency to raise instead of lower the cost of the articles, as is plainly seen by the inspection laws of our own state.

I have no objection to a pure-fabric law any more than I have to the pure-food law, but I do take issue with Mr. Lindquist when he claims to be the "father" of such a measure, for I have been credibly informed that Edward Freundorf of Hudson, Michigan, advocated such a measure long before Mr. Lindquist ever sold clothes at Greenville, and I have further been informed that legislation along similar lines had been pending in Congress for some time. I find no fault with Mr. Lindquist's advertising his clothes and making all the money he can in his mail-order business, but I do take issue with him when he uses that system to gain his nomination in the way that he did, especially so when in his letter of June the 22nd he claimed to have no connection with any political party and does not claim to represent the party of which he is a candidate.

Sincerely,
—Advertisement. A. McCall

Sunday in the Churches

METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday will be a special day with the Methodists of this city.

In the morning the service will be in honor of the aged people. The church will be decorated, comfortable chairs provided. Special music furnished. The entire service will be an appreciation of the Fathers and Mothers of the city.

Every aged person is most cordially invited to unite with us in this sermon.

Sunday evening the sermon will be to young men, by a young man.

Young men, who have lost the church going habit are especially invited.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. at 6 p.m. Topic, "Christian Sociability." Leader, Earl Sneathen.

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30.

CATHOLIC CHURCH

Low Mass at 8:00 a.m.

High Mass at 10:00 a.m.

Devotional services at 7:30 p.m.

Other services announced the Sunday previous.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a.m.

Subject: "Probation After Death." Wednesday, at 7:45 p.m.

Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Morning service at 10:30.

Sunday school at noon.

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

Services at Ironton at 3:00 p.m.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Meets at Carnegie Library at noon.

All men invited to attend.

Notice.

To Citizens Fire Insurance Policy holders: Judge Shepard signed an order on Monday, October 11, 1912, discharging Frank L. Vourheis as receiver of said company, and appointing me in his place. There are about 143 policy holders who have not as yet paid. I shall commence suit against them at once. J. L. Harbor, Receiver, Mich. Advertis. 1312

Why don't you too use Ready-to-Lay Roofing
and save money—we sell it

The Only Tools Necessary
One trial will convince you—others are saving money, time and labor by using Certain-teed

Having bought a carload of this material we are enabled to make you the following prices:

CERTAIN-TEED COMPO RUBBER ROOFING
Complete with caps, nails and cement. Written guarantee with every roll

1 ply Standard, 35 pounds, guaranteed five years, a square	$1.25
2 ply Heavy, 45 pounds, guaranteed ten years, a square	$1.65
3 ply Extra Heavy, 55 pounds, guaranteed fifteen years, a square	$2.00

The World Beater, better than Tar Paper and cheaper
SENTINEL ROOFING—1 ply, 35 pounds a square $1.00

HEAVY TAR FELT—In rolls of about 50 pounds runs about 15 pounds to 100 square feet per roll $1.00

TAR SHEATHING FELT
250 square feet per roll 50c 500 square feet per roll $1.00

BLUE PLASTER BOARD
Fine for inside Sheathing—250 square feet per roll 65c

Charlevoix Hardware Company

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

E. D. Corbin went to Cheboygan Wednesday.

Harry Long of Petoskey was in the city Thursday.

Glenn Parke of Springvale was in the city Thursday.

H. I. McMillan of East Jordan, was in the city over Sunday.

Caroline Cole is visiting relatives at the Beavers this week.

Nelly Cron was home over Sunday, enroute to Frankfurt.

Charles Gulf of Boyne City was a Charlevoix visitor Thursday.

Miss Maud Struk of Ellsworth, is spending a few days in the city.

Miss Edith Lameroux spent Sunday with friends in Boyne City.

Mrs. Swinton, Sr., visited friends in East Jordan last Wednesday.

Charles Macey of Petoskey, is the guest of Millard Olney and family.

Mrs. C. M. Gibbs of Lake City, was in the city visiting friends last week.

H. E. Chatterton of Mt. Pleasant, is a business caller in the city this week.

Hert Sheldon has purchased the Carpenter property on South May street.

Don't forget the Halloween party at Dr. Wilkinson's Wednesday, October 31.

Rev. B. Atchison is in Grand Rapids, taking treatment at the Burleson sanatorium.

Miss Minnie Payton returned home Thursday from a short visit at Traverse City.

Mrs. Cora Gray leaves for Grand Rapids this week, where she expects to spend the winter.

Mrs. Ella Tillotson was in Elk Rapids last week in the interests of the Lady Macabees.

Jack B. Kendall has accepted a position with the Dodgeville, Wisconsin, Sun Republic.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Decker, Saturday at 11 o'clock, a bouncing 10 pound baby girl.

Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. George Brown visited in Boyne City the latter part of the week.

F. H. Thomas has started excavation on the basement for his new house on the north side.

Mrs. D. S. Payton was called to East Jordan Tuesday, on account of the illness of her mother.

The Michigan State Teachers' association will meet at Grand Rapids October 31 to November 1.

Miss Helen Baker of St. Louis, Michigan, visited friends in the city the latter part of the week.

Special communication Charlevoix lodge, F. & A. M. Tuesday evening, October 29. Turn out.

The Tug Taylor made a trip to Elk Rapids Sunday, to help dock one of the big ore carriers.

Mrs. Helen Baker of St. Louis, Michigan, visited friends in the city the latter part of the week.

Dr. Farthing of Boyne City, and sister, Mrs. E. H. Wicks, of Detroit, were callers in the city Sunday.

Will See and wife of Portland, Oregon, are in the city, guests of their many friends and relatives.

Hon. W. J. Pearson was in the city a few days this week, shaking hands with friends and relatives.

Henry W. Marshall and Harold Bedford left Monday for Newberry, where they hunt for the next ten days.

Chester Martindale fell Friday while playing on the school grounds and broke his left arm above the wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Campbell of Petoskey, were in the city Friday, attending the funeral of Mrs. L. Cook.

The Grand Traverse county board of supervisors appropriated $1000 to the Western Michigan Development bureau.

C. Peaslee and wife left Tuesday morning for Detroit, where they will spend a month visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Muffett, and daughters, Estelle and Marthale, returned to their home in Cheboygan last week.

Richard Lewis and Floyd Bettes and wife, delegates to the state I. O. O. F. convention at Detroit, returned Saturday evening.

Mrs. D. S. Payton visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Chaddock of East Jordan, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Parrish returned Monday from Boyne City, where they have been the guests of relatives for a few days.

Orville VanDusen, a 12-year-old Norwood boy, shot a hawk last week whose wings measured 3 1/2 feet from tip to tip.

Mrs. A. E. Bridge, D. Merrill and J. Mason were guests of Mrs. George Glenn of East Jordan the latter part of the week.

Miss Violet Seale returned to her home in Detroit Monday, after spending the past month with her sister, Mrs. F. E. Carrier.

J. B. Hyland and wife visited friends in East Jordan last Wednesday. From there they went to Flint on a short business trip.

Joe Shores left the latter part of the week for Chestonia, to prepare for logging operation for the Charlevoix Lumber company.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Widdfield leave Thursday for a couple of weeks' visit among friends and relatives in Toronto, Canada.

The barge Harlow of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived in port Tuesday with a 1000 ton load of soft coal for the Charlevoix Coal & Wood Co.

Mr. Biossett of the Hotel Elston, left for Chicago, Friday where he will remain until next spring when the Elston will be reopened.

Louie Hamlin and wife returned Saturday evening from Parkville, Michigan. Mr. Hamlin will be employed at A. E. Mason's grocery.

Charles Howland of this city has purchased the bakery business of Louis Peppin of East Jordan, and will take possession November 1.

Earl Johnson, wife and child of Boyne City, arrived Sunday for a short visit at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Johnson.

A party consisting of L. L. Dice, Sam Alward, Garrison Dixon and Willard Olney left Tuesday for Rexton, U. S., where they will spend the next ten days in quest of venison.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Baker, and daughter, Doris, left Thursday for Daytona, Florida, where they will manage the Austin the coming winter.

Hazel Pearl left Monday for Grand Rapids, where she will enter the MacLachlan Business University. Miss Hazel will take a ten months business course.

Mrs. Thomas Burns of Geddo, Michigan, and daughter, Mrs. Sam Steward of Sandusky, Michigan, are guests of their sister and daughter, Mrs. H. L. Decker.

J. E. Redmon and wife are on a two weeks' vacation, visiting friends and relatives in Indiana. They will also visit southern Michigan points before returning home.

Mrs. Louie Turcott of Elk Rapids, visited friends here last week. Mrs. Turcott will leave in a few days for Trident, Montana, where she will make her future home.

Wednesday, October 30, the ladies of the Baptist church will serve a fish supper to the church parlors, from 5:30 until 7:00 o'clock, to which the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. B. Hodge and Mrs. C. K. Belinger and grand daughter, Clara-belle, left Saturday for Traverse City, where they spend a week visiting among friends and relatives.

A prize of $5.00 has been offered by Chatterton & Son to the girl who picks over the greatest number of beans each week. No girl will be allowed to receive the prize twice.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Herrick left Monday for New Brunswick, New Jersey, where they will make their future home. Mrs. Herrick was formerly Miss Rose Krulik of this city.

Hon. DeWitt Vought of Alma, Democratic speaker, will give an address at Wilbur's Hall on Saturday night, October 26, at 8:00 o'clock sharp. All interested are requested to be present.

Mrs. G. C. Geiken entertained about twenty-five friends last evening in honor of the tenth wedding anniversary of her son, Frank and wife, of Pellston, who were visiting at the parental home.

Herbert Smith of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, is in the city visiting his sister, Mrs. Ed Barnett. Mr. Smith belongs to the U. S. Signal corps, and has served a number of years in Alaska and the Philippines.

According to statistics compiled by Auditor General Fuller, the receipts from the mortgage tax law for the first eleven months amounted to $266,320. This amount exceeds the expectations of the state officials.

A mean Charlevoix man offered to give his wife 25 cents if she would keep her mouth shut for two hours. It was a terrible ordeal, for some lady friends came to discuss the woman's strange question, but she finally won.

M. H. Robertson, who has for several years been sales manager for the East Jordan Lumber company, has given up his position and will spend the winter traveling leisurely in the west. He will be succeeded by John J. Porter.

Harry Nicholls and wife left last week for Ottawa, Ohio, for a ten days' visit. Mr. Nicholls is heavily interested in the sugar factory, recently removed from Charlevoix to Ottawa, and will be there when its first operations are started.

Thomas A. Powell, wife and four children arrived here Wednesday afternoon from Rockton, S. C. They expect to make Charlevoix their future home and are at present stopping with her mother, Mrs. Millard Olney at 310 W. Hartburn avenue.

It is not so very long until the glad Christmas time and "best we forget" we will suggest at this time that it is not too early to begin buying Christmas presents. At least that was the suggestion made by the youngest member of a well-known Charlevoix family.

Members of the Ashlar Club take notice, that there will be a meeting at the lodge rooms Wednesday evening, October 30th. Important business will be transacted and every member's presence is desired. All members of the F. & A. M. No. 28 who are interested are welcome.

The women taxpayers in this section of the state by common consent: Antrim, 35; Benzie, 68; Charlevoix, 68; Clare, 173; Grand Traverse, 69; Isabella, 126; Kalkaska, 270; Lake, 201; Manistee, 1028; Mecosta, 235; Missaukee, 258; Oscoda, 551; Wexford, 728. Nearly 14 per cent of the women of Michigan are on the tax rolls.

The coasting freighter G. A. Durkee, in charge of Captain W. E. Knight of Charlevoix, sank at Old Mission dock during a heavy gale, Friday night. The boat was loaded with fruit and produce belonging to Tooley & Wilhelm of East Jordan and Boyne City, and the cargo was a total loss. John Monroe and his wrecking outfit left Monday to raise the sunken vessel.

The deed from the trustees of the David Ward estate has been filed for record, transferring the balance of the estate to the legal heirs. Charles W. Ward receives 18-108 of the property, the other five children each receive 17-108. Fourteen grandchildren each receive 5-1512 of the estate. The estate consists of lands in Crawford, Otsego, Antrim, Charlevoix, Kalkaska, Bay and Manistee counties in this state. There is also other real estate located in other states. Much of the Ward lands have been sold of late.—Grayling Avalanche.

ODD FELLOWS

Michigan Grand Lodge Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.

The grand lodge I. O. O. F. of Michigan held in Detroit last week elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

Grand Master—Harry L. McNeill, Paw Paw.

Deputy Grand Master—Herbert A. Thompson, Williamston.

Grand Secretary—Fred A. Rogers, Lansing.

Grand Treasurer—Fred Cutler, Jr., Ionia.

Grand Warden—Miles F. Gray, Lansing.

Harry L. McNeill, who was deputy grand master last year, had no opposition. Herbert A. Thompson, grand warden last year, by virtue of the elevation of McNeill, moved up into the deputy master's chair.

For secretary there were three candidates—Fred A. Rogers, appointed last fall; G. L. Hallbeck, Grand Rapids; and Isaac Reynolds, Ann Arbor. Rogers, who has made an efficient secretary, was believed entitled to the place.

Officers of the Rebekah assembly installed: President, Nora Conlin, Crystal Falls; vice president, Irene E. House, Boyne City; secretary, Hannah Ballargeon, Detroit; treasurer, Addie B. Smith, Marshall; marshal, Mrs. Jessie Thompson, Williamston; conductor, Myrta Rheinfrank, Battle Creek; inside guardian, Etha M. Smith, Grand Rapids; chaplain, Ida M. Davis, Hamilton.

R. J. Sundberg, Merchant of Copper City, Michigan, says: "For a good many years we have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in our family. It will quickly cure a cough or cold and we consider it a safe and sure cure." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

MRS. THOMAS HARTWELL

Died Wednesday Morning of Last Week After Short Illness.

Mrs. Cora Hartwell was born in Holland in 1873, and died Wednesday morning of last week, after a short illness. She came to this country, with her parents, when a child and was united in marriage to Thomas Hartwell in 1890. To this union was one son and two daughters.

She leaves to mourn their loss besides her husband and children, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Adeline of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, two brothers, John and Cornelius of Indiana and two sisters—Mrs. Haywood and Miss Nellie Adeline of Casnovia, Michigan.

Mrs. Hartwell was a member of the Epworth Ladies' aid society. She was a loving wife and a true friend.

The funeral was conducted from the Epworth church by the pastor, Rev. Quinton Walker of this city.

Special Services.

Next Sunday will be a special day with the Methodists of this city.

To the morning the services will be in honor of aged people. The church will be decorated and comfortable chairs provided. Special music will be furnished and the entire service will be an appreciation of the fathers and mothers of the city.

CRANE'S

Everyday and everyday we offer you values such as these:

Bearskin Cloakings, 50 inch, brown, grey or white
$1.75 Yard

Turkey red damask, 58 inch, extra heavy, fast dye
29c Yard

Phoenix & Bradley 25c Mufflers all colors
18c Each

Apron Gingham, all sizes, blue and white checks
5c Yard

Flannelette Dressing Sacques Made of good grade Flannelette, soft and fleecy. Buttonhole scalloped collar front and belt, all sizes
19c

Special value in Misses' and Women's Coats at $3.95 $7.85 $10.00 $12.00

Cotton Seed Meal

41% to 45% Protein

We will have in during the first half of November several cars of choice

Cotton Seed Meal

That we can sell at $32.00 PER TON

Argo Milling Co.

Notice of Hearing of Claims.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the estate of John C. Newman, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that six months from the 7th day of October, A. D. 1912, have been allowed for creditors to present their claims against said deceased in said court, for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office in the City of Charlevoix in said county, on or before the 7th day of April, A. D. 1913, and that said claims will be heard by said court on Monday the 7th day of April, A. D. 1913, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Dated October 17th, A. D. 1912.

John M. Hurrie, Judge of Probate.

WE OFFER

the services of 11 Teachers and the use of the finest equipment for training Young Men and Women to earn good salaries in Business. Our New Catalog explains fully. Send us a post card request for a copy. It will show you something about the oldest, yet most modern business school in our state. Address: Detroit Business University, 65 West Grand River Ave., Detroit, Mich.

E. R. SHAW, President.

Box Stationery A Real Bargain 48 Sheets 48 Envelopes

In Our Window This Week Twice Size Ordinary Box Better Quality 50c Value for 25c

THE IVY DRUG STORE

Farm Dairying

Ayrshire Bull

VIII.—Milk and Milking

By LAURA ROSE,
Demonstrator and Lecturer in Dairying
at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Canada.

(Copyright, 1911, by A. C. McClurg & Co.) VERAGE percentages of constituents of milk are:

	Per cent
Fat	3.9
Casein	2.9
Albumen	0.7
Sugar	5.0
Ash or mineral matter	0.2
Water	87.3
Total	100.00

The most variable constituent of milk is the fat. It is in the form of minute globules averaging the ten thousandth part of an inch in diameter.

The fresher the cows in milk the softer and larger the fat globules are. The longer in milk the smaller and more watery the globules, resulting in "strippers," making very sticky curdles and curdles, tasteless but ter.

The food of the cow has a marked influence on the composition of the milk fat. While milk does not always indicate poor milk; neither is yellow milk necessarily very rich. Grass, bright clover hay, carrots, pumpkins and yellow cornmeal tend to deepen the color of milk.

Rich foods may stimulate the production of fat for a short time, but the cow will return to her normal percentage and perhaps due to forcing fall below it for awhile. At the same time the percentage of fat in milk is by no means constant. In every 100 pounds of milk there are 87 pounds of water.

The Colostrum.
The fluid the cow yields directly after calving is known as colostrum which differs essentially in composition from normal milk and is usually considered unfit for human food.

The milk gradually loses its colostrum character and in from five to ten days after the cow has calved is generally normal.

Children or weak handed persons should never milk cow cows.

Did you ever think why a calf or a lamb hants its mother when getting its supper? Instinct taught it that to give a lamb or calf the milk was quicker—the mother was thereby exhausted. Some milkers might take a lesson from the calf and instead of trying to get the milk as well as the milk into the pail, let them press upward instead of pulling downward as usual. The udder is less likely to become injured or misshapen.

Much might be said in favor of women as milkers. The withdrawal of women from the cow stable has been detrimental to the dairy industry, but milking comes at such inconvenient hours for the housewife, and her duties are already so manifold she should not be asked to go to the stable to milk.

Letter to have a dirty floor than a dirty atmosphere in a stable at milking time. The milk does not touch the floor, but it passes directly through the atmosphere. If you want pure milk the air must be pure in which it is milked. Some of the best dairies have separate milking sheds.

To secure clean milk the cows should be brushed down. The stables should be cleaned and ventilated and a little lime plaster or other absorbent sprinkled in the gutters. Just before milking begins the udder should be wiped with a damp cloth and, if soiled, washed with warm water.

The milker should have on a suit of washable material, which should be washed when dirty. The milker's hands should be clean and free of disease. Do not milk with wet hands. Some milkers have the bad habit of moistening the hands with the first streams of milk. The milk in the udder proper is practically free from germ life, but as the cow lies down on the never too clean floor, bacteria of the worst sort find their way through the opening at the end of the teat, and in the milk in the teat canal they grow and multiply. This is the milk that should go into a small tin for the barn kitchen. While bad for the milk supply, I have never known it to kill a calf. Do not milk it on the barn floor or in a few days you will have a most offensive smell arising. A good practice is to rub the hands with a little vasoline or lard.

If either the fore or back portion of the udder is poorly developed, milk that part first to the hope of stimulating the nerves and overcoming to some extent the deficiency.

Always milk the cows in the same order. Milk as nearly as you can at the same hour, having equal periods of time between the milkings. Cows giving a very heavy flow of milk are often milked three or four times during the twenty-four hours.

Milk in the same place, and there is no better place, summer or winter

Are you thinking about having an

Auction Sale?

Perhaps you may think it is a simple matter, but it is not. There is a difference between selling your stuff and giving it away. Drop me a card for directions how to sell your goods, and get the benefit of my experience of 20 years as an Auctioneer.

E. B. WARD
Charlevoix, Michigan

Deals made at Courier Office

Harsh treatment, chilly winds, cold rains, worrying flies—in fact, anything that excites, irritates or brings discomfort to the cow—decreases very materially her profitability. If a cow gets frightened, nervous or fretful the nerves in the udder become tense and refuse to let on the milk structure, and the milk cannot come, for it is not being made. In such a case try to quiet the cow by diverting her attention. Talk to her, get her mind back to her business by being kind to her.

Sometimes from no apparent cause a cow holds up her milk persistently. A heavy weight, such as a bag with sand in it, placed over the udder may relieve the tension.

It is not well to form the habit in the cows of eating what being milked. Exposure on cold days or nights results in a decreased milk flow, a general lack of thrift and a poorly nourished calf. Cows must be kept comfortable at all times.

Kicking rows are usually made so by the persons who handle them. Impatience with the third often results in a kick. The best device perhaps for a kick is to put a ring in the ceiling overhead and with a halter on the cow draw her head up pretty

When the fly time is past it is well to turn out the switch just below the tail bones, also to shear the hind quarters with a pair of horse clippers and trim the long hairs from the udder.

Farm and Garden

APPLE BLISTER CANKER.

Fungus That Causes Serious Losses to Owners of Apple Orchards.

In a circular on the "Apple Blister Canker and Methods of Treatment," issued by the Ohio Agricultural Station, it is stated that it is increasingly evident that serious apple diseases must be kept in mind by the reported dying of mature apple trees in many parts of Ohio. Field studies of conditions, supplemented by laboratory examination, made during the season of 1911 and the early spring of 1912, show that serious cankers are present in these diseased orchards. By the term canker reference is made to any apparent bark

Photograph by Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station

DISEASED APPLE BRANCH, SHOWING ONE-YEAR-OLD CASE OF BLISTER CANCER. In these diseased areas the symptoms of dying bark and extension of disease causing an enlargement of the spots are usually evident.

In the southern and eastern portions of Ohio the condition known as a "neglected apple orchard" is for the greater part caused by the blister canker fungus.

The fungus, being a wood parasite, is difficult to control when once it has taken hold of a tree, and except in cases of slight attack the tree ultimately will succumb to this disease.

To prevent infection from the blister canker fungus it is necessary to prevent the drying of the tissues, which is done by covering the wound with a suitable dressing.

Prevention of infection and orchard sanitation, as by removal and destruction of diseased parts, appear to be the only methods of control.

A WORD FOR OUR FARMERS.

It does not follow that the American is a poor farmer because he produces less than the acre. He does this largely because the acre is worth less—because, in other words, the man is worth more. The American farmer produces more per year of labor than does the European farmer; he lives much better; gives his children a better education; has for himself more leisure. When land is worth several hundred dollars an acre and labor but half a dollar a day, then we, too, can make the soil produce more per acre.—Country Gentleman.

Valer Work For the Horse.

To give the horse a glossy coat wash him thoroughly with warm water and castile soap. When thoroughly dry rub sawdust in the wrong way of the hair and let it stay on all night. This remove in the morning with a stiff brush, being sure to get every particle. Then take a flannel cloth, damp work cannot be a real success until we help make the boys and see that they are carried out.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

(Continued from page 2)

We have long prayed for our boys, our precious boys, that they may be kept from temptation. Now we take up the burden for our girls, we will both pray and light it need be for our girls. Can any pure mother keep back the tears while she thinks of the terrible traffic in girls, once just as sweet and pure as your girl-mother? When we read that thirteen billions are spent annually in this traffic and 12 millions in liquor, can we endure it any longer? We read that Christ wept over Jerusalem. Only twice do we know of his tender shepherd shedding tears and once it was the sinfulness and wretchedness of the city. He could have changed it all but He did not. He left it for us to do, so that the great day of reckoning we might hear, "Come ye blessed of my father inherit the kingdom—For I was hungry and ye fed me, I was thirsty and ye gave me drink. Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these, ye have done it unto me."

Mrs. M. J. Parmelee.

Philip Desormeau, Proprietor of the Farmer's Home Hotel, Schaffer, Michigan, says: "Last winter I could not sleep nights on account of a bad cough that would start at bed time and keep me awake. I started using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and was greatly pleased to find that my cough left me, my appetite increased and I slept soundly at night." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Advertisement.

How Baltimore Watches the Welfare of Her Equines.

Through the efforts of the Greater Baltimore Committee many drain fountains have been erected throughout the city. The majority of them ended with coal tar, and go all over the animal, after which rub him with another cloth until he is dry, and the work is done. By dipping one's thumb in vasoline and placing it on the horse he can be made to look dapper, however, the point being to give the thumb a twist around in each place where a dipole is wanted.—American Cultivator.

Diets For Calves.

Hay tea is recommended for calf rearing. Pour boiling water over good hay and let it brew, then strain off and begin with three parts milk and one part hay tea and gradually work on to one part milk and three parts hay tea. About three quarts are sufficient at first and feed in a lukewarm state. There are innumerable calf rearing diets. Skim milk and a little wheaten flour are given in some districts. Eggs, parts of milk and sweet whey are favored, while the use of oatmeal gruel is recommended by some. Of all home-made calf meals hulled flaxseed and sweet milk are probably the most favored.—American Cultivator.

Windows For the Stable.

Large windows should be used in lighting a stable, and they should be put under the roof. More light will be filtered through a large window than through several small ones. Windows too high do not admit the light properly, while if they are too low there is danger of breaking the glass.—Iowa Homestead.

Mrs. Dora Ray, 720 Broad Street, St. Joseph, states: "I suffered much misery from my kidneys and bladder and all I tried failed to help me. My kidney action was irregular with a burning pain, and I had headaches and dizzy spells, with swollen ankles. I gave Foley Kidney Pills a good trial and improvement followed promptly and in fact, I've felt exceptionally well since taking Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Advertisement.

TIPS FOR HOME MERCHANTS.

It is all a building process. The rock is built of atoms; the tree is built of cells; the house is built of bricks; success in business is built of conquered details. Of business—the more you know about it the more you know what there is to know about it. If you are a good merchant the biggest investment you have is not in stock, but in the good will of your customers.

A THRIVING TOWN THAT HAS NO CITY TAX.

Silverton, Colo., Has a Novel and Effective System.

Silverton, Colo., a thriving town of nearly 3,000 people, at an altitude of over 5,000 feet, has the distinction of being one of the very few municipalities in the United States where no city tax is levied. The running expenses are paid from the income of the water and light systems, both owned and operated by the municipality, and from various sources.

The town owns its lemons, sprinklers and sewage and has recently completed a hall and bath building for a handsome city hall costing $55,000. In this building there is sufficient room for all the city offices, courtroom, assembly room and the apparatus. The successful operation of municipal owned public utilities in Silver ton extends over a period of nine years.

For electric current the rate to very small consumers is 7 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour and to large consumers a little over 5 cents per kilowatt hour. The water rates vary for different classes of users. A one family residence of four rooms pays $8 per annum, with $1 extra for each additional room, or the consumer may install a meter at his own expense, the rental varying from 45 cents to 10 cents per thousand gallons, with a minimum charge of $20 per year. All water bills are subject to a 15 per cent discount if paid by the 5th day of the month.—American City.

THE VALUE OF A KICK.

It Is Good For Your Business to Know People's Opinion of It.

The best time to remedy a mistake is before it happens. And the next best time is as soon after it happens as possible.

No business house can know too much of what the outside world thinks of it. The average man is slow to complain. That is why thousands of concerns are habitually back on their heels. The average man will let the grievance pass, but next time he takes his business somewhere else.

The big department stores in large cities realize the importance of knowing what possible grievances people may have against them. They put the complaint department in the most accessible places, and they make sure that the person with the kick may be able to give it while it is hot.

"Please complain when anything seems wrong," is the constant invitation to the public. "We want to treat you right, but we can't watch every thing at once."

FOUNTAINS FOR HORSES.

How Baltimore Watches the Welfare of Her Equines.

Through the efforts of the Greater Baltimore Committee many drain fountains have been erected throughout the city. The majority of them

Courtesy of Greater Baltimore Committee

AN OASIS IN THE HEART OF THE CITY.

These fountains are not only beautiful but also very useful. They provide a source of fresh water for horses and other animals in the city.

Town Is Erecting Gates.

Boston, Ga., is anxious to be known as the Gate City and expects to lay claim to that title soon by erecting real gateways through which all may enter that dominating Thomas county town. These gates will be in the form of large archways over all the roads just at the entrance of the town, and they will be of such a style and make as to attract special attention. They are expected to prove a great advertisement for the town also. They were ordered some weeks ago and are expected to arrive from the factory and be put in place at an early date.

Growth of German Colleges.

Twenty-one German universities had 57,415 students in the winter semester 1911-12 as compared with 54,522 in the preceding semester.

FALL TREE PLANTING.

Much to Be Said in Support of Moving Trees in the Autumn.

There is much to be said in favor of planting fruit trees in the fall. In the first place, there is a larger stock from which to select the trees. In the second place, there is usually more time in the fall than in the busy of spring work. Besides this, the rains of the winter settle the soil firmly around the roots of the trees, so that they are ready to begin growth in spring at the earliest opportunity.

Fall planting should not be begun too early. The leaves should be off. True, they can be stripped by hand, and this in not a few cases is done too soon in crowding times. The leaves should be left until by their beginning to fall it is seen that their important and life giving work is over. Their beginning to fall shows this, and any leaves that remain can then be taken off—will come off easily—and the trees can be dug. This is usually about the beginning of November, and the planting may continue as long as the ground is not frozen.

As to the care of the trees, that is the same as in spring planting. The roots are to be exposed to the air as little as possible and on being brought home should be well covered in a trench in the garden or other well protected place until planted. The covering of the roots in the trench should be with the stems of the trees inclining at an angle of about 45 degrees toward the surface of the ground. In some cases it may be necessary to leave the trees in the trench until spring, and this will be successful if the work is well done. The trench should be at least eighteen inches deep and the soil

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and

General Distributor of

Building Supplies

Cement Blocks

Ornamental Brick

Pressed Brick

Common Brick

Flue Linings

Structural Steel

Newaygo Portland Cem't

Barreled Lump Lime

Bulk Lump Lime

Hydrated Lime

Gravel

Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and

Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

well worked in among the roots, and after a good rain or two more soil should be thrown on, making the earth above the roots rounding and a foot or so above the surface of the ground.

Perfect planting, other things being equal, consists in placing the tree as nearly as possible in the same condition as that in which it was before being removed.—National Stockman and Farmer.

KEEP RATS OUT OF CORN.

Directions For Building a Crib That Is Proof Against Them.

Having an order to build a corn house guaranteed rat and mouse proof, I give the method employed, says a writer in the Orange Judd Farmer. The building is twelve feet long, seven feet wide at floor and eight feet wide at eaves; seven foot post with a square pitch roof. Six heavy chestnut posts were set; then the 6 by 8 inch sills were put on. Floor timbers about 4 by 5 inches were laid on the sills. Over these was laid a covering of galvanized iron extending about two inches beyond the timbers all around, this being bent down. Over this a double floor was laid, and the seams in the iron were united thoroughly to the under side of the flooring. The frame (2 by 4 inch joists) was next set up. The slats, 3 1/2 by 1 inch by seven feet long, were then nailed on, leaving an opening in one end for door three feet wide by seven feet. This being in the center gave room for a crib two feet wide at bottom, two feet six inches wide at top and twelve feet long on each side.

RAT PROOF CORNCRIB.

(From Orange Judd Farmer.)

The entire crib was then covered with fine galvanized wire cloth, three meshes to the inch, fastened to the metal on the floor timbers and extended up to the roof line. The rafters were then put on, and over these more of the galvanized iron was used, being laid in well down on the wire cloth and fastening securely. Over this the roof, which is of boards, painted, was placed. The cribs were made narrow, as the corn was very green.

Orchard and Garden.

Always plant small fruits on deep rich alluvial soil, one which carries plenty of humus.

Turn up all dirty land thoroughly to expose the weed roots to frost and repeat this at intervals.

One of the first requisites in keep in mind in selecting an orchard location is that it be well drained.

Fine, well rotted manure is a good mulch for tea roses. Prune by cutting the blossom heavily with long stems in order to reduce vigorous blooming branches.

Constant and persistent warfare with the sprayer against the various pests that haunt and damage the orchard is the price of successful and profitable horticulture.

Subscribe for the Courier

When you want a cup of Good tea, use Pleasant Valley. That delightfully delicate flavor that you will notice in all Pleasant Valley Tea is the result of the most careful blending.

50c
60c
80c

Tzar Coffee 35¢
Tzar Coffee is especially good. You'll find it has a delicious, mellow flavor. The pleasing fragrant aroma from Tzar Coffee will give you an appetite for your breakfast. Why not try Pleasant Valley Tea and Tzar Coffee now?

Mrs. B. W. Miller
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Cowardice Court

By
GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON

Copyright 1906 Dodd Mead & Co.

(Continued from page 3.)
for the storm to come and do away with the storm. "I love a storm, don't you?" "Yes, if I'm indoors," she said. "He had struck a match and was lighting the wick of a lamp beside the huge fireplace."

"I suppose you think I'm perfectly crazy," she said. "Sit down here on the couch, please. More cheerful, eh? Good Lord, listen to the wind! You get here just in time. Now, if you'll excuse me I'll have Mrs. Ulrich down in a minute. She'll take good care of you. And I'll make you a nice hot drink too. You need it." In the door of the big living room he turned to her, a look of extreme doubt in his eyes. "By love, I bet I do wake up. It can't be true," she laughed plaintively and shook her head in humble self-abasement. "Don't be homesome. I'll be back in a minute."

"Don't hurry," she murmured apologetically. Then she settled back limply in the wide couch and inspected the room. His footstep noisily clattered down the long hallway to the left. She saw, with some misgiving, that it was purely a man's habitation. Shaw doubtless had built and furnished the big cottage without woman as a consideration. The room was large, comfortable, solid. There was not a suggestion of femininity in it—high or low—except the general air of cleanliness. The furniture was rough hewn and built for use, not ornamentation. The walls were hung with English

"I suppose you think I'm perfectly crazy," she said. "prints, antlers, mementoes of the hunt and the field of sport. The floor was covered with skins and great 'carpet rag' rugs. The whole aspect was so distinctly mannish that her heart fluttered ridiculously in its loneliness. Her cogitations were running seriously toward riot when he came hurriedly down the hall and into her presence. "She'll be down presently. In fact, so will the cook and the housemaid. Gad, Miss Drake, they were so afraid of the storm that all of them fled to Mrs. Ulrich's room. I wonder at your courage in facing the symptoms outdoors. Now I'll sit you a drink of your own—be comfortable. Cigarette? Good! Here's my sideboard. See? It's a nuisance, this having only one arm in commission; affects my style as a barkeep. Don't stir; I'll be able to—"

"Let me help you. I mean, please don't go to so much trouble. Really I want nothing but a place to sleep tonight. This couch will do—honestly. And some one to call me at daybreak, so that I may be on my way." He looked at her and laughed quizzically. "Oh, I'm in earnest, Mr. Shaw, I would not have stopped here if it hadn't been for the storm."

"Come, now, Miss Drake, you spoil the fairy tale. You did intend to come here. It was the only place for you to go, and I'm glad of it. My only regret is that the house isn't filled with elegances."

"Why?" she demanded with a guilty start. "Because I could then say to you the things that are in my heart—yes, that are almost bursting from my lips. I—I can't say them now, you know." She said, and she understood his delectation. For some minutes she sat in silence, watching him as he clumsily mixed the drinks and put the water over the alcohol blaze. Suddenly he turned to her with something like alarm in his voice. "By George, you don't suppose they'll pursue you?"

"Oh, wouldn't that be jolly? It would be like the real story book—the fairy and the ogres and all that. But," he said, "I'm sorry afraid they could—or me perhaps. Still—looking up at you, I don't think any ogre would try to find me if he knew that I was gone."

To her surprise, he whistled softly and permitted a frown of anxiety to creep over his face. "I hadn't thought of that," he observed reflectively. Then he seemed to throw off the momentary symptoms of uneasiness, adding, with a laugh: "I daresay nothing will happen. The storm would put a stop to all kind of mischief."

"Let them pursue," she said, a stubborn light in her eyes. "I am my own mistress, Mr. Shaw. They can't take me, willy nilly, as if I were a child, you know."

"That's quite true. You don't understand," he said slowly, his back to her. "You mean the law? Is it different from ours?"

"Not that. The—er—situation. You see, they might think it a trifle odd if they found you here—with me. Don't you understand?" He turned to her with a very serious expression. She started and sat bolt upright to stare at him comprehensively.

"You mean it—if it isn't quite—er—" "Regular perhaps," he supplied. "Please keep your seat. I'm not the cause. I'm not even an ogreous fellow. Miss Drake, my only thought was and is for your good."

"I see. They would believe evil of me if they knew I had come to you," she mused, turning quite cold.

"I know the kind of people your sister-in-law has at her place, Miss Drake. Their sort can see but one motive in anything. You know them, too, I dare say."

"Yes, I know them," she said earnestly. "Good heavens, what a fool I've been," she added, starting to her feet. "I might have known they'll say all sorts of terrible things. They must not find me here. Mr. Shaw, I'm—I am so ashamed—I wonder what you are thinking of me." Her lip trembled, and there was such a pleading look in her dark eyes that he controlled himself with difficulty. It was only by

WILLIAM H. HILL,
Progressive Candidate Congressman-at-Large.

Every voter in the State has the right to vote for this office. It is a State office and your vote for me will not affect any District Congressman. I stand squarely upon the Progressive Platform and—please myself—work unceasingly for the following:

- Direct Primaries.
- Nation-wide Presidential Preference Primaries.
- Direct Election of United States Senators.
- The Short Ballot and the Initiative Referendum and Recall in the State.
- Prohibiting Federal Appointments from Taking Part in Political Organizations.
- The Prohibition of Child Labor.
- Minimum Wage for Working Women.
- Prohibition of Night Work for Women on Eight-Hour Day for Women and Young Persons.
- One Day's Rest in Seven for all Workmen.
- The Establishment of a Department of Labor.
- The Development of Agriculture, Credit and Co-operation.
- The Encouragement of Agriculture.
- Valuation of the Physical Property of Railways by Interstate Commerce Commission.
- The Regulation of Forest, Coal, Oil, Lands, Water and other Natural Resources in the Ownership of the Nation.
- The Extension of the Rural Delivery Service.
- The Comprehensive Development of Waterways.
- A Non-partisan Scientific Commission.
- The Immediate Repeal of the Cripple Act.
- A Wise and Just Policy of Immigration.
- Limiting Soldiers and Sailors.

Advertisement.

imposing the severest restraint upon his susceptibilities that he was able to approach her calmly.

"I can't tell you now—no here—what I'm thinking. It isn't the place. May be—maybe you can read my thought. Don't you read—oh, there now—I beg your pardon! You come to me for protection and I—well, don't be too hard on me just yet. I'll find the time and place to tell you." He drew away almost as his hand was ready to clasp hers—all because her sweet eyes met his trustingly—he could have sworn lovingly.

"Just now I am a poor little reproachable," she sighed ever so miserably. "You are very good. I'll not forget." "I'll not permit you to forget," he said eagerly.

"Isn't the housekeeper a long time in coming?" she asked quickly. He laughed contentedly. "We've no reason to worry about her. It's the pursers from Buzzelhurst that would trouble us. Won't you tell me the whole story?" And she told him everything, sitting there beside him with a hot drink to her hand and a growing shame in her heart. It was dawning upon her with alarming force that she was exposing a hitherto unknown incentive. It was not a comfortable awakening. "And you champion me to that extent?" he cried joyously. She nodded bravely and went on.

"So here I am," she said in conclusion. "I really could not have walked so lightly tonight, could I?" "I should say not."

"And there was really nowhere else to come but here?" dubiously.

"See that light over there up the mountain?" he asked, leading her to the window. "Old man Grimes and his wife live up there. They keep a light burning all night to serve themselves as a guide. By day, the storm will be upon us in a minute. I thought it had blown around us." The roll of thunder came up the valley. "Thank heaven you're safe indoors. Let them pursue if they like. I'll hide you if they come, and the servants are close mouthed."

"I don't like the way you put it, Mr. Shaw."

"Hello, hello—the house!" came a shout from the wind ridden night outside. Two hears inside stopped beating for a second or two. She caught her breath sharply as she clasped his arms.

"They are after me!" she gasped. "They must not find you here. Really, Miss Drake, I mean it. They would not understand. Come with me. Go down this hall quickly. It leads to the garden back of the house. There's a gun room at the end of the hall. Go in there, to your right. Here, take this! It's an electric saddle lantern. I'll hand these fellows off. They shan't find you. Don't be alarmed."

She sped down the narrow hall, and he, taking time to slip into a long dressing coat, stepped out upon the porch in response to the now prolonged and impatient shouts.

"Who's there?" he shouted. The light from the windows revealed several horsemen in the roadway. "Friends," came back through the wind. "Let us in out of the storm. It's a terror."

"I don't know you." There was a shout of laughter and some profanity. "Oh, yes you do, Mr. Shaw. Open up and let us in. It's Dave Rank and Ed Hunter. We can't make the cabin before the rain." Shaw could see their faces now and then by the flashes of lightning, and he recognized the two woodsmen, who doubtless had been visiting sweethearts up toward Ridgely.

"Take your horses to the stable, boys, and come in," he called, laughing heartily. Then he hurried off to the gun room. He passed Mrs. Ulrich coming downstairs yawning prodigiously. He called to her to wait for him in the library.

There was no one in the gun room. The door leading to the back porch was open. With an exclamation he leaped outside and looked about him. "Good heavens!" he cried, staggering back.

Far off in the night, a hundred yards or more up the road, leading to Grimes' cabin he saw the waddling, uncertain flicker of a light weaving its way like a will-o-the-wisp through the night. Without a moment's hesitation and with something strangely like an oath, he rushed into the house, almost upsetting the housekeeper in his haste.

"Visitors outside. Make 'em comfortable. Back soon," he jerked out as he clanked his coat with small respect for his injured arm. Then he clutched a couple of raincoats from the rack and flew out of the back door like a man suddenly come mad.

(Continued next week.)

Dirty Road Improvement. In 1901 this country had 2,300,000 miles of public roads, of which 8 per cent had been improved by the use of gravel, burnt clay, macadam, brick, etc. The percentage of highly improved roads was, of course, much less than this. In the five year period 1904-9 the proportion of improved roads increased from 7.14 per cent to 8.66 per cent. At this rate it will be a long time before even half of our mileage is improved. Road building is too big a physical and financial problem to transform the bulk of our dirt roads in one generation. In the meantime more attention should be paid to the systematic betterment of dirt roads with our present resources. Much can be done by better drainage including more culverts, by better grades, by use of the drag, etc., and it can be done without adding to public debts or increasing taxation.

Have you thought about your writer's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

AUCTION SALES

THE COURIER

is the recognized medium in Charlevoix county for Advertising Auction Sales. If you contemplate having a sale you can't afford to miss investigating our plan of advertising sales. During the past five years we have advertised practically all the Auction Sales held in this locality and have not had a dissatisfied customer. Our plan brings the buyers. Give us the list of things you have for sale

WE'LL DO THE REST

Furnish the Auctioneer
Make the Date
Bring the Buyers

Now is the Time to Subscribe

for the Courier. The long Winter Evenings are at hand and you can't afford to be without Charlevoix county's favorite home paper.

Clubbing offers with any other paper or magazine published. Here's a sample:

Courier	$1.50 per year
Michigan Farmer	$1.00 per year
Grand Rapids Press	$2.00 per year
On Rural Routes	$4.50

Our price for all three $3.25
Making a Saving of $1.25

The Courier Press

PHONE 222

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Royal Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure
The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

Adds Healthful Qualities to the Food.

RENOURISHING SHADE TREES

Plenty of Black Soil Is Absolutely Essential.

HOW WORK SHOULD BE DONE.

The Old Filled In Soil Must Be Removed by Digging a Trench Four Feet Deep and Three Feet Wide and Filling It With Good Soil.

In many towns and cities where the original native soil has been covered with several feet of clay and rubbish, and it is imperative that good soil be placed around the roots of the trees.

The willows, poplars and cottonwoods, which take up a large amount of moisture and whose wood structure is largely composed of cellulose, may survive in these conditions. And perhaps the catalpas and alibinis trees, which send their shoots great distances into the ground, reach the original soil and survive.

A POORLY NOURISHED TREE.

linal soil and survive. But the best varieties, as the elm, Norway maples, lindens, red and pin oaks, hackberries, etc., cannot thrive under these conditions, even though they may originally have been planted in from one to three cubic yards of black soil.

To renourish such trees the old filled in soil immediately surrounding the tree should be removed by digging a trench four feet deep and three feet wide and filling it with good soil, and after the filling roots have worked themselves into this new soil and before they have worked through it into the old filled in dirt another three feet of this filling can be removed and new soil replaced as before. This soil can be placed around these trees in the fall or during the warm winter days.

Two years ago I removed the soil from around two magnificent elms, six inches in diameter one foot from the ground. These trees looked very sickly, were dropping their leaves in early summer and showed a very sparse growth of branches and twigs. After six loads of clay, brickbats and cinders had been removed from around the roots of these trees it was found that the nurseryman who originally planted the trees had provided only about one-half a cubic yard of black soil for each tree and had charged about $250 each for these trees.

The photograph illustrates the advantage of planting in plenty of black soil. A year and a half after we had replaced the soil around these trees a wonderful difference was noticeable. It seemed that the trees responded almost immediately, throwing out new limbs and twigs. As some one has wisely said, about two-thirds of the expense of planting a tree should be spent in supplying black soil into which to plant it.—J. H. Post in American City.

KNOCKERS.

Every town is cursed with a few knockers who find fault with everybody who tries to do business. If a man is about to buy a piece of property they tell him it is not worth the money. If he wants to sell a farm they tell him he is not getting enough for it. They nose around with their hammers out trying in every way to injure the community in which they live. They like to see people in trouble and are delighted when any one goes broke or has a death in the family. They knockers will not likely get their just desert in this world, but we should not like to take their chances in the next.

THE FIGHT AGAINST THE MAPLE SCALE.

How Colorado Springs Combated These Tree Pests.

A department of forestry was created by the city of Colorado Springs Jan. 1, 1911, that some united action might be taken against the cottony maple scale which was injuring so many of

ANNOUNCEMENT

I have received my Fall and Winter Stock of

5-A Blankets - Fur Coats
Sheep-lined Coats
Mackinaws Soo Woolen Goods
Gloves and Mittens

See this large stock and you will save DOLLARS. Watch this space for Prices.

Benj. Brown

SPECIAL BLANKET SALE

Now that the cool nights are here, you probably need a pair of good warm All-wool or Cotton Fleece Blankets. We have them. Think of it. You can buy of us a pair of

All Wool Blankets, extra large for - $4.75
Others of standard size for $4.00 and $4.25

These Blankets were bought early in the season before the advance in prices, hence the extra low prices. don't fail to come before the best patterns are gone.

A beautiful set of Rogers Silverware given to our customers every Saturday evening

S. M. See & Sons

The Reliable House Furnishers

See Block

Bridge Street

Grange Column

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session October 15 with an attendance of forty members and four visitors.

The regular order of business was transacted and the grange voted to extend an invitation to Peninsula grange to hold their next meeting with Ironton grange.

There will be a social at the grange hall, Tuesday evening, November 5, and a committee was appointed to try and make arrangements to have the hall wired and a phone put in for the night, so we can receive the election returns.

Lecturer's hour was taken up with songs, readings and recitations. Both members and visitors responded to the call of the lecturer. Next meeting, October 22.

Charlevoix Grange.

Charlevoix grange will meet next Monday evening, October 22, and the worthy lecturer wishes to announce the following program.

Roll call with quotations from Longfellow and Tennyson.

Reading, "An Open Letter to Grange Women" from Jennie Bench, Song, "Just as Well as He," Sister Martha Dutton and Sister Mary Crandell.

Discussion, "How Shall we Conduct the Meetings of our Grange, so as to interest both the young and the old of both sex," led by Worthy Master E. B. Ward.

Declaration, "A Tribute to the Cow," Brother, Elsworth Dutton.

"What breed of dairy cattle best meets the demand of our locality?" by Brother R. W. Paddock.

Instrumental music.

Glasses Fitted.

Consult J. Leahy the optometrist at Baker's Inn, Thursday, October 31, one day only. Headache and dizziness cured, crossed eyes straightened, fitting children's eyes a specialty. Glasses guaranteed to fit. 42-42 (Advertisement.)

C. H. S. NOTES.

Elmer See and Gladys Hall visited the high school last Thursday afternoon.

The hooker-ping sets are here so we can begin work.

The "sanitary paper towels" have been introduced in the school and are a decided improvement on the roller towels formerly used.

Mr. Carpenter's chemistry class have done some very interesting work in the analyzing of "Air" this week.

The English 111 classes have finished the study of the autobiography of Franklin.

The plowing match, one of Charlevoix annual recreation, was enjoyed by a good attendance of high school students, who report a good time, but after school sessions will also be attended by several of the students.

50 Girls Wanted.

At the seed house to pick over beans. We are ready to take in beans or potatoes at any time. For information apply to George Brown, Phone office 732r. House, 732r. Chatterton & Son, Ferry Seed Warehouse.—Advertisement. 4-111f

Subscribe for the Courier.

DIFFICULT TO INTERPRET

Law Relative to Manufacture of Cider and Wine.

Not Unlawful to Make Cider, But Unlawful to Traffic in "Hard" Cider.

The attorney general's department is receiving many inquiries to interpret the local option law relative to making cider and wine in dry counties. As yet no formal opinion has been made by the department.

The brewery association is getting out literature which says wine or cider cannot be made in Michigan in local option counties. It bases its report on the decision of the supreme court in the Kierke case at Jackson, where the proprietors of a brewery were convicted.

Many cider manufacturers in dry counties intimate that the action of the brewers is but a scheme of their own to get business, and have asked for an opinion.

Deputy Attorney General Lawler says that the matter is difficult of explaining when cider becomes "hard" and again when it becomes vinegar. It is not against the law, he says, to make sweet cider, but it is against the law to traffic in "hard" cider. It is not an offense to deal in vinegar.

Lost.

A red sweater with smoked pearl buttons. Finder leave at this office.—Advertisement.

Must Not Kill Quail.

The secretary of state and other officials have been receiving many complaints of the number of quail killed this year, although it is against the law to shoot them until 1915. The trouble is due to the fact that the law closing the season was passed at the last special session of the legislature. During the past few years the quail in this part of Michigan have been industriously hunted and as a result they have been scarce and hard to find. It is thought that if the birds are not molested for the next two years they will become very numerous.

To Whom It May Concern.

My wife, Dora, having left my bed and board without just cause or provocation, I hereby warn all not to trust her on my account. M. H. Wheaton.—Advertisement. 432pd

Dressmaking

By the day. Phone 232. Miss Grace Shockley.—Advertisement. 41-4-4pd

Important Notice

To all electors of this city. In accordance with an opinion of the Attorney General an entirely new registration of all electors of this city is necessary. No matter how long an elector has resided in his ward or precinct, nor how many times he has voted there, he must re-register in his ward or precinct on Saturday, November 2nd, 1912. Places of Registration, First Ward: Home house, Michigan avenue; Second Ward: City clerk's office, library building; Third Ward: Joseph Couper's store, 115 Antrim street, or he can not vote at the General Election November 5th, 1912. Dated October 11, 1912. Ernest J. Miller, clerk of the city of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.—Advertisement. 432

Courier rates on application

Obituary.

McKown in the American City. At that time thousands of the trees were white with the cottony, waxy secretion formed by this insect, which seems to thrive in paralytic dry countries and increases very rapidly. The present infestation has been gaining a foothold for the past ten years, and natural enemies have done very little if any thing toward holding it in check.

A so called spraying district, containing 200 city blocks, was mapped out and arrangements were made for spraying all infested trees in this district three times, the city to pay for the work outside the property lines and the property owners to pay for that inside their lots. The principal object of the first application was to clean the trees of the old cotton so that the living scale might be more easily reached, while the second and third applications were for the purpose of irritating the soft bodies of the scales, thus causing death.

Just a word as to the nature of this insect will show how hard it is to kill. It is a sucking mouth part insect and continually has its beak beneath the bark sucking sap. For this reason a poison like lead arsenate would have very little effect upon it. Instead, it must be killed by bodily irritants such as kerosene emulsion. The kerosene in this solution irritates the body, and the soap upon drying forms a film over the insects' breathing pores which suffocate to all parts of their bodies. This it will be seen that killing this scale is a slow process and demands two or three applications.

The most important parts of the operation are the thorough mixing of the emulsion so that the oil will not separate from the water and applying it with force. This city has a four horse power gasoline engine, a good three cylinder pump and a 200 gallon tank mounted on a substantial truck and with this outfit can maintain a pressure of 200 pounds. By pouring the kerosene into the empty tank, starting the engine and pump and then adding the dissolved soap and boiling water the solution becomes thoroughly agitated and emulsified and will not separate.

During the spring of 1911 approximately 1000 trees were sprayed three times each, and the success of the work is unquestioned. Now and then one finds a scale which survived the spraying and formed new cotton in which to lay her eggs, but this was to be expected, and in four or five years this district may have to be sprayed again thoroughly. Last spring we treated a similar area in the same way. No spraying will be done during the summer, the best results in spraying for the cottony maple scale being obtained during the dormant period of tree growth—from early fall to late spring. Gradually we will get over the entire city, and then we hope an occasional spraying will keep our trees absolutely free from this injurious and extremely unsightly insect.

June Michener was born in Youngs street, Ontario, Canada, August 15, 1823. She passed on the life beyond at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Preston, of Charlevoix, Michigan, October 9, 1912, at the age of 89 years, one month and twenty-four days.

She was married to Charles Hogan in 1849. For 16 years Mr. and Mrs. Hogan lived in Drayton, Canada, whence they came to Charlevoix in 1865. They settled on a homestead nine miles south of the present city of Charlevoix. No part of their farm had been cleared, and here they encountered all the privations and hardships incident to pioneer life.

On the maternal side, Mrs. Hogan's ancestry was of Quaker origin. Her paternal forebears were Puritans, who came from England and settled in the Connecticut Valley in the first half of the 17th century. One of the wellnigh priceless heirlooms, which was brought over by those early colonists, and is now in the possession of Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Hogan's eldest daughter, was a "Spoon-mold," an article, the appearance and uses of which are quite unknown to the present generation.

Mrs. Hogan was a woman of innate refinement. Her artistic temperament could not be wholly repressed even by the privations of pioneer life, but she found expression in various ways; notably in her intense love for flowers. Her flower gardens, for which she insisted that provision should be made in the initial plans for the pioneer home, soon were known far and wide, so that it happened that strangers, seeking the Hogan home, were directed to go on until they came to the "Hog house" surrounded by flower beds.

Mrs. Hogan was the mother of five children, of whom three survive; Mrs. Minnie Preston of Charlevoix, Mrs. D. H. Francis of Boyne City, and Mrs. Joseph Lewis of Petoskey. Her last years were spent in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Preston, by whom she was faithfully and devotedly attended during the long and painful illness, from which she found release in death.

Just Over Its Effects.

"Maudie, I am just out of the hospital, and—" "Don't tell me any more about that! You are the same old man! I gave a piece of pie to not two weeks ago." "Yes, but that was just 'fore I went to the hospital."—Houston Post

Call Up 125

and let us convince you that we appreciate

Your Patronage

By the service we give

QUALITY AND PRICES

That Cannot Be Beat

Van Allsburg's Market

Corner Antrim and State Streets

A Local Man or Woman

is desired right now to represent The Pictorial Review in this territory to call on those whose subscriptions are about to expire. Big money for the right person, representatives in some other districts make over $2000 a month. Spare time workers are liberally paid for what they do. Any person taking up this position becomes the direct local representative of the publishers. Write today for this offer.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

222 W. 35th St. New York City

Do you like pumpkin pie? Supper will be served at the Halloween mask party given by the Epworth League Wednesday, October 30, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson.—Advertisement. 431f

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 44

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

SUPERVISORS COMPLETE WORK

After one of the Stormiest Sessions Held in Years.

GOOD ROADS APPROPRIATION

Chief Bone of Contention--Two Mill
Tax will be Spread.

Roads will be Built in Three Sections--Cross, De Voe, Dutton, Bunnett, and Sherman are Elected to Official Positions.

The supervisors completed their work Friday after one of the most interesting and stormiest sessions held in recent years. The principal bone of contention was the county road question and it seemed difficult for the members to agree upon the amount to be expended and where to build the roads. It was finally decided to vote a tax of two mills, the money to be equally divided and expended in building a section of good road from Charlevoix south and east toward East Jordan; from Boyne City toward Charlevoix on the north of Pine Lake; from East Jordan toward Boyne City and Wilson.

While we believe it would have suited the majority of the people better if the three per cent asked for had been granted a start at last has been made toward the building of good roads, for which we are truly thankful.

Election of officers resulted in the choice of A. E. Cross of East Jordan for superintendent of the poor, I. M. DeVoe of this city for member of the board of county school examiners and G. Ellsworth Dutton of this city, Cliff C. Burnett of Boyne City and LeRoy H. Sherman of East Jordan for members of the board of county canvassers. All the above, with the exception of Mr. Sherman, are the present officials and their re-election will give general satisfaction.

BACOT STILL IN THE RING

Democratic Candidate for Sheriff in Bad Accident Last Sunday.

Horse Runaway Badly Injuring and Bruising Him
About the Face and Body.

Tom Bacot, Democratic candidate for sheriff, was badly injured while riding Sunday afternoon with Charles Graves. As they were driving up West Main street a lot of boys jumped out from under a pile of leaves, as they were passing, badly frightening the horse, so it jumped sideways breaking the third strap. Graves pulled the horse up when it backed up against the cross bar breaking it. Bacot commenced to climb out of the rig to catch the horse by the head when the horse jumped, throwing him on the wheel knocking him down under the rig which ran over him. His left eye was cut entirely loose; he received another bad cut above the eye and his nose was badly bruised besides he received several cuts around the knees and other portions of the body.

The horse continued running until Graves was finally able to bring it to a stop in a sand bank. The rig was badly broken and the horse received several bad bruises. Taken altogether it was a foul accident for Mr. Bacot but he is still in the ring and out hustling for votes.

C. O. Davis Breaks Leg.

C. O. Davis broke his leg just above the ankle while sunbathing with Ed Seamon, in Menard pool room, Monday. Dr. Armstrong was called and while the break was a bad one, Mr. Davis is getting along finely.

Dressmaking

By the day. Phone 202. Miss Grace Shockley. Advertisement of H. H. H.

PROPOSED AMENOMENT

What Amendment to the Constitution Relative to City Charters aims to Do.

The widespread interest in the proposed woman suffrage amendment to the constitution which will be submitted at the election next Tuesday has caused the people in general to lose sight of the fact that another amendment will also be proposed.

This amendment is of no particular interest to the voters in the rural precincts, but as it purports to allow cities and villages to amend their charters in a less expensive manner than at present their affirmative votes would be appreciated.

An impression has been created in some quarters that the adoption of this amendment might, in some way, work against the local option law. A little thought will convince anyone of the fallacy of this view as no city or village can amend a charter in conflict with the general laws of the state such as the local option law.

ACKNOWLEDGES FALSE STATEMENTS

Francis O. Lindquist Sending out Letters Broadcast Over the District.

Does not Express any Opinion on any Question of National Importance.

F. O. Lindquist, whose name appears on the ballot as the Republican candidate for Congress from this district, has commenced his letter writing again.

He admits circulating false statements in regard to Congressman Dodds, claiming to have been deceived by Collier's Weekly. He fails to explain however why he waited until just before the primary before sending out the letter, containing the falsehood, if he was honestly deceived, neither does he tell why he has waited all this time since the primary, before making his confession of sending out false statements if he is genuinely sorry, as he professes to be.

Mr. Lindquist in his letter further repudiates the party, under party emblem he takes place on the ballot, and announces himself as a Progressive on the Republican ballot. He also fails to tell whether or not he has any opinion on any of the great political questions of the day.

His opponents, Mr. McCall, and Mr. Patchin have both honestly and in a fair manner, told the people where they stand and what they believe, and with Mr. Lindquist's latest letter before the voters are asked to support a man who acknowledges himself guilty of sending out broadcast false statements in regard to a political opponent too late for him to make a reply; a man who acknowledges that he enrolled and secured the party nomination on a ticket which he now repudiates, a man who has never given them any information in regard to the way he would vote on any important question of national legislation, which might arise in congress, against men who have been honest and fair in their campaign and who the people know have opinions on national questions.

Excursion to Boyne.

Friday evening, John U. Ross lieutenant-governor of Michigan, will address the people of Charlevoix county at Boyne City. Mr. Ross is one of the most popular men that has ever presided over the state senate and is a most eloquent speaker.

In order that all may be given an opportunity to hear Mr. Ross the steamer Beaver has been chartered and everybody is invited to take the trip. The Beaver will leave this city at six o'clock.

Lost.

A red sweater with smoked pearl buttons. Finder leave at this office. Advertisement of H. H. H.

I have the Sox Woolen Mills pants, coats, blouses, shirts, neckties and socks. See this line they are the best. Benj. Brown. Advertisement of H. H. H.

MANY POINTS FOR VOTERS TO REMEMBER NEXT TUESDAY

Be Careful How You Mark Your Ballot--Six Parties Are Represented--Republican Ticket is Made Up of Experienced Men--Amendments to Constitution in Line With Progress--Register.

The Courier office has been busy getting out the ballot for the election next Tuesday. Six parties have tickets on the ballot in the following order: Republican, Democratic, Socialist, Prohibition, Socialist Labor and National Progressive.

The following points are well for voters to remember. If you desire to vote the National Progressive ticket for president and the rest the Republican ticket, mark your cross under the head of the Republican ticket as usual, and then mark a cross in the square before the names of the candidates for presidential electors, on the last ticket on the ballot. Nothing further need be done. If you desire to vote for Mr. Patchin or Mr. McCall in opposition to Mr. Lindquist a cross at the head of your ballot and in front of the name of the man for whom you desire to vote is all that is necessary. We have answered these questions because they are the ones which we are most commonly called upon to answer.

As the Courier announced at the beginning of this campaign it would be fair to all candidates, but would urge the claims of the Republican candidates unless it considered them unworthy the position they sought. We now ask our readers if experience is of value, is it not for the best interests of the people that the Republican ticket be elected.

We believe that the entire Republican ticket, with the exception of Mr. Lindquist, is worthy of support and should receive the united support of every Republican. There are those who honestly differ with us and will support the Progressive National ticket. We ask them however to not fail to vote for the Republican county ticket.

We believe that the progress of the times demands the granting of suffrage rights to women and hope their cause will prevail.

Above all else if you are a resident of this city don't fail to register next Saturday.

NEARLY DROWNED

Former Charlevoix Residents Drift all Night in Raft on Lake Huron.

From Charlevoix comes the word of the near escape from death by drowning of two well known former residents of this city, Dan Corlette, Sr., and Dan Corlette, Jr., uncle and brother of Miss Minnie Baldwin of this city.

The little gasoline fishing tug, Carrie B, owned by John Hilburn of Charlevoix and manned by the three Corlettes, sprang a leak, in a heavy sea, making it necessary for them to trust to the life raft and small boat.

After drifting around in the lake all night they were finally picked up by a freighter and taken to the Soo from which city they took the train for home none the worse from their harrowing experience.

Auction Sales.

This week we advertise three auction sales.

On page seven we advertise one of the largest auction sales ever held in this section of the state, the sale of Hyers Brothers, one-half mile east of Atwood and five and one-half miles west of Ellsworth, Wednesday November 6, beginning at 9 o'clock a. m. T. E. Niles, auctioneer, H. J. Timmer and W. S. Richardson, clerks.

On page six we advertise the sale of James Monral, one mile north-west of Barnard grange hall, Monday November 4, beginning at one o'clock, p. m. Jerome Cole, auctioneer, Robert Gregory, clerk.

On page three, we advertise the sale of Robert Dickie, two miles east and one-half mile south of Tronton, Thursday, November 7, beginning at ten o'clock a. m. W. E. Byers, auctioneer, H. Van Gledenis, clerk.

FIRE ON BRIDGE STREET

John Connor's Shoe Shop Guilted by Fire--Fully Covered by Insurance.

Last night about eleven o'clock fire was discovered in the building on Bridge street owned and occupied by John Connor as a shoe shop. The fire is supposed to have originated either from the chimney or the stove pipe.

By hard work the firemen kept the fire confined to the one building which is badly damaged. Mr. Connor's stock of leather is also a total loss. F. E. Carter, the tailor, also had some goods slightly damaged by water and A. E. Mason's stock of shoes was quite badly damaged. All losses are fully covered by insurance.

Is your property insured? If not, now is the time to see Myrtle Young & Son. Advertisement.

Chicken Pie Supper.

The fifth annual chicken pie supper and dancing party of the Charlevoix high school athletic association is scheduled for Saturday, November 2. Don't forget the date as this annual event is always one of the biggest affairs called out in our city.

I will show you the finest ladies fur coats ever shown in the city. Benj. Brown. Advertisement.

NEW RECEIVER

For Citizens Mutual Insurance Company of Cheboygan, Charlevoix and Emmet Counties.

Judge Shepard has signed an order discharging E. L. Voorheis of Harbor Springs as Receiver of the defunct Citizens Mutual Fire Insurance company, and has placed in his stead Mr. J. L. Barber of Keweenaw, who has been instrumental in bringing the affairs of that company to a possible close at a great saving to the policy holders. Mr. Barber has resorted to every honorable and fair means to get all to make settlement under his plan and those that have not done so are now required to come up to the captain's desk and square up at once and save the costs of a suit as no one ever heard of anyone beating a receivership in these cases and the cheapest way is the quickest way out. Mr. Barber is deserving of a great deal of credit for his work in this matter and those that understand and appreciate what he has done will hand him to the skies. Cheboygan Democrat.

FOUL PLAY WAS SUSPECTED

Body of Victoria McDagin of Cross Village Found Near Golf Grounds.

Coroner's Jury Brings in Verdict of Death by Strangulation Caused by Intoxication.

Sunday afternoon, about three o'clock, some Indian children discovered the body of Victoria McDagin, a squaw from Cross Village, lying face upward in a clump of woods near the golf grounds. They gave the alarm and several Indians came and looked at the body. About six o'clock under-sheriff Novak was notified and after investigation, the body was removed to See's undertaking parlors, and Ed McSamba, who had been seen sleeping near the place where the body was found, taken into custody on a charge of suspicion.

Tuesday an inquest was held before Coroner Wilkinson, A. L. Fitch appearing in behalf of the people, McSamba being represented by K. L. Lewis. The testimony brought out the following facts:

The unfortunate woman, who leaves a husband and one son, the latter being an employee of the Rock Product company, came to this city Saturday afternoon to visit her son. She was around the city during the afternoon and evening and spent the night at the home of Pete Walker. Sunday afternoon she was seen around the vicinity of the Walker home with a bunch of Indians which is the last trace of her up to the time her body was found.

McSamba testified that he remembered being intoxicated Saturday night and there his memory ceases.

The jury, after hearing the testimony, brought in a verdict of death by strangulation caused by intoxication.

FERRIS IN TOWN

Democratic Candidate for Governor Greeted by Large Crowd Tuesday Forenoon.

Woodbridge N. Ferris, Democratic candidate for governor, was a visitor in Charlevoix Tuesday morning. Notwithstanding the coldness of the hour, 9:30, a large crowd assembled at the Charlevoix theatre, the schools having been excused to hear Mr. Ferris, Michigan's leading school master.

Mr. Ferris was introduced by R. F. Sloan and gave an interesting address dealing with his platform and what he hopes to accomplish if elected governor.

Mr. Ferris was followed by Archie McCall, candidate for Congress, who told of the fight he was making and asked the voters not to be deceived by the campaign methods of one of his opponents, Mr. Lindquist. The party left here for Central Lake.

For Sale.

Good barn. Enquire at Hotel Edison. Advertisement of H. H. H.

Buy everything in gloves and mittens the best a pair for 25c. See them. Benj. Brown. Adv. H. H. H.

AUTOS WENT THROUGH CITY

On Chicago Motor Club's Reliability Run
Friday Afternoon.

FIFTEEN CARS IN THE BUNCH

Nearly Lost in the Forests of the Upper Peninsula.

Cars Were Put to a Most Severe Test--Praise
the Highway North of This City-- Penalties Extremely Severe.

Fifteen cars, carrying fifty motorists, the remnant of a field of twenty entrants in the Chicago Motor Club's reliability run, went through Charlevoix Friday afternoon. The run, from St. Ignace, in perfect morning weather and over a route where bad roads were the exception, was a pure joy ride for the participants. Since the beginning of the run, but one bad day has been experienced, that being the second day out, when the drive was made through a cold, drizzling rain and over the worst roads which will be encountered on the run. There have been no accidents throughout the entire run, the road work has been especially good and there are three cars which still have perfect scores.

The pilot car, which left Mackinaw City shortly after 8 o'clock Friday morning arrived here slightly after noon, and the other cars straggled in at intervals of a half hour to an hour afterwards. The Abbott Detroit was the first to follow the pilot car in, and the others came in the following order: Bergdoll, Staver, Staver, Welch, Motine, Stutz, Motine, Midland, Case, R. C. H. Bergdoll, Staver, Staver (Dictator). Ten of the fifteen cars were contesting cars, one, the Staver Dictator, was entered simply for a test, and four were official cars.

The motorists are unanimous in pronouncing the roads into the city, from the north, as being in excellent condition. Since leaving the Straits they have been delighted with the country through which they have passed, with the way in which they have been received and with the highways over which they have traveled. On Thursday's run the cars were forced to keep almost in sight of one another, because, as they stated, of the danger of getting lost in the wilderness through which they passed--for miles they traveled a road which was lined on either side with dense forest, from which the Chicagoans expected at any moment to be pounced upon by some ferocious beast of the jungle, or held up by a band of redskins and made a meal of.

Under the severe test which the run is putting the cars to, they are showing up remarkably well. Out at a field of fifteen contesting cars which started, ten are still running on schedule time, three of which have perfect scores. One has been withdrawn. Three are out and one is running behind schedule time in the touring car division the Staver No. 1 has a perfect score, and in the roadster division both Motine entrants are without marks against them. Both R. C. H. contesting cars are out, the roadster failing on the second day and the touring car on the fourth. The R. C. H. car which is being used by the press, however, is making a wonderful showing and is running well ahead of the schedule for the contestants. The Stutz roadster is also out, and the Velie was withdrawn. The National entered in the touring car division, failed to check in at Mackinaw City. Reports which have reached the officials since, however, say that it is coming and will join the party as soon as possible.

The officials are men who are well able to direct such a reliability run. Charles P. Road, referee, is the district representative for Chicago of the A. A. A. and is a man who is thoroughly competent in every branch of automobile competition. The judges are N. H. Vansicklen, and D. S. Hatch, starter, L. A. Watts, pilot, H. P. Pransetter, chief checker, R. E. Greene, and chief observer, L. C. Cheney.

Subscribe for this paper

REMEMBER.

South Bend (Ind.) Tribune.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you don't find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING GRATE POLISH. Brush free with each can of enamel only.

Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works
STERLING, ILLINOIS

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

I. Johnson and wife have moved to Boyne City.

R. Ross and wife visited T. Smith and wife Sunday.

Born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fairbanks, a daughter.

T. Smith and wife were the guests of D. Alexander one day last week.

George Meggison and wife were visitors of Joseph McElroy and family Sunday.

Miss Miller of Charlevoix, spent Monday at the home of Elmer Ingalls and wife.

Mrs. George Trimble from Cheboygan, is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Burns.

Will Pamphette and wife have moved into one of the tenant houses on Elmer Ingalls' farm.

The Grange insurance inspector has been around and found Marion Centre grange in good standing.

S. A. Correll of Boyne Falls, visited Elmer Ingalls and wife and Nat Burns and wife one day last week.

James Meggison and wife and Elmer Ingalls and wife were the guests of James Adams and family one day last week.

Mrs. Arthur Beattie and children Dorothy and Forest, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. W. E. Dodd and family and O. R. Beattie and family.

Lloyd, Jesse and Mabel Gregory entertained forty of their young friends Friday evening. The evening was spent in music and parlor games, all enjoying a good time.

Wesley Clark, little son of Mrs. O. R. Beattie, entertained some of his friends and relatives Saturday, October 26, in honor of his third birthday. The usual birthday cake was in evidence decorated with three candles that burned through out the dinner hour.

Catarth Cannot Be Cured

with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarth is a local or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarth Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarth Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best blood purifiers, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarth. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, price 25c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Advertisement.

NORTH BAY.

Mrs. John Johncheck is at Lockwood hospital very sick with typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Long and family, visited Mrs. Long's aunt, Mrs. Henry Willis and family October 22.

Mrs. Schuyler Ramsby and two children of Oklahoma, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kahler.

Louise Bathke is slowly recovering from typhoid fever at Lockwood hospital, where she has been nearly three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Critchell of Petoskey, spent Sunday, October 22, with Mrs. Critchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Long.

Charles C. Collison, a leverman living at 930 No. 4th street, Saginaw states: "I had a severe case of acute kidney trouble with pain across my back and irregular kidney action. I finally took Foley Kidney Pills, and in a few days time the pain left my back, my kidney action became regular and today I am entirely free of all kidney trouble." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.—Advertisement.

Club the Courier with a magazine.

IRONTON.

I will be glad today, The rainclouds drift along the hills. The grass is drowned in lakes and rills.

The birds of song are chilled and mute The dreariness seems a solitude— And yet I will be glad.

I will be glad today, Tho' many a weary task my patient hands are set,

I will forget the little cares that worry and depress And think only on things of pleasantness

And so I will be glad.

The well at Ironton school house is being fixed.

Marshall Brock visited Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sunday.

Mr. Barker's bean thrasher is at work near Ironton.

Ole Lyngklip was home visiting his parents over Sunday.

Gurnie Decker went on a business trip to Ludington last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp and family, visited Mr. and Mrs. Coblenz and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Johnson of Boyne City spent a few days with relatives here this week.

Miss Katherine McGhan was visiting Miss Ella Nowland at Charlevoix the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Courier, Mr. and Mrs. Myers and Miss Hilda Myers spent Sunday with W. F. Johnson and family.

Mrs. Ella Kenyon and William Turnith were married at the home of the bride Saturday evening congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McClanathan and Mrs. Dean and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mitchell in Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graham visited at Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lewis Sunday, where Mrs. Graham will continue her visit for a few days.

The patrons and friends are cordially invited to come to the school house this week, Friday evening at 7:30 standard time. There will be a program and social good time for all.

"On a pleasant autumn day an Ironton maid was contemplating a row down the shining waters to Thely Island. Before starting upon her voyage she exclaimed, "Well, I guess I'll row over to Ireland this morning!"

C. M. Wheeler, 330 Fort street, Port Huron, states: "I have used various kidney medicines for a chronic case of kidney trouble, that has bothered me for some years, and I can honestly say that Foley Kidney Pills did more for me than any of them. They relieved me greatly and I will always be pleased to recommend them." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

BURGESS.

Mrs. Jerichow and Mrs. Hamlin and daughter, visited Mrs. Charlie Riddle Sunday.

Everybody busy with beans and apples now, for winter will soon give us all a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim O'Brien of Charlevoix, visited Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wightman Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Miller visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Pemperton and son of Alanson, who were visiting Mrs. Fay Kane, returned home last week.

Mrs. Frank Kane returned home Saturday after a few weeks visit at her daughter's, Mrs. Clara Trafford of Interlochen.

Mrs. Dora Ray, 730 Broad street St. Joseph, states: "I suffered much misery from my kidneys and bladder and all I tried failed to help me. My kidney action was irregular with a burning pain, and I had headaches and dizzy spells, with swollen ankles. I gave Foley Kidney Pills a good trial and improvement followed promptly and in fact, I felt exceptionally well since taking Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

Hundreds of Charlevoix Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Charlevoix people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Charlevoix reader, of the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far away places. Read the following:

Mrs. M. Olney, 310 W. Hurst Avenue, Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, and consider them a very valuable kidney remedy. I have taken them on several occasions for kidney complaint and severe backaches and have been greatly benefited. Other members of the family have used Doan's Kidney Pills for lame back and pains in the kidneys and they have received good results. Doan's Kidney Pills were obtained from the Ivy Drug store, and we highly recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Advertisement.

CLARION.

George Brown was in Resort Sunday.

A. J. Crago left Friday for the U. P. on a hunting trip.

J. W. Colden attended the Director's meeting at Charlevoix last week.

Rev. Mr. Headley and wife returned Saturday to their home at Boyne Falls.

There will be a suffrage meeting at the M. E. church on Tuesday evening.

The Young People's class will meet at J. W. Colden's on Thursday evening.

There will be a husking bee held at W. O. Wheeler's on Wednesday evening.

The L. A. S. will give a chicken pie supper Friday evening at the Clarion house.

Chell Hughes and family have moved back to S. E. Hass' farm from Chandler.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Pondfield, who leave Wednesday for Detroit were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wheeler on Sunday.

Mark Milne had his hand so severely hurt while working at Burch's mill, that it was necessary to remove the fore finger of the left hand.

A farewell party was given by Miss Pearl Geyer on Friday evening in honor of Miss Benlah Scott of Petoskey, who leaves this week for Eaton Rapids where she will spend the winter.

Philip Desormean, Proprietor of the Farmer's Home Hotel, Schafer, Michigan, says: "Last winter I could not sleep nights on account of a back ailment that would start at bed time and keep me awake. I started using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and was greatly pleased to find that my cough left me, my appetite increased and I slept soundly at night." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

C. H. S. NOTES.

The German I class have finished their first story in Marchen und Erzählungen.

Miss Deibel, who formerly was a teacher in the H. S. visited us Tuesday afternoon.

Louis Flanders who has been absent for a few weeks has returned to the High school.

Mr. Craig entertained the football boys and their lady friends in the Middle room Friday. We all had a fine time.

High school was dismissed for two hours on Tuesday morning, so that the students could hear the talk by Mr. Ferris of Big Rapids the Democratic candidate for governor.

Though the last three days of this week will be enforced holidays, there are no signs of sorrow on the faces of the students. The teachers will be away to the Teachers' Institute.

In a meeting of the Athletic association last Tuesday arrangements were made for having a chicken pie supper at the Bank hall November 9. It was also decided to have a dance after the supper.

The Freshmen class have at last summoned up enough courage to organize their class. They elected Leslie Shapton, president; Glenn Kirby, vice president; Annis Driggett, secretary; and Marjorie Hall, treasurer.

A new set of writing desks have been installed in the commercial room to take the place of the old table which has been in service for many years. These desks are greatly appreciated by those who have cause to use them.

The Board of School directors met at the Normal room last Wednesday. Mr. Lasher, auditor of the State Department of Education gave an interesting talk. The Normal class served refreshments, and the odors of food that arose to the Assembly room were almost irresistible.

Last Wednesday evening the Senior class went on a hay-ride party to the home of Mary Clark. After our arrival a delicious chicken supper was served which was greatly enjoyed by all. Mr. Carpenter was toastmaster. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and music after which we departed wishing that we might have many more of these good times together.

R. J. Sundberg, Merchant of Copper City, Michigan, says: "For a good many years we have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in our family. It will quickly cure a cough or cold and we consider it a safe and sure cure." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

COUNTY NORMAL.

(Merle Brecheisen)

Miss Agnes Worth returned to school last Tuesday morning. She reports her sister as much improved.

Miss Hazel Gilmartin substituted in Miss Jarvis' room last Tuesday morning, Miss Jarvis being unable to get to her school.

The class went to the court house last Tuesday afternoon and heard a very interesting discussion by the board of supervisors on the appropriations of money for the Western Michigan Development Bureau.

The class made doughnuts last Tuesday afternoon and served coffee and doughnuts to the officers of the districts of the county at their meeting Wednesday. This was a lesson in domestic science.

Interesting letters were received last week from Miss Zoe Burnett, class of '12, who is teaching near Bay Shore, Miss Mary Dunlop who is teaching near East Jordan and Miss Lila Gray, class of '12, who is teaching the McGeach school south of Charlevoix. Miss Burnett has between thirty-five and forty pupils and Miss Gray has four pupils in the eighth grade.

The meeting of the school officers of Charlevoix county was held in the county normal room last Wednesday. Mr. Lasher, auditor of the State Department of Education, had charge of the meeting. The districts of the county were well represented and many points of interest were fully discussed. Mr. Lasher spoke of improving the district schools and of the duties of the school board to the school and teacher. The normal class found the meeting very interesting and instructive.

Antoine Deloria, postmaster at Garden, Michigan, states: "From my own experience I can recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a great remedy for kidney trouble. My father was cured of kidney disease, and many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor. Advertisement.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

SCHOOL BAGS

FOR

School Children

AT

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

We have just received another lot. The first order went so fast and seemed to answer so good a purpose that we ordered more.

Parents or Children living in the Country are especially invited to call for "School Bags" as they are an excellent thing for School Children.

4 per cent. Interest paid on Savings.

R. P. FOLEY, President

H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Miss Hazel Gilmartin substituted in Miss Jarvis' room last Tuesday morning, Miss Jarvis being unable to get to her school.

Wanted

MARKETABLE

Potatoes

Apples

HAY

And in fact all kinds of Produce

S. Orłowski & Son

AT THIS TIME

You are Interested in Placing Your

FIRE INSURANCE

In a Strong, Reliable Company

Myrtie Young & Son

Would Like to Talk it Over with You

Phone 275

Office between the Banks

Charlevoix, Michigan

C. ROSS BROWNELL
TEACHER OF
PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE
Fourteen Years Experience
Mason-Sherwood Teachers
Mathews Graded Course of Studies
in ten Grades
Class limited to Twenty
Permanent Studio 301 State Street
B. W. Miller House
In Charlevoix Mondays-Tuesdays

Charlevoix Rock
Product Co.
Producers and
Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call
Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plans on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. S. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block
Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
VanPelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. APLD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 133 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Facts treated and classes fitted
Phone Office 627, residence 624
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co's drug store.
Telephone No. 25. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled
some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antion counties. Address
Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

Let me do your
D R A Y I N G
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have business to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

The Courier auction advertising
plan has never failed to please its many patrons. Investigate.

BY GEORGE BARR M'UTCHEON
Copyright, 1906, by Dodd, Mead & Company.

CHAPTER VIII.
In Which a Ghost Trespasses.

THE impulse which drove Penelope out for the second time that night may be readily appreciated. Its foundation was fear. Its subordinate emotions were shame, self pity and consciousness of her real feeling toward the ruin of the house. The true spirit of womanhood revolted with its usual waywardness. She was flying down the stony road, some distance from the cottage, in the very face of the coming tornado, her heart beating like a triphammer, her eyes bent on the little light up the mountain side, before it occurred to her that this last flight was not only senseless but perilous. She even laughed at herself for a fool as she recalled the telltale hand bag on the porch and the damning presence of a hazelhurst lantern in the hallway.

The storm which had been raging farther down the valley was at last whirling up to the hilltops, long delayed as if in gleeful anticipation of catching her alone and unprotected. The little electric saddle lamp that she carried gave out a feeble glow, scarce opening the way in the darkness more than ten feet ahead. Rough and hilly some was the road, most stubborn the wall of wind. The second threat of the storm was more terrifying than the first. At any instant it was likely to break forth in all its slashing fury, and she knew not whether she went.

Even as she lost heart and was ready to turn wildly back in an effort to reach Shaw's home before the deluge the lightning flashes revealed to her the presence of a dwelling just off the road not 200 feet ahead. She stumbled forward, crying like a frightened child. "There were no lights," the house looked dark, bleak, unfriendly. Farther up the hillside still gleamed the little light that was meant to keep Renwood's ghost from disturbing the slumbers of old man Grimes and his wife. She could not reach that light, that much she knew. Her feet were like hundredweights, her limbs almost devoid of power. Grimes' hut appeared to be a couple of miles away. With a last, breathless effort she turned off the road and floundered through weeds and brush until she came to what proved to be the rear of the darkened house. Long, low, rangy, it reached off into the shadows, chilling in its loneliness. There was no time left for her to climb the flight of steps and pound on the back door. The rain was swishing in the trees with a hiss that forbade delay.

She threw herself, panting and terror-stricken, into the cavellike opening under the porch, her knees giving way after the supreme effort. The great storm broke as she crouched back against the wall, her hands over her ears, her eyes tightly closed. She was safe from wind and rain, but not from the sounds of that awful conflict. The lantern lay at her feet, sending its ray out into the storm with the senseless indolence of a beacon light.

"Penelope" came a voice through the storm, and a second later a foot plunged into the recess, crisscrossing against the wall beside her. Something told her who it was even before he dropped beside her and threw his strong arm about her shoulders. He was crying something into her ear—wild, incoherent words that seemed to have the power to quiet the storm. And she was responding, she knew that eager words were falling from her lips, but she never knew what they were—responding with a fervor that was overwhelming her with joy, lips met again and again, and there was no thought of the night, of the wind, the rain, the howling ghost, or of aught save the two warm living human bodies that had found each other.

The storm, swerving with the capricious mountain winds, suddenly swept their refuge with sheets of water. Randolph Shays threw the raincoats over his companion and both laughed hysterically at their plight, suddenly remembered.

"We can't stay here," he shouted. "We can't go out into it," she cried. "Where are we?" "Renwood's," he called back. Their position was untenable. He was drenched; the raincoats protected her as she crouched back into the most remote corner. Looking about, he discovered a small door leading to the cellar. It opened the instant he touched the latch. "Come, quick," he cried, lifting her to her feet. "In here—stoop! I have the light. This is the cellar. I'll have to break down a door leading to the upper part of the house, but that will not be difficult. Here's an ax or two. Good Lord, I'm soaked!"

"Where where are we going?" she gasped as he drew her across the earthen floor. "Upstairs. It's comfortable up there." They were at the foot of the narrow stairway. She held back. "Never! It's the—the haunted house! I can't—Randolph." "Fool! Don't be afraid. I'm with you, dearest." "I know," she replied. "But you have only one arm. How I can't!" "It's all nonsense about ghosts. I've slept here twenty times. Penelope! People have seen my light and my curved his lips as he gazed reflectively into the flames. He was not thinking of Mrs. Renwood's amiable ghost.

How long she had been asleep Penelope did not know. She awoke with a start, her flesh creeping. A nameless dread came over her; she felt that she was utterly alone and surrounded by horrors. It was a full minute—a sickening hour, it seemed—before she realized that she was in the room with the man she loved. Her frightened eyes caught sight of him lying back in the chair before the dying fire in the chimney place. The lights were low, the shadows gaunt and chill.

A terrified exclamation started to her lips. Her ears again caught the sound of some one moving in the house—some alien visitor. There was no mistaking the sound—the distant, sepulchral laugh and the shuffling of feet, at most at the edge of the couch. It seemed.

"Randolph!" she whispered hoarsely. The man in the chair did not move. She threw off the blanket and came to a sitting posture on the side of the couch, her fingers clutching the covering with tense horror. Again the soft, rumbling laugh and the sound of foot steps on the stairway. Like a flash she sped across the room and clutched frantically at Randolph's shoulders. He awoke with an exclamation, staring bewildered into the horrified face above.

"The—the ghost?" she gasped, her eyes glued upon the hall door. He leaped to his feet and threw his arms about her.

"You've had a bad dream," he said. "What a beast I was to fall asleep. Lord, you're frightened half out of your wits. Don't tremble so, dearest. There's no ghost. Every one knows."

"Listen—listen!" she whispered. To gather they stood motionless, almost breathless before the fire, the glow from which threw their shadows across the room to meet the mysterious invader.

"Good Lord," he muttered, unwilling to believe his ears. "There is some one in the house. I've—I've heard sounds here before, but not like these." Distinctly to their startled ears came the low, subdued murmur of a human voice and then unmistakable noises from the very depth of the earth—from the grave, it seemed.

"Do you hear?" she whispered. "Oh this dreadful place! Take me away, Randolph, dear!"

"Don't be afraid," he said, drawing her close. "There's nothing supernatural about those sounds. They come from lips as much alive as ours. I'll investigate." He grabbed the heavy poker from the chimney corner and started toward the door. She followed close behind, his assurance restoring in a measure the courage that had temporarily deserted her.

In the hallway they paused to look out over the broad porch. The storm

(Continued on page 7.)

Are You on Salary?
THEN SAVE

It is possible that luck may play an important part in the quick making of fortunes, but it has nothing to do with fortunes accumulated from the savings of labor.

A bank account, however, will be of assistance and the young man or woman who will take this method saving from his or her salary will eventually reach the desired goal.

This bank welcomes the accounts of those people who are working on salary and have a desire to save a part of it.

We not only safeguard your money against fire loss or theft, but we also allow you 4 per cent interest for the use of it.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Buttara A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

New Coal and Wood Heating Stoves
Coal Stoves that Burn the Smoke
Oil Heating and Cook Stoves
Stove Boards Oil Cloth Rugs
Coal Hods and Sifters
Potato Forks and Hooks
Corn Knives Corn Rope
POTATO AND APPLE CRATES BASKETS MEASURES
Tin, Enameled and Aluminum Ware
Fishing Tackle

F. S. Blanchard
Charlevoix, Michigan

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his premises two miles east and one-half mile south of Ironton on the East Jordan road

Thursday, November 7, 1912

Commencing at ten o'clock a. m. the following described property

W. E. BYERS, AUCTIONEER

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| Black mare, weight 1,200 | Single top buggy, nearly new |
| Bay gelding, age 1, weight 1,200 | Farm wagon, 3-inch shoe |
| Brown colt, age 15 months | Portland cement |
| Gray mare, age 5, weight 1,400 | Parker plow No. 2 |
| Bay mare, age 2 | Disc harrow |
| 2-year-old Jersey cow, fresh in March | Deering hay rake |
| 4-year-old Jersey cow, fresh in March | 16-tooth spring tooth harrow |
| Spring calf, eight months old | 50-tooth spike tooth harrow |
| Five spring pigs, four months old | Deering mowing machine |
| Set farm harness | Two five tooth cultivators |
| Set driving harness | Two tooth cultivator |
| Farm wagon, 3-inch tire | Wood rack |
| Double wagon box | Manure box |
| Cinny top carriage | Two beet forks |
| | Stone boat |
| | Quantity of hay |
| | Quantity of carrots |

Forks, shovels, hoes, potato forks and other articles too numerous to mention.

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

Terms of Sale

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00 one year's time in good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the People's State Bank of East Jordan. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

ROBERT DICKIE, PROPRIETOR
W. E. Byers, Auctioneer
H. Van Glendennis, Clerk

Why don't you too use Ready-to-Lay Roofing

and save money—we sell it

Having bought a carload of the material we are enabled to make you the following prices:

CERTAIN-TEED COMPO RUBBER ROOFING
Complete with caps, nails and cement. Written guarantee with every roll
1 ply Standard, 35 pounds, guaranteed five years, a square		$1.25
2 ply Heavy, 45 pounds, guaranteed ten years, a square		$1.65
3 ply Extra Heavy, 55 pounds, guaranteed fifteen years, a square		$2.00

The World Beater, better than Tar Paper and cheaper
SENTINEL ROOFING—1 ply, 35 pounds a square $1.00

HEAVY TAR FELT—In rolls of about 50 pounds runs about 15 pounds to 100 square feet per roll $1.00

TAR SHEATHING FELT
250 square feet per roll 50c 500 square feet per roll $1.00

BLUE PLASTER BOARD
Fine for inside Sheathing—250 square feet per roll 65c

Charlevoix Hardware Company

STATE BOYS' CONFERENCE

Will be Held in Grand Rapids November 29-December 1.

Splendid Program Arranged for—Who are Eligible to go as Representatives.

The tenth annual State Boys' conference for the older boys of Michigan will be held at Grand Rapids November 29-December 1. It is expected over five hundred boys will be in attendance.

The program this year promises to be the best ever. Several speakers such as Mr. James A. Whitmore and Dr. George J. Fisher, men of national reputation, are already scheduled to be present. Many other leaders of boys' work will be there. Ralph Craig, the noted sprinter who carried off the honors for Michigan at the Olympic Games in Sweden, is planning to be present with the Detroit delegation. Every fellow will have an opportunity to grip his hand and have a chat with him.

Free entertainment until Monday morning will be provided for all older boys from fifteen to twenty years of age. All registration cards and fees must be mailed to Carroll Strong, care of Y. M. C. A., Grand Rapids, Michigan, on or before November 23rd, to insure place of entertainment.

Every boys' or church club, Sunday school class, Y. M. C. A. group, High school class or club, Young People's society, or Boy Scout organization is allowed to send two older boys to this annual conference. Absolutely no boys under fifteen can be delegates. Pick out only the leaders of your groups. Every delegation of five or less should be accompanied by an adult leader.

The usual program of 30 cents should be mailed in with registration card. The banquet is provided by the Grand Rapids boys without cost to all registered delegates.

Every boy and leader should mail in registration cards at once. These must be in November 23rd in order to know how many we will have at banquet.

For further information, etc., write to office of Secretary, 202 Washtenaw avenue, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

A MUNICIPAL FARM.

Officials of Seattle Have a Novel Plan to Help Vagrants.

Three hundred and twenty acres of agricultural land near Spokane, Wash., will be set aside as a municipal farm, where vagrants of the city could earn money while working on fall potatoes, if an ordinance carrying an appropriation to be introduced by Z. E. Hayden, commissioner of public safety, is adopted by the city council.

Mayor William J. Haydon favors the project, and it is expected that at least two of the other three commissioners will give it support. Commissioner Hayden thinks the farm can be placed upon a self-sustaining basis at the beginning.

George W. Stocker, police judge, said in endorsing the plan: "I could go through the city jail now and pick out many men I have sentenced for vagrancy and drunkenness who could be placed on the farm upon their honor. There they could rid themselves of the alcohol and the drugs which are destroying their bodies and minds and at the same time earn money for themselves and dependents. I am also in favor of the authorities of Spokane county securing a tract near the proposed city farm to operate a similar institution for reclaiming informants."

"To Test Sanitary Flusher." If a favorable demonstration is given by a new sanitary flusher which is to be tried in Besseler, N. Y., the common council will meet to discuss the advisability of doing away with the present system of letting out contracts for street cleaning. The innovation, if adopted, will, it is expected, mean a big saving to the city and it is urged by the officials will be productive of better sanitary conditions.

CLEAN UP.

Have a fire prevention day. The way to celebrate it is to get the family rake and basket, get out into the back yard and clean up. Collect everything that is loose and that might serve as a means of the beginning or the encouragement of a fire.

When you have finished with the back yard go through the cellar and do the same thing there. In so doing you will aid your self, your community and your state.

Apparent Contradiction.

Editors—In your report of the fire you refer to the chief as "our invincible old fire fighting." Rejoinder—Yes, sir Editor. And yet, in your report you state that the chief was killed by the flames.

The Charlevoix Courier

Published every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year $1.50
One copy, six months .75
One copy, three months .40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule. Notice of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates. Voluntary society, regular rates. Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix, Michigan as second class matter.

AS RESEMBLED DOING Mr. Lindquist, the Greenville man who by false pretenses and false statements, which he made in letters sent out on the eve of the primary election, secured the printing of his name on the ballots as the Republican candidate for congress in this district, has again begun sending out letters. It should be a source of congratulation to every Republican that in this latest series of letters, he announces that he is not the candidate of any party but his name simply appears on the Republican ballot. We say it is a source of congratulation, for no longer can any Republican feel that through a sense of party loyalty he is bound to support the candidacy of a man who further confesses that he secured his nomination by sending out false statements in regard to his opponent, Mr. Dodds, on the eve of the primary election. Having cast himself out of the company of the honorable men on the Republican ticket, he seeks to again get in to good company and says he is a Progressive. We don't believe the Progressives will take up this self condemned oncast. In Mr. Patchin they have an honorable candidate and we believe he is entitled to their support. The Democrats also have a candidate who stands for something, and who, for the past seven weeks, has been telling the people where he stands and only asks that he be given a fair deal and that you do not allow yourselves to be deceived by any letters which Lindquist may send out just previous to this election as he did before the primary.

Have you potatoes for sale? Call phone 220 or 187. B. L. Smith. Advertisement 132pd

Sunday in the Churches

METHODIST CHURCH
Morning, "The Christian Church." Evening, a union service of all the churches will be held in the M. E. church. The pastor will talk on "Equal Suffrage."

BAPTIST CHURCH
Morning service 10:30, "The Second Coming of Christ." Questions answered and difficulties explained. Sunday school 11:45. B. Y. P. U. at 6 p. m. Topic, "The Christian Virtue, Zeal." Leader, Frank Bearse.

Evening service at 7. Union meeting at M. E. church. Prayer meeting on Thursday evening.

CATHOLIC CHURCH
Low Mass at 8:00 a. m. High Mass at 10:00 a. m. Devotional services at 7:30 p. m. Other services announced the Sunday previous.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m. Subject: "Eternalizing Punishment." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m. Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Morning service at 10:30. Sunday school at noon. Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30. Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS
Meets at Carnegie Library at noon. Speaker, C. L. Rowe. All men invited to attend.

10 Girls Wanted.
At the seed house to pick over beans. We are ready to take in teams or potatoes at any time. For information apply to George Brown. Phone office 732r. House, 733r. Chatterton & Son, Ferry Seed Warehouse.—Advertisement. 1411f

To Whom it May Concern.
My wife, Dora, having left my bed and board without just cause or provocation I hereby warn all not to trust her on my account. M. H. Whendon. Advertisement. 132pd

Special for SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2

LADIES' BLACK PETTICOATS

$1.50 Value at 98 cts

Watch for Window Display

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY
VANPELT BLOCK

SPECIAL BLANKET SALE

Now that the cool nights are here, you probably need a pair of good warm All-wool or Cotton Fleece Blankets. We have them. Think of it. You can buy of us a pair of

All Wool Blankets, extra large for $4.75
Others of standard size for $4.00 and $4.25

These Blankets were bought early in the season before the advance in prices, hence the extra low prices, don't fail to come before the best patterns are gone.

A beautiful set of Rogers Silverware given to our customers every Saturday evening

S. M. See & Sons

See Block The Reliable House Furnishers Bridge Street

Hard Coal in Ton Lots $8.75 per Ton

On account of it being impossible to get Chestnut Coal shipped to Charlevoix at any price, I have purchased a car of Stove and a car of No. 2 Chestnut Coal, which mixed, will make as good coal to burn as the regular Chestnut. This coal is high grade and being in sizes of less demand, makes it possible to get shipment here.

The wholesale price of Chestnut Coal is quoted at $8.25. F. O. B. Charlevoix and is being retailed from $9 to $10 all over the state. The present selling price of Chestnut Coal in Charlevoix is $9 or better and no supply on hand at that. This mixed grade of coal I offer will be

The Cheapest Hard Coal to be bought in Charlevoix this Winter

Now is the time to get in your Winter's supply. This shipment will amount to about 80 tons, and will be disposed of to those first placing their orders with me. Get busy or you will have to pay a higher price for your supply.

I have also about 40 tons of high grade Hocking Valley re-screened domestic lump Soft Coal at $5.00 per ton.

Above Prices Are For Cash Only

H. C. McCARTNEY

Phone 221

Charlevoix, Michigan

Important Notice

To all electors of this city. In accordance with an order of the Attorney General on the 11th day of October, 1912, all electors of this city are hereby notified that they must appear in person at the polls on Saturday, November 2nd, 1912, to vote in the election for the year 1912. The polls will be held at the City Hall, Grand Rapids, Michigan, from 8 o'clock a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m. on the 2nd day of November, 1912. The electors of this city are hereby notified that they must appear in person at the polls on Saturday, November 2nd, 1912, to vote in the election for the year 1912. The polls will be held at the City Hall, Grand Rapids, Michigan, from 8 o'clock a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m. on the 2nd day of November, 1912.

Notice of Hearing of Claims.

State of Michigan, The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix. In the matter of the estate of John C. Newman, deceased. Notice is hereby given that six months from the 1st day of October, A. D. 1912, have been allowed for creditors to present their claims against said deceased to said court for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court at the probate office in the City of Charlevoix in said county, on or before the 1st day of April, A. D. 1913, and that said claims will be heard and adjudicated on the 1st day of April, A. D. 1913, at which time the claims of said deceased shall be paid or refused. Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, this 1st day of October, 1912.

WE OFFER

the services of 11 Teachers and the use of the finest equipment for training Young Men and Women to earn good salaries in Business. The New Catalogue plans fully. Send a post card request for copies. It will show you something about the object and most profitable business school in our state. Address: Detroit Business Institute, 10 West 40th Street, New York, N. Y.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Don't forget to register Saturday. Hon. W. J. Pearson of Boyne Falls, was in the city Saturday.

Mrs. Stella Meyers is visiting friends in Boyne City.

Thomas Morrison of Boyne City has moved to this city.

County Clerk Payton went to Petoskey today on business.

Lieutenant-governor Ross will speak at Boyne City Friday night.

Representative Dusenberry of Leelanau county is in the city today.

Mayor W. D. C. Germaine of Traverse City, was in the city Monday.

Glenn Ellis and Glenn Warren of Petoskey, were in the city Sunday.

E. N. Clink of East Jordan, was in the city Monday on legal business.

Mrs. George Carr of East Jordan was the guest of Charlevoix friends Sunday.

Ed Martindale, who is working at Harbor Springs, was in the city Sunday.

Mrs. George Butts of Northport was the guest of Charlevoix friends last week.

A. B. Cheney has returned home after a short visit with friends in Traverse City.

Mrs. A. M. Burdick was in Gaylord last week attending the W. C. T. C. convention.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Hammond went to Grand Rapids the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brewer of Saginaw are the guests of H. E. McHugh and family.

Mrs. S. J. Alcox attended the W. C. T. C. district convention held at Gaylord last week.

Dr. A. M. Wilkinson went to the Beaver Islands Saturday on professional business.

George Gladus was called to Manistee Saturday to attend the funeral of Chris Patterson.

Mrs. Mildred Payton and son of Traverse City, are guests at the home of D. S. Payton.

Miss Jennie Hunderman returned last Thursday from an extended visit in Grand Rapids.

Dr. A. J. Shockley of this city, has located in St. James where he will practice his profession.

Hon. DeWitt Vought of Alton addressed a Democratic meeting in this city Saturday night.

Will Bodour of St. Joe, an old Charlevoix boy, is a guest at the home of George Eagleton.

W. E. Byers, the auctioneer, is moving into the Ross house, corner Antrim and Grant streets.

Miss Doris Kane entertained a number of her girl friends at a picnic supper Tuesday evening.

Charlevoix County Pomona grange will meet with Ironton grange Thursday November 7.

Mr. Albert McClanathan and Miss Florence Haskins were married October 25 at the M. E. parsonage.

Rev. C. D. Hamster of Kendall, Michigan, a former pastor of Ironton, is visiting friends in this city.

Mrs. Charles Wilson of Almont, Michigan is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell of this city.

Silas Swails will rebuild the burned steamer City of Boyne, at his yards in this city the coming winter.

Miss Ruth Stevens has returned to her home in Boyne City after a visit with friends and relatives in this city.

Misses Marjorie Weaver and Lois Frazier left Monday for a week's visit at Muskegon, Grand Rapids and Alton.

Miss Hines, principal of the county normal, went to Grand Rapids Tuesday to attend the State Teachers' association.

Miss Lillian Compton who left this city about two weeks ago for San Diego, California, is now located in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shields and daughter of Kalamazoo, are visiting their aunt, Mrs. R. C. Squires, on Dixon avenue.

Mrs. M. W. LaPeer and Mrs. Richard Lewis attended the district convention of the W. C. T. U. held at Gaylord last week.

County Clerk and Mrs. Payton, and daughter Minoie, attended the funeral of Mrs. Payton's mother.

Mrs. Chaddock, at East Jordan Monday.

C. L. Rowe will address the Men's Bible class next Sunday.

Hugh C. McCartney joins the ranks of Courier advertisers this week. See his ad on page 4.

The name of the Norwood boy that shot the hawk was Orville Hillton instead of Van Dusen, as published last week.

The M. E. ladies will serve their annual chicken pie supper Tuesday evening, November 5th, commencing at 5:30 p. m.

Miss Catharine Deible, of Saginaw, a former teacher in our public schools is a guest at the home of Ex-Mayor S. M. Rose.

Mrs. John McHugh of Kalamazoo is visiting her daughter, Aona McHugh, son H. E. McHugh and sister Mrs. R. C. Squires.

Mrs. C. P. Chaddock died at her home in East Jordan Friday night. Mrs. Chaddock was the mother of Mrs. D. S. Payton of this city.

Mrs. Ed Daniels returned to her home in Chicago the latter part of last week, after a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Hammond.

In the county exhibits of fruits at the late state fair at Detroit, Charlevoix county stood ninth on the list. Berrien county was first.

Mrs. Harry N. Horner of Enid, Oklahoma, who was called here by the death of her mother, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. S. Payton.

Mrs. Lydia A. Henry left Tuesday for Big Rapids in company with Mrs. Jennie Pelletier of St. James who goes there for an operation.

Miss Elizabeth Cannon was the first to win the $500 prize given by Chatterton & Son last week, for the highest number of beans picked.

Superintendent of Schools DeVoe and Mrs. DeVoe left for Grand Rapids this morning where they will attend the State Teachers' association.

Harold Jacobs and James Black left Saturday for Muskegon where they will spend a few days visiting, after which they will go to Lansing for the winter.

John A. Newville of Boyne City was in the city Saturday on his way home from Marion where he had been an business for the Patron's Mutual Fire Insurance company.

Mrs. Jennie Pelletier, who came from St. James last Thursday enroute for Big Rapids where she will undergo an operation at the Sisters of Mercy hospital, left for there Tuesday.

A new schedule will go into effect today on the boat line between this city and Boyne City. There will be but one trip a day, leaving Boyne City at 8 o'clock a. m. and returning leave Charlevoix at 3:30.

Misses Canton, Lombard, Brown, Swigart, Lamoreaux, Whiting, Mitchell and Hanchey and Mr. Carpenter of the teacher's force in the public schools left Tuesday for Grand Rapids where they will attend the State Teachers' association.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harlow, formerly publishers of the Boy City News and the Belleaire Independent, have taken the management of the Grand Traverse News. Mr. and Mrs. Harlow have a host of friends in this city who wish them all success.

Emerson W. Price, one of the best known residents on the Belvedere resort, returned home today. Mr. Price always comes early in the spring and is the last of our summer residents to leave in the fall, in fact we cannot think of a Charlevoix resident.

Mrs. Newberry, who will soon leave for her new home in Gloucester, Massachusetts, was pleasantly surprised by about thirty members of the R. N. A. Monday night. All the guests left a postcard as a remembrance and light refreshments were served.

Miss Mary Clark entertained the senior class at her home last Wednesday evening. They enjoyed a moonlight hay ride to the farm home of Miss Clark, where a bounteous chicken supper awaited them. The evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

William A. Carey, who has been in the employ of the Morgan & Wright Rubber Co. of Detroit for the past six years, has been appointed manager of the service department of the Kansas City branch, and was transferred from the factory to the selling organization October 1. Mrs. Carey is still in Detroit but will follow her husband in the near future.

We frequently read of good returns in different crops from small pieces of land and one in a recent city advertisement quoting some 2000 per acre yield from strawberries. This season Mr. J. A. Nickless, in the south part of this city, from a patch of seven square rods, picked 445 quarts of strawberries which he sold at 10c a quart, or $44.50 for seven square rods, this is about $6.37 per rod or $1,020 per acre. No lies on that—East Jordan Enterprise.

See that line of ladies' pony coats at Benj. Brown's—Adv. 441f

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED

Mrs. James H. Adams Reminded of her Birthday by a Number of Friends.

Mrs. James Adams of Mgrion was very pleasantly surprised Thursday afternoon when about fifty-four friends and neighbors gathered at her home to remind her of her birthday.

The evening was spent playing games and music. Mrs. Adams was presented with a beautiful rocker as a remembrance of the occasion. About midnight a dainty lunch was served after which the guests departed wishing Mrs. Adams many more birthdays.

This Is For You.

I have received a shipment of ladies' fur coats from the fur dressers, in pony, calf and martin furs and will sell them at manufacturers prices until December 1st. Any not sold after December 1st will ship back. On these conditions, I can save you from $500 to $1500 on coats. Benj. Brown—Advertisement. 441f

UNION MEETING

Will be held at Methodist Church Next Sunday Evening. Everybody invited.

There will be a union meeting at the M. E. church Sunday evening November 3rd under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Program: Opening hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," by the congregation; scripture reading Rev. R. Atchison; Prayer, Rev. C. E. Taggart; Selection, by the quartette; Announcements and offering; Solo, Dr. Frank Wilkinson; An address on woman suffrage, Rev. J. H. Walker; Subject, equal suffrage; America, by the audience; Benediction, Rev. Mr. Atchison; Everybody invited.

Notice to Bean Growers.

The time of delivery of contract beans is extended until December 1. If further extension of time is desired call at the office. Chatterton & Son. Advertisement. 441f

Some Fine Sheep

To let out on shares. Call on Charles Scott at S. M. See & Sons Furniture store—Advertisement 424f

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 10c first insertion.

FOR SALE—House and lot in town, in good condition. Dr. F. H. Wilkinson. 441f

LOST—A red sweater with snuggled pearl buttons. Finder leave at this office. H. 441f

FOR SALE—Jewelry and gold watch, cost $200, sell cheap. Hurry, hurry. 441f

LOST—Friday, Oct. 18, small bill book, containing bills. Liberal reward if returned to Miss Olmstead, Clinton street. 441f

FARM FOR SALE—One hundred and six acres farm, three and one-half miles southwest of Bay Shore. Good land, fair house, good barn, windmill, 70 acres cleared. Sylvester Miller, Bay Shore, Mich. 441f

Special Cotton Goods Sale

J. L. CRANE
CHARLEVOIX

Special Cotton Goods Sale

Some two months ago we placed an order for large quantities of Cotton Goods in various lines. The prices were then much lower than at present. These goods have just been delivered to us and we are placing them on sale at the lowest prices for the grades ever offered in Charlevoix.

This Sale Commences Today and Continues as Long as the Goods Last

Red Seal Gingham in large variety of Dress Patterns, always sold at 12 1-2c, this sale.....

8½c yd.

Everett Classic Gingham, splendid styles and an excellent fabric, regular 10c goods, this sale.....

6½c yd.

Feather Ticking, extra heavy, plain blue and white stripe, the 18c grade this sale.....

12½c yd.

Bleached Outing, heavy full width and well napped, this sale.....

7½c yd.

Unbleached Outing, extra heavy and well fleeced, full width, a 10c grade this sale.....

7½c yd.

36 Inch Heavy Unbleached Sheeting, comes in about 25 yard pieces, sold by piece only this sale.....

7c yd.

Bleached Crash, all linen, full bleached, a good 10c value, this sale only.....

7½c yd.

Unbleached Linen Crash, 18 inches wide, and a great value this sale.....

5¾c yd.

Twilled Cotton Crash, bordered and full, twilled, good for dish towels, this sale.....

4½c yd.

Flannelette Night Gowns
A special purchase at less than half price.—Extra heavy Outing Gowns in white or colors, all sizes 34 to 42.....

59c

Comfort Materials

Special Purchase

Benefit is Yours

36 inch Silkolines, plain and fancy, per yard..... 10c
Comforter Challies, fine patterns, per yard..... 5c

1 lot Batting, worth 15c each, at per roll..... 12½c
1 lot Batting, worth 12-1-2c each, at per roll..... 10c

Ladies' and Misses' Coat Sale still on, special values.....

$3.95 and $7.85

FREE We Know if You Once Buy You Will Buy Again REXALL Tooth Paste Tooth Powder
Therefore we Will Give FREE This WEEK Only a Good BRUSH with Either PASTE OR POWDER
SEE OUR WINDOW THERE IS ANOTHER BARGAIN THERE
THE IVY DRUG STORE

COWARDICE COURT

(Continued from page 7)

hurled down the drive to meet him, his thought of the feud in mind, two huge lugs even more hopelessly dilapidated than the ones he had seen in the past, and behind the brace, who had now panted to lift his shoulders into a position of dignity and defiance. Shaw's heart was touched. The spectacle was enough to melt the prejudice of any adversary. Lord Cecil's knees trembled. His hand shook as if in a chill. And covered, water soaked and bruised, their clothes rent in many places, their hats gone and their hair matted, their legs wobbly, the trio certainly inspired pity, not wrath nor scorn.

"One moment, sir," called his lordship, with a feeble attempt at severity. His voice was hoarse and shaky. "We do not come as friends, down you. Is my sister here?"

"She is, Lord Basilhurst. We'll talk this over later on," said Shaw in his friendliest way. "You are worn out and doped up. I'm sure you and your friends. Come; I'm not as bad as you think. I've changed my mind since I saw you last. Let's see if we can't come to an amicable understanding. Miss Drake is waiting up there. Breakfast soon will be ready—hot coffee and all that. Permit me, gentlemen, to invite you to partake of what we have. What say you?"

"Confound you, sir! I—!" But his brave effort failed him. He staggered and would have fallen had not the duke caught him from behind.

"Thanks, old chap," said Basilhurst to Shaw. "We will come in for a moment. I say, perhaps you could give us a dry drink or two. Basilhurst is in a bad way, and so is the count. It was a devil of a storm."

Penelope came down from the porch to meet them. Without a word she took her brother's arm. He stared at her with growing resentment.

"Dem it all, Pen," he chattered, "you're not at all wet, are you? Look at me! All over my neckcoat too!"

"Dear old Cecil! All on Evelyn's account, you mean," she said softly, wistfully.

"I shall have an understanding with her when we get home," he said earnestly. "She shall treat my sister like this again."

"No," said Shaw from the other side; "she shall not."

"By Jove, Shaw, are you with me?" demanded his lordship in surprise.

"Depends on whether you are with me," said the other. Penelope flushed.

"Hot coffee, chops, griddle cakes and maple syrup soon put the contending forces at their ease. Basilhurst so far forgot himself as to laugh amiably at his host's jokes. The count responded in his most pleasant dialect, and the duke swore by an ever useful Lord Harry that he had never tasted such a breakfast."

"By Jove, Pen," exclaimed her brother in rare good humor, "it's almost a sin to take you away from such good cooking as this."

"You're not going to take her away, however," said Shaw. "She has come to stay."

"What—what the devil do you mean, sir?" demanded Lord Cecil, his coffee cup shaking so violently that the contents overflowed.

"She's going over to Plattburgh with me today, and when she comes back she'll be Mrs. Randolph Shaw."

"When she comes back she will be Mrs. Randolph Shaw?"

"That's what I mean, your lordship."

"Three of his listeners choked with amazement and then coughed painfully. Feebly they set their cups down and gulped as if they had something to swallow. The duke was the first to find his tongue, and he was quite as a loss for words."

"It—by Jove," he said blankly, "that's damned hot coffee!"

"Is this true, Penelope?" gasped his lordship.

"Yes, Cecil. I've promised to marry him."

"It isn't because you feel that you have no home with me?"

"I love him. It's a much older story than you think," she said simply.

"I say, that tells me hard," said the duke with a wry face. "Still, I join in saying, God bless you."

"We're trying to end the feud, you see," said Penelope.

Tears came into his lordship's pale eyes. He looked first at one and then at the other and then, silently extended his hand to Randolph Shaw. He was in the family for a long time before speaking. Then, as if throwing a weight off his mind, he remarked: "I say, Shaw, I'm sorry about that dog. I've got an English bull terrier down there that's taken a ribbon or so. If you don't mind, I'll send him up to you. He—he knows Penelope."

TWO END.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The sand hill, the slide, the giant strike, the horizontal bar, indoor base ball diamonds (for boys and for girls), courts for volley ball and better ball, running track and jumping pit and a skating rink where the climate permits—these are some of the desirable features of an up to date school playground as planned by Mr. Henry S. Curtis in a bulletin just issued by the United States bureau of education. Mr. Curtis shows how the attitude of the public has changed in the last ten years since the great play movement burst upon us. The typical school playground used to be as bare and forbidding as a prison. The modern spirit requires that it shall be sunny, inviting, well cared for, open at all times to the children and equipped with every safe means for enjoyable, profitable play.

The importance of rest periods in school work and of as much fresh air as possible is emphasized by recent scientific investigations, which have shown that the condition of the blood capillaries in children is far less favorable after mental exertion in school than after hard physical effort.

Nearly 5,000 students from foreign countries studied at American institutions of higher learning in 1911.

A Dads. He (angrily)—I believe you'd marry the first fool that asked you. She—Try me!

WILLIAM H. HILL
Progressive Candidate Congressman-at-Large.

MR. VOTER:—The office of Congressman-at-Large, which represents the entire State, has just been created. Every voter has the right to vote for Congressman-at-Large. It is a State office and your vote for me will not affect any District Congressman. The State is now represented by twelve Congressmen and two Senators, of which twelve are lawyers and only two are business men. Would it not be well to inject more BUSINESS principles and fewer technicalities into our laws?

My opponent for this office on the Republican ticket is a lawyer and has been in public office for a long number of years. He was Lieutenant Governor under Warner, when the great commonwealth of Michigan was bankrupt. Has anyone ever heard a word of protest from him as to the inefficiency of our State government during all the years he was in office?

Every voter knows that over 90 per cent of the members in congress are lawyers; that has been true for years. They also know that the laws are so complicated that the very men who make them will not understand them and a law of one other will not know what it really means. Then the judge will take from one to ten days to decide the very law that possibly he and the two lawyers referred to helped to place upon the statute books. In fact, the laws are so technical and so complicated that the Supreme Court of the United States has been deciding some important points for learned judges have given opinion one way and the other, which means that ONE MAN practically makes the law in such cases. I INSIST that it would be better for the people if there were MORE BUSINESS MEN in Congress to help eliminate the technicalities and delays in judicial proceedings.

I find no fault with the lawyer as a professional man. The lawyer, like the physician, engineer and scientist, stands as an example of our highest type of especially trained professional men. But the point I wish to emphasize is: There should not be such a large majority of any profession, whether doctors, lawyers or engineers. There should be never a balance of the different professions, and a larger percentage of business men, in the legislative halls of this country. In view of the increasingly complicated relations, both foreign and domestic, with which our Congress deals, it is, of course, proper that it should be provided with efficient legal counsel. But the percentage is and always has been too large. There should be more consideration of national affairs from a business man's standpoint in our legislative halls.

Mr. Voter, if you feel that a man with forty years' business experience, who has traveled into every nook and corner of the United States thereby giving him a nationwide view, can serve you better as Congressman-at-Large, representing this whole State, than a lawyer who has spent the larger part of his mature life as an office holder at Lansing, SUPPORT AND VOTE FOR ME NOVEMBER 5TH.

WILLIAM H. HILL,
Progressive Candidate.
Advertisement.

A Genuine Service.

"I believe," says an old subscriber, "that every time The Youth's Companion enters a home it does that home a genuine service." That describes the purpose of the publishers exactly. The paper is not filled with mischievous or idle thoughts to fill an idle hour. It provides healthy pastime, recreation that builds up. It is to the minds of eager and impressionable young people what sound athletics are to their bodies.

At a cost of less than four cents a week The Youth's Companion opens the door to a company of the most distinguished men and women in America and Europe. Whether they are revealing the latest discoveries in science, or describing great industrial achievements, or telling of their wanderings in strange corners of the world, or feeding the imagination with rare stories, they are giving Companion readers the best of themselves.

Seven serials at least will be published by The Companion in 1913, and nearly 200 other complete stories, in addition to some 50 special contributions, and a treasure-box of sketches, anecdotes, expert advice as to athletic sports, ideas for handy devices round the house, and so forth—long hours of companionship with the wise, the adventurous and the entertaining. Announcement for 1913 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address on request.

Every new subscriber who sends $2.00 for the fifty-two weekly issues of 1913 will receive as a gift The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, the most exquisite novelty ever offered to Companion readers; also, all the issues of The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1912, free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
141 Berkeley street, Boston, Mass.
New subscriptions received at this office.—Advertisement. 44-1

Why I Believe in Equal Suffrage.

J. M. Saunders.—I am in favor of equal suffrage because I believe the majority of women are opposed to the liquor traffic.

A. E. Mason.—I believe in equal suffrage because woman is above the average man in morals and education and good judgment.

Women taxpayers should register Saturday, November 1. Those living in the first ward, register at the House; second ward, City Clerk's office, Library Building; third ward, Joe Cooper's store.

Mayor Olin Nordman.—I believe in equal suffrage because it is a step forward, and with the primary system, the initiative and referendum, it marks the progress of 20th century achievements. This world must move on, it cannot stand still nor go backward.

County Commissioner J. H. Milford.—You may quote me as favoring the movement because I believe that our forefathers were justified in fighting for the same principle, and I believe that the intelligence of the average woman is of as high an order as that of the average man and that with both members of the household voting, there is likely to be a more general discussion and a better understanding of the interests and welfare of the nation and the individual.

W. W. Washburn.—Because we are not and never will be a nation with a "Representative Government," until woman, as well as man, have a free and restricted right of suffrage. Some say, "women are not well enough informed on questions of political economy." Judging from our observation, we would not think the men had it on the women to a very great extent, in this respect. Once knowing and realizing that they have the right of suffrage, women will show equal if not more interest in good politics, and be as wise and sincere, if not more so, in expressing their decision at the polls, as are the men. They will also profit as much by the tons of literature sent out by campaign committees, and by the "wind jamming spell binders" racing to and fro about the country, as do the men. And we sincerely believe True National Progress will receive a much needed momentum, and one of unqualified importance, when every woman, shall have had restored to her equal right of suffrage. Hail to the women, our mothers and our sisters.

Notice.

To Citizens Fire Insurance Policy holders:

Judge Shepard signed an order on Monday, October 11, 1912, this charging Frank L. Voorhies as receiver of said company, and appointing me in his place. There are about 100 policy holders who have not as yet paid. I shall commence suit against them at once.

J. L. Barber, Receiver, Nich. Advertiser. 44-2
For results, try our advertising insert.

Amendment to State Constitution Relative to Right of Women to Vote.

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to section one of article eight of the Constitution of this State, relative to the right of women to vote.

Resolved by the Senate of the State of Michigan (the House of Representatives concurring), That the following amendment to the Constitution of this State be and the same is hereby proposed, that is to say, that section one of article three of said Constitution, relative to the right of women to vote, be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. In all elections, every inhabitant of this State being a citizen of the United States, every inhabitant residing in this State on the twenty-fourth day of June, eighteen hundred and twelve, every inhabitant residing in this State on the first day of January, eighteen hundred and twelve, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to said last named day, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held, and every citizen of the United States, who, having resided in the State two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, shall be entitled to vote in the election to be held on the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred and twelve, and in every election thereafter held,

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Adds Healthful Qualities to the Food

Prof. Prescott, of the University of Michigan, testified before the Pure Food Committee of Congress, that the acid of grapes held highest rank as an article of food and he regarded the results from baking with cream of tartar baking powder as favorable to health.

Royal is the only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

Grange Column

Harmony Grange.

Harmony grange is still doing things. The last meeting closed a four meeting contest in which we gained two members and got some other people to thinking about joining and we had four as good programs as one could ask for in which some members whose ability to recite or sing or write a well thought out essay, had been heretofore hidden, were induced to show what they could do, with gratifying results.

Then on Saturday evening October 20th the losing side, that captained by sister Mildred Keller, took twenty-one of the members to visit Wilson grange at which there was a good attendance, initiation by a degree team, a good program and a "bang-up" good supper all of which, together with the thought that all those visits together with nine to Boyne Valley grange would go a long way toward making the standing of Harmony grange, as compared to other granges in the county, somewhere near the top notch, made the members all think it was worth while. A beautiful moonlight night also aided.

Harmony grange is still agitating the question of a hall, but just the right plan for a hall and the best method of getting it seem a little hard to decide upon.

The worthy lecturer announced an interesting program for next meeting and a full attendance is expected.

Wilson Grange No. 719

Wilson Grange met in regular session October 26, 1912, with an attendance of thirty-nine members and twenty-one visitors from Harmony Grange.

The meeting was called to order by Worthy Master George Jaquays and during the business session a few bills were presented. The job of doing the janitor work was let to George Jaquays at $2.00 per meeting.

Miss Opal Chandler received instruction in the first and second degrees.

The dance committee announced a dance and supper for Saturday evening, November 2, at the hall.

The Ladies' auxiliary announced that there would be a night cap social Saturday, October 26, with a fish pond and bazaar in connection. Ladies come and bring two night-caps and supper. The tables will be set for supper.

The members decided to have a hunt supper next meeting and choose George Jaquays and Ab. Nowland, captains. The losing captain is to wear a muzzle and wait on table as his penalty. Several interesting selections were given on the program. Next meeting in two weeks.

Ladies' line fur coats from $25.00 to $65.00 at Benj. Brown's. Adv. 411

Marion Center Grange.

Marion Center Grange met Wednesday evening. Officers were nearly all present, and the usual order of business was transacted.

The committees appointed to look after the plowing match reported everything a success. The ladies made about $15.00 out of the chicken pie dinner and the dance committee turned over $13.55 to the grange as the proceeds of the dance.

The lecturer's hour was taken up with readings, songs, etc. Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

SECOND-LAND SHOW

Will be held in Grand Rapids November Twelve to Sixteen.

The second annual Michigan Land and Apple show, which will be held in Grand Rapids, November 12-16 inclusive, is not only intended to be a display of the finest fruit grown in the best fruit state of the union, but will also show what a state can do in the way of growing potatoes, grain, hay, etc. An exhibit of these products of the farm is being prepared which will show that Michigan is still the premier state for potatoes, for beans, for hay and that it will soon be the first in the Union as regards the value and volume of dairy products.

But it is an apple and fruit show that the greatest efforts will be made. The finest apples grown in the state will be brought here for display. Growers from all sections of the state are sending in requests for premium lists and instructions as to how to prepare an exhibit indicates that there will be keen competition for the cash prizes which are being offered by the management of the show. The cash prizes aggregate over $1,200, and, in one class alone, the live-box pack, it will be possible for a single exhibitor to take down a total of $175 in cash prizes.

Greater interest is added by the promise of some of the western apple growers to enter Grand Rapids with an exhibit of western apples at the time of this show. They asked for a space in the Michigan show, but if the Michigan growers do what they can easily do, there will not be space in the Coliseum for all the Michigan exhibits, let alone any from the west. Full information as to how to proceed to prepare an exhibit for the show can be obtained by addressing the Secretary, Martin Charles Huggell, Grand Rapids, Mich.

To the Voters of Charlevoix County.

I am the nominee of the Democratic party for the office of Judge of Probate. If elected to that office I shall serve the people to the best of my ability. I respectfully solicit your support. W. Herschel Miller.—Advertisement. 4312

Bible Class Organized.

About twenty-five very enthusiastic young people met at the Baptist parsonage and organized what will be known as the Berean Bible class which will meet at the Baptist church on Tuesday evenings for a systematic study of the Bible. One of the main features of the class will be the study of "Prophecy" and dispensational truths of the scriptures, illustrated by charts and outlines upon the blackboard. A cordial invitation is extended to all to become members of the class which will be inter-denominational in spirit.

GERMANY'S NEW CIVIC SCHOOL AT DUSSELDORF.

An Experiment That is Proving of Great Practical Value.

There was started last October in Dusseldorf what is probably the first school in the world for the comprehensive study of civil administration and development. It grew out of an address given last June by a professor of Bonn university before a gathering of the officials of the Rhine cities. The subject was the development of the city officials' duties and possibilities and brought out particularly the fact that no good place existed where

SEE MY LINE OF FUR COATS

Men's Fur Coats Ladies' Fur Coats Fur trimmed Coats

I have the Largest and most complete line ever shown in the city. Have bought direct from the Fur Dressers and will undersell any Mail Order House. It will be a pleasure to compare prices at any time.

Men's Fur Coats

$15.00 to $50.00

Men's Fur Trimmed Coats

$15.00 to $25.00

Ladies' Fur Trimmed Coats

$25.00 to $65.00

Benj. Brown

Cotton Seed Meal

41% to 45% Protein

We will have in during the first half of November several cars of choice.

Cotton Seed Meal

That we can sell at $32.00 PER TON

Argo Milling Co.

General Election.

Notice is hereby given that the next ensuing General Election will be held in the County of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on Tuesday, November 5, A. D. 1912, at the several voting precincts in said county, for the purpose of electing the following officers, viz:

National: President elect, for president and vice-president of the United States, one congressman at large for the State of Michigan, one congressman for the congressional district of which said county forms a part.

State: One governor, one lieutenant governor, one secretary of state, one state treasurer, one auditor general, one attorney general, one commissioner of the state land office.

Judicial: One justice of the supreme court for the term ending December 31, 1914, to fill vacancy; also one justice of the supreme court for the term ending December 31, 1915, to fill vacancy.

Legislative: One senator in the state legislature for the senatorial district of which said county forms a part, one representative in the state legislature for the Charlevoix district.

County: One judge of probate, one sheriff, one county clerk, one county treasurer, one register of deeds, one prosecuting attorney, one circuit court commissioner, two coroners, one county surveyor, one county drain commissioner.

Also for the purpose of voting upon the following propositions, viz:

For and against Section 1 of Article 2 of the Constitution of the State of Michigan relative to the right of women to vote.

For and against Section 2 of Article 2 of the Constitution of the State of Michigan relative to the amendment of charter of cities and villages.

Women's Initiative.

In accordance with the Constitution of the State of Michigan, and the statutes of said state relating thereto, should there be any proposition or propositions to vote upon at said election fixed by the direct expenditure of public money on the issue of bonds, every woman who possesses the qualifications of voter, and who is not a property owner, shall have the right to vote thereon, all such property being so divided as to be subject to taxation, and the proceeds of the sale of such property shall be used for the purpose of paying the interest on such bonds, provided that such duty is required.

The polls at said election will open at 7 o'clock A. M. and will continue open until 5 o'clock P. M. on Tuesday, November 5, 1912. The ballot will be cast in person.

DANIELS PATTON.

Are you thinking about having an

Auction Sale?

Perhaps you may think it is a simple matter, but it is not. There is a difference between selling your stuff and giving it away. Drop me a card for directions how to sell your goods, and get the benefit of my experience of 20 years as an Auctioneer.

E. B. WARD
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dates made at Courier Office

SELECT your fall and winter knit underwear carefully. Make sure that it possesses comfort—warmth—wear. Be doubly certain that it will fit your body smoothly—perfectly—without bulk.

ATHENA UNDERWEAR

For Women, Misses and Children

is made in firmly knitted elastic fabrics that do away with wrinkles under the corset—a great cause of discomfort in the ordinary underwear.

Athena underwear fits the figure with the smoothness of a silk stocking. It insures comfort without bulk—daintiness with wearability.

Here are some of its special merits:

A patented seat that gives extra room where room is most needed. A special stay that prevents the garment from stretching over the shoulder. An elastic cuff that holds the sleeve in place and keeps it from slipping up on the arm. Trimming put on in an improved way, giving exquisite daintiness that is not lessened by washing.

In all shapes and fabrics at the price you usually pay. Try Athena for the children. A perfect fit for all ages—from two to sixteen years.

Bergeon's DRY GOODS STORE

Call Up 125

and let us convince you that we appreciate

Your Patronage

By the service we give

QUALITY AND PRICES

That Cannot Be Beat

Van Aillsburg's Market
Corner Antrim and State Streets

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 45

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

THE COUNTY ROAD SYSTEM

Thoroughly Explained in Series of Articles by Floyd G. Randle.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

New Board of County Road Commissioners will be Elected Next April.

Supervisors are at all times in control of expenditures—limit on amount that can be raised by tax.

Floyd G. Randle, chief clerk of Michigan State Highway department has written a series of articles on the county road law, under which this county is operating, which will be of much interest to our readers as we find many who do not thoroughly understand the law, although it was adopted last spring.

In order to secure the county road system, it is necessary to first do one of two things: Secure the signatures of ten per cent of the resident freeholders in each organized township, incorporated village and city, as shown by the tax roll of the preceding year, present the same to the board of supervisors, who, if a majority are in favor of the same, may submit the question to a vote of the electors either at a general or a special election to be held not less than three weeks after the adoption of the resolution; or, second, the board of supervisors may submit the question to a vote of the electors without a petition, providing a majority of the members vote therefor. When the votes are canvassed, if it appears that a majority of the electors voting have voted favorably, the county road system becomes operative in such county. The first Monday in April is made a general election for this purpose.

In any county where the county system may be adopted, a board of county road commissioners shall be appointed by the board of supervisors or elected by the people at a general or special election called for that purpose. Commissioners who are appointed by the board of supervisors hold office until the first day of May in any odd year, the year in which a regular session of the legislature is held. This change was made in the old law, in order that counties would not be compelled to hold an election for the sole purpose of electing a county road commissioner at a time when no other county or state election was to be held. One commissioner is elected for two years, one for four years and one for six years. Thereafter, on the first Monday in April in each odd year, a county road commissioner shall be elected for a full term of six years. In Wayne and Mason counties, the commissioners are elected at a regular election in the fall, but take office at the same time the commissioners do who are elected in the spring. In counties which have more than thirty surveyed townships, the board of supervisors appoint the county road commissioners. A member of the board of supervisors is not eligible for appointment as a member of the board of county road commissioners. No member of the board of county road commissioners shall in any way be pecuniarily interested in any contract entered into or work carried on by or for such board. County commissioners cannot employ out of their own number and pay him out of the county road fund, but it should be understood that section 10 of the county road law does not prohibit a county road commissioner from superintending county road work in the exercise of his official duties, and his salary is paid in the same manner as any other county officer. The salary of the county road commissioner is fixed by the board of supervisors. The board of county road commissioners may lay out, grade, drain or construct any road under its jurisdiction. They may also construct bridges and culverts, and have all the powers and duties usually conferred upon township highway commissioners. The board has the right of condemnation for the purposes of right of way for roads, but cannot condemn gravel pits or land for road purposes outside the right of way. They maintain in their own name action for injury to any county road under their control; damages received in this manner are credited to the county road fund.

On or before the first day of October in each year, the board of county road commissioners must determine the work to be done and the amount of county road tax necessary for the ensuing year, specifying in such determination the roads or parts of roads to be improved and the money necessary for each particular piece of road, the amounts necessary for extra tools, machinery, current expenses, etc. The board of supervisors have the power to reject any or all items, or alter such items as they may determine, or they may refuse to levy any county tax to be used for the construction of county roads and it is not lawful for any board of county road commissioners to spend any money on any roads not specified in the final determination of the board of supervisors, or for any purpose not authorized by the board of supervisors. It is, however, incumbent upon the supervisors to levy sufficient county road tax to keep roads already built by the county in repair. All taxes for county road purposes are levied and collected in the same manner as other county taxes and are paid out by the county treasurer on warrants of the chairman of the board of county road commissioners, countersigned by the county clerk, who is clerk of the board. Such tax must be kept separate from all other taxes by the county treasurer. Taxes for county road purposes cannot exceed:

- (a) A three mill tax in counties having an assessed valuation of less than $20,000,000.00.
- (b) A two mill tax in counties having an assessed valuation of more than $20,000,000.00 and not exceeding $50,000,000.00.
- (c) A one mill tax in counties having an assessed valuation of over $50,000,000.00 and not exceeding $100,000,000.00.
- (d) A one-half mill tax in counties having a valuation of more than $100,000,000.00.

STATE EXPENSES MUCH GREATER

Than Last Year due to new Work Created by Legislature.

Increase for Year is Shown Over one Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Expenditures allowed and paid by the state through the board of state auditors during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, amounted to $18,332, according to the annual report of the board compiled under direction of John B. Matthews, as compared with $12,551.04 in 1911. The increase, it is explained, is the result of new work created by the order of the legislature, such as the tax investigation and the research in connection with workingmen's compensation system.

The board of state auditors, has charge of the expenditures made out of the general fund and for which no special provision is made. The accounts are audited by the auditor general.

The board also has charge of the maintenance of the state capital and the provision of office room for departments in other buildings in Lansing. To provide housing for the departments located there the board allowed bills amounting to $67,672.80. This includes the maintenance of the building and the employment of the help necessary to care for it.

The printing, binding and stationery bills for the state for the year were $132,513. The special session of the legislature cost $24,133.52. The employers' liability commission, which investigated the subject for the benefit of the legislature, was allowed $6,003 for its work and the expense incident thereto, while the commission which investigated taxation cost $11,111.

I have the Son Woolen Mills plants, coats, blouse, shirts, mackinaws and socks. See this line—they are the best. Benj. Brown. Advertisement. 111

Club the Courier with a magazine

WOODROW WILSON ELECTED BY AN ENORMOUS MAJORITY

Result of Tuesday's Election in Doubt in State—Ferris Probably Wins for Governor—Vote on Woman Suffrage Will be Close—Democrats Will Probably Control Both Houses of Congress.

As indicated, the election held Tuesday was a badly mixed affair. Nearly every voter splitting his ticket in some way and the count is still progressing in some precincts Wednesday afternoon, making it impossible to obtain accurate returns.

Charlevoix county probably will give all the Republican candidates a majority although the result on president will be close between Taft and Roosevelt. Woman suffrage will carry in the county by a large majority. Charlevoix city goes for Roosevelt by 75 and for Ferris by 30 majority.

In the state Ferris is probably elected although Watkins is giving him a hard race. Kelley leads the ticket for congressman-at-large.

Lindquist is elected congressman from this district. The results in the other congressional districts are in doubt but indications are that Fordney in the eighth, Lund in the tenth and Young in the twelfth are defeated by the Bull Moose candidates. Woman suffrage is probably a winner by a small majority.

In the nation at large everything seems to have gone for Wilson. At last reports Wilson had 377 out of 531 electoral votes and more coming. Roosevelt has probably carried Illinois and out of the western states, Ohio goes for Wilson by 16,000 and for the Democratic candidate for governor by 29,000. In next week's issue we will print the complete returns.

SHOWER GIVEN

By Miss Winnie Weaver in Honor of Miss Gertrude Heath.

Miss Winnie Weaver entertained eighteen friends at a lunch shower last evening in honor of Miss Gertrude Heath, whose marriage to Lee J. Scroggie of Saginaw, takes place December 4.

The house was prettily decorated in hearts, the entire color scheme being red and white.

A short program had been prepared consisting of music and reading, after which a small recipe book was filled.

Dainty refreshments were served and upon opening the napkins the guests found the names of the bride and groom to be and the date of their coming marriage on a heart. The guests departed wishing Miss Heath all happiness for the future.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Will Meet Friday Evening With Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bridge.

The Charlevoix Historical society will meet with Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bridge, Friday evening, November 8th.

Program.
Music, vocal solo, Mr. Noy Smith.
Paper, Early History of Ireland, Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson.
Social intermission.
Vocal solo, by a member.
Country and Village Life in Ireland, Miss Jane Catton.

Western Michigan Potato Club.

The first Boys' and Girls' Potato club for Western Michigan was organized at Williamsburg, Grand Traverse county, October 22, by M. J. Thompson, representing the farm management work being promoted by the department of agriculture. The club starts with thirty charter members and each is to manage a potato patch next year covering one-eighth of one acre. There will be prizes for those who prove the most successful. Similar clubs are to be organized in many of the villages of Western Michigan this fall and winter.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

Will be held next Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Wallace Jr.

The Women's Christian Temperance union meets Friday, November 8, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. W. Wallace Sr., on State street. After a short business session there will be a fifteen minutes devotional service, followed by reports of delegates from the district convention at Gaylord. A short program on dangerous "patent medicines" will be given, and a fifteen cent pot-luck supper served. Every one is invited.

Baths.

Hot air, electric light, ventilation and massage. Phone 262. Mrs. Stockley, 100 State street, Advertisement. 151

Courier rates on application.

ON A RAMPAGE

Polish Farmer Living Near Elmira, Goes Insane—Shoots Stock and Burns Buildings.

Lewis Dwick, a Polish farmer, living about a mile west of Elmira, became violently insane last week and began a series of alarming depredations.

In the morning he whipped his wife then went to town and purchased a quantity of ammunition for his gun. Returning home he harnessed up his horses, and after setting fire to both his barns, and the house, drove to the woods on his farm and shot both horses dead. Later he killed another horse as well as two cows, and then fled.

The officers were notified but at this writing have been unable to locate him.

Dwick has been subject to spells of aberration the past year but at no time previous has he lost complete control of his senses.

LESS THAN TWO-THIRDS

Of the Voters of This Country are Native Born White Men.

Interesting Figures in regard to the Foreign Born Citizens of Country.

The census bureau has recently issued some interesting figures relative to the voting strength of the United States.

The figures of the census bureau show that the white foreign born males of 21 years or over now in "continental" United States, number 4,046,817. The total number of white native born males of 21 years old or over is only 17,710,670.

There are 3,043,117 white men born in other countries who, if not disqualified because of offenses against the government or because of unsound mind, were able to cast their votes for presidential electors in November. These are the naturalized citizens—45.6 per cent of all the foreign born males of voting age.

Natives of Germany lead all the rest in this count of the foreign born men here. The Germans also show the highest percentage naturalized—69.5 per cent. Approximately two-thirds of the white foreign born men in the country are from northwestern Europe and 65 per cent of them are naturalized. Of the 2,431,458 native of the southern and eastern divisions of Europe 231 per cent are naturalized. It appears, however, that recent immigration has come in large part from those countries whose emigrated sons show a low percentage of naturalization.

The second largest group of foreign born men in this country are the Russians, with 737,150, and only 24.1 per cent of them are naturalized. Italians are third, with 742,425, and only 17.7 per cent naturalized. Natives of Austria number 692,156, and 21.6 per cent of them are naturalized.

Relatively high percentages naturalized are shown in the natives of Ireland, 67.8; Canada, 51; England, 50.4 and Sweden, 62.8. Of the 255,847 natives of Hungary, only 14.3 per cent have become American citizens.

The lowest percentage of naturalized foreign born men is to be found in the small group of Montenegrins. There are only 4,320 of them, and but 2.7 per cent have entered citizenship.

The tremendous problem confronting this country is the amalgamation of the peoples of the world into Americans is indicated by the statement that of the 26,394,134 men 21 years old and over in continental United States, 9,188,451 are foreign born—white, negro, Chinese, Japanese and other races. That is to say, less than two-thirds of the men of voting age in this country are native born white men.

This Is For You.

I have received a shipment of ladies' fur coats from the fur dressers in pony, calf and martin furs and will sell them at manufacturers' prices until December 1st. Any not sold after December 1st will ship back. On these conditions I can save you from $5.00 to $15.00 on coats. Benj. Brown—Advertisement. 141

OLDEST IN UNITED STATES

Charlevoix Lays Claim to Oldest Policeman in Active Service.

CAPTAIN HARRISON BERDAN

Active in all Public Affairs Although Past Four Score Years.

Has Served the People in Many Capacities—Was in Several of the Hardest Battles of the Civil War.

"Charlevoix The Beautiful" has one more link to add to its chain of popularity in boasting of having one, if not the oldest policeman in the country. Captain Berdan, as our honored citizen is known, stands over six feet tall and weighs about 185 pounds. The Captain is as hale and hearty as a man of two score years and looks much younger than he really is. He will attain the age of 83 years November 22, 1912.

Harrison Berdan was born in Wayne county, Michigan, November 22, 1829, where he spent most of his early life in farming and at his trade of a carpenter and joiner. At the age of twenty-five he was first married and since then has been married twice. When thirty-three years of age Mr. Berdan entered the ranks of the "Boys in Blue" as an enlisted man, fighting through out the war in some of the most strenuous battles encountered.

The Captain had been in the Union service a short time when he was promoted and came out as a Captain. He was mustered out on July 3, 1863. Captain Berdan took part in the famous "Battle of the Wilderness," and at this time he was severely injured by a fall from a horse, being placed in a rebel house that the Union soldiers were using as a hospital. A little later this place was captured by the Confederates, who made the Captain and several others of the Union ranks prisoners of war. As the prisoners were being transferred by the Confederates by train to the rebel headquarters, the Captain with four companions escaped in the night by cutting their way out of the cattle cars they were being carried in, and crawling through the hole and hiding in the underbrush. The second day out one of their men was recaptured, the others having a narrow escape. Later Captain Berdan and his three companions were captured by two members of the "Home Guards" when they attempted to cross a bridge at night rather than ford the river.

As the two "Home Guards" who were heavily armed, were marching the captives along the narrow path to the court house, the Captain by a signal to his companions, suddenly turned on the guards and overpowered them and made them prisoners, thus enabling the Union men to escape into the wilderness. Twenty-seven days and nights, filled with hours of privation and misery as well as hunger, were encountered in order to reach the Union ranks on the Ohio river. Food was very scarce and salt was unobtainable.

After being mustered out the Captain returned to his home in Michigan and resumed his trade. In 1882, he moved his family to Charlevoix where he has lived since. In 1884 the Captain was elected sheriff of this county and served one term. He served one term as postmaster in this city during President Harrison's presidency. Since that time Mr. Berdan has served the city as marshal and police officer, and always took to his duties ardently and today at his ripe old age, he is one of Charlevoix's best officers. In 1897 the Captain and his wife went to Alaska where they remained two years. He returned to this place during the Spanish-American war and says "There is no place like Northern Michigan."

10 Girls Wanted.

At the seed house to pick over beans. We are ready to take in beans or potatoes at any time. For information apply to George Brown, Phone office, 732r. House, 734r. Chatterton & Son, Ferry Seed Warehouse.—Advertisement. 1411

A Shine In Every Drop!

Black Silk Stove Polish is different. It does not dry out; can be used in the last drop; liquid and paste one quality; absolutely no water; no dirt or dirt. You get your money's worth.

Black Silk Stove Polish

is not only most economical but it gives a lasting shine to the stove, and it is not only a polish but a paint. It is a liquid and paste one quality. It is a liquid and paste one quality. It is a liquid and paste one quality.

Black Silk Stove Polish

is not only most economical but it gives a lasting shine to the stove, and it is not only a polish but a paint. It is a liquid and paste one quality. It is a liquid and paste one quality. It is a liquid and paste one quality.

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

Ido Pierce visited friends in Charlevoix last week.

Miss Marion Smith visited her sister Mrs. P. R. Ross of Charlevoix Saturday.

Mrs. J. H. O'Neill is visiting friends and relatives in East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Paeco and daughter, visited her brother, Mr. Santa and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cook of Norwood, visited Robert Gregory and family one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Meggison were the guests of Herman Himebauch and family Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Nowland spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Harmon Himebauch of Phelps, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Neill and daughter Clara, visited Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Beattie and family Sunday.

A few friends and neighbors of Mrs. Hapner gathered at her home Monday to remind her of her birthday. A pot luck dinner was served.

Miss Winnie Cunningham gave a Halloween party and box social at the Nowland school house Thursday evening. The house was tastefully decorated and a fine program rendered. Proceeds $14.00.

A number of the young people of the neighborhood gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison last Friday night. The house was prettily lighted with jack-o-lanterns. Refreshments of candy and popcorn were served and a good time was reported by all.

"Tells the Whole Story."

To say that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is best for children and grown persons and contains no opiates tells only part of the tale. The whole story is that it is the best medicine for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis and other affections of the throat, chest and lungs. Stops the grippe coughs and has a healing and soothing effect. Remember the name; Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, accept no substitutes. Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

IRONTON.

"I will be glad today, The summer suns again will shine, The air will thrill like tonic wine; The birds will sing as ne'er before With all these blessings yet in store, Why should I not be glad?"

The Ladies Aid society will meet with Mrs. Clyde Ogden on Thursday afternoon of this week. All of the ladies will be welcome.

A new ice house has just been completed on the Stuart farm.

Miss Ruth Mitchell and Mrs. Maggie Mitchell Wilson visited a few days last week in this vicinity.

There will be a good sermon and special music next Sunday. All are cordially invited to attend our Ironton church.

The "Good Time" at the school house Friday evening was well attended, in spite of cold weather. Werd faces peered from the windows, and a ghostly Viking appeared. Fest and youthful jollity were present and joined heartily in the "Peasant Scramble." Clayton Coblenz won the prize in the bean guessing contest. Elwyn Johnson won in the apple pie contest. Miss Sadie Hammond won in the pumpkin pie race. Forest Brown carried first honors in the "Scramble." A straw vote was taken for president, Theodore Roosevelt received forty votes, Mr. Taft nine votes, Mr. Wilson five votes. After the fortune telling game the pleasant evening was over.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier all.

ATWOOD.

Deer hunting. Don't forget that Thanksgiving turkey.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Almond Yettaw on Monday morning last, a baby boy.

Ida Blissett of Charlevoix, was here last week visiting relatives and friends.

107 attended the Halloween party at the hall on Friday evening last. Such a time.

Surprise parties, auction sales and getting ready for winter—keeps us, O! so busy.

Miss Klooster of Holland, Mich., sister of our H. Klooster is visiting him for a few days.

Peter Visser has rented his farm to Jake Beegama for one year, and the whole family goes to Grand Rapids for the winter.

Don't forget and come to church next Sunday morning. 7:00 o'clock p. m. Song service 6:30; remember this means in the evening.

Mrs. Emma Maier, 127 N. 6th St., Springfield, Illinois, says her kidney trouble resulted from an operation. "From then until I used Foley Kidney Pills I did not know what a well day was. Then my backache left me, that tired dragged down feeling was gone, I slept sound and awoke refreshed. I had no more headache or dizzy spells. Safe and sure. Try them. Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

EVELINE.

Had a lovely snow storm. Farmers are busy picking apples and making sauer kraut.

Miss Vera Sherman was at home a few days on a visit with her parents.

Peter Knudsen and Henry Nowland left Thursday for the north woods to hunt deer.

A bunch of young folks were out October 30, 1912, soaping windows and asking for lodging.

Mrs. Peter Knudsen and daughter Fannie, returned home last week from a three weeks visit at Manistee.

Mr. Hiram Steele, 628 N. 6th St., Terre Haute, Indiana, writes: "I came down with a severe case of kidney trouble. I had to get up too often at night, there was pain and much sediment, pull under my eyes, back pained terribly, and I was dizzy. Foley Kidney Pills cured me quickly, and I feel 100 per cent better." Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

COUNTY NORMAL.

Miss Cecile Barkley, class of '10, visited the training room Wednesday morning.

Miss Agnes Worth was again called home Tuesday on account of the illness of her mother.

Miss Sophia Berg substituted in the chart class and first grade last week as Miss Jarvis was still unable to be present.

School was dismissed Tuesday morning so the class could have the opportunity of hearing W. N. Ferris at the opera house.

Misses Merle Brocheisen, Blanche Rogers, Dessie Grovenink and Mr. George Hamlin observed the work in the grades last week.

Halloween night was spent very pleasantly by the class with Sophia Berg at the home of Mrs. Louise Ulrich on Newman street. The evening was spent with games and refreshments.

As the teachers attended the State Institute at Grand Rapids, Miss Mabel Chitt substituted in the eighth grade, Misses Hazel Gilmarin and Hazel Mills in the south ward and Misses Mabel Dunlop and Jessie Barkley in the training room.

Courier rates on application.

30,000 VOICES

And Many are the Voices of Charlevoix People.

Thirty thousand voices—What a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Charlevoix people are in this chorus. Here's a Charlevoix case.

Henry Newman, 263 Sheridan St., Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I have been troubled for years by my kidneys. I was annoyed by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions at night and I also had backache. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at the Ivy Drug Co. They gave me great relief. I can now rest better and do not have much backache."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Advertisement.

A Gift With a Thought in it.

There's one very simple way out of the Christmas shopping problem: don't shop, but sit quietly at home and subscribe for The Youth's Companion. The chances are, too, that no present you could buy for the young friend or the family you delight to honor could confer so much pleasure as this gift of The Youth's Companion for a whole round year—fifty-two weeks' issues, and the fifty-second as keenly anticipated and enjoyed as the very first.

There will be stories for readers of every age; sound advice as to athletics; suggestions for the girl at college or making her own way in the world; good things for every member of the family—all for $2.00—less than four cents a week.

The one to whom you give the subscription will receive free all the remaining issues of 1912, as well as The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, in rich, translucent colors. It is to be hung in the window or over the lampshade. You, too, as giver of the present will receive a copy of it.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 144 Berkeley street, Boston, Mass. New subscriptions received at this office.—Advertisement. 44-1

NORWOOD.

Lots of fishing nowadays. Snow November 1, makes one think of winter.

Charles Winner will spend the winter at his old home in Norwood.

Rev. Biery spent a couple of days in Traverse City last week on business.

Ida May Watson of Central Lake, attended meeting here Sunday evening.

Ida Blissett of Charlevoix spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Alice Yettaw of Norwood.

Miss Hazel Richardson spent last week with her parents, Will Richardson and wife of Norwood.

Come out to Norwood next Sunday morning and hear a good sermon and all stop for Sunday school.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Trade mark, cat. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.—Advertisement.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of the eleventh district of Michigan assembled in Charlevoix October 23 and 24. The unions were well represented and the meetings well attended by the towns people, who showed a decided interest in the program and enjoyed the many fine numbers presented.

The delegates were very cordially welcomed by the Charlevoix ladies. Everything possible was done for their comfort during the convention. Bountiful meals were served at the church each day.

The convention was called to order by the district president Mrs. Howard, Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock. After the devotional exercises the afternoon was taken up with roll call of officers; appointment of committees and helpful one minute messages from the local unions.

One worthy of special mention was given by our county president, Mrs. A. M. Burdick.

"Leave God to order all thy ways, and hope in him what e'er betide. Thou'lt find him in the evil days, Thine all sufficient strength and guide. Who trusts in God's unchanging love, builds on the rock that naught can move. Sing, pray, and swear not from his ways; but do thine own part faithfully, trust his rich promises of grace; so shall they be fulfilled in thee. God never yet forsook of need, the soul that trusted Him indeed."

The presidents of local unions reverently gave the names of the five comrades who had "crossed the bar."

Rev. Dull in giving welcome for the churches said: "The old custom of placards and mottoes of welcome are not used much of late. We think we can do more for you in action and spirit. We have no key to present but our city is yours."

The first W. C. T. U. convention was held in 1875 at Cincinnati in a Methodist church. The church has a prominent place in the work of the W. C. T. U. All Protestant churches are endorsing the work of the Union. Your organization stands for one vital thing—Temperance, working ultimately for the universal prohibition of the traffic in strong drink, the greatest crime of this nation."

Mr. R. D. Bailey, for the grange: "As I go about the state I find the temperance question is being persistently taught in the schools and endorsed by the grange. The grange is a quiet body yet is composed of the yeomanry of this country. It has done much along legislative lines. It considers the farmer of more importance than the farm and should be first improved. Through Jennie Baell much is being done to mold the thought and public sentiment in the proper and permanent way. Her persistent and faithful efforts are doing as much or more than any other person in our country. I do not except any statesman."

The response to the welcome by Mrs. M. M. Bailey of Benzonia was as hearty as the welcome, she said never before had our work been so widely endorsed and recognized by the world as at the present time.

Thursday morning came the reports of the corresponding secretary and the treasurer, the inspiring annual address of our beloved president, Mrs. P. J. Howard, reports of superintendents, a parliamentary drill, and the election of officers. All the officers were re-elected almost unanimously as follows: President, Mrs. P. J. Howard, Petoskey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jennie Alcox, Charlevoix; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Hoyt, Gaylord; treasurer, Mrs. Emma Wilcox, Manistota. The president later appointed Mrs. Mary E. Heston of East Jordan as vice-president at large.

Thursday afternoon the county presidents hour, reports of local unions, two papers, a monologue, "Why I want to vote," and music filled the time. In the evening a motion picture silver medal suffrage contest was held with seven contestants. All were excellent. The medal was awarded Mrs. Lomain of Petoskey. A prize banner is given by the district each year to the union making the largest net gain in membership. This trophy was taken last year by the Gaylord union but was very gracefully yielded to the Charlevoix union by Mrs. Cook and modestly and sweetly received in a few well chosen words by the local president, Mrs. S. J. Alcox. After the benediction the delegates and officers joined hands and the parting hymn, "God be with you, till we meet again" was sung and the twenty-eighth annual convention stood adjourned.

The Gaylord Advance says: The splendid work of the W. C. T. U. organization is too well known to need any elaborate comment in these columns. It is perhaps as vital an organization as was ever effected and is gaining great strength every year. A report by the secretary of the national organization, Mrs. Francis P. Parks, at the annual convention in Chicago, showed that during the preceding year 11,000 new members were added, bringing the total membership up to 300,000. It might be said that at no time have the activities of the union been more pronounced than at the present time. Instant agitation on the part of the union, educators and legislators have stimulated an interest in the work that will rapidly bring in a greater number of recruits than have ever been admitted in any one single year. The work of the organization is enduring, for it lies in the presentation of some of the greatest truths of the day and truth is perpetual.

I have everything in gloves and mittens—the best—3 pair for 25c. See them. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 44-1

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Charlevoix, Michigan

Resources - $250,000.00

The Women Folks

They have more or less business with banks. Many of them come to this bank. We appreciate their patronage; we invite others. No matter how small or large their business, we invite them to come. We have private parlors for their special accommodations; a cozy place where they can meet friends for business consultation.

Safety Deposit Boxes For Rent

4 per cent. Interest paid on Deposits

R. P. FOLEY, President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

BOY SCOUTS HELP.

Youngsters Are Doing Better Roads Movement.

The leaders of the Boy Scouts of America are encouraging the boys to make roads and are giving them instruction in road building. It is the aim of the directors of the movement to train the boys to be interested in the roads when out on their trips. They are required to observe whether there are ruts in the road and whether the drivers of vehicles make it a point to keep in the ruts.

The boys are asked to draw maps of the roads and are supposed to know something about the different methods of construction. They are also required to remove glass and stone from the road, thus decreasing the danger of accidents to automobiles and other vehicles.

Twinges of rheumatism, backache, stiff joints and shooting pains all show your kidneys are not working right. Urinary irregularities, loss of sleep, nervousness, weak back and sore kidneys tell the need of a good reliable kidney medicine.

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and restorative. They build up the kidneys and regulate their action. They will give you quick relief and contain no habit forming drugs. Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

Call Up 125

and let us convince you that we appreciate

Your Patronage

By the service we give

QUALITY AND PRICES

That Cannot Be Beat

Van Allsburg's Market

Corner Antrim and State Streets

DETROIT BUSINESS UNIVERSITY

65 West Grand River Avenue, located in new premises and giving the most modern courses of training for business appointments invites you to write for a copy of its new calendar. Address: E. R. SHAW, President, Detroit, Mich.

For Sale.

Good barn. Enquire at Hotel Elston.—Advertisement. 44-1

AT THIS TIME

You are Interested in Placing Your

FIRE INSURANCE

In a Strong, Reliable Company

Myrtie Young & Son

Would Like to Talk it Over with You

Phone 275

Office between the Banks

Charlevoix, Michigan

C. ROSS BROWNELL
TEACHER OF
PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE
Fifteen Years Experience
Mason-Sherwood Technical
Mathews Graded Course of Studies
In ten Grades
Class limited to Twenty
Permanent Studio 301 State Street
B. W. Miller House
In Charlevoix Mondays-Tuesdays

Charlevoix Rock
Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call
Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plans on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. E. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block
Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
VanPelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 139 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eye tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66-2; residence 66-3.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE,
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store,
Telephone No. 363. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. Afternoon given personal attention,
Telephone No. 4.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled
some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address
Central Lake, Mich. Phone 1040.

Let me do your
D R A Y I N G
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 373 when you have language to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

The Courier auction advertising
plan has never failed to please its many patrons. Investigate.

FOR THE GOOD ROADS
"CLUBBERS."

The attempt to improve public roads under the old system of local supervision, small appropriations and taxes worked out under petty political control wastes a large part of the money so expended.
Good roads clubs should be organized in every township in the United States and constitute themselves as a "thorn in the flesh" of the road authorities whenever a bad piece of road exists until it is repaired.
We can build just as well as they do in Europe, but they have good roads only because they maintain them, and we have so many bad roads because as soon as we build a road we forget it until we bump into the holes that come in it.—Belter Roads.

MAINTENANCE OF PUBLIC ROADS

One of the Most Important Problems of Today.

THEY ARE TRULY ESSENTIAL.

Of Advantage to the Farmer, Bring Towns Closer Together and Boom Home Trade—Some Reasons Why
Your Road May Be a Poor One.

One of the most important problems confronting the public today is the construction and maintenance of its roads. It is truly essential that we have good roads.
Good roads not only prove an advantage to the farmer commercially, but they are a pleasure to the motorist and bring towns and cities closer together, thereby lavishing trade and transportation.

There are many reasons why road building in Indiana proves a failure, and it might be well to enumerate some of them: First, a road may be made too narrow to accommodate the traffic or so narrow that teams will track, cutting the surface into ruts.

A WELL MADE ROAD.

In a very short time. Second, the use of poor unreliable materials, then laying the material dumped in piles along the sides of the road for traffic to spread. Third, poor drainage; either the surface is too flat or too high in the center, the side gutters or ditches too deep or not deep enough. Fourth, laid on an unstable foundation, laying the foundation on surfaces filled with holes and ruts, thereby leaving no end of trouble and expense after the road has been used a very short time.

If a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well, and since constructing roads is a thing worth doing, why not do it well?

The first thing to take into consideration in the proper construction of a road is location and direction. In speaking on this very subject one authority on good roads said recently,
"Whenever possible roads should be located on straight lines." Continuing, he said, "The best location is one which is straight in general direction, is free from steep grades, is over solid ground and serves the largest possible number of people."

The most desirable foundation for road construction is a natural pebbly surface. Telford uses the pitched foundation for a road which is subject to heavy traffic. For an ordinary road a thickness of five or six inches of gravel or dirt well rolled and watered should

A CURVED ROAD IS USUALLY A POOR ONE.
It is used as a foundation with a three or four inch covering of granite also rolled and watered.

Another important factor in road construction is drainage. If the road be constructed in such a way that the surface has just enough convexity, say a slope of from one and a half inches to two feet, and the gutter grades so arranged as to have a fall of at least six inches in each hundred feet, a good surface drainage will be obtained.

To maintain our good public roads, after we get them, new and suitable material should be added when needed and all defects repaired at once. One of the best systems for the maintenance of good roads was inaugurated a few years since by the French and is known as the patrol system, which necessitates daily inspection and care.
It would be well if we spent more time in caring for our roads and established some system whereby they would receive constant attention.

GOOD ROADS ARE SURE TO HELP TRADE.

Will Increase Population and Build Up
Local Business.

To no one more than the business man is the question of good roads a vital issue. The spreading of the doctrine of good roads will mean a large increase in the volume of business,
will lead to great leaps in the development of this already rich country and will make money for every man in mercantile lines. While directly the building of good roads will benefit the farmers, and stock raisers perhaps more than any else and will raise the value of every farm reached by good roads, still the business men come in a close second.

Good roads will increase the production of the land because it will give the farmers a better outlet for their marketable stuff and will lead to such an increase in population that there will be more workers per square mile than there are under the old roads system. Good roads will open for settlement and cultivation land now lying out of the radius of profitable farming. It will put more square miles of territory within trade distance of your town.

The business men of any town are interested in bringing to that town trade from greater distances than is easily covered on our present roads.
It increases the volume of business, and every man in business in the community receives his share of the benefit. The farmer is able to haul his grain and produce to market at less cost and makes a greater profit per year from his labor. This additional profit is represented by the additional amount of cash he has to spend with the home dealers. When the farmers are made to pay larger dividends more settlers will come to your neighborhood, and all of them will have to spend money with you and your fellow business men. So, directly and indirectly, the business men are benefited by the building of good roads.

ONE WAY TO BETTER ROADS.

Automobile Club Gives Free Drugs to Farmers.

A plan inaugurated by the Manhattan (Kan.) Motor club has been successful in bettering the condition of the country roads in a radius of ten miles from Manhattan at least 50 per cent, and the plan is so inexpensive that the club is urging other towns to take it up.

The club gives a road drug to every farmer who will guarantee to use it to keep three miles of road in good condition. The club has given away more than forty drugs and is getting calls for them at the rate of about four a week.

The club first made the offer several months ago. The farmers were slow in taking advantage of it, but the club's president advertised the offer in the local papers, and the result has been that the drugs are being taken by the farmers as fast as the club can get them made. The club has placed no limit on the territory in which the offer is good, and the drugs are in use in all sections of the county. They cost the club about $6 each.

Work in Texas.
Construction of about thirty miles of good roads in the Venus precinct of Johnson county, Tex., will soon be started. Bonds amounting to $75,000 have been issued for the work.

Organize in Kentucky.
The McCracken County Good Roads association has been organized in Paducah, Ky., the object being to agitate the question of improving the highways of the county.

NEIGHBOR MINE.

Do not drop the fruit you're eating.
Neighbor mine.
On the sidewalk, sewer or grating.
Neighbor mine.
But, test you and I should quarrel.
Listen to my little carol—
Go and toss it in the barrel,
Neighbor mine!

Look! Where's your drop a paper,
In the wind it cuts a caper.
Neighbor mine.
Down the street it madly courses
And should fill you with remorse
When you see it scare the horses,
Neighbor mine!

Paper cans were made for papers.
Neighbor mine!
Let's not have this fact escape us,
Neighbor mine.
And if you will lend a hand
Soon our city dear shall stand
As the cleanest in the land,
Neighbor mine.

GOOD ROAD DON'TS.

Don't leave grass and weeds on the shoulders and in the gutters.
Don't dig the mud out of the gutters and throw it upon the road.
Don't leave dirt in piles on the road.
Don't throw grass and weeds
upon the road surface.
Don't dump stone or gravel on an old road without first preparing the surface to receive it, because you thereby cause willful waste and wasteful work.
Don't place new material on the road without leveling and shaping it so that the grade and cross section of the road will be unchanged.
Don't expect travel to spread and roll the new material. One-half of the money spent is wasted by this method.
Don't put new material on an old hard road surface before first picking or loosening the old covering. It is good for the quarry-man and gravel owner, but bad for the taxpayer and road user.
Don't try to do work without proper tools.

HIS POCKET PIECE

By OSCAR COX

"Well, Dotly, what have you to say in reply to my third proposal?"
"Your fifth."
"Oh, you have kept count?"
"Why shouldn't I?"
"Why shouldn't you? If you don't want me what interest am I to you?"
"Chris like to get propositions of marriage, and it flatters their minor proprie."
"But I should think that five propositions from one man would count only as one proposition."
"For my part I have enjoyed the fifth as much as the first."
"I don't know whether to gratify your persistence for proposals further or say goodnight forever."
The word "forever" was pronounced very seriously. She heaved an involuntary sigh.
"I believe I'll toss up for it," he said.
"For what?"
"Whether I make you one more proposal or not."
"You might better toss up whether I give you a definite reply to those you have already made."
"Oh, your answers, then, have been indefinite?"
There was no reply. Silence gives consent.

"Since you are undecided as to what you will do with my proposals, suppose you toss up whether or no you shall marry me."
He took a silver half dollar from his pocket. "It's a Columbian piece," he said. "Issued at the time of the Columbian world's fair at Chicago. I would not part with it for a farm. I keep it for a pocket piece."
"Let me see it."
He sat down by her, and they looked at it together. In order to see its workmanship the more clearly they were obliged to put their heads very close together, so near that a few strands of her fluffy hair tickled his cheek.

"What a funny looking ship!" she said. "And the two baseballs under it—what do they mean, I wonder?"
She referred to the twin worlds on the coin.

"They're not baseballs; they're cricket balls. They signify that Columbus hauled out all the other navigators who ever lived."
"What's the fourteen on the left side of the balls mean?"
"That's the age Columbus was when he was born."
"Don't be glib!"
"Part. It means that he was as smart when he was born as most boys are when they are fourteen years old."

"Is that really so?" looking up with her innocent eyes.
"Certainly."
"What's the ninety-two on the other side stand for?"
"That's the age Columbus was when he died."

"I didn't know he lived to be so old."
"He died of the crop finally. You see, having been born at fourteen, he didn't have any childhood's diseases.
The first one that got him carried him off."

"Now you're talking silly again."
Meanwhile his arm had fallen on her wrist. She turned the coin over, exhibiting the great navigator's head.

"Who's that?" she asked.
"That's Ferdinand, the king of Spain, who furnished the funds for the American trip."
"I should think they would have put Columbus' head on it."
"Well, are you ready for the toss?"
She sighed, and there was a far distant look in her fawnlike eyes.
"If the ship and the cricket balls come up," he continued, "I'm refused for good and all. If Ferdinand's head is up you will be mine."

He tossed the coin, and it came down heads up.
"It's mine," he said exultingly.
"Not at all."
"You agreed that if Ferdinand's head came up you would marry me."
"That isn't Ferdinand's head. It's Columbus'!"

"Umph. You're smarter than I thought you were. Must I toss again?"
"Toss and see if you'll have to."
"Which shall it be this time?"
"It's the ship and the cricket balls."
"It's yes!"

Just Left Himself.
Town—How's the new cook doing?
Smiths—I don't know. She didn't leave her address.—Boston Transcript.

The Man Who Starts
In Business Today

Must have money or credit—to be successful he should have both.

The real starting point of any business is The time at which one begins systematic saving. If he begins right, he opens a bank account and gradually builds up both his account and his credit.

If you begin now it will bring your day for starting a business of your own that much the nearer.

Open an account with us today—one dollar or more will do—whenever you can spare a dollar add it to your account—the lump sum will be here and ready for you when you want it. We pay 4 per cent interest on time deposits.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Buttara A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Keep Warm

With a good wood pile or well filled coal bin and a

STOVE Bought of BLANCHARD

You can laugh at winter's chilly blasts

Hard and Soft Coal and Wood Heaters

In endless variety. BUY NOW.

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

Are you thinking about having an Auction Sale?

Perhaps you may think it is a simple matter, but it is not. There is a difference between selling your stuff and giving it away.
Drop me a card for directions how to sell your goods, and get the benefit of my experience of 20 years as an Auctioneer.

E. B. WARD
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dates made at Courier Office

Notice.

To Citizens Fire Insurance Policy holders:
Judge Shepard signed an order on Monday, October 14, 1912, discharging Frank L. Voorheis as receiver of said company, and appointing me in his place. There are about 600 policy holders who have not as yet paid. I shall commence suit against them at once.
J. L. Barber, Rondo, Mich.—Advertiser.

Mrs. Peter Holan, 11,501 Buckeye Road, S. E., Cleveland, Ohio, had a little son with a bad croup whooping cough. She says: "He coughed until he was blue in the face. I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and the first few doses had a remarkable and almost immediate effect. A few more doses cured him. Yes indeed I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." In the yellow package. Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and
entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary poetry, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second
class matter.

FROM THE CAR BEHIND

New Serial Story Which Commences in Thursday's Detroit News Tribune.

The above is the title of a new serial story which will start in The Detroit News Tribune, Thursday morning, November 7. It is the story of a young man through college at 18, his hero worship of a great automobile manufacturer and race car driver, and his defense and protection of his fiancée from the just charge of attempted murder. It carries the thrill of the automobile race track from cover to cover. Did you ever attend a big automobile race?
You hear the cry "Car coming," and before you fairly realize what has happened it is past like a flash. To
"From the Car Behind," by Eleanor
M. Ingram, such a situation arises.
This story also has a fine love theme running through it, and aside from interesting automobile lovers will prove a great attraction to every man, woman and child who is fortunate to read it. You can only get this splendid, thrilling romance in The Detroit News Tribune. Be sure and read the first installment Thursday morning November 7.

Some Fine Sheep

To let out on shares. Call on
Charles See at S. M. See & Sons
Furniture store. Advertisement 421f

You cannot afford to have cold hands at the price Chamberlin is selling all kinds of gloves. See him at once. Advertisement. 451

CLEAN DAIRY UTENSILS.

To Keep Products Pure They Should Be Sterilized Every Day.

If the dairyman is to keep his dairy utensils absolutely clean he must sterilize them daily. This is just as necessary in the small dairy as in the large one. The dairyman who milks only a few cows cannot afford an expensive equipment in his dairy room. Many who do a profitable but modest business believe that a sterilizer is an expensive luxury. Such is not the case.
A homemade sterilizer may be made at a cost of not more than $7 or $8.
Go to your local tinner or hardware merchant, show him the accompanying cut and tell him to make you a box three and a half feet square of galvanized iron, twenty-eight gauge, a little heavier if he hasn't this. It should not be of lighter weight. All joints should be riveted and soldered closely.
This will make a steam tight box, with the exception of the cracks about the door, and will hold enough steam pressure for all practical purposes in sterilizing.
The door should be not quite three feet square and should be cut to lap

HOMEMADE STERILIZER.
[From Country Gentleman.]

about an inch over all four sides of the opening. Ordinary heavy double strap hinges may be used, fastened with either bolts or rivets. A bolt and staple fastener holds the door shut. The steam may be piped into the top and out side as shown in the illustration.
A few holes punched in the bottom will draw off the condensed steam, and should be turned on slowly at first and then gradually be worked up to full force with thirty or forty pounds of steam in the boiler. A thorough sterilization will be accomplished in from ten to fifteen minutes. The writer has used a sterilizer similar to this, which cost $7.50, and found it to be thoroughly efficient. Country Gentleman.

Those Pesky Weed Seeds.

If weeds are allowed to lie in the garden over the winter the seeds will be ready for business in the spring, long before it is time to plant vegetables.

FATTENING BEEF CATTLE ON SILAGE.

If any doubt remains in the mind of the corn belt cattle feeder as to the value or efficiency of corn silage as a fattening ration it should be dispelled by the results of this year's experiment at Purdue university made public at the recent semiannual meeting of the Indiana Cattle Feeders' association. Of the seventy head of steers fed in lots of ten each on various combinations of feeds the fastest gain, cheapest gains and the greatest profits were made on the lot fed shelled corn, cottonseed meal and corn silage, with the exception that the gains on a lot to which silage, oats straw and cottonseed meal were fed during the first sixty days and corn, cottonseed meal, silage and clover hay during the remainder of the period made slightly the cheapest gains of all. Including the pork produced, the lot fed on corn,

Among the beef breeds none has been more successful in recent years at live stock shows than the Aberdeen Angus. These cattle seemed to sweep in nearly all prizes where they were shown in competition with other beef breeds, winning first prizes and grand championships over the Shorthorns, Herefords, Red Polls and Galloways. The bulls are prepotent and impress their good qualities on their offspring. It is claimed that any good grade cow will have a horn-less black calf if bred to a pure Angus bull.

cottonseed meal and silage made a profit of $26.21 per head and disregarding the pork a profit of $20.46 per head.

Corn and roughage were fed to the bulk of the animals' appetites. Cottonseed meal was given at the rate of one pound and one-half pound daily per 1,000 pounds of live weight. The silage was of excellent quality and was much drier than the average silage. Professor King explained that when the corn was cut last fall nearly all the blades were perfectly dry, due to the severe drought, while the stalks still contained considerable juice. The silage was thoroughly packed, four men working inside the silo, and no water was added as the corn was run through the cutter. As a result, analysis showed approximately 25 per cent more of dry matter than the silage of preceding years.

The silage fed cattle consumed less grain because the corn in the silage replaces a certain amount of the dry grain in the ration. On heavy silage fed the animals also consumed less roughage. The gains from silage were much faster during the early portion of the feeding period.

The results of previous experiments gave the greatest profit to the lot receiving corn, cottonseed meal, silage and clover. This was not the case in the present experiment, due, possibly, to the greater dryness of the silage at ready reference to.

The excellent showing made by oat straw as a forage in comparison with clover hay is one of the surprises of the experiment, says F. L. Petty in American Agriculturist. These results are taken by Professor King to indicate that the function of dry roughage in a ration of shelled corn and corn silage to which is added a liberal nitrogenous ration, such as cottonseed meal, is rather to furnish merely some dry matter and to supply an element which the appetites of the animals seem to demand rather than for its real nutritive value.

Hog Cholera.

Hog cholera is not caused by feed or the condition of the pen. It is a germ disease which is transmitted from herd to herd and from hog to hog. Poor feed and a filthy pen will invite this disease by lowering the vitality and resisting power of the hog, which is the most delicate of all farm animals in some respects. Hogs kept on pasture with plenty of exercise, good feed and pure water are very much less likely to contract the disease because of their vigor of body. Hogs on pasture in summer or with plenty of alfalfa hay in winter not only maintain their health, but grow into money much faster than dry lot hogs.

Some Irish Families.

It is a notorious fact that many of the families of Ireland which have come to be regarded as typically Irish are of alien extraction. Thus the Plunketts are of Danish origin, the Barkes, Dillous, Roches, Husseys and all the tribe of Fitz are Anglo-Norman, while the Mitchells are English. Louisa Speight.

SATURDAY SPECIALS

The prices given on articles only good November 9th

$6.50 Young Ladies' Dresses	$4.98
$15.00 Ladies' Coats	$9.98
$1.50 House Dresses	98c
$2.00 Grade Bearskin	$1.50
$6.00 Ladies' Sweaters	$3.98

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

VANPELT BLOCK

Sunday in the Churches

CATHOLIC CHURCH

Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.
High Mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Other services announced the Sunday previous.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, Van-
Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a.
m.

Subject: "Adam and Fallen Man."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday
Thursday and Saturday from 2:00
to 5:00 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Morning service at 10:30.
Sunday school at noon.
Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.
Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH

Morning, "The Worth of a Man."
Evening, "The Governor's Blunder."

BAPTIST CHURCH

Morning service 10:30.
Sunday school 11:45.
B. Y. P. C. at 6 p. m. Topic, "Temperance Progress the World Over."
Lentor, Miss Hattie Hamlin.
Evening service at 7 p. m.
Berean Bible class meets on Tuesday evening.

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening.
—Preaching next Sunday afternoon
at Burgess school house.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Meets at Carnegie Library at noon.
All men invited to attend.

A Good School.

A reputation for thorough work and successful graduates maintained for fifty years, and increased efficiency in the adoption of the newest and best methods of office training from term to term, have brought to the Detroit Business University, 65 Grand River avenue, west, the largest attendance this year ever enjoyed by this reliable Business Training School. 451f

Horse blankets—the kind you will need in a short time. See them at Frank Chamberlin's before buying.
—Advertisement. 451f

Found.

Come to my premises two yearling heifers, one black, one red.
Owner please call and pay charges.
D. E. Ingalls.—Advertisement. 451f

For results, try our advertising liner.

Subscribe for the Courier.

City Will Can Fruits.

All canning of fruits and vegetables at Cleveland's city farm at Warrensville will be done this year by women prisoners, Deputy Superintendent Mack of the workhouse says that in a short time all the women inmates will be removed from the old workhouse to the county institution and that the present plan was to have them do the canning for all city institutions.
All the men have been removed from the Westland avenue institution. The men will be assigned to canning and heavy farm duties until the brick manufacturing plant is completed.

SPECIAL COAL STOVE SALE

During this month and for Spot
Cash we will sell coal stoves
At SACRIFICE Prices

Below are some of the bargains:

A $70.00 Stove for $55.00
A $52.00 Stove for $40.00
A $47.00 Stove for $36.00

Many more at appropriate prices. We realize that the high cost of coal is apt to effect the Coal Stove Sale, and we make these prices to unload our stock.

A beautiful 13 piece set of genuine Rodgers' Silverware
Given Away each Saturday

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

See Block

Bridge Street

BUCKWHEAT

This is a Straight TIP

Buckwheat Flour, old fashioned stone ground or roller ground at

ARGO MILLING COMPANY'S MILL

Try a Sack

BUCKWHEAT

ATHENA UNDERWEAR
For Women, Misses and Children

is made in firmly knitted elastic fabrics that do away with wrinkles under the corset—a great cause of discomfort in the ordinary underwear.

Athena underwear fits the figure with the smoothness of a silk stocking. It insures comfort without bulk—daintiness with wearability.

Here are some of its special merits:

A patented seat that gives extra room where room is most needed. A special stay that prevents the garment from stretching over the shoulder. An elastic cuff that holds the sleeve in place and keeps it from slipping up on the arm. Trimming put on in an improved way, giving exquisite daintiness that is not lessened by washing.

In all shapes and fabrics at the price you usually pay. Try Athena for the children. A perfect fit for all ages—from two to sixteen years.

Bergeon's DRY GOODS STORE

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Pomona grange meets at Ironton tomorrow.

Albion Smith spent Sunday in Grand Rapids.

Don't miss the chicken pie supper next Saturday.

Mrs. L. W. Fitch is reported very low at this writing.

Prosecuting attorney Fitch was in the city Monday.

R. L. Lorraine of East Jordan was in the city Tuesday.

C. W. Marshall of Saginaw is in the city today on business.

Miss Stella Goodrich is visiting in Boyne City and Gaylord.

Miss Gertrude Heath visited friends in Ironton Tuesday.

Rollie L. Lewis was in Boyne City Thursday on business.

Paul Purdy was over from East Jordan last Thursday night.

Born, this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Lance Neff, a ten pound girl.

Art Bergeon has moved into the Hawkins house on Clinton street.

J. E. Converse of Boyne City was in the city Thursday on business.

D. L. Wilson of Boyne City was in the city Thursday on business.

V. G. Holbeck of East Jordan, was in the city Thursday on business.

Bud Hull's new house on south State street is nearing completion.

Miss Martha Gallagher of St. James is visiting friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Price of Wolverine are visiting relatives in this city.

H. I. Montford of Fort Wayne, Indiana, is visiting friends in this city.

Born, Tuesday, October 29, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Neill, a fine baby.

Mrs. F. A. Kenyon of Mackinaw Island visited friends in this city Monday.

F. G. Jerome returned home Monday after a business visit to Traverse City.

The Holy Roller's boat "Morning Star" was in port the latter part of the week.

Ike Strickney of Marion, sold his farm last week to Michael Sklener of Chicago.

Mrs. F. LeMar returned home Friday after spending several days in Traverse City.

Benjamin Brown is installing an up-to-date heating plant in his store on Bridge street.

Leon F. Brower has moved into the Burdick house corner Antrim and Grant streets.

Peter Vandermade and wife left Saturday for Chicago, on a two weeks' pleasure trip.

O. W. Powers and wife came down Saturday from the Soo, where he is working, to cast his vote.

James Ostrum sold his Marion farm last week to James Nagat, who will soon take possession.

The Cheboygon association of Congregational churches is meeting at Vanderbilt this week.

A. L. Usher has moved into the Shaughan house on Clinton street which he recently purchased.

Mrs. Ada Monty was very pleasantly surprised by a number of friends the evening of October 23.

There will be a dance at Maple Grove grange hall, Friday evening, November 8. Everybody welcome.

William Williams of Afton, Cheboygon county, has purchased the Reuben Geer farm in Marion township.

Charles Vosburg of Marion was quite seriously injured in a runaway accident Wednesday of last week.

A 160 acre cherry orchard is to be located near Northport. It will be the largest cherry orchard in America.

The steamer Lena Knobloch was taken to Old Mission yesterday where she will be laid up for the winter.

The Boyne City Times and Elk Rapids Progress of last week were turned over the women suffrage advocates.

Captain S. M. Roae was in Boyne City the latter part of the week doing the diving in a job of barge repairing.

Mrs. Code Amer left Thursday morning for Detroit, where she will join her husband, who is employed in that city.

Miss Louise Macey returned home Tuesday after a two weeks visit with her cousin, Miss Lottie Miller of Boyne City.

Henry C. Cooper is in charge of the county treasurer's office during the absence of Mr. Lewis on his hunting trip.

Married, Tuesday November 5, by Judge Collins, at his office, Grover Cleland and Miss Alice Tory both of Boyne City.

Special communication, Charlevoix lodge No. 282 F. & A. M., Tuesday evening, November 12. Work in the M. M. degree.

The schooner Rosabella is loading hardwood lumber at the Charlevoix Lumber company's dock for Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

The supervisors were with us again the latter part of the week after the election supplies for the various voting precincts.

Captain William Finucan left Saturday for a trip to Sault Ste. Marie, on the Missouri, filling a vacancy in the crew for the Soo trip.

James Diette of Indianapolis, who with his family has been at the Bartlett for some time, returned to his home Monday for vote.

Stanley Wildern has moved his jewelry stock from the Young Insurance building to the north half of LaLonde Brothers store.

The Lady Macabees will have "Character Masque" party, Tuesday evening, November 19. Each member may bring a lady friend.

According to Secretary of State Martindale the cost of the recent election was $100,000. There are 2,113 election precincts in the state.

Misses Marjorie Weaver and Lois Frazier returned Monday from a week's visit at Grand Rapids and other southern Michigan points.

Mrs. H. Bedford and daughter, Mrs. W. R. Barney, left Tuesday for Grand Rapids, where they will visit among friends and relatives for ten days.

Mrs. Frank Cheney left Thursday morning for Ottawa, Ohio, where she will join her husband, who is working in the sugar factory at that place.

Victor Hawkins of Jonesville, Grand Chancellor of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias, was in the city Monday on his way home from his hunting trip.

Married, Wednesday evening October 30, by Rev. C. E. Taggart, Mrs. Esther McGeagh and William Mayberry both of this city. The Courier extends congratulations.

Fifteen dollars in cash has been hung up for the exhibitor of the most attractive barrel of apples shown at the coming Land and Apple Show, November 12 to 16.

D. F. Neech, L. Van Skiver and E. R. Harris of Ellsworth, and Victor Hawkins of Jonesville, left Tuesday for a two weeks' hunting trip on the Tahquamenon river, U. P.

Charlevoix will meet East Jordan in a football game on the home grounds next Saturday afternoon. A good game may be looked for and a large crowd will probably be in attendance.

The state papers say that all the rest of the candidates, having withdrawn from the contest for master of the state grange, John C. Ketcham of Hastings will be chosen by an unanimous vote.

Mrs. Jane Bowdish was given a surprise party at the home of James Linn the evening of October 30. Light refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was enjoyed by those present.

The exhibitor at the Michigan Land and Apple show displaying the largest perfect apple will be awarded five dollars. The same amount will go to the exhibitor of the most attractive single apple.

W. E. Hampton, wife and son, and Victor Hawkins and wife and Jonesville returned Saturday from a two weeks' camping outing near Newberry. They report themselves as having had a most delightful time.

The Woman's Relief Corps will meet at their hall on the evening of November 14. All members are earnestly requested to be present. An interesting paper will be read by George Cook, for the good of the order.

Miss Helen Armstrong was operated upon for appendicitis yesterday afternoon by Dr. Richard R. Smith of Grand Rapids, assisted by Dr. A. M. Wilkins.

At last reports she was getting along in fine shape and her condition was very satisfactory.

A dozen members of the Odd Fellows fraternity visited the Boyne City encampment Saturday night, making the trip on the Arbutus.

Although they had several mishaps on the trip, they had a bully time and are all anxious to make the trip again.

A monthly report of the state treasurer shows a balance in the state treasury of $2,100,011.00. There is a balance in the general fund of $1,003,500.80. This is the largest balance in the general fund of the state treasury for this time of the year in over twenty years.

Strawberry shortcake was enjoyed on Sunday last by a few of our fortunate citizens. The berries were some of the late fall variety raised by Mr. Newman, who reports that there are a few left on the vines, and that he picked several quarts Friday during the first snow storm.

A party of deer hunters left Tuesday night on the Arbutus for Hessel, U. P., consisting of George Stafford, H. H. Ackert, Richard Lewis, Art Alcock, Thomas Shepherd, Bert Olney, J. H. Milford, A. J. Hamilton and Robert Farrow. They expect to be gone about ten days.

Copies of the official premium list of the second annual Michigan Land and Apple Show, under the auspices of the Western Michigan Development Bureau and the Grand Rapids Association of Commerce, Grand Rapids, November 12 to 16, can be had by addressing the Western Michigan Development Bureau, Traverse City, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Blanchard of Charlevoix have been spending the past few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blanchard, the former being a relative of his visitors. The visit here was in the nature of a honeymoon for Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard, they having been married only a week ago yesterday. They returned to their home in Charlevoix the first of the week.

Gaylord Advance.

The steamer Lena Knobloch, that has been making the run between this city and Boyne City since the City of Boyne was burned, laid up for the season Tuesday night. The steamer Hunt will make one round trip to Boyne City the balance of the season, leaving Charlevoix at 9:30 a. m., returning, leave Boyne City at 1:30 p. m. The usual time of arrival in the morning from East Jordan will be maintained, and the return trip to the home port at 4 p. m.

It makes one smile when they recall the hunting trip of a local humorist. The party in question went in quest of fox, started the dogs, who went out of hearing chasing the fox, then growing weary of waiting for their return, laid down in some leaves by the side of a log and went to sleep. While enjoying his "much needed rest" the dogs brought the fox within a short distance of him, but he never heard a sound. Some of his friends think he is afflicted with "hook worm," while many think it is pure laziness.

Fur coats, short coats, sheep skin coats, the only garment to wear in cold weather—you will be surprised at the price I sell them for. Frank Chamberlain.—Advertisement. 451

County Finances.

RECEIPTS.

Balance on hand October 1st, 1912, $16,950.22

Received from delinquent taxes 1911 195.47

Received from Redemption Cert. 32.50

Received from General fund 1.00

Received from Post fund 63.74

Received from Teachers institute fees 19.00

Received from Mortgage tax 68.24

Received from Hunters license 100.00

Balance on hand November 1st, 1912, $17,662.82

DISBURSEMENTS.

General fund $ 5,911.91

Post fund 129.10

Circuit court orders 20.90

Criminal fee orders 4.48

Probate court orders 30.20

Soldiers relief fund 49.00

Mortgage tax 14.25

Balance on hand November 1st, 1912, $11,991.88

Dated at Charlevoix, Mich., Nov. 5th 1912.

RICHARD LEWIS

County Treasurer.

For Sale or Rent.

Forty-acre farm, three miles south on county road, at once, four acres at 1021 South May street. Also good milch cow for sale. Inquire A. Powers.—Advertisement. 451f

Subscribe for the Courier.

To Whom It May Concern.

The undersigned being now and at all times heretofore, the owner of the business heretofore conducted under the name of McGeagh and Morse, at the south west corner of State and Antrim streets, Charlevoix, Michigan, has taken said business into her sole possession.

Essie G. Morse who has heretofore conducted said business has no interest therein and no right to incur indebtedness nor to collect bills or accounts in relation thereto. All such business has by me been entrusted to my son, James F. McGeagh, he alone is authorized to represent me in any and all transactions relating to the said business, either as regards matters at present unsettled or in the future conduct of the business.

Dated Charlevoix, Michigan, October 31, 1912.

Essie J. Mayberry, nee McGeagh. By James F. McGeagh, her attorney in fact.

—Advertisement. 451f

Strayed or Stolen.

From the premises of Ed Reed, two yearling heifers, both red in color, one with horns and one polled. Anyone having any information in regard to above, notify Ed Reed or R. S. Shapton.—Advertisement. 451f

See that line of ladies' pony coats at Benj. Brown's.—Adv. 441f

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15c first insertion.

FOR SALE—House lot 21/2 furnace, in good condition. Dr. F. H. Wilkinson. 441f

FOR SALE—Three 14x6, store tables, finished and mission style, will sell cheap. Inquire at Palace Clothing Store. 441f

LOST—Friday, Oct. 18, small bill book containing bills. Liberal reward if returned to Miss (Quistad, Clinton street. 431f

LOST—Friday morning, November 1, on N. Wright avenue, a silver watch with crystal cracked. Finder return to Ed. Coburn. Reward. 431f

FAIR FOR SALE—One hundred and six-acre farm three and one-half miles south-west of Bay Shore. Good land, fair house, good barn, windmill, 20 acres cleared. Sylvester Miller, Bay Shore, Mich. 441f

CRANE'S

The Well-Dressed Woman's Winter Coat

Wherever you see it, it possesses good style, careful tailoring, and is made of fine wool fabrics.

It must be comfortable, as well as look comfortable.

If you think such a coat hard to get, look over the new Wooltex coats we show this week.

They represent the highest coinage in the currency of coat values.

Even the plain, simple models have elegance and individuality that show at a glance authentic style, as well as good taste.

Special Values at $15.00

See Window DISPLAY

The Wooltex label is a guarantee of complete satisfaction and of money well spent.

The new winter Wooltex models will convince you.

The Store That Sells Wooltex

The Time Is at HAND TO BUY

Your Winter's Supply of Groceries, Feeds, Fruits and Vegetables

We are headquarters and can save you money; no use sending your money to Chicago when you can do just as well at home. Chicago houses don't help pay your taxes—we do.

Carload of Gold Coin to arrive this week; we will sell by the barrel.

Take advantage for your Winter Supply while the Price is Low. Gold Coin Flour is the best spring wheat flour on the market

We have two cars Refanned Standard Oats we offer at 40c bu

One car Bran we offer at $26.00 per ton

Also a car of fancy Yellow Globe Onions 75c bu

Good Keepers for Winter use. Supply your wants as they will be $1.50 by spring

Hundreds of bushels of Apples from 35c to 40c per bushel

Large stock fancy barreled Apples at low Prices

Rutabagas at 35c bu Cabbage at 50c doz

Winter supply of potatoes at 35c bushel

It will pay you to call and get our prices and examine our goods

S. ORLOWSKI & SON

Prescriptions Require

Pure Drugs, Accurate Compounding and Honest Service. No Substitution. Bring your Prescription to us. We Fill the Requirements.

THE IVY DRUG STORE

REXALL QUICK DELIVERY

MAKING THE LITTLE FARM PAY

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

POUULTY owners will make money during the winter if they observe a few plain rules of management. Indifferent methods of work result in failure. Fowls must be kept healthy, feed bills must not be allowed to equal the income, and there should be a constant weeding out of old and poor stock. Every summer and fall it is necessary to select the most vigorous and promising pullets for winter egg production, and these fowls need to be fed and managed with that end in view.

At this time of the year all cockerels and old hens that are not intended for breeding purposes should be fattened and marketed. The best way of doing this is to put them in clean pens and feed regularly a well balanced ration. The main part of the food should be ground corn and oats, to which may be added bran or shorts, boiled potatoes or almost any other vegetable. Dry food ought to be softened with skim milk or buttermilk.

If a landowner has wheat, barley or rye these grains may be substituted for corn and oats, but when it can be done without great expense or trouble ground corn and oats should be the staples for fattening as well as for egg production. Do not feed whole oats at any time. After the fowls that are to be marketed are placed in the fattening pens it is essential to feed them regularly and abundantly three times a day. Clean water and grit should be constantly supplied. To the diet of grain and vegetables it is well to add a little scrap meat, with some fat.

A greater variety of food is required for egg production. In addition to the grain rations mentioned, it is well to give such articles as millet seed and sunflower seed, with a regular supply of wheat scraps and ground bone. Clover, cabbage and boiled vegetables of all kinds are valuable. Hens make use of old mortar and oyster shells, and it is not difficult to supply such articles. Where a good deal of the food has to be purchased it is feasible to procure stale bread at city bakeries. This is sold at a low figure. Table refuse obtained from hotels and restaurants makes a good diet in itself, but is improved by the addition of grain. Laying hens need exercise and should be let out on every dry day, but never when it is wet. Their housing should be managed with intelligence and care. It is ridiculous to have fowls on damp floors or in drafty rooms. Filth is equally dangerous.

Many flocks of hens are totally ruined by lice and disease. To keep them free of vermin it is necessary to have dusting corners to which they can have access at any time, winter or summer. By using insect powders on the birds and washing roosts and walls with kerosene oil can be conquered.

An acre that will produce $30 worth of corn in a season will with the right kind of care produce from $75 to $100 worth of alfalfa and the ground will be worth more after the hay crop is cut than it will after the corn is harvested.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

CHANGE TO NEW CORN.

Regular Feeders of Steers Approve of Starting Cattle in This Way.

The practice of using new corn for starting cattle in the fall finds favor among regular feeders of steers. But the change from the old, dry, highly nutritious feed, to which the steer has been accustomed, to an entirely different ration—a feed high in moisture content, low in fat and carbohydrates and specially palatable—calls for keen feeding ability, good judgment and skill on the part of the feeder. The individual steer must be dealt with, and the bunch as a whole must be given close attention, as individual feeding pays best.

The steer that has been used to a heating food for some time naturally craves a change to something cooling and succulent. However, at this stage it is not always what a steer likes that causes him to fatten most satisfactorily. Good feeders and herdsmen are often quoted as saying that steers and other animals should be fed what they relish the most, but in changing the food ration from old to new corn many cases would prove very successful. Succulent feeds are seldom eaten in sufficiently large amounts to make rapid growth possible.

Situations often arise when the old corn supply has run low, the cattle market is on the slump, and the prospects of obtaining a fair price on the market are poor. Such circumstances would possibly put a different face on the food problem, and the feeder might find it to his advantage to accept a little shrinkage and less finish in his stock in preference to selling it for the current prices. These conditions will always come as a result of changing to new corn, but heavy shrinkage may be obviated by close attention to details.—Country Gentleman.

Easily Made Buggy Jack.
Few appliances are more convenient than a buggy jack. The one illustrated herewith (the illustration and article are taken from the American Agriculturist) may be made of half inch material in a short time and will save much work.

A couple of uprights two and one-half feet or more long are fastened together at their lower ends by nails and at the top by a bolt. At intervals, as shown, holes are then bored through them for a small bolt to pass. To this bolt a strong wire, say No. 9 or 10, is attached. This wire is engaged in notches on a four foot lever of the same kind and size of wood as the uprights. If the buggy is a very heavy one the lever should be of heavier wood, and if for a wagon it should be longer and the uprights stouter. By moving the pin and the wire the lever may be made to lift a wagon.

Half Holidays.

"No man ought to be asked to work more than eight hours a day," said the reformer.
"Look here," replied Farmer Corn. "Of course you're entitled to your opinion, but you mustn't come around us farmers in the busy season with a proposition to make every day a half holiday."—Washington Star.

Farming still conforms to the definition of Xenophon, written about 400 years before Christ: "Agriculture is an art that renders those who understand it rich, but leaves those who do not understand it, however much they may labor in it, to live in poverty."

PERCHERONS IN THE LEAD.

Far Outnumber All Other Pure Blood Draft Horses in United States.

Figures recently compiled by Wynne Dismore, secretary of the Percheron Society of America, show a material increase in the breeding of the Percheron in the United States in the last two years. To the past the breeding of Percherons of the best possible type has been retarded because of the limited number of breeding animals from which the selections could be made. Progress came after the breeds were well distributed and pure bred animals had become fairly easy to locate in the chief breeding districts.

Percheron mare.

Illinois and Iowa lead the country as breeding districts. These two states contributed 50 per cent of the Percherons recorded. Ohio, Kansas, Nebraska and Indiana are the states next in line and together breed 22.8 per cent of the animals recorded in the time mentioned. Minnesota and Wisconsin follow closely, and Missouri takes an unexpectedly high rank, standing ninth.

Percherons are today the most popular breed of draft horses in the world and far outnumber all the other pure bred draft horses in the United States.

Law Points For the Farmer.

The general rule of law is that it is the duty of the father to support his children and they become of age and that he is entitled to their earnings.

Statutes generally which authorize the establishment of highways are constructed to leave the fee in the landowner unless a contrary intention is plainly shown by the statute.—Bradley versus Crane, 94 N. E. 350.

Where a purchaser has the right to rescind in sale as to any part of the goods sold, and no time is fixed in which to exercise the option it must be exercised within a reasonable time.—Cohen versus Weinstein, 127 N. Y. S. 1013.

A buyer may rescind within a reasonable time after inspection if the article sold does not comply with the seller's representation as to its condition, though the latter has delivered it to a carrier for transportation.—Billmeyer versus Queen Manufacturing Company, Iowa 120 N. W. 115.

Where goods shipped in performance of a contract of sale are inferior in grade and not according to samples the purchaser may rescind the contract and reject the goods within a reasonable time.—Columbia River Packers' Association versus Springfield Grocery Company, Mo. 108 S. W. Rep. 13.

Hinks—Time runs on, eh? Now, what makes time run on? Binks—The spur of the moment, I suppose.

IMPROVEMENT HINTS.

Keep the sidewalks clean in front of well dressed show windows.

An ounce of enterprise is worth a ton of brag when town improvement is at stake.

See that your lawn is well cropped and the fence is kept in repair and well painted.

Plant flowers and trees. Wherever the ground shows bare plant something green in it.

BETTER ROADS AND THE FARMER

Movement Means a Great Deal to Agriculturists.

SAND-CLAY IS VERY GOOD.

This Type of Highway Is Far Cheaper Than Macadam and Usually Brings Splendid Results—Proper Method of Building.

"To the farmer better roads frequently mean the difference between abundance and bankruptcy," said Professor Ernest Flagg Ayres, highway engineer of the Oregon Agricultural college, in a recent lecture. A Wisconsin farmer had 1,000 bushels of potatoes in his cellar, waiting for a good price. He was offered 32 cents in March, but the potatoes must be delivered in town, and the roads were in such condition that it was impossible to haul over them. When the roads finally dried out he took his potatoes to market and got 20 cents a bushel.

"In order to secure the advantages of better transportation facilities it is not necessary that a great deal of money

A good sand-clay road.

he spent on our highways, but what is invested should be used carefully and intelligently. A very few dollars spent at the right time will save repairs costing hundreds.

Mr. Ayres then described in detail the process of construction of the sand-clay road: the initial grading with a proper crown and drainage ditches, the distribution and packing of the clay, spreading of the sand and plowing and harrowing it in, lightly on top. This type of road has given excellent satisfaction in the southern and middle western states, but little work of the sort has as yet been done in the Pacific northwest. There is no question of its value for rural highways, and the saving in expense over other forms of road is no mean item.

"The road must first be graded and drained carefully and should be crowned about one inch to the foot and smoothed with the drag. The road can be greatly improved by adding sand, even if no grading has been done, but the expense will be much greater.

"The sand must be sharp and coarse, but need not be as clean as is required for concrete. The sand should be brought to the road and piled along the shoulders in dry weather. The rains must soften the clay before construction can begin, but the cost of turning is much less when the roads are hard and firm. The cheapest method of improvement is to spread the sand four to six inches deep over the wet clay and let the traffic mix the materials.

Poorly drained sand-clay road.

"Do not assume that your road is a

Tzar Coffee 35¢

You will enjoy the delicious, appetizing flavor of Tzar Coffee. The Tzar Coffee is produced by the blending of the choicest and the scientific Tzar Coffee smooth as aromas de grant. The Coffee will bit to form.

Three more good brands are:
Nero 30¢
Marigold 32¢
Pleasant Valley 40¢

Pleasant Valley 50¢ 60¢
The delicate Pleasant Valley has the fa thousands will please try some

Mrs. B. W. Miller
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

failure because it does not compare favorably with gravel or macadam as soon as the sand is added. Its construction is a gradual process, and the surface will not reach its best condition in less than six months. It is good during the winter and rainy season; if it becomes too dry and dusty during the summer more clay is needed to fill the voids. All that is needed for maintenance is the addition of a little more sand every year and the usual use of the drag.

James Therio, Iron River, Michigan, says of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound: "This winter both my children and I were troubled with bad coughs. We used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it promptly cured us. I can recommend it as a good cough and cold cure." Contains no opiates. Try Drug Store.—Advertisement.

I will show you the finest Indian fur coats ever shown in the city. Benj. Brown.—Advertisement 410

IRRIGATE UNDER GROUND.

System of Distributing Water to Plant Roots Successful in Texas.

One of the most remarkable outgrowths of the era of reclamation in the west is a test that has been made near Midland, Tex., of a system of subirrigation whereby water is fed to the roots of plants well under the ground instead of having it percolate down to them from the surface. The success of such a system would add millions of dollars to the yearly profits of farms throughout the west because of the saving of water in places where it is scarce and the better results to be had in the growth of plants.

Systems of irrigation generally are based on a flow of water in surface ditches fed from surface canals. It has been found, however, that great waste attends this plan both from seepage and evaporation. In localities where water is scarce these factors are of the utmost importance.

Agricultural experts for years have been engaged in an effort to perfect a system of subirrigation. The great difficulty to be met, however, lay in the plunging of the water outlets when pipes were laid underground. It is necessary that these outlets shall at all times be free if the water is to be distributed properly. It is believed that this problem has been solved under the system in operation near Midland.

The experiment has been carried out by wealthy farmers of Kansas, who bought much property in that vicinity. Their plans were greeted humorously, but they went ahead installing their system. They laid concrete pipes two feet under the surface on a large tract. At short intervals in these are inserted pipes having openings the size of a pin hole. Over these holes are laid cups which fit over the pipe in such fashion that only a little room is left for the excess of the water and no room for the entrance of dirt or roots. It has been found that the water from these holes spreads to a distance of more than sixty feet. Good crops have been grown on the land, and farmers who formerly scoffed at the idea are now figuring on installing similar devices.—New York Times.

The contracting company has refused to sign the contract with the city of Passaic, N. J., for the collection of garbage. This means that the city will again, in accordance with the wishes of the majority of the people, do the collection itself. The contracting company stated that the rules of the board of health were so strict that it would be unable to comply with them except at a loss, its bid being $5,000.

A Local Man or Woman

Is desired right now to represent The Pictorial Review in this territory—to call on those whose subscriptions are about to expire. The money for the right person—representatives in some other districts make over $500 a month. Spare time workers are liberally paid for what they do. Any person taking up this position becomes the direct local representative of the publication. Write today for this offer of

PICTORIAL REVIEW
222 W. 39th St., New York City

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cement
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt
Telephone No. 297

The Courier Brightens the Home. Does it yours?

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his premises forty rods east of Ironton Ferry, on

Thursday, November 14, '12

Commencing at one o'clock p.m. the following described property

W. E. BYERS, AUCTIONEER

Horse six years old Horse nine years old Horse eleven years old
Five cows
Ten sheep
One-horse wagon
Work harness
Single harness
Cutter
Top buggy
Churn

National cream separator
Thirty bushel oats
Fifteen bushel buckwheat
Three ton loose hay
Oil stove
Half barrel pickles
Plow
Five-tooth cultivator
Spike tooth cultivator
Forty bushel potatoes
Fifty hens

Coffin dog

Terms of Sale

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00 one year's time on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the People's State Bank of East Jordan. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

H. V. RIFENBERG, PROP.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

Joel Johnston, Clerk

ARMAGEDDON OF THE SCRIPTURES

Startling Presentation of Coming Events.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S VIEWS.

Churches of All Denominations and the Civil Powers of Earth Are About to Unite in Common Cause—Powerful Influence Preparing For the Battle of Armageddon—A Reign of Anarchy Will Be the Result of the Warfare Until the Messiah Takes Control.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 3. — The Brooklyn Academy of Music was crowded to hear Pastor Russell's discourse on the "Battle of Armageddon." His text was: "He gathered them together unto a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon."

(Revelation xvi. 16.) The speaker said Armageddon in the Hebrew signifies the "Hill of Megiddo," or Mount of Destruction. It was famous as a battle field in Old Testament times.

The Lord has seen fit to associate the name Armageddon, with the great controversy between Truth and Error, right and wrong, God and Mammon, with which this age will close, perishing and the New Age of Messiah's glory be ushered in. He has purposely used highly symbolical figures of speech in the last book of the Bible, evidently with a view to hiding certain important truths until the due time for their revelation. But even in the due time, the Bible assures us, "None of the wicked shall understand" (Daniel xii. 9, 10)—none who are out of heart harmony with God—but only the wise of His people—the "wise virgin" class of the Master's parable.

I have long avoided presentation of my understanding of our text and its context—I take it up now by request, and because I believe it is due time to be understood. I disclaim any special inspiration. In some particulars my views agree with those of other Bible students, and in other respects they disagree. Each hearer must use his own judgment, do his own Bible study, and reach his own conclusions.

Kindly remember that I am not responsible for the figures of speech used by the Lord. My interpretations do indeed constitute a terrible arraignment of institutions which we have all revered and which embrace good people of good words and good works. God's saintly people in these various institutions, being comparatively few, are ignored when systems as a whole are dealt with in prophecy.

The Dragon, Beast, False Prophet.

Our context tells us that three impure spirits (teachings) will go forth from the mouths of the Dragon, the Beast and the False Prophet, and these three will be in accord, and symbolical of the doctrines are represented by "frogs." These three doctrines are to have a mighty influence throughout the civilized earth. They are to gather the kings and their armies to the great Battle of Armageddon.

The ecclesiastical kings and princes and their retainers of clergy and faithful adherents, will be gathered in solid phalanx—Protestant and Catholic. The kings and capitals of industry, and as many as can be influenced by them, will be gathered to the same side. The political kings and princes, with all their henchmen and retainers, will follow in line on the same side. The financial kings and merchant princes, and all whom they can influence by the most gigantic power ever yet exercised in the world, will join the same side, according to this prophecy.

These "doctrines of demons," represented by the "frogs," will lead many noble people in this great army to assume an attitude quite contrary to their preference. For a time the wheels of liberty and progress will be turned backward and medieval restraints will be considered necessary for self-preservation—for the maintenance of the present order of things.

In giving this interpretation, it is necessary for us to indicate what is symbolized by the Dragon, the Beast and the False Prophet. Bible students of nearly all denominations agree with us that the "Dragon" of Revelation represents the purely Civil Power. Protestant interpreters generally agree that the "Beast like a leopard" (Revelation xiii. 2) represents the Papacy. But fewer still, we fear, will be ready to support our view that Protestantism is the "Image of the Beast" (Revelation xiii. 15) in our context given another name, "the False Prophet." We urge no one to accept our interpretation, nor shall we think hard of any who refuse it. We will neither slander nor otherwise injure them now, nor threaten them with eternal torture. They have the same right to their views that I have, and the same right to make them known to others. And I, for one, will be very glad to consider any thing which opponents may set forth as their interpretations of our text.

"Unclean Spirits Like Frogs."

The symbolists of Scripture, rightly understood, are always foretelling. When the Holy Spirit used a "frog" to symbolically represent certain doctrines or teachings, we may be sure the true application will fit. A frog has a sage look, a wise it swells itself up in an apparent endeavor to impress the beholder. Its great mouth well represents its evil power, used to croak.

Applying these symbols, we learn that an evil spirit, influence, teaching, will come from the Protestant churches, federated, from the Church of Rome and from the Civil authorities, all in full agreement. The spirit of all will be boastful; an air of superior wisdom and knowledge will be proudly assumed—all will croak in harmony. All will tell of dire results that would follow involving the interests of both the present and the future life, if their counsel be not followed. However conflicting the creeds, the differences will be ignored in the general proposition that nothing ancient must be disturbed, or looked into, or repudiated.

The Divine authority of the Church and the Divine right of kings, aside from the Church, will not be allowed to conflict. Any persons or teachings in conflict with these boastful and unscriptural claims, will be branded as everything vile, as the mouths of these "frogs" speaking from pulpits and platforms and through the religious and secular press. The nobler sentiments of some will be strangled by the philosophy of the same evil spirit which spoke through Calphurn, the high priest, respecting Jesus. As Calphurn declared it expedient to commit a crime in violation of justice, human and Divine, to be rid of Jesus and His teachings, so this "frog" spirit will approve of every violation of principle necessary to their self-protection.

The croaking of these "frog" spirits and doctrines will gather the kings and princes, financial, political, religious and industrial into one great army. The spirit of fear, inspired by the croakings of these "frogs," will arouse the passions of otherwise good and reasonable men to fury, desperation in their blind following of these evil spirits, evil doctrines, they will be ready to sacrifice life and everything on the altar of what they mistakenly suppose is justice, truth and righteousness, under a Divine arrangement.

For a brief time, as we understand the Scriptures, these combined forces of Armageddon will triumph. Free speech, free mails, and other liberties which have come to be the very breath of the masses in our day, will be ruthlessly shut off under the plea of necessity, the glory of God, the commands of the Church, etc. All will seem to be serene, until the great social explosion in our context described as the "great earthquake." An "earthquake," in symbolic language, signifies social revolution, and the declaration of the context is that none like unto it ever before occurred. (Revelation xvi. 18, 19.) Jesus described it as a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation.—Matthew xxiv, 21.

The Lord Will Gather Them.

The false, frog-like teachings will gather together into one host the great rich, the wise, the learned and the kings of the earth, to battle. At the juncture Divine Power will step forward, and our text tells us that "He shall gather the marshaled hosts to Armageddon—to the Mountain of Destruction. The very thing which the sought to avert by their union, federation, etc., will be the very thing that will hasten. Other Scriptures tell us that God will be represented by the Great Messiah, and that He will be on the side of the masses. Thus we read in Daniel xii. 1: "At that time shall Michael (the Godlike One—Messiah) stand up"—assume authority. He will take possession of His Kingdom in a manner little looked for by many of those who erroneously have been claiming that they were His Kingdom and authorized by Him to reign in His name and in His stead.

Jesus declared, "His servants ye are unto whom ye render service." Some may be rendering service to Satan and to error, who claim to be rendering service to God and to righteousness, and some of these may be serving ignorantly, as did Saul of Tarsus, who "verily thought that he did God a service" in persecuting the Church. The same principle holds true reversely. As an earthly king does not hold himself responsible for the moral character of each soldier who fights in his battles, so the Lord does not couch for the moral character of all who will enlist and fight on His side of any question. "His servants they are to whom the render service," whatever the motive or object prompting them.

The same principles will apply in the coming Battle of Armageddon. God's side of that battle will be the people's side, and the very nondescript host of the people, will be pitted at the beginning of the battle. Anarchists, Socialists, and hot-headed radicals of every school of reason and unreason, will be in the forefront of that battle. The majority of the poor and the middle class prefer peace at almost any price. A comparatively small number, God-fearing people, will not heartily be longing for Messiah's Kingdom. These will hide the Lord's time and wait patiently for it; they will be of great courage, knowing the outcome outlined in the "more sure word of prophecy," to which they have done well to take heed, "as unto a light shining in a dark place until the Day dawn"—1 Peter i. 19.

The masses will be restless of their own weakness as compared to the kings and princes, financial, religious and political, which will then hold sway. Besides, the masses have no sympathy with anarchy. They realize truly that the worst form of government is better than none. The masses will seek relief through the ballot and peaceful re-adjustment of earth's affairs for the elimination of evil, for the placing of monopolies and utilities and the supplies of nature in the hands of the people for the public good. The crisis will be reached when the hidden upholders of law shall become violators of the law and resistors of the will of the majority as expressed in the ballot. Fear for the future will lead the well-meaning masses to devastation; and anarchy will result when Socialism fails.

The Cloud's Silver Lining.

Horrible would be this outlook for the future did we not have the infallible Word of God assuring us of a glorious outcome! Divine Wisdom has withheld until our day the great knowledge and skill which is at the same time breeding millionaires and discontent. Had God lifted the veil a thousand years sooner, the world would have lined up for its Armageddon a thousand years sooner. But that would have been too soon for the Divine purpose, because Messiah's Kingdom is to be the great Thousand Year-Sabbath of the world's history. God in kindness veiled our eyes until the time when the gathering to Armageddon would immediately precede Messiah's taking to Himself His great power, and beginning His reign.—Revelation xi, 17, 18.

"Send Them Strong Delusions."

St. Paul wrote prophetically of our time, that it would be one of serious trial and testing to many professing to be Christians. The reason for this he states—they received not the Truth in the love of it. (1 Thessalonians ii. 10, 11.) They preferred their own erroneous theories, the Apostle explains, and therefore God will give them over to a "strong delusion," and let them believe the lie which they preferred, and let them suffer for missing the Truth which they did not love. Thus they will be in the condemned host, "fighting against God," because of their lack of love for the Truth.

It is sad to say that we all as Christians have been laboring under a thorough delusion respecting God's Plan. We have claimed that Christ set up His Church in Kingdom power, and that the Church has been reigning on the earth as His representative. On the strength of this delusion, Jews and heretics have been persecuted to death as opponents to Christ's Kingdom. At the while we thoughtlessly repeated the Lord's prayer: "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth, as in Heaven." We knew that the Redeemer said that He would come again to make us His bride and joint-heirs; but we ignored the Scriptures. We were drunk, as the Scriptures symbolically say, "all nations were drunk," with the false doctrine. It is this false doctrine that will constitute the "frog" spirit which soon will begin to croak and prepare for Armageddon.

The Bible presentation is that the world is a section of the universe in rebellion against Divine authority, under the captivity of Satan and his associated fallen angels. By Divine grace Jesus has already "tasted death for every man," and the merit of that sacrifice must, eventually, grant Adam and his posterity a full, fair opportunity for the attainment of everlasting life. All who thus see the Divine program and are walking in the light may know something at least respecting the "time and seasons." These brethren are not in darkness, that that day which that battle of Armageddon should overtake them "as a thief in the night."

Armageddon Not Yet but Soon.

For forty years the Armageddon forces have been mustering for both sides of the conflict. Strikes, lockouts and riots, great and small, have been merely incidental skirmishes as the belligerent parties crossed each other's paths. Court and Army scandals in Europe, Insurance, Trust and Court scandals in America, have shaken public confidence. Dynamite plots, charged by turns on employees and on employers, have further shaken confidence and tended to make each distrustful of the other. Bitter and angry feelings on both sides are more and more manifest. The lines of battle are daily becoming more distinctly marked. Nevertheless Armageddon cannot yet be fought. Other matters intervene according to prophecy.

Gentle times have still two years to run. The "Image of the Beast" of our context must yet receive life—power. The Image must be transformed from a mere mechanism to a living force. Protestant Federation realizes that its organization will still be futile unless it receive vitalization—unless its clergy directly or indirectly shall be recognized as possessed of apostolic ordination and authority to teach. This prophecy indicates will come from the two horned Beast, which, we believe symbolically represents the Church of England. High-handed activities of Protestantism and Catholicism, overtlog in conjunction for the suppression of human liberties, await this vivifying of the Image. This may come soon, but Armageddon cannot precede it, but must follow—perhaps a year after it, according to our view of the Prophecy.

Still another thing intervenes: Although the Jews are gradually flowing into Palestine, gradually obtaining control of the land of Canaan, and although reports say that already nine-tenth millionaires are there, nevertheless prophecy requires an evidently larger number of wealthy Hebrews to be there before the Armageddon crisis be reached. Indeed we understand that "Jacob's trouble" in the Holy Land will come at the very close of Armageddon. "The Messiah's Kingdom will begin to be manifested. Thenceforth Israel in the land of promise will gradually rise from the ashes of the past to the grandeur of prophecy. Through its divinely appointed prince Messiah's Kingdom, all-powerful but invisible, will begin to rob away the curse and to lift up mankind.

Antiquity of Wood Engraving.

Wood engraving, the art of cutting designs on wood in relief, is said to have been known and practiced by the Chinese as far back in the world's history as the reign of the famous Emperor Wu Yang, 1120 B. C.

PREPARE

For the long Winter Evenings by laying in a supply of

READING MATTER

Let Us Figure With You. We can Save You Money on any Magazine or Paper Published in connection with

THE COURIER

Charlevoix County's Leading Newspaper

Every Week the Courier prints more news from all parts of Charlevoix County, furnished us by our big corps of correspondents than all the other Papers published in Charlevoix County combined. Besides this you get the News of the County Seat. All for

$1.50 Per Year

Here are a few of our combination Prices

Courier	$1.50 per year
Grand Rapids Press	$2.00 per year
ON RURAL ROUTES
Michigan Farmer	$1.00 per year
Total	$4.50 per year
Our Price	$3.25 per year
A Saving of	$1.25 per year

We have been trying to get a daily at a low price for our city subscribers as well as those on rural routes and at last are able to offer one of the best in the state at a remarkably low price both to City and Rural Subscribers.

Courier and Detroit Times

New Subscribers to Times $3.00 yr

Courier and Detroit Times

Renewals to Detroit Times $3.25 yr

Hundreds of other as attractive offers. Subscribe Now.

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

ROYAL BAKING POWDER ABSOLUTELY PURE

Cooking under modern methods and conveniences is made so attractive the whole family is becoming interested.

"These biscuits are delicious; this cake is excellent," says the father. "I made them," says the daughter, and both father and daughter beam with pleasure.

Royal Baking Powder has made home baking a success, a pleasure and a profit, and the best cooking today the world over is done with its aid.

Grange Column

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange No. 507 met in regular session October 23, 1912 with a very good attendance. Two applications were presented for membership. One candidate was found wanting and was obligated in the first and second degrees.

Lecturer's program consisted of songs, readings and recitation. For good of the order the motion was made and carried that there be an old fashioned masquerade dance at the hall on Saturday evening, November 2, 1912, just for a good time. Music and supper to be given free.

Report was given that brother Lewis is improving. Committees were also appointed for getting hay for horses at Pomona. Grange closed to meet again in two weeks.

Headquarters for Four Brothers famous axle grease—the only place in town to get it and its best kind. Frank Chamberlin—Advertisement.

Charlevoix Grange.

Charlevoix grange will meet Monday evening November 12. All members are requested to be present.

There was a large attendance at our last meeting. The program as announced was carried out. Several visitors were present and light refreshments were served.

The following program will be given at the next meeting:

Opening song.

Roll call, responded to by each member naming one thing the grange has accomplished in its 15 years experience.

Talk on National grange. Glenn M. DuBois.

Recitation, Malida Volter.

Song, Mrs. Martha Dutton and Mrs. Mary Crandell.

Talk on Teachers' convention at Grand Rapids.

Recitation, Florence Meggison.

Ladies' line fur coats from $25.00 to $55.00 at Benj. Brown's—Adv. 411

Rubber Roofing
Save Money

This Certificate of Quality pasted on each roll of Certain-teed Roofing, is for your protection, and costs you no more. It safeguards you against paying double the price, and insures your buying the highest quality and most durable roofing made.

If you want to replace any kind of an old, worn out, leaky roof, or lay a new one, you will find Certain-teed Roofing the most economical and durable roof covering you can buy. It comes in rolls, easy to lay, absolutely weather-proof.

Call and see us—examine this wonderfully durable, roofing for yourself—you will be surprised at the low prices we can quote and the money we can save you.

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Farm and Garden

KILL FRUIT TREE PEST.

Slugs Must Be Destroyed if You Expect Crop of Cherries or Plums.

Nearly every year cherry and plum trees in Iowa suffer a large amount of damage on account of the common pear slug or cherry slug. While the control of this insect has not been considered a very difficult problem, yet it often happens that foliage is greatly damaged before the owner is aware that any slugs are on his trees.

The summary of a bulletin on the work of the slug, issued by the Iowa State College of Agriculture, says that the pear slug or cherry slug is a dark almost black, slimy slug, about two fifths of an inch long when full grown which feeds on cherry, pear and plum leaves.

These slugs feed on the upper sides of the leaves, eating out all the tissue except the veins and the lower surface. The injured leaves become dry and brown and fall from the trees, which

Photograph by Iowa State College of Agriculture

CHERRY LEAF INJURED BY THE PEAR SUGO are sometimes left entirely bare of foliage in midsummer. Trees are often killed as a result of repeated defoliation. A short crop of fruit follows a severe attack by this insect, on account of the weakened condition of the tree. The slugs appear twice during the year, and trees should be sprayed as soon as they appear. In central Iowa the slugs appear, first, about the middle of June; second, about the third week in July.

Insect powder can be used against these slugs by merely dusting it over the leaves. Hellebore may be used either in a dry or a liquid form. It must be fresh for effective use. For a dry application use hellebore, one pound to five pounds of air slaked lime. For a liquid application use it one pound to a barrel of water. Lead arsenite (prepared), two pounds in fifty gallons of water, was effective.

Paris green, a pound in 150 gallons of water, was also effective. Some quicklime, about a pound to each fifty gallons of water, should be added to the spray to prevent burning of the leaves. Kerosene emulsion containing 10 per cent of kerosene was effective. Whale oil soap, a pound to two gallons of water; white laundry soap and good white soap, one ten ounce bar to two gallons of water, were effective. The soap is merely dissolved in water by boiling and sprayed while still warm.

Hellebore, lead-arsenate and paris green are the least expensive of these treatments. If a spraying is necessary while there is fruit on the trees hellebore or some other material than an arsenical should be used.

Cultivation under infested trees is of value since it disturbs the cocoons in the soil there.

PESTS ON THE SWEET POTATO

Arsenical Poisons Found Best in Dealing With Beetles and Cutworms.

The sweet potato crop is subject to more or less serious injury from insect pests. All of the really injurious species attack the plants in the early stages of their growth in the field. This is usually some time after the middle of May. The danger period lasts until the plants have taken hold and have begun to grow vigorously. In recent years the tendency has been to risk frost in early fall and plant late.

One of the most troublesome insects is the sweet potato beetle. It is about one-sixteenth of an inch long and has a brassy brown coat.

These beetles chew out narrow grooves or channels on either the upper or under side of the leaves. These channels are at first close to and parallel with some of the principal veins. If the weather happens to be dry and hot the entire plant will probably die.

To destroy this insect an application of arsenical poison may be used. The simplest plan is to dip the plants before setting in a mixture of one pound

SEE MY LINE OF FUR COATS

Men's Fur Coats
Ladies' Fur Coats
Fur trimmed Coats

I have the Largest and most complete line ever shown in the city. Have bought direct from the Fur Dressers and will undersell any Mail Order House. It will be a pleasure to compare prices at any time.

Men's Fur Coats
$15.00 to $50.00

Men's Fur Trimmed Coats
$15.00 to $25.00

Ladies' Fur Trimmed Coats
$25.00 to $65.00

Benj. Brown

Hard Coal in Ton Lots $8.75 per Ton

On account of it being impossible to get Chestnut Coal shipped to Charlevoix at any price, I have purchased a car of Stove and a car of No. 2 Chestnut Coal, which mixed, will make as good coal to burn as the regular Chestnut. This coal is high grade and being in sizes of less demand, makes it possible to get a shipment here.

The wholesale price of Chestnut Coal is quoted at $8.25, F. O. B. Charlevoix and is being retailed from $9 to $10 all over the state. The present selling price of Chestnut Coal in Charlevoix is $9 or better and no supply on hand at that. This mixed grade of coal I offer will be

The Cheapest Hard Coal to be bought in Charlevoix this Winter

Now is the time to get in your Winter's supply. This shipment will amount to about 80 ton, and will be disposed of to those first placing their orders with me. Get busy or you will have to pay a higher price for your supply.

I have also about 40 ton of high grade Hocking Valley re-screened domestic lump Soft Coal at $5.00 per ton.

Above Prices Are For Cash Only

H. C. McCARTNEY

Phone 221

Charlevoix, Michigan

Repairing

It is an important feature of our business. Don't Forget Though That We Have

Silverware

at very attractive prices. Come in and see our beautiful line of everything carried by Jewelers.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

Endorses Stock Show.

The Hon. Eugene Davenport, in a recent interview, expressed himself as follows, relative to the International Live Stock Exposition, which will, this year, be held from November 30 to December 7.

"It is a mistake to suppose that the promotion of agriculture interests and affects only farmers. The truth of the matter is that other people are more interested and more affected by agricultural progress than are the farmers themselves. Along the line of live stock husbandry the greatest public need is that the common man should be made acquainted with the products of good animal products at a reasonable price. It is a simple proposition when reduced to its lowest terms, but to secure these products at a reasonable price means that every man specializing in live stock must employ every device known, and discover many more not known to improve the quality of his product as well as to lessen the cost of production. To this end, no single agency bears greater results than the bringing together each year of the International Live Stock Exposition, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, specimens of the best cattle, horses, hogs and sheep that the world has been able to produce. Such a gathering takes place this fall and not only farmers but men in all kinds of business enterprise in the community should support and attend the nation when reduced to its lowest terms."

Meatbeers.

"Meatbeers" was so nervous and "fidgety" about his works that when they were in course of preparation or rehearsal or performance he never gave himself or any one else concerned a moment's peace of mind. He was constantly making changes or alterations in the score and would sometimes write a passage in three or four different colored inks, in order to try the different effects, and then could not make up his mind which was the best. He worried over his opera "L'Alceste" so long, delaying, retouching and polishing, even while it was in rehearsal, that the self-imposed labor made him ill, and he died before the first public performance.

Ghost Journals.

There are over thirty periodicals devoted to ghosts, visions and the supernatural generally.

This is the Stove Polish YOU Should Use

Black Silk Stove Polish.

Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish.

Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware dealers.

Use it on your cook stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money.

Black Silk Stove Polish is made in liquid or paste—one quality.

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH WORKS

Stirling, Illinois

The Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel on grates, registers, stove pipes, freestanding stoves, etc., is the best stove polish for silver, nickel or brass. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

Get a Can TODAY

CORRESPONDENCE

IRONTON.

"Investments of courtesy pay the largest dividends."

"The smaller courtesies sweeten life, the greater ennoble it."

The Aid society at Mrs. Ogden's last week was well attended.

Mrs. Taggart of Charlevoix, visited the Ironton school Friday.

There is a week old baby boy at Mr. and Mrs. Dolezalek's home.

"Difficulties strengthen the mind, as well as labor does the body."

Mrs. Trimble of Cheboygan has been visiting Hugh King and wife.

Harry Coblenz and family visited relatives across the lake this week.

Mr. J. Saunders and wife visited at Mr. W. Johnson's Sunday evening.

Frank Hammond, John Brock and Charles Coblenz, are going deer hunting Friday.

We are very glad to report that Miss Sadie Hammond is convalescing after a week of illness.

"There is a courtesy of the heart, it is allied to love. From it springs the purest courtesy in outward behavior."

Leyron, Harlin and Katherine McGinn, Clara and Ida Nowland and Arlie Smith, took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham Sunday.

Charles Myers and Miss Hilda Myers were visiting in Charlevoix Saturday, and Hilda's friend, Marjorie Myers, returned with them to spend Sunday.

The residence of Hugh King caught fire around the chimney one day recently. Luckily they extinguished the blaze before much damage was done.

The Literary society will hold an evening entertainment at the school house Friday evening this week at 7 o'clock standard. A small admission will be charged for the benefit of the school.

There was a very large attendance at church Sunday. Mr. Taggart preached from Paul's words of praise, "Thee," and showed effectively the need of giving praise, where it is due and at the opportune moments.

Mr. Hiram Steele, 628 N. 6th St., Terre Haute, Indiana, writes: "I came down with a severe case of kidney trouble. I had to get up too often at night, there was pain and much sediment, puff under my eyes, back pained terribly, and I was dizzy. Foley Kidney Pills cured me quickly, and I feel 100 per cent better." Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

CLARION.

G. T. Grill spent Sunday at Petoskey.

J. E. Darrach went to Alba on Monday.

O. V. Hally and wife returned Thursday to Petoskey.

W. O. Wheeler has sold his farm to Mr. Bray of Petoskey.

C. E. Johnson of Pellston spent Sunday with his parents.

A. J. Crago returned last week from the upper peninsula.

There will be a lunking bee at M. Collins' Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Detwiler of Pellston were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hufford on Sunday.

There will be a "Music" social at the home of Mrs. W. H. Ransom of Walloon Lake on Friday evening.

The Ladies Aid will give a musical guessing contest at the home of Mrs. J. A. Johnson on Tuesday evening.

Rev. H. G. Kennedy has closed his special meetings at Resort, and will commence special meetings here next week. He will be assisted by Rev. Mr. Lamport of Nancecloun.

Mrs. Frank Jones for many years a resident of Walloon Lake, died at her home on Sunday night. She leaves a husband, a son, Elmer, and a daughter, Mrs. Grace Morgan of Petoskey to whom are extended the sympathy of their many friends here. The funeral will be held at the Walloon Lake C. B. church on Wednesday afternoon.

ATWOOD.

Anticipation.

Oh dear, I'm so tired.

The roar is over and the democrats have it. Wait awhile.

Rev. Berry has taken a two weeks' vacation. Sunday school at 11:00 a. m. Sunday next.

We understand that Mr. Albert Myers has entered the employ of John H. Smith & Sons of Central Lake and will move there this week. So there goes another.

Mr. Henry Blow has rented his farm to John DeYoung and will live in the quiet little town of Eastport.

Uncle Henry thinks lots of the "port." So goes the fourth.

On Thursday evening a supper was given the Vissor family to remind them that they will not be forgotten while they reside in the city of Grand Rapids. Still another goes.

Will Myers and family moved to Charlevoix on Monday last. Last Wednesday evening the house and farm was jammed full of people. Mr. and Mrs. Myers will ever remember the occasion. Good-bye, until sometime.

WILSON.

Samuel Richardson is very homesick.

Mrs. Prudence Smith visited at George Todd's Sunday.

O. D. Smith is spending a few days with his brother Frank of Grand Rapids.

Peter Zonick and family visited with Mrs. Zonick's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Tondsky Sunday.

A good attendance at the grange dance last Saturday evening. A nightcap social is held for November 16 and a dance Thanksgiving eve.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Charlevoix Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that

Backache pains often come from weak kidneys.

"I would save much needless wear. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys."

Read what a Charlevoix citizen says:

Mrs. M. Olney, 310 W. Huron street, Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a valuable kidney remedy. I have used them several times for kidney complaint and severe backaches and have been greatly benefited. Other members of the family have used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ivy Drug Store, and have had good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMullen Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Advertisement.

Twinges of rheumatism, backache, stiff joints and shooting pains all show your kidneys are not working right. Urinary irregularities, loss of sleep, nervousness, weak back and sore kidneys tell the need of a good reliable kidney medicine. Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and restorative. They build up the kidneys and regulate their action. They will give you quick relief and contain no habit forming drugs. Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

NORTH BAY.

Fred Priebe is very poorly and his wife is at the hospital yet.

Iva North was home Saturday, returning to her school Sunday.

Laura Voelker is again attending the Normal at Petoskey this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kunkle moved on their farm in Hayes township last week.

Louise Bathke came home from the hospital Sunday where she has been nearly five weeks.

William Bewell and family, and Mrs. Dillworth of Horton Bay visited Mr. and Mrs. John Priebe Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Maier, 327 N. 6th St., Springfield, Illinois, says her kidney trouble resulted from an operation: "From then until I used Foley Kidney Pills I did not know what a well day was. Then my backache left me, that tired dragged down feeling was gone, I slept sound and awake refreshed. I had no more headache or dizzy spells. Safe and sure. Try them. Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

Call Up 125

and let us convince you that we appreciate

Your Patronage

By the service we give

QUALITY AND PRICES

That Cannot Be Beat

Van Allsburg's Market

Corner Antrim and State Streets

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

The meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held last Friday afternoon with Mrs. William Wallace Sr., was largely attended. It was not a pleasant day by any means, but the hostess must have felt that we all wanted to be there to come on such a day and in such full force. Indeed there was a large attendance of members even for a good day.

The topic, "Dangerous Medicines or Intemperance in Disguise," was ably handled by Miss Agnes Rodgers, Superintendent of Medical Temperance. Several of the patent medicines were exposed as dangerous, among them Terina and Paine's Celery Compound.

The "prize banner" which the Charlevoix union now holds, for the largest gain in membership of any union in the district was displayed. We don't know whether we will succeed in retaining it longer than the next district convention or not, but we can try. The next convention is to be held in Charlevoix. The good news that equal suffrage has carried in Michigan was gladly received. Probably it will not bring the millennium immediately, but we feel sure that the ballot in the hands of good women, will help in that direction.

A communication from our mayor to the W. C. T. U. was read, which leads us to feel that he is on the right track, and the W. C. T. U. of Charlevoix appreciate the fact and mean to stand back of him in his every effort to make our city safer and better for both young and old.

The picnic supper, which was so abundant was enjoyed by all. About $300 being the proceeds from it, which will help out the treasury funds.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

SCHOOL REPORTS

COUNTY NORMAL.

(George Hamilton.)

On Monday afternoon of last week a class meeting was held and the class colors and flower were chosen. A number of suggestions were given for a class motto, but no choice was made.

Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Milford called at the Normal room on his way to the north woods, where he expects to spend some time hunting.

Miss Holmes and Miss Whiting returned from the Teachers' State Institute and reported a very enjoyable as well as a profitable time. The concert was the best ever given at an Institute and words could not express the beauty and power of Schumann-Heink's voice while her personality was so wonderful that it seemed to pervade the entire auditorium.

Last week a very interesting letter was received from Mrs. Harry Clark thanking us for the suggestions for the name for her farm.

On Tuesday of the past week the class held an election using the instruction ballot. Mr. DeVoe, also gave some instructions in the way to vote, and in the afternoon the class visited the polls and saw a number of people cast their votes.

Miss Edith Todd, class of '12, called at the Normal room Wednesday of last week.

Last week an interesting letter was received from Miss Grace Hamilton, class of '08, who is teaching the French school two miles west of Petoskey.

C. H. S. NOTES.

(Bessie Allen)

The English III classes have begun the study of Irving's, "Tales of a Traveler."

Mrs. Richard Lewis visited school Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Carpenter brought a new foot ball to the team when he returned from Grand Rapids.

We greatly miss Helen Armstrong from our midst and hope that she will soon recover and be back with us.

We have passed another critical point, the second month's exams. Still some of us are still wearing a hunted look waiting for the final report card to be handed us.

Will Poole was out helping the foot ball boys in their practice one night last week.

We had supposed that the days of wild Indians and brave warriors were at an end, but evidently not, for who should come walking into the room the other noon, but a number of queer looking mortals all decorated in their war paint and ready to go on the war path. Wonder if the "Freshies" could inform us as to who these queer looking objects of human nature were.

The chicken pie supper was a big success and the returns were even better than we had expected. The only regret which we have to offer is that we did not have quite enough pies.

In the foot ball game which was played Saturday on the home grounds, Charlevoix was victorious in a score of 13 to 0.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in the Courier ad.

Have you thought about your winter's reading? Read our clubbing offer in

C. ROSS BROWNELL
TEACHER OF
PIANO AND THE SINGING VOICE
Fourteen Years Experience
Nelson-Sherwood Technique
Mathews Graded Course of Studies
in ten Grades
Classes limited to Twenty
Permanent Studio 301 State Street
B. W. Miller House
In Charlevoix Mondays-Tuesdays

A Local Man or Woman

Is desired right now to represent The Pictorial Review in this territory—to call on those who subscriptions are about to expire. Big money for the right person. Representatives in some other districts make over $5000 a month. Spare time workers are liberally paid for what they do. Any person taking up this position becomes the direct local representative of the publication. Write today for this offer of

PICTORIAL REVIEW
222 W. 39th St. New York City

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Stamps and Plans on Short Notice
VAN PELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Accountant at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. E. SHANAHAN
Accountant at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Over Levinson's Store
Van Pelt Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in Van Pelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 622; residence 653r.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. H. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store, telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. E. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. Lefebvre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6. Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

Farm Dairying

Jersey Cow Double Time

IX.—Milk, Cheese and Cream.

By LAURA ROSE,
Demonstrator and Lecturer in Dairying
at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Canada

(Copyright, 1911, by A. C. McElroy & Co.)
WHILE it is necessary for the patron supplying milk or cream for buttermaking purposes to send a first class quality, a still greater responsibility rests on the patron of the cheese factory. For buttermaking, pasteurization may be and is resorted to to check objectionable bacterial growth and drive off bad flavors, but this is impossible in cheesemaking. The cheesemaking process is one which lends itself to the multiplication of evils if they have already a beginning in the milk. A can of bad milk will spoil all that of fifty other patrons, lower the price of the cheese and injure the reputation of the maker.

Special provision should be made on the farm for quickly cooling the milk to 45 degrees F. or lower and keeping it at that temperature overnight and for lowering it to 50 degrees F. and sustaining that temperature when it is held over Sunday. Depend on nothing but a correct thermometer for ascertaining temperatures. Ice is almost a necessity in order to care properly for Saturday night's and Sunday's milk.

Milk intended for cheesemaking should not have over 20 per cent acid when delivered to the factory. It usually does not smell or taste sour until it contains from 30 to 35 per cent, and then it is quite unfit for cheesemaking. The cheesemaker uses the acidimeter, and we should abide by his decision.

The Milk House.
The dairy farm should have a milk house. It may be built of wood or of concrete. It should be a tank large and deep enough to hold cans containing at least two milkings and a six inch space around them for water. There should be an outlet pipe near the top to allow the water as it comes warm to be carried away in order to keep down the temperature of the milk. An outlet at the bottom is necessary that the tank may occasionally be emptied and cleaned.

If there is a windmill at the well a large tank should be provided, and from it piping should be laid to supply the smaller tank with water. If there is no windmill the milk house should be built near the well. Be sure to make a proper drain to carry away the surplus water. Keep everything tidy.

A windlass is convenient to raise and lower the cans into the tank. Also have some contrivance to do the lifting at the milk stand. Have a track laid from the milk house to the stand and a car or truck for carrying cans.

Warm milk should not be mixed with that already cooled, if it can be avoided. If at all possible it should be sent in separate cans. If it is necessary to mix night's and morning's milk the best plan is to cool the morning's milk also. If there be not time to do this the evening's milk should be cooled to at least 40 degrees. It is quite possible to have excellent milk delivered by this last method where cleanliness is observed and the night's milk well cooled.

Cooling the milk immediately after or during milking with as little exposure to the air as possible and putting the lids on the cans is recommended. Where ice or cold water cannot be obtained or where a can of milk has to be left in a place where water and ice cannot be conveniently used, a wet cloth—preferably flannel—wrapped around the can is an aid in keeping the milk cool. Have one end of the cloth immersed in a pail of water.

Under no condition should chemicals be used for preserving the milk. They completely upset the process of cheesemaking.

Whey should not be returned in the cans unless it has been heated to 155 degrees F. in the factory tanks. The cans going to and from the factory should be covered with canvas to keep out the dust and heat. Needless to say the cans must be well washed and scalded.

Remember, the better the milk is cared for on the farm, the less milk it takes at the factory to make a pound of cheese and superior will be the quality of the cheese.

There are two general methods of obtaining cream from milk—the gravity system, making use of the shallow pan or the deep can, and the centrifugal system, employing the cream separator. The former is the older and is now little used.

Where the creaming is carefully done the skim milk from pans will not contain over 3 per cent butter fat, but usually it tests much higher. The cream may contain from 15 per cent to 40 per cent fat.

Many farmhouses have no suitable room in which to set milk. It is often put in a cellar which is close and musty and serves as a storage place for roots, fruit, etc., or is kept in the pantry off the kitchen and absorbs odors. Pans should be set in a clean, well ventilated room where the temperature ranges from 50 to 60 degrees.

Avoid having the milk close to the wall or in a strong draft, so as not to have a leathery coat form, due to rapid evaporation. The pans are better covered with heavy, clean paper, if possible, after the milk has cooled.

The milk should stand from twenty-four to forty-eight hours before being skimmed, but should not be congealed.

How to Skim Milk.

To skim the cream from the sides of the pan with a thin bladed knife, lift the pan to the edge of the cream can, tilt it to allow a little of the skim milk to wet the edge of the pan, then with the aid of the knife quickly glide the sheet of cream over the cream can. Do not use the old fashioned perforated skimmer.

This system has many advantages:—a great surface of the milk exposed to atmospheric contamination; the milk liable to become too acid for domestic and feeding purposes; the cream elutriated and overripe; the skim milk completely a large space necessary for the pans and much labor involved.

Deep Pans.—A water tight box or barrel for holding the deep pans will do as effective work as an expensive cabinet creamer, but there should be room for plenty of ice. It is economy to have ice always in the water and just as necessary to use it in winter as in summer. To do good creaming the water should not be above 15 per cent in summer, and it is better to have it still lower in winter. To maintain this temperature it is necessary to put in a good supply of ice unless one is fortunate in having a very cold running spring handy.

The warm milk should be immediately strained into the cans and the cans lowered into the water, which should reach as far up as the milk.

The cans usually are eighteen to twenty inches high and eight inches in diameter. We prefer a slant bottom can with a tap to draw off the milk. The slant carries away any sediment and permits the removal of all the skim milk.

Cans without a tap—called the shot gun cans—should be skimmed with a funnel shaped dipper, having a long straight handle and no wire around the rim. It is best to loosen the cream from the sides of the can with a knife, then wet the dipper in milk or water and lower it point first into the can, allowing the cream to flow evenly into

ORDER OF MISSOURI CHIEF JOSEPHINE, WORLD'S PRIZE COW (Bore in six months 17500 pounds milk; in one day, 1000 pounds milk; average for 10 days, 110 gallons)

the dipper. Repeat until all the cream is removed, being careful not to take too much skim milk with it.

Deep Setting System.

Milk should always set twenty-four hours before the skim milk is drawn, and thirty-six hours in winter is better. Milk allowed to stand only twelve hours before skimming will yield a larger volume of cream, but it will test low (from 15 to 20 per cent), while the skim milk may test as high as from 6 to 1 per cent and over, especially if the water has not been cold. In twelve hours the smallest of the fat globules have not had time to rise to the top and so pass off in the skim milk and become, like the prodigal son of oil, feeders of waste. When the milk is allowed to stand twenty-four hours the cream will test from 18 to 25 per cent and the skim milk from 2 to 4 per cent, or, in other words, we have in the case of the longer setting a richer cream and less loss of fat in the skim milk, two desirable results in creaming milk.

Butter made from cream from the deep setting system is usually of good quality, as the cream is always at a low temperature, which is unfavorable for the development of bad flavors. The disadvantages are the heavy lifting of the cans, the storing and handling of ice and the heating of the skim milk for the young stock.

The only thin water may be advantageously added to milk is when the cows have been a long time in milk and the milk is viscous and rich in solids. Then a small amount of hot water will help. If the milk has a strong food flavor, such as tarps give, a pint of boiling water put in the shallow pan as the milk is strained in helps to some extent to drive off the flavor.

Another objection to the gravity system has been instituted in Cornell, N. Y. The work is done under the direction of the board of health. One of the six wards of the city will be covered on Friday

CUT-PRICE SALE

Commencing Saturday, Nov. 16 and Ends Saturday, Nov. 23

We offer at Cut-Prices our entire stock of merchandise for the one week. This is at a time of the year when our stock is the largest and most complete. The cut-prices we offer will be a big saving for you right at the start of the winter season. We only quote a few of the many bargains we offer. Remember this cut-price sale lasts from November 16th to November 23rd. Cut-price Sale is on seasonable goods.

Ladies' Coats

Ladies' Coats in grey, brown or blue chinchilla, new collar effect, the best $15 coat we have in stock. Cut-price sale..... $8.98

Ladies' Skirts

Ladies' Skirts, navy blue or black, in heavy weight serge made in the latest effect, regular $6 skirts. Cut-price sale..... $3.98

Outing Flannel

Heavy weight Outing Flannel, variety of colors including white, every where at 10c. Cut-price sale..... 8 1/2c

Calico

Best grade 7c Calico, grey, blue, black, light colors. Cut-price sale..... 5c

House Dresses

Ladies' House Dresses, a large assortment to pick from, regular $1.50 value. Cut-price sale..... 98c

Serge

Heavy weight, all wool Storm Serge in navy blue, black and brown, 54 inch wide, $1.25 grade. Cut-price sale, per yard..... 98c

Silkoline

12 1/2c grade Silkoline, a large assortment of patterns. Cut-price sale..... 8 1/2c

Sweaters

Children's Sweaters in grey, red or white, button front, $1.50 grade. Cut-price sale..... 98c

Ladies' $3.00 Sweaters, large assortment of styles. Cut-price sale..... $3.48

During this Cut-price sale we will sell Coat's Thread at 4 cents a spool

Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suits

Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suits in heavy weights, including navy blue, grey and brown, all new stock, the best $20 men's suits made. Cut-price sale..... $13.98

Underwear

Men's heavy weight Wool Fleece Underwear, sold everywhere at 50c a garment. Cut-price sale..... 39c

Heavy fleeced lined Children's Underwear, all sizes. Cut-price sale..... 19c

Overshirts

Men's All Wool Overshirts, grey only, all sizes, a bargain at $1.50. Cut-price sale..... 98c

Overcoats

Men's Overcoats, in plain, black or fancy, a bargain at $15. Cut-price sale..... $8.98

Blankets

Extra size Blankets in grey, white or tan, $1.75 value. Cut-price sale..... $1.19

Stockings

Children's Heavy Fleece Stockings, all sizes, regular 15c grade. Cut-price sale..... 9c

Bearskin

Bearskin by the yard, grey, navy, red and brown, 54 inch wide, regular, $2.50 grade. Cut-price sale..... $1.48

Boys' Suits

Boys' Winter Suits, all sizes, two piece, knickerbocker pants, regular $6. Cut-price sale..... $3.48

M. A. Levinson & Co.

Van Pelt Block

Charlevoix

The Winter Number of the Pictorial Review Quarterly is now on Sale at our Pattern Counter

Price - 20c

Including any 15c Pattern

BERGEON'S

Dry Goods Store

The Charlevoix Courier
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year..... $1.50
One copy, six months..... .75
One copy, three months..... .40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge societies and
entertainments, where admission is
charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary notices, regular rates.
Card of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class mail.

EDUCATIONAL VALUE

Of International Fat Stock Show to Every Breeder and Farmer.

This great Show will be held from November 30 to December 7 at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago. The entries are greater than ever before, the quality of the stock better, and the interest among farmers, breeders and feeders keener than at any previous time.

It may be interesting to state that the International Live Stock Exposition, from a comparatively small beginning, twelve years ago, has assumed such importance in the stock world, as to render its annual

Rubber Roofing

The roof that outlasts all other roofs on the roof

Certain-teed Roofing has two big advantages—two good substantial reasons why you, too, should use it in the future. First of all it costs less than other styles of roofing and best of all it is easy to lay, weatherproof, windproof, rainproof and guaranteed to wear 15 years.

The sale of Ready Roofing is jumping up by leaps and bounds
—the sale has actually doubled every year for the last five years —and this season more Ready-to-lay Roofing will be sold than ever before.

Here is the secret—the real reason why Certain-teed Rubber Roofing is crowding out all other styles of roof coverings—farmers, dairymen, poultrymen and stock breeders find it costs less, lasts longer and can be laid for less money.

We have it in stock ready for instant delivery—Certain-teed Rubber Roofing, the big money saver. There is only one way you can find out just how much we can save you—and that is to call at your earliest convenience, get our lowest prices and examine this wonderfully durable guaranteed roofing for yourself. See us at once.

Charlevoix
Hardware Co.

RELIABILITY RUNS MAKE GOOD ROADS

Stimulate Interest in Counties Through Which They Have Passed.

Reports Made by Men Who Participated Show Defects in the System.

The reliability runs that have been made in the state this fall will be the means of arousing much sentiment in favor of better roads in all the counties that were traversed by the machines. The Traverse City Record-Eagle in commenting on the results of the runs says the reports made by the parties making these runs will show the actual condition of the roads over which they pass, and the counties that have neglected the construction of better roads during the past few years will be made to look decidedly bad when the figures are cast up and the good and bad thoroughfares classified. The runs are in reality an excellent method for finding out the actual conditions and their results are far-reaching on account of the publicity that is given the trips by the newspapers and periodicals of the country. In this part of the state the roads are in good condition, but there is still a great deal to be done in order to complete the connecting links from one county to another. The work of building through roads cannot be done in a year, it necessarily taking several to build the many miles that are necessary to form a continuous line from one part of the state to another. Good roads make the residents of a county nearer to each other, as they promote a community of interest that cannot be fostered in any other way. It makes neighbors of those living at long distances and develops the social as well as the business spirit of the community. The results obtained are always greater than the expenditure, which, though large at first, is always returned with large dividends.

Headquarters for Four Brothers famous axle grease—the only place in town to get it and its best kind. Frank Chamberlin. Advertisement.

PAVING JOB COMPLETED

Contractor Lee Howland of this City Finished job at East Jordan.

Enterprise says it is as good as can be found in Michigan.

On Thursday noon the concrete workers on Contractor Lee Howland's paving crew reached "the northrail of the E. J. A. S. Railroad track where it crosses Mill street," completing that part of the paving job. The balance of the work—filling joints with asphalt and parking the sides completes what is probably as good a job of concrete paving as there is today in Michigan. The work has been all faithfully done, and in place of falling short in any particular it exceeds the contract specifications.

As the paving job was nearing completion a bottle was secured in which was placed a paper giving the dates of commencement and completion of the work, the names of city officials and the contractor, and this after being securely sealed was embedded in the last block of cement.

The people of East Jordan may feel a just pride in the fact they have made in street paving, and Contractor Howland can take pride in the job he has completed.

Fur coats, short coats, sheep skin coats, the only garment to wear in cold weather—you will be surprised at the price I sell them for. Frank Chamberlin. Advertisement. 411

FIXITY OF PURPOSE.

Fixity of purpose works many wonders. Bulwer-Lytton says: "The man who succeeds above his fellow is the one who early in life clearly discerns his object and toward that object habitually directs his powers.
Even genius itself is but fine observation strengthened by fixity of purpose. Every man who observes vigorously and resolves steadily grows unconsciously into genius."

occurrence an absolute necessity, not only on account of its being the high court of appeal, the court of last resort to stockmen, but because it sets the stamp of approval upon those of our domesticated animals that are most in demand, and establishes a standard among stock that must be lived up to in order to realize for the breeder, feeder and farmer the highest price for his produce.
The day of the inferior animal,
the slow feeder and the tardy money getter, is passed, and in order to succeed and obtain the best results in the shortest possible time, stockmen must breed for the types set by this great international tribunal; follow its mandates, adhere to its principles, and abide by the findings of its judges, in order to breed that which is best, reaches maturity the quickest, and realizes the highest price in the shortest time.

The ordinary observer has little idea of what this Exposition is, what it teaches and what it means.
It must be seen to be appreciated.
It must be studied to be understood.

No more pleasant time can be spent, no more practical lessons learned, and no more valuable knowledge gained, than by attending the eight days devoted to this show. The stockman will gain more real, sound, solid and serviceable information by attending this Exposition than he can gain in ten times the period at any other institution. At this show he sees the best of every breed, his field for comparison is immense, and his opportunities for practical instruction almost limitless. By attending this show, he combines business with pleasure, knowledge with practice, and education with example.
It is the school of rapid learning for the stockman, a free education that remains in his head, and carries with it the methods whereby the best live stock is produced and the most money made.

10 Girls Wanted.

At this seed house to pick over beans. We are ready to take in beans at any time. For information apply to George Brown. Phone office 73-2r. House, 73-3r. Chatterton & Son, Ferry Seed Warehouse. Advertisement. 411

THEATRICAL

The Divorce Question.

In the midst of all the theatrical frivolity comes a play now and then with a moral, a play with—and for a purpose and written with the intention of enlightening a class on a subject that hitherto had received but little thought, despite surrounding conditions.

The Divorce Question, by William Anthony McGuire, a powerfully written play taking the stand of the Catholic church's opposition to divorce, and proving conclusively that divorce does not obtain the conditions sought for, and particularly is emphasized the parents duty to the children. This strikingly original play will be seen at the Charlevoix theatre on Friday, November 22, 1912, under direction of Gaskill & McVitty.

For Sale or Rent.

Forty-acre farm, three miles south on county road, also, four acres at 1021 South Day street. Also good milk cow for sale. Inquire A.
Powers. Advertisement. 451

Subscribe for the Courier.

Club the Courier with a magazine

Sunday in the Churches

CATHOLIC CHURCH
Low Mass at 8:00 a. m.
High Mass at 10:00 a. m.
Devotional services at 7:30 p. m.
Other services announced the Sunday previous.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van-
Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a.
m.

Subject: "Mortals and Immortals."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday
Thursday and Saturday from 2:00
to 3:00 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Morning service at 10:30.
Sunday school at noon.
Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.
Services at Ironton at 3:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH
Morning, "Power."
Evening, "Who Made God?"

BAPTIST CHURCH
Morning—"The Nature, Sinfulness and Consequence of Unbelief."
Sunday school 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. at 6 p. m. Topic, "Mistakes often made." Leader, Mrs.
Poole.
Evening service—"A Bad Man Saved and a Good Man Lost."
Berean Bible class meets on Tuesday evening.
Prayer meeting on Thursday evening.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon
at Marion Town Hall.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS
Subject for discussion Men's Bible class, "Workingmen's liability and compensation Act."

SHOWER GIVEN

Miss Margaret Sharrow at the home of her Aunt Mrs. Antoine Sharrow.

Miss Margaret Sharrow was given a shower Saturday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Antoine Sharrow. A large crowd was present and the evening was spent in playing games, etc. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of a very enjoyable evening.
Several out of town guests were present. Miss Sharrow received a large number of very nice presents.

Subscribe for the Courier.

Mr. Farmer

Every dollar sent outside of your territory for Flour, either wheat or buckwheat, means a dollar less to pay you for the goods you have to sell.

Dollars sent outside for flour are gone, never to return.

They are divided into profits between three outside classes.

The outside farmer.
The outside miller.
The outside railroad.

You get no money out of it. It does not help pay your taxes and buys you no goods. Now if we can not sell you as good a flour and as cheap we do not blame
you. Buy where you can buy cheapest.

We know we can. We have every flour from the highest patent to straight winter.

Stone ground and roller ground buckwheat flours.

Look after your own interests enough to ask our prices and try the goods before sending your money outside.

This mill has been your best and steadiest market for 22 years.

Argo Milling Co.

Save Your Money

By paying cash for your meat. At this market we run no book accounts—everything is cash, and the prices we ask for MEAT makes it an object to pay cash.

Don't Pay For Book Accounts

It costs a good deal to keep books and you have to pay for it. Buy at the cheapest place where cash buys the best meat in Charlevoix. Phone your order—we will deliver it to your door.

Charles Jeffries

Cash Meat Market Phone 186

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his premises seven miles east of Charlevoix, near Maple Grove school house

Friday, November 22, 1912

Commencing at one o'clock p. m. the following described property

E. B. WARD, AUCTIONEER

Mare 11 years old	3 year old colt	2-horse cultivator with bean puller attachment
Cult coming two in spring		Set of light sleighs
2 cows fresh in January		Top buggy
2 year old heifer fresh in March		Syracuse plow
6 acres of corn in shock		Steel frame Deering drag
35 young chickens	Lansing wagon	Planet Jr. walking cultivator
Stack of rye straw	Hay rake	Bean cultivator
Large quantity of bean straw		Center
Some early potatoes		Skidding Tongs
Deering mowing machine		Double harness
		Two corn planters
		Hand bag truck
		3-horse evener
		2 potato planters

Hoes, rakes, forks, log chains and a lot of other things too numerous to mention

Terms of Sale

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00 one year's time on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

ARTHUR WOODEN

Proprietor

E. B. Ward, Auctioneer

F. A. Butler, Clerk

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

The elephant and bull moose
Scrapped over a bale of hay
The Democratic donkey came along
And sneaked that bale away.

Miss Jessie Lanz of Kalkaska will spend the winter in this city.

Mrs. S. H. Smith of Detroit is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Liskum.

John Thackara of Kalamazoo is visiting at the home of R. A. Enurey.

The Emmet county board of supervisors voted $24,000 for good roads.

The Michigan Land and Apple show is being held at Grand Rapids this week.

The State Sunday School convention, is being held at Lansing this week.

Mrs. E. A. Ruesegger of Boyne City is the guest of Charlevoix friends.

James Donlevy of St. James was in the city the first of the week on business.

Mrs. H. Weikel of East Jordan was the guest of Charlevoix friends last week.

Mrs. Lena Crum left Friday for a few days' visit with friends in Frankfurt.

Jack Connor left Friday for Daytona, Florida, where he will spend the winter.

E. S. Stacks left Tuesday where he will attend the State Sunday School convention.

Miss G. Raskey of Sault Ste. Marie was in the city Thursday enroute to West Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bush visited friends in East Jordan the latter part of the week.

D. A. Lowe left Tuesday for Chicago, where he will spend the winter on business.

Regular meeting Eastern Star,
Wednesday evening, November 20.
Work. All come.

Eugene Adams, manager of the East Jordan theatre, was in the city Monday on business.

Egbert Carpenter left Saturday for Port Orange, Florida, where he will spend the winter.

F. E. Cartier, the tailor, has put in a new plate glass window in his shop on Bridge street.

Mrs. A. Thomas and children left last week for an extended visit at various points in Ohio.

Regular communication Charlevoix lodge, No. 282 F. & A. M. Tuesday evening, November 19.

D. S. Payton left for Grand Rapids this afternoon where he will attend the Land and Apple show.

The total vote of the Socialists in Charlevoix county was 409; Prohibitionists, 40; Socialist Labor, 6.

Mason H. Rose left Saturday for Kinsman, Ohio, where he officiated as best man at the Lewis-King wedding.

Mrs. Nellie Stites returned home last week after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Oscar Stebbins of Northport.

Harry Widdifield and wife returned last Thursday from a ten days' visit among friends and relatives in Canada.

Mrs. Ellen Yeomans and grandson returned the latter part of the week from their visit to Southern Michigan.

W. E. Hampton has been drawn as one of the jurors in the United States court for the December term at Grand Rapids.

Will Marshall has severed his connections with the B. W. Miller grocery, and is now to be found with A. E. Mason.

Lewis Dawick the Elmira Polish farmer, who set his buildings on fire and shot his live stock, was arrested at Gaylord.

Miss Hazel Baxter, who has been a guest at the Meek home for a few days, returned to her home in Milwaukee Tuesday.

John Gennet, formerly of this city but now located in Harbor Beach, is in the city visiting his daughter, Mrs. Harry Glossinger.

Archie McNeill, who purchased the Ed Brink property on south State street, is rebuilding the house and making other repairs.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Pendleton visited Boyer City friends the latter part of the week. From there they will go to Gaylord on a business trip.

Mrs. R. Smilax returned to her home in Williamsburg Saturday, after several weeks visit with friends in this city, Boyne City and East Jordan.

Mrs. C. A. Cole of Traverse City has returned to her home in Traverse City after a few days' visit at the home of C. R. Bellinger and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollenbeck of Norwood, Merrill Richardson of Norwood and Cora Lloyd of Atwood, attended the Sharrow shower Saturday night.

Miss Lela Cooper left Thursday for Big Rapids where she will enter the Ferris Institute, taking a course to prepare herself for a state teachers certificate.

There will be a regular meeting of Court Charlevoix No. 840 I. O. F., Monday, November 18. There will be a pot luck supper after lodge.
Recording secretary.

W. E. Myers has moved his family into the Rose house, corner Autrim and Grant streets. Mr. Myers will soon leave for Onaway, where he will spend the winter.

The Charlevoix Equal Suffrage association will hold a business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. D. C. Nettleton, Tuesday evening, November 19, at 7 o'clock.

N. P. Hull, Master of the State grange, has been chosen secretary of the National Dairy union. Mr.
Hull is well fitted for the position, which carries with it a salary of $3,000 a year.

I. S. Dice and party returned Monday from the upper peninsula, where they had spent twenty days in the woods. The party consisted of six persons and brought back seven deer.

The Lady Maccabees will give a character party at their hall, Tuesday evening, November 19. Every Lady Maccabee come and bring a lady friend for a social time. Light refreshments will be served.

William F. Johnson and family, were very pleasantly surprised by 43 friends and neighbors at their farm home, near Ironton, Monday evening. The evening was most pleasantly spent with cards and music, everybody of course having a good time.

The mortality report for September issued by Secretary of State Martinville shows that 2887 deaths occurred in Michigan, which corresponds to the annual death rate of 12.1 per 1,000 estimated population. A decrease of 123 deaths is shown as compared with the month of August. There were 4,775 births reported to the state department as having occurred during the month.

A quiet wedding took place in the Indian parsonage at Kewadin yesterday afternoon, when Reverend Collins united in marriage Reverend Wasagushuk of the Ke-wadin Indian mission and Mrs.
Margaret Tabkeyah of Charlevoix in the presence of about twenty-five of their friends. A wedding supper was served by the mission women.—Elk Rapids Progress.

At the Men's Bible class, Sunday, November 17th, the workingmen's compensation law will be presented and discussed. This is a new law of far reaching importance and one in which every laboring man and every employer of labor is vitally interested. The laboring men of the city are especially invited to be present. A synopsis of the law will be given and such discussion had thereon as the time will permit.

Joe Maniton, Indian chief, who was born on the banks of the Chigo river, 120 years ago, died at Traverse City, on October 24. He came to northern Michigan after the red men had vanquished in their battle against the whites to gain the mastery of Illinois. For 15 years he had lived in a hut at Cedar, his only surviving son attending him. He belonged to the Pottawatimies tribe. His memory was clear until recently and he could recall many details of early Indian wars in which he participated.

Some Fine Sheep

To let out on shares. Call on
Charles See at S. M. See & Sons
Furniture store.—Advertisement 42f

Horse blankets—the kind you will need in a short time. See them at Frank Chamberlin's before buying.
—Advertisement 46f

SWIFT'S CON- VICTION AFFIRMED

Supreme Court Says Boyne City Man Must Serve Prison Term.

Conclusion of Case a Big Victory for Judge Mayne and Prosecuting Officials.

Press dispatches from Lansing in the Saturday papers announced that the supreme court handed down an opinion affirming the conviction of Herman L. Swift, former superintendent of the Benlah home for Boys at Boyne City. Swift was accused by a boy inmate of the home.

This concludes a case which has agitated the minds of people in Charlevoix county for many months, because of the revolting character of the charges made against the former head of the institution for boys. It is also a vindication for the men who formed the board of trustees for the home who stood out for the saving of the funds of the institution, practically compelling Swift to turn same over to the newly organized board and at the same time preventing the accused man from using those funds for his defence, bonds, etc.

Judge Mayne is to be congratulated over this confirmation of the trial in his court, showing that every point in the case was carefully and legally handled by the court and its attaches. A large measure of congratulations is also due to Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas, under whose administration the case was brought, and who has assisted Prosecutor Fitch in bringing the case to a final victory for the people against the strongest legal talent in the state.

The only remaining steps in the case are to bring Swift back to the case on a lecture tour, and give him his sentence. This latter duty falls to Judge Mayne and it is predicted that the penalty for such a crime as Swift has been convicted of, and the circumstances connected therewith, will warrant the full limit of the laws.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Of Congregational Church will meet Friday Afternoon with Mrs. Glassford.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Glassford Friday afternoon at 2:30.
Topic for consideration, "The Indians."

Program.
Paper, "The American Indians," Mrs. F. E. Frazier.
Reading, "The North American Indian Tribes," Mrs. H. R. Fowler.
Vocal Solo, Mrs. Stanley Bush.
Indian Story, "Wi Yu," Mrs. A.
Van Alsbury.
Reading, "Indian Children of the Prairie," Mrs. Burnett.
Indian Story, "Blue Sky," Mrs. E.
A. Hull.
Response to roll call from Epinestun.
Mite boxes will be opened.

Auction Sales.

This week we advertise three auctions.
On page six we advertise the sale of Susie Holie, two miles south of Charlevoix, Monday, November 18, beginning at one o'clock, p. m. E.
B. Ward, auctioneer; F. A. Butler,
clerk.

On page six we advertise the sale of D. E. Scroggie, two miles southeast of Burgess, Tuesday, November 19, beginning at ten o'clock, a.
m. E. B. Ward, auctioneer; F. A.
Butler, clerk.

On page four we advertise the sale of Arthur Wooden seven miles east of Charlevoix, Friday, November 22, beginning at one o'clock a.
m. E. B. Ward, auctioneer; F. A.
Butler, clerk.

Next week we advertise the sale of E. G. Wigham of Hayes township, Tuesday, November 26, beginning at ten o'clock a. m. E. B.
Ward, auctioneer; F. A. Butler,
clerk.

You cannot afford to have cold
hands at the price Chamberlin is selling all kinds of gloves. See him at once.—Advertisement 49f

To Whom It May Concern.

The undersigned being now and at all times heretofore, the owner of the business heretofore conducted under the name of McGeagh and Morse, at the south west corner of State and Autrim streets, Charlevoix, Michigan, has taken said business into her sole possession.

Essie G. Morse who has heretofore conducted said business has no interest therein and no right to incur indebtedness nor to collect bills or accounts in relation thereto.
All such business has by me been entrusted to my son, James F. Mc Geagh, he alone is authorized to represent me in any and all transactions relating to the said business, either as regards matters at present unsettled or in the future conduct of the business.

Dated Charlevoix, Michigan, October 31, 1912.

Esther J. Mayberry, nee McGeagh
By James F. McGeagh, her attorney in fact.

—Advertisement 45f

The Courier wants wood on subscription.—Advertisement.

COURIER * BARGAIN * * * COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent,
Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head,
1 cent per word first insertion; half
rates each week thereafter. No ad-
less than 10c first insertion.

FOR SALE—Morse hot air furnace, in good condition. Dr. E. H. Wilkinson. 40f

FOUND—On Autrim street between See's store and Vaughn's garage, small roll of bills. Inquire at Holmes drug store. 10f

FOR SALE—Three 10-ft. store tables, finished old mission style, will sell cheap.
Inquire at Palace Clothing Store. 40f

LOST—Friday, Oct. 18, small bill book, containing bills. Liberal reward if returned to Miss Olmstead, Clinton street.
50f

LOST—Friday morning, November 1, on N. 1st street, a silver watch with crystal cracked. Finder return to Ed.
Colony. Reward. 45f

FOR SALE—Three choice corner lots, bordering on Robinson, Wood and Green streets. Price $100 each, or will sell on contract $200 down, balance two years, 6 per cent. Inquire of J. M. E. Tasker. 10f

FOR SALE—Tract of land containing approximately 50 acres in city limits, facing cemetery, price $10,000, part cash, balance 5 years, 6 per cent. Inquire of
J. M. E. Tasker. 40f

PART FOR SALE—One hundred and sixty-acre farm three and one-half miles southwest of Bay Shore. Good land, fair house, good barn, windmill, 20 acres cleared.—Sylvester Shuter, Bay Shore, Mich. 35f

CRANE'S

WOOL BATTING

The lightest, warmest, most satisfactory filling for comforters.

To introduce more generally this most excellent comforter filling we are making a special

3 Day Price

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY,
NOVEMBER 14, 15 & 16

These three days only
We offer them at $1.65

Full comforter size--one piece 72x84

At this sale not much more expensive than good cotton batting and far superior.

The Time Is at

HAND TO BUY

Your Winter's Supply of Groceries, Feeds, Fruits and Vegetables

We are headquarters and can save you money; no use sending your money to Chicago when you can do just as well at home. Chicago houses don't help pay your taxes—we do.

Carload of Gold Coin to arrive this week; we will sell by the barrel.

Take advantage for your Winter Supply while the Price is Low. Gold Coin Flour is the best spring wheat flour on the market.

We have two Standard Oats we offer at 40c bu

One car Bran we offer at $26.00 per ton

Also a car of fancy Yellow Globe Onions 75c bu

Good Keepers for Winter use. Supply your wants as they will be $1.50 by spring

Hundreds of bushels of Apples from 35c to 40c per bushel

Large stock fancy barreled Apples at low Prices

Rutabagas at 35c bu Cabbage at 50c doz

Winter supply of potatoes at 40c bushel

It will pay you to call and get our prices and examine our goods

S. ORLOWSKI & SON

Prescriptions Require

Pure Drugs, Accurate Compounding and Honest Service. No Substitution. Bring your Prescription to us. We Fill the Requirements.

THE IVY DRUG STORE

REXALL QUICK DELIVERY

Tzar Coffee

35¢

You'll say you never tasted better coffee when you use Tzar. It has that delightfully smooth flavor that you expect in high-priced coffee but often don't get. Try it.

More Nero 30c
Marigold 32c
Pleasant Valley 40c

Scientifically blended and perfectly roasted coffees put up in air-tight packages. Flavor deliciously appetizing. Always good.

Use our Pleasant Valley Teas 50c - 60c - 80c

Every cup of Pleasant Valley Tea will refresh and invigorate. You'll enjoy them. Order today.

Sold by
Mrs. B. W. Miller
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Farm and Garden

KEEP SEPARATOR CLEAN.

Dirty Machine is Often the Source of Infection in Milk.

That many dairymen sacrifice the quality of their products with great consequent loss because they do not appreciate the necessity for absolute cleanliness in order to prevent transmission of a host of diseases is the belief of E. R. Stockwell, instructor in the dairy department of the Oregon Agricultural college.

"Milk may become infected after it leaves the udder of the animal," Mr. Stockwell said recently, discussing the subject. "Numerous instances have been observed in which outbreaks of typhoid fever, scarlet fever and diphtheria, by their sudden and explosive character, affecting families living on streets and in localities supplied by the same milkman, naturally pointed to the milk as a common cause."

Thorough daily cleaning of the apparatus, keeping the hair in the region of the udder short, wiping the udder and surrounding parts with a damp cloth just before milking, clean, tight stables, clean, dry hands during milking—these are some of the matters that must be given attention, according to Mr. Stockwell, if the dairy products are to be kept pure and free from disease germs.

Photograph by Oregon Agricultural college.

A common source of infection is the dirty separator. The bowl of the separator should be taken apart after each use and washed thoroughly with warm water and washing powder and then sterilized with boiling water or steam.

After the milk has been drawn from the cow, if it is to be sold as whole milk it should be aerated and cooled to 50 degrees F. at once and kept thus until delivered. If it is to be separated ed that should be done as soon as possible since the fat globules separate more easily then, and the cream should be cooled and kept in a cool place.

H. W. Collingwood, editor of the Rural New Yorker, says that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred every soil that has been under cultivation forty years cannot be made to produce 75 per cent of its crop without the use of lime.

Passing of the Orchard Windbreak. The attitude of the fruit growers in America has changed on the subject of the windbreak. A few years ago columns were written and talked on the value of windbreaks for orchards. They were generally considered undesirable. Today, however, the word "windbreak" is a fruit grower's meeting, and the modern fruit book omits that chapter altogether. There appear to be two reasons for this change. First, orchards are being planted in much larger blocks than formerly. In these large blocks the trees shield one another and if windbreaks were used they would have to be placed every thirty or forty rods, thus cutting the big orchards into inconvenient small units. The second explanation is that orchardists have discovered that windbreaks are expensive and usually unnecessary.—Country Gentleman.

Pasturing Alfalfa. Alfalfa should never be pastured the first season, and in most cases it will be best to use it for haymaking during the second season also in order that it may become thoroughly established before animals are allowed to trample over it. It should never be pastured closely, as this injures the crowns of the plants.

Public prosperity is like a tree. Agriculture is its root; industry and commerce are its branches and leaves. If the root suffers the leaves fall, the branches break, and the tree dies.—Chinese Philosophy.

Mrs. Peter Holan, 11,501 Buckeye Road, S. E., Cleveland, Ohio, had a little son with a bad case of whooping cough. She says: "He coughed until he was blue in the face. I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and the first few doses had a remarkable and almost immediate effect. A few more doses cured him. Yes indeed I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." In the yellow package, Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

The man who allows weeds to go to seed, indiscriminately on his farm, be he renter or land owner, is a misuser to himself, to his neighbors and to his country.

For Tree Wounds. In California the following mixture was used on trees three years ago and is still in good condition: One part of crude petroleum to three parts of rosin; warm in separate dishes, mix and apply warm to cuts made by pruning or by cultivator injury. While this mixture is not better than grafting wax, it is much cheaper and is worthy of trial.

James Thorne, Iron River, Michigan, says of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound: "This winter both my children and I were troubled with bad coughs. We used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it promptly cured us. I can recommend it as a good cough and cold cure." Contains no opiates. Ivy Drug Store.—Advertisement.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

KEEPING THE FARM FLOCK HEALTHY.

Dipping is essential to good flock management. No farmer should attempt to raise sheep without planning to dip them at least annually and in most cases twice a year, according to the advice of H. E. Allen of the Indiana Agricultural college. When sheep are brought to the farm from other flocks, and especially when trans-ported there by railroads, they should be thoroughly dipped before allowed to mingle with the rest of the flock.

Experience has taught sheepmen that sheep are much better when their skins are clean, and it has been clearly demonstrated that a good dip increases the quantity and improves the quality of the wool. It is impossible for a flock infested with ticks or other parasites to thrive properly, owing to the constant irritation set up. In trying to get better results often little in the fleece and scabious skin portions of wool with fatal results. A good and regular system of dipping the entire flock is money well expended. Hence

Ryeland sheep were little known in this country until recent years. They are yet to be found here although the breed is popular in England and because of its hardy qualities would do well on American farms. It is a medium sized sheep, fatness easy and produces a fine quality of mutton and a fair fleece of wool.

most of the leading stockmasters dip twice in the year, once in the spring and again in the fall.

The object of dipping is to destroy the parasites in the fleece, such as scab mites and sheep ticks and lice, and to prevent subsequent attacks from same. In England, where sheep raising has attained its highest state of perfection, dipping is required by law at least twice a year.

